Float-building
 can be fun

From Judy Pomper:
 Each year, as Border Town Days nears, I get the pleasure of helping build floats for the parade.

I have stuffed tons of napkins into chicken wire over the years and part of me questioned why. The rest of me knew better.

Now, you have to realize I'm not handy. I'm not an artist and I usually splash more paint all over myself than I get on the float. I think the ladies I work with breathe a sigh of relief when I get out of their way.

Mystery
 Theater

by Greg Qualls

On June 19, my youth group put on our first every "mystery theater" and it was one to go in the history books. We had over 40 people sign up to come and we had about 15 youth participate.

I, Mr. Bo Ritz, was owner of the Bo-Ritz, a fancy night club found in a small community. Along with me there were such characters as Victoria Rose, a famous night club singer; Elise McKensey, the singer for the Bo-Ritz; M. C. Donald, master of ceremony; and Anthony Vincent Channing, the ex-fiancee of Victoria Rose.

These characters were played by the youth. And the adults that signed up for the evening were given their own characters. -- such as Di and Ria Squirt, inventors of the binding agent; Buford and Buella Tanner, owners of a barbecue shack franchise; Rich and Elly Mae Chap, owners of a cattle ranch; Johnny Appleseed, a great environmentalist, and Ima and Rip Off, the local hospital's administrators.

Ute Lake project gets kick-started

The long-dormant proposed pipeline to bring water from the Ute Lake Reservoir to Eastern New Mexico communities down as far as Elida is being revived.

The Texico City Council on Tuesday approved a resolution at the request of Cong. Bill Redmond to support a $300,000 study to develop detailed designs for the Curry and Roosevelt County portions of the proposed pipeline project.

It's been more than 20 years since the project was first brought up. During that period, several reports have been written.

Now, another report is being sought, one that will be more definitive than previous ones.

The project is designed to supplement ground water capabilities to Tucumcari, San Jon, Grady, Melrose, Clovis, Texico, Portales and Elida in view of the declining Ogallala Reservoir.

In other business, the council:

-- Allowed Jim and Carolyn Burrows to place a trailer in the 500 block of South Garwood.

-- Okayed Texico Marshal Kelley Brophy's request to lease five pagers for his office and city workers.

-- Allowed Brophy to spend about $1,300 left in his law enforcement fund for various equipment. If the money isn't spent by next week, it reverts back to the state.

-- Approved three business registrations -- Ron's Smoke Shop at Little Mexico flea market; Poor Boy Auto & Tire Shop, and El Rey Restaurant, which will be open weekends

Texico jamboree on tap

The Texico Community Activities Organization is planning its annual Fourth of July Jamboree.

The festivities will start at noon at KKR park in Texico. Concessions such as hamburgers and hot dogs and soft drinks will be available.

There will be games for all ages throughout the afternoon and the group is also trying to round up live entertainment to perform during the activities.

A barbecue supper will be served starting at 5 p.m. mdt for $5 (adults) or $3 (children) per plate. The supper will end at 7 p.m.

The popular fireworks display will begin at sunset as a finale to the Jamboree.

Mystery

The evening started at the First Baptist Church of Texico, otherwise known as the Bo-Ritz. Guests were met at the door and promptly seated by our waiters. No one prior to the event knew what the crime was supposed to be so everyone's eyes were on the "watch for anything suspicious."

When seated, they were asked what they wanted to eat from their menus. Their choices were spaghetti, poodles and noodles, and red dirt and worms. Their drink choices were iced tea, water, iced water, tea iced, water iced, and brown water.

Their choice of bread for the evening was garlic bread, bread, seasoned bread, season toast, and toast with seasoning on it.

No matter what they ordered they all got spaghetti, tea or water, and garlic bread, but it was fun to see them order.

Smile.

As the evening went on, entertainment was provided. We had the great comedian Abbott Castello and a magician called The Great Who-done-it perform for us. We flew them in from out of town. Along with Castello and Who-done-it, Elise McKensey sang some beautiful songs for us.

Victoria Rose was supposed to sing, but she got in a fight with Anthony Vincent Channing prior to singing and after he was thrown out of the night club she didn't feel like singing.

Also, to add more entertainment to the evening we had Miss Andrea Bogart playing the piano.

Following the entertainment, to everyone's surprise, a million dollar necklace that was supposed to be auctioned off for charity had been stolen!

Dum de dum dum...

Amazingly, as soon as the necklace was reported stolen, the great Detective Crumb entered the room. Detective Crumb would have been perfect for the job if only he wasn't a kleptomaniac. It was worth losing a few spoons, though, to find out who stole the necklace.

Detective Crumb, with his faithful side-kick Festus, worked the crowd and got all the information possible to find out who did it. When it all came down to the final clue, it was none other than Buford Tanner (a.k.a. Pastor Bob Brown) who did it.

Mystery solved!

The evening was a great success and even though we didn't make that much money, we plan to make this an annual event because we had so much fun doing it.

Rains delay the appraisals

Dryland cotton producers across the Texas High Plains were dismayed by delays in the release of drought affected acreage following the first measurable rainfall to visit the area in over six weeks.

The rains only delayed the inevitable for many growers. Because of the rain some will have to wait a full two weeks before they can receive an appraisal of their acreage.

For growers that received rain fall, appraisals will not resume until June 21 in counties with June 5 final planting dates or Jun 26 in counties with June 10 planting dates. Growers that did not receive any rainfall between planting and the final planting date continue to receive timely appraisal service.

Plains Cotton Growers officials were quick to try and obtain relief for producers whose crops were on the verge of being released when the rains occurred. PCG initiated a conference call June 15 with USDA Risk Management Agency personnel, congressional staff representatives, and the National Cotton Council in an effort to avoid unnecessary delays in the appraisal process.

PCG officials are taking the lead in the effort to make some aspects of this year's appraisal deviation permanent and to include clearer language regarding final planting dates and requirements.

PCG is seeking permanent changes that would immediately release drought affected cotton acreage the day after the final planting date when no moisture is received on the crop between planting and that date. If moisture is received between planting and the final planting date PCG is recommending a seven day waiting period to allow the crop time to emerge to a stand.

"We think this will significantly improve producer satisfaction with the insurance protection they are buying since it provides a quick response when conditions warrant and builds in adequate protection for Federal Crop Insurance providers to determine if an insurable stand is going to be realized as the result of last-minute weather events," explains PCG Executive Vice President Steve Verett.

Fire Calls

In the past 11 days, the Texico Volunteer Fire Dept. has been on 14 calls. Four were ambulance calls varying from someone having difficulty breathing to a possible drug overdose.

The rest of the calls were for fires. The fire department had four hay fires, most of them southwest of Texico. They had three grass fires, too.

The fire dept. also had a call to a structure fire on June 16. Orlando Ortiz's house had caught fire on north Griffin Street.

These calls weren't spread out over the 11 day time either. Most of them happened on the same three days, June 11, 14, 15, and 16.

Meanwhile, the Farwell ambulance was called out twice this week to accidents.

On June 16, it was called at 5:35 p.m. to a vehicle accident east of Farwell and took a person to Clovis hospital. On June 21, the ambulance went to an accident at 3:10 a.m. west of Lariat and took a person to Muleshoe hospital.

Boll weevils take a beating

Drought and heat have been tough on cotton farmers as the struggle to get a 1998 cotton crop underway. The hot, dry conditions have eliminated much of the dryland production and stressed cotton in irrigated fields.

But the conditions that take a toll on cotton farmers and their cotton are also really tough on the cotton boll weevil. As the heat continues, with no forecast of rain, boll weevil trap catches across most of the High Plains have dropped considerably from worrying highs a few weeks ago.

Venables' request put on hold

The Parmer County Commissioners on Monday approved a new provider for health benefits for county employees and officials.

They voted unanimously to accept the proposal of "HMO Blue," a Blue Cross-Blue Shield provider through the Texas Association of Counties.

Three bids were received. The cost will be higher, said county judge Bonnie Clayton, but benefits will be increased.

At this time, it appears the county will pick up the extra cost.

In other business, the commissioners:

-- Received two bids for the used Suburban it was selling. Ronald Byrd bought the vehicle for $1,200.01. He had the higher bid.

-- Received two bids for a new motor grader for Pct. 1 (Frona area). Yellowhouse Machinery, of Lubbock, was awarded the contract.

-- Discussed the request of Elton and Marie Venable to increase the rent they charge for the building used by the Bovina area Justice of the Peace.

The Venables want to hike the rent from $250 a month to $300 a month.

The commissioner plan to keep paying the current rent through December 1998, as is allowed in the current lease.

Accident

State police handled this vehicle accident near Lariat on June 13. A Muleshoe woman was transported by Farwell ambulance to Muleshoe hospital.

We would like to thank Joel, Lee, Lisa, Mike and Paul for your assistance in getting Kellie to the hospital last month.

Your compassion, kindness and expertise in caring for her went way beyond the call of duty and was greatly appreciated. We feel so lucky to have dedicated, caring and competent people like you to call on in emergency situations.

Words cannot express our gratitude and love. May God bless you always.

Kristen Roberts of Texico serves the ball.

Spike time!

Nicole Richards of Texico practices her set.

Texico's Lady Spikers had their 10th annual volleyball day camp.

It went from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. June 8-11 and 15-18 with a lunch break.

The coaches were Michael Littlejohn, Keith Leupold, Brian Massey, and Joni Pate.

Camp Director Littlejohn is the head volleyball coach at Texico High School and was the coach of three state champions, four state runners-up, and the coach for 1985 and 1990 South All-Star volleyball teams. He is a four time winner of the New Mexico Class A Coach of the Year Award and coached the 1997 Coaches Care Volleyball Team in Australia.

The camp's goal was for participating athletes to learn basic and advanced skills and techniques used in volleyball.

At the first camp they had 42 participants and 32 at the second camp. Athletes came as far as Capitan.

8-liner businesses raided

A task force of law enforcement officials raided 11 "eight liner" gaming establishments in Potter and Randall counties Tuesday night.

The places targeted were paying cash to players, said law enforcement officials.

Some machines were confiscated.

Texas Attorney General Dan Morales has said the state constitution prohibits gaming except in a few cases, such as bingo, the state lottery and charitable raffles.

But the state legislature passed an act in 1995 allowing other gaming that offers non-cash prizes worth no more than $5. The state has issued licenses to some businesses that concur.

Farwell has an 8-liner business that offers coupons worth $5 or less.

Parmer County Attorney Charles Aycock said, after the Farwell business opened, he wouldn't take any action against it pending court cases already filed against 8-liner businesses elsewhere in the Texas Panhandle.

The Latest

The Texas Ag Extension Service says the statewide economic impact of the drought in Texas could be more than $1.7 billion in losses.

All 10 climatic regions of the state received below-average rainfall from March through May - a critical time in the production of corn, cotton, wheat and forage in Texas.

As of June 15, the 3.5 million acres of cotton across the southern High Plains was still too young to evaluate. This number adds up to 25 percent of the total acreage in the nation.

A major shortfall in Texas cotton would reduce U.S. production and strengthen market prices, the extension service said.

Ginger Noblett, a Texico High graduate, made the dean's list for the spring semester at Wayland Baptist University.

On June 13 Kristen Carson was in the Miss Rock and Roll Pageant and received the Miss Congeniality award.

The Lazbuddie School student is a Bovina resident.

The 1998 Spring Great Lakes Valley Academic All-Conference team was recently announced. Criteria included a 1998 Spring semester grade point average of 3.20 or a cumulative GPA of 3.0.

Alicia Smith, senior, from Farwell made the women's basketball team.

Munoz indicted in shooting

The Curry County grand jury on Tuesday indicted Aureliano Munoz of Texico on three felony charges and two misdemeanor charges stemming from the June 11 fatal shooting of Phillip Ortiz, 18, of Texico, the district attorney said.

Munoz, 22, was indicted on his original charges of involuntary manslaughter, shooting from a motor vehicle and felon in possession of a firearm, which are fourth-degree felonies, and misdemeanor charges of filing a false police report and negligent use of a firearm, Harris said.

Munoz is charged with firing the fatal shot from a shotgun that hit Ortiz, while the two were riding in a van with two other friends on a rural dirt road outside Texico, according to the police reports.

The two others, Marcus Hill, 15, of Texico, and Joel Ortiz, 19, of Texico, also have been charged in connection with the shooting on State Line Road just north of Texico.

Youth groups busy for the summer

Summer is one of the busiest times of the year for youth groups. You have camps and mission trips to go on and fund raisers to do so you have the money to go on those trips.

The local youth groups are no exception. All the local area youth groups have some kind of activity that they are doing this summer.

The First Baptist Church of Farwell's youth group has one busy summer planned. On June 20-25 they went to the Navaho Reservation on a mission trip. Those that stayed behind went to a production at Muleshoe on June 21 called "Heaven's Gates and Hell's Flames."

The day after Border Town Days, July 26, the youth group is going to clean up the park. July 1-5 the youth group is going to go to camp and on July 29 they are going to a water park in Odessa. For their last function of the summer they are going to see "Texas" at Palo Duro Canyon on Aug. 6.

Hamlin Memorial Methodist Church's youth group has their summer planned out, too. June 8-13 the senior high kids went on a mission trip to Denver, Colo. June 15-19 the junior high youth are going to Church Camp in Sacramento, N.M. Then on July 13-17 the senior high youth are going to the same camp in Sacramento. Their last big activity of the summer is going to be a mission trip for the junior high youth. They are going to Lubbock July 27- Aug. 1.

The Texico First Baptist youth group started off their summer with a car wash on June 6. They then had a service project on June 11 where they cleaned up the Birthright office. On June 19 they had their first annual mystery theater. On July 13 they are going to have a trash pick up on the highway between Texico and Clovis. July 16 the youth are going to have a pre-camp pool party. Then July 18-24 the youth will go to church camp at Glorieta, N.M. July 27-31 the youth will help with vacation bible school. On Aug. 7-9 the youth will end their summer with a Junior/Senior Retreat to Carlsbad, N.M.

The Ninth Street Church of Christ youth group's summer started on May 24 when they had an outside service to kick off the summer. On May 29 the youth had a marshmallow roast. On June 28-July 4 some of the youth will be going to church camp. July 4-12 some of the youth will get to go to South America on a medical mission trip.

Farwell Schools adopt gifted/talented program

The Farwell Schools have adopted a new gifted and talented program. Unlike the old program it is inclusive. In other words, the student will not be pulled out of the classroom, but will stay in the classroom.

The way to get selected for the new gifted and talented program is as follows. After a student is nominated, the parent must give written permission for the student to be tested.

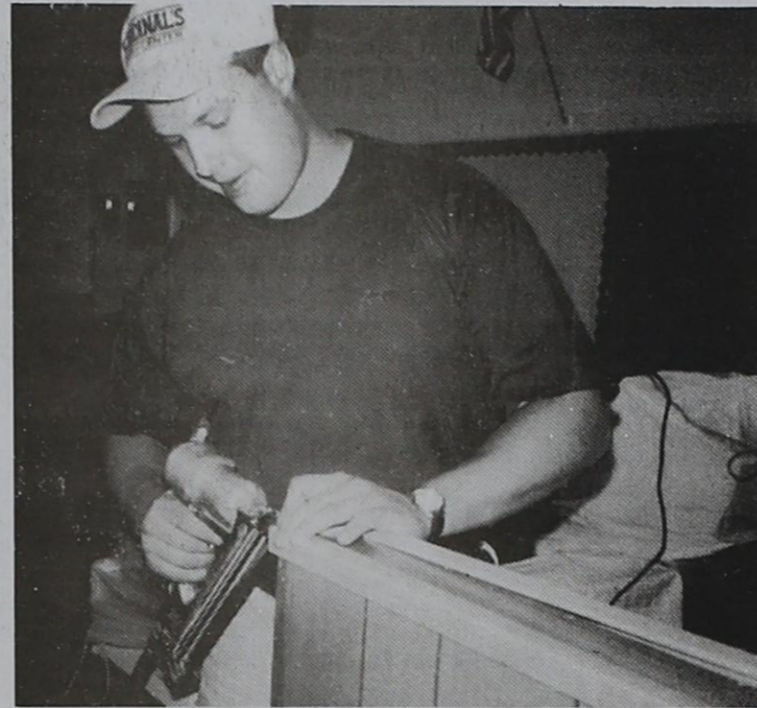

The testing will occur in the spring semester of each school year. Students will take the Slosson IQ Test and must score a minimum of 125 in order to be further tested. A score of less than 125 will end testing procedures.

The following instruments will be used for further screening if the student has an IQ higher than 125:

1. Renzulli's Scale for Rating Behavioral Characteristics, filled out by student's present and/or a previous teacher.
2. Torrance Test of Creativity.
3. TAAS Scores (Grades 3 through high school) Achievement Test Scores (Grade 2).
4. Student Grades.
5. Parent Inventory.

The selection is determined by a District Committee based on data from these instruments.

Have you ever tried to keep papier machet from falling through chicken wire? Or tried to compute how many packages of napkins it takes to stuff into the holes of the chicken wire skirt of a float? Or try to figure out how large the letters have to be so spectators can read them from a street corner?

If we learn by doing, then building a float can be a profitable experience.

Most years, I've helped with the Texico Chamber of Commerce, fire department or senior citizens floats, although I have helped other groups, too.

Ann Cooper and Maurine Caywood have provided the expertise necessary to get the job done. For Maurine, it provided an activity that her senior citizens group could do.

For Ann and Lewis Cooper, the firefighters and their families, they have gotten experience that could be added to a job resume. In some communities, paid firefighters are asked to help with civic activities as part of their job descriptions.

at the flea market and operated by a Muleshoe couple.

The appearance of the auto and tire shop site was criticized and councilman Oran Jay Autrey will talk with the owner about a cleanup there.

-- Heard that the tree planted at KKR Park in honor of Bill Queener has died. A new tree will be planted.

-- Heard street Supt. Matt Meeks report that the swimming pool will be closed for a few days due to it having been emptied of water by mistake.

-- Called an executive session to discuss property acquisition.

-- Received only one bid for janitorial services. It wasn't done correctly, thus was not accepted. The jobs will be re-advertised.

-- Allowed the area Wick program (a nutritional program for women and infants) to use the small meeting room at the Texico Community Center once a month.

About 55 women and children from the Texico area have been identified in the program and by having meetings here, it will make it easier on some of these folks with transportation problems.

In the program, women are taught how to cook, and take care of their children.

-- Will close the street between the community center and KKR Park during the 4th of July Jamboree.

yeoman service over the years. It takes a special person to plan and build a float that looks pretty, sticks to the theme and holds up through a whole parade.

Some floats are entered in different parades. They go from Texico to Clovis or other cities. And some local graduates have taken them to college homecoming events.

A parade float is a manageable thing to build. It isn't like building a whole house or a whole city. It's large enough to show the point of view of the builder, but small enough to do in a couple of weekends or several evenings. If done correctly, the cash investment can be minimal or at least reasonable.

The floats in the Border Town Days parade might be something simple, or they might be quite elaborate. Most send a message. The best say, "Working together we can get the job done right."

In next week's Tribune, the city of Farwell will announce a serious crackdown on residents who have New Mexico license tags on their vehicles.

This was tried several years back, unsuccessfully.

This time, it appears your pocket book will be hit pretty hard if you fall into this category.

Don't say we didn't warn you.

Parmer County Democrat Chairman Robert White said he has been asked by several folks if his party plans to put up a candidate for sheriff in the November general election.

The Republicans have nominated current Sheriff Walt Yerger, who was appointed to the post in May after the resignation of Rex Williams.

White said that if someone wants the Democrat nomination, they need to contact him. Then it will be up to the county Democrat committee to decide whether to put that person's name on the ballot.

Courthouse Notes

The following warranty deeds were issued in the Parmer County Clerk's office last week:

Beatrice Wilhelm - Kristy Gaussoin, Lots 5, Blk. 6, Lakeveiv Add., Frona.

Fireworks stand open

The 4th of July fireworks stand operated by the Farwell Youth Commission opens this weekend.

It's next to the Town & Country Insurance Agency along the highway.

All funds raised go to support Farwell youth activities.

This year, the commission says nobody will offer less expensive fireworks than at their stand in Farwell.

Two rabies cases reported in Parmer County

by Greg Qualls

There have been two rabies cases found in Parmer County since the beginning of the year. This is a big increase over the norm, according to Dr. Gary Cash, a Frona veterinarian, who says that he hasn't had a rabies case once in all the 28 years that he has been here.

The first of these two was a horse that died on May 10. It was brought into Dr. Cash's clinic to have surgery done on its eye. During its recovery Dr. Cash noticed that the animal was not acting normal.

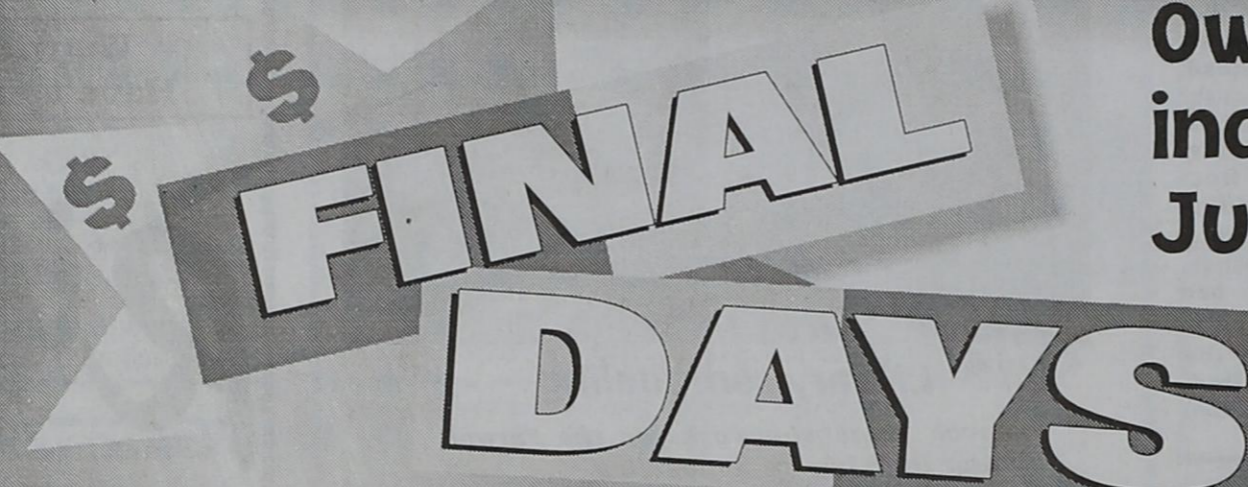

"He would pick up some straw in his mouth but would not eat it," said Dr. Cash. The animal continued to get worse and was put to sleep. Then it was confirmed that the animal was infected with rabies.

The second of the confirmed rabid animals was a skunk that was found on Roy Miller's place, three miles north of Frona. Dr. Dale Schueler stated that the skunk was alive but comatose when he found it. So he decided to send the animal's brain to Austin to have it tested by the Public Health Service. On June 18 it was confirmed that the animal had rabies.

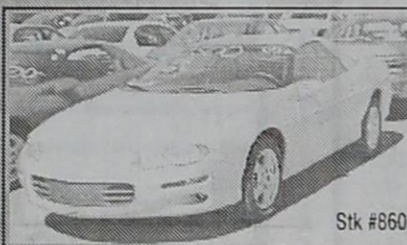

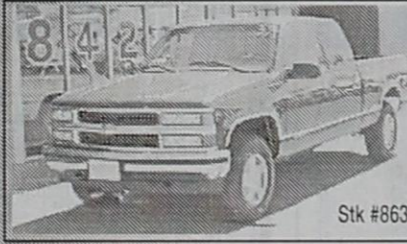

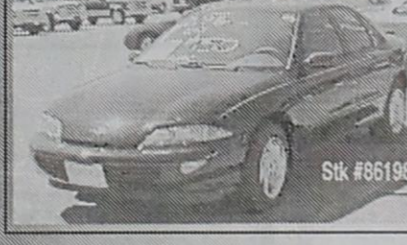

According to Dr. Cash, an animal can have one of two types of rabies. There is "dumb" rabies and "serious" rabies. When an animal has serious rabies, it slobbers and tries to bite you. When an animal has dumb rabies, it is dull and depressed.

People should vaccinate valuable livestock and definitely family pets for the rabies virus. Take precaution in approaching any unfamiliar animals. It is not worth getting bite just because you are in a hurry. The cost of one rabies shot for a human is $300 and it normally takes five shots to get rid of the disease.

If you see any animal that is suspicious, report is immediately to a veterinarian or to the county law enforcement.
