Tough flick to make

A guest column from wife Judy:

"Jurassic Park" must have been a tough movie to make. Kids love dinosaurs, and this movie promised lots and lots of them.

But the book the movie was based on was strictly adult level reading - not because of sex or foul language - but because it dealt with adult topics such as morality and ethics and the survival of our world as we know it - deep philosophical questions.

Director Steven Spielberg had to make several changes from the book to make a movie that the whole family could watch and understand.

Some critics are unhappy because the movie has "so much violence." They obviously didn't read the book; it has lots more blood and gore. Whole scenes were deleted about park workers winding up as lunch for the park's exhibits. The movie version obviously wasn't designed just to scare little kids or to upset folks with weak stomachs.

The writers cut out a whole subplot about dinosaurs eating babies in their cribs on the mainland near Jurassic Park. The subplot not only added lots of gore to the book, it raised moral questions about highly advanced genetic technology being turned loose on unsuspecting bystanders.

And that subplot indicated how the dinosaurs could get loose from an "island" and get to the mainland. That probably was too strong for young kids to take.

Had those scenes been in the movie, they probably would have been much too graphic for little kids to watch. Keeping the subplot would also have used a make-believe movie situation to tell our children once again that Americans are bad guys in a world of good guys.

The movie has plenty of scary scenes involving children inter-acting with dinosaurs, but they involved older children who could use their intelligence and strength to defend themselves. They also involved people who had gone to Jurassic Park to see the dinosaurs, not unsuspecting bystanders.

The scary scenes involving dinosaurs are offset by pastoral scenes of dinosaurs munching on grass and leaves, and by scenes of scientists working to save the lives of animals. It is important for children to know that dinosaurs were just animals, not some kind of demonic force set loose in the world.

Some of the children who were in the movie theater the day we went to see "Jurassic Park," squirmed in their seats a bit when the actors explained the process by which dinosaurs were cloned. Michael Crichton's adult audience could go back and re-read a difficult passage or look up words in a dictionary so that they could understand the basic biological sequence of events that caused the dinosaurs to be brought back to life.

The movie contained just about as much scientific explanation as the kids in the audience could absorb in one sitting.

The folks making the movie "Jurassic Park," probably had to walk a tight rope to get enough science into the movie to make the story plausible for adults, but interesting enough for children.

The book raises lots of moral questions about scientists "playing God" with their genetic experiments to bring back to life a species that

25th anniversary

The family of Walter and Sharron Hughes will host a reception to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary June 27 at the Hughes home, north of Farwell, from 2 to 4 p.m.

Walter and Sharron have two daughters, Mrs. Penny Perry, of Snyder, Texas, and Mrs. Doug Harrison, of Clovis. They also have three grandchildren - Brianne Perry, and Holly and Mitchell Harrison.

All family and friends are invited. No gifts, please.

Ancira named to school board

The Farwell School Board held a special meeting Tuesday to accept the resignation of school board president Doyle Johnson.

Johnson had served 9 years on the board.

He resigned because his wife, Susan, will be hired as a kindergarten teacher. School Board rules don't allow spouses of board members to be employed by the school system.

The board then appointed Teresa Ancira to fill Johnson's unexpired term, which runs until next May.

Ancira was one of three contestants for the two school board posts in the last election. She lost out to incumbents Charles Christian and David Norton in that election.

The board then named its officers: Steve Kaltwasser moved up from vice president to president. Ronald Byrd was elected vice president. Katherine White remains secretary.

Ancira, 40, is the wife of David Ancira. They have three children - Mary Ann, Adrian and Matthew.

Ancira has been a Farwell resident for 20 years and is employed at the Parmer County Clerk's office. She is a member of San Jose Catholic Church, its parish council and heads its fund-raising efforts.

Texico grant request rejected

Mayor Doyal LaRue reported at Tuesday's Texico City Council meeting that the state has turned down Texico's request for a $200,000 grant for a community building - youth center.

In other business, the board: - Heard that LaRue and councilman Butch Tharp went to Santa Fe for two days last week to meet with Environmental Inspection Division officials.

Texico is most unhappy with the lack of speed by EID in certifying which way the KKR Park contamination is flowing. If it doesn't flow north, then the city can go ahead and purchase land near the schools and build a new well. It has a $125,000 grant for the well. Currently, Texico only has one working well.

EID took measurements earlier this year but hasn't released the results.

LaRue said EID promised to speed up the situation. - Will discuss the final proposed budget at its July 13 meeting at City Hall at 6:30 p.m.

- Heard LaRue say that the decision on whether Texico should use the Farwell dog pound is on hold. - Is moving forward on the possibility of using Clovis building inspectors in Texico instead of state inspectors. Some costs would remain the same, while others would go up $5 or $10 due to more paperwork.

The Clovis building inspectors' department proposal was received and given to city attorney Duane Hamar for him to check.

Clovis also needs to approve it. And state approval is needed. The two city councils may meet July 13 to discuss it. If all goes well, it could go into effect Aug. 1.

- Met in executive session to discuss personnel and possible litigation. They received the applications for a police post, a vacancy caused by the resignation of Fry Urioste. They will look at each application individually in the coming days.

- Approved allowing Mr. Cook to pave over part of Luther Street where he is putting in a parking area.

- Agreed to close some streets around KKR Park for the 4th of July fireworks show being put on by Texico Community Activities Association.

- Heard Tharp discuss the need for the city to keep closer watch over the police inventory and items being loaned out. Tharp said the council had told former marshal Urioste not to loan out equipment but some had been loaned out. "We could be sued over one piece," said Tharp. "We could go to jail."

"We need more than just language in the policy manual," said Tharp.

Misty Barnes and Derek Dictson display their awards.

Dictson, Barnes recognized

Texico FFA members Derek Dictson and Misty Barnes attended the state FFA convention June 14-16 at New Mexico State University in Las Cruces.

Derek won first place in the public speaking contest, winning $300 and the opportunity to represent New Mexico at the national FFA convention in Kansas City this fall. Derek also was elected District IV secretary.

Misty won 3rd place in the Greenhand Public Speaking and Creed Contest.

While there, the students visited White Sands and enjoyed several activities.

Variety of weather arrives

The Twin Cities area has had a variety of weather the past week.

There were reports Monday night of potential tornadoes passing over the cities. One resident said he saw a tornado start to form, then went back into the clouds over Farwell.

The Farwell fire department sounded its alarm Tuesday night to tell residents to be cautious.

Meanwhile, another half inch of rain fell here Tuesday. For the week, over an inch of rain has been reported in the immediate area, although some places get more rain than others.

For example, Ruth Anne Bennett reports from Oklahoma Lane that she has received 3 1/2 inches of rain during the past week.

Golfball-size hail also has been a problem, apparently in the area east of the Twin Cities.

One resident reported seeing row upon row of corn down toward Dimmitt Tuesday.

Hail was reported around the Twin Cities during last week's rain. It is reported to have struck in a strip of land about a quarter of a mile wide north of town. Windows were broken on one of the Stevenson's vehicles

Also expected to leave will be Mrs. Scroggins, the high school English teacher, annual sponsor and cheerleader sponsor.

As of Monday, neither resignation had been received by the school system, but officials already were working on replacement staffers.

Under Scroggins, the Wolverines won a state Class A title in 1992.

God allowed to become extinct. Is there any circumstance under which such experiments are morally acceptable? Are there some methods that would be more acceptable than others? This is the realm explored in the book.

The book explains how experiments could go awry even when the smart people thought that they had anticipated all the possible problems involved in such experiments, and even though the rich people thought that they had spared no expense in devising the plans.

The book spends considerable space explaining the mathematical probabilities of disasters inherent in very complex experiments. It explains how simple computer programming errors can cause Murphy's Law (anything that can go wrong, will) to be compounded ad infinitum.

For instance, a computer programmer in the book devised a way to use the computer to track the number of dinosaurs which had been hatched on the island - he never thought that the animals would succeed in breeding in the wild, so he didn't program the computer to carry out that function.

Breeding did occur and, of course, disaster followed.

INTRODUCING PROTEGRA™

Antioxidant Vitamin & Mineral Supplement

Understanding the importance of antioxidant nutrients

Free-radical oxidants can damage cells

Every day, cells in the body repair themselves so they can continue to function properly. But sometimes, cells are attacked by unstable oxygen molecules that can damage them. These molecules are called free radicals. Free radicals are byproducts of normal cellular metabolism. They can also come from exposure to several external sources.

Free radicals steal electrons from other molecules, often starting a chain reaction that creates other free radicals. If free radicals aren't controlled, the cell itself may be damaged.

Antioxidants neutralize free radicals

Antioxidants are one of the body's mechanisms of neutralizing free radicals. The antioxidant nutrients — vitamins E and C, beta-carotene, and the minerals zinc, copper, selenium and manganese — help neutralize free radicals and stop them from damaging cells. Current research implies that high levels of antioxidant nutrients may be beneficial!

Everyone needs a diet rich in antioxidant nutrients

Prime food sources of the antioxidant nutrients include grains, citrus fruits and leafy dark green and yellow/orange fruits and vegetables such as carrots, spinach, strawberries and melons. It is recommended that for overall good health we eat 2 to 4 servings of fruit and 3 to 5 servings of vegetables every day. Yet, a national survey shows that 90% of all Americans don't meet even the minimum dietary guidelines.<sup>2,3</sup>

Recipe of Week

Maryetta's Oatmeal Bread

(3 loaves)
 4 c. boiling water
 3 c. rolled oats
 7 1/2 - 8 c. all - purpose flour, preferably unbleached
 2 pkg. active dry yeast
 2 Tbs. salt
 4 Tbs. salad oil
 a 1/2 c. molasses

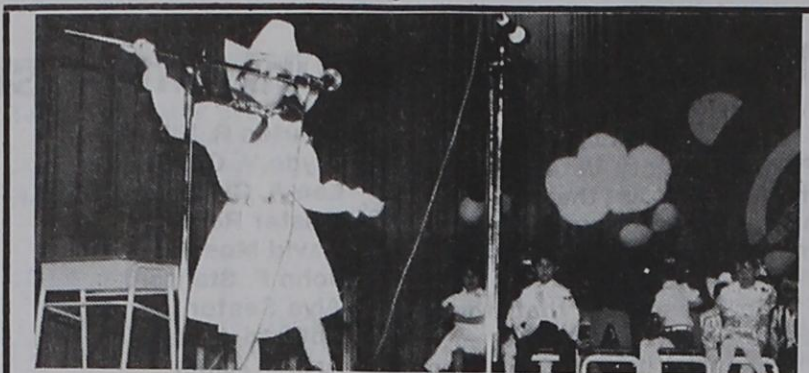

Pour the boiling water over the oatmeal in a large bowl and leave to cool. Then stir in 2 cups of flour and the yeast. Place in a warm, draft - free spot and allow to rise, uncovered until doubled in bulk. Punch down and work in the salt, salad oil, molasses, and enough of the remaining flour to make a stiff dough. Turn out on a floured board and knead, adding extra flour if necessary, to make a smooth, pliable, firm dough - about 10 minutes, but you can not knead too much. Divide the dough into three equal pieces, and form into loaves to fit three buttered 9 x 5 x 3 - inch loaf tins. Allow to rise again, uncovered, until doubled in bulk. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven 40-60 minutes, or until the bread sounds hollow when removed from the tins and rapped on top and bottom. Cool on racks before slicing.

It is essential to leave the dough uncovered during the two risings.

Bridal shower honors Jonessa Jennings

Jonessa Jennings

A bridal shower honoring Jonessa Jennings, bride elect of Guy Brockman, was held June 12 at Lazbuddie United Methodist Church.

Refreshments included pecan, poppyseed and blueberry muffins, quiche rounds, assorted fruits and marshmallow and cream cheese dip. Coffee and ruby red grapefruit also were served.

Shower decorations were in a lovely Victorian style with greenery and flowers in the bride's colors of hot pink, purple and teal, accompanied by several Victorian cherub sculptures. White lace tablecloths adorned the gift and refreshment tables.

The centerpiece was a lovely fruit cascade with strawberries, red and white grapes, pineapple and cantaloupe balls nestled in garnished rinds and green ivy. The napkins were also in the bride's colors. Jonessa's corsage was a mixture of hot pink, purple and teal carnations accented by green leaves.

Special guests were Mrs. Salli Robinson, Jonessa's maternal grandmother; Mrs. Joe Bates Jennings, her paternal grandmother; Mrs. Clarence Schulte, Guy's maternal grandmother, and Mrs. Francis Acker, his aunt.

The hostess gift was a kitchen aid kitchen center and was provided by Sharon Agee, Paula Daniel, Sheryl Engelking, Louise Engelking, Sandy Gregory, Donna Glover, Terri Hahn, Brenda Jesko, Ettie Jesko, Barbara Lust, Mary Mesman, Teresa Mesman, Pam Miller, Debbie Nichols, Charlotte Redwine, Vernie Schacher, Edna Rae Schilling, Martha Nell Schilling, Sabina Schilling and Eunice Schilling.

Paul Luscombe operates service station

"Everyone has been very receptive and very nice. It gets better every day," said Paul Luscombe after his first week of managing the Wheeler 66 filling station in Texico.

Luscombe, 24, brings 7 years of experience working in auto parts and machine shops to the filling station. Pumping gas, washing cars, fixing flats, doing oil changes and lube jobs, will be right up his alley.

"When the opportunity to manage my own business arose, I jumped at it ... It's nice being your own boss and having your own responsibility."

Luscombe's future father-in-law, Jon Amundson, is the station's previous manager. When Amundson decided to work at a gas station closer to his home in Clovis, Luscombe decided he wanted to get into business himself.

"I really like what I'm doing," says Luscombe. "I like the people - they have been very receptive."

The Dora, N.M., native is glad to be in Texico. It will give him the opportunity to see his brother, coach Richard Luscombe, coach some basketball games this season.

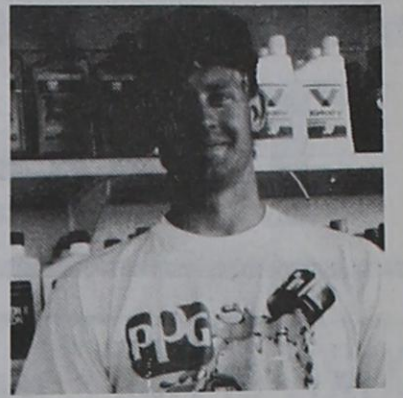

He will also have the opportunity to see his sister, Mrs. Danny Billingsley, a little more often.

Paul Luscombe and his bride - elect, Carol Robertson, will be wed Aug. 14 in Portales.

The couple will live in Portales because Luscombe already owns a home there. His home is equipped with a kennel where he raises AKC registered Rotweiler pups.

"Rotweilers are bred for temperament and disposition. They are good family dogs that make good pets," he says.

St. John's has Father's Day picnic

Folks at St. John Lutheran Church in Lariat held their Vacation Bible School closing and Father's Day picnic on Sunday.

Youngsters prepared a program of songs and skits that they learned in Bible School, and they displayed the crafts that they made. The youth of the congregation set up some games for the youngsters to play. Then the singles played the married folks in a soft ball game.

A picnic of barbecued chicken and homemade goodies was enjoyed.

The month of June is almost gone, it's unbelievable isn't it? The Father's Day cook-out on the 17th was very nice, and enjoyed by all. We had lots of good food, and an enjoyable evening out on the patio. I would like to thank Robert Vidaurri for being our chief outdoor cook. He did a great job! Many thanks to the ladies auxiliary for providing the cakes and strawberries, and for helping with the cook-out. Last, but not least, thanks to all the staff members who helped.

The dietary staff prepared a nice sack lunch for us on the 8th, and then we were off for a nice picnic at Green Acres Park. We had a great picnic! It was great to hear the Residents comment on how much they enjoyed it, and how much fun it was to "rough it again."

The Residents thoroughly enjoyed the music of the Tumbleweeds on the 10th, and the Roadrunners on the 18th. Music is always a nice activity. We had a second visit from a raccoon from the zoo yesterday. It was amazing to see how much the raccoon had grown since our last visit a month ago.

Just a reminder we will be celebrating June birthdays this Friday, the 25th at 3:00. We are looking forward to the music of the Border Town Four. We encourage families to come and celebrate their loved ones birthdays with us. We always have a fun time!

Bridal brunch honors Kendra Stephens

On June 5, the parlor of the First Baptist Church of Farwell was the scene of a bridal brunch honoring Kendra Stephens, bride elect of Darren Head, of Shallowater.

The bride's chosen colors of fushia and white were carried out in centerpiece and corsages. A fresh fruit centerpiece created around ceramic cupids, a gift of Alta Cole, was the focal point for breads, ham rolls and heart sandwiches served from the Battenberg lace covered table. Bright pink azaleas and candles accentuated the gift and registration tables.

Guests were greeted by Kendra, her mother Eva Dean Stephens and her future mother-in-law, Chanda Head. Other special guests were Adrienne Head, sister of the groom, and Kaci Stephens, sister of the bride; and Delores Ivy, great-aunt of the bride.

The hostess gift was an electric mixer. Hostesses were Roene Stewart, Jackie Smallwood, Hayley Christian, Modean McMillan, Robin Gregory, Angelia Mace, Judy Howard, Dorris White, Gwen Hughes, Peggy Gikas, Alta Cole, Pat Owen, Pam Monk, Roberta Johnson and Susan Johnson, chairman.

On June 18, Mrs. Elizabeth Williams was hostess to a bridal luncheon honoring Kendra Stephens. The salad luncheon was served to friends and relatives at the Lubbock Club in the First National Bank building of Lubbock.

The home of Leslie Lunsford was the scene of a recipe and kitchen gadget shower honoring Kendra Stephens and Leslie Monk.

The garden party theme was carried out throughout the house. Bouquets of fresh daisies and the hostesses' gifts of wicker picnic baskets and colorful plates, utensils and table cloths set the stage for refreshments of fresh fruit, dip, breads and quiche squares.

Hostesses were Leslie Lunsford, Tanya Chadwick, Leandra Byrd, Roene Stewart and Hayley Christian.

Kendra Stephens was honored with a lingerie shower in the home of Angie White on June 15. Hostesses were Angie White, Kara Camp, Andria Chadwick and Leslie Monk.

Strawberry cake, fruit, nuts and pink punch were served from a lace covered table. The centerpiece was a basket of bath items.

Special guests were Kendra; her mother, Eva Dean Stephens; and Kaci Stephens, sister of the bride.

Farwell gets vehicle calls

Farwell City Clerk Cynthia Thigpen said she has received several calls from residents who know of unlicensed, abandoned or wrecked vehicles that need to be removed from the city.

She can be contacted at 481-3620.

At its last meeting, the Farwell City Council voted to begin a crackdown on unlicensed, abandoned and wrecked vehicles within the city limits. All are illegal.

Currently, the new Farwell police chief is taking pictures of such vehicles. Then, letters will be sent to vehicle owners to begin the process of removing those vehicles outlawed by city ordinance.

Fire Calls

The Texico Fire Department answered two calls last week.

On June 21, 7:30 p.m. mdt, they put out a fire of unknown origin at 202 N. Stateline Road.

On June 21, the ambulance was called at 7:44 a.m. mdt to assist an injured person at 113 Lamar.

Junked vehicles along 3rd Street and near the Santa Fe tracks, among others, have been brought to the city's attention.

Lunsford Auto Parts will remove such vehicles at no cost to the owner if called. However, the owner must have the title available. If no title is available, then the vehicle owner needs an "abandoned vehicle certificate" signed by the city police chief and including the vehicle's I.D. number.

Marshal's Report

Here is the weekly report from Texico deputy marshal Gilbert Holguin:

On June 19, Cynthia Torres, 30, Clovis, was arrested on charges of DWI and driving while her license was suspended.

On the morning of June 22, Porfilio Bautista, 30, Texico, was arrested on charges filed by both Holguin and Farwell police chief Roy McGaa - leaving the scene of an accident, and having no driver's license.

Bautista was taken to Clovis Hospital by a Texico ambulance after he was run over by his truck, said Holguin.

Holguin said Bautista apparently was injured while trying to get back into his truck which had gotten into gear and was going in circles along south State Line Road, moving in both states. The truck hit a gas meter, too.

Public Notice

Southern Union Gas Company, a division of Southern Union Company, hereby gives notice of its intent to implement a new schedule of rates in its Farwell Service Area, in accordance with the Company's Statement of Intent filed with the City of Farwell, Texas, on May 27, 1993. This proposed rate change is effective for gas consumed on and after July 1, 1993.

The proposed increase does not constitute a "major change" as that term is defined in Section 5.08(b), Article 1446(e), Tex. Rev. Civ. Stat. Ann. (Supp. 1992).

It is anticipated that the effect of the change in rates, when allowed, will be to increase the revenues of the Company within this service area by 2.9 percent. All customers will receive an increase in their commodity charge of $.0089 per hundred cubic feet (Ccf). A residential customer using 50 Ccf of gas per month would experience an increase of $.45 per month.
