Border Banter

By Mike Pomper

Well, two out of three isn't bad

Welcome to 1996! I hope you enjoyed the plethora of football games offered on the tube over the holidays.

No. 1, I really enjoyed watching Texas Tech whomp on the Air Force. The Red Raider offense was in full sync.

I predict right now that Tech will be a force to be reckoned with in the Big 12 next year. Watch for them to upset at least one of the Top Dogs.

I must honestly add, though, that Air Force may be comprised of some excellent future airmen, but their tackling techniques leave something to be desired.

And it was also great to see the Aggies of Texas A&M let Michigan know that a Southwestern team can put it to 'em.

The Aggies' "Wrecking Crew" defense played up to its name. They were outstanding in containing Michigan's All-American running back. I'd mention his name but I doubt I can spell it correctly.

I was very impressed by the three freshman running backs that A&M used in place of the injured Leeland McElroy.

A&M is going to put a lot of points on the scoreboard next year. Their new QB couldn't play this year because he transferred from Tennessee (where he would have had to play second fiddle behind Peyton Manning). But he's special, too.

I was happy for A&M QB Corey Pullig who had an up-and-down year. He came in for a lot of heat the past two years because he's not a super QB. But he played his heart out against Michigan and was super against the Wolverines.

Unfortunately, the University of Texas couldn't make it a trifecta for the Lone Star state when they were downed by Virginia Tech.

Tech played a very physical, tough game and deserved the victory.

UT just got shut down on offense, and their defensive backs got beat a couple of times on offense.

Brant Baugh has resigned as Parmer County extension service entomologist to take a similar post in Lubbock.

He already has started at his new job.

Kimberly Helton, daughter of Hal and Gloria Helton, won a first place in the Leal's Restaurant holiday coloring contest -- and took home $50!

On a more serious note:

I will miss Bill Roberts, a good friend and a top-notch worker.

He always had the coffee pot on for his friends. I wasn't part of the "group" -- Martin, Big'un, Delbert, Jerry, etc., but it was a great place to throw around the bull and hear Bill give his views on the topics of the day.

He was a great help to my family when it came to vehicle problems. He went the whole nine yards to help you out.

Bill will be missed.

Parmer County candidates file for '96 elections

It's going to be an interesting political year in Parmer County in 1996 with four races lined up.

Jan. 2 was the deadline for filing for political office. There's going to be one race in the Democrat primary, and three races in the November general election.

A month ago, all the county incumbents announced for reelection, and they all filed. Only one has an opponent in the primary -- for the Pct. 3 (Farwell area) county commissioner post. Here's a look at the filings:

Democrat

Parmer County sheriff -- Incumbent Rex Williams, who will be unopposed in the general election.

Parmer County Tax Assessor/Collector -- Incumbent Doris Herington, who will have a GOP opponent in the fall.

Parmer County Attorney -- Incumbent Charles Aycock will be unopposed in the general election.

287th District (Bailey and Parmer counties) Attorney -- Incumbent Johnny Actkinson will be unopposed in the general election.

County Commissioner, Farwell area -- Incumbent Robert

1995 was a pivotal year for Leah Foley and her family

by Teresa Mesman

At various times throughout 1995 the Tribune has carried updates on the condition of Leah Foley.

Leah, 11, has been fighting a battle against cancer for the last several years. 1995 was a pivotal and critical year for her and the entire Foley family, because Leah went through a bone marrow transplant in the early fall that could make the difference for her entire future.

Going into 1996, Leah's future looks extremely bright. She went through a regular series of liver and lung scans and the tests all came back clear and her blood counts are good. She is also fully recovered from the bone marrow transplant itself.

Leah is thankful to be out of the hospital and isn't looking back on what she has gone through in the past. She is a typical 11 year old girl with a head now full of wavy brown hair. She dreams of one day becoming a teacher, much like Mrs. Robin Gregory, who has inspired her so much and cared for her above and beyond the call of duty. The fact that Leah dreams and thinks about things in the "long term" is, in itself, encouraging to her family.

And throughout the year, in the stories and updates that I have written, there has been one aspect of the journey that she has taken that I have failed to mention...the journey that her family has taken as well.

It would be a blessing if no other parents in the world would have to stand by patiently to care, treat and watch their child go through the trauma of a critical illness. Terry and Cindy Foley know the angst, the highs and lows of going through this. Sometimes the pressure of it all causes problems of its own in the family; other times, it draws a family closer together.

Leah's brother's and sister sometimes get left out of the positive times of the journey, while during the difficult times, they must go through them with their sister. Life has been pretty topsy turvy for them at times, but their mother, Cindy has tried her best to maintain a sense of normalcy in their lives. Currently, her sons Joshua and Jeremiah are involved in basketball and are among the leading players for the Farwell teams. Mary Sarah was just accepted to the Gifted and Talented program in school and is excited to begin the projects that this program participates in.

Cindy is extremely proud of her children and tries her best to always be at their games and school functions. Leah is also a great advocate of her siblings. She loves to go places and do things with them. In fact, one of her all-time favorite things to do as a family is to go to Stateline Drug in Farwell and order a Vanilla Cream Dr Pepper or a milkshake with her brothers and sister!

As the new year approaches, the Foley's are seeking a way to let the community and their friends know how appreciative and grateful that they are for everything that has been done for Leah and their family.

The Foley's are extremely grateful to Richard Boothby, superintendent of the Farwell Schools and the entire school system for the support and reaching out that they have done to help Leah and her family. They also appreciate Mrs. Gregory, the 9th Street Church of Christ and all the friends that they have made in this community.

Cindy's mother, Kathryn Day, has been a God-send to the family as well, keeping vigil in the hospital with Leah many times, so that Cindy and Terry could be home with the rest of the family and in helping with the errands, chores and the rest of the day to day things that must take place.

With all hopes, prayer and God at their side, the Foley family will have a great year and continued life together. Their journey together is not completely over, but with all the love and support that they have received, the road has been made a little smoother to walk on. And for this, they are eternally grateful.

In the first game, Farwell nipped Friona, a Class 3A team, 63-61 on a 2-point shot at the buzzer by Anderson.

Scoring were Littlejohn, 12; Hardage, 15; Lunsford, 14; Ketcherside and Franse, 1 each; Anderson, 11; Williams and Taylor, 2 each; Nichols, 5.

Scoring for the Lady Longhorns were Shana Foster, 14; Mandy Magby, 18; Roxanne Warren, 19; Kia Morris and Holly Engelking, 3 each; Heather Engelking, 2.

The Lady Blue lost both their games at the Sudan Tournament.

Muleshoe won, 57-41.

Scoring for Farwell were Lyndi Austin and JoAnn Stout, 2 each; Kasey McIntosh, 3; Candace Travis, 19; Brea Travis, 7; Valerie Mace, 8.

Then Farwell lost to Whiteface, 74-64.

Scoring were Austin, 14; Brea Travis, 8; JoAnn Stout, 4; Candace Travis, 16; Valerie Mace, 12; Veronica Mace, 10.

JV Girls

Farwell topped Lazbuddie, 25-10.

Scoring for Lazbuddie were Maria DeLeon and Shena Seaton, 1 each; Janis Hernandez, 6, and JoAnn Rodriguez, 2.

Scoring for Farwell were Rocio Sarinana, 9; Jessica Crist, 4, and Kaci McIntosh, 12.

JV Boys

Farwell stopped Lazbuddie, 48-45.

Scoring for Lazbuddie were Josh Morris, 4; Dustin Weir, 14; Cade Morris, 10; Brice Redwine, 5; Don Burch, 12.

Scoring for Farwell were Adrian Gonzales and David Everett, 4 each; Jason Miller, 18; Brett Curtis, 9; Jo Garcia, 2, and Mark Lunsford, 11.

Longhorns 2nd in tournament

The Lazbuddie Longhorns finished second in the Sundown Basketball Tournament last weekend.

Named to the All-Tournament team were Longhorns' Jason Thomas and Justin St. Clair.

Lazbuddie is now 12-3 on the season.

In the title game, Lazbuddie fell to Klondike, 66-61. The Longhorns were ahead after three quarters, 45-31 before Klondike mounted its comeback.

Top scorers were St. Clair, 20; Thomas, 18; and Chris Smith, 13.

In the first game of the tourney, Lazbuddie defeated Ropes, 79-58. Top scorers were Thomas, 26; St. Clair and Guy Nickels, 12 each; and Smith and Josh Warren, 11 each.

On Friday, Lazbuddie first beat Seagraves, 59-53. The Longhorns fell behind 17-4 after the first quarter before moving into gear. Leading scorers were Thomas, 19; Nickels, 11; and Smith, 10.

Then in the championship finals, Lazbuddie turned back Tahoka, 65-51. This time, Lazbuddie rushed out to an 18-6 lead after the first quarter, then kept even the rest of the game for the victory. Top scorers were Smith and Thomas, 20 apiece; and St. Clair, 14.

Lady Longhorns

The Lady Longhorns lost the Sundown Tournament's consolation final to Lorenzo, 64-54. The girls were behind after three quarters by 18 points before mounting a comeback that fell short. Top scorers were Shana Foster, 18; Roxanne Warren, 15, and Mandy Magby, 11.

Tuesday is the day to sign up if you run for office in Texico

If you are interested in running for office in Texico, please note that Tuesday, Jan. 9, is the only day you can sign up.

The election will be March 5. Four posts will be on the ballot -- the city judge, held by Carol Snider; and three council posts, held by Rick Queener, Ronnie Warmuth and Ricky Qualls.

Qualls has announced he won't seek the post because he is prohibited from doing so by rules of the Clovis Fire Department, of which he is a member.

To sign up for election:

Residents will need a certified copy of their current voter registration, which they can get at the county clerk's office.

An address must be shown on the voter registration -- not a post box number.

A voter identification card which has been stamped by the county clerk's office will be accepted.

If an individual fails to submit the required documents in the form and with the contents required, the clerk shall not certify the person as a candidate.

If a person doesn't file properly as a candidate, they can still file as a write-in candidate.

Conservation District names Parmer, Bailey committeemen

Under a new amendment to the Texas Election Code, the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 Board of Directors has declared that unopposed candidates in the Jan. 20 elections are elected to their offices and that the election will be held only in Deaf Smith County Commissioners Pct. 4 where there is a contested race.

L.J. Clark and Chris Urbanczyk are the candidates for the Deaf Smith election.

Thus, the following unopposed candidates are now considered elected to their respective offices:

Precinct No. 3

Dale Gober, of Bovina, was elected to a 4-year term as Pct. 3 District Director, representing Parmer and Bailey counties and the portion of Castro County within the district. He succeeds A.W. "Web" Gober, who is retiring after 23 years of service as a board member.

The Bailey County Committee members are James Wedel, Lloyd Throckmorton, Curtis Hunt, Cliff Heinrich and Jerry Nichols.

The Parmer County Committee members are Alan Monroe, Tommy Williams, Todd Christian and Ellen Gallman. Since there was no candidate for the county committee member at large post, the board of directors will appoint someone to fill the office.
