SALES OF RESERVATIONS FOR SWEETWATER GAME LAG HERE; FIGHTING SPIRIT ONLY HOPE

Cordill And Cauble On Injured List; Prospect For Victory Again Rests Upon Defensive Battle

All Big Spring schools will have a full holiday Friday, Supt. W. C. Blankenship said. The Armistice Day holiday will be taken Friday to allow pupils to attend the game in Sweetwater.

The Big Spring Steers' prospects for having a large body of supporters in the stands Friday afternoon when they meet the Sweetwater Mustangs in the annual grudge battle that will have a great deal to do with the determination of the District 3 championship, appeared unfavorable Thursday.

Sales of train reservations and of tickets for the game were moving slowly.

The special train, which will leave here at 11 a. m. may be ridden for one dollar for the round trip.

Reserved seats for adults are 75 cents. Student tickets are 25 cents. General admission will be 50 cents.

Captain Oble Bristow faced the crucial game with only one hope—that his team would fight even more doggedly than it did against San Angelo two weeks ago.

Oble Cordill, punter, passer and ball toter, appeared unable to go into the game due to injuries to a leg. The whole job of kicking and throwing will fall again upon George Neel, 132-pound quarterback.

Cauble, a valuable back who has seen much service throughout the season, has an injured arm which very likely will keep him on the sidelines virtually the entire game.

The starting backfield likely will be Neel, quarter; Jones and Mills, halves; Hare, fullback.

Mills will play offensive half and defensive end, Captain Bob Flowers, the old stand-by, backs up the line of defense and plays offensive end.

Observers believe the Steers' only chance to score will be to make a

Oil-Gas Rights On Bar S Ranch Go To Humble

Deal Made Through Rupert Ricker Of Big Spring, Tract In Reagan

Oil and gas rights below 3,500 feet on 158,758 acres out of the Bar S ranch in eastern Reagan and western Irion counties have been leased by Humble Oil & Refining Co. from the Sawyer Cattle Co. of Texas.

The lease is for 10 years. The deal was made at Houston through Rupert Ricker of the Big Spring.

The lease includes all the Bar S ranch except 13,868 acres already under lease to Humble and other companies. About two-thirds of the block just leased by Humble lies in Reagan county and one-third in Irion.

Leasing of deep oil and gas rights only by an oil company is the first to be reported in West Texas and reflects the increasing importance attached to the possibilities of Ordovician production in the Permian Basin outside the Big Lake pool. In recent years, oil companies in "farming out" acreage to be drilled for production above or in the Permian lime have reserved the deep rights. A number of Permian lime tests have been drilled on the Bar S.

Humble at present is drilling for Ordovician production in Pecos county nine miles west of the Yates field. Gulf is drilling for the same deep pay in the McElroy pool on the line of Crane and Upton counties. H. H. Sides and W. A. Sudderth hope to reach the Ordovician in going to 6,200 feet on the Bates-Felps ranch in northeastern Terrell county, as do L. C. Priest and others in deepening their No. 3 Sorrels in northwestern Menard county from 3,439 feet.

First weekly meeting of the NRA Compliance Board will be held Monday evening beginning at 7 o'clock, at the Settles hotel.

Members of the NRA Compliance Board of Big Spring, in session Wednesday afternoon, decided to hold weekly meetings for consideration of complaints of non-observance of codes and of the President's Re-Employment Agreement.

The board announced that all those who wish to file complaints should mail written, signed statements, stating the complaints, to the chairman of the NRA Compliance Board.

It was stressed that source of all complaints will be kept strictly in confidence.

When a complaint is filed a member of the board will talk with the person or the executive of the firm against whom the complaint has been lodged. It is the belief of the board, as well as national NRA authorities, that most of the violations of NRA agreements are caused by lack of knowledge of the codes.

In no case does the local Compliance Board have authority to take action. It simply goes into reports of non-compliance and reports its findings to the Department of Commerce district office in Houston.

Members of the board are: R. W. Henry, chairman; Clyde E. Thomas, secretary; C. T. Watson, R. T. Piner, C. W. Cunningham, J. T. Wheeler, W. W. Inkman, H. Hinman.

Wendell Bedichek was added to the board at Wednesday's meeting.

Officers Seek Two For Murder Of Woman Found Near Van Horn

EL PASO—Two men were being sought by West Texas officers Wednesday night in connection with the murder of an American woman whose nude body was found off a lonely ranch road nine miles east of Van Horn Tuesday noon.

The men were seen to pick the woman up at Fabens and drive east with her Monday afternoon, according to information gathered by officers here Wednesday. The woman got into the car, officers were told, only after a heated argument with the man.

Officers said the men were described as being roughly dressed and driving a small dark colored automobile bearing a California license plate. One of the men was large and had dark bushy hair. The other was rather small, witnesses said.

Believed Identified

The first clue to the possible solution of the murder mystery followed the identification of the woman as a hitch-hiker who was seen at Yalata by two immigration border patrolmen Monday morning.

Wednesday P. Soto and E. Fernandez, employees of the Southwest Beverage Co., told the sheriff they picked the woman up at Yalata and

Buy Now

Buy Now! Buy the things you need! Don't help start a wave of foolish buying of merchandise not needed now.

But, go right down to your local merchants and buy the things you have been waiting so long to get, the things you needed so much but delayed buying because you feared for what the future might bring.

The appeal that President Roosevelt and his chiefs in the National Recovery Program has issued to the American people that they keep men at work and put more men to work by BUYING NOW is not a blind appeal for people to further jeopardize their financial condition.

If the President had not put stupendous machinery into as rapid operation as possible for the purpose of creating employment the BUY NOW appeal would be not only unwise but useless.

That fact is, however, that many hundreds of thousands of men have gone back to work because of the things the President has done.

We need not fear for the future now as we have been fearing for three or four years.

If the President did not believe people could go out and buy as much of the things they really need as they have the cash to buy at this time without ruining themselves financially he would not be asking them to do so.

The fact is hundreds of men have gone back to work in Big Spring and immediate vicinity. Oil companies, refineries, merchants in all lines, and many other lines of business have employed more men. One may easily substantiate this statement.

Those men who have found jobs and those who are making more money than they were earning a few months ago need to buy a lot of things for their families.

Madame Lovine Sees Pony Victory But 'Soul Will' Cited

How will the Steer-Mustang game come out? Madame Lovine has undertaken to answer that perplexing question and call a score.

The stars (grid and celestial, we suppose), indicate a victory for the Steers, according to the Madams. Moreover, the score is likely to be 28 or 30 to 0.

But the Madams has an ace in the hole. "The stars incline but do not impel," she says. "Soul will be more powerful than the stars."

Steers and local fans are hoping for an abundance of the "soul will" shown in the San Angelo game here recently.

WASHINGTON By George Durso

Sweetness

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace took a few shots as a result of being stuck out front on the hotly controversial sugar quota negotiations.

It will be recalled a quota agreement was reached some days back after months of struggle but was rejected by the administration.

Apparently Wallace was told to downthumb the agreement and give his own reasons.

The real reason was the Cuban quota. This must be agreeable to the Cuban Government. Unfortunately Washington is not at all sure the wobbly Cuban administration is going to stick.

So Wallace announced to the refiners, growers and their associates that the agreement was temporarily out the window because of unmet conditions in Cuba.

The State Department immediately let out a yell.

Acidity

Wallace then back-tracked his line of reasoning and said the benefits of the agreement accruing to the 42,000 sugar beet farmers in this country would be far offset by lofty sugar prices to millions of other farmers.

Again the heat was turned on this time from the farm belt. Agriculture

The people of New York were not satisfied with any middle ground. Their vote, placing La Guardia at the top of the list of three major candidates for mayor, shows that they wanted to go all the way, to make the change complete. The middle ground represented by the McKee candidacy was not enough.

The same psychology placed Franklin D. Roosevelt in the White House last spring. It changed the complexion of congress and caused defeat of many governors and other high officials in elective offices.

The nation has not rebelled blindly. It is a matter of changing the yardstick by which things are measured, of leaving one type of leadership and following after another. Those who cry that individualism is defeated by the principles guiding the present administration fail to take into consideration the fact that there is more than one form of individualism.

The old individualism brought on the depression. The new individualism seeks to allow the average American family really to be independent and thus exercise individualism by means of better wages and hours.

The old stuff was based on a gamble. The new is based on the honest toil of honest people.

The old was established on false promises.

Armistice Day Analyzed From Peace Angle

Day Ending Greatest War Should Check Recurrence Says Speaker

Armistice Day program was given a Tuesday meeting of the Rotary club held at the Settles Hotel, with Rev. Jack Thorne as program chairman.

Emil Fahrkamp gave a well received talk on "Armistice Day - What It Means to Us From the Standpoint of Peace." The speaker declared that we should ever remember Armistice Day, which came ten years ago to the people of countries engaged in the greatest war of all time, after four years of terrific struggle in which men were destroyed or maimed for life.

"It was a terrific price to pay for peace," said the speaker, "but since it has come we should ever remember the past experiences in the great war to prevent recurrence of another."

Father Theo Francis read a poem written by Boazian Shine Phillips bearing on Armistice Day.

Adopt Scouts

Tom Ashley asked each Rotarian to adopt one of the Boy Scouts of Troop 1, of which the Rotary club is sponsor, to lend whatever assistance possible to become better acquainted with members of this troop at next meeting, that each Rotarian would adopt a Boy Scout.

B. Reagan asked the club to lend assistance in furthering interest in the West Texas Museum association, an organization here that is gathering relics of a historical nature in this section for posterity. He said Mrs. Mary Bumpass, local president of the association, was intensely interested in this work and needed the assistance of others to further it.

Secretary Max Jacobs read the following paper entitled: NOW THE EMPLOYEE MAY HOLD UP HIS HEAD

We Suggest a Code For Him

The NIRA administrators plan to have every industry trade organization or "what have you" under a code before December first, every thing and everybody but owners of business, executives and the government itself. These are important parts of the body politic and should as a matter of justice, if not expediency, be included. TRUTH suggests a code for each, to wit: Owners and Business Executives.

All those responsible for the management and direction of commercial enterprises of whatever nature shall form themselves into a group, apply to the American Federation of Labor for a charter and a Brigadier General Johnson for a Code embodying the following provisions:

1. No member of this group should work more than 30 hours a week in cities of more or less than 500,000 population or receive less than thirty cents per hour. This guarantee a minimum rate whether figured hourly or piece work basis, or no matter how depressing the depression.

2. The United States government will guarantee each employer sufficient business in order to operate his plant or store to capacity. If there is no sufficient business to go around the government will reimburse him for all idle machinery, idle plant space and business less than normal, on a basis similar to that now being allowed wheat and cotton farmers.

3. It shall be a violation of this code punishable by fine or imprisonment; or both, to worry, fret or stew over payroll, discounts and current accounts payable or unpayable.

4. Any business executive who has had his salary cut at least 100 per cent since 1929 shall be rewarded by the government, granting him a pension on and after reaching the age of 50 years, said pension to be 50 per cent of his original salary.

History Class Show Much Interest In Work

The 2b history classes continue to grow in interest every week. Last Thursday Zella Mae and Mary Elizabeth Dodge gave Mrs. Bumpass' history classes a report on the oldest city in the United States - St. Augustine, Fla. Their talk was about the narrowest streets in the United States, the arsenal at St. Augustine, and all about the signaling tower established by Edward Bok. Mrs. Bumpass gave a short sketch of the life of Edward Bok which the classes seemed to enjoy and all appreciated the information rendered by these reports.

son to be at least a living wage, whatever that may be.

5. Any business man who, during the past several years, has donated to charity organizations, has assisted in civic work, or has done anything else to promote the general welfare of the community or the public, shall not be permitted to be disgraced in the eyes of the public, through any government propaganda.

6. Heavy penalties will be provided for any members of the group who take their business problems home with them after quitting time. Any member of the group found laying awake at night trying to figure out how to make 30 cents cover a hundred dollars worth of pay roll next Friday, will be called forthwith and his name subjected to a boycott.

7. Wives will be expected to sleep in single beds with their husbands beginning September 1st so that it will be possible to catch violators of this section of the code.

8. Members of the group sleeping peacefully at all times through three consecutive weekly payrolls will receive an NRA sign for the bedroom window.

9. Thin, worn out, bedraggled executives, will be under suspicion at all times. The True co-operating spirit will be displayed by sunny smiles, hearty handshakes and a carefree manner.

10. It will be a violation of the code to associate, patronize or do business with any worried executive.

11. It will be the duty of all members of the group to raise wages and lower the price of their product, as the public expects no profiteering and the government will not stand for it!

12. Suicides among business men will be punishable by death.

13. At the hearing on this code it is hoped to get a ruling, as to what will be used for money when it goes into effect.

Billie Ely Casey, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Casey, celebrated his fifth birthday Tuesday afternoon with a party at his home in Government Heights.

Favors of green and pink candy suckers dressed as dolls were at each plate.

The guests were: Betty Lou McGinnis, Donald and Charlotte Williams, Albert Thomas and Martha Ann Smith, Lynn Sullivan, Jimmie Black, Hazel Carmack, Ann Louise Buchsacher, Alene Brownridge, Janice Carson, Millie Jean and Melba Dean Anderson, Rudy McGinnis, Lynn and Jimmie Bugg.

from an attack of paralysis. It got to be high time for us to bring out critical faculties to life.

This is bound to be a good thing for the administration.

No government can give its best if there is a complete and continued absence of criticism. If its every act is hailed as a masterpiece of wisdom, it sooner or later will get to be like an engine without a flywheel.

Perhaps the best thing that could have happened to the recovery program as a whole is the fact that people now are ready to speak up in meeting the moment they see a flaw in it.

We are, after all, still a democracy and not a dictatorship. We want to stay that way. By subjecting the recovery program to critical analysis, we simply are proving that our democracy is continuing to function in the proper manner.

AN EXPERT'S ADVICE

When Spike O'Donnell, Chicago gangster, buttonhole Senator Itoy at Copeland to tell him what ought to be done "about this crime business," he at least spoke with the knowledge of an expert.

And although his recipe was brief it sounds very good. What the gangster told the senator was simply this:

"All you need is honest cops and a little co-operation from the courts."

That, really, is all there is to it. Follow that formula and you can clean up almost any crime situation—provided, of course, a little intelligence and energy are available in suitable quantity.

The only trouble is that figuring out why cops aren't always honest and why the courts don't always cooperate leads you to the very heart of the most difficult and complicated problems our democracy faces.

ENTERING THE SECOND STAGE OF RECOVERY

Anyone who has studied the public reaction to the recovery program can not have failed to notice that we recently have passed from the first phase of this experiment into the second.

The first phase was the era of unanimous public approval. Few of us understood exactly what was going on, but we could see that some definite action was being taken and we liked the idea. There were no dissenting voices. Everything that was done drew a round of cheers.

Now things are different. Criticism has begun. The various acts of the recovery program are being submitted to searching analysis, and those who believe they see defects are not backward about calling attention to them.

It would be a mistake to assume that this criticism proceeds solely from those who have private axes to grind. There is some sniping going on, of course, touched off by gross selfishness; yet that in itself is not enough to explain the change in the public's attitude.

Evidently we simply came to the end of the period in which our one wish was to see "action, and action now." We couldn't go on cheering forever over the fact that the national government had recovered

Worm Turns When Sucker Reports Woman To Police

DALLAS, (UP)—A 50-year-old El Paso business man was robbed of $500 by two polite and fashionably dressed women who gained entrance to his hotel room by a ruse, but recovered the money when police aided him.

The hotel guest reported the theft last night to police who called a woman suspected of the theft. The suspect and hotel guest met in the sergeant's office.

"Here's your money sucker and now what are you going to do about it?" was the woman's first remark, expanded by others which were not quotable.

"That's all right, guy, you're lucky, but there's plenty more dough where you came from and don't ever think I'm the little girl who can't make them."

Police said the woman gains many hundreds of dollars a month by similar tactics. The majority of her victims dare not report to police.

Miss Marguerette Alderson is visiting her sisters, Mrs. L. A. Talley and Mrs. Werner Neese. She will be here for a month's visit.

500 Present As Northwest Texas Methodist Conference Convenes

CLARENDON — Twenty-fourth session of the Northwest Texas Methodist conference opened here Monday night with about 500 ministers, visitors and delegates present.

Rev. Cal C. Wright, First Methodist church of Abilene, was re-elected secretary.

Spreading of ballots for election of lay and clerical delegates to the general conference meeting next year was to begin Thursday morning. Abilene is reported to have an excellent chance to secure the next session.

The conference board of education met before the conference opened and Bishop H. A. Roaz of Houston planned to meet with his cabinet later. Its members were presiding elders of nine districts: the Rev. L. N. Lipscomb of Amarillo; the Rev. W. M. Murrell of Abilene; the Rev. C. A. Bickley of Lubbock; the Rev. J. E. Eldridge of Perryton; the Rev. R. A. Stewart of Vernon; the Rev. George S. Slover of Stamford; the Rev. O. P. Clark of Sweetwater and the Rev. W. L. Little of Plainview.

Origin And Development Of National Red Cross Hold Story Replete With Human Drama

In an announcement today of plans being formulated for the annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross, Jess Hall, Roll Call Chairman of the chapter which serves this community, traced the growth of an organization whose origin and development hold as dramatic and interesting story as was ever told.

Springing from a desire to render voluntary service to humanity, this agency now is looked upon as an essential part of the life of the nation.

Carrying on as a pioneer in its field, the Red Cross accepts its assignments and adjusts its work to meet changing conditions, always looking beyond any abnormal swing in the nation's economic pendulum.

Reviewing milestones in the organization's history, the Roll Call chairman explained that the Red Cross was born on the battlefield. His account of its founding follows:

"Moved by the horrors of the Battle of Solferino in 1859, Henry Dunant, a young Swiss idealist, and a small band of villagers he had summoned, braved the danger of gunfire in a determined effort to give voluntary succor to victims of the ferocious encounter, the Roll Call chairman declared in describing the origin of the Red Cross. "Later Dunant wrote a stirring volume on the barbaric practices among nations toward fallen warriors. Although other influences helped to crystallize sentiment for such a movement, the original aims and purposes of the Red Cross sprang from Dunant's emotions and from a sympathetic reaction which his writings captured."

"Prior to its inception in this country, in the work of Florence Nightingale during the Crimean war was born the principles of modern nursing. Thousands of lives were saved on the battlefields when she and her devoted followers nursed many back to recovery and brought order and sanitary practices out of chaos and gross neglect."

"European leaders set about to correct this wartime evil a few years after the Crimean and Solferino engagements and in 1863 assembled a committee at Geneva to study the problem of neutralizing aid to the wounded in the war. The solution was found in the Treaty of Geneva which was ratified by twelve nations in 1864. Today more than a half hundred countries are banded together in this cause. There also exists an International Red Cross Society with headquarters in Paris. It is headed by John Barton Payne, American Red Cross Chairman."

"The United States, although observing the formation of the Geneva group, was extremely backward in becoming affiliated with the movement. Not until Clara Barton had spent many years of tireless effort to the founding of the Red Cross in the United States did the government finally recognize the widespread need for such a society."

"Surrounded by less than fifty forward-looking citizens, Miss Barton was selected as the organization's first president when the Red Cross came into being after receiving governmental sanction in 1881. Today there are nearly four million Senior memberships and seven million Junior enrollments."

"Accomplishments of the Red Cross during and since the World War are well known. Its peacetime program, reaching into practically every country in the United States, has kept alive the organization's voluntary spirit toward mankind."

"When this nation last year found itself still in the grip of economic disorder, it will be recalled that it was to the Red Cross that Congress turned to distribute surplus commodities which in a twelve-month period benefited 25,000,000 individuals, or approximately a fifth of the country's entire population."

"All its activities, which include its health services, disaster work, First Aid and Life Saving, War Service, and the Junior Red Cross, have become indispensable in the thousands of communities this agency serves."

"In the last three years, tasks of this organization have been extremely heavy. While it is a semi-governmental agency, the Red Cross is entirely dependent upon enrollment of memberships. This year's Roll Call will be held between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving in its 3,700 local chapters. Community leaders, heading up the membership campaign, will invite every adult citizen to become a part of this humanitarian society during the Roll Call period."

Texas Confederate Vets Hold Reunion

HOUSTON (UP)—Eighty-five old men, 100 families, 1000 men and boys for four years gathered here for the 40th annual reunion of the Confederate Veterans of Texas.

Oldest man at the reunion was Melior B. C. Nickelson of Dallas, who said he was 107 years old. Wearing a long black plume in his slouch hat, he said he had been through three wars and "part of a fourth."

Frank Jackson, 20, told his comrades that he was the only man living in Dallas county who had ever heard Sam Houston speak. That was 80 years ago on the present site of the county jail, he said.

Hard Liquor Sold Openly In El Paso

EL PASO (UP)—Several El Paso business places today were openly selling hard liquor.

Though repeal of the 18th amendment does not take effect until Dec. 5, and Texas cannot become wet before 1935, local whisky sales have become so open in the last few days that the buyer need not identify himself.

Reporters bought Juarez whisky and Berretega in a half dozen El Paso faces and restaurants.

In one downtown restaurant a tipsy customer entered and demanded a whisky. So busy was the bartender that service was delayed.

"If you don't hurry up with that whisky I'm going to die," yelled the thirsty one in a voice heard throughout the restaurant.

A waitress, evidently fearful that he would die, hastily produced a glass of whisky, setting it on the counter in full view of other customers.

Juarez bar owners complained that they are losing business because "every restaurant in El Paso is selling liquor."

Liquor smuggling has increased as the El Paso demand has grown. One cafe reported selling eight gallons in one day.

Prediction that Juarez will lose 10,000 inhabitants, a third of its population, as a result of prohibition repeal in the United States was made by Rogers Ballantine, Juarez, Mexico, business man.

He expects the border city to rebuild itself with the aid of a free trade zone, which brought Juarez prosperity 40 years ago.

Two thirds of the Juarez saloons probably will close after January, Percy Adkinson, cafe owner, predicted.

Most of the bar owners expect to continue in business through the holidays.

Nine well known bars have closed since 32 beer became legalized in the United States.

"Most of the cafes I have gone to in El Paso are selling whisky openly," Mr. Adkinson said.

The fate of the three Juarez distilleries and one brewery is still uncertain, the D.M. Distillery, the largest, has not produced any whisky since 1931. The Mexican distillery ceased manufacture in 1932, and the D. W. Distillery produced a small quantity last year. The three distilleries represent an investment of about $1,000,000.

Tomas Blanco, owner of the Juarez brewery, is "waiting"

NEW YORK (UP)—Mayor-elect Fiorello H. LaGuardia, spearhead of a crushing victory over Tammany Hall, fulfilled his first election promise with characteristic enthusiasm.

He smiled.

The fighting Fusion leader made the promise, and prediction, when he stepped up to the polling booth to vote. A score of photographers yelled for a smile.

"I'll smile after the votes come in," he replied.

Early Wednesday he was smiling over a deluge of congratulations.

LaGuardia is a spectacular personality. He is a battering-ram type of political fighter.

Sometimes called the "Little Flower" of New York's streets, he generally is considered typical of New York. Yet he went west at the age of three and spent his boyhood in South Dakota and Arizona.

He is the son of an Italian immigrant and New York has more Italians than any other city in the world, including Rome.

He is five feet two inches tall, weighs 160 pounds, is heavy-set, sturdy. He has a recognizable resemblance to Napoleon. He is 51.

He is a republican but once was elected to congress as a socialist.

LaGuardia's campaign was typical of his political career. He was tireless. He wore out dozens of secretaries and made countless speeches. He ended up with enough surplus energy to speed in shirt-sleeves—from his home to a polling booth, rip the badge off a Tammany inspector and defy opposition workers alleged to be hampering Fusion watchers.

His service in congress won him a national reputation.

In all he served 15 years in the house. In 1919 he interrupted his congressional career to become president of the New York board of aldermen.

In 1929 he was defeated by James J. Walker in the mayoral race by almost 500,000 votes. That same

What has become of the SERVANT PROBLEM?

HAVE YOU ever considered that the average wife of today gets along better with one servant than the average woman of the '90's could manage to do with several?

You may jokingly say, "She has to." But the real reason is, she can.

The real answer is the electric refrigerator, the modern stove, the washing and ironing machine, the vacuum cleaner, the countless labor-saving devices that actually replace servant power.

It is the many improved staples, the convenient packaged goods, the glassed and canned foods, the prepared foods that save so much time and labor.

It is better marketing facilities—convenient stores with a wide variety of merchandise, including fresh, healthful foods, in season and out.

It is modern advertising—cramped with usable news for the woman in the home—making possible rapid progress by developing new markets for goods, and new goods for markets. Advertising, that tells you what to buy, and where to buy it.

Advertising makes it easier to live, more healthful to live, pleasanter to live. Yes; and more economical!

Armistice Day Party Cleverly Carries Out National Colors In Prize Wrappings

Mrs. Joe Ernest entertained the members of the Three-Four Bridge Club with an unusually clever Armistice Day party at the Settles Hotel Wednesday afternoon.

Flags were used for decoration of the bridge room and also for the party accessories all of which, from pencils to score pads, were in the red, white and blue colors, the tables were covered with red.

The prizes were cleverly wrapped to carry out the American idea. The guest prize was wrapped to resemble the bust of Uncle Sam. It was a pair of medieval book-ends and was presented to Mrs. Hittson. The club high prize was a whatnot that represented the Statute of Liberty. This went to Mrs. Latson. The high cut prize was an American flag. When unwrapped the prize was a pair of silhouettes of Martha and George Washington; Mrs. L. G. Talley was the lucky winner.

At the refreshment hour paraffin and cake in the three national colors were served to the five guests and the club members.

The members were: Meses V. W. Latson, J. H. Kirkpatrick, Jake Bishop, C. C. Carter, Harry Lester, C. S. Diltz, Shirley Robbins, R. L. Carpenter, Clyde Waits, Jr., P. W. Malone and M. E. Tatum.

The guests were: Meses W. T. Hittson, L. G. Talley, W. D. McDonald, J. B. Hodges, R. C. Fyeatt, and L. G. Talley.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick will be the next hostess.

Scenes Along The Pecos Near Red Bluff Dam Site

Red Bluff Dam Construction Likely To Begin By December

Completion Of Two And A Half Million Project Predicted For 1937; Power Sales May Make Water Cheapest In Entire State

By SAM ASHBURN

PECOS — It is expected that actual work of construction on the $2,600,000 Red Bluff dam, on the Pecos river, to be built with an appropriation from the federal government, will begin by the middle of December with completion and full operation by the middle of 1937. The site of this dam is 51 miles from here and three miles off the Pecos-Carlsbad cavern highway.

The money should be available in the next sixty days, says Judge J. E. Starley, irrigation lawyer, who settled at Barstow, just after finishing law school and who has been interested in irrigation matters ever since he grabbed his sheepskin and caught a train for the salt caverns.

The Red Bluff Water and Power Control district, an organization composed of the land owners in the district to be watered by the dam, will hold an election about Nov. 20 to authorize the indebtedness against the lands in the district. The election will, of course carry just now it is not known whether tribes as to distribution of water and costs of building the dam. Each acre will bear its assessment. The power from this dam will be used largely in Loving and northern Reeves counties, and contracts exist with oil field pipe lines and pumping plants. The power will be used to drill wells in the Loving fields, and will be connected with the power line of the Pecos Valley Power and Light Company located near Girvin. Arno in Reeves county will get lights from the dam.

First Dams In 1906

The first dams were built on the Pecos in New Mexico in 1906. They continued to build these dams until they got so much water that the Texas side did without water. In fact there has been considerable talk of a law suit between New Mexico and Texas over the disposition of the waters of the Pecos, but the building of this dam will put an end to this. There is plenty of water running down the Pecos each year to care for the cultivated lands, but when there are no reservoirs as is the case in most of the seven districts, the water when they get it, just now there is a fair amount of water in the Pecos but it is not wanted now. The dam will store it against the time it is wanted.

Officials of the Red Bluff Water and Power Control are R. N. Couch, Pecos, president; J. H. Miller, Barstow, vice president; E. B. Borion of Imperial, secretary. The directors are: Herman Ott, Granddalla; Frank Sharp, Imperial; L. D. Boxley, Barstow; Lawson Goodrich, Mentone. The approximate distribution of the lands subject to irrigation are: Loving, 4,000; Reeves, 12,000; Ward, 75,000; Pecos, 35,000. Not all of this land can be irrigated until the ditches are cemented.

A Lot of Water Rows

There have been lots of rows up and down the Pecos since the irrigated waters become low, and they have not all been over chicken fights either. They fight more chickens up and down the Pecos than perhaps any other river in the state. The Barstow plant got the first appropriation of waters; then Cedarvale got its appropriations. There was a law suit heard in the court for many a day. Finally Barstow district got water 25 days a month to 5 days by Cedarvale. There were other suits.

Getting the final approval of the appropriation for the dam was the work of Judge J. E. Starley, who made two trips to Washington, Vernon Sullivan, and others. They appeared before the R.F.C., the P. W. A. and the Federal Power Commission; Sullivan it was who put in the power clause. He will be the supervising engineer and will have charge of the operation of the district after the dam begins to operate. The power the dam will produce has all been sold. Matters of securing the land which will be covered by the water has been agreed on practically. It is valued at about $5 an acre. The dam will be in use in about two years but it will be three years before it is finally in operation. Four men only will be required to run the dam. Each of the seven districts will have its crew of men. Cementing of the ditches in each district will be up to the land owners for each district will get a certain amount of water each year measured to them. Each seven districts elects a director to the big corporation, the Red Bluff Water and Power Control Co.

Many Towns To Be Helped

Towns that will be helped by the district are Mentone, Pecos, Barstow, Grandfalls, Pyote, Imperial, Buena Vista, Fort Stockton, Girvin and Monahans. The nearest town to the dam is Mentone, about 27 miles by the new road to be constructed now. Pecos is 45; Oris, the nearest postoffice, is about 11 miles from the townsite.

The dam will be about one mile long, will be of dirt, with concrete structures and spillways. It will be about 100 feet high, about 700 feet at the base. It will impound about 300,000 acre feet of water annually, while the districts will use about 300,000 acre feet annually. The dam will form a lake of water about 10 miles long, extending over into New Mexico, and about five miles wide. The point of

Judge Gray Leads Move

For many years there was the old Pecos Valley Water Users' Association which took to Washington the request for a loan to revive what was once the best irrigated district in the state. The owners of land sent Judge R. H. Gray of Fort Stockton there many a time. In 1927 there was formed the present corporation consisting of the seven districts. John Miller was the president. R. H. Gray was the secretary until he was elected county judge of Pecos County this year and was legally disqualified from holding the irrigation office. Farmers in the district have put up about $25,000 of their own money to get this dam; that money will not be repaid to them. Many of the persons in the district were non-residents, having moved away when the waters failed and irrigation became profitless. They remembered the good old days when the Pecos was filled with fruit trees, fine homes and good bank accounts. The good days began about 1890, and lasted until about 1918 when the water supply became too low. What the districts will do when they have plenty of water is shown by Imperial district this year which had a bountiful supply and the farmers there are making good money.

Few Farms Go for Taxes

They have a storage dam. Few farms have been sold for taxes, many non-residents have moved away waiting for the day to come when they could come back to their old homes. Several years ago lands were valued at $150 to $200 an acre, more recently they have been valued at $50 and some have been sold at $25. With the dam built and plentiful water the land will be worth $100 to $150 an acre, thinks Judge Starley. It is alluvial soil. The biggest farms run from 300 to 400 acres, the smallest about 20, the average about 80 acres. There has been no land speculation as yet, the people have been encouraged so many times by reports of possible help that they want to wait until they see the water coursing down the ditch, says Ed Miller of Barstow. However there can be no slip-up this time, the money is available or will be soon and the farmers can drive up and see the work in progress. In fact many of them will get jobs at the construction as local labor will be preferred.

Add Interest To Cost

Interest for the first three years will be added to the cost of construction of the dam. The lake will require one year to fill, according to estimates now. The Pecos rises in the mountains, has numerous springs and has a dependable source of water. All water along the Pecos is hard.

Senator K. M. Regan of Pecos had a great deal to do with securing the erection of the dam. He went to Washington and worked on the matter along with Judge Starley and others.

One new diversion dam will be required in the districts themselves, says Judge Starley and that is at Mentone. All up and down the Pecos you hear talk of improvements to be made, of new land to be put in, stumps to be grubbed. Some of the districts are planning improvements now.

The big dam at Red Bluff is not to be a storage point for water alone. Judge Starley says it will be made a fine amusement place as well, with boating fishing and

It looks for the establishment of resort hotels. It is only about a mile from the hard-surfaced Carlsbad-Pecos highway. The building of the dam will cause the Santa Fe railway to lift its tracks and build a large bridge. In the construction of the dam if it becomes necessary to divert the waters of the Pecos, there is plenty of room for that. The dam likely will be used as a highway bridge.
Not only did the local people work for the dam but Congressman F. E. Thompson, Senators Shepard and Connally, Major Burgess of El Paso, were among those who did much for the project. L. W. Anderson, Dr. Jim Camp, were other leaders. The State Board of Water Engineers also lent its aid generously.
In spite of the hard times in the valley due to lack of water there was very little litigation.
Corn May Be Raised
One crop that may be raised here is corn. If the farmers get a corn that becomes acclimated, corn does well when it gets rain but as an irrigated crop it is a failure unless the seed are acclimated. With corn and alfalfa the valley may become great livestock feeding belt. Once Earstow shipped out 1,500 cars of alfalfa a year, now 400 to 500 is about all. That shows the extent of the decline. Once it made 1-1/2 to 2 bales of cotton to the acre; now one quarter of a bale is the rule but with water plentiful they'll get the old returns. Pinto beans are also talked of as a crop.
It is expected that there will be at least three and possibly four swaines at the dam, two of them having already started. Reeves county has always been hard on vice. Judge Starley believes Pecos City will get a real boom and that it will double its population in five years, since the biggest district of them all, that at Barstow and Cedarvale is right at its door.
The Red Bluff Water and Power Control Company is to erect the bunk houses for the men at the dam.

The Senator recently has been advocating Russian recognition and repeal of the immigration laws, according to this aggrieved gentleman. Taking issue with these views the constituent wrote McKellar a letter of protest.
He got a reply from D. W. McKellar, Secretary (brother Don) stating the letter would NOT be shown to the Senator.

Notes

Senator Bob Wagner of New York, chairman of the National Labor Board, has had some tall orders in his career but recently he got one that took his breath away. A Pennsylvania lady, writing in a cultured hand, requested "Please send me complete information on capital and labor."
Barney Baruch addressed officer students at the Army War College the other day. He does it once a year.
Having been head of the War Industries Board he lectures the Army officers on pooling patents, price-fixing, purchasing, etc., in time of war.

NEW YORK

By James McCallin
Manna—
The Swope plan for handing industry back to itself was a back-door move to bolster NRA. The opposition has been feeding on red meat lately and something had to be done to head off wholesale rebellion at an awkward time.
The chief complaint from the business moguls has been that they no longer have authority to manage their own affairs. What could be sweeter than to imply that some day they will get that authority back? Many a time a tasty dish of hope has killed off an appetite for insurgency.
The odd thing is that when the Swope plan was first broached two years ago it aroused no enthusiasm whatever. Now it looks like manna to starving individualists in comparison to the profit famine they think the government was out of the picture.

Veto

Even if the Swope plan were adopted it wouldn't get as far way from NRA principles as most people think. The government would still have representatives—though with only a veto power—sitting on industrial conclaves. Offhand it seems that the government would thereby yield most of its authority. But the joker is that the plan presupposes the adoption of NRA principles by industry. Therefore the veto power would be enough to prevent changes in code hours or wages or other conditions. The individualists couldn't get too rugged under that restriction.

Balloons

Local insiders say the significant angle to the Swope plan presentation was General Johnson's two reactions to it a day apart. They say it certainly saves time to send up two trial balloons at once instead of spacing them out. Public reactions will be closely watched and New York believes that Washington's course will be shaped by public sentiment. There is practically no chance that NRA principles will be sharply modified even though the NRA itself goes into the discard.

Easing

Meanwhile the drive to give employers a better break has one foot well inside the Blue Eagle's door. The local compliance board has already approved several applications to lengthen working hours and is considering "granting relief" to several concerns which insist that higher wages are too great a burden.
You can write it in the book that the gain of even an inch will be pushed as a precedent. The old-timers will nurse hopes of converting rear-guard action into a counter attack.

Trade

Local retailers wish November would do its stuff and get cold. The mild weather has been a decided brake on the wheels of progress. Dollar sales are running somewhat lower than a year ago and physical volume much lower. The retailers haven't had the nerve to try price reductions in the face of rising costs but they've talked it over and may be driven to it.

Motors

The automobile makers will try to recapture the declining popular urge to buy by bringing out new models much earlier than usual. The tool and die-makers' strike is being cleaned up with that goal in view. They're not sure it will work but they'll try anything. This should make happy news for the steel companies—and they need it.

Regulation

Wall Street hears that one of the moves to regulate the Stock Exchange might be to get the form of naming government representatives to sit on the Exchange Board of Governors with power to compel immediate action in cases of funny business. The Exchange would like this as well as the Chinese like Japanese military governors.
Whether this move would do any good depends entirely on the sale

Abstainers

The New York banks have become testifiers so far as the Stock Market is concerned. They just aren't having any part of any speculative activity. This helps to account for the extreme thinness of the market in recent weeks. Normally bankers like their little swigs of speculative stimulant as well as anybody. But they can see no percentage in it with the Senate investigation just getting into stride.

Auto Rico

A Porto Rican ghost may rise to haunt our delegation's efforts at the Montevideo Pan-American conference. The intense dislike of a powerful minority for Governor Gore will be translated into subtle propaganda among the Latin nations against Uncle Sam the oppressor. New Yorkers say the Gore appointment may do plenty of damage that we haven't heard about yet.

Silence

The Royal Bank of Canada could give the rest of the world a lesson on going into the silences. It has enormous stakes in Cuba which have suffered as much as ours but it hasn't uttered a peep.

Harmony Goal For Baptists In 85th Meet

Dr. Dodd Says Can 'Get Along Without Convention Church'

FORT WORTH, (UP)—Complete harmony among delegates was sought as the 85th Texas general convention got into full swing with some 6000 persons in attendance.
The harmony key-note was sounded by Dr. W. W. Barnes of Fort Worth who at the same time made an announcement that in former years has thrown conventions into turmoil.
Dr. Barnes gave notice he will introduce an amendment to the constitution permitting seating of all messengers regardless of whether their church is in accord with the association.
At present, messengers from dissenting churches can not be seated except by majority vote after the permanent organization of the convention. This ruling was passed at the convention last year at Abilene after considerable strife over the seating of delegates from Dr. J. Frank Norris' Fundamentalist Baptist church of Fort Worth which is not recognized by the Baptist conference.
Whether Dr. Barnes' declaration would be accepted with complacency or precipitate a struggle was conjecturable.
Dr. M. E. Dodd, of Shreveport, La., pleaded for harmony in his address last night at the first general session. He urged for brotherly love, mutual interest, sympathy and spirituality.
"We can get along without a convention, but not without a church," Dr. Dodd said.
More than 3500 persons attended the official opening of the convention at which Dr. J. C. Hardy, Belton, was elected convention president.
Other convention officers elected were: vice-presidents, Rev. F. S. Groner, Marshall, Rev. Thomas H. Taylor, president of Howard Payne College, and Rev. Roy S. Holloman, El Paso; Secretaries, Rev. J. L. Trust, White Wright and Rev. D. B. South, San Antonio; and secretary of the corporation, Robert H. Coleman, Dallas.
Mrs. R. A. Copass, Fort Worth, was elected for the fourth consecutive term as president of the Women's Missionary Union. Mrs. J. E. Leigh, Dallas, was named corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. D. Howell, McKinney, recording secretary; and Mrs. Homer Fisher, Houston, assistant recording secretary, and Mrs. Olivia Davis, Dallas, treasurer.
The women's missionary union went on record with resolutions denouncing the return of beer and race-track "gambling," and urged the "scientific teaching of the effects of alcohol" in Texas public schools.

The missionary union also warned parents not to permit their children to "go modern as far as they like" because of the chaotic times. The stress of the times is not an alibi, the resolution stated.

War Vet, World Traveler, Helps Get Jobs For Boys

Serg. L. B. Loewenstein, war veteran who claims to have secured jobs for over 7,500 men, has been working here the past two days in the interest of the unemployed, cooperating with the local American Legion.
He is a world wide traveler, journeying around the country by bus, boat, air and train. His work is promoted and financed by himself. He has taken part in numerous military maneuvers and wears his regulation uniform in his work. He has received many medals.
From 1913 to 1920 he was a private and non-commissioned officer in the United States army. He says he holds membership in the Legion Posts at San Antonio and at Brunswick, Ga.
Loewenstein declares that by cooperation with one another, and with the NRA and by the inflation of currency, the farmer and business man as well as the people throughout the land will be in a position to buy and thus bring back prosperity.
He says he is writing a book, based on his experiences in his travels for the veterans, which he started in 1921, at the National Legion convention in Detroit. He expects to have the book published in California. He will leave Friday for his next west bound stop, Midland.
The proceeds of his book will go to the Child Welfare fund of the American Legion Auxiliary. State departments as well as local posts will have access to these funds.
Serg. Loewenstein is a veteran of the Mexican border trouble and the world war. He has been a member of the American Legion since its organization.
The officer was a guest recently in the White House, where he visited with President Roosevelt.

What Do You Want To Know?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS (By Madame Miriam Lovine)

Q—Will my husband secure a job in the near future that will enable us to move from our present location? A—The crystal reveals a position for you by the end of the year 1933. Your wish will be granted.

Q—If my husband makes the change that he is thinking of, will he be able to make some? A—Yes, I see your husband making his change and it will be a successful move.

Q—Does my daughter intend to marry this oil man? A—E. E. A—It appears that your daughter will not marry this man. They are only friends. There is nothing serious between them.

Q—When will my husband find a position? A—A—Indications are that your husband will be permanently employed by February of 1934.

Q—Where is my wife and children now? A—E. E. A—The crystal does not reveal the exact location of your wife and children as they are traveling. A personal reading is what you really need.

Q—Will I have any more children? A—E. E. A—You are entitled to twins in 1934 the last half.

Q—Will I be enabled to make the connection with the firm in St. Louis? A—E. E. A—By the time you read this you will have already received a letter advising you of your appointment to the place in the St. Louis firm you desire. Success will be yours.

Q—I have received my horoscope and the answers to my three questions. I am pleased and shall follow the guidance of my horoscope daily. My sister wishes her personal horoscope. Her birth is January 6, 1904. You will find enclosed $1 and self addressed stamped envelope. I am also enclosing 25c for another question to be answered through the columns of the Daily Herald. "Will I continue to teach school or is marriage indicated for me soon?"

A—A marriage is coming to you in June, 1934. You will also continue your teaching career.

Q—I have lost a valuable diamond ring. Where can I find it or will it be recovered? J. J. C. A—As it appears to me the ring was loose on your finger. It was lost in the back seat of an automobile dark in color. Chances for its recovery are favorable if you look for it immediately.

Q—Which man should I marry, the old one or J. E. B.? A—My dear child it is for you to decide. Marriage is a serious business, really, even with divorce so commonplace. What you really need is a horoscope of your life and that will indicate the best man for you. Don't plunge into marriage blindly. You will regret it all your life if you do. Use your judgment. Plan your life for success.

Q—Will I make a success of my musical career? E. R. S. A—Indications for a successful musical career are in your favor if you retain your health. You will not be able to continue with your home town boy friend however as he has definite ideas for a home and children. These two paths lead in entirely different directions. Decide which you had rather have—then with your goal constantly before you keep on striving for the highest success in your chosen field of endeavor. Success will be yours reward for persistence.

Q—Is there buried money near my house? B. J. W. A—You are right. There is a buried treasure on your place near your house or within a radius of half a mile of your house, I should say.

Q—What is the matter with me physically? G. R. T. A—You need the continued attention of your physician. He diagnosed your case correctly. Follow his advice and your health will be restored. Your mind will have to realize this Mental Masterly is what you need. Don't think of your illness. Think of health. As you think, so shall your life be.

Officer Goes On Trial For Firing Into Auto Mistaken for Robbers'

HOUSTON, (UP)—How thorough a sheriff should investigate before firing into a locked, curtained automobile on the supposition that bank robbers were inside was one of several points considered by a federal court jury in a $35,631 damage suit.

The suit was brought by Mrs. Nelson B. Day, wife of an Indianapolis traveling salesman, after Sheriff William Loeis shot her in the hip in November, 1930, at Carmine, Tex., a few minutes after a bank robbery.

It was charged in the suit that Loeis, rushing to the bank after an alarm had sounded, approached the Days' automobile and "without any kind of warning, fired a charge of buckshot in the car."

Attorneys Walter Woodall and Jacob F. Walters for the defense contended that Mrs. Day was not seriously wounded and that the sheriff was justified in shooting because of the actions of the couple.

Mrs. Day contended in her petition that she was wounded in the hip and back, stayed in a hospital 47 days, lost 25 pounds and partly lost her eyesight as a result of her injuries.

Sag In Democratic Strength Is Indicated In Elections

Repeal Campaign Runs Amuck In Carolinas, Farley Takes Beating In Gotham For First Major Reverse

By RAYMOND CLAPPER United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, (UP)—The loss of the New York City election broke in as a warning note while the Roosevelt administration observed the first anniversary of the Democratic to national power one year ago.

From many parts of the country, in scattered elections, came other signs of a sag in Democratic strength. Results were viewed by some in Washington as marking the end of the Roosevelt honeymoon.

Farley's repeal campaign ran into trouble in the Carolinas. North Carolina was held by the drys and put on such a close race in South Carolina that the result was in doubt for hours. Cleveland defeated Mayor Rat T. Miller, backed by Farley for reelection and chose a Republican, former Governor Harry Davis.

Republicans held the New York assembly. In Democratic Boston, Republicans narrowly missed putting over their candidate for mayor. Democrats were taken by surprise in Hartford, Conn., where a Republican was elected mayor. In Bridgeport, Conn., home of Archibald McNeil, Democratic National Committeeman for Connecticut, a decisive socialist victory was registered.

The most encouraging returns for the Democrats were from Pennsylvania where in addition to showing general strength, they elected a mayor in Pittsburgh for the first time in 20 years.

First Major Defeat Loss of New York City was the first major defeat for administration forces, particularly for Postmaster General James A. Farley, Democratic National Chairman and Roosevelt political manager. He threw his backing to Joseph V. McGee, recovery candidate for mayor. "Against his opposition the fighting independent liberal, F. H. La Guardia as Fusion candidate swept New York City in a decisive victory. Mr. Roosevelt made no statement during the campaign. But the open activity of Farley continued without any indication of displeasure at the White House.

The magical success of Farley's prohibition repeal drive suffered an abrupt reverse in the Carolinas, though too late to check ratification of the 21st amendment. Farley spoke in both states last week. It was the first time he had failed to command outstanding victories.

G. O. P. Breaks Truce This break in the phenomenal winning streak of the Roosevelt political manager came ominously as the administration headed in a increasing opposition with its recovery program. The farm belt has revolted. General Johnson is in the midwest to rally public support against criticism of NRA. Republicans a few days ago launched their broadside of criticism breaking the political truce which followed the election.

Counties, robbery, robbery with firearms, burglary and theft, 25 years; convicted in January, 1926; conditional pardon.

STARS WHO'LL CLASH WHEN YALE MEETS GEORGIA

Triumphant over Yale in their last three duels, the unbeaten and untied Georgia Bulldogs hope to score their fourth straight over the Elis in New Haven, Nov. 11. Cy Grant, halfback, who leads the southwest conference scorers, and his mighty little halfback mate, Homer Key, will be fighting for Georgia.

Coach Francis Schmidt's Horned Frogs To Play North Dakota Sioux

FORT WORTH—Coach Jack West's North Dakota Sioux and Coach Francis Schmidt's Horned Frogs meet for the first time in the history of the two schools on the T. C. U. gridiron in Fort Worth next Saturday.

Both teams were outstanding in their particular section last year. Neither team has gone anywhere in particular so far this season.

Both coaches have small squads, with numerous injuries.

It would seem, then, that the two teams should be about evenly matched and that the spectators will be treated to a real football battle.

The Christians, by virtue of their 7 to 0 defeat at the hands of the Baylor Bears, dropped back into a three-way tie for fourth place in the conference standings.

T. C. U., Baylor and S. M. U. all have a percentage of 333. The tie will be broken up Saturday, however, for while Baylor is meeting Texas and the Methodists are playing the Aggies, the Frogs will be engaged in the non-conference tilt with North Dakota.

In the full season standings the Frogs rank third in the conference, with 5 victories, 2 losses and 1 tie.

Texas Longhorns To Tangle With Baylor Bears On Homecoming Day

AUSTIN Saturday is homecoming day for the University of Texas and Baylor Bears are the center of attraction at Memorial Stadium as they take their third conference tilt.

Baylor surprised the public with a stunning 7-0 defeat of T. C. U. in the State Red Sauter. The upset stumps the Bruins and team will increase its strength since the Horned Frogs administered a 13-7 licking to Mitty Hella Texas Aggies earlier in the season.

The Waco aggregation, possessing a powerful aerial attack, has improved each week. It is a broken-out of the conference flag since the result of defeats at the hands of A. & M. and Arkansas, but Morley Jennings has a club that is capable of knocking over any grid machine in the loop.

The Bears have in co-captain Frank James an all-conference end and in Jim Petty a wing that compares with any in the southwest. James is considered the best punter in the south besides being a defensive man of better than average ability.

Red Clem and sub-captain Dub Norton are Baylor guards that have topped the Southwest's best plungers all year.

In the backfield Joe Jack Pearce is Baylor's ace. He is a broken-field artist and a fine passer. Aubrey Stringer is the blocking expert and pass snatching back.

Longhorn scouts report that the Baylor pass defense is well high impregnable while their defense against running lays is on par with any eleven in the conference.

The Steers will polish up on their running attack this week with practically no alterations on the days used against the Ponies. The Longhorns displayed more power against Southern Methodist than at any time this season.

Race In Southwest Conference Reaches Hair-Raising Stage

BY JACK BISCO United Press Staff Correspondent DALLAS (UP)—Southwest conference football is getting down to the hair-raising stage.

Three important games this week end will add zest to the race, in which two teams, Texas and Arkansas, remain undefeated.

The Texas Longhorns meet Baylor at Austin, Southern Methodist will play Texas A. & M. at College Station, and Arkansas will oppose the Rice Owls at Houston.

The University of North Dakota will invade the Texas Christian University camp at Fort Worth for an inter-sectional clash. All games will be played Saturday.

Last week's results drew some pretty well defined lines on the conference chart.

Thanks to the stellar playing of Bohn Hilliard, the Longhorns eked out a last period 10 to 0 victory over the Mustangs at Dallas, enabling Texas to continue to share with the Porkers undefeated honors.

Hilliard kicked a neat field goal from the 15-yard line a few minutes before he snatched a Mustang pass and raced for a touchdown. He completed his day's work by chalking up the extra point after touchdown. His scoring elevated him to first place in individual honors.

At Fayetteville the Porkers, who did not play, spent the afternoon vainly rubbing rabbits' feet in the hope they might help the Mustangs win.

S. M. U. was virtually eliminated from the conference race by reason of Saturday's defeat, as was T. C. U., defending champion, which was taken by surprise at Waco, where Baylor won 7 to 0.

Both S. M. U. and T. C. U. have now lost two conference games each, thus joining the ranks of Baylor and Rice.

Jimmy Parks was the hero of the T. C. U.-Baylor upset. He slipped around the Christians' defense for the lone touchdown.

Texas A. & M. lost a game to Centenary College, 20 to 0 at Shreveport, but being a non-conference tilt, the encounter did not affect the Aggies' standing as runner-up to the Longhorns and the Porkers, they have lost one game.

In another inter-sectional match, Rice bowed to the Pacific Coast Santa Clara university team, 13 to 0, at San Francisco. Victory of the more powerful California eleven did not come as a surprise.

Baylor's display of strength and prowess last week-end added considerably to interest in the forthcoming contest with Texas, while Arkansas' coach, Fred Thomsen, had asserted he regards Rice as the Porkers' most serious threat for the remainder of the season.

These two games will hold next Saturday's spotlight.

The S. M. U.-Aggies game may, however, turn out to be the classic of the week.

At Fayetteville the Porkers, who did not play, spent the afternoon vainly rubbing rabbits' feet in the hope they might help the Mustangs win.

Permanence in N. R. A.

The N.R.A. has now passed out of the phase of critical discussion. The country has realized that as a means of promoting a quick recovery too much was promised and too much was expected, and that the real importance of N.R.A. is that it inaugurates a long-term change in industrial control.

In influential quarters there is a disposition to challenge the idea that such a long-term change of industrial control is desirable or warranted. The argument is that the Roosevelt administration has no mandate entitling it to inaugurate permanent changes; that N. R. A. must justify itself as a measure of immediate recovery. It has to be admitted, I think, that the Administration laid itself open to this form of attack when, last July, it persuaded itself that the blue eagle campaign was the way to restore prosperity. For it was only as a method of quick recovery that the blanket code, the boycott, the general coercion, to set up codes in a hurry, could possibly have been justified.

Yet whatever the initial mistakes of policy in executing N. R. A. however necessary it may be to correct those mistakes, the basic conceptions of N. R. A. are, it seems to me, bound to remain and to demand the future of industrial control in the United States. This conclusion is, I think, inescapable, and is also easily demonstrable.

What is the basic conception of N. R. A.? It is that compulsory competition, as embodied in the philosophy of the anti-trust laws, does not produce an orderly and satisfactory industrial system; that for compulsory competition it is necessary to substitute a method of combination and co-operation; that combination and co-operation merely among business men working for profit would, however, produce all the evils of monopoly; that consequently if combination is to be permitted this concentration of power must be checked and balanced by organized labor on the one hand, by government on the other. For once you admit that competition is not to be the principal method of regulating business, the only alternatives are private monopoly or a "partnership" with organized labor and with government.

Now business men object to the principle of collective bargaining and to the principle of government regulation should ask themselves, before they go the whole way in opposition to the N. R. A., what is the alternative? What would happen if, at the end of the two-year period of trial the act were allowed to lapse, and we reverted to the status quo ante? The law of the land would then again be compulsory competition. Now this law has been like the prohibition law; it has been enforced just enough to be a nuisance and not enough to do any good. Yet if N. R. A. is scrapped, the government will be compelled to resume the effort to enforce the anti-trust laws. Is that a desirable alternative to N. R. A.? I should doubt it. Enlightened business men are faced with plenty of difficult problems under N. R. A., both in relation to organized labor and in relation to the government. But would these problems be any easier if, instead of dealing with the N. R. A. administrators they had to deal with the Department of Justice?

He who objects to N. R. A. in principle must therefore answer the question: do you prefer compulsory competition or is it unregulated monopoly that you desire?

The truth is, I think, that anything tending toward unregulated monopoly will not be accepted by the American people. Compulsory competition, on the other hand, has broken down as completely as national prohibition. It follows that N. R. A. is not a bit of a phantasm of the brain trust, but an inescapable recognition of this breakdown of compulsory competition. At bottom it is not, therefore, a new experiment but the acknowledgment of a condition which has been becoming increasingly evident over the course of a generation. N. R. A. registers the end of an era in which an old theory was gradually knocked out by new realities. It has become necessary for business to combine and co-operate; but combination in business is intolerable, if, in the control of the combination, organized labor and government as the representative of the general interest are not partners. This is the meaning of N. R. A.

That is why, in spite of all the tactical errors and superficial misconceptions of the first few months, N. R. A. is almost certain to mark a permanent and basic change in industrial control. In so far as public opinion recognizes this, it will be preparing itself to work out the many theoretical and practical adjustments which are required by this new industrial order.

At Austin

By GORDON K. SHEARER

AUSTIN, (UP)—State Rep. Walter C. Holloway of Longview is being mentioned as a candidate to oppose Lon A. Smith, chairman of the state railroad commission in next summer's Democratic primaries.

Smith is the only commissioner to come up for election next year. Holloway was a leader in the unsuccessful effort of East Texans to create a separate body to handle oil and gas matters.

The bill was the hardest fought measure before the regular session of the forty-third legislature. It was passed by the house but defeated in the senate.

Holloway, 57-year-old insurance man, has represented Gregg and Harrison counties in the legislature since 1931.

Smith is from Henderson and was a state senator in the thirty-fourth, thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth legislatures. He was state controller before becoming a member of the railroad commission.

The attorney general again has a woman attorney on his staff, Miss Pauline Frank of Austin has been made a legal investigator. She is a graduate of the University of Texas and has been practicing law for several years.

A woman on the state legal staff is no innovation. Miss Ethel Hilton of Galveston was in the office of Attorney-General Claude Pollard, resigning upon her marriage to the late Cone Johnson of Tyler.

Lee Satterwhite of Odessa, former speaker of the house of representatives, is the new state printer. He once published newspapers at Wortham and Panhandle. One of his first duties will be supervision of the engraving of the $5,500,000 relief bonds authorized by the state legislature.

Delay of the state railroad commission is beginning its hearing on time has caused much complaint at Austin. Often the hearings start from 15 to 30 minutes after the time scheduled.

Before leaving for Santiago, Chile, where he will be United States ambassador, Hal Sevier predicted one of the future developments in Austin will be an acropolis on Mt. Bonnell. It is a high point overlooking the Colorado river valley, a short distance from Austin. It is an admirable site for a replica of the Greek citadel which protected ancient Athens.

State Railroad Commissioner E. O. Thompson has quite a portrait gallery in his office. Every time he returns from a conference or hearing at Washington, he brings back a new autographed picture of some notable. Leaders of the allied armies in the World War have a prominent place on his office walls. Washington, Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt hang one over the other in another wall space.

Lack of state appropriation to assist in conducting a Centennial celebration of Texas independence from Mexico is not the chief obstacle in the way of the celebration. When other difficulties are cleared up, the appropriation will be forthcoming.

Chief obstacle is the rivalry between cities over the site. So bitter had this rivalry become that the Centennial committee agreed to drop all discussion of locations for the celebration while it carried on the campaign resulting in the constitutional amendment which permits state appropriation for the purpose.

Dallas is accused of wanting the centennial because its location anywhere else would damage the 1936 state fair of Texas.

San Antonio, with the Alamo, thinks it is the logical site and Houston feels San Jacinto battlefield, at its edge, gives it first call. Washington on the Brazos, Gonzales, Goliad and other towns all have claims.

Austin claims the celebration as seat of government and as the logical place for the erection of permanent buildings the exposition may leave. Site for a state museum has been offered on the recently enlarged campus of the University of Texas. A centennial committee of the American League of Texas has arranged for coinage of Texas Centennial half dollars.

By selling them at a dollar the Legion committee proposes to raise money for the museum.

If all the rivalries can be quiet-ed and a single movement be started for the general good of the cause. There is prospect of little trouble about an appropriation at the special sessions of the legislature which now seem likely early in 1934.

Poetry Contest For High School Pupils Sponsored By Baylor

All Big Spring high school students are eligible for the 12th annual high school poetry contest which is being sponsored by Baylor College at Belton. Rules for the contest have been announced and the winner will be awarded the Sjolander cup for the year. Winners of first, second and third places will receive an autographed copy of a volume by some noted Texas poet and all ranking contestants will be invited to read their poems before the Texas High School Press association, which meets in Belton December 15 and 16.

All students enrolled in Texas high schools are eligible and any contestants may enter any original composition which has been written within a year. Previous publication does not disqualify a composition. The only qualification about the nature of the poem is that it will not be more than a hundred lines in length. Students interested in submitting material should inquire of Mr. Houston, English instructor, concerning the details of the contest. All poems must be in the hands of the local committee not later than Monday, November 27.
