The 26th annual Border Town Days celebration kicks off this weekend.

Here are some of the highlights:

Farwell Arena Association

The first event will be a Cow Girl Rodeo Association Barrel Race at the Farwell Arena at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

The association may hold a roping on Saturday night, but plans are still tentative.

On Sunday, there will be a Play Day at the arena at 2 p.m. Events will include barrels, poles, goat tie, and stakes. The entry fee will be $5 per event. Trophies and ribbons will be given as awards.

For more information, contact Pam Bernier or Othena Smith at the Spur Restaurant.

Saturday Events

A highlight will be the 11th annual Merchants' Giveaway in which 35 merchants will give away prizes throughout the afternoon. You must be present to win.

The Texico Fire Department will hold drawings for a pickup truck and two cash prizes. There will also be a drawing for a shotgun to be given away by the Texico Chamber of Commerce.

Richards asks for folks' ideas

Texico School Supt. R. L. Richards has asked the cooperation of Texico folks on two matters:

1. Anyone interested in forming a new Texico Booster Club, should contact Texico High School principal Carolyn Abell at 482-3305 or Mr. Ketterling at 762-3955.

2. Anyone who has suggestions or input concerning the new horticulture lab that will be added to the hot house in the swimming pool area of the Mary Peyton Williams property that the school system purchased last spring should call Richards at 482-3801.

BTD giveaway

This Chevy pickup from Doc Stewart Chevy Buick Geo in Clovis will be given away during Border Town Days July 25 as a fund-raiser for the Texico Fire Department. The 2nd place winner gets $300 and the 3rd place winner gets $200. Tickets for the drawing are at various Twin City businesses.

Don't forget a chair!

Here are some special Border Town Days notes:

 This year's theme is "Recycling America." That's most important for participants in the Decorated Bike Contest and parade float entries - in order to win the big prizes.

 Please remember to bring lawn chairs with you to the Farwell City Park for BTD. It's tough on the feet after several hours of standing.

 Please buy those BTD commemorative buttons, for $2 donations. That's how we finance Border Town Days.

Bond issue work begins

The Farwell School Board Tuesday voted to start the legal mechanism to call for a $1.5 million dollar bond issue to construct more school facilities.

The board will officially vote to call for the bond issue on Aug. 3. The bond election would take place on Sept. 22.

"We want to take advantage of the low interest rates, and to try not to increase taxes too much," said Supt. Richard Boothby.

According to Boothby, the plans call for adding new classrooms to each current building - elementary, junior high and senior high.

A gymnasium with a concession stand area, 2 restrooms and dressing rooms would be added to the high school.

There would also be 2 classrooms added for to the high school.

Plans call for 4 junior high classrooms, 2 additional restrooms which would be shared by the cafeteria and junior high, and a commons area to be shared with the elementary school.

The addition to the elementary school would include 4 classrooms, a library, and boys' and girls' restrooms.

Some of the additional classrooms will house special education classrooms.

The board also voted to go to a self-funded worker's compensation program. "Farwell would be pooled with similar North Texas schools where workman's compensation claims are not so prevalent," said Boothby. The program calls

Something for everyone

It's finally here - the 26th annual Border Town Days celebration.

Once again, the outlook is optimistic. We have a full array of events scheduled - something for everyone.

One important note: please, please don't forget to bring a lawn chair with you to the park. It's a full day of musical entertainment and a person gets awful tired standing.

We're so fortunate to live in a community like Texico - Farwell, which can put on a wonderful day like BT.D.

However, it does cost a few bucks to put on BT.D. ($3,000) and that's why we sell those BT.D. commemorative buttons. When you're at BT.D. and someone asks for a "$2 or more donation," please help out.

Not only does it allow us to continue these great fun days, but you also qualify for a chance to win $50; the giveaway will be held right before the pickup giveaway at 5 p.m. on BT.D. You must be present to win.

The day will start with the decorated bike contest. To win the major cash prizes, you need to follow the theme: "Recycle America." But all participants will get free tickets to ride the CAKE Train. Please make sure your youngster is at the judging site by 9:45 a.m. cdt (see story listing the rules, etc., elsewhere in today's paper).

The Big Parade kicks off at 11 a.m. cdt. We're really excited about this year's parade. We have a lot new groups entered and it should be a fun affair.

Then it's time to head over to the Farwell City Park for the big barbeque. You can get your tickets early from Rotary Club members, including at the State Line Tribune. The cost is $5 for adults and $2.50 for youths.

Obviously, we are going to miss the Hardages playing at the gazebo, due to Ed's death earlier this month. We're pleased that both the Twin Cities have proclaimed July 25 as "Ed Hardage Day." Proclamations honoring Ed will be read by Mayors Doyal LaRue and Wendol Christian when the ceremonies start at 1 p.m.

Among the groups we have scheduled will be the Corn Kids, Charlie Phillips, Jack Allen Kirkland & John Crozier, the Billy the Kid troupe, and some surprises! Nancy Miller will sing the National Anthem.

The queen's contest is always a delight, as the girls perform talents at BT.D. The winner gets a $300 scholarship.

Meanwhile, the park will be full of fun events for the whole family:

The CAKE Train, dunking booth, water polo, dog obedience classes, arts and crafts show, lots of concessions, an airplane, and lots more!

Obviously, to put on an event like this calls for a full team effort. Here are some of the folks who made it possible:

Rhonda Qualls, Ann Cooper, Shandra McIntosh and her queen's contest committee, Willie Dannheim, Tom Shumate, Rick Sullivan, Lynne Mahaney, Cynthia Thigpen, Frances Kube, Dee and Billy Hammitt and all the Farwell and Texico city employees, members of the Texico and Farwell fire departments, Leigh Ann Woods, Fred Chandler, Joe Hughes, Dutch Quickel, Mike Ratke, Orie and Peggy Jones, Fry Urioste and members of the Texico marshal's office and Parmer County sheriff's department ...

The list could go on and on. If I inadvertently left someone off, my apologies. Everyone helps out - and that's great! All I can say is, not bad for a community of 2,300 folks.

Marriage Licenses

There were seven marriage licenses issued in Parmer County last week:

Claudio Lopez and Phyllis Taylor, Burce Vernen Maki and Diane Russell, Lloyd Williams and Sandra Selfridge, Billy Brunam and Carol Cole, Odegarrd Lee Kerby and Jackie Davidson, Danny Roach and Phyllis Woods, Luis Raul Garcia and Lara Ann Castillo.

The family of John McGehee would like to express our appreciation for the prayers, visits, cards, phone calls, food, flowers and memorials during our time of sorrow. Words can't express how much your love and kindness have helped. May God bless each of you.

Chamber needs your help

The Farwell Chamber of Commerce plans to erect a monument in Farwell City Park to those Parmer County residents who have given their lives in service of their nation. They plan to list the names of all county residents who have died during U.S. conflicts on this monument.

Below is a list of war dead which appears in the Security State Bank ads in the State Line Tribune each Veterans Day. If you know of anyone who should be added to this list, please call the Tribune at 481-3681.

Also, in cases that we know, we have listed the war in which the persons died. If no war is listed, we need to know which war they died in. If you know, please call the Tribune at 481-3681.

Auxiliary buys items for center

The Farwell Convalescent Center Auxiliary heard about the new items which had been purchased for the center when it met on July 13.

Thirty-nine new dining room chairs have been bought and are now in use. A piano has also been purchased, and it is now being enjoyed by the residents of the home.

Letha Morris, Jean Skaggs, Frances Kube and Frances Boling were responsible for a new coat of paint in the beauty shop. Pictures have been hung, and a new clock is in place to make the shop an inviting place for residents to come.

Guy Austin cooked the hamburgers for the Convalescent Center's Father's Day cookout on the patio in June.

The Auxiliary will have its annual baked goods sale at Border Town Days. They will also be selling popcorn. If anyone has any special orders on baked goods, or if anyone wants to prepare anything, they should contact Robbie Williams or Frances Boling.

The residents will enjoy an ice cream party at 3:15 p.m. on Aug. 11, and a watermelon feast is planned for September. No specific date has been set for it.

The Auxiliary will next meet at 4 p.m. on Sept. 14.

Debbie Pollard directed camp activities.

Parmer 4-H Camp conducted

The Parmer County 4-H Camp held July 14 - 15 provided local youth with a variety of fun - filled learning activities. It began with Frisbee golf, flag football, and a tug of war in Farwell park. That was followed by a chili dog supper and a swim party.

Later in the evening campers participated in several crafts including spin art T-shirts, metal art, and braiding. There was also a movie to see before rolling out the sleeping bags.

Debbie Pollard made breakfast burritos for the group early in the morning.

Then Suzi Langford presented an introduction to the 4-H photography unit. Campers who had their own cameras would be well on their way to finishing a project.

Veterinarian Bret Whitten presented a rabies clinic and told the youths about caring for their 4-H animal projects and pets.

Bishop named

Methodists in this area have a new Bishop: Alfred L. Norris, who was assigned to the Northwest Texas - New Mexico Annual Conference.

He has been serving as president of Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta.

Helping with the 4-H Camp were: County Agents Debbie Pollard and Gary Patterson and volunteers Suzi Langford, Cindy Patterson, Cathy Curtis, and Gaye Roberts.

Lower assessment rate to start July 31

By Shawn Wade

The last of the grower approved reforms to the Cotton Research and Promotion Order go into effect July 31 according to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG). That is the day USDA officials have announced rules authorizing the collection of assessments will take effect, actual collection will probably begin August 1.

July 31 is also the day a lower supplemental assessment rate goes into effect. Beginning July 31 both domestic and imported cotton will be assessed at a rate of $1 plus five-tenths of one percent of the value of the bale. The new rate will be effective for three years. After three years the assessment will revert back to the previous rate of $1 plus six-tenths of one percent of the value of the bale.

"Many of the producers who voted to end their own right to a refund under the research and promotion program have been concerned with the delay in beginning the assessment of imported cotton," says Larry Nelson, PCG Chairman of the Board and Vice Chairman of Cotton Incorporated's (CI) Board of Directors. "We have finally worked out all the details and are now ready to begin collecting these assessments."

Nelson notes that the payment of assessments on imported cotton will provide a significant boost in CI's operating budget beginning with the 1992 crop. The lowering of the supplemental assessment rate from six-tenths to five-tenths of one percent of the value of each bale of cotton will lower total collections for the program by an estimated $4.6 million dollars.

"The reduction of the supplemental assessment by one-tenth of one percent doesn't look like a big drop at first glance," explains Nelson. "In actual dollars that one-tenth of one-percent reduction represents a full 10-percent of CI's projected 1993 budget."

Nelson says that CI's projected budget is based on estimates of overall supply and the estimated price the cotton will bring when harvested. This years crop losses and depressed prices will have a big impact on the eventual size of CI's 1993 budget.

Another item that will be determined from the price farmers receive for their cotton is the 1992-crop deficiency payment. Calculation of the deficiency payment rate is based on a formula that calculates the weighted average farm price of cotton and subtracts that figure from the current target price of 72.9-cents.

Preliminary figures show marketings for the month of May totaled 247,000 bales with an average price received of 52.2 cents per pound. May's preliminary marketing total is the first to come in lower than marketings for the same month in 1991. Preliminary figures indicate total marketings of 6,321,000 bales so far in 1992. In contrast 1991 marketings didn't top the 6 million bale level until September.

Preliminary marketings and the cents per pound farm prices for January through May are included in the table below.

	Marketings (1000 bales)		Prices (cents/lb.)		Weighted Avg. Price
	1991	1992	1991	1992	1991	1992
January	2355	2515	64.9	51.6	64.9	51.6

The facility has lots of pamphlets and helpful free information about sights in New Mexico.

She said the grand opening and ribbon cutting date has been changed once already. It is now tentatively scheduled for Aug. 13.

She is not yet sure when the governor of New Mexico will be on hand to cut the ribbon.

Ugly Pickup contest cancelled

There won't be an Ugly Pickup contest for the Border Town Days parade - due to lack of entries.

The contest was held back in 1988 and 1989, then cancelled for the same reason.

But folks said they really had enjoyed it so the LTD

Committee tried to get it going again this year. Farwell Farm Supply had agreed to put up a $25 cash prize to the winner. But only one pickup was entered so it was decided not to have the contest.

Texico Chamber builds float

The Texico Chamber of Commerce met Monday at the Ronnie Warmuth residence for a cookout and work session to complete work on Border Town Days.
 "We had a really good time," said Evelyn Warmuth. The Warmuths cooked hamburgers for the event, while others brought the remaining foods for the cookout.
 The group completed the float for Border Town Days, and they also discussed the items needed for the ice cream booth.
 They also had an update on the sales for their shotgun giveaway.

 Texico held its annual clean-up Saturday, but Lewis and Ann Cooper were out working before then.
 They were busy mowing and pulling weeds at the corner of Hwy. 60-70-84 and the railroad tracks Friday night.
 Texico is fortunate to have such dedicated and hard working people.

Restrictions outlined

by Bruce Hinrichs
Curry County Extension Agent

The wheat crop is finally out and this will be a year many will remember. Harvest was done between rain storms, hail devastated several fields and yields as high as 50 bushels per acre were realized on dryland.

The threat of corn leaf blight has diminished with the hot temperatures and no rain. The greatest potential for yield loss occurs if the disease is established before silking. The New Mexico Department of Agriculture has been granted a section 18 for the use of Capture to control Banks grass mites on corn. This year there are special restrictions on the use:

1. Use by special use permit only
 2. Permits issued only to commercial applicators
 3. Fields must be checked by NMDA Inspector or County Agent before special use permit will be issued.
 4. Section 18 is only for food grade corn.
 5. Commercial applicators must call NMDA at 1-800-5310 to request special use permit.
- Farmers and ranchers have until Aug. 10 to submit comments on the proposed pesticide record keeping regulations. The current proposal would require keeping the following information for three years:
1. Address and size of treated area
 2. Test or stored crops treated
 3. Brand name, formulation and EPA registration number of product
 4. Total amount and rate of application.
 5. Day, month, and year treated
 6. Applicators name, address, and certification number
- Written comments about the proposed rules should be sent to Alan Post, Docket Manager, Science Division, AMS, USDA, Room 3064-5, P.O. Box 96456, Washington, D.C. 20090-6456.

Dr. Lowell Catlett will present a seminar on risk management Tuesday, July 21 at the Memorial Building in Portales. Registration will begin at 8 a.m. mdt. Lunch will be provided. Call (505) 356-3555 to make reservations.

We wish to express our deepest appreciation to our neighbors, friends and loved ones for your prayers, cards, visits, food, thoughts and kindness shown to our beloved mother through the years and extended to us at her loss.

A special thanks to the sheriff's department for their support during the funeral, to the High Plains Nursing Home for their love and care through her 5-year stay. Thank you all.

It's time for 'Sugartime'

Charlie Phillips

Charlie "Sugartime" Phillips and his western dance band - "The Sugartimers," will play a benefit dance at the Clovis Holiday Inn's Patio Garden Room July 25 at 9:30 p.m. cdt. Tickets are $5 in advance, and $6 at the door.

This is the 4th annual benefit Phillips will be doing for the Farwell Convalescent Center in conjunction with Border Town Days.

Phillips grew up at Farwell and graduated from Farwell High School. Though he has lived in Amarillo a number of years, he enjoys coming back to Farwell and "doing something for my hometown."

Phillips became famous for writing and recording the No. 1 hit in 1958 called "Sugartime". His original version was recorded at the Norman Petty Studios in Clovis. Buddy Holly played the lead guitar on the original recording. It hit the top of the country and western charts, but the McGuire Sisters' pop version gave it worldwide recognition.

Phillips was just a teen when he wrote "Sugartime" while driving a tractor on the family farm near Farwell. Since then, he has recorded a number of other country and western hits. In the 1960's every record he made was on the national charts. He has performed on the Grand Ole Opry and toured the country with folks like Jim Reeves, Marty Robbins, Johnny Cash, Willie Nelson and Brenda Lee.

It looked like a whole lot of Clovis folks had joined the Texico lunch bunch.

Pharmacist's discovery may end obesity

WASHINGTON-- After solving the problem of his own obesity, a pharmacist, now director of National Dietary Research, may have discovered the solution for others with the same problem.

Dr. William Morris, pharmacist, inventor and author has discovered a natural food tablet, aptly named Food Source One, that replaces some of the calories normally obtained from food. Food Source One replaces high calorie fats with other natural food ingredients with little or no caloric value so you can lose weight without giving up all your favorite foods, as explained in NDR's Lifestyle Maintenance publication, available where Food Source One is sold. "The secret to meaningful weight loss is not in decreasing the amount of food you eat, but in controlling the fat," says Dr. Morris.

According to Dr. Morris, weight loss results while using Food Source One will depend on how many pounds a person needs to lose. However some overweight people are experiencing extraordinary results with Food Source One. A Metairie, Louisiana nurse lost 71 pounds. She stated "I never had to sacrifice the foods I dearly crave!" "Food Source One is very easy and anyone could do it," says a Niagara Falls, New York woman who lost 26 pounds and 15 inches. "The results are great!" she added.

Food Source One is available at pharmacies without a prescription.

Letter To The Editor

'Farwell needs police'

Letter to the Editor
Dear Mayor, City Councilmen and all Farwell residents,
We would like to commend Joyce Coffman for her letter to the editor. As she states, Farwell is very much in need of a town marshal or city police department of some kind. While it is helpful to have the Sheriff's Department located in Farwell, it is still a Sheriff's Department and not a City Police Department. They simply can not handle all the calls they get from the citizens of Farwell. We need someone who can and will handle these calls.

In the July 17th issue of the State Line Tribune, there is an article on the possibility of raising the trash fund in order to provide Farwell with a city police officer. It also stated that the council is considering a referendum, giving Farwell residents a chance to vote on this. We urge everyone in Farwell to vote "YES." Farwell needs a city policeman. Please do everything that you can to see that Farwell gets an officer.

There is a lot more going on in Farwell than most people would like to think. Just last month there was a police report in the paper stating that drug related arrests were made right here in Farwell. Yes there are drug dealers living in Farwell. There are also many other problems that occur in town that only a city officer can take care of and put a stop to. Again, we urge all of you to write letters as Joyce did, to call the Mayor and Councilmen and to vote yes to a city police officer of Farwell.

Sincerely,

Dan and Jaquetta Walterscheid

Decorated Bike Contest on tap

Registration has begun for the Border Town Days Decorated Bike Contest.

Youths must sign up at Texico City Hall.

This year offers a special incentive: Ted Lopez of Tedson Trailers, is donating a brand new bike to the winner

Fire Calls

The Farwell ambulance was needed twice this week.

On July 15 at 5:24 a.m., it transported a person from the Farwell Convalescent Center to Muleshoe.

On July 18 at 7:43 a.m., it transported a person from 710 2nd St. to Clovis Hospital.

of "Best of Show," - the bike judged as best decorated regardless of age category.

This year's BTD theme is "Recycle America." It's important to follow the theme, since that is a large portion of the judging.

Also, an anonymous donor has provided funds for cash prizes in each category.

The registration deadline is 3 p.m. Friday, July 24.

Mrs. Qualls said that youths planning to enter the decorated bike contest in the parade need to register, giving their name and age, to be eligible for the cash prizes and free train tickets.

All riders must bring their decorated bikes to Anderson street (between Texico City Hall and the flea market - across the street from Citizens Bank) at 9:45 a.m. Texas time, and line up for judging there on July 25. The street will be blocked off so that there will be no vehicular traffic.

"You must be on time or you will not be judged," said Mrs. Qualls.

"Contestants need be sure to stick to the theme (Recycle America) if they're going to be counted," said Mrs. Qualls. The judges will really be looking for adherence to theme this year.

Other rules are:
- All participants ride in the parade and must continue to Farwell City Park, and then park their bikes in the park area. A bicycle rack will be provided in back of the First Baptist Church.

- You must be present at the park to receive your cash prize and free train tickets.

There will be two judging divisions:

- Division A: Best decorated bike, ages 7-12.

- Division B: Best decorated bike, ages 6 and under.

Serving will begin at noon cdt. Tickets are $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under the age of 12. A drink is included in the price of a meal. Tickets are available in advance from Rotary Club members.

Decorated Bike Contest

On Saturday, the decorated bicycle contest will be held at 9:45 a.m. cdt on Anderson Street, directly west of the Texico City Hall.

See the story elsewhere in this newspaper for all the details. It is important that the theme be followed in order to win the major prizes - "Recycling America."

Street Parade

The annual parade kicks off at 11 a.m. cdt. It will begin at Griffin Street in Texico and proceed down the highway to Farwell, turning right on 5th Street and ending in front of the Farwell Convalescent Center.

Willie Dannheim will be at the ending point of the parade to direct parade participants to the park.

Fourth Street heading into the park will be closed to southbound traffic for a short time. This will allow parade participants to exit more smoothly.

Parade entrants are to form at 10:30 a.m. cdt in Texico. A map showing where they should go is elsewhere in today's Tribune. A lineup of the parade will be along side it.

In charge of the parade is the Texico - Farwell Lions Club. Parade marshal is Hal Helton. The Lions Club members will wear yellow vests and will be available to assist entrants.

Park Events

The opening ceremonies will take place at 1 p.m. cdt in the park gazebo. Emcee will be Fred Chandler. Musical entertainment will be provided throughout the afternoon.

The national anthem will be sung by Nancy Miller.

Greetings will be given by Texico Mayor Doyal LaRue and Farwell Mayor Wendol Christian. Both mayors will read proclamations honoring Ed Hardage, and declaring July 25 as Ed Hardage Day.

LaRue will present the Pioneers of the Year awards to A. D. McDonald and Mae Stone. Christian will present an award to Honorary Parade Marshal J. R. Ivins.

Then Rhonda Qualls, Ann Cooper and Mike Pomper will give out the cash awards and trophies for the decorated bike contest, float contest, best animal unit, and top motorized units winners.

Slated on this year's schedule for entertainment are: Jack Allen Kirkland and John Crozier; Charla and Clay Corn; a singing group composed of Britney Hunt, Ramsey Bennett, Tiffany Edwards, Megan Meeks; Charlie Phillips, and the Billy the Kid troop.

Also, the queen's contest will be held, with the winner receiving a $300 scholarship. Seven girls are competing for the prize.

It is advisable to bring a lawn chair or blanket along with you to the park Saturday.

"It makes premiums much cheaper. That's where the self-funded concept comes in," said Boothby.

Boothby reported that all of the staffing has been completed for the 1992-93 school year except for one coaching position, the boys' basketball coaching position.

He reported that they may go with high school principal Larry Gregory coaching basketball in addition to his principal's duties.

Boothby said the board had interviewed several candidates for the coaching position. Some did not meet their specifications. Those candidates offered the post decided against it.

One of the highlights this week is preparing for Border Town Days on the 25th. Our float preparations are under way. Many of us are looking forward to the annual celebration.

Ladies' auxiliary will be having a bake sale at the park on Border Town Days. They hope to have a variety of goodies: cakes, pies, breads, etc. The auxiliary will also be selling popcorn for your enjoyment.

Your day of fun does not have to end at the park. Come and enjoy the western dance band, Charlie Phillips and the Sugartimers, at the Holiday Inn in Clovis on the 25th. The dance will be from 9:30 p.m. until 12:30. This is a benefit dance for the Farwell Convalescent Center Auxiliary. Tickets may be bought in advance or at the door.

Emmett "Bo" McClarren is our newest resident. Bo came to us from Clovis on the 8th. We're glad that Bo chose us for his new home. Welcome, Bo! Hope to see you at the Border Town Days celebration!

BUZKASHI

Editor's note: Will Anderson, a Farwell resident, is in the U.S. Navy and is stationed at the U.S. Embassy in Islamabad, Pakistan. He has written some articles from life there for the Tribune.

by WILL ANDERSON

On one of my trips to Peshawar, at the Pakistan end of the Khyber Pass, I had the opportunity to visit an Afghan refugee camp. There are several million Afghans who remain in Pakistan and Iran because of the lengthy war in Afghanistan.

It will take time before the refugees can go home to Afghanistan. There are believed to be as many as 13,000,000 land mines planted in Afghanistan's deserted fields and villages. The international effort to enter Afghanistan and clear the country of mines is doing the most it can, but at the current rate that mines are being cleared, I am told it will take 400 years to clear them all.

The Afghans consist of several tribes of fiercely independent tribesmen who have managed to resist every attempted invasion in history, including the British and the Soviets. When they are not chasing invaders out of their country, they are frequently engaged in killing each other. Each house and each village across the countryside is a fortress with no windows, stout gates, and ramparts around the walls.

The Afghans are also some of the most skilled horsemen in the world. The national sport is called buzkashi in which any number of horsemen fight for the possession of a goat carcass. They clash with other horses and their riders to hoist the burden up onto their thigh, and then thunder down the plains to drop it in a small circle. There are no teams, it's every rider against every other rider, and there are no rules. Horses' hooves and whips are used constantly in the attempts to gain control of the carcass.

The buzkashi matches have a lot of crowd participation, especially when the tangle of horses and riders and whips thunder off the plain and into the crowd as it did when I was there. That seemed to be a real crowd-pleaser, oddly enough.

At the completion of the buzkashi match, I left for the evening to prepare for a journey up the Khyber Pass to the border of Afghanistan.

The object of the players in Buzkashi is to hoist the carcass of a dead goat up onto one rider's leg, and elude everyone else while they try to steal it away from the person who has possession of the animal. There are no rules and any number of players may participate.

More than 40 girls participated in the Texico Volleyball camp in June. Coach Michael Littlejohn was assisted by coaches: Cheryl Scott, of Tatum; Ruth Scott Costedt, of Grady; and Bobby Bates of Elida.

Steers to report

Farwell Athletic Director Rex Cumpton said equipment will be distributed to high school football players on Aug. 6.

Seniors may pick out their equipment at 6 p.m., juniors at 6:30 p.m., sophomores at 7 p.m., and freshmen at 7:30 p.m.

Players who were in the football program last year will receive a letter from Cumpton explaining about physicals, insurance, workout schedule, games, etc.

Two-a-day practices will begin at 7 a.m. on Aug. 10. They will have a break in the field house from 8:30 - 9:30 a.m., and then practice a second time from 9:30 - 11:30 a.m. each day.

The new schedule will allow the players to practice in the cool of the morning and still have most of the day free.

Anyone who is new to the community or who did not play last year should contact Cumpton at the field house.

A tentative game schedule has been prepared, but has not been finalized. It is probable that the Farwell Steers will open their schedule with a scrimmage on Aug. 21 at Hale Center.

Texico-Farwell Lions ask for eye donations

This information came from Donna Ratke, president of the Texico-Farwell Lions Club:

One of the most important projects that the New Mexico Lions clubs sponsor is the New Mexico Lions Eye Bank. Lions Club members donate money, service, and eye tissue to help the blind see.

Medical science has made tremendous progress in preventing and curing blindness due to certain causes. Newly developed surgical techniques require the use of eye tissue which can be grafted or transplanted from a normal eye to a diseased or injured eye. But, medical science can not do this job alone.

Lions Club members help to make people aware of the need for their eye tissue. They also help to teach people how donate their eyes to the service of others. Any eye from any age person may be used for this program.

The Eye Bank collects corneas and other eye tissues needed to restore sight to the blind. These eyes are removed from dead persons shortly after their deaths.

The Eye Bank does not charge the patients or the hospitals for this eye tissue. Eyes are never bought or sold. There is no cost to the heirs.

But, the eyes must be removed within 6 hours after death. One of the major problems of the Eye Bank is that the immediate family fails to remember that their loved one has pledged his eyes so that others may see. Lions Club members who wish to donate their eyes need to take the following steps so that their wishes may be carried out:

- * Advise your family so that they can make arrangements.
- * Advise your clergyman.
- * Advise your family physician.
- * Advise the hospital upon entering.
- * Call the nearest eye bank for an eye donor pledge form.

The eyes donated for this program cannot be designated for any specific person. They are used for the next patient on the waiting list. If no patient needs the eye tissues locally at the time, the tissues can be shipped elsewhere or preserved for later use.

If donated eyes are diseased or cannot be used for grafting they can still serve a valuable purpose through research or study.

...there was that continued ache inside him

Editor's note: This story was written by Mike McCloy, 12, of Stinette, Texas. His grandparents, Gil and Jean Patschke of Farwell, brought the story in for publication.

Cedric walked slowly down the dusty road, head down. The fruit was heavy, and he had a lot to think about. Most of all, he was dejected about Newlin, his brother leaving home. Also, he wondered why the gods demanded so much. And there was that continual ache inside him.

Cedric soon reached the village and went directly to the Druid's dwelling. He knocked, and soon a heavy-set, unsmiling man appeared at the door.

"Here, sir, is the sacrifice for the Sun god," offered Cedric. "God," muttered the old man. "This will do well to appease his spirit."

"Sh-shall I do any errands for you?" stammered the boy, following the directions given by his father.

"No, go home," hissed the priest. "That's enough."

"Yes, sir," answered Cedric, backing away.

He hurried home and walked in the door of his house to find his father angrily talking: "Bryce, the man I hoed potatoes with today said there is a rumor that the Romans are planning to invade our island with a large, well equipped army. Britannia doesn't stand a chance!

"Edana," he shouted, turning to his wife, "These Romans have been here before! They forced our people to give them money and returned home. It's hopeless!

"Oh, calm down Cadman," soothed Cedric's mother. "That's just a rumor. Our country may defeat them. Their ships might sink. It'll be all right."

"By the way, son," Cedric's father added, turning to the boy. "The landlord wants to see you. I think he'll ask you to drive a cart in the caravan. You've got my permission to go."

"Get up boy," a voice said. "It's almost time to leave." Cedric awoke, startled. Then he remembered; he was with the caravan. He got up, hurriedly at his breakfast through the noise of shouting muleteers and trotted to his place in the line. After he had climbed in and got settled, he reviewed the last few days in his mind. As his father had thought, the landlord had asked him if he wanted to drive a cart in the caravan that was going to sell fruit at a seaport. Cedric had readily agreed, thinking it would be an exciting way to earn some money.

But then his memory jumped to other things. Newlin, poor Newlin. Father had disowned him when he adopted the religion of a Jew named Jesus who had died 43 years ago. Newlin was gone, probably forever. But Cedric had a crazy idea, an idea that maybe he'd find Newlin; get to see him again.

And that ache. It had stayed with him all through the bustle and excitement of getting ready for this "trip" and it was here now. It was a kind of hunger: a longing that the sacrifices to the gods didn't help.

The trip was pretty much uneventful. As the long line of men and animals filed into the town, Cedric was surprised. He had expected a lively seaport, not a quiet village. Then he saw the reason for the quietness: Roman galley ships. The invaders had come!

Cedric felt his blood run cold. Would the Romans let them do their trading, or would they kill him and the men of the caravan? Calculating by the rumors he had heard about Roman cruelty, Cedric guessed that the latter was more likely.

But the Romans didn't stop the fruit traders, not then. They had other things on their minds. So the caravan filed through an empty street, and into a deserted market place.

"What now?" Cedric questioned the man behind him.

"We'll chance it and wait," came the terse reply.

"Would it be all right if I explore a little bit?"

"Sure; just be back by supper time."

Cedric eased himself off the cart, and started to walk slowly toward the water's edge. His muscles were still cramped. He reached a sandy beach and settled down to watch the Romans disembark. Two rows of glistening helmets and shining spears marched down the gangplank. Cedric watched the faces closely. Some looked unrelenting and calloused, as if they had been through years of fighting. Others young and fresh; there seemed to be no end to the military men.

Prose & Poetry Corner

In a few hours all the soldiers were on land except one young man. Cedric wondered why he hadn't come down with the others; then he saw. For as the man made his way toward the gangplank, the boy noticed that he was limping. He didn't have on the Roman uniform either.

But there was something else about that man. His face seemed strangely familiar. It resembled Newlin's face. That man looked all the world like Newlin! But Newlin was gone. Cedric felt all mixed up and excited inside. He couldn't go see that man for fear that the soldiers would kill him. But he had to see if it was Newlin!

Soon "Newlin" or whoever that was disappeared into the crowd of soldiers and the whole bunch marched off to the nearest inn. Cedric followed; creeping in the shadows beside the wares that were piled on the edge of the street.

The regiment stayed there for half an hour and then continued to the village green, where it set up camp.

However, Cedric turned around and walked toward the caravan, and supper! But that night he couldn't sleep. So, after he was sure that everyone else was asleep, Cedric crept out of bed, pulled on his cloak, and walked down to the inn where he had seen the infantry stop. Opening the door, he walked up to the innkeeper. "Sir, may I ask why those soldiers stopped here?"

"Why yes, son. Two or three of their high commanders are going to stay while the army is here. They demanded the best rooms and food. So I gave it to 'em. A lot of wine bottles were brought in with them. Judging by the noises I hear, I suspect they're getting drunk right now." answered the man hurriedly. "Can I go see them?"

The innkeeper's face turned white. "Surely you don't mean that, boy! If you walk in on them without notice, they'll kill you! What are you thinking?"

"I think they might know where my brother is, sir. He left home a few months ago and I think I might have seen him disembark with the other soldiers. What rooms are they in?"

"Please!" pleaded Cedric.

"Well, if you insist," answered the innkeeper skeptically. "They're in the first three rooms on the right after you go up the stairs." And then his eyes narrowed. "But I'm not going to take the blame if something happens to you, boy." Don't worry, declared Cedric. "Thanks!" and with that he tore up the stairs and knocked on the first door on his right.

"Wha-du-yu want?" a harsh voice muttered, and a Roman soldier appeared at the door.

"Could I talk to the commander, sir?" Cedric requested.

"You think I let in ever' striplin', ever' beggar that's a wantin' to see general?" snapped the soldier sarcastically.

"Well, sir, I think I might have seen my brother come off the ship with the other soldiers. Maybe the general will know where he is now. Please!"

The soldier squinted at Cedric. "Okay, young 'un. You c'n come in. But jest 'member this'n: yer go'u have a spear a pointen' at yer back; so mind yer manners. Come on." With that he lead the way into the room.

Cedric walked into the chamber to find two general with silver goblets in their hands.

"Who is this young scamp, Lucan?" roared the general. "Why'd you let him in? Come on, tell me something!"

"He's a thinkin' you might know where his siblin' is, sir. Thought he saw 'im anchor with the other boys."

"Okay, lad. speak up. I'm listening."

Want some Cannon Ball stock?

Roy Richardson of Texico dropped by the Tribune office recently to show us a stock certificate and some correspondence concerning the Cannon Ball Motor Company which made automobiles in Texico about 1918.

Richardson said that he was in Branson, Mo., in May for a Holiday Rambler Travel Club Convention. When he said that he was from Texico, a fellow he met, John V. Eichelberger, Jr. of Pensacola, Fla., said that he had some papers about the Cannon Ball Motor Company in his possession that he gotten from his grandfather's estate.

When Richardson got home, he received copies of a stock certificate and some correspondence about the company which was one of the early businesses in Texico.

The letterhead for each letter says: C.A. Roberson Brokerage Company, Stocks, Bonds and High Grade Securities, (Incorporated) Texico, New Mexico. R.O. James, Sec'y and Mgr. Capital Stock Fully Paid, $25,000.00

The first letter is dated, Nov. 13, 1918. Here's what it said:

Mr. John Eichelberger, Yakima Wash. Route #7.

Dear Sir:

Owing to the fact that Cannon Ball stock is now being held for $5.00 per share, it is impossible for us to mail you literature on same as we have been so handicapped on account of influenza that we could not get this literature printed to date. The following is a brief description of the business of the Cannon Ball Motor Company.

The Cannon Ball Motor Company was chartered Sept. 28, 1917 for a capital of ten million dollars. This stock is fully paid and non-assessable and said Company has no preferred stock at all. This Company has made six four-cylinder cars and has sold five of them, keeping the sixth for demonstration purposes. They are now completing two model six-cylinder cars, and also have plans and specifications on trucks and tractors.

We feel that an investment in this Company will be one that you will never regret and we assure you that as soon as we get out our other literature, we will forward same to you.

Yours very truly,
C.A. Roberson Brokerage Company
by R. O. James, Sec'y. and Mgr.

The second letter is on the same letterhead. It is dated Dec. 20, 1918:

Mr. John Eichelberger, Yakima, Wash.

Dear Sir:

We herewith enclose Certificate No. 2444 for 100 shares of the capital stock of the Cannon Ball Motor Company, which is in accordance with your subscription given authorizing us to purchase this amount of stock for you.

We believe this is one among the best investments that a person can make since motor stocks are now becoming the leading security offered by the industrial concerns of this country.

Thanking you for your favor and trusting that we may merit your future patronage, we are

Very Truly,
C.A. Roberson Brokerage Company

Veterinary Clinic opens

Dr. Bret Whitten, D.V.M. and his wife Sherri have recently opened the Town and Country Veterinary Clinic in Bovina. By doing so, both have returned home to Parmer County. Whitten is a 1983 Bovina High School graduate; he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Whitten of Bovina. Mrs. Whitten is a graduate of Friona High School. She is very happy to be closer to home and family. Bret Whitten's interest in veterinary medicine goes back a long time. He spent 7 - 8 summers working for Dr. Dale Schueler at Rhea. "He helped me a lot," says Whitten. The experience was invaluable.

The Whittens met while studying at West Texas State University. Both earned their undergraduate degrees there.

During the next few years, Whitten enrolled in veterinary school at Texas A&M while Mrs. Whitten taught speech therapy. Following graduation, Whitten became an associate veterinarian at a veterinary clinic in Wheeler, Texas.

Their daughter, Megan, was born 19 months ago. Since that time Mrs. Whitten has been a homemaker. She will be serving as the receptionist and as an assistant in the clinic.

Last November Whitten began building his own business. The large animal clinic is housed in a metal barn built on his property on Hwy. 60 West about 1/2 mile west of the Sherley Anderson Elevator in Bovina. There are also outdoor pens and chutes set up for the large animal clinic.

The family moved the mobile home that they had lived in for six years to the property west of Bovina so that it could become the small animal clinic and surgery. They set up examining tables and storage space for equipment and supplies. Their former home will also house the dark room, ex-ray department and office.

The clinic will be open from 8:30 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. Monday - Friday and from 8:30 a.m. - noon on Saturday. Dr. Whitten will be available for emergencies, too.

The clinic will serve farm animals and pets as well. Whitten stressed the fact that the simple act of administering shots to dogs and cats will be an important part of his practice. "The big thing is routine vaccinations. There are a lot of diseases we can prevent by giving vaccinations," he said.

Dr. Whitten can also assist with neutering pets and setting bones following an accident.

Farm animals will be a major part of Whitten's work. In the spring Dr. Whitten will be available to help with calving, and in the fall he will assist with herd general health processing.

Sherry Whitten will be the receptionist and assistant at the Town and Country veterinary clinic.

Evangelina Casas brought her dog, Bubbles, for its shots.

Texico gridders to report

Texico athletes who were already in the athletic program have already received information about the upcoming sports season.

They will need to have physicals prior to the start of the season, and to bring their physical form and insurance releases to practice with them.

In order to accommodate the students who are active in 4-H and FFA and who will be participating in the Curry County Fair, Texico athletes are to report to the gym on Aug. 3.

1,2,3, pull

Ashlee Hunt had to work with a rather obstinate calf at the first 4-H Bucket Calf Weigh Day. Participants included: Amy and Ashlee Hartzog, Ashlee and Keith Hunt, Reace and Ramsey Bennett, Watson Langford and Chris Hart.

David Parmer

Parmer completes training

Airman David C. Parmer completed the U.S. Air Force 6 weeks basic training in San Antonio July 9.

He was then sent to Denver, where he will complete 15 weeks of specialized training.

Parmer is the 18 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Parmer of Texico.

"Do you know anybody named Newlin Halbert, sir? As I was watching the soldiers come off their ships, I think I saw him after the others had come off. He limped." pleaded Cedric.

"Kid, do you think I know of every limping vagabond that happens to come off a ship while you're watching? You see that door? Find it!" the general snarled.

"But sir, I'm sure I saw him."
Cedric felt a blow in the head and heard a voice screaming, "Go at it, Lucan. Tear him up." That was all.

The next thing he knew, he was lying in a tent and he felt like he had been thrown down from a cliff. He opened his eyes groggily and tried to sit up. "Take it easy, son," a kind voice said. "Lay back down."

"What - a matter?" Cedric asked sleepily.
"You got beat up, boy, but it'll be all right." the same man said.

The next time Cedric awoke, he felt better. "What happened?" he asked.

"Lucan hurt you pretty bad, but you'll make it. I am Marulus. I hear that you were looking for a brother. Is that right?"

"Yes, sir." Cedric replied quickly. "I think I saw him come off a ship with the soldiers. He didn't walk right."

"Yes, I know who you're talking about. His name is Halbert, right?"

"Yes!" Cedric shouted. "That's him!"

"Okay, boy. Calm down. Let me tell you about it. Your brother was on a ship, sailing for France. A typhoon came up and his ship capsized. That's how he hurt his leg. After he had been floundering around for about six hours holding on to a piece of wood, our ships came along. They rescued him and two other people. And then we came here.

"Where's he at now?"
"He's with the soldiers somewhere. I'll go get him."

Cedric walked down a dusty road. But, ... this time... Newlin was with him! "Newlin, you can't guess how glad I am that you told me about Jesus Christ and that I accepted Him as my Savior. I never told you about this formally, but before I became a Christian, I had this ache inside of me. Now it's gone. Thanks."

"Yes, Cedric, I know. I felt the same thing. But it's not here anymore. We owe it all to the Lord."
