Help!

Need some help here:
I believe someone called me with some information months ago about Oran Brown, a Lariat boy who was killed in World War II.

If that's true, I have misplaced the information.

If anyone has any more information about Mr. Brown, whose name will be listed on the Parmer County Veterans Memorial to be erected in Farwell City Park May 30, please call me at 481-3681.

Also, all we could find out about Floyd Cummins, who died in World War II, was that he was Friona.

It was suggested to me that I send a letter to the folks at Friona State Bank who might know something about him, but I haven't heard anything back yet from them. If anyone has any information about Mr. Cummins, again, please call me.

Other than those two folks, plus the two men we were unable to find out anything about except for what wars they died in - William Skulley and Larry Price - we have some background on everyone else who will be listed on the memorial.

Once again, I truly appreciate all the help so many folks have given in obtaining background info about the deceased servicemen.

In writing the past several months about the planned memorial to Parmer County servicemen who died in wartime, it brought back memories of the first investigative reporting I ever did back in 1970.

It involved a serviceman who died in wartime. The situation affected me personally since it had been less than a year since I had been in the Army. Here's what happened:

I was living and working in Michigan City, Ind., a city the size of Clovis and about 4 miles from a state line - Michigan.

The boy involved was from New Buffalo, Mich., which was on the state line just like Farwell is. The boy had lived about 100 yards inside Michigan.

The boy was killed in combat in Vietnam.

A few days before he died, the boy had written a letter back to his folks in New Buffalo, asking that, if he were killed, he could be buried in a special circle in the Michigan City cemetery devoted to servicemen who had died in wartime.

There was room in this special area for more bodies. But the circle had been set up by the local American Legion post - and its by-laws said that only Indiana servicemen who died in wartime could be buried there.

So the local American Legion post refused to honor the dead boy's last request, even though he was a graduate of the Michigan City, Ind., high school.

There was a hullabaloo throughout the state over this decision and a lot of Legion posts all over Indiana criticized the decision by the Michigan City post.

But rules are rules, the local Legion post held. So the boy wasn't buried in that special circle but elsewhere in the same cemetery.

Personally speaking, I felt an exception should have been made and that boy's last request be honored. Without any question.

But the "rules are rules" decision told me something about people.

Parmer County Treasurer Anne Norton told me a story last week that needs repeat-

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I felt compelled to write this letter to you following our phone conversation last Friday. As you remember, I called to ask you where you had gotten the $43,000 figure as the amount given to the Friona Fire Department from Parmer County last year. I don't believe it is fair, either to the City of Friona or to your readers to simply say, "Gee, I'm sorry, did I print the wrong figure?" Since you didn't ask me what the correct figure might possibly be, I thought this letter might straighten out some facts.

The City of Friona Fire Department received $26,000 from the County last year. This was a one time payment to help purchase a fire truck. A $22,000 down payment was made on this truck and the City is now obligated to pay the remaining $23,620 that is still due. This year we will again receive our usual $4,000 allowance.

Since our fiscal year began on October 1, 1992, $50,689 has been spent to operate the Friona Fire Department. Since 84% of the total fire calls are outside the city limits, it is only fair that the County should pay its share of the expenses incurred to fight these fires. It has been said that, since we have to have a fire department anyway, that it really doesn't cost that much more to fight the County fires. The fact is that it takes a lot less money to fight a fire in town than it does a three day burr fire, ten miles in the country. The fact is that we have three trucks that are solely used for country fires. We have no use for tanker trucks in town; we have fire plugs. We continue to pay for the upkeep, insurance and general operation of these vehicles. The average age of these trucks is 26 years. They need to be replaced in the near future. Using our meager $4,000 a year from the county, it would be, quite frankly, a very long time before there would be enough money in the "kitty" to replace even one truck.

With our present situation, the citizens of Friona are virtually paying for a fire department for the country residents. Since these residents pay their taxes to the county, not this city, it is the moral and legal responsibility of the county to provide their fire protection, not this city.

The city council has offered to meet with the commissioners to discuss this problem, but have yet to receive a definite answer. This is not a new issue; nor is it an issue confined primarily to Parmer County. The City of Friona, along with numerous other cities in the Panhandle have made repeated attempts over the years to deal with this issue in Commissioner Court.

The city council, along with myself, have a responsibility to protect the interest of the citizens of Friona. That is our primary goal in this matter. It is our hope that the County Commissioners will remember that they also were elected to serve the interest of these same citizens.

Sincerely,

Paula Wilson, City Manager
Clarence Monroe, Mayor
Friona City Council

Editor's note: According to statistics from the Parmer County Treasurer's office, Friona's fire and ambulance services received $39,000 last year from the county commissioners.

Police chief turns down post

The Farwell City Council was surprised Tuesday when it received a letter from the man it had hired last month as police chief that he has changed his mind and decided he didn't want the job.

After an extensive search, the city council had picked James R. Colwell, of Amarillo, to be the city's first police chief in about a decade. Colwell has had extensive law enforcement experience and had served as police chief in Irving, Texas.

Colwell's letter read:

"Dear Mayor Gikas,
"I regret to inform you that I will not be your Chief of Police. I have spent some time arriving at this decision. I apologize for the time it has taken. I have weighed the needs of my family opposed to my singular desire. I have decided to stay retired so my wife and I can be free to travel and be helpful to our children and our grandchildren."

Colwell had been the council's first choice for the Farwell post. Now the council instructed Mayor Chris Gikas to offer the job to it second choice, a Littlefield area police officer. If he turns it down, the job will be offered to the council's third choice, a Plainview police officer.

In other business, the council:

- Voted to ask Texico Mayor Doyal LaRue, and Texico city councilmen if they so choose, to attend its May 10 meeting to discuss the possibility of Texico using the Farwell animal pound.

The Farwell city council meeting is being held May 10 because Gikas will be gone on vacation later in the month.

Farwell officials had checked into a statement made earlier this year that Texico had used the Farwell pound in the past but didn't pay for that privilege. It turned out that Farwell employees had volunteered some work toward picking up animals - and that Texico didn't owe any money to Farwell.

- Voted 4-1 (Royce Bethel opposed) to increase the fee for animal pound retrieval from $7 plus incurred expenses to $15 plus incurred expenses.

Water Supt. Dee Hammit said the fee needed to be raised because too many folks were paying the $7, taking the dog home and letting him run loose again.

In cases where a citation is issued, if the animal owner is known, Municipal Judge Willie Dannheim has been issuing fines of $10 to $15. Gikas asked Dannheim to double those fines if a second citation is issued the same animal owner, and double again for a 3rd citation.

About 10 animals are picked up a month in Farwell.

- Approved a building permit for the Parmer County Sheriff's Office for a 12x20 storage building adjacent to the county jail.

- Heard a complaint about an abandoned house on First Street across from the city barns. Taxes are being paid on the building so nothing was done.

- Heard Mike Pomper, Border Town Days chairman, report that because BTD had a small surplus last year, the committee will pay for the whole cost of the 4 portable toilets this year. The city has picked up the tab the past few years.

Pomper also asked if the city would repair the basketball hoops on the courts at the city park. The council voted 4-1 (James Chadwick opposed) to repair them. The court was donated by ESA Sorority to the city two years ago.

Pomper also will work with Hammit to put new flag holders higher up on the gazebo and get lighting for inside the gazebo.

- Received a request from Paula Wilson, Friona city manager, that Farwell pay a share of the 911 dispatcher operated for Parmer County through the Friona police department.

She noted that the county contributes $5,000 toward the emergency service and Bovina gives $2,400. She presented statistics showing 20 calls a month were coming from Farwell.

The council told Ms. Wilson that it would seek more information before making a decision.

Later in the meeting, after Ms. Wilson had left, Gikas and councilman Pat Howard both expressed the view that the 911 service should have stayed with the Parmer County sheriff's office instead of being allocated to the Friona police department.

Summer school planned

The Farwell School Board April 15 approving initiating a limited summer school program.

The program will be directed toward math and language arts - such as reading, writing and English. There is no fee.

The program is basically for students who have been having trouble with these subjects during the regular school year.

Summer school will be held three days a week, but those days haven't been decided on yet. Quite a few students are expected.

Transportation will not be provided.

The program is open to students in grades kindergarten through 12th grade. Teachers are taking a survey now of students interested.

In other business, the board:

- Accepted the resignations of teachers Judy Howard, Rex Cumpston and Charles Turner.

- Approved six students transferring in next fall - 2 from the Muleshote district and 4 from the Bovina district. No students are transferring out.

- Ratified textbook selections.

- Heard a report from School Supt. Richard Boothby, noting that Farwell Schools have $138,233 in the Parmer County School Improvement Fund. Boothby plans to get approval from the Parmer County Commissioners to use this money toward the building program.

- Rejected all bids from general contractors for the building program. This clears the way to use a construction manager. The board will meet with John Cole, who they hired as a construction manager on the building project, April 20 at a special meeting.

Farwell schedules cleanup

Farwell's city council Tuesday voted to have a cleanup campaign on June 18 and 19.

On both days, the usual fee charged for bringing junk to the containers at the former city landfill will be waived.

Also, on a one-time basis only, if residents put out junk next to their dumpsters before noon on June 18, city workers will pick it up.

It was noted that residents should first fill up the dumpsters before having to put items next to them.

And folks who bring junk to the containers at the former landfill are urged to put the junk into the containers.

ing. She attended a seminar in Austin for folks with jobs like herself. And she had a chance to watch the Texas Legislature "in action."

Here's what she discovered:

When you've paid for your vehicle registration the past couple of years, $1 of each fee has been earmarked to help prevent vehicle theft along the border with Mexico. That's an okay plan.

But what Mrs. Norton found out last week that although this money has been collected - and amounts in the millions of dollars by now - the Legislature never approved implementation of the plan.

Thus, the money has just sat in some state account, waiting for the legislators to decide who, or what agency, should administer it.

Don't hold your breath. The day that Mrs. Norton watched our legislators, she said they were unable to come up with an implementation plan.

And the worst part is that it appeared there wasn't a good accounting of the money that had been collected; i.e., folks didn't know how much had been collected and where it was placed.

Other than that, everything is fine...

On the world front:

Personally speaking, I don't know that much about the problems in former Yugoslavia except for the sad fact that religious animosity is just as strong today as it has been for the past 2,000 years. We just don't learn.

But I do know one thing: it would be a tragic mistake for the U.S. to send in any ground troops there.

We're not talking about open desert with clearly defined lines, like with Operation Desert Storm. Here, we're talking about mountains and

The Often Chronic Discomfort of Allergies

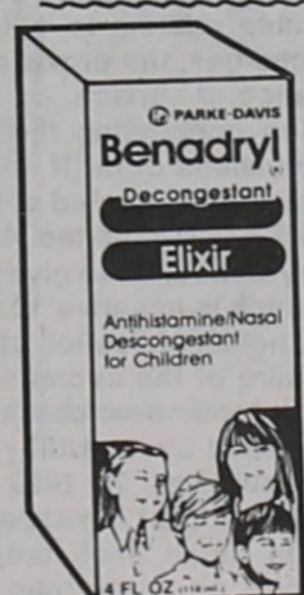

- Each year, more than 40 million Americans suffer from allergic rhinitis, also known as hay fever.
- "These allergic bouts" of a stuffy head and watery eyes can occur one or more times a year, or they last practically all year round.
- Three million work days and two million school days are lost each year to allergy attacks.
- Normally harmless substances can cause allergic reactions in sensitive people. These substances commonly include: pollen from plants, dust, mold, foods and dander (skin particles) from animals.
- Americans spend an estimated $500 million each year on allergy treatments. Although there is no cure, there are a number of ways to fight allergies.
- Over-the-counter medications and prescription medicines are the most common forms of treatment. Immunotherapy, or injection therapy, is both expensive and time-consuming, so it is generally used only in severe or chronic situations.
- Avoidance, in principle, is the simplest therapy. Once the allergen has been identified, the sufferer can try to avoid it.
- Some of the most common allergy symptoms are:
Eyes - itching, tearing, reddening or swelling
Nose - sneezing (often repetitive), itching, congestion, or runniness
Skin - a rash develops that is almost always itchy and consists of spots that are raised, flat, red, or white, hive-like, or raw and oozing
Digestive tract - nausea, vomiting, cramps, loose stools, or diarrhea from eating a particular food.

Notice of Rate Change Request And Statement of Intent

Notice is hereby given that Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative, Inc. (the "Utility") intends to decrease rates for electric utility service effective July 6, 1993, or as soon thereafter as may be permitted by law. Based upon a test year ending December 31, 1992, the decrease requested is $740,000 or 4.465% of actual test year revenues. The changes are applicable to all areas, all customer classes, and all customers served by the Utility.

The Utility proposes to change all rates for Farm and Home, Residential Space Heating, Irrigation, Commercial, Large Power, Industrial, Cotton Gin, and Lighting, including demand, energy, minimum and other charges. The proposed changes are expected to affect the classes as follows: for the 4,416 customers in the farm and home class, the proposed decrease will be $109,357 or a negative 4.53% change in revenues; for the 147 customers in the residential space heating class, the proposed decrease will be $7,793 or a negative 3.39% change in revenues; for the 4,060 customers in the irrigation class, the proposed decrease will be $376,215 or a negative 4.15% change in revenues; for the 774 customers in the commercial class, the proposed decrease will be $54,019 or a negative 6.17% change in revenues; for the 111 customers in the large power class the proposed decrease will be $81,413 or a negative 8.11% change in revenues; for the 26 customers in the industrial class, the proposed decrease will be $95,907 or a negative 3.74% change in revenues; for the 6 customers in the cotton gin class, there will be no change in revenues; and for the 2,888 customers in the lighting class, the proposed decrease will be $15,296 or a negative 6.11% change in revenues.

The Utility also intends to change its service rules and regulations, including rules relating to obtaining service, line extension and line extension charges, the provision of electric service, service fees, and discontinuance of service.

Information concerning the proposed rate changes, including the proposed revisions of tariff and schedules is available at the General Office of the Utility, located at Highway 60 at Whittier Street, Hereford, Texas 79045-0753. Inquiries should be directed to Mike Veazey.

The Utility is required to give notice of the percentage change in base revenues which is negative 12.087%. The percentage decrease in base revenues is not an indication of how much your bill will change. Rather, it is a measure of the decrease in revenues that will be experienced by the Utility for its own operations, excluding payment of the cost of power purchased by the Utility from its wholesale power suppliers.

On or about May 7, 1993, the Utility will file with the Public Utility Commission of Texas, a Statement of Intent to Change Rates, specifying in detail each proposed change. Requests to intervene must be filed no later than 45 days after the application filing date; Thus, the Utility anticipates the deadline for intervening and objecting to the rate changes will be June 21, 1993. Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:
 On Saturday, May 1, voters have the opportunity to help solve the problems plaguing Texas public schools by voting "yes" on three proposed state constitutional amendments. As a school superintendent, I support all three amendments, but I am particularly concerned about the passage of Proposition 2.

All three amendments are critical public education issues. Proposition 1, authorizing redistribution of ad valorem taxes, is the first step toward solving the school finance equity crisis. Proposition 3, authorizing $750 million in state bonds, will help fund desperately needed facilities to accommodate the growing number of Texas school children. But Proposition 2, which prohibits future unfunded state mandates, is more than just an education issue; it's an issue of fairness.

As a local school superintendent and fellow property taxpayer, I have experienced firsthand the financial effect of unfunded state mandates on our school district and property tax rates. For years, the Legislature has handed down rules and regulations to Texas schools without providing the necessary level of funding to pay for them. As a result, school superintendents, like me, have been forced to turn to you, the local taxpayer, to foot the public education bill by continually increasing your property taxes.

Last school year alone, Texas districts spent at least $1.5 billion by only eight of the hundreds of state requirements handed down by lawmakers, many of which were paid for by increases in your property tax. It's time to put a stop to this buck-passing. Texans cannot allow state lawmakers to continue passing mandates they believe are important enough to require but not important enough to fund.

Proposition 2 puts the burden of funding back where it belongs, on the Legislature in Austin. It will help ease the local tax burden by making the state pick up its fair share of the bill for public education.

Proposition 2 is also a step toward future education equalization and only affects mandates enacted after Dec. 31, 1993. It is not retroactive, and mandates such as class size limits and the teacher salary schedule will not be affected.

Proposition 2 will help ensure that the basic needs of all Texas school children are adequately funded. School districts will still be required to comply with federal health and safety requirements, such as those concerning special education and environmental hazards.

Proposition 2 is your opportunity to stop the Legislature from passing the tax buck back to the local property taxpayers and to send lawmakers a message: Texans will not perpetuate inadequate school funding and increasing property taxes. We will not allow the state responsibility of finding funds to help pay for them.

Don't misunderstand me. I encourage our lawmakers to continue exploring ways to enhance the quality of Texas public education. And I believe that many legislative mandates are important. All I am asking is that the Legislature give us a way to pay for them.

As a school superintendent, I encourage you to vote "yes" for all three constitutional amendments May 1. But Proposition 2, funding future state mandates, is especially critical to increasing the state's funding of our public education system and decreasing your local property tax burden. Stop footing the bill for new state mandates with increases in your property tax, and help the state take the first step toward education equalization. Vote "yes" on Proposition 2.

Students learn about disabilities

As the concluding activity in a health unit on physical disabilities, Mrs. Davis' fourth grade class at Texico Elementary recently spent a day living with their own disabilities.

Student teacher Suzanne Dickinson assigned each student a disability when they arrived at school. After the necessary preparations had been made for the disabilities, the class then began a regular school day without any adjustments made for any of the disabilities.

Students who had lost the use of their legs: Gary Denny, Brittany Bradley, and Angie Rodriguez, had to spend the day in wheelchairs. They discovered that recess and P.E. weren't as much fun when they had to participate from a chair. They also quickly realized that they needed a buddy to push their chair if they were going to keep up with the class when moving from place to place.

Those who were deaf, Shilo Thornton, Orlando Rodriguez and Jesus Retana, wore earplugs and a headband to keep from losing them. Most of the "deaf" students claimed that they could still hear but it was rather fuzzy. However, the teachers were amused to notice that this group talked louder than normal all day.

Johnny Sena, Ryan Autrey, Chelsi Brown and Dennis Dilbeck spent the day trying to manage with out their dominant arm which was secured to their body with an elastic bandage.

The "blind students, Chrissy Capps, K'Leigh Driver, Denise Whitener, and Christopher Hall quickly found a sighted buddy to read and help them move around. Lunch was an interesting experience for this group.

The last group, Josh Boazman, Callie Rucker, Natasha McIntosh, and Jeff Kushman, were mute and wore a mouth mask. They had to write or use other forms of communication. One very verbal student kept wiring notes to the teachers claiming that they were having trouble breathing because they couldn't talk.

The students who made a real effort to live with their handicap received a party. All the students agreed that they were glad they didn't have to be disabled every day. The most fascinating result of the day was the change in many of the student's personalities that Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Dickinson observed. Some very active students became very lethargic and very verbal students became very quiet.

Farwell Convalescent Center Chit Chat
 By Debbie Parmer

April 18-24 is National Volunteer Week. We have many volunteers at the center. I really don't know what we would do without them.

There are several members of the Auxiliary. These ladies not only have fund-raisers to buy things for our residents and center, they help with parties, do baking, decorating, sewing projects, and sometimes just pop in for a visit, offering friendship to a resident.

Many volunteers are not Auxiliary members. We have volunteers in the beauty shop, a barber once a month for the men. We have bands, musical groups and sing-alongs. Bible studies, devotions and pet therapy are all led by volunteers. We have volunteers that come in and visit, pour that extra cup of coffee or juice.

Last, but not least, we have many businesses and individuals who donate things to our residents. We certainly appreciate these thoughtful donations.

Volunteers are special people. They reach out to our residents with only love in their hearts. They do the "little extra things" by going above and beyond what is expected of them. Their works are certainly immeasurable.

The staff and residents say "thank you" to the volunteers. We will honor our volunteers with a volunteer banquet April 22 at 7 p.m. mst at K-Bob's in Clovis.

We had a wonderful Easter egg hunt on the 10th. I want to thank all who helped with it. Most of all, thanks to the community for sharing your kids with us on such a special day.
