THE SPORTS PARADE

By HANK HART
Quite A Variety

Strange as it may seem, everyone who has thus far made his selection of a name for the local baseball team disagrees as to what the appropriate handle should be. For instance there's Harold Harvey's "Barons," Mrs. Mileway Esker's "Cowboys," J. M. Corcoran's "Springers," Edward Gray's "Golden Tornadoes," and A. M. Sullivan's "Tumble Weeds." That's quite a variety.

This is the final day in which a baseball fan will be given an opportunity to have a hand in fagging the club. All suggestions must be in by midnight tonight. The winner will be decided later in the week and will be awarded the season pass offered by the management.

Really Serious On Trying For Berth

One of Charley Barnabe's hopefuls, Richard Kern, is really serious in his intentions to make good in the local camp. He's been in Big Spring a month to acquaint himself with the West Texas climate and has now pronounced himself "fit as a fiddle" to go to work. Kern, from Fox Lake, Ill., where he lettered for four years as a high school player and later performed with an independent team of that city. Twenty-one years of age, he's a right handed flinger.

The Texan Permian Basin league outfit, this season will have three first year men who have seen professional service in other years. They are Lacey Noble, who tried out in the West Texas-New Mexico loop in 1937; Joe Kocel, who has had four seasons with Hutchinson, Kas., and Springfield, Mo., in the Western Association; and Red Mayo, who played with Tyler of the East Texas circuit for two years. All are infielders.

These Snyder Boys Seem Unbeatable

George Neel tells us that he never heard of a hurdler from Snyder being beaten, that the mere fact that a product of that city is just naturally gifted in the art of clearing the barriers and George managed to get in his licks while a member of the 1934 high school squad licks against both Bedford McClinton, who was Scurry county's first star, and Fred Wolcott, now of Rice, who set a universal standard a week ago in the Texas relays by pacing off the 120-yard high hurdles in 23.9 seconds. McClinton, after leaving Snyder high school, matriculated at Pennsylvania university.

Speaking of track always arouses the interest of Cy Reid who ran such a good mile in the district runoff at Abilene several years ago that his record still stands. That mark was 4:42.3. Cy would like to see Bill Stevens return here as track and basketball coach and earnestly believes that the local school would again rise to its former heights if Stevens had some time to work with the material.

Stevens, who left here in 1936 in favor of Obie Bristow, had three of his proteges write their names into the district record books before calling it quits and didn't do so badly in basketball either.

Besides Reid's record mile, Livian Harris captured an all-time high in the javelin throw with 170.6 feet, while Buren Edwards set a new standard in the 220-yard low hurdles, running that distance in 18.7 seconds.

Von Elm won the state open title yesterday when he turned in a 72-hole card of 296 on the Stockdale country club course. His victory was worth $400 to him.

Barnabe Opens Spring Drills With 18 Hopefuls

More Are Due To Arrive This Week

Work On Local Field Rushed, Grounds Need Tampering

Manager Charles Barnabe took active charge of the Big Spring West Texas-New Mexico baseball club this morning by moving in on the Continental diamond at Foran for the season's first workout.

He had 18 players with which to work, most of them rookies, and more were due to drift in later in the week.

A four hour drill was in prospect for the crew, Barnabe indicated, before the club could return to Big Spring.

Light calisthenics, which would serve to limber up the youngsters for the hard drills that will soon follow, was on the program for today, Barnabe indicated. The team will take form as soon as others arrive and intrasquad games will be played before the crew will venture into games with other teams.

Players reporting were Elmer Edner, catcher; Joe Sapovito, outfielder; Bob Decker, infielder; Marvin Keller, pitcher; Grady Stone, infielder; Warren Lockhart, outfielder; Pat Stacey, outfielder; Leidon Donico, infielder; A. H. Joiner, infielder; Bud Anderson, Eastland; Pete Joiner, infielder; Hadley Graham, infielder; Richard Kern, pitcher; Floyd O'Brien, outfielder; Walter Hollman, outfielder; Clarence Taylor, outfielder; J. W. Britton, infielder, and Jack Reese, outfielder.

The National Baseball school team of Los Angeles, Calif., barnstorming its way toward Texas, was due to stop here for one or two games next week and drop seven or eight players. The coast team will play in Midland Sunday and Monday but may make a trip to Lubbock before appearing here.

While construction on the West Fifth and San Antonio street's grandstand kept pace with schedule, workers prepared to roll the diamond and prepare it for use as quickly as possible. The infield is badly out of condition at the present time and will need more tamping than was first believed.

BAUGH AND BRIDE LEAVE FOR OHIO

SWEETWATER, April 11 (AP)—Sammy Baugh and his bride, the sweetheart of his school days, were en route to Columbus, O., on their honeymoon trip today.

Baugh and Miss Edmondia Smith were married in a quiet ceremony at the home of the bride's parents here yesterday.

Dr. Gary Smith, father of the bride, read the double ring ceremony in the living room of the Smith home. There were no attendants or music and only immediate members of both families were present.

After a reception at the home the couple left by automobile on their trip. Baugh will play baseball with the Columbus Red Birds of the American association this summer.

BETTY JAMESON TITLIST AGAIN

SAN ANTONIO, April 11 (AP)—Miss Betty Jameson, University of Texas co-ed, won her third consecutive city women's golf title here at the San Antonio country club yesterday, defeating Mrs. E. R. Hury, 7 and 5.

DESPITE FAULTS, YANKS AND GIANTS PICKED AS WINNERS

MICKEY COCHRANE —like an old maid

By HILTON GRAHAM AP Feature Service Writer
TAMPA, Fla.—The usual baseball forecast tells reasons why various teams are favored. Being in a revolutionary mood today, I'm going to execute an about-face, back into the yarn, tell you what I dislike about every club and then, my friends, you can have my selections for what they are worth.

I dislike the White Sox because they'll miss broken-legged Luke Appling at shortstop.

Catcher Luka Sewell is getting no younger.

Hard-hitting Hank Bonura's gone.

Thumbs down on the Boston Red Sox because they're depending too much on rookie tossers.

Their catching isn't so hot. They're not even entertaining since Clown Al Schacht moved on.

I don't like the Yankees because they depend too much on Joe DiMaggio for a spark-plug.

They've been riding too high—they're due for a fall.

(I'm astonished that I can find nothing else to dislike about the Yankees.)

Indians Need Southpaws
A frown for the Indians, for they lack left-handed pitching.

Rollie Hemsley is a pretty old dog to learn the new trick of walking a straight line.

They're weak at second base. I can't offer a vote of confidence in the "Tigers since their pitching hasn't improved materially.

Schoolboy Rowe hardly will be of much value.

They'll miss Gerry Walker and Marv Owen.

Mickey Cochrane will be like a nervous old maid, trying to manage from the dugout.

The left side of the infield isn't too fancy.

Too many young pitchers and too many left-hand hitters spell a big "no" for the Senators. I dislike the A's and Browns on too many counts to mention.

Now the National League—Since miracles rarely happen, I can't vision the Boston Bees getting the pitching they obtained last year. They couldn't punch, even in the Three-I league.

Just to be different, here's a good word for the not-so-daffy Dodgers. They're better than last year, but—Rookie Pete Coscarart at second base can't hit.

The outfield is questionable and the Brooklynians need another catcher.

I find it hard to dislike the Cubs, but they have too many master minds—Grimm, Hartnett and Lazzeri. Luck's not too brittle.

They've got to desert the Giants

Peppe Employs Mirrors For Swim Help

Michigan Coach Is Of Opinion That Dry Diving Aids

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 11 (AP)—Top-notch swimming teams are produced with the aid of mirrors and "dry diving," believes youthful Coach Mike Peppe who piloted a bunch of Ohio State university sophomores and juniors to the first National A.A.U. senior championship won by a college squad.

Peppe pronounces his name "Peppe" and lives up to it. He uses large mirrors at the end of his training pool to correct form faults in his swimmers and has sand-pits under his diving board to save time.

This year the Bucks won the Big Ten meet, were noosed out of the intercollegiate title by one point after defeating Michigan, the winner, three times previously, and won their first national title Saturday in the A.A.U. meet.

Peppe says: "The mirrors give swimmers who don't react properly to verbal instructions an opportunity to observe their own form. By swimming directly toward the mirrors, they can see what they do incorrectly and overcome their faults."

"The sand-pit with a spring board is invaluable for teaching proper technique in diving. The boys don't have to climb out of the pool every time."

Netters Meet For Confab Tonight

Attempt To Be Made To Promote More Tennis Courts

Local enthusiasts will attempt to centralize tennis interest in Big Spring this evening at 7 o'clock when a meeting, called for the purpose of forming a club, will be held in The Herald offices.

Need of such an organization has been shown here within the past several weeks when the many courts, only available playgrounds within the city, have been constantly overtaxed.

One of the purposes of such a unit, Jimmy Myers, who has called the meeting, said was to build more courts.

Arizona Ace Weakens On Greens And Loses To Roswell Grocer

TUCSON, April 11 (AP)—Unaccustomed as he was to tournament play, particularly on such smooth grass greens as those of El Rio country club, Ralph Petty, Roswell, N. M., grocer, was southwestern golf champion today.

Arriving unheralded at the start of the tournament, and overlooked in the prognostications, he played steadily throughout, winning the title from Russell Valentine, University of Arizona student from Miami, Ariz., four and three, in the climax yesterday.

Valentine, former state champion, weakened on the greens after a sparkling display of putting Saturday when he overcame Jack Harden, El Paso, Tex., in the semifinals. Petty led two up at the end of the morning round, and clinched victory on the 15th hole of the afternoon session. It was his first major competition on grass greens. He reached the finals by defeating Jim Canning, University of Arizona student, Saturday.

Brownies Still Lead Grapefruit League With 18 Wins, One Loss

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—Although they sustained their first defeat of the spring training schedule in their first encounter with big league opposition, Col. Gabby Street's St. Louis Browns today are still king-pins of the Grapefruit league.

That one trimming by the Chicago Cubs, is the lone blot on the Brownies' 18-game record. Since their closest rivals, the Pittsburgh Pirates and Detroit Tigers, each have lost five games, and the opening of the major league campaigns is only a week away, it's a record that's likely to make the St. Louisans champions of the Citrus circuit for 1938.

The Tigers, winners in all seven of their games last week, came up from fourth to tie for second and pushed the New York Giants down to fourth place. But the St. Louis Cardinals, also winning seven, made the biggest advance, from tenth to fifth. The Redbirds' record is 17 and 10, compared to the Giants' 16 and six.

ROMNES IS LEADER AS HAWKS DEFEAT TORONTO LEAFS, 2-1

Shoots Goal In Last 4 Minutes

CHICAGO, April 11 (AP)—Those amazing battered Chicago Blackhawks, today were just one game away from the professional hockey championship and possession of the Stanley cup.

Twice victorious in the best three-out-of-five series with the Toronto Maple Leafs, the Hawks battle the Leafs in the fourth game at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night. They are determined to triumph and end it. If they lose, the fifth and deciding game will be played in Toronto Thursday night.

In a murderous battle, marked by half a dozen fights, both on ice

CHICAGO, April 11 (AP)—Six thousand hockey fans occupying general admission seats were given a general frisking before they entered the Chicago Stadium last night to witness the bruising game between the Chicago Blackhawks and Toronto Maple Leafs.

As a result, police confiscated about 50 to 60 bags containing lemons, tomatoes, bottles and over-ripe fruit. All was intended to be thrown on the ice, possibly in protest to bad decisions.

The police failed, however, to pick up numerous decks of cards which at periods were tossed from the two top galleries onto the ice, and scattered in every direction.

and among the spectators, the Hawks conquered Toronto 2-1 last night before 18,496 fans. The crowd smashed the former National Hockey league record for paid admissions, hung up when 17,071 persons watched the Hawks play the Montreal Canadiens here in the spring of 1931.

Elmer (Doc) Romnes, whose nose was broken in three places at Toronto last Thursday, was the hero of the game. Playing with a guard over his nose, Romnes rifled a 25-foot shot past goalie Walter Brown with less than four minutes of the game remaining. The puck bounced out of the net, causing the Toronto players to swarm around the officials in protest that it had not crossed the line. The officials ruled otherwise, however.

Homer Spotted
The instant the game started, Red Horner, Toronto defense player, was a marked man. He was responsible for breaking Romnes' nose and causing a total of eleven stitches to be taken in four of the Blackhawks' players. Romnes determined to get even with Horner, slashed at him with his stick in the first rush. Romnes missed Horner's face, and brought his stick crashing down on his shoulder. The big Canadian player dropped to the ice, more frightened than injured.

From then on, the game developed into a battle between the players, with thirteen penalties, including one major being assessed because of the fights. The play was so rough that nine penalties were handed out in the first 20 minutes of the game.

Chunky Bill Stewart, manager of the Hawks, was immensely proud of their showing. He bounded into the dressing room after the game, and warmly embraced Romnes, and warmly embraced Romnes, and warmly embraced Romnes.

Fat Murphy will call 40 or more gridders into camp once again after a three weeks layoff. He intends to keep them in uniform until the second week in May.

Three youths who compose the track and field squad were to report to Carmen Brandon on the Austin street field. The trio, Alton Bostick, Paul Stevens and Red Womack, were slated to attend the district meet at Sweetwater last Saturday but were given the opportunity of working another week when cold weather forced officials to postpone the meeting until April 16.

Coach Wayne Matthews will have four days in which to correct the somewhat erratic game of his girl netters, Ros Taylor and Martha Ehlman, and to perfect the offensive spurs of his boy's singles player, Marvin House, Jr. House and the two girls will leave for the Sweetwater district meet Friday.

Girdler Asserts Board's Ruling Not On Evidence

CLEVELAND, April 11 (AP)—The national labor relations board's action in blaming Republic Steel Corp. for death of three C. I. O. strikers at Massillon, O., in last summer's steel strike "is wholly unsupported by the evidence," Tom Girdler, Republic chairman, declared today.

Girdler in a statement said "the courts will have to decide" whether "the company must not negotiate with its employees who have formed their own independent labor organizations," and added that Republic will "take advantage of all rights under the law."

The labor board Saturday found that Republic violated the Wagner act on eight counts. It ordered employee representation plans broken up at its five Ohio plants and among other things, ordered reinstatement of 5,000 strikers with back pay.

"The attempt of the board to place responsibility upon Republic for a riot between city police and the C. I. O. at Massillon is, we believe, wholly unsupported by the evidence," Girdler said.

READING AND WRITING

"THE BENDING SICKLE," by Gerald Bullett; (Knopf; $2.00).

Gerald Bullett is one of those incredibly numerous English literary men who manage (perhaps with the help of a small private income) to make a living at writing in the British Isles. Witness: Mr. Bullett wrote his first novel 19 years after being born in a London suburb. He burned this; his second novel was published while he was serving King and Country in the late great war.

Today he publishes in this country another novel, "The Bending Sickle." It is not as good as "The Jury" because of the subject chosen, not because of the writing. It is another of the too frequent glorifications of English virtues and English country life, written out of a literary urge rather than out of a man's heart. Again witness:

Stephen Denbury is going down to Draytonhurst for the weekend, there to persuade a woman full of years that she should allow him to release an unsophisticated period piece she had published as a girl in the "Times." Denbury is a publisher who traffics in pretties of the sort (there should be a rule prohibiting the British from making all the central figures of their novels either literary people or clerics). His mission is a little delicate; he wants the book because it will be laughed at, and he sees its author as an old lady who probably still believes in the book. It is, in fact, the sort of book Mr. Bullett would love to write a literary piece about.

If You Have To Apologise, You Had Better Do It With A Smile

By JOAN DURHAM AP Feature Service Writer Apologizing pays — If you know how to go about it.

"When you've made a mistake," says John C. Burg, who's in charge of complaints for a large chain of hotels, "rectify it at once. Otherwise, the slight bruise may grow into a very sore spot."

Effective apologies have four essentials, according to Mr. Burg. Promptness and brevity, willingness to demonstrate your willingness to make up for the damage done. Those are three. The fourth, and perhaps the most important, says Mr. Burg, is a pleasant, but positive approach throughout the procedure.

Flabbiness in the apologist, he says, reflects insincerity or an inferiority complex that is an embarrassing to both parties.

Settings make a difference in the handling of apologies. In a formal dining-room, for instance, it's out of place to do anything besides make a prompt, formal apology. In an informal gathering, joking may be an effective means of passing it off — providing the recipient of the apology understands the sincerity behind it.

Apologies, of course, play their part in business as well as in social life. The business man's jinx, says Mr. Burg, is the perennial grinch. There are two kinds of these. The first is the grinch who "sharpen his statement to thrust it home." Often he is trying, in his blundering way, to help you. If you treat him with good humor you'll make a permanent customer—or friend—of him.

The second is the one who naturally likes to be offensive. No amount of arguing can change him. If you treat him good humoredly — without being flippant — he will get less satisfaction out of his complaining—and he might even stop it.

Denison Dam Project Is Advocated

Called Most Important Unit In Mississippi Program

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—The proposed Denison dam on the Red river was described today by the house flood control committee as one of the most important flood control projects considered for the watershed of the Mississippi river.

General M. C. Tyler, assistant chief of army engineers, told the committee the proposed dam sits near Denison, Tex., was one of the most desirable found on any tributary of the Mississippi for the construction of a large reservoir.

He said the estimated $54,000,000 cost of the project was "very low" and that it was "impossible to find any such site on the Arkansas or Ohio rivers that could approach that figure."

Majority Leader Rayburn, (D-Tex.), said the senators from the four states which would be affected—Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Louisiana—and all the representatives of districts along the drainage basin of the Red river, unanimously endorsed the project.

Many of the congressmen appeared at the hearing. They will be given a chance to testify at a later date.

General Tyler told the committee the proposed dam would serve both flood control and power purposes, although the former was primary.

He estimated the construction cost for a flood control dam alone would be $32,500,000 and the cost of an additional dam height necessary for power generating purposes would be $10,000,000. Approximately $11,750,000 was estimated as the cost for acquisition of land, and relocation of railroads, pipe lines, telephone lines, and highways.

Tyler said approximately 5,000,000 people reside in the territory where power from the project could be distributed, according to a federal power commission report. The plant, he said, would produce from fifteen to twenty thousand kilowatts hours daily.

More than $100,000,000 is expended for music throughout the United States every year, the National Association of Musical Merchandise Manufacturers estimates.

France Moves For An Agreement With Italy

By the Associated Press

France's moderate new government, with anxious sidelong glances at Adolf Hitler's growing power, today picked its way along the British-biased trail toward European peace by dickered with dictators—or at least with one dictator.

Parliamentary quarters predicted French Premier Edouard Daladier would fall fully in line with the British policy of conciliation with the Italian end of the Rome-Berlin axis.

It was said that Daladier, conservative successor to Leon Blum, the anti-fascist people's front leader, would send an extraordinary envoy to Rome to discuss settlement of French-Italian relations, chiefly disturbed by Italian intervention in the Spanish civil war.

The little toward recognition of the Italian conquest of Ethiopia for Premier Mussolini's promise to keep out of Spain when the war is ended.

Britain rapidly was nearing a settlement with Italy. She opened the way toward recognition of the Italian empire by requesting the League of Nations council to consider the problem on May 9.

The Spanish war, pivot of much of Europe's troubles, rolled toward a climax that seemed to promise sweeping insurgent victory. One of the armies which Generalissimo Francisco Franco was jabbing into northeastern Spain like a pitchfork had maneuvered into position for a direct assault on Barcelona.

COAST DEFENSE

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Army officers said today new long range guns to fight off attackers along a 3,000 mile coastline, and submarine mine equipment to snag invaders' ships, soon may fill gaps in their $68,000,000 coast defense program.

The nation's greatest city and its capital both would be made more secure, they said, by further fortification of the entrances to New York harbor and Chesapeake bay.

Military secrecy veiled most details of the plans.

The $491,000,000 war department supply bill approved last week by the senate included approximately $23,500,000 to protect coastal cities and harbors.

Unless the figure is trimmed materially before final congressional action, considerable sums may be expended for the first time in years on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts as well as the Pacific.

Since congress in 1936 gave the war department funds to strengthen the coastal fortifications, more than $13,000,000 has been spent for the purpose, but most has gone to the west coast, Panama and Mexico.

The senate also has nearly doubled the house allotment of $12,700,000 for anti-aircraft guns, most of which would be assigned to mobile regiments near seaports.

The army, it was disclosed, eventually proposes to allot 403 plane defense guns to 24 regiments protecting such places as Galveston and other coast cities.

In an emergency, the regiments, equipped with three batteries of four quick-firing guns each, would be rushed to any threatened point.

Coast Defense Program Is Pushed

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—A hundred men, women and children from the Nevada City strike area pitched two tents on the state capitol grounds today and announced they would remain there until assured protection back to Nevada City by Governor Frank F. Merriam.

Frank Killam, superintendent of grounds, informed the campers they could not remain and asked them to leave. He issued a call for the state police.

The invaders, many of whom wore CIO buttons, sent a delegation to tell Killam they would not comply with his orders.

"Your gas bombs are no worse and your clubs no stronger than those we got at Nevada City," Mark Cook, CIO miner, told Killam. "Bring them on!"

As the tents were being erected, Governor Merriam was in conference with a field representative of the United States department of labor.

A CIO committee here said from 300 to 400 supporters of a strike against the Murchie mine had been driven out of Nevada City by vigilantes.

Herbert Resner, CIO attorney, told the mass meeting, called in protest against the eviction, that he had assurance Lava Gas mine workers would receive protection.

Mixed Views On Acreage Ruling

Mixed responses were greeting the ruling of the state committee that the Howard county cotton allotment must remain in excess of 73,000 acres his year.

Some farmers were clamoring for a larger general or feed base, declaring that the amount given them would be inadequate to meet the stock needs. However, a circumstance which greatly eased the pressure on this point was the ruling of the state group that soil conserving crops could be harvested and sold from the soil conserving acreage.

That this not been held, several producers believed, the large cotton and low general feed base allotment would have worked a hardship against all but tractor farmers who need little or no feed to maintain productive efficiency.

TRAVEL EXPENSE IS RECOMMENDED

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—The house appropriations committee asked congress today to appropriate $170,000 to pay the travel expenses of the members between their homes and Washington for this session.

The legislators previously had drawn the same amount for the special session which ended only ten days before the regular session convened. They receive 20 cents a mile for the round trip to the capitol.

The travel item was included in a recommendation that congress appropriate $11,594,481 for 1939 expenses of the government's legislative establishment.

The total is $2,689,244 less than the current year and $156,976 less than the budget bureau recommended.

JIM WENT TO THE CELLAR

Last night Jim, our next-door neighbor, went to the cellar and looked over his last year's porch furniture. His appraising eye saw all the scratches and wear given the chairs last year by his three growing boys.

Jim decided that he needed some paint and a new brush; and planned to take that furniture out in the back yard next Saturday afternoon for the annual cleaning-up process.

Curious, but men all over the country are now thinking of paint, and seeds, and outdoor games. And—a new hat, a new suit and some new shirts.

And maybe the women don't feel the urge to buy new things!

And why shouldn't they? Why be content with old things when there is money for new? Merchants are offering the latest goods of all sorts in the advertisements in this newspaper. Go to them as you would to old friends. You can rely upon their descriptions of every article.

MIAMI, Fla., April 11 (AP)—The last of four hearings to determine which of four states will collect approximately $5,000,000 taxes on the estate of the late Col. E. H. H. Green opened today with Texas officials introducing a batch of documents to advance their claim that Terrell, Tex., was the millionaire's legal residence.

Attorney General William McCraw of Texas submitted a number of letters and documents in connection with Col. Green's banking and railroad interests in Texas in all of which the colonel said Terrell was his home.

THE CCC IS TO BE CONTINUED The House of Representatives by an almost unanimous vote—325 to 6—has reversed the decision reached last fall to discontinue three hundred camps of the Civilian Conservation Corps, and appropriated fifty million dollars for maintenance of the camps at its present strength of 1,500 camps.

Since last fall members of both the House and Senate have been deluged with protests against reduction of the CCC personnel, and there may have been some political pressure from their constituents back of the reversal of the House action on the subject.

There was a great deal of sound reasoning, however, in addition to whatever political inspiration the House may have had. The unemployment situation still is bad, the past several months of recession having brought about a big addition to the ranks of the idle.

Many of the projects in which the CCC workers are now engaged are uncompleted, and abandonment at this time would in effect cause a waste of practically all that has been done on them heretofore.

Moreover, there is a growing sentiment among all the people favoring a continuation of the Civilian Conservation Corps at or near its present strength as a permanent government activity, not only for the relief of labor distress but as a national conservation agency whose great value has already been clearly demonstrated.

The only major criticism of the CCC has come from super-pacifists who profess to see in it a beginning of a nationwide military training enterprise. There is no evidence that Congress or anybody else has such a purpose in view, but with world conditions as they now are the feasibility of using the 1,500 CCC camps as their nucleus for military training purposes is actually an asset rather than a liability of the system.

In 1917 the United States would have been very happy indeed if it had been able to utilize such an organization as a nucleus for a civilian army. The time may come when there will again be such a need for quick preparedness for war.

Representative To Explain Theatre's Gift of Chinaware A representative of the Home Laughlin combination dinnerware and ovenware, pieces of which are to be given all ladies at the Ritz theatre each Thursday night beginning this Thursday, is in Big Spring this week to acquaint women of the city with the china and to tell them how it may be obtained. The representative is making no attempt at sales.

On Thursday, April 14, the Ritz will present each woman attending a pudding dish, with a retail value of $1. The management is inviting women to visit the theatre now to see a complete display of the china-ovenware. It is being exhibited in the Ritz foyer.

The Homer Laughlin product is of a cream color background with Virginia Rose flowers. Design inlay is unique in the fact that it may cook in it and serve food piping hot on the table, without marring the beauty of the china.

THOUSANDS WATCH BAILPLANE FLIGHT WICHITA FALLS, April 11 (AP)—More than 7,000 spectators watched the first German sailplane ever brought to Texas float and circle above the municipal airport here Sunday as the Soaring Society of America expedition got underway.

L. B. Barringer of Philadelphia, manager of the society, piloted the giant full-wing plane on experimental flights, several lasting 35 minutes. When he made preliminary flights Saturday, Barringer asserted his faith in the portion of Texas as field for soaring. Sunday's flights seemed to bear out his previous observations.

Meteorologists claim that central Russia is the world's best game country for soaring. "I bet my back is up," he said, "I bet Texas will prove the ideal."

Today And Tomorrow

THE ATTACK ON THE CIVIL SERVICE PROPOSAL

So many real reasons exist for curtailing President Roosevelt's personal authority that it is not necessary, even if it were desirable, to draw upon reasons that are not supported by the facts. It seems to me that opponents of the reorganization bill are doing this very thing.

The attempt to identify the reorganization bill with fascism in Europe was so far fetched that the most probable result of such propaganda will be to make people feel that if it were true that Mr. Roosevelt is almost as much of a dictator as Hitler and Mussolini then it would also be true that Hitler and Mussolini must be almost as democratic as Franklin D. Roosevelt. Furthermore, to make charges that cannot be sustained by the facts is to alienate the fair minded and the disinterested to whom all liberal parties must in the last analysis appeal.

It seems clear enough that many opponents of the reorganization bill have made charges without having taken the trouble to study the facts. Thus Miss Dorothy Thompson stated that the Byrnes bill "puts the president—any president—who is usually the head, as well, of a political party, in sole command of the civil service, through his power to appoint (and presumably remove) the sole chief of the service." No doubt this is the general impression. But those who hold it cannot have read the existing civil service act and the existing civil service rules along with the Byrnes bill. For they are evidently under the impression that the administration of the civil service is today in the hands of a bipartisan board which is independent of the president, and that the new bill is an attempt to abolish this independent board and give to the president personally power that he does not already possess.

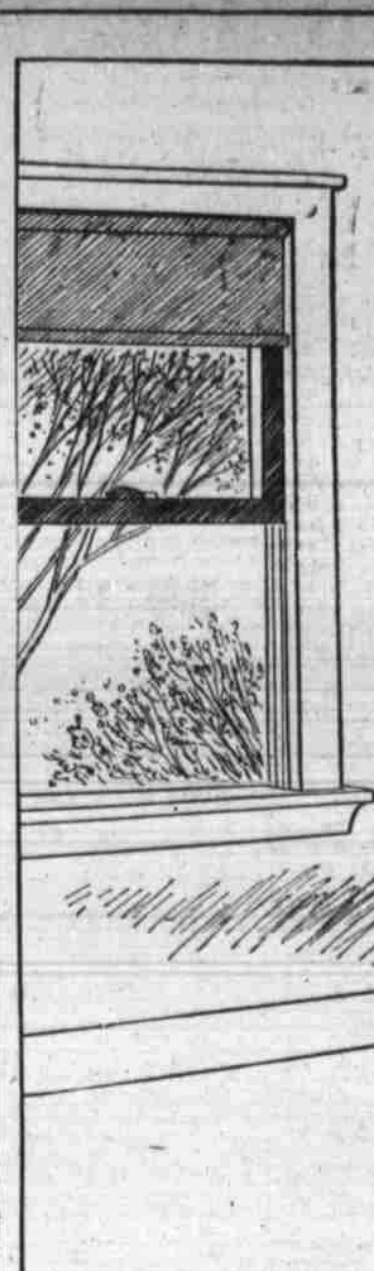

This does not happen to be true. They are imagining a civil service organization which does not exist and has never existed. The basic law is the civil service act of 1883. It authorizes the president to appoint three commissioners, only two of whom may belong to the same party, and it provides that "the president may remove any commissioner." It has long been the accepted view, as stated by the attorney-general 40 years ago that "there is nothing in the act constituting the commission which makes it subject to any regulation or control except that of the president himself. Thus the commission is not an independent agency; it is an arm of the president, and it has never been anything else. The president appoints it and the president may remove it, subject to no check except, of course, the general check of public opinion.

There seems to be an impression, also, that the commission is a quasi-judicial body in that it makes the rules of the civil service. That, too, is a mistaken impression. The civil service rules are promulgated and amended, not by the commission but by the president. The law empowers him, not the commission, to make the rules about eligibility, the classification of jobs, examinations, the boards of examiners, ratings, certification, and all the rest. Thus, for example, a fundamental rule of the civil service, that "no discrimination shall be exercised" because of religious opinions, rests not upon the act of congress, and not upon any action of the commission but upon the "rules" promulgated by the president and amended by him from time to time.

There seems to be an impression, also, that the commission has quasi-judicial powers in that it decides whether or not candidates for jobs have been appointed or rejected or dismissed for good reasons. This, too, is a mistaken impression. All that the commission does is to hold examinations under the president's rules and then to offer the appointing officer the three eligible names at the head of the list. He can then choose the one he prefers. Having chosen him, he may later dismiss him, and the commission has no power to pass upon the question of whether the head of the department has been fair or has used good judgment.

When it is alleged with offer of proof that the removal has been made for political or religious reasons, the commission has the power to investigate the charge. Undoubtedly this is a protection against the spoils system. But the protection depends upon the action of commissioners, all appointed by the president, all removable by the president, two of them potentially members of his party. Obviously a prejudiced or partisan department head will almost never attack an employe openly on political and religious grounds. If he is determined to get rid of him, he will charge him with inefficiency. Then all that the commission can do is to inquire whether the department head has followed the procedure required by section one of this rule, namely whether he has stated his reasons for the removal in writing, has given the victim a copy of the charges, allowed him a reasonable time to answer, and made the paper a part of the record. As long as the procedure is followed, the commission cannot look into the merits of the dispute, and not even the courts can review the action of the appointing officer. (Taylor, Taft, Secretary of War, 24 app. D.C. 95.)

Sights And Sounds by ROBBIN COONS

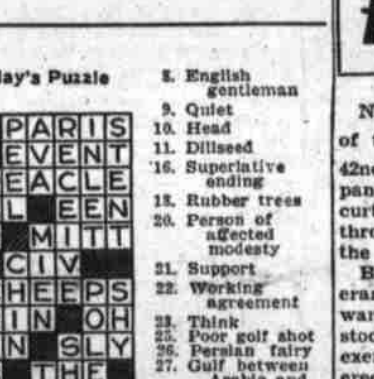

HOLLYWOOD — Frank McHugh, whose business is making people laugh, undertakes today a camera essay on the subject. Here is Prof. McHugh, demonstrating five types of laugh as practiced by the genus homo:

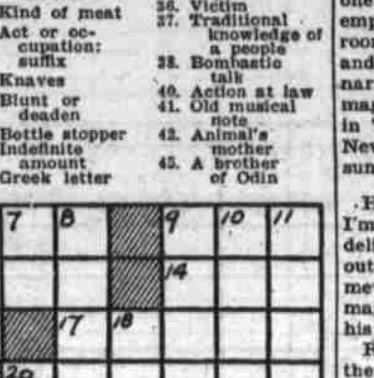

This sickly, undernourished effort is labeled a "laugh" by courtesy only. McHugh knows people who laugh like this—one is a mortician.

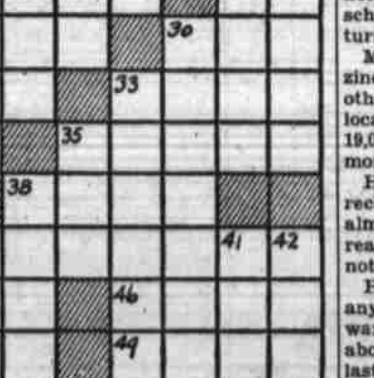

The titter, or inhibited guffaw, is likewise frowned upon by the Professor who doesn't like folks who put their hands up to conceal their emotions.

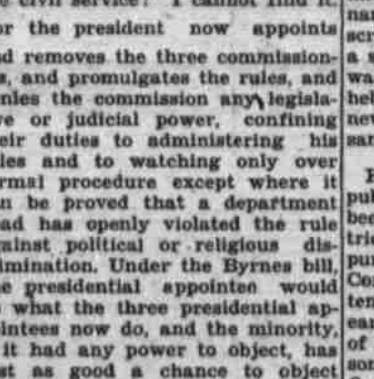

This is the laugh of the misbegotten tooth, so-labeled because the extended forefinger might be used to conceal a gone incisor. Slightly, not recommended, says Doc McHugh.

Ah, here it is! The comedians' favorite — "Stop it, your gags are killing me!" (Vulgarily termed the "belly laugh.")

And even better, the crying jag — used for jokes (and comedians) that are so funny they're exera-ci-ating.

Man About Manhattan

by GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—On the 16th floor of the Chanin building, in East 42nd street, is a great, oblong oaked room with red damask curtains and a desk that sits, throne-like at the far end, facing the entrance.

Behind this sits a grizzled veteran of the economic and industrial wars, old foe of Anthony Comstock, a believer in fresh air and exercise, a wiry-haired man with erect shoulders, of medium size, and sharp, penetrating eyes.

When you enter this room, treading on soft carpets, and stand before this man you have gained the inner-sanctum, the holy-of-holies of one of the nation's great magazine empires. For this is the throne-room of Macfadden publications, and this is the chief himself, Bernard Macfadden, who controls 18 magazines, owns a boarding school in New York, plus health resorts and summer camps.

He says: "These papers here — I'm writing a radio speech to be delivered in California when I go out to present Freddie Bartholomew with the medal one of my magazines has awarded him for his fine work."

Rain is whipping sullenly against the panes. He says: "In three hours I shall be getting out of this, heading into the sunshine. I'm going to Florida before I depart for Los Angeles. On the way back I shall go by Lebanon, Tenn., to see my military school, and then I'll probably return here by way of Chicago."

Most of Mr. Macfadden's magazines are printed in Chicago. The others come off presses which are located in New Jersey. More than 18,000,000 copies of magazines a month go out bearing his name.

He says: "We haven't felt the recession much. Liberty has gained almost a quarter of a million new readers. Oh, we've felt it some, but not much."

He says: "No, I'm not in politics any more. Some of my friends wanted me to see what I could do about the presidential nomination last election, but, well, I don't think I shall ever take any active part in politics."

He says: "All writers get the acid test with us. When manuscripts are read the readers don't know who the authors are. Their names are removed from the manuscripts. Not long ago we returned a story by a famous writer, and he was quite annoyed. But we couldn't help that. You see, the old and the new, the fat and the lean, get the same treatment here."

His net income for 1928 has been published as $1,839,848.78. He has been sued for vast sums by theatrical producers and professional purists, notably the late Anthony Comstock, who proved a persistent gadfly to Macfadden in his early days. He preaches a doctrine of health through eating whole some foods and bodily exercise. Once he astounded motorists and pedestrians by walking barefooted 27 miles to his office. Few men have been criticized so bitterly and honored as signally as Macfadden. At 70 he remains the driving force behind a $15,000,000 enterprise. Not bad for a guy who started as an orphan on a farm in Missouri. Medical graduates in the United States in 1936-37 numbered 5,377 of whom 238 were women.

The Boxwood Barrier

by BLANCHE SMITH FERGUSON

Chapter 24 OLD LADY FATE Reuben, more shaken and frightened than he had ever been in his life, awkwardly welcomed his son and daughter upon their arrival. "Well, young man and woman! He tried to assume a joviality. Achieved only a rancorous huskiness at which both babies burst into a thin, indignant wail—the first words, broadly speaking, which passed between them.

He went in to see Judith with an unaccustomed lump in his throat. "Hello, Reuben!" Judith's eyes were very blue in her white face. The best Reuben could achieve was a taut jerking of his facial muscles. He felt exactly as though he had stood by and let a smaller boy take a licking that was intended for him. He was glad to get out of the room and out of the hospital. When he came again it was to take his family home to Casper Street.

"Goah, Judy!" He looked wonderingly at his offspring. "They're all fired ugly, aren't they?" "Ugly!" Didn't he know beauty when he saw it? Look at the cunning little hands, the adorable turned-up noses—Gingerly he carried the twins down to the hired car. When he stopped being afraid he would drop them he found there was something strangely alluring in the feel of their squirming little bodies. He summoned up courage to poke one fat chin, then the other: "How do you like your old Dad?" he demanded.

The startled babies howled in unison. "Not so good," Reuben decided. "Well—don't raise such a row. Let's get going!" He and Judith found plenty to talk of now. The children leveled all barriers, upset all traditions. They kept their inexperienced, adoring parents on the jump every minute. The future, immediate and remote, could be discussed without reserve.

"Maybe we can find a house with an extra room," Reuben said, after he had snagged his trousers and raked a shin trying to squeeze between the twin's bathing paraphernalia and the open door of the oven. "Maybe you can find a better job," Judith suggested. "You bet I will!" He sounded convincing. Judith must not guess he was hanging by his present job by the skin of his teeth. Each day saw a cutting down of the working force, a lessening of production—Each day he tried to lay by a dollar for the inevitable rainy day.

Meanwhile the twins continued to fill every inch of space. They spilled over the edges as it were. "Let's get rid of some of these doodads," Reuben suggested, after the Royal Sevres vase had gone crashing to the floor. Judith consented half-heartedly. "I want the children to grow up appreciative of the finer things of life."

"They'll grow up fatherless if I have many more collisions with the stove. We'll store about half of this plunder!" Wondering at the ways of women, Reuben went out in search of a vacant attic. Judith had thought her first year at Casper Street hard. She knew now it had been easy. Two babies to be washed, fed, put to sleep, aired, sun bathed. Milk must be sterilized. Bottles cleaned. Afraid to speak above a whisper lest a twin would awake, howl and awaken the other.

Laughter And Tears They found a part-time maid named Helga. She spoke only when she was spoken to. When in good humor she hummed in a dreary monotone. When in bad humor she banged things about and broke them. She cooked the dinner, washed the clothes, washed the endless dishes.

For the first time in her married life Judith was almost entirely happy. When she thought of Reuben at all she supposed he was happy too. She had no time to analyze her feelings. Whether she loved Reuben or whether she didn't made little difference now. He was her husband. Together they must take care of the children.

Reuben would have been happy too if he could have forgotten the depth to which he had dragged Judith. Saddled her with his children. Made a slave of her. She would have been better off with Brent—These thoughts went with him as he sludged through the mine. He heard them in the tap, tap of the picks; the raucous sound of the drills; the creak of the derricks—The twins were croupy babies. Judith spent anguished hours hanging over cribs. Reuben made recording runs for doctor, medicine, helpful neighbors. Life was a heart-twisting affair. Laughter followed tears, ease followed pain, joy followed fear as naturally as day follows night and season follows season. The little house that was a sweet box in summer and an ice-box in winter became the hub of the universe for the man and woman who were rearing their young there. Miraculously the twins survived all their mishaps. Grow dimpled, adorable cuddly. Proudly Judith sent their pictures to Gran—"Love to Gran from Jim and Judy Goodloe Oliver!"

In due time Gran responded with two little dresses, beautifully embroidered by herself and two silver porridge bowls. Gran, however, wrote nothing except a greeting card. She considered herself unfairly used. It was unthinkable that a granddaughter of hers should be tied to an impossible person, whose only saving grace had been money which he had not the sense to hold on to. Perhaps Gran was wise not to write. When the twins were 11 months old Reuben lost his job. "You'll get another," Judith transferring a steak from pan to platter with new expertise, said cheerfully. "Sure!" Reuben tossed his gur-

Cleveland Is Liked If DiMaggio Fails To Sign

By GAYLE TALBOT NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—One week before the umpires get out their whisk brooms the baseball forecasters are beginning to feel an active sympathy for the weather man, who predicted "fair and warmer" for the day last week that saw five inches of snow settle on Manhattan. The case of Castleman and the Giants is almost as clean a cut. It has become obvious that Colonel Bill Terry will need a barrel full of luck to beat out Charlie Grimm's Chicago Cubs unless he produces another starting pitcher, and a winning one at that. A month ago the colonel thought that Tom Baker would fill the role, and he didn't care at that time whether Castleman reported or not. He was very sarcastic about Castleman's lame back, and said flatly that "Slick's" ailment was imaginary. But since that time Baker has flopped, and Hal Schumacher went to pieces in the middle of a game the other day. Only Two Hurles This leaves the Giants with a total of two dependable pitchers, Carl Hubbell and Slim Melton. They are the two best southpaws in the National League, and all that, but they need help. Castleman, a potential 20-game winner, looks like the only answer. Late last season Castleman underwent a very delicate operation on his back. According to the doctors, he came out of it a well man. But Castleman, who insists that he knows more about himself than anybody else, refused to report and he ignored the caustic messages received from Terry. Now he has joined the club, but he's taking things easy and says he might not be ready to pitch for a couple of months.

two young men, Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees and Clyde Castelman of the Giants. DiMaggio still refuses to report to the Yanks for any such insignificant salary as $25,000 a year. Castleman has reported to the Giants, all right, but he refuses to pitch. It's a mess. Cleveland Is Liked The Giants, with DiMaggio in the fold and satisfied, would be overwhelming favorites for their third straight American League championship. If Joe still is conducting his fish-and-chips shop in South Beach today, when the Rupperts open their season, the race automatically becomes a dinger, with the Cleveland Indians this writer's choice. Even the most redoubtable of the old-line experts are putting off their pennant picks as long as possible, or else they are naming the Yankees and Giants to repeat and then filling up the remainder of the column with "ifs." Almost equally responsible for this uncertain state of affairs are

Few Civil War Veterans Left For Gettysburg Reunion This Summer

GETTYSBURG, Pa., April 11 (AP)—Only a straggly line of the thousands who braved cannon ball and rifle shot in the Civil war will return to this hallowed battlefield this summer for the reunion of the Blue and the Gray.

Illness and infirmities have cut deeply into their ranks, those in charge of the celebration said today in announcing that but 1,310 of the remaining 7,000 veterans would be able to attend the 75th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg, June 29 to July 5.

Most of them are in their 90's and a few are past the century mark but their spirit is that of youth.

"If it's all right to do so, I prefer to travel by air," Joseph Walter Bricker of Los Angeles wrote to the Pennsylvania memorial commission which has been receiving the written acceptances of the veterans.

The acceptances are vignettes of sentiment, comradeship, pathos and humor.

"Can't come, can get no company," Henry Gorkman, 90, of Burbank, Calif., wrote. "I was born in Germany, raised in Wisconsin, brought up in California, lived happily in Texas. Homesteaded in Minnesota, grasshoppered in Kansas, divorced in New Mexico, served in the army, and dug gold in Arizona 14 years."

"I'll be there if I have to crawl," said a letter from John Young, 87, of Pine Bluff, Ark.

The federal government is providing transportation, housing and food for all the veterans making the pilgrimage.

PAYMENT MADE FOR HOSPITAL BOMBING

TOKYO, April 11 (AP)—The Japanese government today paid the Seventh Day Adventist mission in South China $2,365 for damaging a hospital at Walchow in a bombing raid last September.

The money settlement was the first of its kind to be made. Payment was made through the American embassy.

INDICTED IN BOMB SLAYING AT JUAREZ

CHIHUAHUA CITY, Chih., Mex., April 11 (AP)—Efrén Escobar, a political worker, was indicted here yesterday in connection with the bomb slaying of Mayor Jose Borunda of Juarez and the judge who issued the order, Miguel Coyado, of Chihuahua City penal court, announced he would resign.

Borunda and a municipal employe were killed April 1 when the mayor opened a package in his office expressed to him from Chihuahua City.

Judge Coyado issued the indictment, first returned after an intensive investigation of the bombing, then made a statement he would resign from the bench today. He gave no reason for his statement.

A 'BITTER BLOW' TO SOCIAL CLIMBERS

LONDON, April 11 (AP)—British newspapers see Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy's decision hereafter to present to the king and queen in royal court only families of United States officials in Britain and families of Americans actually living in this country as a "bitter blow" to "United States social climbers."

The ambassador's "axe for U. S. debs," said one paper, "shattered American socialites' most cherished ambition."

FIVE ARE KILLED IN POLITICAL CLASH

PUEBLA, Puebla State, Mexico, April 11 (AP)—Five men were killed and 10 wounded, among them a woman and a child, in a political clash at Trinidad Cautenoco, said dispatches from there today.

A municipal election was said to have provoked the fight. Federal troops were called to restore order.

Liner Tossed By Storm

Many Passengers Aboard Queen Mary Injured Slightly

PLYMOUTH, Eng., April 11 (AP)—The liner Queen Mary arrived from New York four hours late today after battling a 24-hour storm which sent great waves crashing over her decks, injuring about 40 persons, most of them slightly.

It was the worst storm the big liner has encountered.

Marc Connelly, New York playwright and producer, said the storm was "worse than a West Indies hurricane."

"I saw dozens of passengers picked up by stewards and escorted for medical attention," he said. "The waves must have been 100 feet high."

W. H. Suydam, New York banker, was dozing in a deck chair when a piano in the saloon broke loose and crashed into a wall. He woke up in a tangle of wreckage with a broken arm and a black eye. Suydam is vice president of the Central Hanover Bank and Trust company.

Lily Pons, French opera star, kept a promise and sang for the passengers during the 70-mile gale.

"I had little sleep the night before," she said, "because my bed crashed into the stateroom wall and stewards had to come to my rescue and clamp it down."

"But I had promised to sing and I kept my promise. Ropes were stretched across so the audience and the artists could hold on to them. While I was singing I let go of the rope and the next thing I knew I was sliding across the stage, but I kept singing."

CROWLEY WILL BE HONORED AT DINNER

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Karl A. Crowley, retiring from office as solicitor of the postoffice department to campaign for the democratic nomination for governor of Texas, will be guest of honor at a dinner attended by party leaders in Washington Thursday.

Postmaster General James A. Farley was listed as toastmaster for the testimonial banquet honoring Crowley for his five years service with the postoffice department.

J. Bruce Kremer, chairman of the dinner committee, said others who would be present included Senator Barkley (D-Ky) senate majority leader; Representative Rayburn (D-Tex) leader of the democratic majority in the house and Secretary of State Hull.

Crowley, a Fort Worth, Tex., attorney, said his resignation would be offered within a few days and become effective April 19, three days after he plans to leave for the Texas campaign.

FOUND BODIES

Jim Milam (above), Van Horn truck driver, and Sheriff Albert Anderson, found the bruised bodies of Mrs. Weston Frome and her daughter, Nancy, in brushy wasteland near Pecos. The women, on route from their Berkeley, Calif., home to the east coast, had been "tortured" and murdered, officials said.

THOMPSON ACCUSED OF POLITICAL MOVE IN OIL STATEMENT

LAKE CHARLES, La., April 11 (AP)—Colonel Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas railroad commission, was charged today with using an attack on Louisiana oil proration as political ballyhoo in his campaign for governor.

W. Scott Heywood of Jennings, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, ridiculed Thompson's recent statement that "the worst spot in the picture of oil proration, where the tax is 11 cents per barrel, is Louisiana."

"Of course, we know that the colonel is running for governor," said Heywood. "Any propaganda put out by him, jumping on Louisiana, to give the impression he is working for Texas producers, is good political strategy but it will not fool our officials in Louisiana, for they know the Texas oil story too well."

Heywood said he could remember when the East Texas oil field was producing more than 1,000,000 barrels per day of "bootleg" oil and the Texas railroad commission "kept issuing permits to drill more wells."

Seek To Retain Modified Tax On Corporate Profits

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Administration leaders will make a final attempt this week to preserve a modified tax on undistributed corporate profits, which the senate struck out of the five billion dollar revenue bill.

They will take their arguments before a joint conference committee entrusted with settling the broad differences between the senate and house tax programs.

Appointment of the committee, often called the "third house" of congress, awaited formal house rejection of the senate bill. The original house measure carried out most of the administration's tax ideas, but the senate late Saturday passed legislation embodying recommendations of business men, who had denounced the undistributed profits levy.
