

Army To Trap Disability Fakery; Doctors To Be On Lookout In Tests

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—A book that is wise to all the tricks and artful dodges will aid selective service medical examiners in exposing fakers who attempt to evade the draft by pretending to be ill or disabled.

Standards for men to be drafted into the army. The standards are slightly less exacting than regular army requirements.

Broadly, the regulations state that, to be eligible for the army, a registrant "must be able to see well; have comparatively good hearing; have a heart able to withstand the stress of physical exertion; be intelligent enough to understand and execute military maneuvers, obey commands, and protect himself; and be able to transport himself by walking as the exigencies of military life may demand."

Guard Against 'Blanks' In Drawing Draft Numbers

By EDDIE GILMORE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Armed with thousands of bullet-like capsules—each one meant to hold a draft number—selective service officials are guarding against shooting off any blanks at next Tuesday's national lottery.

One big blank was fired at the first 1917 drawing, and, profiting by that embarrassing mistake, those who load the capsules are aiming at a perfect score next week.

The capsule-loading contingent will move into action Friday. Every capsule loader will be given a certain number of paper slips, each bearing a draft serial number, and the same number of capsules.

When each loader has completed his task, he should have no capsules or slips left. If he does, something went wrong.

The capsules and the numbered papers will be triple checked before and after they go to the loaders.

In 1917 the 10,000 capsule drawn turned out to be empty. It was too late to stop and start over, so after a heavy pause, the drawing continued.

The day after the drawing officials discovered the blank capsule should have contained serial number 4,664.

With the super precautions being taken in 1940 officials don't believe it will happen again, but if it does, whoever shoots that blank might get fired himself.

NYA Project Is Given Approval

Approval by NYA authorities in Washington of a resident center project for Big Spring was announced here Wednesday by city officials.

The proposed center was sanctioned with two principal alterations, one setting it up originally on the basis of 50 boys instead of 100 as covered in the application, and the other deleting the motor mechanics unit.

However, designs of the center's buildings would be on the basis of enlarging to 100 if and when NYA gives the word, according to word from city and district NYA officials.

Meanwhile, negotiations were in progress between the city and the Big Spring Independent School district for a tract of land on the old Birdwell area. If a suggested plan goes through, it was considered probable that the city would have access to its detention dam and park property as well as a triangular section lying along Gollad street south from E. 11th. It would be on this spot that the NYA center buildings would be erected.

Building plans would be altered to conform with changes effected at Washington, it was declared. Dormitory space would be redesigned to accommodate 50 boys, with provisions made to expand buildings to serve 100 if and when approved. The kitchen would be cut to accommodate 50 with an expansion feature included. The motor mechanics shop building would be eliminated, leaving two buildings for the wood and metal shops. The administration building would be included in plans for the recreational hall.

Architects for NYA are due here within the week, E. V. Spence, city manager said, and it was considered probable that operations would begin in a few days. The community center buildings in the city park will be used until the youths can construct their new buildings, and sanitary facilities are being installed there in order to clear the way for enrollment.

FD Goes Into Campaign; To Speak Tonight

Willkie Calls For Information On 'Falsification' Charge

By The Associated Press President Roosevelt, ready for a "bang up" finish drive, took to the campaigning trail today for the first of a series of major political addresses in populous eastern territory.

Even before Mr. Roosevelt entered the Philadelphia where he speaks tonight, his republican antagonist, Wendell L. Willkie, challenged the chief executive's statement that he would do everything in his power "to keep war away from these shores for all time."

Willkie, at a Chicago rally last night, also demanded that the democratic nominee tell the people whether he, Willkie, had "falsified the record" in the attacks he has made on the administration.

The Willkie demand apparently was aimed at Mr. Roosevelt's assertion, in announcing his political speaking program, that his purpose was to discuss the "systematic program x x x of deliberate falsification of fact" which he charged had characterized the republican campaign.

Secretary Ickes said Mr. Roosevelt would "take off the gloves" in the speech tonight, and White House aides said their chief was set for a "bang up" campaign finish.

The president will speak at 8:15 p. m. (C.S.T.) Two national radio networks (NBC and CBS) will carry the speech, the time for which will be paid by the democratic national committee.

James A. Farley, former democratic national chairman who has the reputation of being a big factor in his party's victories in 1932 and 1936, announced last night: "I shall vote the straight democratic ticket on Nov. 5 and urge the members of my party to do likewise."

Farley's statement, issued in New York, did not mention Mr. Roosevelt by name or any other party candidate. It was his first political declaration since the democratic national convention at which he unsuccessfully sought the presidential nomination.

Willkie, who has been assailing the idea of a third term, said last night that, if elected, he would make every effort for "the passage of a constitutional amendment that will bar for all time" the possibility of a third term.

For his Chicago appearance, Willkie turned eastward today bound for New York where he addresses the Herald-Tribune forum tonight. Willkie planned to make several talks during the day.

Only Colossal British Blunder Will Make France An Ally Of Axis, Observer Declares

(Editor's Note: Lloyd Lehrbas, Associated Press "roving reporter", recently returned from four months spent in France covering the defeat and collapse of the French republic and post-armistice developments).

By LLOYD LEHRBAS WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Unless the British make some colossal diplomatic or military blunder which irreparably antagonizes the French people, informed observers—here and in France—find it hard to believe that France will willingly re-enter the war as an ally of Germany.

Rumors and reports similar to those now emanating from Berlin which predict that France may join the axis powers in return for favorable peace terms, have circulated in France from time to time, but have always been discounted immediately.

Few Frenchmen believe France has the strength, will or desire to re-enter the war on either side. A popular vote would probably show a tremendous majority against any military activity directed against Great Britain. The few belligerently-minded Frenchmen I met were, on the contrary, anti-German and favored helping the British, if possible. Most, however, shrugged their shoulders and exclaimed: "If we could not stand up against the Germans when we were supposed to be prepared, what could we do now?"

Many Frenchmen do, nevertheless, envisage the day when the Germans, grown either desperate or bold, will force the French to render Germany every possible assistance "short of war."

The Vichy government is not in a position to refuse to cooperate with Germany if it demands territorial concessions, insists on closer diplomatic collaboration, seizes French warships or planes to be used against the British, or makes other bayonet-backed "suggestions."

France today actually is surrounded by Germany and its axis friends, dominated by German guns, and almost completely dependent on Germany economically.

Fog Puts Crimp In Aerial Attacks; Nazis' Production Is Hard Hit

London fog made thicker by the outpourings of a million chimneys pots all but blanketed out German air raiders last night and today, and bad weather also grounded the Royal Air Force offensive against Germany.

London had its second successive morning without an air raid, but shortly after noon an alarm was sounded. The raiders planned "signal soon followed, without any German planes having reached the area of the capital.

A government communique late today said air raids on Britain during the day were restricted to "a few isolated attacks" by single planes which caused only slight damage and fatalities in one London area, although bombs were dropped on another London district and a south coast town.

German planes were seen at intervals from dawn to noon over scattered towns of western England, however.

Although last night's attacks on London were much lighter than usual, it was feared today that about 25 persons were killed last night when a German bomb buried them under the fire-swept wreckage of one of London's largest department stores.

Reports in mid-afternoon said 11 bodies already had been dragged out of the basement shelter. An official of the store said, however, it would be "some time before a roll call can be completed and the exact number of fatalities determined."

Undamaged parts of the store were open for business today while the search went on.

A bomb of unusually large caliber scored a direct hit on the building, where members of the staff who had already been bombed out of their homes and residents of neighboring apartments had taken shelter for the night.

Italians Claim Six British Ships Sunk

ROME, Oct. 23 (AP)—Virginia Gayda, authoritative fascist editor, asserted today that six ships of a large British convoy were sunk with the loss of all hands by Italian war vessels in Sunday's battle of the Red sea, already reported yesterday by the Italian high command.

Gayda estimated that the convoy, made up of 36 large ships with a strong naval escort, carried a total of 22,000 troops, implying that one-sixth of that number, between 3,000 and 4,000 men, were lost.

(The British admiralty yesterday declared that none of the vessels in the convoy was damaged and that the only British casualties in the battle were three men wounded aboard the destroyer Kimberley, which was blown up by the Italian destroyer Francesco Nullo.)

Dog Lovers Argue Eloquenty Against A Limit On Kennels

A man's best friend—his dog—had some of the friendship returned Tuesday night, as a group of dog lovers appeared before the city commission to oppose a proposed ordinance that would limit the number of canines that could be kept by one owner in the city limits.

A dozen or so men—raisers and trainers of hunting dogs—were on hand to defend their animals, and also to voice a hint that a matter of violation of personal liberty was involved.

The commission had taken the ordinance under consideration after receipt of several complaints against kennels as a nuisance. These complaints, it was said, were directed largely at a commercial kennel located on the western edge of the city, and the operator of that place was on hand to assure officials he would cooperate to the fullest extent in remedying troubles.

The proposed ordinance would limit the number of dogs maintained in a single kennel to three, and would order disposal of puppy litters when the dogs reached the age of six months.

The dog fanciers admitted that their beloved animals were not beyond reproach on behavior, but they protested that a greater nuisance was caused by stray canines. The kennels, they argued, were for the purpose of keeping the dogs under control.

Evidence of the arguments had some bearing, because city commissioners agreed to delay action on the ordinance until the matter of complaints and a possible remedy could be found.

Miss Laneous Notes

By MARY WHALEY

Everytime we stay out later than Cinderella and go to work at the usual early hour, friends always comment on how bright-eyed and beaming we seem. And the night we decide it's high time to get a little shut-eye and get to bed early, folks shake their heads at our sleepy eyes the next morning.

It must be that we got put together backwards as sleep always works the opposite way with others and nobody till yet believes our story.

When we have bags under our eyes that look like we might be going travelling, we get tak-ed at but when we drag one foot around behind the other and seem to be tottering on our pins, it is a sure sign we hit the hay come 10 o'clock.

On those after-late night out mornings we bluster in and say good morning in a hearty manner in place of the usual grunt at people. And it's a sure sign we burned the midnight oil for one reason or another.

But convincing the scoffers is something we have yet to accomplish. It isn't consistent but then consistency isn't one of our virtues.

The way we have it figured out is that we have rationed out such short sleeping hours all our life to the old diaphragm that when it gets more than usual dose, it just can't take it. Hence, it just curls up and lets us down right in the middle of our story about "early to bed, etc." that we never did believe anyway.

Household Hints

By Mrs. Arreva D. French
Who Conducted The Herald Cooking School

As you take a cake from the oven, place it for a very few moments on a cloth wrung out of cold water. Then it may be turned out easily without sticking.

To avoid lumps in batter, add a pinch of salt to the flour before it is wet.

Wash spinach with root attached. Then remove leaf, as stem and leaf of spinach is hollow and will hold dirt.

A fork should never be stuck in a steak or chop that is being fried or grilled, because it lets the juice out.

When ferns turn yellow, slice a raw potato and put in on top of soil. This will draw out the worms, which are usually responsible for such a condition.

A dry cork will remove stains from plate or silver more quickly than anything else, and it never scratches. If the cork is cut to a point it can be worked into crevices which have become tarnished.

spread prizes. As the time for today's final session approached, it appeared that a record through would be on hand to hear Mrs. French give valuable recipes and numerous hints for lightening and brightening household tasks.

An attraction, too, was the awarding of grand prizes, in addition to the long list of daily gifts. Awards by the dozen were made Monday and Tuesday, and to top these off, grand awards were scheduled for today, these to include a Maglo Chef gas range from the Empire Southern Service company.

An added feature was the presentation of many awards in the "Smile" cake baking contest, sponsored by Mrs. Tucker's shortening, and participated in by other national manufacturers co-operating in the school. Handmade merchandise items were given in this contest, which attracted many outstanding cakes baked by women of the Big Spring area.

On all sides have come declarations that the school is an outstanding event of its kind. Women have expressed their delight with the programs, and local firms and national advertisers have been well pleased with the enthusiastic response to their efforts.

Mrs. French, herself, who came back to Big Spring this year for the third time because of popular demand, and who has made a distinct hit with her able lectures, said "I have never had more interested and friendly audiences than I have in Big Spring. It has been a pleasure to work here, and I hope to do so again."

Additional recipes which have been prepared and are recommended by Mrs. French appear in today's Herald. They may be clipped for future use.

School Circus At Lamesa On Hallowe'en

LAMESA, Oct. 28 (Sp.)—Color and novelty will abound here Oct. 31 when the all-school Hallowe'en circus and carnival extravaganza is staged on McCollum field.

Hundreds of school children representing the various departments of the high and elementary schools will join in a gay festival under the direction of Mrs. Armina J. Yates, member of the local faculty. She is being assisted by the heads of the physical education, dramatics and other departments.

Features on the program will be a big three-ring circus with a colorful gypsy pageant, novelty dances, chorus specialties, unique acrobatics, and a wealth of clowns.

Following the circus there will be side-shows, cake-walks, bingo games, fortune tellers, fish ponds and a host of other interesting booths. In addition, there is to be the usual carnival fare of hot-dogs, candy, pink lemonade, balloons, confetti, etc.

Among those assisting in the planning of the event are Conway E. King, Lovie Beavers, Reuben Nio, Mrs. Weldon Lindsey, C. A. Bell, Charles Williams, and organizations including the girl scouts, Home Makers, Spanish club, P. T. A. Press club, Choral club, Latin club, band, Melodiers and Band Mothers.

Band Mothers Club At Lamesa Names New Officers

LAMESA, Oct. 28 (Sp.)—Mrs. Charles Prulett has been named president of the Lamesa Band Mothers' club following a meeting here Monday evening in the high school auditorium.

Other officers named were Mrs. L. E. Vaughn, vice-president; Mrs. Barney Yarbrough, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. M. L. Standifer, reporter.

Plans were drafted by the club for a booth at the Hallowe'en carnival slated for McCollum Field on Oct. 31. The club will sell sandwiches and hot drinks.

Discussion was heard on ways and means to buy new uniforms for the 72-piece Lamesa high school band, and a method of financing the annual trip for the band to the Battle of Flowers in San Antonio next spring.

Last season the Lamesa band ranked second in playing and marching in open competition with all other bands entered in the Battle of Flowers. Conway King is director.

CLERK INDICTED FOR THREATS ON PRESIDENT'S LIFE
WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Edward De Rouillac Blount, 30-year-old government clerk, was under indictment today on charges of twice threatening to kill President Roosevelt.
Blount, son of a retired lawyer, pleaded guilty at his preliminary hearing before a United States commissioner, but his attorney said he would plead innocence when he was arraigned in district court Friday. He is free on $3,000 bond.
Government attorneys said that on two occasions Blount asserted he would kill the president at the first opportunity.
Blount formerly lived in Evansville, Ind.

40-Hour Week Here 'n' There Is Effective
WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—The wage-hour law reaches at midnight one of its twin objectives—the 40-hour work week.
For some 2,000,000 out of an estimated 12,000,000 workers in interstate commerce covered by the law, the change to 40 hours from the present 42-hour week will mean more leisure, or overtime pay at the rate of time and a half. The 40-hour standard is not a rigid limitation.
The change may have little general effect on the nation's economy because the 40-hour week, according to wage-hour officials, has been widely adopted in industry. At the same time the 40-hour work week begins, the wage-hour agency's new definitions of exempted white collar workers become effective, exempting from the law a group of executive, administrative and professional employees and outside salesmen estimated to exceed 200,000.
In addition, other revised regulations previously established opened the way to exempt from the maximum work week and overtime pay canning, packing and processing plant employes for as much as 28 weeks a year during the busy seasons.
The 40-hour week and overtime requirement, the agency said, is applicable to the first full work week beginning on and after midnight.
The second goal of the wage-hour law—a general 40-cent-an-hour minimum wage—will be reached in 1945.

Lowmore Appeal Is Dismissed By Court
Appeal of E. W. Lowmore, under conviction here for embezzlement of city water department funds, was dismissed by the court of criminal appeals in Austin Tuesday at request of the appellant. Last week Lowmore announced that he would accept the two-year sentence and begin serving it in prison as soon as the court dismissed the appeal.

Rayburn Urges Support For FD
BONHAM, Oct. 23 (AP)—Speaker Sam Rayburn hurled his weight into the final democratic drive for votes today, hurrying toward the midwest after urging a southwestern audience last night not to trade off "a tried and true horse for one we know nothing about."
Rayburn conferred with Texas democratic leaders and planned to entrain tonight for St. Joseph, Mo., where he had a night speaking engagement tomorrow. This and other midwestern and eastern speaking dates he referred to in his homecoming speech as a "great crusade to convince the people of America that the way to keep this democracy safe is to vote for representatives, senators and a president who believed there should be no forgotten man in all the land."
He said he did not know or care whether Hitler, Mussolini, and the emperor of Japan "are taking any stock in this election" and added: "But I do know they have had such tough dealing and sailing with Franklin D. Roosevelt that they would welcome any change in the White House."

MARKETS Wall Street
NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—Stocks moved ahead today in a slow but steady surge which encompassed bonds and commodities.

Among the more active rising shares in addition to the steels, were Anaconda, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge, American Smelting, Douglas, Boeing, Glenn Martin, Sperry, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Caterpillar, Air Reduction, Eastman, U. S. Gypsum, Standard Oil of N. J., Santa Fe and Great Northern preferred.

Gas Company Adopts Plan To Encourage Military Service
Cooperating in national defense plans, the Empire Southern Service and the Empire Southern Gas companies today announced a policy affecting employees who might be called into service.
All who have been an employee of the companies for a period of one year or more will be given a bonus of two weeks pay when they are inducted into military service under terms of the selective service act. For employees with no dependents, the companies will accrue 20 per cent of the employee's basic salary at the current rate from the time of induction until his return (but not for a longer period than one year). If and when he returns to the companies and is employed on a permanent basis, this amount will be paid to him. A similar arrangement works for those with dependents except that the 20 per cent goes to his dependents in monthly installments.
The company agreed to care for group life insurance premiums during the period of training, and continue the option of continuing annuities premiums.
New employees and those promoted to take the place of those drafted will be informed that their employment and promotion is on a temporary basis and for the period of one year.

"This report does not give a complete detailed account of every needy person who comes to our door, but this will, to some extent, show the need, and what has been done to relieve the situation. One has but to go in and out the streets of our city to see that scores of our citizens live under conditions which are deplorable, and Army workers happen to know that there are many families, some of them living in Big Spring for years, who are thankful if they can get beans and bread to eat, and that not merely for a day or two but for weeks at a stretch, small wonder then that petty thefts are being committed, hungry people will sometimes do what ordinarily they would scorn to even think of."
"One hundred families have received help from the Army during the period under review, and to these 352 grocery orders have been given, while garments totaling almost 3,000 and 231 pairs of shoes as well as medicine, cooking utensils, fuel, etc., have been distributed to needy families. Repairs have been done to homes, and at least two families have been helped to furnish their homes after having all their belongings destroyed by fire."
"The total value of all aid given to needy families include: Christmas baskets $4,373.38
Hospitalization and operation, one lady 100.00

BROWDER INVITED TO GIVE EVIDENCE ON FRAUD CHARGE
WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—The senate campaign expenditures committee invited Earl Browder, communist presidential nominee, today to submit any evidence in support of his charges of "election frauds" in New York.
Chairman Gillette (D-Iowa) said Browder had telegraphed protests about "outrageous interference in election rights" and "intimidation" of petition signers.
Also, Gillette said that committee investigators had been unable to corroborate charges that hundreds of District of Columbia residents were voting illegally in West Virginia through absentee ballots.

REPORT CARDS ARE ISSUED BY SCHOOLS
Today is report card day for Big Spring schools, administrative officials announced.
Along with cards will go letters to parents, explaining the basis for the cards and interpreting the report. School officials urged that parents study the cards in light of the letter.

Somebody in Martin county—we wouldn't know—there is to be a detonation tonight. It won't be Mister Hitler threatening western hemisphere solidarity, but the opening gun on a war against ravens. According to advance information, a popular raven roost has been loaded with dynamite. Only four persons know the location, unannounced for fear presence of too many people might mean a score on something besides ravens.
It's not safe anymore. For the second time within a month a trailer came loose from its moorings on a downtown street and continued merrily to bash two cars. A Mexican, owner of the trailer, made arrangements to settle for damages.

Third Street Paving Costs Reassessed
With none attending to protest, the city commission Tuesday evening reassessed paving costs against property owners along Third street.
The action, one unparalleled in Texas jurisprudence so far as could be learned, was taken since original assessments had been nullified by the statutes of limitation. Commissioners also heard a discussion of the NYA resident center for Big Spring and authorized negotiations with school board members for a tract of school land in the eastern part of the city. One matter of tax adjustment was given favorable action.
