Why We Go To College

A COLLEGE or a university is generally believed to be a sort of warehouse where innumerable facts are stored, to be sorted out and delivered in proper quantities, to aspiring students who come in search of knowledge. But Dr.
 Ernest M. Hopkins, president of Dartmouth College, thinks that the western alumni of Dartmouth the other day that this conception of a college is entirely wrong.

Indeed, he asserted the prime function of a college is not at all to give knowledge to its students.
 It does its part if it merely imparts to them an insatiable and understanding habit of mind.

"Nothing is more useless than a fact by itself," says Dr. Hopkins.
 "The only thing a liberal arts college can do is to offer the atmosphere and environment in which education can be really sound, and all of this is to be done by the educators all over the country have been saying it for years; but since it runs counter to the ordinary conception of higher education it is worth looking at a bit.

During the last two decades the ranks of college students in the United States have been enormously increased. A far higher percentage of young people is going to college today than was the case a generation ago; and back of this increase lies a fervent hope, on the part of hundreds of thousands of parents, that the colleges will somehow contrive to stuff their offsprings with knowledge that will bring large pay-checks, finer homes and a more comfortable station in life.

Unfortunately, it doesn't always work out that way; and a great deal of disappointment would be prevented if there could only be a wider understanding of the truth of Dr. Hopkins' remarks.

The college does not exist primarily to enable young people to make more money when they get out into the world. It is supposed to lead their brains with facts so that they will be walking encyclopedias.
 The most it can hope to do is put them into contact with the thoughts of great minds, and teach them to maintain an inquiring and unprejudiced attitude. As Dr. Hopkins says:
 "It aims not so much to teach the students to do something as to teach them to be something."

But it probably will take us a long time to realize this. We demand tangible results when we put our money on the line. When we send our son off to college we fondly expect that he will emerge, after four years of it, ready to become a captain of industry or a highly-salaried professional man. It is hard for us to understand that a broader horizon can be, in itself, worth the expense of a college education.

Hollywood Sights
Sounds

BY ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Among the things that make it a city of contrasts is the small and the big, the expensive and the minor, the official and the limousine.

The good wishes stars write on their photographs for roadmen and how much they really care.

Noah Beery's deep bass and LaSu Pitts' trill stars who tell you they love you.

Spots pointed out to tourists as "places of interest"—and places of interest.

Main street's nickelodeons, and the cinema palaces just around the corner.

Acting beauty photographed through soft-focus lenses and the same face before a tactless mirror.

NO ARTIFICE

Speaking of beauty—not aging—Greta Nissen says she has never gone to a beauty parlor in her life, and that she looks her hair herself. Her complexion is one of the million wonders of Hollywood.

Progress is essential: Eight years ago Colleen Moore appeared in a picture called "Flaming Youth." Now Wesley Ruggles is going to direct another jazz feature, and it's called "Cock-eyed Youth!"

The Brothers Marx—all four are here now—already have convinced Hollywood they don't know what an inhibition is. They're as gaily foolish as ever you saw them on stage or screen. But they do, very occasionally, talk seriously.

COME-BACKS

Mae Murray's return to the screen appears permanent. Her part in "Bachelor Apartment" came to her by chance. She had dropped in to tea one afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Lovell Sherman, and Sherman, star-director, asked her to take the role. She is to play a more important role, the feminine lead, in Sherman's next.

And another old-timer, who hasn't been given his microphone on stage yet, although he has been working steadily for two years, is making his talkie debut. Harry Myers, the eccentric millionaire of Chaplin's "City Lights," has his first talking screen role in "Meet the Wife."

Al Boasberg, the incorrigible may take the blame for this one about the actor, under sentence to hang, who sent for his "double."

Audience protests may have their effect and stop Mickey Mouse's talking. The recent addition of dialog to the cartoons has not met with too great favor.

Mysterious Way

By Percival Christopher Wren, Author of "BEAU GESTE" and "BEAU IDEAL"

SYMPTOM: The mysterious John Wayne threatens to expose the criminal life of Dr. Charles, nursing home proprietor, unless he provides him with an alibi for the murder of "Spider" Schultz. Attended that his secret should be known to a stranger, the doctor consents. In America Dr. Charles, then under another name, has robbed Schultz and Chink Dorson of their shares of the loot, in the St. Clair diamond haul. Among his evil companions at that time was a woman who since has become the respectable Mrs. Landels. Her niece, Marjorie Lauriat, has been ill since moving to her uncle's and is a patient at the home. Wayne's startled words: "Rosemary! Rosemary!" when he sees Marjorie are as puzzling as his feigned madness. Charles tells Sly or Weldon and the matron about Wayne.

Chapter 6
WHAT DOES HE KNOW?

"Oh, Doctor! As bad as that?" you are taking too big a risk, ask me!" said Sister Weldon, laughing brightly eyes and teeth at the Doctor. "We aren't allowed to take anybody who is really over the horizon, and we don't want anybody here who might possibly be dangerous, do we?"

"Suppose you leave that to me," "Which nurse shall I put on to 'um?"

"No nurse. No treatment. No medicine. He's not ill! told Mar- ton and Nurse Jones to get him a room ready, and Dr. MacAdoo and I will look after him. I don't want any one or take any obvious notice of him. But every one will keep an eye on him and report to you anything of interest."

"Yes, Doctor."

"How's Miss Skinner this morn- ing?"

"Much the same, Doctor. Nurse Edwards says she offered her a diamond ring if she'd manage to get her out to Wilmerford."

"To the Post Office, I suppose?"

"She isn't any at the Chem- ists, of course. See that she open letters in your presence. Af- ter give them to her yourself. A lot of cocaine or morphia can be packed in an innocent-looking let- ter."

"Can't more parcels for Colonel Campbell?"

"Yes, Weldon smiled.

"A box of books, Doctor."

"With a bottle of whiskey under them?"

"Two. With books beautifully packed on all four sides."

"How's Miss Lauderdelly?"

"Fairly depressed. Otherwise fairly all right. She began to tell me that she was better since she stopped taking Dr. MacAdoo's medicine. I'm afraid I snubbed her sharply."

"Thank you, Sister. I'll see you as usual for reports. It was about Mr. Wayne that I sent for you. Tell them to let him alone, and not to be surprised at anything he says or does. He has delusions, the most prominent being that he has com- mitted a crime and is surrounded by criminals."

"One moment, Matron," he added as Sister Weldon arose and de- parted.

The door closed and the Doctor's manner changed.

"Get Manuel, Jimmy and Lou," he said quietly. "Don't all come together."

One by one, at a few minutes' interval, Mr. James, the Matron, Nurse Jones and Dr. MacAdoo en- tered, and seated themselves in the consulting room.

"Seen the paper, Manuel?" asked the Doctor.

"Not yet. Anything in it?" re- plied Dr. Manuel Machado (alias Emmanuel MacAdoo) formerly of Santos, Bahia, Rio de Janeiro and Brazil generally.

"Very much in it," replied Dr. Charles, frowning as he again scanned the paper. "He's bumped Spider Schlitz off, sure enough. Listen to this," and Dr. Charles proceeded to read the account of the murder of a Mr. Theophilus Webb, a wealthy race-horse owner, at Witherby End.

Apparently robbery had been the motive. The unfortunate victim had evidently been attacked as he sat, probably asleep, in an arm- chair before his library fire.

The police had valuable clues in footprints, finger-marks and a curious anonymous letter. Moreover, a suspicious-looking person had been particularly noticed by the station master at Wellingby Station, a few miles from Witherby End, taking the early morning train to South- ampton.

"Wonder if he got what he went for?" murmured Mr. James, eyeing Dr. Charles meaningly, if not sus- piciously.

"And whether he wrote the an- onymous letter himself," mused the Doctor. "I don't see why he should- n't have done it, to put the cops on a false scent," he added. "I allow he had it in for Spider, and scattered a few drawers to make it look like a burglary."

"Perhaps some pard of Spider's— who Spider double-crossed— croaked in jail and put this guy wise before he died," suggested Mr. James with another meaning look, "and he came and collected some- thing as soon as he got out."

"Yes," agreed the Doctor, eyeing Mr. James hardily.

"What was he after, Doc?" in- quired Dr. MacAdoo.

"After? Oh, some papers and books," replied the Doctor. "That is, if anybody did send him. . . Or perhaps this Wayne and Spider Schlitz made a haul together and were both zamp-up on another count, just as they'd cached it. Maybe Spider got a shorter jolt, came out before Wayne and skipped with the lot and disappeared."

"Yes, if this mysterious Wayne stiff hadn't told me he'd done it, the moment I'd read this account I should have said that some one had come over from Chi on pur-

Tammany Hall May Back Al

ALBANY, N. Y., March 30 (INS)—Tammany may support former Governor Smith for the democratic presidential nomination next year in preference to Governor Roose- velt, according to reports going the rounds here today.

These reports came on the heels of a conference of democratic chiefs, at the home of Joseph Mur- phy, Rensselaer county leader, at Troy. Others at the conference in- cluded John H. McCooy, veteran leader of Brooklyn, and Edward J. O'Connell, chairman of Albany county democratic committee.

This group of leaders is said to have decided to back Mayor Walk- er "to the limit" in connection with the legislative investigation of New York City.

It also was reported that secret plans were discussed by the Smith-Curry-McCooy combination to at- tempt to wrest control of the dem- ocratic state organization from Gov- ernor Roosevelt in an effort to have the New York delegates to the next democratic presidential convention declare for Smith for president.

Friends of Governor Roosevelt said today, however, they were not worried about reports that Tam- many was planning to support Smith next year, and that the were confident Smith would be found in Roosevelt's career.

Bill Thompson Becomes Serious With Final Race

CHICAGO, March 30 (AP)—The master showman of Chicago poli- tics, Mayor William Hale Thomp- son, is staging his last act in the majority arena—but the comic touch is missing.

Instead, it is a serious Mayor Thompson battling for his fourth term against Anton J. Cermak, Bohemian-born "boss" of Cook county democracy.

For "Big Bill"—win or lose—the curtain will fall after the April 7 election. The three-Republican mayor has announced this cam- paign—admittedly his hardest—is his last.

The din and ballyhoo typical of all Chicago campaigns has swelled in volume. But that characteristic part of Thompson politics is miss- ing—the circus.

Into loop theatres, daily dozen of meetings were sprinkled with charges of "bigamy" and "gold coast deals" as the candidates tore into the final ten days of the most intense battle of their political ca- reers.

45.6 MILES Per Gallon of Gasoline

19 Fords Average 27.3 Miles Per Gallon

It is virtually impossible to ac- curately roast coffee in bulk, be- cause there is no exact way to de- termine when all of the batch is "done." One roast may be "high" and another "low," with the result that there is variation of flavor.

Hills Bros. overcame this uncer- tainty, by inventing and perfecting a radically different process—Con- trolled Roasting. By automatic control, a stream of coffee passes continuously through the roaster a few pounds at a time. Positive control of the heat is maintained, with the result that every berry of the roast blend is roasted evenly— to the degree that insures a rich, uniform, full-bodied flavor in every pound.

No other coffee tastes like Hills Bros. Coffee because no other coffee is roasted the same way. Controlled Roasting is Hills Bros. process exclusively.

Grocers everywhere sell Hills Bros. Coffee in the vacuum can that keeps it ever-fresh. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is ex- tracted from the can and kept out. Coffee packed in ordinary cans, even if air-tight, does not stay fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade- mark—on the can.

Texas Acreage In All Crops, Except Cotton, Is Higher

AUSTIN, Texas, March 30 (AP)—A report released today by the bureau of agricultural economics, di- vision of crop and livestock esti- mates, said the intended acreage of the principal Texas crops this year, excluding cotton, amounted to 15, 897,000 acres compared with 15,679, 000 acres harvested last year.

The report stated Texas corn acreage would show an increase of 15 per cent over the 1930 harvested acreage, if intentions to plant were carried out.

"Texas farmers intend to sow 30 per cent more oats than were har- vested last year, or 2,005,000 acres, compared with 1,698,000 acres har- vested last year. This would be the largest acreage on record, and would exceed the next highest acreage, that of 1927, by 2,000 acres," the report stated.

According to today's report the intended acreage in grain sorghum is five per cent larger than that harvested last year, or 3,072,000 acres.

VITAMINS AND DISEASE

A diet rich in vitamins—partic- ularly in vitamins A, C and D—will increase resistance to tuberculosis and help in the prevention of cure of the intestinal form of the dis- ease, accumulated evidence shows.

This was recently pointed out by Dr. Eugene F. DuBois, in a paper on "Diet in Disease." He also af- firmed that experience shows such a vitamin-rich diet will increase resistance against minor infec- tions.

The demonstration of the value of vitamins in these and other re- spects brings up the problem of what cooking, preserving and dry- ing does to them. Some vitamins are very resistant to these pro- cesses. Others are easily destroyed.

Vitamin A, found in milk, toma- toes, carrots, lettuce and peas, is fairly resistant to heat and is cook- ing, particularly when air is ex- cluded.

Vitamin D is not easily destroyed. Vitamin C, found mainly in the citrus fruits, however, is rapidly de- stroyed by cooking, by drying and by storing. Fortunately, Vitamin C in tomato juice is not spoiled by careful cooking or canning.

There has been a widespread pre- judice in this country against can- ned vegetables and a great many people still believe that the so- called "fresh vegetables" cooked in the home contain more vitamins than canned foods.

This is probably not the case, as the home cooking of vegetables, or fruits in an open vessel may ox- idize and hence destroy the vita- mins, particularly if cooking soda is added to preserve the green color and improve the flavor.

Most of the canners are now tak- ing every precaution to avoid the oxidation of the vitamins. Fruits and vegetables are prepared when they are very fresh, and if they are to be preserved they are hashed in an atmosphere from which oxygen has been excluded and cooked in one that is practically oxygen-free.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

War Profits

Lincoln (Neb.) Journal:

INA BURST of temper, the other day, when a heckler was using the war policies commission hear- ing for furthering political ends, Secretary Hurley said that the only thing the hearing had brought out was the Baruch plan of price "freezing" or fixing in case of an emergency. It is true that the major accomplishment of the study thus far has been this plan by which, in case of war, prices will be fixed at prewar level for the duration of hostilities. Yet it has also brought out opposition to the plan.

Eugene Meyer, governor of the federal reserve board, who was ac- tive during the war as director of the war finance corporation, does not believe that there was any profit in the war. He and other wit- nesses before the commission con- tend that profits of the early rise in prices were overcome by the high production costs of the period that we were in the war and that the slow decline of costs ate up much of these profits after the conflict.

Mr. Meyer does not, however, take up the fact that we are now paying with deflated dollars for goods purchased at inflated prices. He points out the fact that 29 per cent of the war's cost was paid out of current revenues. If the war had been conducted on a pay-as-you-go base, it would have been paid for with inflated dollars. But as we pay now the burden is much greater than it would have been when in- flated dollars were used.

Mr. Meyer contends that men and materials are needed rather than money, the latter being but a medium of exchange. There was a sup- ply of men. Men served with no thought of reward and the draft supplied the gaps. Why cannot the people at home serve in the same manner? Yet Mr. Meyer contends that financial reward must be of- fered in order to get material pro- duced on a fast schedule.

If the dollars flow as freely to- day as they did during the war, folks would listen to Mr. Meyer and go away convinced, unwilling to try any daring experiments. But because of the flat tire aspect of today's money, plans for drafting material and plans for "freezing" prices are listened to with interest. Something must be done to insure war's being profitable.

It is true that the major accomplishment of the study thus far has been this plan by which, in case of war, prices will be fixed at prewar level for the duration of hostilities. Yet it has also brought out opposition to the plan.

Eugene Meyer, governor of the federal reserve board, who was ac- tive during the war as director of the war finance corporation, does not believe that there was any profit in the war. He and other wit- nesses before the commission con- tend that profits of the early rise in prices were overcome by the high production costs of the period that we were in the war and that the slow decline of costs ate up much of these profits after the conflict.

Mr. Meyer does not, however, take up the fact that we are now paying with deflated dollars for goods purchased at inflated prices. He points out the fact that 29 per cent of the war's cost was paid out of current revenues. If the war had been conducted on a pay-as-you-go base, it would have been paid for with inflated dollars. But as we pay now the burden is much greater than it would have been when in- flated dollars were used.

Mr. Meyer contends that men and materials are needed rather than money, the latter being but a medium of exchange. There was a sup- ply of men. Men served with no thought of reward and the draft supplied the gaps. Why cannot the people at home serve in the same manner? Yet Mr. Meyer contends that financial reward must be of- fered in order to get material pro- duced on a fast schedule.

If the dollars flow as freely to- day as they did during the war, folks would listen to Mr. Meyer and go away convinced, unwilling to try any daring experiments. But because of the flat tire aspect of today's money, plans for drafting material and plans for "freezing" prices are listened to with interest. Something must be done to insure war's being profitable.

CITY LEAGUE TO HAVE ORGANIZATION PARLEY

Poreda Meets J. Risko Tonight

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—Old Johnny Risko, Cleveland's rubbery spoiler of good heavyweight prospects, returns to New York this week to test the capabilities of the Jersey City youngster, Stanley Poreda.

Risko and Poreda are matched in the 10-round square match in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night in a bout that may make or break the New Jersey boy.

Poreda, nursed along carefully, has been bowling over second-rate opponents right and left but he never has been called upon to meet so experienced a workman as Risko. Johnny never has been able to reach the heights himself but he has stood in the way of plenty of other contenders. Risko, on the score of his great experience, probably will be a slight favorite in the betting.

This bout tops an otherwise uninteresting national flat program at Philadelphia tomorrow night. Benny Bass, junior lightweight champion, battles Young Firpo of Pennsylvania, N. J., in a nontitle match. At Boston on Tuesday, King Levinsky of Chicago meets the Irish heavyweight, Con O'Kelly, in a 10-rounder.

Then there's the return to the ring of "Oom Paul" Berlenbach, former light-heavyweight champion, who is starting from the bottom once more. Paul meets Eddie Clark, New York negro, in a four rounder at the Broadway Arena Tuesday night.

Bouts on the national schedule include:

Monday—At New York, Madison Square Garden, Stanley Poreda, Jersey City, vs. Johnny Risko, Cleveland, heavyweight; Joe Banovic, Binghamton, vs. Bob Olin, New York, light-heavyweights, and Young Terry, Trenton, N. J., vs. Joey Lagery, New York, welterweights, each 10; at Philadelphia, Benny Bass, Philadelphia, vs. Young Firpo, Pennsylvania, N. J., lightweights (nontitle), and Ralph Lenny, New Jersey, vs. Pat Igoe, Philadelphia, lightweights, each 10; at Denver, George Manley, Denver, vs. K. O. Christopher, Akron, Ohio, heavyweights, 10; at Cleveland, Joey Ross, New York, vs. Mickey Cohen, Cleveland, 10; at Louisville, Jack Krocker, Champaign, Ill., vs. Walter Pickard, Indianapolis, heavyweights, 10, and Norman Brown, Indianapolis, vs. Young Jack Dillon, Louisville, middleweights, 8.

Tuesday—At Boston, King Levinsky, Chicago, vs. Con O'Kelly, Ireland, heavyweights, 10; at New York, Broadway Arena, Paul Berlenbach, New York, vs. Eddie Clark, New York, light-heavyweights, 4; at Los Angeles, Billy Townsend, Vancouver, vs. Joe Glick, New York, lightweights, 10, and Steve Hamas, Passaic, N. J., vs. Man Mountain Erickson, Sweden, heavyweights, 8; at Indianapolis, Charles Arthur, New York, vs. Del Fontaine, Winnipeg, middleweights, 10; at West Palm Beach, Fla., Young Bob Godwin, Daytona Beach, vs. Tony Canella, Tampa, light-heavyweights, 10.

Wednesday—At Cleveland, Lope Tenorio, Philippines, vs. Billy Wallace, Cleveland, lightweights, 10; at Dayton, Ohio, Freddie Miller, Cincinnati, vs. Manuel Castro, 10.

The initial step in organizing a four club City League will be taken tonight at a meeting to be held at 7:30 o'clock at the Herald office.

At the session it will be definitely decided which clubs will be included in the four unit loop this year. Last season there were six clubs in the league.

Although it is not thought a definite schedule will be ready tonight, the league proper will be organized.

A president and secretary and treasurer will be named. Entrance fees will be decided. The meeting will be opened promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

Hundreds Pay Tribute To Johnson

ST. LOUIS, March 20.—Hundreds of baseball veterans, friends and associates paid tribute Sunday to Byron Bancroft Johnson, one of the founders and the first president of the American League, as his body lay in state at a mortuary here.

Among those who passed the bier of the man who is credited with driving rowdism and gambling from the national pastime, were stars of yesteryear, many of whom had played on clubs in the league which he had successfully guided more than a quarter of a century.

Others were associates of the baseball leader during his stormy career as American League president. The bronze casket was banked high with floral pieces from friends in the world of baseball and commerce.

Mrs. Jennie Johnson, the widow, who had returned to Spencer, Ind., where her husband's final illness, did not return to St. Louis upon his death, but remained at Spencer, Ind., where funeral services will be held Wednesday.

Proposed Amendment Would Allow State To Aid With Centennial

AUSTIN, March 20. (UP)—A proposal for submission of a constitutional amendment to allow the legislature to appropriate money for a Texas centennial was offered the Texas senate today.

Senator Margie Neal of Carthage was the author of the resolution. Its submission closed a session of the senate devoted to passage of local and uncontested bills. The house did not meet today.

The senate will resume debate on the $200,000,000 highway bond proposal when it meets Monday morning.

CARD OF THANKS

For the wonderful kindness and heartfelt sympathy extended to us at the death of our beloved husband and father, we wish to express our thanks. May blessings come to you. Especially do we appreciate the beautiful floral tributes.

Ask for Powell's Golden Crust bread—Adv.

A Principle vs. A Penny

Our government, through quota legislation, has departed from our shores that horde of cheap foreign labor that would menace our own wage earners. That is as it should be.

The downfall of wages and commodity prices below cost of production are not only the cause of our depression but are in themselves—THE DEPRESSION.

The declining gasoline prices at retail filling stations in Big Spring has put many a hard working man out of employment, and struck fear in the hearts of others.

The average price of gasoline in Texas is above 18 cents. We are going to try to sell Cosden Liquid Gas, that premium performance gasoline, at 13 cents. If we keep our employees working at fair wages we will have to sell many, many gallons—we must have your business. We don't believe in cutting wages—we may be forced to put our employees back on Big Spring unemployment list, where we got them.

Those who would cut one another's throats are entitled to an audience. Watch them, and if one drops a knife hand it back to him; but when you want gasoline drive to a Cosden Liquid Gas Pump.

Gregg's Eleventh Producer Gushes

LONGVIEW, Texas, March 30 (AP)—Gregg county late today received its eleventh producer when the Arkansas Fuel Oil Company's No. 2 Lathrop was swabbed in for an estimated 14,000 barrels of high gravity oil daily. It was the third completion for the company within three days and numerous officials from the Shreveport headquarters were present.

The well is about 300 feet south of the Lathrop discovery and is a west offset to the Magnolia Petroleum Company's No. 1 Rodden.

Legislative Session Brings On Marriages

AUSTIN, March 30. (UP)—This is becoming known as the marriage session of the Texas legislature.

House Parliamentarian Overtia Culp resigned to marry former governor W. P. Hobby and today congratulations were being sent to Jack Lynch, private secretary to Lieut. Gov. Edgar E. Witt, and his bride, who was Miss Clare Alexander, secretary to Senator Thomas Pollard.

They were married in Nuevo Laredo, a message to Miss Alexander's mother here said. Lynch's home is at Center where he is a newspaper publisher.

Robert Tyre Jones and Diegel Are Beaten by Von Elm and Mortie Dutra

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, March 20. (AP)—Robert Tyre Jones Jr., the actor, stepped out of his Hollywood makeup Sunday and for 18 holes became Bobby Jones, the golfer, again only to taste of defeat with Leo Diegel when Mortie Dutra and George Von Elm defeated the pair, one up, in a match for charity.

The burden of the match rested squarely on the shoulders of the champion of champions, as Diegel, former P.G.A. champion and local professional, could not get his iron shots to working with sufficient degree to assist on more than one hole.

Of the other team, it was Dutra, youngest of the Dutra brothers, who turned the trick which gave him and his business man golfing partner the match.

Dutra, a Long Beach, Cal., pro, toured the tough course in an all-weather wind in 70, one under par, against 72 for Jones, 75 for Von Elm and 77 for Diegel.

Never during the 18 holes was and, no doubt, thumbed his nose at the cheese container after the steeplechase. His ticket carried him along the crest to first place and $1,727.70. He, however, must share his prize with his relatives. Anyone with that many relatives should be compelled to share a million and three-quarters. Consins are good for only that, anyway. George Dynamite of Cape Town, down in South Africa, somewhere, won third prize on Annapolis, and a check of $599.50. The Cartaker of the Bolivian legation in London slipped down the stairs a bit. He sold half his tickets on Rhythmic for $10,000. There is no mention made in any of the press reports of the losers. We presume, as is customary in such cases, there were a few losers along the route.

Philosophy, the old codger, says we can't all win. But try and talk philosophy to the sandwich server of the small London cafe. All he has to worry about is 40 relatives—what a family tree.

It seems Howard county is not the only one that has a bit of treason's socking. Tonight's session will be opened promptly at 7:30 o'clock, and will close promptly some time thereafter. It will probably be the penultimate parley before the season's play actually gets underway. There will be seats for all, although one can't be choicy, you know, after all.

A fellow named Clayton G. Woods won't be destined to go through life as an inspector in the Chevrolet motors plant at Buffalo, New York. His life was carved out for higher things, better things, grander things. So out of his salary—meagre or otherwise—he hooked $250 and went gambling. His venture had a return of $886.360 when he drew the ticket on Greglach, which placed second in the Grand National steeplechase at Alintree, England. No question of gratitude entered the picture. Woods, no doubt, had worked hard, earnestly, sincerely and enthusiastically at his job. But what happened as soon as he won the shekels? Ah, he was fired flat off his job, and left with nothing more than $886.360 to go through life with. The boss said to the other men—those men who hadn't tickled the hand of Fate—spend all their time talking to Woods about the horse race. Emilio Scala, who eked out a very nice living operating a respectable cafe in London town, wiped the coffee off his hands, hung up his apron, know of the old adage that he who plays with fire must, by necessity, become scorched. In his own individual way he wants to tackle the Bucky tracksters up with Bill Bissett's San Angelo track stars. Of course, Bissett doesn't have anything. Not much. Just Smoky Brothers topping a relay team the equal of which has not been found in Texas to date. Nothing much but Smoky Brothers, a right nice track team in two shoes. Nothing much but a flock of other athletes that could walk up to the Oil Belt contenders and take their measurements without a bobble. There will be plenty of time, however. Plenty, if not too much.

Hangover Hankins, the Midland menace, sits idly by and watches the Midland athletes move onward, ever onward. Mineral Wells, however, Mr. Hankins, continues to play havoc with the purple and gold youngsters. This department, failed, so sayeth Hankins, to appraise the strength of the Bulldogs. While we were doing it, Mineral Wells wasn't, if the meaning is clear, "Mineral Wells," he continues, "looked, saw and allegedly offered. As a result the exodus has started. When we were sojourning down in the specific vicinity of Palo Pinto county, the time came to select a mentor, or a couple of mentors for the Mountaineers. Out of the heap they picked a pair—"Red" Moore, fresh from Texas Christian, and Stovall, a coach with the Methodist Orphanage at Waco. It seems that two very smart young fellows were obtained by the Mountaineer solons. Very smart. Extremely so.

Bill Stevens, after watching his track charges in action against the cream of rural schools Saturday, will get more of the same Friday afternoon. Six schools have been asked to participate in a track and field engagement. Midland, Lamesa, Colorado, Roscoe, Stanton and Big Spring will clash. Midland, it is understood, doesn't have a track team. However, this is only a rumor. An idle rumor has broken up many a good home. But that's another story. The thing is, Stevens is anxious to make as good a showing as possible with the material he has in the district meet to be held at Abilene, the home of forty cent hot beef sandwiches with mashed potatoes. The tuning up process has been slow. But he believes that at last a few of the boys are stepping toward the front line entrenchments and things may not be so open to the general public.

Broad Vision Behind Hoover's Four Personal Commissions Say Friends

WASHINGTON, March 30 (UP)—The cream of a future United States with every man owning his own home, the healthiest babies, no illiterates and society on a generally higher plane than history has ever recorded—that is the vision behind President Hoover's four private and personal commissions as described by his associates here today.

It was disclosed that he has raised more than three quarters of a million dollars, instituting the commission inquiries to carry out his long cherished ambition.

The story of the starting, financing, and hopes of these commissions obscured in the political and economical activities of the president—has been obtained from an authoritative source. Friends of Mr. Hoover claim the chief reason prompting him to enter the national political arena was the prospect that such idealistic possibilities might be realized.

Noted sociologists of the nation were privately consulted by him soon after he took office, and decided to organize the commission on social trends.

Mr. Hoover promised the money and obtained it, without revealing the source. The sociologists now are at work on the most stupendous collection of statistics concerning sociological conditions any nation has ever attempted.

The second commission originated in the president's mind many years ago. He and his friend, Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, often discussed the possibility of developing the sturdiest race in history by promotion of child health. The result was the child health conference, which has written eighteen volumes concerning its problem, and laid down a standardized plan for bettering the health of future generations.

Friends of the president with troubles about raising money to build or buy their own homes brought him the idea for the third commission. It now is in operation planning to do the same thing for home ownership the child health conference has done for children.

The illiteracy commission, fourth of the group, has reported great progress. The state reporting the highest rate of illiteracy a year ago will not have an illiterate within its borders next year, those interested in the work of this commission say.

WORLD-BAY CIRCUSES
SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 30 (INS)—The "big top" is doomed to California if a bill under consideration today is passed by the legislature. The measure introduced by Assemblyman Harry Lyons of Los Angeles, makes it a misdemeanor to hold circuses, carnivals, exhibitions fairs or any performance in a tent or other inclosure of inflammable material.

LONG A MINISTER
KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 30 (INS)—Rev. R. P. C. Gruppe's career in the ministry equals that of the ordinary span of life. He can look back on seventy years spent as a minister in the Lutheran church, all but eight of which have been in the pastorate. Gruppe was born in Hanover, Germany, in 1840, but came to this country when he was 13 years old. He started his ministerial work in a frontier church in Wisconsin in 1861.

BURGLAR FIGHTS SELF
CLEVELAND, March 30 (INS)—Apparently mistaking his own reflection for an approaching foe, a burglar staged a furious gun battle with himself at a local music store after robbing it of $50. Seeing an image in a full length mirror, the robber fired three shots before he discovered it was his reflection. He then leaped through a plate glass window and escaped in a volley of bullets fired by a passing police cruiser.

DEER LINGER
BARKHAMSTEAD, Conn., March 30 (INS)—Deep snows lingering in to late March are held responsible for the assemblage of deer here. Twenty-five of the animals were sighted from one homestead here. Nine visited the orchard, eleven roamed a field opposite and five wandered along the road. All were seeking food.

RECEIVE FLINT EXHIBIT
CHICAGO, March 30 (INS)—A collection of flint implements approximately 1,000,000 years old, representing the earliest definitely determined handwork of prehistoric man yet discovered anywhere in the world, has been received at the Field Museum of Natural History from Ipswich, England, where they were found. The tools are extremely crude but of well defined types, and show that hand axes and scrapers of various kinds were in use at that remote period.

FIGHT NOISE
MONROE, Mich., March 30 (INS)—The anti-noise campaign has reached this city. Council at a recent meeting passed an ordinance taboing the sounding of bells and whistles on locomotives and street cars while inside the city limits. Engineers and motorists who break the law, except in emergency cases will be liable to a $5 to $50 fine or from 3 to 30 days in jail, the ordinance decrees.

MRS. CHESTNUT RETURNS
Mrs. Matilda Chestnut, Eberley Funeral Home bookkeeper, spent the week-end in Dallas. She returned this morning.

YADLOCK DIARY
LONDON, Ont., March 30 (INS)—Locked away in the archives of St. Peter's Seminary here is the predicted diary of the late Bishop M. E. Fallon. Its contents remain a secret for years to come. Years from now when all those persons mentioned in the Bishop's diary are dead, the seminary staff will publish the diary records. It was decided the book's contents deal with too recent occurrences to be published at once.

CEMETERY DONATION
A $5 donation to the cemetery fund from Mrs. F. F. Jary was announced this afternoon by John F. Wolcott, treasurer.

Canadian aviation started 1931 with 311 private pilots, 402 commercial fliers, and 370 aeronautic engineers holding licenses.

SEE FORD CAR ACTUALLY SAWED IN TWO

WOMEN as well as men will be interested in this display. A new Tudor Sedan has been sawed in two. This and the cutaway chassis of a sturdy Ford truck reveal details of many vital mechanical parts you seldom see. The valves, pistons, cylinders—the fuel, cooling, ignition and lubrication systems—everything that contributes to the unusual performance and stamina of the Ford motor! You will also see how the chassis, body and seats are made—how the different layers of paint are put on—why the new Ford car is a value far above the price. Many things you would like to know about the construction and operation of the Ford car and truck are clearly explained. You don't have to be a mechanic to understand them.

See how the double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers cushion the new Ford car against hard road shocks. See why the Ford steel-spoke wheels are so sturdy and strong. See how the crankshaft and camshaft are made—from the original steel bar to the final machining and polishing. Many other interesting mechanical features!
