

BRITISH HAIL U. S. AS ALLY IN BATTLE

LONDON, Dec. 19 (AP)—News of the arms speedup in America and President Roosevelt's proposal to lend aid to Britain crowded the front pages of London newspapers today, and some sections of the press described the United States as a full-fledged ally in the war against Germany and Italy.

Editorial and special writers acclaimed the president's proposals as having wiped out Britain's war debt default and her current credit dilemma.

"America is our ally in the struggle," proclaimed the Daily Sketch, which deplored the necessity of such expedients as arms loans and said they arose from "the fiction that America is not in the war as much as we x x x."

"America is as much a belligerent as Britain—the only difference being that we are in the front line," declared this commentator.

The Mail's editorial page assured readers that declarations by Secretary of State Hull and William S. Knudsen of the national defense advisory committee had finally shocked Americans "out of their smug slumber" in which they "tried to have their guns and candy, too" by maintaining production of "peacetime niceties."

"But America isn't living in peacetime," wrote Don Iddon, the Mail's New York correspondent. "She is the non-belligerent ally of Great Britain. She is Britain's supply base and plane and ship provider."

The News Chronicle declared that President Roosevelt's arms lease proposal was "a stroke of political genius" in which he showed "the logic and genius that make him the practical leader of the world democracy."

SCHOOLS CLOSE TO STOP MINOR FLU EPIDEMIC

By the Associated Press

Several schools in Texas have closed early for the Christmas holidays due to the prevalence of a mild form of influenza.

Schools in Highland Park and University Park, Dallas suburbs, suspended classes yesterday because of an increase in influenza cases and a continuance of mumps. Absences had ranged from 10 to 22 per cent of the student bodies. The schools in Dallas proper still were open.

Reports from Wichita Falls said that the schools there closed yesterday until after the Christmas holidays.

Classwork at Marfa was suspended yesterday due to outbreaks of influenza and other diseases. The Texas A. & M. college cadet corps was dismissed last Saturday because of flu.

Christmas Mail Business Grows

Postal volume gained another notch Wednesday as Christmas shopping and mailing picked up in Big Spring.

Total cancellation of letters Wednesday amounted to 15,275 under the 18,676 for the same day last year. Insured parcels received ran to 628, slightly under the 648 for the same day a year ago. However, the volume of letters for the first week of tabulation was 8,311 ahead of the same period last year—a daily average increase of 1,190 letters.

American Airlines employees were big smiles for they were in receipt of handsome Christmas bonuses voted by directors of the company.

Three assigned to the terminal here drew the $50 bonus voted to employees by a record of a year or more with the company. Two others drew the $25 for those over six months and less than a year of service, while none qualified for the $10 for less than six months.

Western Union Charges Dropped

CHICAGO, Dec. 19 (AP)—The federal court today threw out an indictment charging the Western Union Telegraph company and 11 individuals with conspiracy to violate the lottery laws by sending horse racing results over interstate boundaries.

The charges were dropped when Judge William H. Holly sustained a demurrer to the indictment returned in April. Most of the individual defendants were associates of M. L. Annenberg, former Racing News magnate now serving a prison term for income tax evasion.

Danger Near In Conflict, Leader Says

Prime Minister Tells House Of Commons Foe Is Not Napping

LONDON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, warning his people that German invasion still is a "surprise danger," took note today of a let-up in German air attacks and declared "they might easily have slackened in preparation for some other form of activity against Britain."

Addressing the house of commons, Churchill acknowledged that the weather might have been the chief factor in the easing of the aerial siege and said:

"It would be a disaster for anyone to suppose that the supreme danger of invasion has passed."

Adolf Hitler, he asserted, "has great need to do something now or at any rate in the next two months."

"We must suppose that he is making plans which would be particularly directed against us."

At the same time Churchill dropped a hint of Britain's own long range offensive planning when he said that she would be "well armed in 1941" and no doubt we shall find opportunities on forces, if not defense of this island, in other theatres on terms of moderate equality in numbers and equipment."

As for the danger of invasion, the prime minister said:

"We are not afraid of any blow... our defense of the beaches is complete."

It was the prime minister's final war report before the short Christmas recess of parliament.

"We are not making the mistake which was made by the French general staff when they thought that holding the Maginot line was all that was necessary," he said. "The watchword must be unceasing vigilance."

"Hitler" and as Churchill muttered the word he interjected, milder laughter: "I should certainly deprecate any comparison between Hitler and Napoleon—I do not want to insult the dead—Hitler wields gigantic power and is capable of wielding it in a ruthless manner."

Fifty Texans Will Die In Yuletide Accidents

AUSTIN, Dec. 19 (AP)—Christmas travel of perhaps 50 Texans will lead to the morgue.

This prediction—based on experience of former years—came today from the public safety department which issued a few simple rules to prevent holiday carnage on the highways.

These preventive rules have been suggested by Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., department director:

In taking long trips leave early so that you can drive at a safe speed and still arrive on time.

If you must drink, take a taxi or let a sober person drive.

Avoid long drives which produce fatigue, dulling the driver's reflexes.

Reduce speed when visibility is limited on roads wet.

Use extra precaution in passing other vehicles.

If you are a pedestrian cross streets only at intersections.

Oil Association Plans Tax Work

Executive and central tax committees of the Permian Basin association voted here yesterday to carry a program of tax control to local taxpayers through use of local groups.

This involves creation of a tax bureau with an analyst to assist local committees on invitation. The program will be effected to the extent of the association's financial abilities, Hamilton McRae, Midland, president, said.

The session on the Settles mezzanine, last of a series of three, was attended by 26 basin officials and tax representatives of oil, transportation and utility companies.

Crux of any tax control lies in selling local groups on economy efficiency, D. H. Griffith, acting chairman of the basin central committee, declared.

"All of the budget analysis in the world won't accomplish anything," he said, "if local committees do not follow them up."

I. K. Kelley, Midland believed "we have arrived at the point where our yardstick for public expenditures should be concerned with not what we need, but with what we can do without."

Although the association is primarily concerned with petroleum interests, Kelly warned that it should in no sense restrict its tax program to that field.

Budgets should be thoroughly analyzed before valuation and equalization problems are attacked, asserted Ben LeFevre, host committeeman, who added that elimination of the tendency to saddle tax increases on select groups would work to benefit of all taxpayers.

D. H. Holder, Dallas, and J. E. Allen, Dallas, told of accomplishments of a similar program in East Texas. Berry Brown, tax analyst who worked with the association's local committee in Yoakum county, outlined the basin's plan which included a central tax committee, local groups, and a tax bureau maintaining continuous expert service. He pointed out that studies would deal with total valuations and equalizations as opposed to individual problems, and would make exhaustive studies of proposed budgets to avoid "90 per cent of what we don't have to have."

Attending were G. H. Hayward, Cliff Wiley and Ben LeFevre of Big Spring; R. K. Kelly, W. W. LaForce, Charles D. Vertras, Wm. Y. Penn, P. H. Fuhrman of Midland; M. C. Lindsey of Lamesa; Holder and Allen of Dallas; W. C. Russell of Tulsa, Okla.; Ben S. Smith of Levelland; J. D. Duncan, Paul C. Texas and Thomas B. Duggan, Jr. of Lubbock; Wm. R. Edwards and T. G. Roach of Edw. Caneay, and Wilburn Page, Midland, executive secretary of the association.

Hitler Sends Troop Planes Into Albania

Troop Transports Carry Reinforcements Across Adriatic Sea

LATE BULLETIN

BASIL, Switzerland, Dec. 19 (AP)—The newspaper Le Democrat of Delemont reported today "from a good source in Zurich" that freight and civilian traffic have been suspended on the Brenner railway line to permit the passage of German divisions who are on their way to Italy.

STRUGA, Yugoslavia (At The Albanian Frontier), Dec. 19 (AP)—Fleets of German transport planes were reported today to be shutting Italian reinforcements across the Adriatic to the Albanian battlefield in an effort to halt the Greek counter-invasion.

German pilots, because of their experience in this blitzkrieg method of moving troops, were said to be flying huge Junkers sent after urgent pleas from Premier Mussolini.

Military sources, where the report of German aid originated, said that each Junker carries 20 fully equipped men on the short hop across the Adriatic and that a crossing could be made several times a day.

These quarters indicated that the Italians were landed close to the front lines and thrown into battle without loss of time. Especially trained Alpine troops were understood to make up the bulk of the air-borne reinforcements.

Substitute Gets Permanent Job In Draft Army

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Dec. 19 (AP)—Charles DuBois, private from Couthatta, La., only wanted to be accommodating when he got into the army, but he discovered too late that when you're in the army you're in and that's that.

Here's the way he explains his predicament: his brother, Harvey, who also lives in Couthatta, was called up by the draft board. But Harvey had the flu, and Charles, afraid his brother would be sent to jail for not appearing, reported in his stead.

Charles signed reams of papers, passed the physical examination and went to Camp Shelby merely to wait for Harvey to come and take his place. But he found that he was really a soldier.

Now Charles, who says he has a wife dependent on him so he can't afford to stay in the army, is waiting for Uncle Sam to do something about his mixup.

Shipping circles said Boston also was expected to handle a large part of the quarter-billion pounds of wool which the British government will send to this country for storage. Bids for storage of the wool will be opened in Washington next Monday.

Like Factory Assemble Line-- Postoffice Work Moves Rapidly, Accurately

Speed, efficiency and accuracy of a factory assembly line were employed at the postoffice here Thursday by 84 employees, aided by five extra workers, to get that pair of socks from Uncle Jim and that new dress from Aunt Minnie to you in time for Christmas opening.

Postal employees were sorting thousands of letters, parcels, some cards, some Christmas material and others just plain bills.

But whether it was a "Merry Christmas" greeting or a "please remit," all mail was being shoved through the channels according to plan. There was, according to estimates, around 15,000 pieces to be handled for local delivery, and an even larger amount to be sent to other points.

Three truck loads of parcel post packages were delivered and as the truck backed up to the door, two men appeared to unload, dump and sort the packages into big baskets. The packages were sorted with regard to street addresses to expedite delivery.

A special rack, used only for Christmas cards, has been set up in one corner of the postoffice to relieve the Christmas congestion.

Special delivery letters were handled first, then letters were separated according to box numbers and addresses. Newspapers and magazines were great special handling in their own racks.

While letters, magazines, newspapers and packages moved into the steady stream that carries them finally into postoffice boxes or home mail boxes, another steady stream of mail was being dispatched out-of-town.

Packages were insured, stamps sold, letters mailed and gathered by another crew of workers to be put in mail bags heading for their destination.

British Told To Place Orders Under FDR System Immediately

Contracts Will Not Be Signed Until Congress Acts, However

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau announced today the British government has been authorized to proceed at once with negotiation of billions of dollars worth of new war material contracts, but not to sign the contracts until congress acts on President Roosevelt's "leasing-lending" plan.

The secretary said he had been instructed by President Roosevelt to send this word to the British purchasing commission this morning.

The White House, meanwhile, disclosed that the president had under consideration at least four or five plans for injecting speed into the defense program. One involves a proposal to establish a "high command" for the program headed by Secretaries Stimson and Knox and William S. Knudsen, industrial production chief of the defense commission.

Morgenthau said that the first contract in the new program would be for 60 merchant vessels. The British are going to pay cash for these ships," he declared, and would not wait for approval of the "leasing-lending" plan.

He declined to say how much the new British contracts would total, or to comment on reports that the figure was $3,000,000,000.

The secretary exhibited to reporters a sheaf of closely-typed documents which he said was a list submitted by the British of their military requirements. The "go ahead" from the president, he explained, referred to this list.

He explained that he did not mean that individual British contracts necessarily would be submitted to congress.

United States Rushes Diplomats Back To France, Italy

Middle East Storm Clouds Hasten Action

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Storm clouds over the Mediterranean were believed in informed quarters today to have motivated the state department in speeding American ambassadors to their posts in France and Italy, and "checking up" on affairs in French African colonies.

Secretary Hull disclosed yesterday that: 1.—William Phillips, ambassador to Italy, would return to Rome immediately after the holidays. Phillips, who has been absent from his post for several months because of illness, was expected to confer with Premier Mussolini in the near future. 2.—Admiral William D. Leahy, newly named ambassador to France, would leave for Vichy, capital of unoccupied France, also immediately after the holidays. Expectations were that Leahy would have an opportunity to confer with Marshal Petain, chief of the French state.

3.—Robert D. Murphy, charge d'affaires at Vichy, departed by plane yesterday for an "inspection trip" through France's North African colonies during which he may meet General Maxime Weygand, France's pro-consul in Africa. The three diplomats will be in positions to supply President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull with first-hand facts and interpretations on the following major topics:

1.—Reaction in Italy to fascist reverses in Albania and Egypt, and the reported deterioration in morale which has caused conjecture on the possibility of a separate peace bid by Italy. 2.—The mercurial situation in unoccupied France, now complicated by Petain's dismissal of Vice-Premier Laval and the recent reported German threat to occupy the rest of the country. 3.—The attitude of the French colonies, both on events in France

PENDULUM SWINGS TO TEMPLE'S FAVOR

The Pendulum swung toward Temple's Wildcats today in semi-finals of the Texas schoolboy race. As the week opened Corpus Christi and Temple were rated a tossup for their game at Corpus Christi Saturday. If there was an edge, the critics said, it would go to Corpus Christi.

Then things began to happen. Both squads were riddled by illness and injuries. It was a race to see which could list the most on the casualty roll.

Looking 'em Over

With Jack Douglas

Golden Gloves work is steadily gaining momentum as the days click off toward the Big Spring district tournament on the nights of January 20-21. Other towns have signified their intention of entering the fight meet when the time comes to decide who shall go to the state finals at Fort Worth.

Unless their plans undergo a change, Midland, San Angelo, Lamesa, Tahoka, Fossil, Colorado City, Westbrook, Knott and Ackerville are slated to send a delegation of amateur fighters.

This department has received notice that glasses are part of Lee Hanson's bird-hunting equipment. It seems he has no many dogs he has to wear bi-focals to keep from stepping on them.

A faint murmur of interest in baseball can already be heard in the byways of Big Spring. Still squinting from an unpleasant situation that existed last summer, when the Big Spring club folded, local people are a bit leery of entering into another season, but there is an indication that a plan of action is favored in Abilene there is found a timid stirring of baseball interest, but as yet no definite program has been advanced.

The roundelay between the Texas Aggies and Fordham on New Year's Day at the Dallas Cotton Bowl, is making a bid to outshine some of the older and more prominent dish tins. According to one estimate, 40,000 tickets have been sold for a stadium that seats 45,000 customers.

Fordham will be playing one of the greatest, if not the greatest team, even produced in the South-west conference in its last game as a top-tanker for several years to some. The Aggies maintained a magnificent record up to the point with Texas, but next year the set-up will probably be much different because of graduations. Texas A. & M. builds up a team the long, hard way and will need a couple of years to move back into the spotlight.

Hunt Defends Title Tonight In Odessa

ODESSA, Dec. 19 (Sp) — Babe Hunt, Texas heavyweight champion, defends his boxing title tonight at Odessa when he goes into the ring against Babe Ritchie of Lubbock, with Jack Dempsey in the pit as third man.

Ritchie, 210-pounder with only 37 professional fights under his belt, has lost five and taken draws in two. On his record is credit for a knockout win over King Leynsky. He is also one of the many who have fallen before the hammering fists of Maxie Baer.

Hunt is an old man in fight circles, with ten long and twisting years on his book. He has met, and lost to, some of the best nauts in the business. On his list of fights are ones with James Braddock, Baer, and Buddy Baer.

Hunt has been going through workouts at Midland while the other Babe in the ring has been jarring his way around in Midland. Dempsey will arrive in Odessa this afternoon from Hobbs, New Mexico. A banquet will be held for him this evening before the ship starts at the Ector county park auditorium.

Fishing Rod Has Chivalrous Use

WAUSAU, Wis., Dec. 19 (AP) — E. J. Goetz, local merchant, proved to a Milwaukee local that a fly rod isn't entirely useless when the trout season is closed.

The couple was crossing a bridge here when the woman's hat blew off and landed on the ice-covered Wisconsin river. Goetz got his fly rod and, despite a 30 mile an hour wind at his back, snatched the hat with a 30-foot cast.

Steers Begin Cage Year In Game Tonight

Big Spring high school's eagles open the current basketball season in Stanton at 7:30 p. m. when the "A" and "B" teams engage two Stanton quintets.

Coch John Daniels of the Big Spring Steers will put his timber-topping crew to its initial test under fire. The probable starting five will be Peppy Blount, 6' 3" center; Asa Couch and J. D. Robertson, six-foot guards; James Falon, 6' 1", and Reese Stuteville, six-footer, forwards. R. H. Weaver and Billy Womack will likely be in reserve for the Herd basketekers.

Daniels' "B" aggregation will include David Lamun, Blake Talbot, Bennett Reeves and James Tidwell.

The Steer mentor said he had no idea what he had on tap but was making a sure-fire experiment to separate the sheep and the goats. Stanton is touted to have a strong, and fast-moving crew, but Daniels is of the opinion that his lads are up to par in hardwood action although they are a bit shy with regard to hitting the basket after moving into position.

Colorado City Gridders Get 1940 Letters

Seller, Phynus Shurtieff, Boyce Smith, Billy Wade, Harry Webber, Walter Wilson, and Horace Woods.

AN ANALYSIS OF THE WAR DEVELOPMENTS

By De-WITT MacKENZIE

"Why is it?" demands my morning mail, "that Hitler doesn't rush help to Mussolini in Albania and Libya?"

With that comes the query: "Is it really true that der fuhrer wants to see Italy crushed so that he can take over the country?"

Well, there are a lot of reasons why the Nazi chief hasn't intervened to aid his ally—but to my mind a desire to see Italy knocked out isn't one of them. The value of the fascist in keeping Britain on guard in the Mediterranean is too great for that. If Hitler has any designs on Italy, he is smart enough to hold her fate in abeyance until he has settled his argument with England.

Anyway, the fact that random hasn't jumped to Mussolini's aid doesn't necessarily mean that it won't do so. I don't believe Hitler will deliberately allow his partner to go under—there are too many arguments against it. As for the Duke being allowed to fight alone and losing battle thus far, the explanation seems to me to be this: First off, the direct intervention of Germany to save the fascist dictator would have been a terrible blow to his prestige, both at home and abroad, and consequently to the prestige of the Berlin-Rome axis. Both partners would want to avoid this, but Hitler foresees the extent of the Italian debacle he undoubtedly would have tried to forestall it.

Actually, der fuhrer has been giving Mussolini a vast amount of support indirectly in the intensified bombing of England and the fierce submarine campaign against Anglo-allied shipping. This has compelled Britain to withhold warships and warplanes from the Mediterranean area in order to protect the homeland and the trade routes.

Another prime reason why Hitler hasn't wanted to extend his military commitments to the Mediterranean zone is because he is preparing for another great attempt at invasion of England, by spring or maybe sooner. Into that preparation he is putting every ounce of his strength.

Had it not been for this we probably should have seen the German air force going to Mussolini's help since the fascist position has become so grave. Indeed, it wouldn't be surprising to see this happen yet.

As regards the use of German troops to bolster the fascists, there has been no way to send them to Libya, because the British blockade has virtually severed communications with Africa. For that matter Mussolini can't send reinforcements to his own hard-pressed desert army or even a keg of drinking water, unless he moves it by air.

The position in Greece and Albania has been different but in no wise better. There are only two ways to get Nazi troops and equipment into the mountainous region of Mussolini's disaster.

One way is to send them through Italy, but this couldn't be done secretly and might raise hob with the morale of the Italian population. If this method is employed it will represent an extreme emergency.

The other way is to move them through the neutral states of Bulgaria or Yugoslavia. Such a step in all probability would precipitate another war in the Balkans—something which Hitler wishes to avoid at all hazards at this time. He doesn't want war on two fronts at once.

Defense Angle In Athletics Gets Study

CHICAGO, Dec. 19 (AP) — The Western conference may launch, within the next few weeks, a history-making drive to emphasize athletics as an aid to the national defense program.

Shortly after the first of the year, the presidents and athletic directors of the Big Ten will meet here to determine how the athletic programs of their schools can be stepped up in behalf of national physical preparedness. And this problem will be a major one for delegates to the National Collegiate Athletic association convention at New York Dec. 30-31, according to Maj. John L. Griffith, Big Ten athletic commissioner and N. C. A. A. secretary.

"Much of the stress on physical preparedness," said Maj. Griffith, "has been given impetus by the revelations of our 1917 draft statistics."

Almost a third were rejected for unlimited service, he said.

Maj. Griffith said that physical training was credited by some observers with Germany's military successes against France. He cited a study made by Dr. Seward Staley of Illinois, which showed an impressive post World war development of voluntary athletic activities in Germany which replaced the compulsory military training outlawed by the Versailles treaty.

Dr. Staley reported that 3,710,000 German youths engaged in organized athletics and concluded that "those who are familiar with the value of athletic training in warfare must realize that after all Germany was the great benefactor under the Versailles law."

AGGIES LOOK GOOD AS NEW YEAR NEARS

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 19, (AP)—Quarterback Marion Pugh, the man who created one of the biggest question marks of the 1940 football season, is back in the saddle again—and there's joy in Aggie land.

Little more than two weeks ago the rangy, wind-burned lad—the Southwest's premier passer, best runner on the Texas Aggie club and canny signal selector, was hobbling crapple.

For one brief, stumbling minute he tried to play in the Texas university game, but his leg behaved like a wooden prop and he dragged off the field. Behind him he left a dejected team that seemed to grope around without him. The zinging bullet passes he had completed for .583 average over the season were missing. The bark of his signal calling that made the Aggies one of the best ground gaining teams in the nation wasn't there.

The Texas Aggies lost that game, despite some valiant efforts by Marland Jeffrey, Pugh's reserve. With it went a chance at the Rose Bowl.

Now, as if by magic, Marion Pugh's ailing leg had healed and he's as frisky as a young lamb.

Offensively, Pugh rated as the Aggies' prime threat—not far from John Kimbrough, twice all-America fullback. He finished the season leading runner of the club with an average of 1.63 yards per carry, was the top passer.

"Pugh will be able to go against Fordham," said Coach Homer Norton today. "I can't believe that he will be in top shape because of the enforced layoff, but he will play most of that ball game. I don't expect him to run at perfect form, but he will be in there passing."

Standout of a brisk two-hour workout yesterday was Kimbrough, who had hopped out of a plane only a few hours earlier after a delayed trip back to College Station from New York.

Trained on Gotham night life and a lot of sightseeing over the weekend as guest of the New York Yankee pro team, the Big 225-pounder wasn't even huffing after splintering the second line on a couple of dozen tackle forays. Jim Thomason, the Aggies' famed blocking back, also came in for frequent gains on wide reverses and sweeps.

Coach Norton, just out of bed after a siege of influenza, said the Cadets would go through two-day drills "just like we hadn't played a game this season."

Nebraska Team Starts Westward

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 19 (AP) — Nebraska's football squad, foe of Stanford in the coming New Year's day Rose Bowl game, leaves Lincoln tonight for Phoenix, Ariz., where the Cornhuskers hope to regain the thing that made them great last fall—their timing.

The squad that swept through eight opponents after dropping the season's opener to Minnesota was essentially a precision outfit. It was perfect timing that got Halfback Walter Luther into the open on reverses, that opened the way to an outstanding pass attack featuring tosses Harry Hopp and Herman Rohrig, and ate up the ground in Hopp's powerful drives over tackle.

New British Aid Plan Would Push Armament Industries To Peak

Avalanche Of Added Orders Would Begin

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—The proportions of President Roosevelt's plan for unlimited aid to Britain in "mortgaged material" strengthened belief today that new tactics were being worked out to push armament industries to peak production as fast as possible.

Approval of the "mortgaged material" plan by the next congress, officials pointed out, would mean an avalanche of additional military orders for factories now either behind in delivery on present contracts or hard pressed to keep up. Until new plants and equipment get into service and assume a share of the load, these sources said, existing industries must do the "impossible" in speeding up to the highest possible peak if munitions are to be ready when needed for national defense purposes, for Britain, Greece and China, and for the preparedness programs of Pan-American nations.

In this connection, significance attached to the statement of Secretary Hull that getting production as nearly as possible on a wartime basis was in complete harmony with Mr. Roosevelt's tentative plan for supplying Britain on a "lease-lend" arrangement.

Experts were working out the details of the "mortgaged material" plan which Mr. Roosevelt said he would present to the new congress, and the methods for financing it. On Capitol Hill, however, several legislators insisted that the most pressing problem was the question of production.

Senator Austin of Vermont, acting minority leader and a proponent of British aid, declared that the "first problem is to produce the goods, and get in a position to give aid to Great Britain."

1940 The Year In Sports

a somersault in 1940. The National league, beaten five straight years, finally won a World series and also swept both the spring and summer All-Star games. The senior loop race, generally a dogfight, turned into a runaway as the American has had in recent years while the American borrowed the National's customary hot argument script.

The Detroit Tigers, given no consideration as contenders, won the American pennant as the New York Yankees, favored to capture their fifth straight flag, collapsed. Over in the National league, the St. Louis Cardinals, pre-season favorites, wobbled as the Cincinnati Reds coasted to a 12-game National league victory and then beat the Tigers in the series.

SECOND OF A SERIES

Cleveland and Brooklyn were the runners-up. Internal strife likely hurt Cleveland's most serious bid in years. The Indians staged an uprising in June and asked the front office for Manager Oscar Vitti's scalp.

Vitt hung on, though, while some sports writers and fans jeeringly dubbed the Indians the "cry-babies." Despite the dissension, the Tribe was in the battle down to the closing week when Detroit won the clinching game when a rookie from Buffalo, Floyd Giebell, out-pitched Bob Feller. Feller had his best season, leading the league with 27 triumphs, including baseball's first opening day no-hit game.

Brooklyn Hot Brooklyn set a league record of nine straight victories to open the year and was a threat until August when injuries, pitching weakness and the lack of another clutch hitter stopped the Dodgers.

The Yankees, with overruns but Joe DiMaggio having a bad year, got left at the post and were in the cellar after a month's play. They climbed to fourth place, only three games back of the leader, in early June. Mid-August found them back in the second division but then they unleashed an offensive that threatened the pace-setters. On Sept. 9 the Yankees were third, one game out of the lead. But after they dropped three straight to the St. Louis Browns in committed suicide during the summer, had to catch after Ernie Lombardi suffered a foot injury.

Walters, Derringer and Newsom all won 20 or more games again. The veteran Fred Fitzsimmons of Brooklyn had the best National league percentage with 16 wins against two losses. Brooklyn's Tex Carleton entered the hall of fame with an early no-hitter.

Hank Greenberg probably was the player-of-the-year. He tried a difficult experiment in shifting from first base to the outfield and became one of the best flychasers. He led the league in homers and runs batted in, and was voted the most valuable player. Frank McCormick of the Little League series from Louisville.

Commissioner K. M. Landis authorized the spring's big news by freeing five major and 87 minor league players after an investigation into the Detroit farm system. Benny McCoy, most publicized of those involved, signed as second baseman for the Athletics for $45,000 and a $20,000 two-year contract.

Tigers Topped The Tigers got the jump in the series, winning the opening game behind Bucky Newsom after chasing Paul Derringer in the second inning. Then it was nip-and-tuck, with the Tigers finally gaining a 3-2 game lead when Newsom, whose father died the night of the opening contest, won the fifth game.

But the Reds evened the series with Bucky Walters and won the clincher as Derringer outpointed Newsom. Jim Ripple, outfielder who came up late from Montreal, Bill Werber, and Jimmy Wilson were Cincinnati stars. The 40-year-old Wilson, put on the active roster after Willard Hershberger

PAUL DERRINGER

Cormick of the Reds was the National's most valuable.

Joe Medwick, traded to Brooklyn with Cardinal Curt Davis for four players and some $100,000 in the year's biggest deal, was hit by a pitched ball and out for some time as was Bill Jurgens of the Giants and Pee Wee Reese of the Dodgers. Reese, juvenile shortstop, was perhaps the top rookie.

Joe DiMaggio, with 350, and Deb Garms of the Pirates, with 355, were the batting champions. Vitti, replaced at Cleveland by Roger Peckinpaugh, signed to manage Portland, Oregon.

Newark won the Little League series from Louisville. Commissioner K. M. Landis authorized the spring's big news by freeing five major and 87 minor league players after an investigation into the Detroit farm system. Benny McCoy, most publicized of those involved, signed as second baseman for the Athletics for $45,000 and a $20,000 two-year contract.

Scandinavia, Bohemia And Others Contribute Christmas Recipes

(Editor's note: This is the last of a series of three recipes for Christmas breads from foreign countries.)

Scandinavian Christmas Bread
(3 loaves)
3 pkgs. fast granular yeast softened in 1-4 cup lukewarm water
1 pint milk, scalded & cooled
1 cup sugar
1 cup butter
2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
7 cups or more sifted flour
1-3 pkg. seedless raisins
1 small pkg. or 4 oz. sliced citron
1-2 teaspoon powdered cardamom

Soften yeast in the lukewarm water to which has been added 1-2 teaspoon sugar. Scald and cool the milk. Cream together the butter, cup of sugar, and salt, then add to this the beaten eggs and spice. When milk is lukewarm add it to the softened yeast. Blend this liquid with 3 cups of the flour and beat until smooth. Next add the butter mixture and remaining 4 cups of flour. Mix until smooth, adding a little more flour if necessary. Last add the fruit, dusted with flour. Let dough rise until doubled in bulk, stir down and let rise again until about doubled. Turn risen dough onto floured board, divide into 3 portions and shape into loaves. Place in greased pans, dusted with flour. Let rise until about doubled. Brush tops of loaves with beaten egg yolk diluted with milk. Bake about 50 to 60 minutes, in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees.

Among the typically Bohemian breads are Kolaches. Here is a recipe for making two dozen.

Kolaches
1 pkg. fast granular yeast
1-2 cup lukewarm water
1 teaspoon sugar
1-2 cups milk, scalded & cooled to lukewarm
2-2 cups whole wheat flour
1-3 cup sugar
2 teaspoon salt
1-2 cup melted fat
1-2 cups white flour
1 egg, well beaten

Four yeast into the lukewarm water and add 1 teaspoon sugar. Let stand 5 minutes. Scald the milk and let cool to lukewarm. Combine this with the yeast. Add whole wheat flour and stir well until all lumps disappear. Let rise 30 minutes. Then add egg, 1-3 cup of sugar, salt, melted fat and white flour. Knead, let rise 2 hours. Knead, let rise 30 minutes, shape.

To shape: Divide dough into small portions at the end of the third fermentation period. Roll into small balls, place on baking tins, brush with shortening; let rise 30 minutes, then make impressions in dough with fingers. Fill with Prune Sauce (or any preferred fruit sauce). Let rise 15 minutes. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes.

Prune Sauce for Kolaches.
Stew 2 cups dried prunes; when tender drain liquid, and cool. Remove pits from prunes. To the prune pulp add 1-3 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 teaspoon cinnamon; stir well and fill Kolaches.

Ambassador Will Return To Rome

Mexican Streetcar Employees Plan Strike

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 19 (AP)—President Avila Camacho faced the threat today of another serious labor conflict—a strike by Mexico's 3,400 street-car employees.

The third grave worker-employer issue that has confronted him since he took office two weeks ago found the president making every effort to avoid a walkout called for the day before Christmas.

The Canadian-owned Mexico City Street Railways company has refused, on the grounds of economic inability, to pay an annual million peso wage increase awarded the workers last month by the federal labor board.

Money Rolls For Jenkins Zivic Fight

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—Welterweight champion Fritz Zivic meets Lightweight Champion Lew Jenkins at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night, and between 'em the boys almost have Promoter Mike Jacobs believing in Santa Claus.

In the past fights close to Christmas invariably have brought anything but Christmas cheer at the box office. Yet for this 10-rounder, in which neither title will be at stake, the Jacobs dollar-counters already have salted away some $18,000. On the Jacobs system of reckoning (patent applied for), this represents about one-third of the gross, meaning a crowd of anywhere from 15,000 to capacity.

Meanwhile the customers who back their favorites with cash have installed Zivic, the Pride of Pittsburgh, a 5-8 favorite over Jenkins, the Pride of Sweetwater, Texas. This may be brought more nearly to a balance by a late rush of money from the cow-and-ol country.

The reason most generally advanced for making Zivic the favorite is a comparison of both lads' performance against Henry Armstrong. Henry the Hammer pretty well out Jenkins to ribbons inside of seven rounds, whereas only two months ago Zivic won the welter title from Armstrong by out-pointing him in 15 heats.

Jenkins is expected to give away about 10 pounds, say at 133 to Zivic's 143.

The Jenkins supporters are banking on the wallop the former cavalryman packs in his right hand.

Essential Aids To Beauty Are Welcome Gifts At Christmas

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Feature Service Writer

It's easier than it used to be to give a girl a Christmas gift of makeup which you can be sure she will appreciate.

That's because such things as the three essentials on most American dressing tables—cleansing cream, skin fresheners and conditioning cream or powder bases—come in gift form at prices that are within range of the modest purse.

It's the same with the lipsticks.

powder, rouge and eye-makeup. These give you a chance for real individuality, because you can get them in traveling kits, in a compact six inches in diameter or in specially-built pocketbooks and evening bags.

Another group of gifts to please her are the things she marks as luxuries in her beauty budget: the daytime perfumes which must be "formal fragrances," the heavier bathes for evening wear, bubble bath preparations, wash cloths which come as condensed disks for the traveler and guest soap which looks like a set of checkers.

Among the new are the novel nail polishes in self-feeding tubes also containing the brush. There's a powder which includes its own base. And a good perfume which is a guaranteed deodorant as well.

Nazis Find Barbers Good Plane Builders

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 19 (AP)—Discovery that barbers and artists—among others—are well adapted for work in airplane plants has led the director of the state employment service to assume the role of an "industrial detective."

A year's time has turned the service's major task of finding jobs for the unemployed into one of bringing the job to the man or the man to the job. Richard C. Brockway, its director, said.

"The nazis found the best source of airplane assemblers were former barbers," he said. "The barbers had developed a manual dexterity and their training enabled them to do delicate work. So they made good workers on jobs of putting together sensitive instruments on control boards of airplanes."

The tambourine was invented by the Moors and hasn't changed in 2,000 years.

SANTA GIANT-KILLER

BY SIGRID ARNE

THE STORY SO FAR: Eric, a fisherman's son, is trying to find the secret hiding place where an ugly giant hides his heart. He is going to the Iron Mountain to look there.

Chapter Sixteen
ERIC IS TEMPTED TO GIVE UP

Eric's white boat sped over the great, gray sea for many hours. He and his winged horse stood silently on the deck and looked about them for some light. But they saw nothing. They saw not a single lighthouse. They saw no cottage on the shore, and they passed no ship.

Finally, Eric saw a great conical mountain standing right up out of the sea. There wasn't a blade of grass on it, nor a tree. It was solid iron. The white boat stopped at its base.

This mountain was too steep for the winged horse to climb. But Eric could see a small entrance half way up the side. So he started up. He slipped many times. He tore the skin on his fingers. But he finally set one foot, and then the other, into the entrance of the Iron Mountain.

He could see nothing but a long, black hall ahead. He couldn't hear a single sound but the roar of the ocean below him. He stepped carefully along, feeling his way.

Enters Iron Room

Once he found a rusty sword. Once he found some very old coins lying on the floor of the corridor. He walked down, down into the heart of the mountain and there he found a little iron room. There was a hole dug into the bottom of the floor, and next to it dozed an old troll with long yellow teeth.

Eric shook the troll and the troll looked up and grinned through his long yellow teeth.

"Too late," chuckled the troll. "There have been many before you. But the giant moved his heart many years ago."

Eric could see the hole was filled with cobwebs, so he started back up through the mountain, so discouraged that he thought of going back to Santa. As he walked he heard a dry rustling ahead of him. In the dim light he could see a bat flying toward him. Just as the bat circled over his head Eric saw there were bunches of holly leaves in the bat's claws.

"Why," said Eric, "he must have come from Santa Claus." Eric's heart thumped with pleasure and new courage. He held out his hand and the bat settled down on it. Eric took the holly branches from the bat's claws. Tied to each bunch were the finest big coconut cookies. Around ones was wrapped a note from Santa. It said, "Son, no man fails with honor until he has tried three times."

Back To The Giant

Eric munched the cookies, put the note carefully in his pocket and felt new courage in his heart. He said to himself, "Of course! And the third time I will, and must, win. But now hurry. I must be back to Santa before Christmas Eve."

He mounted his winged horse and sped back to the giant with no heart. The giant chuckled but he also looked surprised to see Eric back.

"Back so soon?" he said.

"I had a fine trip," said Eric. "But now I really must go home. Will you give the last crow a lesson?"

"Certainly," said the giant. "Let me hear him."

Eric held out the third and last bird, and this is what he sang:

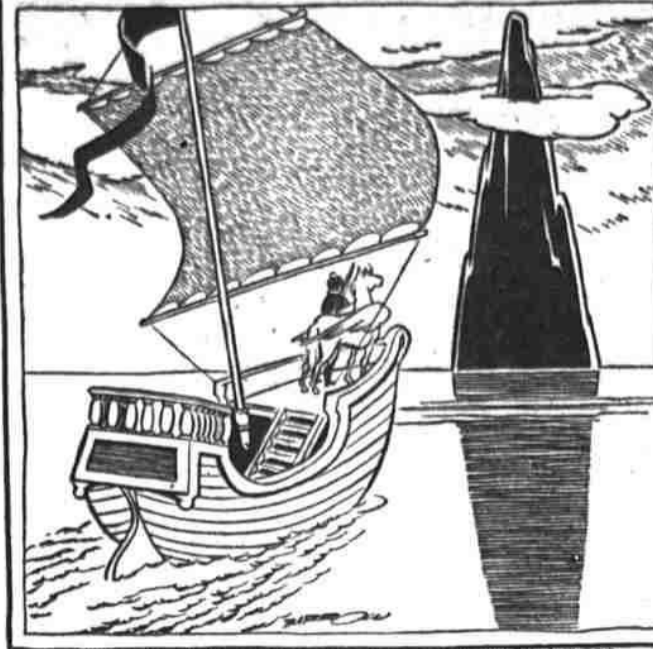

"Tell us, good sir, where you keep your heart.

There is one who comes near it will rend it apart."

"What again?" shouted the giant. "It's impossible. My heart will last another thousand years. It lies inside a circle of fire that no one can pierce. And the circle is back of thunder."

Eric needed no more. He pressed his horse toward the thunder hills.

TOMORROW: The circle of fire.

THERE WASN'T A BLADE OF GRASS ON IT, NOR A TREE.

United States Admits Refugees

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—The United States, traditional haven for the oppressed of other lands, opened its gates today to a thousand or more European political refugees.

The state department announced last night that entry visas already have been issued to approximately 1,000 of the 2,000 refugees recommended by various committees interested in the question.

Olie Cordill, Pro Gridder, Visits Here

Olie Cordill of the Cleveland Rams, former Big Spring and Rice sea footballer, was in Big Spring Wednesday night for a ten-minute visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cordill while enroute by air line to Los Angeles, Calif., where he will play in a charity game on December 29. Two teams of National league gridlers will meet under the sponsorship of the Hollywood Athletic club.

Olie said he was going back to Cleveland for another year with the prospect of getting a better contract and moving into the tail-back position on the lakeside crew. He weighs 190 pounds and came through the season without injuries, except for an ailing hand.

Cordill has been working for a Houston oil company since the close of the '40 grid year, but was given a few days off for the West Coast jaunt.

Battleship And Freighter Crash

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—A 100-ton battleship, the U.S.S. Arkansas, and a freighter a fifth her size collided in the dark hours of early morning off the Jersey coast today, damaging the smaller vessel so badly that she had to be beached after limping 40 miles to New York harbor.

The crash occurred off Sea Girt at about 3 a. m. None of the personnel aboard either ship was injured and the Arkansas, oldest battleship of its type in service, was practically undamaged.

"GOOD THINGS TO EAT"

Japanese And American Diplomats Trade Views Of War

British Aim At Axis Rail Connections

LONDON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Three straight nights of RAF bombardment of Mannheim, southwestern German industrial, commercial and communications center, were described today in well-informed quarters as part of a British move to smash communications between Germany and Italy.

Linked with the third attack last night was an RAF smash at Italy—a factory in Milan, docks at Genoa and an airfield in northern Italy, according to the air ministry's announcement.

Informed quarters stressed the Mannheim raids, however, as an attempt to smash communication links between the axis powers

US View Of China's Fate Is Examined

TOKYO, Dec. 19 (AP)—Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka pleaded with the United States today to stay out of the war lest the world face "Armageddon," and then heard U. S. Ambassador Joseph C. Grew take quick exception to his statement that the "fate of China is largely a question of sentiment to Americans."

The ambassador made several points in remarks after he had listened attentively to Matsuoka's address before the America-Japanese society at a farewell luncheon honoring Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, new Japanese ambassador to the United States.

Referring to Matsuoka's assertion that the "fate of China is largely a question of sentiment to Americans; to us it is a truly vital issue affecting the very existence of our empire," Grew said:

"I think I must relieve the minister of his misapprehension that the interest of Americans in China is largely sentimental."

At another point in his speech the foreign minister said "we believe we have a great mission as a civilizing and stabilizing force and stand for peace and order. We shut the door to none. Any nation that desires to take a hand in this task is welcome."

"I am glad to learn that in the Japanese program the door is to be shut nowhere and to none," Grew remarked, "and this program envisages no conquest, no oppression, no exploitation x x x."

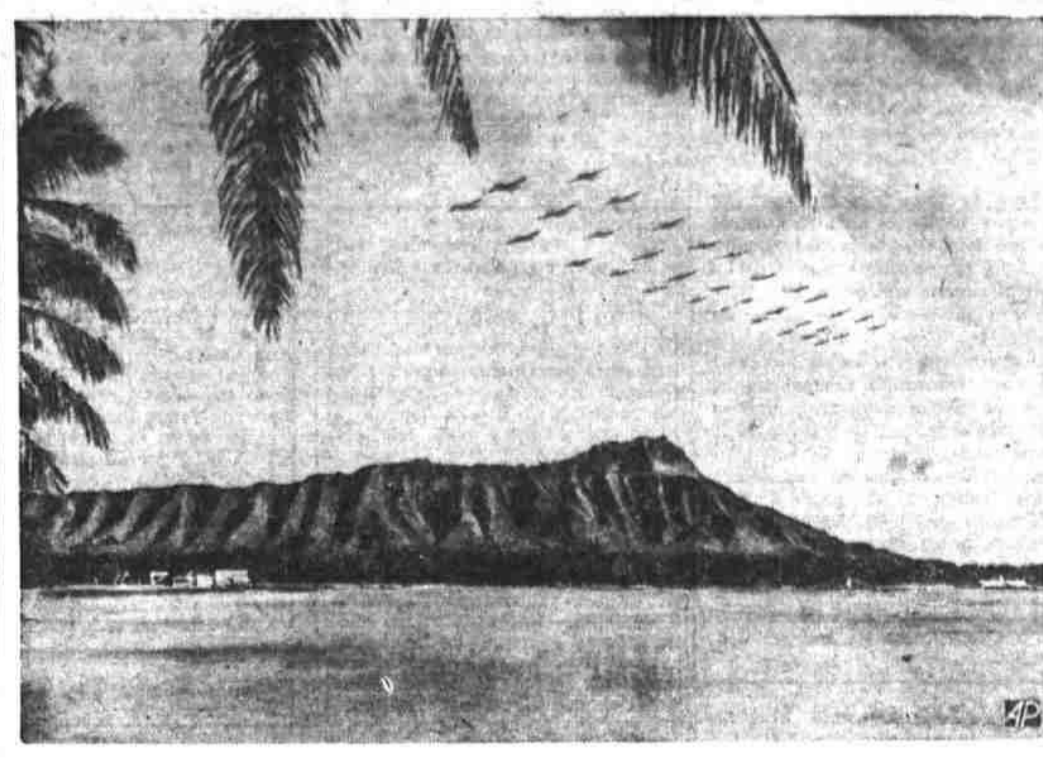

"The foreign minister knows the American people stand for certain things, among which, on one hand, are their obligations, and on the other their rights."

The United States must consider not alone "expressed intentions," Grew said, but "facts and actions," regardless of the persuasive gains in which they may be dressed."

Matsuoka said in his address that he feared United States entry into war would bring the world to "Armageddon that would end in the total destruction of our culture and civilization."

"I beseech my American friends to think twice, thrice, nay a thousand times before they take the leap that may prove fatal to all humanity," he cried.

Editorial

Many agencies have proposed many plans for attacking public expenditure and taxation problems, but the Petman Basin association, an organization embracing 49 West Texas counties, went on record last Wednesday proposing one of the most practical approaches attempted in several years.

Practical Tax Ideas

Under the basin plan, local tax committees would make their analysis of budgets in advance of the time when they are normally set up. They would then be able to counsel with governing bodies on total valuations needed for the levy. This would give a wedge for attacking the equalization problem on a footing never before possible.

The Herald's Serial Story

Chapter 25 RANDOM SUSPICION I was wounded to the quick that anyone should seem so anxious to make me out a criminal, and my red-headed husband was ready to fight. "Either you apologize for that, or get out of this house," Bill ordered.

Who Killed Aunt Maggie?

Chapter 26 I will give you the name, I am so firmly convinced that I am mistaken that I should not like to feel I had created any false impression in your mind. "Trapped," said Lieutenant Gregory, and his eyes took on an extra gleam.

By Madors Field

"Ain't no use in botherin' Miss Sally," Thomas repeated doggedly. "Botherin' hump," snorted Lindy. "Miss Sally, Thomas don't get me here on account of them pollice. He says they thinks it funny 'cause I run off last night. But I ain't gonna stay home and get in no trouble. Now he say I can't tell 'em why I leave home, but I ain't goin' to no jail on account of that no-count Eph of his."

WASHINGTON—Buried in the dispatches from Greece the other day was an item that Dodecanese Islanders residing in Greece were organizing an expedition to expel the Italians from the Aegean.

—in the United States and the Argentine, in Egypt, Australia and Greece. In 1912 the Italians "liberated" the Dodecanese from the Turks. The people at first rejoiced but soon found they were not enjoying the self-rule they had expected.

How To Torture Your Wife

"Thank you," said Lieutenant Gregory noncommittally, adding that I might take a recess if I cared to. I went out of the room in more of a fog than ever. Enter Lindy As I entered the dining room, Andrew stopped his table setting to tell me that Lindy was in the kitchen and very anxious to see me "privately."

NEW YORK—Wise in the deficiencies of Broadway are Olney Olsen and Chic Johnson. They never have that let-down feeling when they go night clubbing and find that the entertainment is bad. Reasons they always take their own entertainment with them.

just as effective in New York today as ever it was in Buffalo 20 years ago. Sometimes, when the crowd is convivial and the entertainers are willing, Olsen and Johnson will "take over." They will parade their pretty girls before the admiring eyes of the swains on hand and invite them to give the girls a dance.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—It's the "little people" on the back lot who really know what's going on in pictures. Not the gossip, necessarily, which comes and flows away and is forgotten. I mean the things you'll be seeing on the screen six months, a year from now. For every new picture there's something new required, and the "little people" hear about it first.

Harry was always playing with fire or powder or wires—playing seriously, because that's his business. James Gibbons, head of the prop-show, had a problem long before Edward G. Robinson started studying his lines for "A Dispatch from Reuter's." He had to find something to serve as a canister buoy of the type Reuter used to "scoop" all England on the assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

Predicts Passage of Logan-Walter Ideas
WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Friend and foe alike predicted today that the objectives of the Logan-Walter bill, vetoed by President Roosevelt, would become law at the next session of congress with his approval.
Rep. Walter (D-Pa), co-sponsor of the legislation, announced that he would introduce the same measure the first day of the new congress, and Rep. McCormack (D-Ill.), an outspoken opponent of that bill, said action on legislation, properly drawn, has only been delayed.
Senators Hatch (D-NM) and Austin (R-Vt), promised to renew their efforts to obtain congressional approval, Hatch asserting that efforts of the sponsors "will not be wasted."

War Department To Watch Camp Areas
WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP)—Secretary Stimson, declaring that soldiers had been exploited financially and subjected to a bad moral influence in unnamed communities near Fort Benning, Ga., announced today that he would create an organization to deal with such conditions throughout the country.
He told his press conference there would be a committee to work toward the improvement of health and sanitary conditions in the towns near army posts, and cooperate with law enforcement and other official agencies in the communities. The aim would be to control "undesirable persons and places," increase proper recreational facilities in the towns and protect soldiers "so far as we can" from being exploited.

Here 'n' There

Lawyer Jefferson, a redoubtable negro character, came up in the news again today in a divorce case. Which calls to mind the time he appeared before Former County Judge J. S. Garlington, who asked the prisoner if he were guilty.

"Judge," grinned Lawyer sheepishly. "I see 'em' as guilty as I is black." Once when Jim Little, a former county attorney, raided a negro crap game, Lawyer made a break for the door, but Little caught him.

"Mistuh Little," pleaded Lawyer, "Please let me out heah, 'I see 'em' got to run." Jim let him out, Lawyer circled the block a couple of times and came back.
