Fresh Troops Batter Stalled Nazis

US Airmen Drop First Bombs On Nazis

By J. WES GALLAGHER LONDON, July 4. (AP)—The United States Army Air Forces set off their first fireworks in western Europe on this Fourth-of-July with bombs and strafing raids on German airdromes, planes, installations and enemy airmen in Holland and on naval patrol ships offshore.

The initial raids in a fresh shadowed series of American aerial onslaughts aimed at knocking the German Luftwaffe off the invasion front produced an outstanding hero-pilot who brought home his battered and tattered plane on one engine after it was all but knocked out by anti-aircraft fire.

develop a top combat speed of 350 miles per hour they swept out on their mission without fighter plane cover. Two American-maned planes were missing after the operations but one was officially declared to have been still under control when last sighted over its target. The other was shot down by anti-aircraft fire—the first American army air casualty on the continent. One of the six British planes also failed to return.

"hedge-hopping." Bombs were seen bursting on hangars and administration buildings at three airdromes and at least one enemy fighter plane was set afire on the ground. The damage was declared to be "considerable."

One propeller and the starboard nose of his plane were shot away, bullets clipped his tail section and one engine caught fire. Captain Kegelman recovered control after passing the target area on one engine, but found himself running into intense flak fired from a tower.

Rommel Army Exhausted By Long Advance

All Kinds Of Reinforcements Moved Up By British

CAIRO, July 4 (AP)—General Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck, waging a supreme fight for Egypt and the Middle East, threw fresh troops into a battering assault tonight on weary axis forces which were being pounded on their small strip of desert positions by the heaviest aerial attack ever seen in the Middle East.

The first results of the new attack, launched from positions west of El Alamein, northern anchor of the British defenses of vital Egypt, was the capture of 600 German infantrymen. They were so exhausted after five weeks of continuous fighting that they were unable to resist.

Battlefront reports said it was General Auchinleck's knowledge of the physical state of the axis forces, now down to a pint of water a day in the torrid desert, which led him to push his offensive to prevent Field Marshal Erwin Rommel from resting his men or rushing fresh troops into the battle.

Reports from Alexandria said all kinds of reinforcements, with American tanks, guns and other war equipment were moving along the desert highway to the Allies' front, 65 miles west of the great naval base.

Both in Cairo and Alexandria the people were reported optimistic over the prospects and fully confident that the tide of battle was turning in favor of the Allies. The population was calm and all activities were going on normally.

The continuing assault from the air, as well as Allied artillery, was having a telling effect on the axis forces. At least 40 of Rommel's big guns were in British hands and a number of his tanks knocked out as the reinforced British eighth army smashed at the foe in the El Alamein area, a British communique said.

Hangers To Come Down, Municipal Port Work Stops

Art Wintheiser, operator of the Big Spring Flying Service, said Saturday that he had been given notice that the army was to dismantle and move the present hangar buildings which house his equipment.

This, he said, meant that his municipal port operations would halt and that he would have to move. Wintheiser has been and is operating a Civilian Pilot Training program from the port and in addition

REVIEWING THE BIG SPRING WEEK

BY JOE PICKLE

Need there be much more said at this Independence Day season than that as Americans we have lived as freemen; we are determined to die the same way.

News of the death of Eddie Brown in service in England sort of brings home the war, even more so than the "missing" messages for even these hold out small hope. But if you want to know if this war is a grim business, ask the Browns—ask the Lusks, Mrs. Gensberg, Mrs. Skiles, Mrs. Matthews, the Dixons, and others. Ask them what they think.

Business, we learn from bank statements, hasn't been so bad after all. Deposits were up a flat million and a half dollars over the same date a year ago. Of course there has been a serious disportionment of business activity due to the war, but the over-all volume here is up. It was interesting to note that the plan for whitening debts is meeting with some response, for loans dropped off by around $281,000.

Those who have had it in mind to alter or enlarge their homes or residential property so as to add an apartment will be contributing much to a solution of the housing shortage if they will confer with their material dealer on probabilities of a remodeling program. This appears to be our only real hope of immediate housing relief, the chamber of commerce housing committee reports. The new housing construction outlook is hardly bright.

Of course it may turn out exactly as swivel chair "generals" predicted (and we hope so), but it was almost amusing to hear the note of consolation the Allies were getting out of their retreat in Egypt—that of extending Rommel's supply lines. It's kind of like saying "our opponent is going to hit us so hard in a minute he will hurt his hand."

Employment figures reached an all-time peak for this time of the year, according to USES figures. This is accurate, due to the fact that airport labor place ments were included. But it should be noted that all types of private jobs consolidated for the June report whereas items like the airport program were carried as a public placement item. See THE WEEK, Page 14, Col. 1

Hopkins Wedding Set For July 30

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—Harry Hopkins, 52, close friend and adviser to President Roosevelt, and Mrs. Louise Macy, 36, New York socialite and fashion writer, will be married July 30 in the White House.

After a short honeymoon—the war permitting—their address will be the White House. Hopkins for some time has been living at the executive mansion.

Reds Forced Back On The Kursk Front

Fierce Battles Are Raging With Nazi Tanks, Infantry

By HENRY C. CASSIDY MOSCOW, Sunday, July 5. (AP) Stubbornly-fighting Russian soldiers have been forced back to new positions on one sector of the Kursk front, the Russians announced today, but their red army comrades were fiercely engaging axis tanks and infantry on other areas of that Ukrainian battlefield.

The midnight Russian communique did not disclose just where the Russians fell back in fighting which has developed into some of the heaviest of the war.

In its brief report on the Kursk fighting yesterday the Soviet bureau of information reported that Soviet soldiers "carried out a fierce battle against tanks and enemy infantry" during the day as the Germans sought to advance eastward.

"On one sector of this direction (Kursk) our men retreated and occupied new positions," the communique continued. Stubborn battles still were being waged against the invaders on the Belgorod and Volchansk fronts, north of Kharkov.

The Russians disclosed that the Germans were putting on the pressure on the Kalinin front, northwest of Moscow. The midnight communique said fighting still continued in that sector after twin offensives against two different points on the Kalinin front were thrown back with the loss of at least 2,000 enemy men and officers and 27 tanks.

The first attacks were launched Friday by enemy infantry supported by about 50 to 70 tanks and aircraft. These were reported thrown back and the Germans tried again yesterday, but the Russians said, to no avail.

All attacks were repulsed; battles continue," the communique asserted.

The red army earlier had hit back at the Germans and their axis allies in the Ukraine with a sharp counter-attack in the Kurak sector, forcing the nazis to retreat across an important stream after absorbing the full fury of a German offensive along the flaming 100-mile front.

Frontline dispatches said the resilient Soviet defense wrecked dozens of German tanks and slaughtered thousands of Hitler's troops near the junction of the central and southern fronts before starting their own attack. A tremendous number of enemy guns and other material were declared destroyed as the Germans and their Hungarian mercenaries were rocked on their heels.

The Germans were said to be losing at least the equipment of one armored division daily in the tremendous defense of attrition—a total of 300 tanks, about evenly divided among the three main sectors of the Ukraine front. Much of the spectacular fighting was tank against tank.

Higher Prices On Canned Fruits

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson today gave canners their new price formula for 1942 pack canned fruits and berries which ultimately will increase retail prices 15 per cent or more.

The action was necessary to cover increased costs of fresh fruit, labor and transportation, and was hastened to prevent crops from rotting on trees.

773 Million A Day Is Appropriation Rate In Congress

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—During the first six months of this year congress appropriated an average of $773,000,000 daily.

A tabulation by the house appropriations committee showed today that congress had appropriated $140,781,000,000, mostly for the war, since it began its work last January.

Attaching few strings, congress made most of the record-breaking appropriations available for immediate use. However, a large part will go for ship construction and military procurement programs extending over several years.

Mexico On A Big Hunt For Nazi Agents

MEXICO CITY, July 4 (AP)—The expulsion of Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, acting funder of the German-American bond, to the United States was announced officially tonight while Mexican agents pursued a wide-spread search for German agents in Mexico, some of whom, it was reported, might have been landed from a Nazi submarine.

Authorities were said to be running down a number of leads in an effort to bring about a general seizure of German agents.

Secret agents acknowledged, without comment, rumors that some of these enemy agents might have been landed about 11 days ago from a German submarine north of Tampico.

One unconfirmed report said one of those agents had been arrested.

The reported landing was described as part of a general plan of sabotage and axis aid that involved the eight saboteurs recently seized in the United States after landing from German submarines and with the more than 20 agents rounded up in the Panama Canal zone and Central America.

The interior ministry said that Kunze had been "expelled" to the United States by plane today as an "undesirable foreigner."

Kunze faces an espionage charge in Hartford, Conn. The indictment alleged that he conspired to transmit U. S. military and defense information to Germany and Japan.

The ministry said he managed to enter Mexico last November 8 on a tourist card. It was said he was expelled on the technicality that his tourist permit, good for only six months, had expired and that he had failed to renew it.

Kunze was successful in remaining under cover in Mexico despite a ceaseless police search carried out in cooperation with the United States Federal Bureau of Investigation.

He was captured, however, this week in the small gulf coast town of Boca Del Rio, Veracruz state, during a round-up of axis nationals which was instituted to check reports that fifth columnists were responsible for the submarine torpedoing of two Mexican tankers.

Jap Bases In Aleutians Are Hit Heavily

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—A flying general reported today on his return from the north Pacific that army and navy air forces had "severely damaged" Japanese ships, air and shore installations in the invaded Aleutians.

Brigadier General Laurence S. Kuter, deputy chief of the army air staff, said the bombers in the Aleutian war zone were "carrying the fight to the enemy" and were well equipped but were handicapped by fog and rain.

The war department made public his statement a few hours after the navy reported American fighters again had been striking at Japanese forces in the Aleutians, including an air attack on three transports and their convoys.

The navy communique commented, however, that the situation in the chain of islands stretching out from Alaska toward Japan "has not changed materially" in the last two weeks.

This was the first navy communique concerning the Aleutians since that of June 15 when it was reported the Japanese had set up "minor temporary structures" at Kiska. That communique also reported that army bombers had scored hits on an enemy cruiser and sunk a transport.

MOST PARK AREA SECURED FORT WORTH, July 4 (AP)—Only 30,000 acres of the land needed for the Big Bend National Park remain to be purchased, Eugene Thompson, administrator of the land acquisition program for the Texas State Parks Board, reported to the Texas Big Bend Park association today.

America Celebrates The Fourth With Real Fireworks Of War

By The Associated Press America observed Independence Day with its fighting men dedicated the world around, struggling as never before to maintain the liberties daringly proclaimed 166 years ago.

There were celebrations wherever the nation's forces happened to be. American fliers chose this significant holiday for their first participation in an attack upon the Hitler-held continent of Europe.

Bond Buying Wave Paces Celebration

Big Spring didn't bomb anything on Independence Day, didn't have any wild west show, or bathing beauties—but Big Spring did lay nearly $15,000 on the altar of liberty Saturday night as the people of this city and surrounding area shelled out for War Bonds and Stamps in a spectacle that even eclipsed the featured fireworks display.

When clerks under County Chairman J. B. Collins had tabulated results of the bond and stamp sale engineered by Cliff Wiley, a total of $14,075 was counted, $450 of it in stamps.

Estimates of attendance were in the neighborhood of 7,500 people counting those in cars. The number was under that of last year, but before the program was over the amphitheatre was pretty well filled.

This unheralded bond selling stunt grew out of a promotional Collins had conceived in behalf of the county's lagging campaign to meet its quota. Wiley, who has filled many a tough spot around here, was never better than in his role as ballyhoo man for bonds.

He lost his voice yelling for buyers and shouting out names of purchasers. He kept the crowd cheering, laughing. To a heckler who complained about "not coming to be sold something," he let loose a blistering invitation to get up and leave if the bond sale didn't meet approval. Buletts, he said, were harder than the rock seats.

Earlier, Capt. William Nevil, Midland Army Flying School, had spoken, declaring that "we are in danger today, as grave danger as ever faced by our country."

He lashed out at "peace at any price" doctrine as foreign propaganda and said the issue was exactly the same as in 1776 when a writer said that "we are fighting to determine whether we shall be freemen or slaves," and that the time has come to "re-

Holiday Toll On Highways Placed At 57

By The Associated Press Despite tire and gasoline shortages 57 persons died on the highways Saturday and 49 others met violent deaths in other forms as the nation celebrated Independence Day.

The figures compared with 162 deaths, 116 of them caused by traffic accidents, last Fourth of July.

A toll of 23 lives was taken by drowning. The fact that there were no reports of fatalities caused by fireworks was largely attributable to heavy restrictions on pyrotechnic displays in coastal areas and strictly enforced local safety laws.

Automobile traffic in all sections of the country was reported lighter due to the tire and fuel saving campaigns.

California led the states in traffic deaths with a toll of 10 recorded. There were seven drownings reported in Ohio.

Three deaths were reported in Texas and one in New Mexico.

New Divisions Are Activated

SAN ANTONIO, July 4 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger, commanding officer of the Third Army, today announced activation of three infantry divisions July 15 at Camp Swift, Tex., Camp Gruber, Cookson Hills, Okla., and Camp Carson, Colo.

Under command of Maj. Gen. Harry L. Twaddle, an Obotan, the 95th Division staff will be activated at Camp Swift.

At Camp Gruber, the 88th Infantry division will be activated under command of Major General John E. Sloan, a North Carolinian and West Point graduate.

Maj. Gen. William H. Gill, a Virginian who received his first military training at Virginia Military Institute, will command the 89th Infantry division at Camp Carson. He was a battalion commander in France with the Fifth Division during World War I.

Jap Ship Losses Placed At 303

By The Associated Press Attacks on Hankow by the Chinese air force and an announcement by the United States navy of losses inflicted in the recent battle of Midway have raised the total of Japanese ships sunk since Pearl Harbor to approximately 303 vessels of all classifications.

The total is based upon official announcements by the United Nations and Japanese official admissions.

China and all over the seven seas, free men are fighting desperately—and dying—to preserve the liberties and decencies of modern civilization," Mr. Roosevelt said. "We celebrate x x x this year, not in the fireworks of make believe but in the death dealing reality of tanks and planes and guns and ships. We celebrate it also by running without interruption the assembly lines which turn out these weapons to be shipped to all the embattled points of the globe."

Tracy, Lamarr, Garfield In Film Version Of John Steinbeck Novel, 'Tortilla Flat'

One of the earlier writings of John Steinbeck, who gained prominence with works such as "The Grapes of Wrath" and the more recent "The Moon Is Down," is a book called "Tortilla Flat," which some critics declare to be the best of Steinbeck's books.

"Tortilla Flat" has been made into a movie, and the result is at the Ritz theatre today and Monday.

An unusual story, it deals with the happy-go-lucky life of the California paisanos who live a care-free existence on Tortilla Flat. The cast is studded with big names, with principal roles going to Spencer Tracy, Hedy Lamarr,

John Garfield and Frank Morgan. Tracy, as Pilon, is the leader of a band of paisanos. The young-est and best looking is Danny, played by Garfield. Pilon's great admirer is Pablo, played by Akim Tamiroff, and Morgan is seen as another memorable character from the book, the Pirate.

Paisanos— That's the word for people who might call peasants "Tortilla Flat." Here are the people—John Garfield, Hedy Lamarr and Spencer Tracy—featured as the paisanos in "Tortilla Flat," film version of the John Steinbeck novel which plays today and Monday at the Ritz theatre.

The story is not one of action, but rather one presenting a new philosophy on living — one practiced by people who care little about the niceties of life but who nevertheless are able to find happiness without working very hard for it.

The story is presented on a fascinating setting. Following an actual paisano community near Monterey, Calif., the set includes a street two blocks long, with the paisano shacks under the pines. It covered an area of three acres, and was built after careful study of the real "Tortilla Flat."

R&R Circuit Bond Sales $171,311

Participating in a nation-wide war stamp and bond selling campaign which started May 30 in over 15,000 theatres in the United States, Robb and Rowley United, Inc. circuit of theatres took part in a most conspicuous way, selling a total of $171,311.

Robb and Rowley, Texas men, operating some 110 theatres in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas of which the theatres in Big Spring are affiliated decided to put some added enthusiasm in the drive by offering prizes to be paid in war stamps and bonds to the three towns in their circuit selling the most based upon their possibilities. In this contest which closed June 27 the Ritz, Lyric and Queen theatres in Big Spring sold $3,947.58 in war bonds and stamps with Mrs. Logan Baker, cashier at the Ritz, winning a $50 bond for turning in sales of $8,092.50.

This nation-wide drive among theatres continues for the duration of the war. The Ritz, Lyric and Queen theatres have on sale war stamps and will accept your application for war bonds.

Saves Rubber As He Delivers Rubber

COLORADO CITY, July 4. — Mitchell county scrap rubber totals were boosted to over 80 tons this week with 115,783 pounds bought and paid for by filling stations and oil companies and 7,000 pounds in the downtown donation pen.

One Colorado City citizen saved rubber two ways when he calmly rode to town on horseback and emptied a long, dilapidated cotton sack full of rubber articles into the pen, dug his spurs into his horse, and galloped away.

Mystery Yarn Is Featured At The Queen

The murder of a condemned slayer just half an hour before he is scheduled to die in the electric chair is the strange and startling situation presented in "Murder In The Big House," new Warner Bros. mystery thriller, which plays today and Monday at the Queen theatre.

Why kill a man who is going to the electric chair anyway? Who killed that man? How was it done? Those are three of the questions posed in this highly unusual mystery picture. They are all answered, but not before there has been plenty of excitement and fast and furious action.

Most of the scenes of "Murder In The Big House" are laid within prison walls, but there are many in one of the most realistic newspaper offices ever shown in a motion picture, for it is a couple of newspaper reporters and a brisk feminine newshawk who solve the mysterious happening in the Big House.

Playing these roles are Van Johnson, newcomer from the New York stage; George Meeker, a Hollywood veteran of many a fine movie performance, and Faye Emerson, who proved her right to feature ranking among young movie misses with her very first film role last year in "Bad Men of Missouri." The picture was directed by B. Reeves Eason.

Judy Canova In New Laugh Hit At Lyric

Those who saw and enjoyed Republic's "Scatterbrain," "Sis Hopkins" and "Puddin' Head" with the inimitable Judy Canova will anticipate with keen relish the wistful little comedienne's return in "Sleepytime Gal" which tops the Sunday-Monday program at the Lyric.

Judy portrays the role of Bessie Cobb, who decorates cakes in the kitchen of one of Miami's swankier hotels. She is the central figure of an elaborate plot staged by Chick Patterson, bell captain, by means of which he believes he can enrich not only Bessie, but himself, his fiancée, and the kitchen's three screwball chefs, Popadopolis, Pavlovitch and Barzumian.

He plans to enter Bessie in the contest sponsored by Band Leader Danny Marlowe under the auspices of a large recording company. With her spectacular voice she will be on easy street throughout her subsequent career.

Chick, learning that Joe Kincaid, a big shot gambler, is forcing Marlowe to give the prize to his girlfriend, Sugar Gaston, in payment of a gambling debt, substitutes Judy in Sugar's place, spiriting the real Sugar away when she arrives. But Sugar is marked for death at the hands of a pair of trigger men employed by her former sweetheart when she went to prison, and when Judy takes her place, she is unconsciously making a date with the executioner.

Throughout this situation Judy wends her rollicking way, aided and abetted by such actors as Tom Brown, Mildred Coles, Harold Huber, Billy Gilbert, Jay Novello, Fritz Feld, Ruth Terry, Skinnay Ennis and Jerry Lester.

Personal Items From Coahoma

COAHOMA, July 4.—The daily vacation Bible school of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches will open July 7, with Miss Elizabeth Rummans as director. The school will last one week and all children are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Severance of the east oil field were hosts to a chicken barbecue. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Hale and son, Lloyd Ray, of Colorado City, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Knox, Jr., of Big Spring, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Mayfield and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Armstrong.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beckham this week included Mrs. Willie Ramsey of Drew, Miss, her son, Frank Ramsey of El Campo, and Mrs. Tom Shockey of Hamilton. Both ladies are aunts of Mrs. Beckham. Other visitors were Mrs. Ralph Ramsey and Miss Dolores Gage of Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Ramsey of Westbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Yardley and daughter, Gay Nell, are visiting relatives in Ranger, San Angelo, Houston and San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Armstrong and Mr. and Mrs. Vance Davis and son, Norman, will spend the week-end holidays in Portales, N. M., visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Armstrong.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Thompson and daughter, Lucille, are in Stephenville to visit in the home of Thompson's twin brother, Mr. and Mrs. Artie Thompson, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Acuff honored their son, Royce, on his eighth birthday with a lawn party at their home. Outdoor games and contests were enjoyed. Gum drops with small flags were used as favors and birthday cake and ice cream were served to Des Dennis, Ann and Dennis Mullin, Rose Mary Acuff, Johnson B. Hall, Thomas Austin Birkhead, Kay Sharon Acuff, Jeanette and Patsy Elliott, Billie Joe and Rodney Cranser, Ronnie Acuff, James Lloyd Burkhardt, Wallace Farris, Wanda Shive and the honoree.

Mrs. J. M. Hale has returned to her home in Eskota after spending last week here visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. E. Kiser, and family.

Mrs. Taxis Bryant and son, Dennis, of Kermit are visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Morrison and family of the east oil field will spend the next two weeks on vacation visiting relatives and friends.

Candidates Have A Full Schedule

By The Associated Press
Texas' senatorial struggle—only three weeks from decision day—moved toward the northern sectors of the state as the three candidates announced itineraries for the coming week that would give none a chance to rest.

Two to four major public meetings a day, plus several radio appearances, were on their schedules. James V. Allred's campaign dates will take him from West Texas across Central Texas, and from there east and northeast. Dan Moody was booked in towns and cities in East and North Texas, and W. Lee O'Daniel will continue to comb the Panhandle, Plains and northwest Texas.

Taking advantage of the crowds, some candidates for railroad commissioner, lieutenant governor and lesser state and county offices were following in their wake.

Temporary Agriculture Funds Proposed

Would Permit More Time On Money Bill

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP) — Stop-gap legislation which would give the agriculture department nearly twice as much money during July as it would receive under a disputed regular appropriation bill was recommended unanimously today by a senate appropriations subcommittee.

If the senate and the house should agree to this plan, the two branches could wrangle over the appropriation bill for the rest of this month without causing financial embarrassment to the department, now technically without funds.

Under a simple resolution recommended by the subcommittee, the department would be allowed to spend this month at the rate which prevailed in June, the last month of the previous fiscal year.

The old law provided $1,127,623,854 for the 1942 fiscal year. The new supply bill sets up about $680,000,000. Accordingly the department may have some $92,900,000 available for July spending, compared with about $56,000,000 under the disputed bill.

The subcommittee substituted its resolution for a lengthy bill passed by the house last Thursday—a measure which was entirely unacceptable to the senate leadership.

The dispute over the regular appropriation bill is chiefly one of farm price policy.

The senate is backing President Roosevelt's request for authority to sell government-held stocks of grain for livestock feed at less than parity price. (Parity is a level calculated to give farmers a return on their crops equivalent to that in a previous period, usually 1909-14.)

To that end, the senate stipulated that up to 125,000,000 bushels of wheat could be sold for feeding purposes at not less than 85 per cent of the parity price for corn, or about 83 cents a bushel.

The house, contending the senate plan would depress all grain prices, has held out for no sub-parity sales.

Johnson Grass Extermination Program Outlined By Agent

Extermination of Johnson grass is a rising problem on farms of Howard county, according to County Agent O. P. Griffin, and many farmers are seeking means of destroying the pest.

About 50 per cent of the roads in the county have Johnson grass growing in their borrow pits, Griffin said, and full cooperation of the farmers will be necessary before it can be killed. Some farmers have been complaining to the county for allowing the grass to grow along the roadsides, as it does little good for a farmer to clean up his fields if the grass is still growing at the edge by the road.

However, unless all farms begin a program of extermination little would be gained by cleaning up the roads. Seed from one farm which still had Johnson grass could wash down the drainage ditches and infest numerous fields farther down.

Landowners who have farms rented out should make a contribution toward killing out Johnson grass, Griffin said, because it is usually a costly process. However, the extra cultivation necessary to kill it out results in better crop yields, thereby offering the farmer another gain in the work.

Griffin estimates that Johnson grass could be completely killed out in one year.

Recommended is a preparation on the market composed of sodium chlorate and calcium chlorate, which is sprayed on the grass under high pressure to kill it. Just before the bloom stage and when the grass is growing is the best time to spray it. If conditions are right, and the spray is properly applied, one spraying gets most of it, but it usually takes three sprayings to get it all. The method is very expensive, and is not practical for that reason except on small spots.

By far the best method for killing Johnson grass is to cultivate just deep enough to get under the roots, which will be relatively shallow.

When it is intended to kill Johnson grass by cultivation, cotton is the best crop to have on the land. If the grass is not allowed to reach the jointing stage, by July it begins to yellow and the growth of the young grass slows down as the roots starve for want of food. Therefore the period between hoeings can be lengthened, but it should be watched till frost.

Memorial Service For Eddie Brown Slated At 3 p. m.

Memorial services will be held at 3 p. m. today at the East Fourth Baptist church for Hester Eddie Brown, 20, sergeant in the Royal Canadian Air Force and son of Mr. and Mrs. J.M.L. Brown of this city, who was killed on active service June 25 in England.

The Rev. R. Elmer Dunham, pastor of the church of which Eddie was a member, will be in charge of the service, and a body of men from the Texas Defense Guard company under command of Capt. Cliff Wiley will stand honor guard.

Eddie, so far as is known, is the first officially confirmed fatality of a Big Spring youth in this war. Many others have been reported "missing."

He went to England about six months ago after a year of training in Canada. In his letters home he wrote that "I saw the King and Queen in the American club in London the other day. They were very nice and friendly."

On April 2, he wrote: Dear Mother, do you remember what day this is? Well it is my birthday and I am 20 years old... We had a pretty nice dinner. The people I am staying with on leave made me a cake and everything that goes with a birthday dinner and tried to show me a good time."

At other times he was anxious for some Pacific action, chaffing to get at the Japs. In one letter he was cheered by the Tokyo attack, and by a report American boys in the RCAF would be transferred back to the American service and that he might be "back in the good old American uniform."

But war pays no heed to men's desires. As late as June 1, Eddie had written — "I am engaged, and am getting married July 14 to a mighty pretty sweet girl over here. She is 19 years old and I know you will love her..."

Eddie was buried in Haverhill cemetery in Suffolk, England on July 1 instead.

REA Line Is Cut 41 Miles

The squeeze for materials has cut 41 miles from the "B" section of the Caprock Electric Cooperative, O. B. Bryan, Stanton, superintendent, announced Saturday.

He had just returned from Dallas where he spent two days with state REA officials in an effort to iron out difficulties on the project, now well underway. U. S. engineers had requisitioned material for the job, he said, but wire in stock at other places was substituted so that the 100 miles of line on poles had enough for 27 more miles where poles are in place would not be taken.

The 41 miles where no poles are up all lie in Howard county and will be out for the emergency, Bryan said. The section north of Knott toward Ackerly, however, he said, was included in the part of the project to be completed. That above Luther into the southern edge of Borden county and short extensions, including one to Vealmoor, in northern Howard county, and to Cauble, in the western part of the county, are out.

Bryan estimated that it would require something like 40 days to complete the B section and have all units of it energized.

Meanwhile, the Caprock Cooperative maintains its unusually strong financial condition, he said. Surplus funds invested in U. S. war bonds to date stand at $7,000 and within the next month or so another $3,000 is to be invested, said Bryan.

Safety Class To Conclude Monday

Final session of the safety class in progress here for several months will be held Monday.

The training, open to safety representatives of local industrial concerns, has embraced 22 lessons and has dealt with lighting, safety around and care of machinery, psychology of safety, hazards of injury and to health, etc.

Certificates will be presented by Texas Tech, course sponsor, said King J. Sides, in charge of the class. It has been offered by the U. S. office of education and department of labor through the local school facilities.

Local Defense Classes Send Many To Jobs

Students finishing national defense industry training here and going into production reached a new high in June, Bill Dawes, local defense training director reported Saturday.

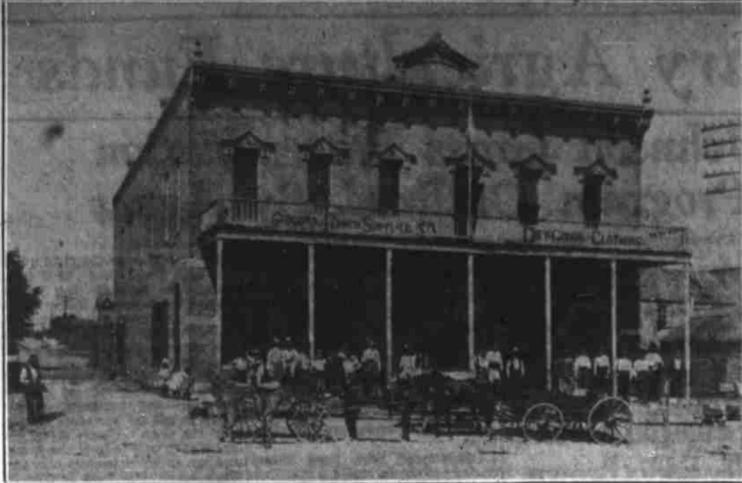

Fifty-six aircraft sheet metal and welding students went from school to job during the month. Of the number 55 were aircraft students and 20 were welders.

The total number finishing and going into production in May was 41, he reported.

Actual enrollment stands at about 75 for both sheetmetal and welding groups, but then the aircraft class has just had a class of 20 finish up during the week with no time for replacement yet.

It is anticipated, said Dawes, that total enrollment in the two would exceed 100 shortly. The welding group has a capacity of approximately 60 to 65 on a 24-hour basis. The aircraft sheet metal unit could be doubled or even tripled with the addition of some equipment and more instructors.

One new one, Garden Smith, formerly associated with Southern Aircraft and North American, has joined the staff here, Dawes announced.

The J & W Fisher store of an earlier day.

Name Of J. & W. Fisher Disappearing From Local Scene After 60 Years

Big Spring's last pioneer business firm, one that survived the fabulous era that gave it birth, is closing up shop.

After 60 years of activity, J. & W. Fisher Co. is giving way, clearing out its stocks, and remodeling its building so that the J. C. Penney Co. may take over on a lease agreement.

Joye and Bernard Fisher, sons of one of the founders, are retiring from business operation and plan to concern themselves with management of ranching and other interests here.

The ring of hammers and the song of saws blend into a strange requiem for this establishment, once the biggest retail marketing center in this part of the state. Time was when J. & W. Fisher traced its trade area modestly 100 miles in any direction and counted routine "chuck" orders in the hundreds of dollars.

Founded in 1883 by Joseph Fisher, an Austrian-born Jew whose father sent back for his family while Joseph was still a lad, the store was first housed in a tent. Soon Joseph, born in 1845, was joined by a younger brother, William, 12 years his junior. The firm changed its name to include the partner and changed locations to a small frame building at 1st and Scurry streets to meet growing demands. This was destroyed by fire and ultimately they built a rock building (where the Busy Bee cafe now stands), and then abandoned this for a still larger two-story rock structure across the alley when their popularity as businessmen increased.

The original Fishers were, as many old time cowmen and railroaders still swear, shrewd, honest traders with a generous turn that earned them the title of "benefactor." Many recall that "there were no finer men" than Joe and William Fisher.

Early-day cattle barons liked to trade with the Fishers. The old C. C. Slaughter outfit bought in such copious quantities that W. E. McWhorter used 30 yokes of oxen to pull an enormous freight wagon. Frequently, ranchers from New Mexico sent wagons here to take on supplies at Fishers and once a rancher at Canyon bought heavily from the store.

Once a weather-beaten teamster appeared with a message scrawled on a piece of paper sack. It said simply: "Send me some chuck." The Fishers sent out a collection valued at a few hundred dollars and asked no questions. In time the rancher came by after selling his cattle and paid off.

A reputation as a "store that carries everything" was well earned. The late Mrs. M. E. Barrett, first settler of Big Spring, often said that it was possible to get anything from a needle to a threshing machine. Whatever folks got at the store, however, was of best quality for ranchers, cowpunchers and railroad families demanded durable goods.

On Pay Day
While the Fishers realized a tremendous volume off the ranch orders, which were not extra ordinary until a single supply got above the $300 class and required more than a couple of wagons to haul it, they also found railroad men and their families the backbone of their trade. On days when the paymaster's car rolled into town, Fishers stocked up a cash reserve of from $3,000 to $10,000 to handle checks. Miss Gertrude McIntyre who has been with the firm since its pioneer days, recalled that trade continued so briskly on payday that the store stayed open to one or two o'clock the following morning.

Where the Fishers took a rancher's check on a Fort Worth bank or his promise to pay without question, they also dealt in equal confidence with townpeople.

Delivery Service
They pioneered in special service, too, operating one of the first delivery services with the late Will Crawford furnishing the power for a push cart. Subsequently he drove a hack and the Fishers sometimes sort of loaned him out to deliver a corpse to the cemetery, there being no hearse in town. Later the company put on the first motor delivery truck in town.

Big hearted, Joe and William Fisher often quietly saw to it that the widowed and the poor were fed and clothed, they contributed to building churches irrespective of denominations, gave to other worthy institutions. Their native peculiarities and wit, coupled with their genius for making money, often made them the target for pranksters.

Joseph Fisher barely outlived the end of what might be called the pioneering and colonization period. William, or Uncle Bill, lived to see oil discovered and the curtain raised on a new day. Neither, however, lived long enough to see that "J. & W. Fisher" sign come down from the store.

Soldier's Hosts In Australia Write His Parents A Reassuring Letter

It's a thrill to hear from your son in Australia, but Mr. and Mrs. Gus Opegaard have had an even greater thrill of hearing from a woman in whose home their boy was billeted.

Mrs. J. Cleary, writing for herself and her husband, had enough nice things to say about Pvt. Moran Opegaard that his parents' anxiety was replaced by pride.

"We can assure you it was a pleasure," wrote Mrs. Cleary of Moran's stay in Ballarat. "It was just like one of our own coming in and out. He was greatly taken with the city, especially the flowers in the gardens, for which Ballarat is renowned. . . . He was feeling the cold as the winter is about to start. (The letter was dated April 18)."

She enclosed a picture of Moran with the Cleary family, including their daughter, Geraldine, who "was very pleased to have an American staying with us." Mrs. Cleary bore out the Australian reputation for hospitality, inviting the Opegarads to be their guests if ever they got to Australia for a trip.

Moran, she said, was "in the best of health and when we saw him he had gained weight," 25 pounds to be exact, since he joined the army here December 27, his father added. He embarked late in January, as best his folks could tell.

Officials Warned To Use Tires Only On Official Duty

FORT WORTH, July 3 — State and county officials whose duties make them eligible to apply for tire purchase or recapping certificates are reminded by Mark McGee, Texas OPA administrator, that they become ineligible if their tires are used for non-official purposes.

"Reports are coming to this office from many sections of the state that the cars of sheriffs, deputies, constables, and other eligible cars have been seen at political rallies, loaded with passengers who obviously were not on official business," McGee said.

"Under a strict and patriotic interpretation of tire rationing rules, we must ask for the cooperation of all such public officials, and request them not to take advantage of public office and official eligibility for tires by using those tires for such a purpose."

BACK FROM KERRVILLE
Mr. and Mrs. Byron Fullerton returned Friday night from the encampment of the Churches of Christ at Kerrville. The attendance was off about half on account of the tire situation. Fullerton spoke eight times and taught a class three times during the encampment.

Model Tokyo Is Blasted Before 20,000 Watchers

MIDLAND, July 4 (AP) — The thunderous crash of bombs and the vicious roar of 75 twin-motored bombers brought a taste of war to the West Texas prairies today.

Sweeping over a miniature Tokyo at the Midland army flying school, the planes dropped their "eggs" and methodically reduced the model city to rubble while an estimated 20,000 spectators watched grimly.

The attack staged to demonstrate the skill of bombardier cadets, was described by Brigadier General I. Davies, flying school commandant, as "a grand thing for the school. Bombardiers gave an excellent performance and the program moved like clockwork." The model of Tokyo was laid out to scale, 300 feet representing a mile. Offering a tempting target were docks, forts, breakwater, warehouses and other structures, made of cardboard and scrap lumber.

Two attacks were staged, one at 3 p. m., the other at 10 p. m.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The 155-mm howitzer and its little brother, the 105-mm howitzer, are called "the two sweetest things of their kind in existence." The 155-mm gun will drop a 95-pound shell 12,000 yards away. The shell is lobbed high, and drops like a bomb giving it far greater authority when it explodes.

The 155-mm howitzers cost about $20,000 each. They are essential for our offensive army against the Axis powers and we need hundreds of them for they are a standard divisional gun and do twice as much damage as the old French-75, in World War I. You can help buy them for our army by your investment of at least ten percent of income in War Bonds every pay day.

Liberty Must Be Paid For, Officer Says

DETROIT, July 4 (AP) — Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commanding the war department's services of supply, received pledges of an unstinting flow of guns, tanks, planes and the other tools of war from the top men in the AFL and CIO today in a Fourth of July labor rally.

The general himself, principal speaker on a luncheon program which also included addresses by Philip Murray and William Green, presidents of the CIO and the AFL, respectively, warned that liberty was a luxury which "must be paid for again and again, endlessly, in blood and toil and devotion."

He urged labor to bury its differences with management and to remember that "we all belong to the same union—the union of the United States of America."

"The dues are high, with self-sacrifice and long, hard toil," he said. "The hours are long, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. But the benefits are immeasurable."

He attributed axis successes to long preparation that built up numerical superiority of military men and supplies and of industrial manpower.

"Most of that manpower is slave labor," he added, "but they're making it work, x x x Let us remember that they have one purpose only, to make us slaves, x x x they destroy organized labor wherever they go."

"Your skill, your strength, your determination, your will to win, joined with ours, will shorten the conflict, if we work together we'll bring death to the axis."

"Gentlemen, the army is counting on you. We know you will not let us down. And I give you the word of a soldier, the army will not let you down."

The appeal brought from CIO President Murray labor's pledge to "produce without limit," swell the ranks of the fighting forces and contribute "all we can spare" for war relief and war bonds, and from AFL president Green a similar promise to turn out "the most devastating and inexhaustible supply of war weapons the world has ever seen."

"No one has to crack the whip over American labor," Green declared. "There is nothing trade union representatives can do, no sacrifice they can make, they will not gladly offer of their own free will."

The appeal brought from CIO President Murray labor's pledge to "produce without limit," swell the ranks of the fighting forces and contribute "all we can spare" for war relief and war bonds, and from AFL president Green a similar promise to turn out "the most devastating and inexhaustible supply of war weapons the world has ever seen."

Deep Tests To Be Drilled In This Section

SAN ANGELO, July 4 — Staking of locations for wildcats in Martin, Midland, Reeves, Winkler and Terry counties and announcement of another, in Martin county, on the eve of expected further federal drilling restrictions highlighted West Texas oil operations this week.

A scheduled deep wildcat in Scurry county was spudded. Tests for oil more than a mile deep are due to be started soon in Midland and Martin counties. J. Y. Francis staked No. 1 J. O. Nobles 7 1-2 miles northwest of Midland, where both operator and land owner reside. Location is in the C NE SE 20-40-18-T&P. Drilling 5,200 feet with rotary is planned.

Lem Peters will drill No. 1 Mrs. Ida Wolcott in northwestern Martin county 33 miles northwest of Stanton, starting July 15 and going 5,800 feet with rotary unless production is developed shallower. The test will be in league 254. Ward county school land survey, the footage not yet being determined.

Amon G. Carter of Fort Worth prepared to start No. 1 Walter M. Clear, scheduled 5,500-foot, rotary wildcat in northwestern Martin county, 1,380 feet from the south and east lines of labor 22, league 283, Kent county school land survey. No. 1 Clear will be on a 10,800-acre block, out of which Sunray Oil Co. was reported to have purchased spreads.

Magnolia No. 1 Earl B. Powell, Martin county wildcat 7 1-2 miles north of Stanton, C SW SE 18-35-18-T&P, had drilled and cored to 4,877 feet in hard lime without shows. It topped the San Andre at 2,800 feet, 1,053 feet below sea level.

Acquiring the Mitchell county wildcat on E. L. Wulfjen's land that H. E. McQuinn and W. J. Donnelly spudded to a shallow depth in October, 1941, W. M. Fontress prepared to drill 3,000 feet with cable tools. Location is in the C NW SW 5-18-H&TC, 10 miles south of Colorado City. Ray Oil Co. of Dallas No. 1 Willard R. Read, north outpost of the Dodge-Denman pool in eastern Howard county and regarded as a possible new pool opener, was bridged back with cement from 2,782, where drilling had stopped in pay, to 2,785 feet, top of the bottom production horizon. It had swabbed 40 barrels daily and on one run swabbing to bottom it had a 58-barrel return. Tubing has been run and tanks connected, but a 3,000-gallon acid test of the upper horizon from 2,654 and below will not be made until Monday. Later the bottom pay, in more of a sand, may be shot. The well is 330 feet from the south and east lines of section 37-30-1n, T&P, six miles east of Coahoma and near the Mitchell county line.

Humble spudded No. 1 Newman, scheduled 3,000-foot, wildcat in Scurry county nine miles northwest of Snyder, 1,740 from the south, 2,246 feet from the west line of section 258-97-H&TC.

A WAR MESSAGE FROM THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT

"War is never cheap, but let me remind you that it's a million times cheaper to win than to lose."

—Henry Morgenthau, Jr.,
Secretary of the Treasury.

MILLIONS UNDER ARMS—the fastest, hardest-hitting fighting-machine the world has ever known! That is the goal, as America's youth rallies to the call . . . hurrying from farms, towns, and cities all the way from Maine to California, from the Great Lakes to the Gulf.

There's Tom, from down the block . . . Bill, and George, and Jack, who left good jobs . . . your friends, neighbors, brothers, sons. They're going . . . and going eagerly so that America, our free America, will remain forever free.

But YOU, who'd like to join them, and can't . . . what about you? You're eager to do your part, too. The thing is, HOW? And the Government answers—"You can help in two vitally important ways—by working harder than ever before and by buying Bonds to the very limit of your powers."

Guns and tanks and ships and planes cost money—billions! To pay the huge cost of this war, money must flow in a steady stream from you and everyone—the butcher, the baker, even the boy who cuts your lawn. Because this war belongs to all of us—to fight, to finance, to finish.

So let's all answer the call with every last dime and dollar that we can, even if it means going without things . . . remembering that we will go without everything, including our cherished freedom, if the Axis is not crushed, now and for all time. Go to your employer, bank, post office, or other official sales agency for Bonds now—pledge yourself to make every pay day "Bond Day."

Full Warfare Waged On Commercial 'Fifth Columnists'

Had Right Idea, But No Stamps

DALLAS, July 4 (AP) — Alfred Anderson, formerly of Minneapolis, learned today that although patriotism is fine, a couple of three-cent stamps can be important, too.

He was arrested at Corsicana and jailed in Dallas after his Minneapolis draft board had notified Federal Bureau of Investigation agents that he had moved away without notifying the board.

Anderson protested that he had twice notified the draft board of his change of address.

Dallas postal employees, putting in a full Independence Day, were checking through the dead-letter file when they came upon two unstamped letters signed by Anderson and addressed to his Minneapolis draft board in which he advised he was working at a Corsicana aviation school and "I'm ready anytime you call—in fact, anxious to go." Unfortunately, the letters had no return address.

U. S. Commissioner John Davis interrupted his holiday to hurry down and order Anderson freed.

"Oh, boy," Anderson said. "Why didn't somebody tell me those letters needed stamps?"

Hospital Employee Injured In Mishap

Nan Bridwell, an employee of the Big Spring State Hospital in the laundry department, was under treatment at the hospital Saturday for a fractured leg.

She was struck Thursday evening as she and Sally Keller, hospital seamstress, walked along a road just inside the city limits. She also suffered bruises and lacerations.

Contrary to initial reports, it was not a hit-and-run case. J. N. Morgan, who resides three miles north of town and who was driver of the car, stopped and gave aid, according to Miss Keller.

Firms Linked With Axis Put Out Of Trade

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—A total of 507 axis-owned or controlled firms in the United States have been liquidated and enemy personnel forced out of scores of other concerns in a relentless drive by the government to eliminate financial and commercial "fifth columnists."

Officials disclosed for the first time today the wide scope of this unspectacular but all-important side of the war coincident with a conference here of financial and economic experts of the 21 Pan-American republics to discuss similar action throughout the western hemisphere.

To date, the United States' campaign has brought:

1. Forced sale of assets—Liquidation—of 507 foreign-owned or controlled businesses through withholding licenses required for operation under various "freezing" orders.
2. Outright seizure under alien property laws of around 2,000 patents and the capital stock of several scores large companies held by foreigners, many of these enterprises in the vital chemical, dyestuff and drug industries.
3. Placing government representatives in the businesses, who after close observation, recommended a course of action to eliminate axis influence. These representatives decided, in the several instances, on seizure of the capital stock or other interest of undesirable individuals or concerns or liquidation of the enterprise or discharge of certain officers or employees.
4. Achieving the same goals through withholding licenses for operation under "freezing" orders or by voluntary action of enterprises in reorganizing and changing trade practices.

The "freezing" orders started in 1940 with the German sweep through the low countries and the fall of France.

A companion weapon of economic warfare is the "blacklist" of axis-owned or controlled firms and individuals in Latin America which was started a year ago and now has been extended to European and Asiatic neutral countries.

United States citizens are forbidden to trade with these firms and individuals without special licenses thereby preventing the enemy from maintaining or gaining markets in the other republics or realizing a profit on trade in United States made goods.

Nelson To Limit Questionnaires

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP) — Donald M. Nelson took action today to relieve businessmen of some of the mass of government questionnaires, reports and blank forms flooding onto their desks.

The war production board chairman announced creation of a committee to abolish unnecessary forms, consolidate them where possible, and keep "a close check on the issuance of new WPE forms requesting information from American industry."

Labor Groups Will Convene This Evening

A meeting designed to organize all labor into more active participation in civic, social and political affairs of the community, state and nation has been called for 7 o'clock this evening at the WOW hall.

Representatives from all ranks of labor are urged to attend.

All crafts and unions are invited to join in the discussion. W. E. Clay has been named temporary chairman of the meeting, which is sponsored by the railroad brotherhoods of this area and their women's auxiliaries. Plans are for the organization of a Central Trades and Labor Council with a general committee to work with sub-committees of the various labor branches.

"We think this council will operate effectively in the interests of all labor," said Clay, "and we urge every craft and organization to have representation at the Sunday evening meeting."

Price Inventories Still Being Filed

Celling price inventories are still trickling into the Howard County Rationing board steadily, although they were due at midnight June 30, Board Secretary Walter Wilson said.

A marked increase in demands for tires and canning sugar during the past week was also announced by Wilson. On July 5, bicycles will be added to the list of articles to be rationed.

Wilson repeated his urge that all ration books of deceased persons and men going into the armed forces be turned into the office immediately. He estimated that only about half the books of men entering the Army are checked in to the board. Persons keeping such books do so in direct conflict to OPA regulations.

Ft. Worth Leads In Week's Building

By The Associated Press Fort Worth led reporting Texas cities in granting building permits the past week, a total of $2,077,500 having been issued, including a permit for a $2,000,000 new project. Lubbock ranked second, issued $24,218 worth of permits, while Corpus Christi recorded a total of $14,945 for the week.

Hazel Ruth Phillips To Become Bride Of Eldon Hull In Sunday Evening Double Ring Ceremony

In a double ring ceremony to be read at 9:30 o'clock Sunday night, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Phillips, will become the bride of Eldon (Ted) Hull, Coahoma. The ceremony will be read at the West Side Baptist church.

July 4th Entertainments Are Well Attended Over Weekend

Weekend parties and dances were well attended Friday and Saturday evening as Big Spring residents and visitors celebrated Independence Day.

Crowds at the Country Club carnival enjoyed games, indoor and outdoor, carnival booths and ate hot dogs and sodas throughout the day. Dancing was entertainment during the evening.

Members of the Airport Widows entertained husbands and a few guests at the Settles hotel with a dance Saturday evening.

The Beta Sigma Phi dance in the hotel ballroom drew a large crowd Saturday night for a nickel-odeon dance.

The Firecracker dance at the Settles hotel Friday drew 100 couples to hear the music of C. A. Rodgers and his Romantic Rhythms from Lubbock. Tables were placed on the mezzanine floor. Entertainment during intermission was a novelty song by Betty Bob Diltz, a dance by Mary Ruth Diltz, and a trio composed of Wanda McQuain, Clarinda Mary Sanders and Kathleen Underwood. Mrs. Ann Gibson Houser was accompanist for the numbers.

HAZEL RUTH PHILLIPS ... Sunday bride

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, Earl Phillips, will wear a navy blue jacket ensemble trimmed with white lace. Her corsage will be of white carnations and her accessories will be white. For something old she will wear a ring belonging in her family for over a hundred years and owned now by her aunt, Mrs. Rosa Phillips. For something borrowed, she will wear a diamond cross belonging to another aunt, Winnie Fay Gressett.

Matron of honor will be Mrs. Rube Baker with Rube Baker as the bridegroom's attendant. Bobby Earl Phillips, brother of the bride, will be ring bearer and Twila Frances Phillips, cousin of the bride, will act as flower girl.

The ceremony will be read before an arch of pink carnations and fern. Summer flowers will form a background of the church decorations.

Mary Pearl Mittel will sing the pre-nuptial solo and Mrs. K. H. McGibbon will play the traditional wedding marches and accompany the soloist.

Following the ceremony, the couple will leave for San Angelo and for traveling the bride will wear a white embroidered pique ensemble with matching hat and white accessories.

The wedding party will be entertained with a Sunday noon dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hull in Coahoma. Sunday evening before the ceremony, the wedding party will have a supper in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Phillips.

Revival Meeting To Start Today At E. 4th St. Church

With services to be held at 9 a. m. and 8:30 p. m. each day, the East Fourth Street Baptist church inaugurates a revival meeting with services today.

Evangelist will be Rev. W. H. Coulson of Eunice, N. M., a young man with an outstanding record as a soul-winner. Pianist for the services will be Miss Orine Hughes, former church secretary and pianist who served for a time with Braniff Airlines and now is with the U. S. navy. Song services will be under direction of Roy Lee Williams, Jr., choir director of the church. The meeting is for the whole community, regardless of church affiliation, said the pastor, Rev. R. Elmer Dunham, and the public is invited to attend all services.

The minister, Byron Fullerton, will be preaching his last sermons at the Church of Christ today, and he says they will be sermons that are not just farewells. His morning subject will be "Honoring And Dis-honoring God," and in the evening he will talk on "Farewells of Christ And Of Paul."

There will be no preaching services at the First Christian church at either morning or evening hours, it has been announced. Sunday school and communion will be held as usual, but services will be dismissed in time for members to attend other churches of the city. The Rev. Homer W. Halslip, pastor, will be out of town Sunday.

The Rev. O. L. Savage will bring a timely message in his morning service at the First Presbyterian church, speaking on "Eternal Freedom." Earthly freedom and heavenly freedom will form the basis of the church. "The Influence

Cosden Chatter—

By TOMMIE McCRAHY

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Tollett are spending the weekend in San Antonio. They will visit their daughter, Kay, who is at Camp Mystic, Hunt.

Pattia Toops is spending a few days in Alexandria, La.

The general offices of the corporation were closed Saturday, July 4th, so that the employees could enjoy an Independence holiday.

Veiva Glass, Opal Bates, Glynn Jordan and Alma Borders are in Fort Worth this weekend.

Roy Smith and Ed Adams left Friday evening on a fishing trip to Presidio and Old Mexico.

Mary Elizabeth Glass of Fort Worth is spending several weeks here with her mother, Veiva Glass. June Sheppard, a former Cosdenite, and now an employee of Consolidated in Fort Worth, was a visitor here last weekend.

J. C. Laird and family were visitors in San Antonio last weekend. While there he took a Civil Service examination for a radio technician mechanic and will report there in that position July 15. Homer Hart and family are "rodeoing" again this week in Pecos.

Kathleen Underwood is a new employe in traffic department.

V. W. McGregor Succumbs To Long Illness

An 18-month illness ended in death at 5:35 a. m. Saturday in a local hospital for Virgil Waymon McGregor, 61, long-time Howard county farmer.

He had been confined to the hospital for three weeks.

Coming to Howard county in 1906, he settled at Coahoma and had made that place his home since. Services will be held in the home there at 3 p. m. Sunday with the Rev. D. A. Ross, Methodist minister of Triskett, in charge. The body also was to lie in state there at request of his widow, who has been confined to her bed for the past 11 months.

Besides his widow, he leaves one daughter, Mrs. H. F. Keith, Roscoe; one brother, G. W. McGregor, Coahoma; and three sisters, Mrs. E. C. Richards, Merkel, Mrs. E. L. Mangum, Abilene, and Mrs. Mollie Dalman, Asil. Others here for the funeral include Mrs. McGregor's relatives, Mrs. E. H. Dunn, Coahoma, E. R. Dunn, Hamlin, W. E. Newsom, Hamlin, and S. L. Newsom, Stanton.

Burial will be in the Coahoma cemetery. Pallbearers will be Leavelle Stamps, Leroy Echols, Truett DeVaney, Egbert Echols, D. S. Phillips, L. N. Bond, Buster Bond, Glenn Guthrie and Roy Wilson.

WPA Job Here Not Affected By New Curbs

Drastic curtailment of funds for WPA is not expected to materially affect any of the three projects underway here, City Manager B. J. McDaniel said Saturday.

All are connected with the war program in some manner. Primary project is the one for extending lines from the city reservoir and the city sewage system to the army flying school site, and WPA is sending in some out-of-town relief workers to start work on the ditch for the water line Monday.

Meanwhile, work on extending runways at the airport proper, installing taxi strips and installing a lighting system is progressing.

The city's projected recreational program to be undertaken with WPA and the Federal Security Agencies was due to be cleared, also. It provides for military and civilian recreational programs.

Complete Unity Is Our Need, Asserts Gov. Stevenson

BEILTON, July 4. (AP)—Through the achievement of complete unity we will win the victory and reach the goal which we can and will attain, Governor Cooke R. Stevenson declared in an Independence Day radio address here today.

This is a glorious Fourth of July, the governor said, because "we are fighting shoulder-to-shoulder, hand-in-hand, with a singleness of purpose never attained before in the civilized world."

"We are fighting for a cause which embraces not only the rights—yes, even the lives—of every one of us but also for the rights, lives and freedom of all mankind."

V-Mail Available To Those Writing To Service Men In Foreign Areas

V-Mail, one of the precious few things Uncle Sam gives you at a postoffice, are now available here, Postmaster Nat Ehick said Saturday.

They will be given to those who have correspondence with men in the service on foreign soil, but none may have more than three of these a day.

When transmitted by complete V-Mail service, a miniature photographic negative of the message will be made and sent by the most expeditious form of transportation available. Hence it is important that the message be written very plainly. Instructions show that all writing is to be done below the double line on one side of a sheet of paper. Above the line is the sender's name and address together with that of the address. Type-writer, dark ink or dark pencil should be used. The V-Mail sheet folds in the middle, just like an ordinary letter, but it is next folded in from the sides. Then a little muscled flap comes over and adheres to the two folded sides to form an envelope.

The photographic twist to sending the mail will conserve tremendous amounts of space. When the letters are delivered to destination, original copies of the letters will be destroyed. When photographic equipment is not available at point of destination, V-Mail will be sent by the most expeditious means, postal authorities said.

FLASH PREVIEW

"The Pied Piper"

Twentieth Century-Fox's drama of invaded France stars Monty Woolley, with Anne Baxter and Roddy McDowall.

When German invasion catches Monty Woolley on a holiday in France, he agrees to escort a friend's children home to England.

Through Anne Baxter, daughter of a French friend, he finds a fisherman (Marcel Dalio) who agrees to sail them to England.

With three other children now added to his flock, he says goodbye to Anne's uncle, J. Carrol Nash, before they attempt to sail.

On their way to the docks they are captured by Germans, whose commanding Major accuses Woolley of being a British spy.

Finally convinced of Woolley's innocence, the Major agrees to let them go if they will put his niece on a boat bound for America.

ON THE SETS With Reed Johnston

The wartime necessity for conserving motion-picture film finds at least one director in Hollywood in that desirable state known as "ready, willing and able." This is Leo McCarey, and he has been saving film all the time. Dissenting sharply from the common practice of filming a scene twenty times or more and then selecting the best "takes" of the lot, Mr. McCarey clings to his own established custom of rehearsing his players to perfection and then photographing the scene in one or two sessions before the camera.

Under these circumstances it was obviously a pleasure for Ginger Rogers and Cary Grant to rehearse a sequence for "Once Upon a Honeymoon," even though Miss Rogers was required in each rehearsal to swing from a glass supposed to contain a Slavic poison called vodka, a concoction of such potency as to reduce strong men to a whisper, particularly after they have just sampled some.

This was a scene in a Warsaw cafe in pre-blitz Poland where Mr. Grant, as an American newspaperman, was trying to get cozy with Miss Rogers, an expatriate American dancer married to a dubious Austrian baron. Trying to get cozy and incidentally to find out something about the activities of her fascist-minded husband.

"Wouldn't you like to have a short—a shifter?" said Grant, his hands assuming the approximate proportions of a glass.

"You mean a drink?" asked Miss Rogers. Then, speaking to the waiter, she added, "What's that man drinking over there?"

"Vodka," said the waiter and, noticing her puzzled expression started to explain when Mr. Grant interrupted.

"That's the Polish word for water."

"Oh, Polish water! Yes, that sounds good," she said. "But I think I'd like just a little something in it—say a finger of brandy."

To the more abandoned readers of these lines it will be unnecessary to explain that adding brandy to vodka, in its ultimate effect, is like walking up to a sassy wildcat and boxing its ears, but I can tell you in advance that our Miss Rogers comes through this ordeal by liquid fire without a single. Indeed the story requires her to get up and walk away from the table as if she had tasted nothing more exhilarating than water, which in actual fact it was.

And there's one other thing I ought to prepare you for in this scene from "Once Upon a Honeymoon." It takes place, as I think I said before, in the bar of a Warsaw hotel, and if you look sharp you will see a small sign on the wall which reads "Jalowocowka." That, of course, is pretty much of a mouthful as words go, but I am proud to report that I can translate it for you if not pronounce it.

Fashion Scene

By Margaret McKay

It's "to the colors" with all of us now, for color has become not only fashion news but psychological news as well. We are more aware of the revitalizing effect of color in our clothes.

Edith Head, chief designer at Paramount Studios, describes the importance of using color as follows: "We are going to learn new uses of color and emphasize color as never before. We have suddenly discovered that color is not only attractive in its own value, but is important to morale. Cheerful colors make cheerful people—and that's what we all must be in our great national emergency."

"Vivid colors—bright reds, greens, electric blue and warm sapphire blue seem to harmonize with new energy that is arising on every side. It took the women of England two months to learn this lesson. When the first German planes roared over London, the women wore dull colors. But two months later they were clad in all the colors of Joseph's coat, gay and charming as ever, braving whatever danger might come. And with their color, their enthusiasm and spirit they did much to build up the great morale of Britain. We must do the same thing."

And so color is everywhere. Even when Hollywood's smartly dressed wear black, color is injected somewhere. For instance, Glenda Farrell's summer wardrobe includes a gown of black lace, but it is worn over a silhouette slip of dusty pink silk jersey. Nancy Kelly's black jacket is lined in sapphire blue, etc.

Then there are new ventures in color in the junior miss' wardrobe. Shirley Temple, for example, no longer wears the traditional school-girl combination of a red sweater with a navy blue skirt. Instead, she wears interesting combinations such as an all-red dress with bottle green accessories. Or a bright red corduroy coat over a yellow linen suit. She also likes to combine cocoa brown and tomato red, and when she wears beige, it's a pinky beige.

Other new color thrillers to spice our wardrobes are flamingo (a yellow and red blend), hibiscus (deep rose), and moonstone (a pearly blue color).

AROUND TOWN: Lana Turner back from her Northwest bond tour to relax in a cool white cotton dress with a petticoat, at the hem, of eyelet embroidery. . . Irene Manning in a pill box hat made entirely of discs of deep red braid, stitched in swirls to about the size of fifty-cent pieces.

BEST DRESSED GIRL OF THE WEEK: Brenda Marshall discovered in a Warner studio fitting-room in one of the new business girl's outfits designed by Milo Anderson. It's the first fall tip on what the tailored girl will be wearing. A pencil slim grey woolen skirt and a fitted jacket of hipstick-red angora wool, with the jacket styled in a cross-over closing, trimmed with buttons from the right of the collarless neckline to the left hip, is completed with one of the new pert white dress-shirt front blouses with bow-tie or self material. Mark down the cross-over jacket and dress shirt blouse with bow-tie as a tailored "must" for fall suits.

In Warner's "The Constant Nymph," Alexis Smith wears a midday dress of navy and charcoal on white, with a knife pleated skirt featuring inset stripes of same color and fabric.

That come-hither look is one of the obvious reasons for the rise to stardom of Universal's lovely Maria Montez.

Reviews of Previews

Film producer Walter Wanger has been responsible for many a good picture. His "Stage Coach" won an Academy Award for Thomas Mitchell. His new picture, "EAGLE SQUADRON," will win acclaim, and at least an Academy in one department—photography, if nothing else, for Stanley Cortez, whose brilliant use of lights and shadows highlights a film which is the most inspiring picture dealing with World War 2 to come out of Hollywood this year.

Diana Barrymore and Robert Stack assume an affectionate pose in a closing scene from Wanger's "Eagle Squadron."

Released by Universal, who produced the epic of the last war, "All Quiet on the Western Front," the picture hits new highs in this portrayal of the activities of American fliers with the British RAF.

Never has the screen had drama in the raw more vividly presented. These are American boys tossing their lives into the maelstrom of the greatest war in history. "these few," to quote Quentin Reynolds' foreword, "to whom so many of us owe so much." There is the theme of this epic. These are the boys "who did not wait to be stabbed in the back," to quote again from Mr. Reynolds' impressive foreword.

There are almost a hundred speaking parts in the film, which without the benefit of top-flight star names still makes screen history. Robert Stack's performance earns him a niche in Hollywood's Hall of Fame.

The picture introduces John Barrymore's daughter Diana to the screen. The girl has definite possibilities but the role is not big enough to enable a reviewer to pass on her capabilities. Outstanding is the work of John Leder, Left Erickson and Eddie Albert, and Nigel Bruce rates an especial mention for an all-too-short scene.

"EAGLE SQUADRON" is written out of the headlines of your paper. It will give you a thrill, a tear, and a very definite lift in a day when who of us cannot revel in a chance to escape for even a moment the trials of a war-ridden world.

Paramount's "ARE HUSBANDS NECESSARY," with Ray Milland, Betty Field and Patricia Morison, is the type of screwball comedy which your reviewer always enjoys. Reminiscent of the stage play, "Dulcy," which catapulted Lynne Fontanne to top stellar honors, the story has all those touches which take you out of a living present into a world where anything can happen—and generally does.

Adapted from Isabel Rorick's stories of "Mr. and Mrs. Cugat," the tale is of a married couple who, like so many of us, live beyond their means; but definitely. Ray Milland and Miss Field play the couple and do a job that rates raves. Miss Morison, always good to look at, does a grand job, while Eugene Pallette displays the kind of performance which is always expected from this very excellent actor.

"ARE HUSBANDS NECESSARY" is film fare when one feels depressed. It will take you out of a dull mood and leave you feeling that after all your personal troubles are small and not worth worrying about.

When one of Hollywood's leading trade papers tagged Monogram's "RUBBER RACKETEERS" eight ply they hit the nail on the head.

Originally titled "Hot Rubber," the picture is the first to come out of filmdom dealing with the tire shortage and the rough, tough boys who are moving in to make a profit out of the troubles of some 30 million Americans who drive motor cars.

Ricardo Cortez, as the brains of the gang, is smooth as silk. Rochelle Hudson steps out of her usual typing, plays his moll, and does a very polished job. Bill Henry as the brawny defense worker, Davey Robinson as Cortez' head man are especially good, and a Chinese actor, Kam Tong, is a standout as the houseboy of Cortez' who enlists and turns over a new leaf.

Meet the Stars

With Vic Bossen

When the people of Goldsboro, North Carolina, learned that the town's own Anne Jeffreys was coming home on the screen, in "I Married An Angel," they hurried to tell Anne's aged grandfather about it. "She's in the same picture with Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald!" they cried.

The old times, who had never seen a movie in all his eighty-six years, showed some interest. "I don't know who them other people are—what's the name, MacDonald and Eddy—but if Anne's with them I'll go." He went three times.

It is this observer's opinion, after spending some time in the company of this southern belle, that a few million other people will become just as devoted to her on the strength of her beauty and talent as grandfather was in the pride of family ties.

Anne is the sort of charmer, with blonde hair and Nordic skin, who would drive the most rabid misogynist to admit that maybe the institution of womanhood should be allowed to stay.

BUT BEAUTY, which got her on as a Powers model, is not the only thing she has to offer this undecorous world, and it is to be hoped that the movies will find that out. Anne sings—not the row-dew-dow nonsense, though in a pinch she can adapt herself to those dubious requirements—but real music. Though only nineteen by the clock, she already has made a mark for herself in that field. She became a member of the New York Municipal Opera Company on a scholarship and sang the leads at Carnegie Hall in such things as "La Boheme," "Traviata," and "Pagliacci."

Showing its usual appreciation of this sort of talent and heaving to the line of logical progression, Hollywood put her in a part that required her to sing "Hoy, hoy, hoy," whatever this side of chop suey that is; but in her next role all this is being changed. She'll be singing "Dig, dig, dig," with the customary uplifting variations. You won't want to miss this inspiring rendition, so the picture is Republic's "The Old Homestead," now in production.

ANNE IS a little wistful about all this, but uncomplaining. After all, whether you do "Traviata" or "Dig, dig, dig," the work pays off in good native coin, and then there are others not nearly so well off—her little niece, for example, whose health is a matter of constant medical concern. Anne was at the point of buying an automobile, since she owns none, and then checked the impulse in favor of medicine for the youngster.

But she still hopes to sing real music some day. There is talk that Jeanette MacDonald is going to retire, and that Anne might step into her worthy slippers. Maybe that would mean singing with Nelson Eddy.

That would be the stuff of which her girlhood dreams were made.

QUIZ BOX

Q. From Bobbie Royall, McKinney, Texas: Is it true that Clark Gable will quit pictures?

A. That is a question that only Mr. Gable can answer, and he isn't talking. However, talk in Hollywood these past few weeks is that he is thinking of joining the Army.

Q. From Frank Salazar, Albuquerque, New Mexico: Is Veronica Lake married, and if so to whom?

A. Miss Lake is married to a non-professional. It is her first marriage and she has one child.

Q. From Ruth Rittenberg, Hollywood, California: Is Rod La Rocque still in pictures? If he is what is the name of his present picture?

A. Rod La Rocque is working in "Desert Song" at Warner Brothers.

Q. From Sheldon Boland, Sacramento, California: What has become of Michael Whalen?

A. Mr. Whalen's last picture, some six months ago, was Monogram's "Sign of the Wolf."

Q. From June Silva, Albuquerque, New Mexico: Will you please give me a brief biography of Carmen Miranda.

A. Her real name is Mario da Cunha, born in Portugal twenty-five years ago. At three her parents emigrated to Brazil, where she was educated. At fifteen, despite her family's protest she got herself a job in radio in Rio de Janeiro. Career really based on phonograph recordings of which she has made over 300. Then went into nightclub work and toured South America. Broadway producer Leo Shubert, on a South American cruise three years ago, saw her and signed her for a role in "The Streets of Paris." Was an immediate hit. Twentieth Century-Fox signed her. First film, "Down Argentine Way" with Don Ameche and Betty Grable.

Is not married. Does not smoke or drink. She's a good cook, and loves to eat. She is five feet two inches tall, a first-rate swimmer. Hobbies: speed boating and fast car driving.

EXCLUSIVELY YOURS: Jane Wyatt, feminine star of "Lost Horizon," who is making a screen comeback in "The Navy Comes Through," made her debut as a producer-director-photographer over the weekend and sold a motion picture to the RKO-Radio studio. The film is 5000 feet of 16 mm. Technicolor scenes of birds which Miss Wyatt has shot over a two year period. The film will be released as a two reel short. . . . Scenarist Frank Grubers, who likes to be different, will upset the western film formula in Harry Sherman's "Peace Marshal." Instead of a bank robbery there will be a bank run.

Hollywood has discovered a new kind of romantic triangle. In a new Fox picture, "Buried Alive," J. Carrol Nash plays the role of an ape who is transformed into a man. The ape is in love with Lynne Roberts, who is in love with John Sheppard. . . . Big Boy Williams replaces Marcia Rosenbloom in "Love and Kisses, Caroline" at Universal. Marcie had a prior picture commitment and besides, she was supposed to slap Diana Barrymore in the film. "Who am I to slap a dame?" said Marcie, "especially a Barrymore" . . . Glenn Ford and Dinah Shore have discovered each other. . . . Thornton Wilder, who has just been commissioned a captain in the army, is writing a play for Fredric March.

Jack Oakie, who dropped 15 pounds during his recent illness, is on a diet to gain weight before starting work in "Springtime in the Rockies." The chubby comic usually has to lose weight before starting a picture. . . . Off-screen sweeties Betty Grable and George Raft may be teamed in "Greenwich Village." But if the deal goes through, Raft will lose Betty in the picture to John Payne. . . . Preston Foster, who bought a motorcycle to save tires, has been grounded by Fox under the "unnecessary risk" clause in his contract.

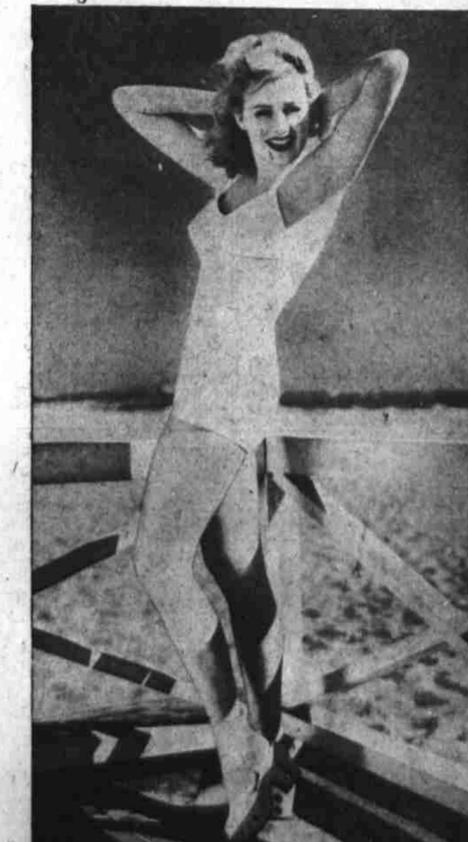

It took San Francisco to discover Bonita Granville could sing. Instead of just taking-bows, she wowed audiences with popular songs during a personal appearance with "Syncopation" at the Golden Gate Theater. . . . Dreams are wonderful things. Even Rommie, a Cairn terrier, gets a line of dialog in the dream sequence of "George Washington Slept Here." Jack Benny, as Washington, finds the dog out in the rain, digging like mad. "Hey, Rommie, what are you looking for?" asks Benny. "Digging for water," answers the dog. . . . Promised and hoped for: Cass Daley singing "He Loved Me Until the All Clear Signal Came" in Paramount's "Star Spangled Rhythm" . . . Frank Penny, manager of the theater in which Bud Abbott and Lou Costello made their last appearance before crashing the big time, is playing the role of a theater manager in their new film.

A John Barrymore story worth reviving occurred a couple of years ago when the Great Profile walked up to a cafe cashier after eating lunch and said, "Charge it to me." "And who are you?" said the cashier. Barrymore sputtered, "Why, who am I?" "I'm Barrymore," he said. The cashier smiled sweetly and asked, "What's your first name?" Barrymore sputtered again, arched his eyebrows and roared: "If you must know—it's Ethel."

A Fox cutie appeared at the studio the other day wearing an engagement ring on the correct finger. "Oh," said a friend, "so you're engaged." "No," replied the glamour girl. "I'm not engaged. My uncle gave me this ring when I was a little girl. I'm wearing it now to keep Vic Mature away."

Here's a story typical of Hollywood. Recently Harold Huber was cast as a double-crossing Jap in a Fox picture, "Manila Calling." In the same film, Anthony Quinn was cast as a heroic South American who kills the Jap. Then the studio suddenly decided to cast Quinn in another picture. And now Huber, who was supposed to play the villainous Jap, will play the heroic South American. . . . Helen Boyce, singer at the Cocoanut Grove, will make her film debut in MGM's "Ox Train."

Not in the Script: "It's very simple for successfully mixing marriage and a career. I never talk about domestic matters when I'm at work and I never talk picture business when I'm at home."—Joan Bennett. . . . Hollywood film studios now have a total of 994 stars on their service flags. . . . Sammy Sneed, the PGA champ, will be starred in a short about golf, with proceeds going to the Navy Relief fund. . . . During a wedding scene between Rita Hayworth and Fred Astaire for their Columbia picture, "The Gay Sororista," an extra girl suddenly burst out weeping. "What's the matter?" she was asked. "Oh," she said, "weddings always make me cry. I've had five of my own, but there's something so sad about going through that ceremony again."

Marjorie Woodworth gives you a sample of that glad smile you'll be seeing soon in the Hal Roach comedy, with popular young Jimmy Rogers, titled "The Prairie Chickens."

Two Baseball 'Dream Games' On Tap This Week To Aid War Funds

Softball Leagues Close First Half Play This Week

A hectic week of play in both the city and church softball leagues did little toward determining winners in the last-minute drives being staged by various teams as the first half of play nears the end.

The first half play will be terminated early next week in the church league when the leading North Side Mission team meets the First Methodist in a tilt that will definitely decide the first half winner, or winners, in that loop. The First Methodists have lost only one game, and should they defeat the Mission the teams would be in a tie for top honors. However, in case the Mission wins they will wind up their first half state unbeaten and a full game in front.

A three-way tie is still possible in the city league. State Hospital and Radford's still have a chance to go into a deadlock with W. O. W., and at present the Hospital is only a half game out of first place. ABC-Lions and Vaughn's remain tied in their battle for fourth place and a privilege of going into the playoffs, and both have a game scheduled for Monday night.

A meeting will be held in the city-WPA office at the close of the first half of play to re-organize for the second half.

The men's doubles championship went to Budge and Riggs who defeated Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., and Bruce Barnes, of Austin, Tex., 6-2, 6-4, 6-2.

Stars Clash In Twilight Tilt Monday

NEW YORK, July 4 (AP)—Before the echoes of the big Fourth of July weekend have subsided baseball will swing into not one but two "dream games" calculated to raise more than a quarter of a million dollars for war purposes and settle the mid-summer supremacy of the major leagues.

Monday at twilight the best players of the National and American leagues will clash in their tenth annual all-star game at the Polo Grounds and the following night the winners will take on an all-star army and navy team under the lights of the mammoth Municipal Stadium in Cleveland.

This double-barrelled blast is expected to raise $100,000 for baseball's equipment fund for service men, a similar amount to be divided between the navy relief society and army emergency relief and sell approximately $80,000 in war savings stamps, purchase of which will be required of every ticket-buyer at the Cleveland game.

In addition the major league magnates will meet Monday in separate league sessions and in a joint conference presided over by Commissioner Keneaw M. Landis to discuss next fall's world series, which is expected to be turned into some medium for the help of the war effort.

The club executives also may be called upon to pass on a proposal by Jack Zeller, general manager of the Detroit Tigers, that the major league teams train at home next spring and shorten this season two months.

Opposition has been expressed toward the suggestion by many clubs. Governor Spessard L. Holland of Florida has sent an envoy, Frank Winchell, manager of the Jacksonville Tourist and Convention bureau, here armed with assurances of the state chamber of commerce and the Florida Hotel Men's Association that there still are adequate facilities for the baseball training program.

The major league show Monday at 8:30 p. m. (OWT) is expected to bring out a crowd of 55,000 fans for what may be the first capacity turnout New York has mustered for an all-star or world series attraction.

Yanks Divide With Sox, Hold 4-Game Lead

BOSTON, July 4 (AP)—The New York Yankees held a four-game American league lead at the traditional Fourth of July halfway mark today after dividing a double header with the second-place Boston Red Sox before a capacity crowd of 32,902.

Winning the opener, 8 to 5, the Yanks assured themselves of the edge in the important three-game series, then dropped the nightcap, 6 to 4, when Boston's thumping Ted Williams let loose with an outburst of late-inning slugging.

Joe DiMaggio's 12th home run was the second game's only score for five innings. Then Williams parked Bernie Bonham's fast ball into the rightfield bull pen with a mate on base.

INDIANS WIN ONE
CLEVELAND, July 4 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians drubbed the Detroit Tigers 10 to 3 on 15 hits off Tommy Bridges and Johnny Gorcea today, but their second game was called at the end of ten innings, with a 3 to 2 score, to permit use of Cleveland stadium for a civic rally, "Festival of Freedom."

SENIOR'S SPLIT
WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—The Washington Senators pounded three Philadelphia pitchers for 18 hits and won the nightcap of a double bill today, 12-3. The A's won the first game, 5-2.

BROWNS TAKE TWO
CHICAGO, July 4 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns swept a long double-header from the Chicago White Sox, 8 to 5 and 8 to 7, the second game going 13 innings.

Softball Tourney Halted By Weather
HOUSTON, July 4 (AP)—weather today held play in the Southwest War Bond Servicemen's softball tournament. Only four games were played Friday night, leaving 14 crack army and navy squads in the running.

The managers of the surviving teams were to meet this afternoon to draw up a schedule for play on Sunday.

War bond pledges, entitling fans to reserved seats for the tournament, amounted to $73,400 today, with additional ones still being obtained.

TULSA 4-5, INDIANS 1-3
OKLAHOMA CITY, July 4 (AP)—Tulsa's Oilers took the first game of a doubleheader from the Oklahoma City Indians today, 4 to 1, then the Indians came back and copped the finale 8-3.

Red Cross Gets Big Boost In Holiday Golf

Hundreds of golf enthusiasts chose to spend their July 4th holiday at their favorite sport over the nation Saturday, and at the same time they were able to benefit the Red Cross war fund in special holiday tournaments arranged for through the U. S. Golfers' association.

In Big Spring the Red Cross tourney was held at the municipal course and extra heavy play in this section was evidenced by a large entry list there.

Manager Harold Akroy announced Saturday evening that one of the largest groups to play the municipal course this season was on hand Saturday. Entrance fees money all goes to the Red Cross war fund, part to the national organization and part to the local.

Ex-Champs In Semifinals At Galveston

Galveston, July 4 (AP)—History had an even chance of repeating tonight after two former Galveston invitation champions sloughed into the semifinals of the seventh annual tournament.

Derald Lehman of Fort Worth, the 1940 king, and Dick Neuts of Houston, who won the meet a year earlier, were among those present when tournament officials decided to postpone the semifinal matches because of the weather. Sunday morning Lehman will meet Jack Sellman, the Houston junior champion, and Neuts will oppose Spis Berg, another Houstonian.

Lehman today took out Leonard Engelbrecht of Houston in 20 holes; Sellman ousted Runt Young of Houston, 4 and 3; Neuts bested F. L. Anderson of Houston, 2 and 2; and Berg outlasted Bob Watson of Houston in a 18-hole match.

INJURIES FATAL
DALHART, July 4 (AP)—Dorothy Hale, 19, of Clayton, N. M., died last night of injuries suffered last Sunday when her automobile overturned near Dalhart following a fire blowout. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hale of Clayton.

Looking 'Em Over

With WACIL M'NAIR

Mr. Leo Durocher has a diamond-studded lineup of National leaguers ready to go against the best aggregation the junior circuit can trot out in the all-star game Monday, but it's difficult to understand why Terry Moore of the Cardinals is not a "must" for his starting outfield.

The starting lineup, of course, depends largely on whether the American leaguers start a righthander or a leftsider on the mound. However, Moore's chief game-winning antics are not usually performed at the plate. The seemingly impossible plays he repeatedly pulls off in the outer garden are his main traits that keep managers in good spirits.

Cardinal fans, and virtually every sports writer who has seen Moore play, will agree that Moore is the most sensational outfielder in the major leagues. Manager Billy Southworth of the Cards claims that Moore would be worth his salary if he never got a hit.

If the guy really has all they claim, he could be placed in center field, flanked on the right and left by most any two pugs who can hit and the outfield situation would be solved. Moore could do the fielding and the other two the hitting. When Moore first started out with the Cards back in 1935 he was one of the weakest hitting outfielders in the league, but it didn't seem to worry anyone but himself. Lately he has been doing better at the plate, but he still doesn't clout the ball like big, strong outfielders are expected to.

Bringing to a close the first half of its 1942 hostilities, the Texas league reports a seven per cent attendance increase, with Beaumont and San Antonio leading with gains of 100 per cent and 50 per cent, respectively. Dick Martin, who recently went to the semifinals in the state amateur, took medalist honors in Abilene's annual country club golf tourney, shooting a two under par 68. Bernie Freeman, vacationing from the tax collector's office, is back in town slightly tanned after playing some golf on San Antonio courses early this week. J. A. Marlow, U. S. N., is working on a leave so that he can be an instructor in the high school coaching school at Abilene, beginning Aug. 2.

Cotton Ed Smith, already given the title of hard luck pitcher of the year, was the only member of the Chicago White Sox to make the American league all-star roster. Smith doesn't have a chance of making a decent won and lost record this year, with some 13 defeats already on the books against him, but his earned run average promises to be one of the best of the year. Jimmy Dykes is sold on the big southpaw and other managers in the league also realize his value. Some thought it strange when he was chosen on the all-star team last year, but he proved his worth by becoming the winning pitcher in the annual classic.

Whirlaway Loses Butler Handicap

NEW YORK, July 4 (AP)—An old jinx and a couple of new hoodlums beat Whirlaway today in one of the year's outstanding racing upsets. Although he gained his usual city block in the stretch, the combination of a milk wagon load on his back and a short, strange stretch worked enough of a bugaboo to make Warren Wright's whizzer wind up second to A. J. Sacchetti's lightly regarded Tola Ross, in the rich Butler Handicap at Empire City, before a record crowd of 94,728.

As was the case the last time Whirlly was beaten, it took a new track record to do it.

"The Ross," packing only 103 pounds compared to the 132 Whirlaway had to lug around, led from start to end to hit the wire in 1:56 2-5, lopping three-fifths of a second off the standard Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's Lively Night set up in winning this same mile and three-sixteenths stake three years ago. And for doing this, he returned his supporters $33.60 for each $3 ticket.

Swing and Sway held on for third place, as Vagrancy faded to fourth. She was trailed to the wire in order by the other half of Mrs. Whirlly's entry, The Rhymar; Harry M. Warner's California hope, Paper Boy, and Tony Pelletier's Bay View, the surprise of last year's Santa Anita handicap.

N. Carolina Netter Wins Frosh Title
MONTCLEAIR, N. J., July 4 (AP)—E. Victor Seitz of North Carolina, the country's second-ranking junior player, outlasted Yale's Irwin Dorfman in a withering five-set match today to win the freshman singles championship in the 20th annual eastern intercollegiate tennis tournament. The scores were 7-5, 6-4, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

All-Star Game To Be War Benefit
ABILENE, July 4 (AP)—The annual high school all-star football game, to be played as the climaxing feature of the Texas high school coaches association coaching school here Aug. 8 will contribute to the war effort. Directors of the association voted today to donate all proceeds above expenses and awards to the players to three war charities.

Missions, Exports Battle To 2-2 Tie
SAN ANTONIO, July 4 (AP)—The San Antonio Missions and the Beaumont Exporters battled through nine innings of play here tonight before weather conditions halted the first game of a doubleheader at a 2-2 tie. Second game was postponed which calls for a non-scheduled twin-bill to be played between the clubs here tomorrow night, starting at 7 o'clock.

Betty Not To Play In N. York Tourney
LAKE PLACID, N. Y., July 4 (AP)—Betty Jamieson, women's western open golf champion whose home is in San Antonio, Texas, won't compete in the New York women's tourney after all.

Earlier in the day the host Lake Placid club proudly announced that Miss Jamieson had become a member and would be eligible for next week's meet.

Later, however, the State Golf association and the star both said she was not a bona fide member and that she would not enter the competition.

Navy Beats Army In Baseball Game
DETROIT, July 4 (AP)—The Navy whipped the Army in baseball today, Lieut. Mickey Cochrane's Great Lakes Naval Training Station nine blanking the Fort Custer reception center, 5 to 0, before 4,888 holiday fans who contributed $10,000 to service athletic funds. Both teams were reinforced by members of Cochrane's all service team that meets the winner of the major league all star game at Cleveland Tuesday.

The game at Cleveland between Mickey Cochrane's service team and the all-star game winner promises to have just as much interest, if not more, than the all-star clash itself this year. Many of the players on Cochrane's squad probably would be playing in the regular all-star game if they were not in the service. Early reports indicate that they will draw a sell-out crowd. And the benefit funds will collect from everyone there, because even the sports writers are laying cash on the line for tickets.

Bringing to a close the first half of its 1942 hostilities, the Texas league reports a seven per cent attendance increase, with Beaumont and San Antonio leading with gains of 100 per cent and 50 per cent, respectively. Dick Martin, who recently went to the semifinals in the state amateur, took medalist honors in Abilene's annual country club golf tourney, shooting a two under par 68. Bernie Freeman, vacationing from the tax collector's office, is back in town slightly tanned after playing some golf on San Antonio courses early this week. J. A. Marlow, U. S. N., is working on a leave so that he can be an instructor in the high school coaching school at Abilene, beginning Aug. 2.

Cooper's Win Streak Broken As Cubs Win

ST. LOUIS, July 4 (AP)—The second place St. Louis Cardinals dropped an expensive first game to the Chicago Cubs today, 6 to 5, but came back to wallop them, 5 to 3, in the second half of a holiday double bill before a crowd of 15,868 cash customers.

The first game setback not only dropped the Cardinals another game behind the unbreakable Brooklyn Dodgers, but snapped the winning streak of Mort Cooper, the hottest pitcher in the National league right now, at nine straight.

Jimmy Wilson's sluggers unworked all the power they possessed and knocked Mort out of the box with a five-run spurt in the fifth inning. A double by Lou Novitckoff with the bases loaded and a home run by Jimmy Fox—his seventh this year—with two on sent Cooper to the showers. It was his fourth defeat against 11 victories.

FAIR FOR GIANTS
NEW YORK, July 4 (AP)—The New York Giants took both ends of a doubleheader from the Boston Braves today, winning the opener, 11-5, in a battle of home runs and pulling out a 3-2 decision in the nightcap as Bill Lehman shaded Lou Tost in a pitching duel.

AND RUMS TOO
PHILADELPHIA, July 4 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers took both ends of today's doubleheader with the Phillies. The league leaders won the first game by the overwhelming score of 14 to 6 behind Kirby Higbe's seven-hit pitching, but had a scare thrown into them before they won the second by 5 to 4.

In the nightcap, the Phils routed Johnny Allen with a three run rally in the sixth and had two men on base when Hugh Casey retired Earl Naylor for the third out.

REDS 2, PIRATES 0
PITTSBURGH, July 4 (AP)—Bucky Walters bested Max Butcher in a hurling duel at the Cincinnati Reds won the opening half of a scheduled doubleheader from the Pittsburgh Pirates today 2 to 0.

The second game was called off because of weather.

SAN ANTONIO, July 4 (AP)—The San Antonio Missions and the Beaumont Exporters battled through nine innings of play here tonight before weather conditions halted the first game of a doubleheader at a 2-2 tie. Second game was postponed which calls for a non-scheduled twin-bill to be played between the clubs here tomorrow night, starting at 7 o'clock.

We Need To Help Hold The 'First Front'

Amid all the speculation about a second front, the peoples of the United Nations will do well to look to the First Front — their own thinking. Public opinion can help to win the war, but not by guessing, not by jumping from extremes or, in relation to the depths of despair, not by emotional agitation to overthrow informed military judgment, not by turning its hostility on friends and allies instead of the enemy. Bad news—such as the reverses in Egypt, Nazi gains at Sevastopol, and Japanese advances in China and the Aleutians—always tests the First Front.

In such times steadiness of thought and consecration of purposes are doubly needed. Men and women who understand the moral and spiritual issues in the war will little time wondering what Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt mean by saying that they are planning the "earliest maximum concentration of Allied war power up on the enemy." They know that the chief architects of United Nations strategy are not giving away any military secrets. They know that so long as the First Front is active and united, the necessary military measures will be wisely designed, properly timed and vigorously carried through.

Nor will men and women who want to maintain their own liberties and help other peoples win freedom and justice play the enemy's game by squabbling among themselves.

Recently a group of psychologists made a cross-section survey of opinion as expressed in editorials and letters in average newspapers. They found that half of the material dealing with the war was directed against the enemy, but the rest of it was aimed at some ally or some economic or political group within America.

In other words half the hostility and energy in this opinion was turned toward Britain, Russia, Congress, Jews, labor unions, religious officials, corporations, Republicans, Democrats, liberals, conservatives, etc. Often these divisions were directly encouraged by the Axis propaganda. Anyone listening to the shortwave from Berlin or Rome can quickly see how too many Americans are parroting enemy propaganda against other Americans or their Allies. Freedom of speech must be retained. And the people will inevitably form opinions about the conduct of the war, either political or military. Public opinion can, by a positive, prayerful attitude greatly improve the conduct of the war. But the more devoted the purpose, the less idle speculation and irresponsible criticism there will be. Does anyone imagine that the embattled men and women of Sevastopol are guessing about a second front or denouncing the British failure at Tobruk or the American failure in the Aleutians? We cannot all fight as they are. But all of us can help hold the First Front of steady purpose and consecrated thought.

Elmer Davis Assignment Should Be Applauded

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON—In spite of all that has been written or said, I doubt if the reading public, as a whole, is much excited over the appointment of Elmer Davis as chief of the Office of Information.

If it isn't, it's one of those mistakes which democracies sometimes make. There hasn't been a man come to Washington since the war effort started who has had such whole-hearted support—in advance—as Elmer Davis. If he flinches in his broad task to give the public all the news, clearly interpreted, which will not seriously damage us by providing information to the enemy, it will be because there is something incurably wrong with our information system—and not necessarily with Mr. Davis.

The press relations battle in our government is a four-cornered fight. The people, who after all are entitled to the first say, have as their No. 1 complaint that they are not being reliably informed; that much information is conflicting; and that too much of it is delayed.

There is a second group, centered in congress but not exclusively there, which contends that the present set-up is costly, inept, and concerned principally with grinding its own agency axes.

A third faction in the battle royal feels that the public should be fed only propaganda—should be told only what is good for it in the light of our war effort and that all press relations agencies should be coordinated with this in mind.

The fourth battalion is composed of certain "ins" and their supporters and some of these, sadly enough, would be willing to sabotage any change to prove their present set-ups are the most effective.

Davis enters the arena a top-flight favorite with all but the last group and those who think the news should be buttered on both sides before it's handed over for public consumption. Davis, in his journalistic endeavors both in print and on the radio, has proved that he belongs to the tougher school

Man About Manhattan—

Steeplechase Operator Braves Risks Himself

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—You can say this for Jimmy Onorato—he always takes the first risk himself. Jimmy is the manager of that Gulliver's travel of spinning wheels, shoot-the-chutes, flying comets, and runaway gadgets known more familiarly to New Yorkers as Steeplechase Park at Coney Island.

He's been there for 14 years, and every year, when the old park gets underway, he patiently goes over every foot of the business, taking the rides, and occasionally the falls, in order to ascertain that everything is going to be all right, and that no unsuspecting tourist is going to come tumbling off a defective ferris wheel on his noggin.

But that isn't all. The men who operate these dare-devil thrills are a matter of concern to Jim. He hires them personally—some 250 operators. If he can find, say, three brothers from the same family, he gives them all jobs. He has entire families working for him—fathers, sisters, aunts. . . . "It makes for competitive spirit," he explains, "and then, too, they take a family pride in the business. They all feel they have a personal stake in the success of the job."

Something of a mechanic, Jim, as boss, not only knows how to give orders. He can peel off his sports jacket, roll up his sleeves, and dismantle a reluctant rolly-coaster any day. More important, he can put it back together again and not have any of the spare parts left over.

It seems strange, when you consider all this, that he has a shy yet determined interest in painting. This yen runs more to water colors than anything else. Guests, intent on a happy holiday, frequently pass a man with an easel sketching the business end of a shoot-the-chute, with shirt-sleeve crowd forming a background. They consider him no doubt an artist picking up a little local color on a sunny day.

In the matter of advice, Jim pays a great deal of attention to his eight-year-old son Michael. Mike is an expert on kid-reaction to thrill rides. When the rides are set up and Jim has tried them he gives Mike a whack at it. If Mike likes it, Jim knows he's in. . . . The kids will get the kind of thrill they are after. If Mike doesn't like, Jim alters things until Mike gives him the okay.

"I keep in trim by walking in the sand," Jim points out, "it is the equivalent of walking five hours on a hard road. The sand pulls you down, and makes you develop those leg muscles."

What does Mrs. Onorato think? She's very proud of Jim—only, she says, she does wish he wouldn't go back to the kitchen every night and eat the children's cereal before he goes to bed.

MRS. MURDOCK TAKES A CASE

Chapter 18
Two New Allies
Joyce Murdock heard the story through, allowing Della to tell it in her own way without interruption. Upon opening the door and seeing the white, tortured look on the girl's face she had known something was wrong; now, she sat down and put an arm about Della's shoulder.

"Of all the rotten luck," she said. "But I think you were marvelous for not telling him you had the envelope."

"Oh, I couldn't, Joyce. Not then, I was so afraid and—what can we do?"

"We'll think of something."

"I've got to give him the envelope. It isn't fair if the police should find out Ward actually was there—"

"Della," Joyce said, interrupting. "Don't you think maybe we should tell Kent and see what he says?"

Della considered this, brushing her hair back from her forehead. "No," she said. "I'd still rather not."

"Kent would never let you down."

Even as she spoke Joyce realized that Della's mind was made up and that to argue now would do no good. She sighed and leaned back.

"All right, dear," she said, and then an idea crept into the cloudy recesses of her mind. "If you'd rather not tell Kent, all right. But we need help, and I think I know someone."

"Who?"

"His name is Fenner. He's a private detective."

"Oh, no," Della's eyes got round and started. "Not a detective."

"Yes, a detective," Joyce said. "He's worked with Kent before. I know him well enough to go to him and I know he can be trusted implicitly. We needn't tell him anything, and you needn't worry about his going to the police."

She got up. "I'm going to phone him. You needn't actually agree until you've seen him and talked with him."

by George Harmon Coxe

more than twenty-one or two, and when he had been told what Joyce wanted him to do he looked decidedly uncomfortable.

"I don't know," he said. "What's the boss going to say?"

"Kent?" Joyce said. "He's not going to find out, is he, Eddy?"

"You'd be surprised the things he finds out."

"This is between us, though."

"Yeah, but I work for him."

"And I know how loyal you are," Joyce said. "But this is something personal. Kent isn't going to know anything about it and if he should find out I'll tell him I forced you to do it, and you hadn't any choice."

Lacey grinned. "And that's no lie."

Joyce handed him the two clippings and the copies of the marriage and divorce certificates. "Did you bring the right sort of attachment so we'll be able to read these after you photograph them?"

Lacey said he had. "But that photostat won't come up too clear," he added. "The prints will have to be blown up quite a bit."

"That's all right. When you've made your exposures, you can develop and enlarge them right here in Kent's darkroom."

"Oh—oh," said Lacey.

"Now what?"

"Guys don't like other guys fooling around with their darkrooms." Trouble sobered him until, catching sight of the look on Joyce's face, he shrugged and grinned. "Okay, I might as well give it the works."

For the next half hour Joyce and Della stood by while Eddy Lacey unpacked his plate-cass, set up his camera and lights and thumb-tacked the first clipping to a board-board Joyce had purloined from the kitchen. Except for an occasional muttering sound, Lacey worked silently, and as soon as he had finished with his camera, he took his plates to the darkroom down the hall.

Joyce telephoned Jack Fenner while Lacey was in the darkroom and after a brief and guarded explanation secured his consent to listen to the rest of her story.

"He'll be busy until nine-thirty," Joyce told Della, "and I said we could meet him at the Copley."

"If only we didn't have to tell him," Della said. "If only—"

"I know. But it's not going to be as bad as you think, darling. And you'll like Jack. He's amusing in a hard-boiled sort of way, and goes home."

Soon Eddy had four, eleven by fourteen, glossy white prints going through the washer and when Joyce saw them she knew they would do.

"I used the biggest paper I could find," Lacey said. "I don't know if they're good enough."

"Oh, they are, Eddy. And you're a darling."

"I could easily be a chump, too," said Lacey.

Joyce brought out an oversized blotting book from a cabinet and put it on the table.

"They ought to be ferretyped," Lacey said.

"I know," Joyce said. "But this will do. It will get them out of the way and"—she saw that the negatives were dry—"I'll take care of the negatives."

Hollywood— In Glamour Town You Find Plain 'Miss Smith'

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—There is Stage 11, and right near the door is a dressing room with a nameplate on the entrance. It reads: "Miss Smith."

There is something so down-to-earth about it that it's startling. In the homeland of Daisy Delicious and Dora Delight,—of Lamarr and Lamour and Landis and Loy, to get down to cases,—there is but one "Miss Smith."

Her first name, as more and more people are knowing, is Alexis. She is leading lady to Errol Flynn, the gentleman who spurned her affections in "Dive Bomber" and thus gave her a boost to the spot where he must win them in "Gentlemen Jim."

There are several "Mr. Smiths" in pictures—notably C. Aubrey—but Alexis is the first Miss Smith to keep the name for a movie career, just as young Marcia Mae is the only feminine Jones to stay Jones for featured parts.

Miss Smith is determined about it. If Smith was good enough for Captain John, for Joseph who founded the Mormon church, for the brothers whose names and bearded faces sold the cough drops, then it's good enough for the movies—and certainly for Alexis.

There could have been a first "Miss Smith" in pictures many years ago, but Mary Gladys let her name be changed to Mary Pickford.

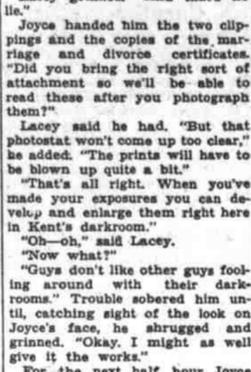

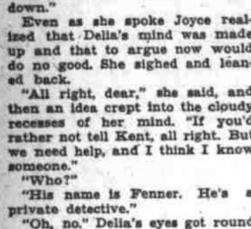

George Montgomery, who has lost his honey Hedy Lamarr, has been making valiant efforts to ward another kind of honey. He saw a swarm of bees on his neighbor's lawn, and got permission to welcome them over the fence.

He went down and bought equipment—hives, combs, nets,—and rushed home to scoop the visitors into their new quarters. He did it nonchalantly, with his bare hands, having a farmer boy's idea that bees don't bother you if you don't bother them. He didn't get stung, and he did.

The bees didn't like the new house, or the service. The queen escaped, and the swarm followed. George has taken his equipment back, and is still using his sugar ration card.

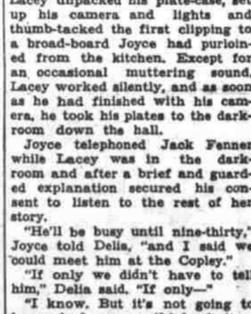

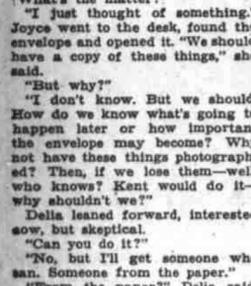

Jennifer Holt, Jack's daughter and Tim's sister, is to be graduated from the westerns and serials—because of strikingly different beauty and the U's idea that she can act. . . . Columbia believes its "Talk of the Town" will be just that. . . . One man's hope: that Dorothy Comingore will find a role and get back to work. Her Mrs. Citizen Kane was too fine a piece of work to get no better follow-up than idleness. The way things go, she'll be spending her whole career on suspension. . . .

COLORADO CITY, July 3 — A Colorado City mother tasted war this week when she watched a troop train go through. Mrs. John Colson, mother of Marine John Harold Colson, received a long distance telephone call. "Hey, Mom! My captain let me off and phone you. We're coming right through Colorado City."

The troop train did come through — at sixty miles an hour. Mrs. Colson, and other members of the family, stood at the station here. "I spotted him," she said half-way between tears and laughter. "He looked brown and well as he went by like a flash."

before. Placement of 202 farm workers, however, looked doubly good.

That rain would make the agricultural situation vastly better. Farms could use one right well and ranchers are needing it badly. Ranges are parching and not only losing their grazing values but are becoming tinder boxes for prairie fires. You can help by being careful with your matches and cigarettes when out in the open or riding along highways.

Howard county missed its June war bond quota of $91,500 by about $20,000 and since the July quota has zoomed to $138,000 prospects of hitting that aren't so good either. That means that every man woman and child in the county will have to put up around $6.50 during the month to make it. The man making $100 a month, if head of a family of four, would have to put up a fourth of his income. Obviously he can't do it. Hence folks with some reserve capital are going to have to come to the rescue.

Navy Announces More Ships Sunk

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP) — The navy announced tonight the torpedoing and sinking of a medium-sized United States merchantman and a small Panamanian vessel.

The United States ship was sunk off the northern coast of South America and survivors were landed at an east coast port.

The Panamanian vessel was torpedoed in the Gulf of Mexico and survivors were landed at a gulf port.

Death Claims Mrs. Clarke

Friends paid respects to the memory of Mrs. Margaret Ann Smith Clarke, long time resident of Big Spring, in simple services at the Valley chapel Saturday evening before the body was sent to Tyler for funeral services and burial today.

Mrs. Clarke succumbed following a critical illness at a local hospital Friday evening.

Her more intimate friends knew her affectionately as "Maggie Clarke," an indefatigable worker in the St. Mary's Episcopal church and the Order of the Eastern Star. Despite her age, which she preferred never to tell, she was far more active than others many years her junior.

Mrs. Clarke came to Big Spring with her late husband 24 years ago. For years he was a boiler-maker for the T. & P. and before his death 19 years ago, was inspector for the city. Since his death she had lived at the family home at 604 Runnels.

Only survivors are two nieces, Mrs. Alfred Gilphant and Mrs. J. W. McLaughlin, both of Austin.

Last rites will be in the Tyler Episcopal church at 3 p. m. today and burial beside the grave of her husband, to whom she was married 50 years ago.

Pallbearers include W. E. Hornberger, L. E. Coleman, H. W. Lesper, F. M. Purser, S. H. Morrison, M. H. Morrison, John Wolcott, Shine Phillips and Robert Piner; and George Phillips and Neal De-weese, both of Tyler.

ly on the goodness of our cause." Capt. Nevil traced the many liberties, sketched the sacrifices with which they were purchased and suggested the part all must play in preserving them.

"We do not know when this will end," he cried, "but we do know it will take everything we have got."

The Rev. Dick O'Brien, who was master of ceremonies, declared that "we are going to have to be world citizens when this is over or this war will have been in vain."

Mayor Grover Dunham, presiding, said that he thought our "Independence day" should be our greatest holiday.

Collins introduced Wiley by saying that "we just couldn't let this July 4th go by without trying to do something for our country."

Clarinda Mary Sanders, Kathleen Underwood and Wanda McQuinn, as a trio; Wanda Lou Petty, little vocalist; Lucille Cathay, vocalist, and Arnold Marshall, basso, all contributed their part to the program with patriotic numbers. Mrs. Anne Gibson Houser and Helen Duley were at the pianos as accompanists. The high school band, under direction of Dan Conley, opened the program in the city park amphitheatre.

The stamp selling campaign was cut short as time wore on and the fireworks display had to be touched off. Tremendous explosions thundered over the area and rolled like empty drums across the hills to the east. Color splashed across the sky, specialty pieces blossomed into burning spectacles. And grown ups and children alike loved it.

Traffic moved out slowly, the bulk of it somehow through the park, but the park area was about cleared by midnight.

It had been, according to the sponsoring chamber of commerce leadership, a "grand and glorious Fourth."

Parents And Sister In China, He Wants A Chance At Japs

GOODFELLOW FIELD, SAN ANGELO, July 4 (AP)—Byran P. Glass, cadet at the Army Air Force Basic Flying school here, has a personal as well as a patriotic reason for wanting to put an ebb in the tide of Japanese conquests.

For caught up in that tide were his missionary parents and a sister—all now interned on the Shantung peninsula, where Bryan lived for 15 years. Another sister and her husband are in Free China.

In 1936, young Glass came home to enter Baylor university and ensuing years found much of China made over to fit the plans of the Nipponese.

Bryan says, "I hope I'm not sent to Ireland"; for his eyes are set on China.

Nazi Flier Back In Prison Camp

TORONTO, July 4 (AP) — Hans Peter Krug, lieutenant in the German air force who testified in Detroit at the trial of Max Stephan, Detroit restaurateur who was convicted of treason, was back in a prison camp somewhere in Ontario today.

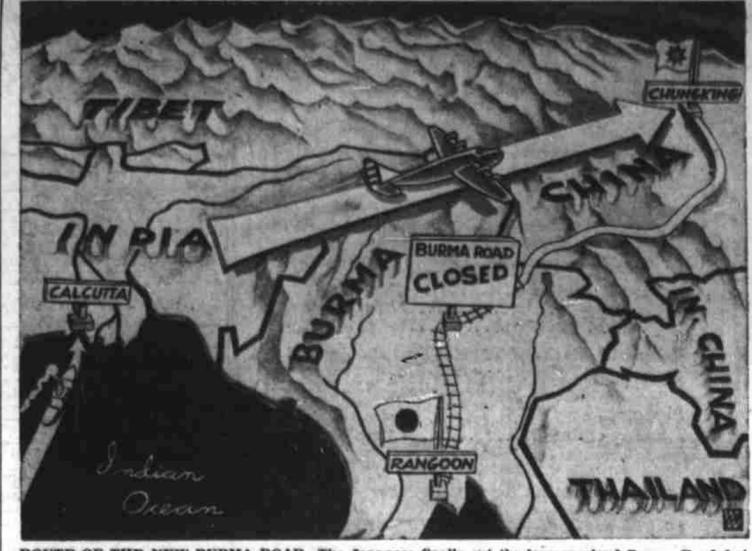

The Nazi airman, wearing his German uniform, was taken from Detroit to the prison camp by a military guard.

LONG-DISTANCE WEDDING

CLINTON, Okla., July 4 (AP) — Vows exchanged over a 500-mile telephone hookup united in marriage today Miss Lela Dougherty and Ensign Harold E. Fry, now on duty in Honolulu. The Rev. Cleon Forbs performed the long-distance ceremony.

BAND REHEARSAL

Don Conley, director of the high school band, said that a special rehearsal had been called for Monday at 8:30 p. m. in order to prepare for a concert to be given at a recreational program of the Big Spring State Hospital on Thursday evening, regular night for practice.

ROUTE OF THE NEW BURMA ROAD—The Japanese finally cut the long overland Burma Road, but they haven't stopped the flow of supplies to China. American pilots are flying this hazardous route from India to Chungking in transport planes loaded with ammunition, guns and supplies for the fighting Chinese.

The 'Burma Road' To China Is Now Negotiated By Air

By PRESTON GROVER

NEW DELHI — An American pilot who flew planes five years for Northwest Airlines says that nothing he encountered over the Dakotas or Rockies compares with the hazards of flying supplies to China.

He is Lieutenant Joseph A. McKeown of Route 1, Minneapolis, Minn. This slender, black-haired pilot of 13 years of flying experience was one of the American Airlines pilots who was chosen to help supply through to China in spite of loss of the Burma Road.

It's A Thrill

"Once you get your plane over the mountains, through storms and past Japanese airbases it's a thrill to land your supplies in China, where they are so badly needed," he said. "You know you have done something definite and helpful in the war. It's a great feeling."

Again they had to fly blind through heavy mist, but that didn't bother them.

"That meant we weren't likely to meet any Japanese planes," said McKeown, "and that's the important thing with cargo planes."

McKeown has a wife and five-year-old son Anthony in Minneapolis.

Dies Would Put A Stop To Solicitation Of Candidates

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP) — Representative Dies (D-Tex) said today he had prepared a bill to make it a penitentiary offense for federal office holders to solicit persons to become candidates in congressional races.

The Texan, who heads the special house committee on investigation of un-American activities, charged at the same time that "federal bureaucrats" had asked "several people" in his district "to make the race for congress against me."

He accused the "bureaucrats" of promising "financial and political support to prospective opponents, and declared in a statement that "if congress will stand by me, I will put a stop to these Hitler methods."

"In my bill," Dies said, "I shall make it a penitentiary offense for any government agency to furnish any candidate or anyone in behalf of any candidate names and addresses of federal employees."

"It has become a practice for some government officials to favor the policy of influencing votes by putting the pressure upon federal employees."

"My bill will also make ineligible for reappointment to a federal job anyone who resigned the federal job to run for representative or senator for a period of two years."

Dies said the "spending of vast sums of money to buy elections and the pressure applied to federal employees to support some favored candidate" were a serious threat to the public.

Dies charged that many candidates evaded the existing law governing reports of their expenditures by having friends "collect money from special interests and spend the money in their behalf."

He added that in recent years "fortunes have been spent in Texas in behalf of candidates."

Registers Husband, Brother, Father For The Draft

JASPER, Tex., July 4 (AP) — Mrs. Earl Marshall of Jasper has served as selective service registrar for her father, husband and brother.

Her husband was registered in the first registration, October 18, 1940; her father, A. I. Aden, April 27, 1942, and her brother, Alfred Aden, Jr., who is 18, June 30, 1942.

More 'Liberty' Ships Launched

BALTIMORE, July 4 (AP) — Three more "Liberty" ships slid into the water today to set a new production record for the Atlantic coast while a member of the U. S. Maritime Commission said that "we are barely holding our own in the battle of the Atlantic."

All three cargo vessels were launched by the Bathiehem-Fairfield Shipbuilding corporation, whose yards were crowded by thousands of persons permitted to witness such an event for the first time since war was declared.

The Independence Day crowd witnessed only the third of the launchings, which occurred at half-hour intervals.

Thomas M. Woodward, member of the U. S. Maritime Commission who delivered the principal address, said that although the race to offset torpedoings is close, "we are confident that the tide will turn in our favor."

Registers Husband, Brother, Father For The Draft

JASPER, Tex., July 4 (AP) — Mrs. Earl Marshall of Jasper has served as selective service registrar for her father, husband and brother.

Her husband was registered in the first registration, October 18, 1940; her father, A. I. Aden, April 27, 1942, and her brother, Alfred Aden, Jr., who is 18, June 30, 1942.

Here 'n There

E. B. Bethell is carrying his air raid warden and auxiliary fireman appeals into the churches today. In the morning service he will speak at the Church of Christ on W. 4th street, and in the evening he goes to the West 4th church of God. At the same time, he announced that Tuesday at 8:30 p. m. Herman Williams, who has just completed a thorough course in the subject, will direct a two and a half hour program on chemical warfare, dealing with precautions against gas and incendiary bombs.

One lad started July 4th out in a bad way. He had fallen asleep in the Queen theatre and did not awaken until after midnight. His noise-making attracted officers. A Mexican probably nursed a big head for the Fourth. He was peered over the head with a bottle in a Friday evening dispute at a cafe on the north side, said police.

A fizzing rocket, one of several pieces fired at 11 p. m. from the brow of Scenic Mountain, set grass and underbrush afire and necessitated a run by the fire department Friday. Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze, eating down the north slope opposite the pavilion. Later they had a call to 600 Abrams—but there was no fire anywhere to be seen.

Soldiers' Mothers Honored At Tyler

TYLER, July 4 (AP)—Four Tyler mothers, three of them having five sons each in the armed services and one having four sons and a brother in uniform, received Golden Eagle service pins of the Emblem of Honor Society here today at an Independence Day ceremony honoring Smith county fighting men and their families.

Lieut. Col. Homer E. Carrico, commanding officer at the East Texas army recruiting and induction center here, presented the pins to Mrs. Melvin Wilcox, Mrs. R. T. Palmer, Mrs. George Owen and Mrs. Helen Kroesen. Mrs. Kroesen has four sons and a brother in the service.

Two other eligible Smith county women, whose pins have not yet arrived, were introduced by Colonel Carrico. They were Mrs. W. E. Massey, who has four sons in the service, and Mrs. W. R. Shore, who has four sons in uniform and a fifth leaving within a few days or the army.

Flying Tigers Down Japs To The Last

CHUNGKING, July 4 (AP) — An important portion of the American Volunteer Group, the Flying Tigers, spent yesterday and today in fierce air battles with the Japanese, downing at least five enemy planes in a parting fling as a separate fighting force, according to incomplete reports. The fighting centered on Hengyang, communications center of Hunan province.

Other Flying Tigers were entertained at a party in the Chinese provisional capital, games included musical chairs in which Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek participated.

The AVG was formally replaced today by the United States army air forces in China.
