'Hank' project will promote

youths' literacy

Starting this week, the Trib une is presenting a 12 -week "The Case of the Dancing Cowboy."
Our purpose in presenting this series is two-fold: we hope all our readers enjoy good yarn, and we also hop reading programs and class rooms.
A couple of weeks ago, we invited teachers in the Farwell, Texico and Lazbuddie school systems to use these stories as part of an entertain ing literacy program.

Six Farwell teachers signed up, as did 12 from Texico and one from Lazbuddie.
We are providing more than 500 free newspapers for all the kids in their classrooms. That's because we fee strongly about this projec and its promotion of literacy. Enjoy..

Right now, our area is operatives, managed by loca persons who do their best to keep our rates low, while keeping up with everchanging technology.
But with recent federal deregulations, we are soon to see an influx of phone calls tempting-local companies attempting to get your utility and phone business.

PART 1: SLIM

HAULS GARBAGE

It's me again, Hank the Cowdog. It all began in June, as rall. Yes, because we'd just come through a dry winter and the spring rains didn't start until May 15

After a few warm days, little shoots of grass had sprung up in the draws and along the creek, and

That green tint in the countryside had made everybody on he ranch feel better about things. Loper and Slim had stopped feeding the cows and Sally May was planning to host a dance in her yard. To prepare for that big social event, she had launched major Spring Cleaning Offensive

And since Slim didn't have to make a feed run, she drafted him to carry garbage down to the burn barrel. He didn't like that know, because I heard him grumbling about it as he struggled down the hill with a sack of garbage in each arm
"A guy spends a whole lifetime training horses and learning to rope. He gets himself a ranch job and takes some pride in his work, but what does he do on the first pretty day of spring? He gets to haul garbage down to the burn barre!!" He threw the sacks into the barrel and stormed over to the overhead gas tank. He drew a can full of gasoline and threw it into the barrel.

Hmmm. It appeared that he planned to toss a match into the gasoline-soaked barrel. I had watched him do this on other occasions, and I seemed to remember that he always ended up regretting it. And saying, "Oops, I forgot to mix that gas half-and-half with diesil, so's it wouldn't explode.

But he was on a snort about injustice in the world and he wasn't paying attention to his business. He went on with his speech and seemed to be addressing me and Drover, as though we might be interested.

We weren't. We were merely there, and once trapped into listening to the sermon, we could hardly get up and leave That would have been impolite and would have made him eve madder

See, your older and more experienced ranch dogs realize that part of our job is listening to the complaints of our masters. It's just something we have to do.

And also, I wanted to see what happened when he flipped his match into that garbage barrel. I had reason to susper would become the most exciting event of the morning.

He fished a book of matches out of his shirt pocket and went on.
If Sally May wants to have a yard dance, that's fine with me, but why do I have to haul the dadgummed trash and help clean up for it? I ain't going to the silly dance. There's fifty-seven things I'd rather do."

He tore a match out of the book and ran the paper-end through his teeth. "A cowboy hauling trash! Times have sure changed, dogs, and not for the better. These outfits today, they've got no appreciation for what a cowboy can do or how much money he's got tied up in leather and horseflesh.

Next thing you know, she'll want to me haul manure and spread it in her flower beds. Well, when that day comes, boys, old Slim'll sack his saddle and move on to a real horseback outfit tha nows how to treat a cowboy."
Boy, he was sure worked up, and I could tell that he'd prgotten all about that can of gasoline he'd poured into the barrel

I turned to Drover, who was staring up at the clouds.
"Son, pay close attention to this."
"What?"
"I said, pay close attention to this."
Oh. Okay.
don't know. You said to pay close attention and that's what I'm trying to do."
me." "Oh. Did it say something?
No. Garbage barrels don't talk.
I didn't think they did.
But this one is fixing to explode."
No fooling?"
Just watch. Sure enough, Slim struck the match and pitched it into the barrel and you'll see.

CRP decision deadline nears

Some in Service:
New rules for the federal Conservation Reserve Program (CRP), just announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, require prompt and serious economic decisions by landowners. These decisions will greatly influence agribusiness and the regional economies of several parts of Texas
Thousands of Texas landowners face the decision to attempt to enroll or re-enroll in the CRP or decide what other use they will make of land not entering or returning to that program," said Dr. Zerle Carpenter, extension service director. March 28 deadline for the first signup period under the the March
To help landowners and producers make their decisions, the extension service is providing several publications: CRP -Final Rules, Questions and Answers; Background on the CRP Program as of January 1996; The CRP Decision Process; Cattle Grazing on Land Formerly Enrolled in the CRP Program; Returning CRP Land to Crop Production; and Wildlife Habitat Management on Former CRP Lands.
These publications and a computer progra

'LazBuddie Program' working well

If you were to ask certain Lazbuddie elementary students who they look up to as their favorite role model, chances are they would tell you it's their "buddy."
Their "buddy" isn't a national sports star, politician or ac tor. Their role model is a Lazbuddie High School student and member of the National Honor Society
Two years ago, the Lazbuddie National Honor Society chapter began the "LazBuddie Program" as a volunteer service activity. Members of the chapter are required to log a number of hours participating in a volunteer activity. However, due to the rural location of he community, there had been a serious lack of selection for the members to choose a project from
The program is basically a mentoring program that pairs an elementary student in grades K-5 with a participating NHS member that is a Junior or Senior. The upper classman then spends time with their buddy in various ways.
If the elementary student needs tutoring in a school subject, their buddy helps them. At pep rallies the buddies sit buddy. If the upper classman is a football player, the little their big waik in with the team during the pep ralies, with their big buddy. Many of the "buddies" join Gwen Warren, high school counselor, heads the program and is very excited about the positive results that the project has gained in the lives of the students.
"The program gives a positive role model to the young students and it provides an opportunity for the older students to experience first hand how it is to work with young children," she said. "It's really great to see how the buddies give each other a high five in the hallways between classes and how they actively look for each other to say hello? The "LazBuddie Program" will continue to be a volunteer has been deemed a great success by the students, parents and the faculty.

Lady Wolverines fall to Lordsburg in state tourney opener, 58-55

By Freda Neie Wednesday night in the opening round of the playoffs in Albuquerque. Texico was the Region H runnerup and finished the season with a 15-14 record. champion.
Texico played hard all the way but good shooting and a tough man-to-man defense by Lordsburg in the final quarter proved the difference.

In the first quarter, the teams battled evenly, as the score was tied 14 -all at its early baskets and the Lady Wolverines played tough defense.
Texico came on strong in the second quarter. Krysta Morris hit a 3-pointer and Stacy Stewart hit a pair of 3pointers. Texico went into the halftime intermission ahead, 33-26.

In the third quarter, the Lady Wolverines maintained final period still up by $6-45$ final period still up by 6 - 45 39.

But the Lordsburg defense caused several Texico turn-

Equal Employment Opportunity Policy Statement We re－affirm equal opportunity in employment as the rule in this facility，not only because it is the law or try to gain social approval，but for the more compelling reason that we think it is right．Our policy is to observe both the letter and the spirit of the law．Equal opportunities for all applicants and employees means total exclusion on our part of all applisants and employees means total exclusion on our part of discrimination in employment because of race，color，religion，nationa origin，sex，age or handicap．
This positive attitude applies to the areas of recruitment，advertising， hiring，interviewing，placement，upgrading，promotion，transfer，salary benefits，layoff，termination，participation in social and recreational functions，training and the use of employee facilities． Fair and just personnel policies and practices applied in an even－ handed manner and compliance with federal iaws，regulations and guidelines provide this facility with the mechanisms to implement Equal Employment opportunity for all．

Cotton projects explained

Projections of supply and off-take for the 1997-98 marketing year indicate a total supply of 22.3 million bales. The supply figure is based on estimated 1997-98 production of 17.8 million bales being added to 4.5 million bales of expected carry-over from 1996 million bale production. production.
from thejecions were caiculated by economic staff from the National Cotton Council and released during the NCC's Annual Meeting.
One of the most encouraging pieces of information released was the projection for negligible raw cotton imports in 1997, even though Step 3 import quotas continue to open as a result of current relationships between U.S. prices and the " $A$ " index. The relween relionship between U.S. price and the " $A$ " index has relationship between U.S. price and the "A although not narrowed slightly since mid-December, enough to shut off Step 3 import quotas.
"The issues surrounding the problem of Step 3 and raw cotton imports are numerous and a simple solution has not presented itself," notes PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson. "Our efforts to develop a solution to this issue will continue efforts to develop a solution to this issue will continue through our contact with legislators, USDA through our contact with legislators, USDA representatives and the National Cotton Council staff representatives and members."

Estimated offtake for the 1997-98 marketing year is 18 million bales, 11.2 million for domestic consumption and 6.8 million to the export market.

Planting intentions reported to the NCC indicate producers currently intend to plant 7.1 percent fewer acres in 1997. Expected plantings are put at 13.6 million acres, roughly one million acres fewer than were planted in 1996. Texas planting projections for 1997 were put at 5.2 million acres, 500,000 acres less 1997 were than 1996.

Alabama, Florida, Virginia, Missouri, and Arizona are the only states projecting increased upland cotton acreage in 1997.

District received below-average precipitation in 1996

Drought conditions continued ove Water Conservation District No. service area during 1996.

The long-term annual precipitation district (along the Texas-New Mexico boundary) is about 16 inches. This in-Caprock Escarpment on the eastern edge of the District. The long-term annual precipitation averages for Amarillo and Lubbock are about 20 inches and about 18.6 inches, respectively.

In 1996, five percent of the Water District service area received a total of four to eight inches of precipitation; 38 percent received eight to 12 inches of precipitation; 39 percent received from 12 to 16 inches; 16 percent received from 16 to 20 inches; and two percent received from 20 to $2 t$ inches This precipitation data was collected from a 300 -site regional rain gauge network maintained by High Plains Water District and USDA Plains Water District and USDA-Natural Resources Conservation Satural Resources Conservation Service personnel. Data from 15
National Weather Service reporting National Weather Service reporting sites were used to supplement the data collected fro rain gauge network In addition, the National Weather Service has provided maps with color Doppler radar data illustrating precipitation that occurred during these events. These color maps help totals collected in the rain gauges. The contour map at left illustrates the precipitation totals as measure in the rain gauge network during 1996. The contours reflect four-inch intervals of precipitation.

'Watch out for army cutworms'

From Cody Hill, Parmer County extension agent:
Area wheat producers should watch for emerging army cutworms. The pests have been identified as infesting wheat in the north central portion of the Texas Panhandle and in southwest Kansas alfalfa fields.
Dr. Carl Patrick, entomologist with the extension service in Amarillo, says the army cutworm is a sporadic pest of wheat nd alfalfa in the Texas Panhandle. Occasional heavy infestations can cause considerable damage to both crops.
"Although there is no reliable way to predict when a major utbreak will occur, they do prefer dry conditions, thin soils and slopes of hills," said Patrick.
Farmers should be aware that cutworms lay eggs and hatch offspring in the fall. This species will feed periodically as temperatures allow during the winter. And, given the type of winer, the worms can be quite large by March, and be most damaging.
"Mature larvae can attain lengths of $11 / 2$ to 2 inches," said Patrick. The worms are greenish-brown or greenish-gray, and have a narrow pale stripe down their backs, the full length of the body.
Although true cutworms, they feed on foliage much like armyworms. During sunny days, they will be under debris or slightly underneath the soil surface. Their presence will be obvious on plants during overcast days and at night when temperatures are above freezina.

"Fortunately, there is only one generation per year," said Patrick, who advises farmers to look for the pest in dryland fields, or the dry corners of center pivot irrigated wheat where higher infestations have been found.
Insecticide applications are justified when 4 to 5 arm cutworm per square foot are causing visible damage in well es tablished wheat or seedling alfalfa - -the economic threshold should be dropped to 2 per square foot.
During outbreak years, it's not uncommon to find 10 to 20 army cutworm per square foot, said Patrick. Effective treatments for wheat are Karate and Lorsban SG, and alfalfa pro ducers can select from Lorsban, Pounce, Ambush or Bay throid insecticides.
"I have seen army cutworm reduce early strands of sugar beets, but they aren't much of a problem in corn," said Pat rick. The cutworm moths, also called "Milers", can be a rea nuisance in April and early May before flying away from this area.
