Schwertner, Sudderth, Foster, Lunsford show livestock show champions

It was a very successful 30th annual Farwell Junior Livestock Show last Saturday at the Farwell Community Center, with 82 animals entered, far more than usual. There were cătegories for steers, goats, sheep and pigs.

Top awards went to:

Goats -- Karissa Foster, grand champion; Ginger Sides, reserve champion; and Candy Davis, showmanship.

Pigs -- Mark Lunsford, grand champion; Erica DeLeon, reserve champion; and Clint Patterson, showmanship.

Steve Akers, an ag teacher at Lubbock Monterey High School, was the judge for all four shows. He also was the judge here last year. Fred Chandler was the announcer, aided by Cindy Patterson. Mac Heald was ring secretary, filling in for Robert white who was ill. The 4-H advisor is Cody Hill. The FFA advisor is Jon Cullison.

A couple of interesting footnotes to this year's show were:

-- Gaylen Sudderth made it 2 for 2 in the sheep class for the Daren Sudderth family. Last year, Gaylen's brother, Jason, won the division. This year Gaylen did.

-- Two youngsters who won resere championships last year won grand championships this go-round: Matt Schwertner in the steer division and Mark Lunsford in the pig division.

Here's a wrap-up of all the divisions:

Only one Parmer County office to be contested

The filing period is over for candidates for Parmer County political offices -- and there will be no contests in the primary election.

But there will be at least one contest in the general election in November -- for Farwell area Justice of the Peace.

After Democrat Louise Hancock announced she would not seek re-election as the JP, two candidates filed --Democrat Pam Haseloff and Republican Teresa Ancira.

Mrs. Haseloff has been in the area since 1973. She has been the Parmer County Agricultural Extension Service secretary for the past 2 1/2 years.

She is married to Michael Haseloff and has three children. She is a member of St. John Lutheran Church at Lariat and the Lutheran Women's Missionary League.

There will be another new face on the county scene,

Bonnie Warren announced last week she was not seeking re-election as Parmer County clerk after serving in the po-

Memorial contributions may be made to the American Heart Association, the American Lung Association or the Farwell Volunteer Fire Dept.

He was preceded in death by a grandson, Ryan.

Satanic alter, bible found in Farwell home

Due to the recent discovering in a Farwell house of a Satanic Bible, alter and other paraphernalis, Farwell Police Chief Roy McGaa plans a seminar on the subject later this month.

He will be assisted by Gary Blair, a deputy with the Parmer County sheriff's department, and Larry Garrison, a deputy with the Texico marshal's office.

"I was surprised and disappointed when I found out who some of the kids were who frequented this place," said McGaa.

"A parent's weapon to prevent association with this type of trash is knowledge. As with any other problem, it needs to be stomped out before it has a beginning."

Teresa learns a strange fact about holiday parking spaces

The recent heavy snowfall, in the range of 10 inches in the Twin Cities, brought back childhood memories of slogging through the white stuff to get to school.

I lived about a mile from my elementary school, then about 1 1/2 miles from my high school.

To get there, I walked.

I really don't remember any rough times getting to grade school. But there was one heavy snowfall that always has stuck in my craw from my high school years.

It must have been in either my junior or senior year. I put on the old galoshes (that's a great Polish word for heavy boots ... I think), along with heavy coat, gloves, ear muffs, hat, scarf, etc., and started on my trek.

The sidewalks were not usable due to the thigh-high snow. So the way to make it is to walk in the car ruts in the streets. A trick of the trade.

The problem that day was that there were no car ruts -since the snow had ceased all vehicle traffic on my neighborhood's side streets.

I got about 100 yards from my apartment building before I had to think realistically. I wasn't going to make 1 1/2 miles in time to get to school.

So I backtracked the three blocks to get to the nearest main drag, and found the city buses were running.

I climbed aboard one, and got to school nearly on time.

Yes, I know, I was a wimp that day.

Normally, a hike through some heavy snow is fun. But when it gets to knee-high and above, it becomes work. Hard

Anyway, it sure has been good to see all that moisture seep into the ground around Texico-Farwell this past week. Nobody is complaining about

And since the white stuff fell while school was out, we had no problem with school buses. That was a blesssing, seeing school buses. I never knew there were any until I was about 25 years old.

Where I was growing up, there were no school buses. You either walked or rode a bike to school, took a city bus, or, if your parents were wealthy, had your own transportation.

Times have changed, haven't they?

From Teresa Mesman: I was really patting myself on the back before Christmas for having completed my Christmas shopping early enough so that I could actually enjoy the niceties of the season.

Of course, I did have to follow tradition and rush out at the last minute for the grab on batteries, film, candy canes and all those other things that just physically cannot be purchased until two days before Christmas. (Yes, I have been seen in my slippers and sweat pants at the convenience store at midnight Christmas Eve buying "something" for the sake of buying it on Christmas

However, this year I had vowed to avoid the rush and had done so quite nicely. I could actually sit down and enjoy a book or two with my sons and I didn't have that harried look on my face in all the Christmas morning pic-

But, it must be genetics or something that made me want to go out a few days after Christmas and go shopping.

First, let me comment on shape that one must be in to shop the after Christmas broad shouldered and/or hipped to fight your way into the gaggle of women surrounding the table full of unsold bargains - like bright, lime green slipper socks with the gold glitter trim.

You know, the ones that would have been a ghastly gift for someone if purchased before Christmas, but are now such an attractive addition to a wardrobe because they're half price.

You must also have skin that cannot be torn, scratched or roughed up by the battle that ensues over the last one of anything. You must also have the same glazed look that your Christmas ham wore.

But the one thing that amazes me about shopping after Christmas is the parking lot. I am fully convinced that something magically happens to the size of the parking spaces over Christmas - they become smaller. I am not alone in thinking this!

I pull the car in and have to very carefully open the door so as not to door ding the car next to me. Or are doors just getting longer?

You also have to practice breath control in order to slide out from between the have nerves of steel to endure cars and forget bending over the attitudes of the worn out to tie your shoes! One bend store clerks and cashiers that over and the dirt from the 4x4 next to you makes you look like a Handy Wipe the whole afternoon!

> I do have to admit that I didn't buy anything in the Christmas sale sections this year. I just enjoyed standing by, gripping my basket and watching the crowds go by.

> In one particular store, a store clerk noticed that I was standing by looking very calm and collected.

"Is there anything I can help you with?" she asked.

"Oh, no thank you," I replied. "I'm just enjoying shopping and soaking in all the remaining magic of Christmas!"

She arched her eyebrow, shook her head and walked away muttering under her breath - "yeah right, and you probably believe the parking spaces shrink after Christmas

Rain doubled last year!

Wonder what the rain totals, and high and low temperatures for our area were in 1997?

Thanks to Lonnie and Yalonda McFarland and crew at the Sherley-Anderson Grain Elevator in Lariat, we can tell you. They keep the stats yearround.

The 1997 rain total at the Lariat site was 17,19 inches, up from 10.16 inches in 1996, but close to the 17.34 inches in 1995.

The rain totals at their home in Farwell for 1997 was a whopping 22.98 inches, way up from 12.32 inches in 1996.

And the average high and low temperatures in Lariat were 68.9 and 43.6 -- compared to 73.2 and 44.3 in

Longhorns lose in 4 overtimes

Varsity Boys

The Lazbuddie Longhorns found themselves in one of those rare games Tuesday --'em four -- overtimes.

Unfortunately, they came out on the short end to Plains in an away non-district game, 92-84.

Lazbuddie is now 8-3 on the season.

The Longhorns played without center Jason Thomas, who was held out due to a lower back injury. He may return to action today (Friday) or next Tuesday.

Plains, 8-11 overall, and Lazbuddie were tied 57-all at the end of regulation play.

Then each team scored nine points the next two quarters, and 7 points each in the third overtime.

But in the fourth overtime, Plains outscored the Longhorns 10-2.

Leading scorers were Josh Morris and Chris Smith, 19 each; Cade Morris, 12; and Brandon Foster, 10.

Neil and Betty Stewart

50th anniversary

Neil and Betty Stewart will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception on Jan. 17 at the First Baptist Church in Farwell from 2 to 4 p.m.

Neil and the former Betty Shelburne were married on Jan. 17, 1948 in Norton, Texas.

The couple farmed in Norton from 1948 to 1956, when they moved to the Oklahoma Lane Community. They farmed there until 1963.

They then moved to Farwell and farmed for 10 years. In 1975, they started operating Farwell Hardware and ran it until they retired in 1989. Their son Ricky continues running the business today.

They are the parents of three children, Ricky of Farwell, Randy of Rusk, Texas and Sharla Landry, of Farwell. They have six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The family asks for no gifts, just your presence at their anniversary celebration.

Drug case wrapped up

The arrest on June 10, 1997, of two men in Farwell -- by Farwell Police Chief Roy McGaa and Texas State Trooper Craig Hunt, on charges of possession of marijuana has resulted in both men pleading guilty in 287th District Court.

The charge was a felony of the third degree (if the amount is 50 pounds or less but more than 5 pounds). Punishments

1) Imprisonment in the institutional system for any term of not more than 10 years or less than 2 years.

2) May be punished by a fine not to exceed $10,000.

Here's how both cases were adjudicated:

-- On Oct. 7, Rene A. Martinez, 36, of Clovis, was sentenced were named to the Allto 3 years in the Texas Department of Corrections, adjudicated for 3 years, $166.50 court costs, $140 restitution and 200 hours of community service.

-- On Jan. 5, Nicholas C. Sanchez, 31, of Farwell, was sentenced to 10 years in the Texas Department of Corrections, probated for 10 years, $166.50 court costs, $1,000 fine, $140 Warren were named Allrestitution and 400 hours of community service.

Police Report

Farwell Police Chief Roy McGaa reported that a theft occurred the night of Jan. 5 at Mill and Elevator Supply in Farwell.

A lock was cut open on the gate and two Dayton heaters were taken from a trailer parked inside the business compound.

These Dayton heaters are both 200,000 btu heaters, model 3E-385 measuring 36" deep x 26" wide x 38" high. They are grayish-tan in color and are valued at $1,778 each.

Anyone with information concerning this crime is urged to call the Farwell Police Dept. at 481-3600 or the Parmer County Crimestop-

'Wanted' posters put up by McGaa

Farwell Police Chief Roy McGaa has put up "wanted posters" at several local businesses for folks who haven't shown up for their municipal court appearances.

He had broached the idea at a Farwell City Council meeting a couple of months back and was told to check into its legality before proceeding.

Five persons were listed on the poster by name.

Most of the posters put up have been ripped down.

New posters will be put up, said McGaa.

charged with possession of a controlled substance. Her bail was set at $100,000 by Justice of the Peace Louise Hancock.

Curry County District Attorney Randy Harris told the Tribune on Tuesday that a file on her case has been prepared by the Parmer County sheriff's department.

Harris said that he and District Attorney Johnny Actkinson (Bailey and Parmer counties) will go over the file next week to see if any other charges are warranted.

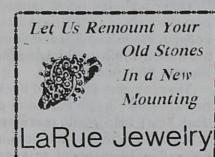

Three other teens have been charged in connection with the killing:

-- Michael Treadway, 18, of Farwell, charged with first degree murder, robbery with a deadly weapon and conspiracy to commit armed robbery.

-- Ronald Armstrong, 19, of the Lariat area, charged with conspiracy to commit armed robbery, accessory to armed robbery and harboring a felon.

-- Billy Joe Galvan, 17, of Farwell, charged with accessory to armed robbery, conspiracy to commit armed robbery and harboring a felon.

The trial for the trio is scheduled for November.

And what's your New Year resolution?

By Rachel Embry Yup, it's that time again. The Big 1-1.

What is it about the New Year that inspires people to such lofty levels of ambition and change? Resolutions -- everybody makes them, but how many actually stick to those well-meant

Not many, as an interview of area residents revealed. In an informal survey, only about 4 percent maintained that they actually kept last year's resolutions throughout the 1997 year.

However, rest assured, that come Jan. 1, people will once again nobly set forth almost impossible standards to live by and glittering goals to attain.

The Tribune thought it would be interesting to see what some of those goals might be. Of course, the No. 1 resolution this year, as in all years, involves one word: diet.

Perhaps this is the result of guilt after the sumptuous holiday season. But whatever the reason, it is a proven fact that diet programs and fitness centers experience their biggest rush in the month of January.

"My resolution is to exercise and work toward regaining my health," said Twyla Lusk, an idea that was echoed repeatedly in the Tribune survey.

Another common theme was to "quit procrastinating" as summed up in the words of Eddie Meeks.

Other repeated goals ranged from quitting smoking to getting the garage organized to actually start saving for the kid's college. While some resolutions are character building, others are merely fun, such as Lane McFarland's for example -- to win his new Nintendo 64 game.

Then, as area kids head back to school after a long relaxing break, some may be moved to perform better in the classroom. Josh Scioli resolved to make better grades in the coming year.

A couple of folks had more insightful hopes for themselves. Eldon Embry resolved to keep his mind more focused and open to the future rather than dwelling on the past, especially as we approach the new millennium.

Leigh Ann Woods wants to concentrate more on continuing to treat others like she would like to be treated. And Mrs. Lusk summed her resolution by stating she wants to just strive to be the best she can be.

Whether we keep them or not, resolutions serve as a jumping off point for new directions in our lives and what better time than when a fresh year is before us.

Whatever your own personal goals may be for the upcoming year, happy resolving and best of luck!

(Editor's note: Reporter Embry had planned to write down her own New Year's resolution -- to stop procrastinating. But she didn't get around to it.)

Ag Overview

Parmer County Extension Agent Cody Hill

American farmers, faced each year with the complex challenges of producing their crops, are confronted this year with new challenges of marketing and risk management. For these reasons a Parmer County Marketing Club is being established to help producers become more efficient and skillful in marketing their products.

Generally a group of 15 to 25 producers have organized meetings once or twice a month to learn about risk management techniques. Clubs, as a group, often trade commodity options to gain experience at a limited risk. The usual life of such a club is one to three years, depending upon members' interest.

This method of education has tremendous advantages over traditional short-duration educational workshops. The learning process isn't so rushed, allowing producers more time to absorb new information. The longer time over which education takes place allows more hands-on practice and observation of actual market dynamics and the benefits and costs of various marketing and risk management alternatives.

The first meeting will be on Jan. 15, at 6 p.m. The meeting will be held at the Oklahoma Lane Ag Store. Any person interested in becoming more knowledgeable in the marketing industry may attend this educational meeting. If you have questions concerning the Parmer County Marketing club contact Cody G. Hill at the Parmer County Extension Office at (806) 481-3619.

The Farwell Convalescent Center wishes to thank the community for their participation in the center's "Joshua Tree" program.

1106 Main Street Clovis, NM 88101 763-4411 The ladies of ESA met at Red Lobster on Dec. 8 for dinner, then proceeded to the beautiful home of Patsy Merritt for a brief meeting.

It was reported that Rosa Roberts was out of the hospital and back at the Retirement Ranch.

Also, there was interest from previous hunters to hunt with ESA, so a limited hunt was made available.

The drawing for "the Old World Santa" was Dec. 18.

Christmas in Community committee reported that they had wrapped up the shopping for the different families in the community.

There will also be a pie supper at the basketball games Jan. 9. Proceeds will go to the Leslie Lunsford fund.

Refreshments were served by Jana Barrett and Melissa Carpenter. Attending were Haley Margaret Aycock, Pam Carpenter, Christian, Denise Christian, Dot Christian, Lillie Christian, Sherry Christian, Tamera Cooper, Tracy DeVault, Robin Howard, Roberta Howard, Tammy Jones, Twyla Lusk, Angela Mace, Pam Monk, Karen Schilling, Sabina Schilling, Karen Stevenson, LaMoin Williams and Joyce Williams.

Ryan Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Williams of Farwell, is in St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock.

Pete and Tommie Fulcher of Oklahoma Lane hosted a New Year's Eve party in their home. The party was attended by 18 friends who enjoyed snacks, soft drinks and a big night of playing Progressive 42.

Joe Jones, who has been instrumental in renovating the Farwell Community Center over the years since the building was donated to the city, announced last week that a fund-raising drive is under way to install a new ceiling and new lighting at the center.

Persons who would like to contribute may do so by dropping off a check or cash at Security State Bank.

The Texico Booster Club will met Jan. 12 at 7 p.m. mst at the Texico high school library. Everyone is invited.

The annual ENMR Telephone Cooperative is set for April 18 in Farwell.

80th birthday Alma Hendrix, of Texico, celebrated her 80th birthday on Dec. 28 with 20 family and friends, including granddaughter Brooke Ryan, 2, pictured with her. Alma has retired after selling Avon products for over 30 years. A birthday cake, veggies, chips and dip were served at the party.

Appreciate the good in others.

Remember that day you thought you'd save a little money?

Buying something less than a Valley irrigation machine seemed an o.k. idea at the time. But now, with your pivot dead in its tracks, you wish you'd made a different decision. You wish you'd bought the Valley,

Valley equipment is engineered for long life and durability. We never compromise quality for cost. We design and build our own Valley gearboxes, design our own Valley nozzles and C:A:M:S software. and manufacture and galvanize our own pipe. And our dealer network, the best in the business, keeps your equipment running with RealParts and RealService

These are not small matters. Together, they add up to industry leadership that has built Valley's reputation among growers in the U.S. and worldwide. So, next time you're in the market for irrigation equipment, remember today. It's the day you realized compromise carries a high price of its own.

Lazbuddie. county stock shows next on the agenda

The Lazbuddie Livestock Show will again have its show at mid-week. This is the second year that has been done.

The show will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 21, starting about 1:30 p.m. at the Friona Community Center.

School Supt. Phil Warren explained that the change was made two years ago because the county show starts the next day. This means the youths can keep their animals handy for the county show at the same site.

Participants will have the day off from school. All other Lazbuddie students will get an "early out" at 1 p.m., said Warren.

The Parmer County junior livestock show will be held Jan. 22-24 at the Friona Community Center.

Judges will be Eddie Smallwood, barrows; Bill Binder, lambs, and J.D. Ragland, cattle.

Binder and Ragland were judges for the county show last year, too.

The weigh-in for all animals will be Jan. 22 from 1 to 5 p.m. Barrows will be classified as weighed. At 5 p.m., steers will be classified, followed by lambs.

On Jan. 23, the lamb show starts at 8 a.m., followed by the goat show. The barrow show starts at 1 p.m.

On Jan. 24, the steer show begins at 8 a.m., followed by the heifer show. Premium sale starts at 5 p.m.

Parmer County extension agent Cody Hill expects about 250 barrows, 28 steers, 95 lambs and 20 goats.

Fire Calls

The Farwell ambulance was called to 401 Ave. H at 10:38 a.m. on Dec. 30 to take a person to Clovis hospital.

Miller working The Chief's Corner toward pole vaulting goal

Joh Colby Miller, a graduate of Lazbuddie High School, went to the University of Kansas on a full Track & Field scholarship in 1994.

He was the No. 1 pole vaulter in the state of Texas in 1994 for the school's division.

He is still a student at the University of Kansas and is doing very well.

According to Lazbuddie High School principal Hardy Carlisle, he is passing his classes and is a member of the track team.

His goal is to pole vault at the national level and, due to his placements in the Big 12 track competitions, he may just achieve that goal.
