Farwell Teachers - -

Contracts Renewed; Receive Pay Raise

At the Monday night meeting of the Farwell School Board, contracts of teachers were renewed and resignations accepted from five teachers. Mrs. Frances Clarke, school counselor, and Mrs. Sophie Davis, librarian and Spanish teacher, are moving away at the end of this school year. Other resignations accepted were from Mrs. Patricia Bass and Mrs. Mary Ingram, first grade teachers, and Mrs. Sue McNutt, junior high English teacher.

Mrs. Lenora Tatum has been hired as school librarian for the coming year. Earlier, the contracts of all of the administrative staff had been renewed along with those of Coaches Toby Booth and Vernon Scott. Mrs. Georgia Lee Rundell will return as secretary and Mrs. Dorothy Eason will again be school tax assessor-collector.

Teachers returning to the school are Jerry Mathis, vocational agriculture; Mrs. Naomi Austin, home economics; Odus Walser, high school English; Gene Tomlinson, high school Huffaker, third grade; Mrs. Carolyn Henson, second grade; Mrs. Lauretta Pool, second grade; Mrs. Eleanor Petty, first grade; Mrs. Kathleen Walser, music.

Special teachers include Mrs. Katherine Lockhart, school nurse; Mrs. Linda Tomlinson and Mrs. Doris Treadwell, remedial reading.

Mrs. Velma McDorman was hired as supervisor of the school cafeteria and Mrs. Wanda Walker will again serve as manager of the snack bar.

H. R. Crook will be in charge of bus maintenance. Custodians include Albert Hanna, Ernest Black, Lex Huggins, and Foster Watkins.

All teachers in the school were granted a $300 pay raise which gives them a base pay of some $500 above the state schedule, making the payschedule in Farwell equal to that of Bovina and Friona schools.

The Board also gave approval to the report of the textbook committee. The rest of the meeting was confined to transacting routine matters.

Albert H. Owen Services Held

Funeral services were conducted from the Muleshoe First Methodist Church Wednesday at 3 p.m. for Albert H. Owen, 79, father of Dee Owen of Farwell, Rev. J. Frank Perry, pastor of First Methodist Church in Muleshoe, assisted by Rev. J. W. Farmer, pastor of the Muleshoe Assembly of God Church, officiated. Burial was in Muleshoe cemetery directed by Singleton Funeral Home.

Mr. Owen, a retired farmer and city employee of Muleshoe, passed away on Monday. He was a member of the Muleshoe Methodist Church and Oddfellows Lodge. He had lived at Muleshoe since 1925.

Survivors include sons, Dee, Farwell, Earl, Odessa, Elmo, Muleshoe, Dick, Clovis, Carie, Cedar City, Utah, and Arie, Battle Mountain, Nev.; daughters, Mrs. Johnny Easter, Pasadena, Tex., Mrs. Ben Higgenbotham, Mrs. Ralph Black, Mrs. Mutt Dudley, Mrs. Harvey Toem, all of Muleshoe, and Mrs. Pearl Carter, Plainview; two sisters, one brother, 43 grandchildren, 48 great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren.

We do not see that society has the obligation to feed, cloth, and house a person for the rest of his natural life when that person is deemed to be no longer fit to exist with society. All the arguments pro and con on capital punishment would fill this poor column week after week for the next ten years. But, in essence, these are our thoughts on the subject.

We do not believe that slums, lack of education, or racial bias as such are the basic roots of crime. We readily admit to their being large factors, but think that within a person is found the free choice to pursue that person's destiny. We do not subscribe to the disadvantaged theory. Rather, we believe that lack of backbone, guts and fortitude is responsible for 95 per cent of all failures. And that laziness, desire for gain without work, and cynical disregard for other people's rights account for most all crime. The exceptions may be acts of extreme violence under duress of great emotional crises.

One of the new ideas being advanced is for society to "compensate" victims of crimes. This has a sort of "at first glance" appeal, but we reject it on the grounds that again we may make crime attractive. As for me, I would rather be free of molestation than the "compensated" victim of a mugging, and it might just be possible that the "compensation" rate for rape would increase that particular form of violence. No, let's concentrate on really fighting crime, by immediate programs designed to discourage crime as we attack it through sensible long range programs designed to eliminate these admitted longer range factors of environment.

Where Are The Tears For Our Dead? ---

There are many strange things to confront us in this age of miracles and messes, but the strangest of all has been the development and evolution of the modern, tear shedding, 20th century humanitarian.

This strange new breed of do-gooder may take many forms; some may take the shape of diplomats, others appear to be writers or educators, while many more wrap themselves in the robes of clergymen. But they all have one trait in common, one little thing which distinguishes them from the great humanitarians of the past -- a never ending supply of tears to shed for those who would destroy our way of life and happen to get hurt in the process. They have an astonishing attitude of indifference toward the sufferings of those charged with protecting our freedoms.

They cry out in horror if a bomb accidentally falls on the outskirts of Hanoi, yet piously turn the other cheek and profess not to notice when the Viet Cong butcher innocent people in the South. It is of no consequence to them that over 7000 Americans have given their lives in Vietnam or that whole villages live in constant terror of Viet Cong savagery. Yet let one so-called civilian die in a U. S. bombing raid and they immediately become sick to their stomachs and denounce the United States for its barbaric acts.

It seems to be the fad nowadays for these humanitarian "intellectuals" to travel to North Vietnam and bring back tales of countless sufferings of "innocent" civilians. Of course the fact that these "innocent" civilians just happened to be nesting amongst anti-aircraft installations is conveniently overlooked.

There are many people in this country, myself included, who are getting fed up with this endless stream of whimpering about civilian casualties in the North while thousands of Americans and South Vietnamese die at the hands of Viet Cong butchers in the South.

Where were these great humanitarians on Feb. 20, 1962 when 24 women and children were killed when the Viet Cong threw four hand grenades into a crowded village theater near Can Tho? Where were these tear shedders when the Viet Cong forced the residents of the hamlet of Le Trung district, Pleiku Province, to meet for a propaganda lecture in July of 1965, and then threw grenades into the crowd? Why did we not hear cries of protest when the chief of a South Vietnamese village was murdered by the Viet Cong and his severed head placed on a pole in the village center?

The butchery continues and still no word of protest from the "humanitarians". On May 21, 1966, near Vinh Hanh village in An Giang Province, 23 workers including a woman and five children were machine-gunned to death in their sleep by the Viet Cong.

The list of Viet Cong atrocities is endless. They are not acts of war, but acts of barbarians. Yet our great "people-lovers" remain strangely silent on the subject. Why?

If these misguided philanthropists are dissatisfied with life in America then I suggest that they pack up their bleeding heart bags and leave. I'm sure the Viet Cong will welcome them with open arms, and our nation would not be any poorer at their loss.

Mrs. E. R. Coffman has recently returned from Oklahoma City where she was a patient in an allergy clinic for a number of days while undergoing a series of tests.

Mrs. Craig Tells About Her Mexican Vacation

"As exciting as wearing a mortarboard after twenty years!" is the way Mrs. James Craig describes the gift presented to her by her family upon completion of work for a Bachelor of Science Degree from Eastern New Mexico University recently. The gift was a week spent in Acapulco and the Mexico City, a post conference "Fiesta Trip" made by members of the Texas Federation of Cooperatives. She was accompanied also by her mother, Mrs. L. L. Whitten of Amarillo. Thirty-two co-op members took the tour.

The group left conference headquarters in Austin on February 15 for a flight that carried them to Acapulco in one hour and 45 minutes and over two oceans in less than half an hour. The group was greeted in Acapulco by a Mariachi band. After being assisted through customs they were transferred by bus to the beautiful Hotel Caleta on Caleta Beach, where every room has a balcony overlooking the crystal Pacific.

Since the keeping of records, the temperature in Acapulco has never failed to reach 76 degrees. From November to June there is no rain. At other times, the rain falls only at night, so that no part of the long, lazy days are marred for sunning, swimming, boating and relaxing.

Of particular interest and enjoyment in Acapulco was a trip to La Perla Dinner Club where the famous High Divers of Quebrada perform from cliffs 130 feet above the surf. The performance is done by firelight and is breathtaking, dramatic, and beautiful. The "Fiesta Yacht" cruise around Acapulco Bay gave the group an opportunity to admire the homes of famous persons, (John Wayne, Red Skelton, Dorothy Lamour . . .) the plush beach hotels and the beautiful foliage. The cruise was interrupted long enough for lunch, swimming and dancing at Palao Beach Club on Roqueta Island. The group was served a buffet of exotic, tropical foods. A part of the group answered the lure of the blue Pacific and in only a few hours each one had a sailfish, even the smallest weighing well over 100 pounds.

"Fiesta Mexicana" in Caleta Hotel was another spectacular attraction. "The meal," commented members of the party, "was unbelievable, and the entertainment even more so!" Much of the entertainment was provided by children from a near-by orphanage and certainly spoke well of the training the youngsters were receiving. They sang, danced traditional Mexican dances and played the marimba. Mariachis and a promising young dance team billed as "Pedro and Linda" provided further entertainment.

Mrs. Craig parted company with the rest of the group long enough for a "Jungle Safari" with five Canadian couples and led by an American Naturalist from the University of California. The group trekked through small jungle villages and through some of Mexico's most beautiful tropical regions to see and take pictures of unusual birds and plant life. Toward evening the group went boating on the beautiful lagoon of Coyuca and photographed one of the storied Pacific Sunsets on enchanting Sunset Beach.

The three days in Mexico City were full ones. The group stayed in Hotel Reforma on Paseo Reforma, the main boulevard. Particular attractions were a tour, visiting the National Palace, with the famous murals by Diego Rivera, the Zocalo or main plaza, which is particularly beautiful lighted up on Saturday and Sunday nights, the Las Lomas residential section, the flower market and Chapultepec Park.

Mrs. Craig and Mrs. Whitten returned to Chapultepec for a glimpse of a typical Sunday for many citizens of the city. On that day they visited the zoo, which is most outstanding, the National Historical Museum, the National Museum of Anthropology, arts and crafts classes, and enjoyed the colorful vendors selling balloons, flowers and various fruits and other foods.

"All of the members of our party," says Mrs. Craig, "were impressed with the knowledge Mexicans have of their own history . . . and ours! Our guide in Mexico City, and nearly all of the taxi drivers we chanced to ride with were not only walking history books, but spoke English very well." One of the taxi drivers told Mrs. Craig, "You should practice your Spanish and I need to practice my English, so you please speak to me in Spanish and I'll speak to you in English." For a whole morning they did, and both profited.

The tour guide helped the group to understand the bull-fights also. Mexico City has the world's largest bull ring and on the afternoon of the fight the stands were full . . . near 50,000 people and most of them trying to get through one gate at the same time. The fact that all members of this particular group remained for the entire fight speaks well for the guide and his effective preparation of the group for the event. Mrs. Craig also purchased a book, "Toros Without Tears," which she found most helpful.

When asked to recall the one thing in Mexico City she enjoyed most, Mrs. Craig has a difficult time deciding whether it should be the Ballet Folklorico or a trip to the Pyramids in the Valley of Teotihuacan. The building of the structures in Teotihuacan took place in the 6th and 8th centuries and are no doubt the products of a gifted race. It is now known that this is a remnant of the Nahuatl civilization. This is the same culture that left great monuments in Yucatan and Vera Cruz. Much of the Temple of Quetzalcoatl was not known until 1919 and even the tremendous Pyramid of the Sun was covered with earth until 1905. Much excavation is being done at the present time. It is awesome to ponder what great secrets are still hidden there. One gigantic room in the National Museum of Anthropology holds only discoveries of the period 1960 to 1966.

The Ballet Folklorico is presented in the Palace of the Fine Arts, the building most noted for its sinking. The program is a presentation of traditional dances and songs from every province in Mexico. The colors are spectacular, the lighting and costumes almost unbelievable. The choreography, of course, is superb.

To the Craig children, there was nothing so exciting about their mother's trip as the fact that Zsa Zsa Gabor was in Mexico City for a rest at just the same time. Miss Gabor also stayed in the Hotel Reforma and Americanos visiting there as well as the Mexicans found her to be pleasant, accommodating and friendly. "She was unusually polite and appreciative to hotel clerks and elevator operators. She rather enjoyed cameras!" noted Mrs. Craig.

D. K. Patterson is pictured at his desk in the science department of Lazbuddie High School where he teaches biology, chemistry, and physical science.

Lazbuddie -- Meet Your Teachers

D. K. Patterson has quite a schedule for his first year as a teacher at Lazbuddie. Besides the high school courses of biology, chemistry, and physical science, he also teaches eighth grade general science, seventh grade Texas geography, and is the junior high sports coach. On top of all that, he drives a school bus. Prior to coming to Lazbuddie, Patterson taught at Elfrida, Ariz., and White River, Ariz.

He is a 1950 graduate of Texas Tech with a B.S. degree majoring in physical education and minoring in general science.

Mrs. Fred Wilbanks received word this week that her mother, Mrs. W. L. Stephenson, had passed away in Marshall, Ark. Mr. and Mrs. Wilbanks were in Marshall to attend the service.

While at Tech he belonged to the Veterans of Foreign Wars and played basketball. He is presently a member of TSTA. Patterson and his wife Johnnie Lee were married in Sudan in 1953. They have two children, Gwen, 12, and Ken, 11. The Patterson family lives five miles north of Muleshoe and they attend the Trinity Baptist Church in Muleshoe.

Although there's not much hunting and fishing in these parts, Patterson does enjoy them when he has an opportunity. Another of his enjoyments which is virtually impossible around here is tramping in the mountains, a pastime he acquired while in Arizona.

Donaldson Brothers Contribute To Wayland Track Successes

Roy and Larry Donaldson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Donaldson of Farwell, contributed a big share of the points that gave Wayland College eighth place in the tough Southwestern Recreational track and field meet recently at Fort Worth.

Roy, a sophomore, scored points in the mile relay, the 100-yard dash which he did in 9.7 to place fifth and scored in the 440 relay.

Larry Donaldson, a sophomore, came in third in the mile relay with a time of 42.4.

Wayland's total of 11 points were the most the college has scored in a major meet in its history.

This weekend the Wayland team will go to Laredo for the Border Olympics. Every member of Hardage's crew is an underclassman and under such conditions Wayland's place in track and field is looking up.

4-H PROJECT WORK- Is It Worthwhile?

How many eleven year old girls do you know that can stand up before an audience of 30 people and demonstrate and tell about the need for milk in the diet? That is exactly what Deborah Harding, a member of the Lucky Clover 4-H Club did in the 6th grade Science class recently. Not only does 4-H provide opportunities for girls and boys to participate by "learning to do by doing," but they develop self-confidence and this gives them a "head-start," over the ones that are not trained in project work. Parents would do well to investigate the 4-H work and encourage their children to participate.

Her schedule is a busy one but she feels that 4-H is worthwhile and puts this high on her list of priorities. The Farwell Club is fortunate to have the Greens to assume this leadership.

The Aging population continues to increase rapidly. More attention will be focused on recreation, housing, health, medical and other consumer needs and on service for the aged.

A new publication "Characteristics of the Texas Aged," has been prepared by Dr. R. L. Skrabaneck and other authorities of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology is available from this office for those groups who are interested in programs on this subject or working in this area. The publication may be useful in giving direction for future work. Call your County Extension office 481-3619 and come by the office on the 2nd floor of the Parmer County Courthouse for information about the new publication.

NEW ORGANIZATION LEADER

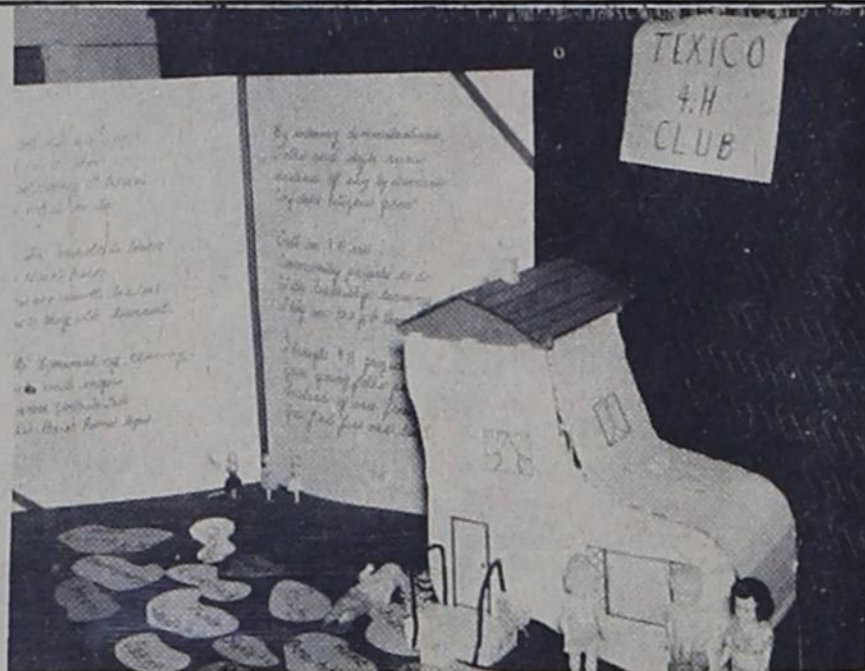

Farwell 4-H Club has new Organizational Leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Green, who will take over the duties of this position in September. Mrs. Green will really be the leader and assisted by her husband when his time permits.

The Greens have a family of four boys and Mrs. Green like others with a family, is a busy homemaker. She bakes all of their bread too. That's almost out of date in this day and time.

DO YOU KNOW?

Potatoes may be an overlooked choice for a reducing diet? A medium sized potato broiled or baked, contains about 100 calories.

This is about the same number of calories as in a large apple, orange or half grapefruit.

"THERE WAS AN OLD WOMAN -- who knew what to do with her many children" was theme for the window display of the Texico 4-H Club which appeared in the window of the variety store in Texico during National 4-H Club Week. The window display was winner of a first place (blue ribbon) award. Leader of the Texico club is Mrs. Perry Winkles.

Club Observes 4-H Week

National 4-H Club Week was observed by all area 4-H Clubs February 25 - March 4, Texico 4-H Club, directed by Mrs. Perry Winkles, leader, arranged a window display in Dial's Variety Store which received a first place (blue ribbon) award. Committee in charge of arranging the window display included Bob and Melva Ridgley, Ronnie Aubrey, Delford Martin, Ronnie Tipton, Debbie Sharp, and Beverly Winkles.

The Texico club also participated in the 4-H club parade on Saturday morning in Clovis. They used Jim Pierce's pickup for the parade.

Several club members including Beverly Winkles, Max Winkles, Melva, Bob, and Karen Ridgley, made posters commemorating 4-H Club Week to distribute to business houses. Bob Ridgley received a red (second place) ribbon for his poster.

Farwell Track Schedule

Coach Toby Booth has released the following schedule for his cindermen squad, March 11, Abernathy; March 18, Hale Center; March 23, Springlake; April 1, Kress; April 8 District meeting, also at Kress.

On The Farm In Parmer County

By RONNY McNUTT

REPLANT IRRIGATION:

As preplant irrigation begins, we recommend that farmers plan their first watering so they apply only the amount which can be effectively stored in the soil's root zone.

There are instances where as much as 12 inches are applied when six inches will bring the soil to its field capacity throughout the root zone. Field capacity is the maximum amount of water a soil can retain for crop use. Watering deeper than four feet is usually inefficient and results in considerable losses to deep percolation. Water necessary to saturate the root zone varies with the soil type.

Hardlands, such as Pullman clay loams, hold an average of 2 to 2 1/2 inches of water per foot of soil. At this rate, it takes eight to 10 inches to fill the four foot root zone. But the intake rate of these soils is extremely low so it is difficult to apply much more than four inches per irrigation.

Mixed lands, such as Amarillo fine sandy loams, hold about 1 1/2 inches per foot of soil. A six-inch preplant irrigation should bring the root zone to field capacity.

For example, this is how you can figure a 700 GPM well pumping on 1.5 acres for a six hour set. (1) The 700 GPM well puts out about 1,55 acre-inches per hour (700/450=1.55). (2) Multiplying the acre-inches per hour of 1.55 times the 6 hours of the set gives 9.3 total acre-inches. (3) This 9.3 is then divided by the area irrigated or 1.5 acres to give 6.2 inches of water per acre.

Irrigation is not 100 per cent efficient because of such things as ditch losses and evaporation. Average efficiency is estimated at about 70 per cent, with open ditches, so the average amount of water applied per acre in this example is 6.2 inches times .7, which is 4.34 inches.

Notice that we use the word "average." The water penetration will be greater at the upper end of the furrow and less at the lower end.

To estimate the amount of water applied per irrigation, farmers first learn the pumping rate of the well. This gallons-per-minute figure can be converted to acre-inches per hour by dividing it by 450. The acre-inches per hour can then be multiplied by the time per set and divided by the area irrigated to give the number of inches applied per acre.

Training Project Held

Ten Adult 4-H Food Leaders were present for the last training meeting on Food project work on Friday, March 3 in Bovina Bank, Community room. The training included a study of the rules for the Food Show, records, table arrangements for individual displays and other items concerning the County Food Show were discussed.

The training was given by County Extension Agent, Cricket B. Taylor. Attending the meeting were: Mesdames; Freeman Davis, Dalton Mimms, Harvey Blackstone, Roy Farley, Lazbuddie Club.

Gilbert Kaltwasser, Oklahoma Lane; Earl Jameson, Friona; Paul Lloyd and Wayne Magness and T. A. Mills, Bovina; and Hurshel Harding, Farwell.

Report From The Sheriff's Office

Sheriff Charlie Lovelace warns area farmers who are in the habit of carrying tools in their pickups or trucks that in the past week or ten days there has been a rash of thefts of tools from pickups and trucks. He advises area residents that it might be wise to lock up all tool boxes on pickups, truck or tractors.

In other news from the sheriff's department, three men, Ronnie Thomas, Donnie Powell and Charles Cantrell, were arrested last week and tried for hauling off, tearing up, and taking money from paper racks around town. Each of the men was fined $35 plus court cost and order to make restitution.

The theft of a pig and 100 lbs. of corn was reported by a Mr. Thomas in the Hub community. The pig taken weighed some 40-50 pounds. Neither the pig or the corn have been located.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Getz, Canyon, spent the weekend visiting in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Getz and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sharp.
