

FROM THE HOPPER

BY HOP JR.

Those limping, moaning folks you saw around town Monday morning hadn't been out in the jungle fighting Bengal tigers. They participated in the big tennis tournament held Saturday and Sunday.

Dolph Moten of the ad staff, who's quite a sportster, has jumped on us for not having a big story in last week's Tribune about the coming tournament, but to tell you the truth, we just couldn't believe that many would actually go through with the thing. But they did.

This is the darndest thing we've seen happen in town since our high school days, and it must be a sign of something or other. Imagine: 30 adults out in the broiling sun for two days. We didn't suppose there was that much energy left in the whole population.

The wife helped engineer this meet, and we should have realized that if she had anything to do with it, it would have been something out of the ordinary. We also should have realized (although we didn't) that since the wife did help plan the meet we didn't have a chance of winning it. We never do anything right that she plans.

Clarence Meeks won the men's singles and Slim is probably a lot better player than he let on Sunday. He wasn't pushed by anybody we could put up against him. Clarence is one of those rare guys that come around and make everything look easy.

If he's serious about his tennis playing it's hard to tell because he never seems to get in a hurry, or have to strain to get a shot. He just steps over and whops it and that's that. The rest of us run and strain and flail at every ball.

Warlick Thomas, who was in town from Amarillo, beat everybody's ears off Saturday and Slim mopped up Sunday. It's a shame the two of them didn't get together. That would have been an interesting game.

Harry Sheets must have some interest due on his note at the bank. We notice that he let Bob Anderson slip by him in the quarter-finals, and Harry was due to win his flight. That's what you call combining business with pleasure, we guess.

Glenn Phillips says he would have won the men's if he hadn't had four or five kids standing just off the court every time he played calling to him, "Daddy, I want a drink," or "Daddy, I got a sticker," or "Daddy, I want to go home."

Paul Wurster was the surprise of the meet. He dances around like a prize fighter in spite of his distinguished-looking silver locks. There's nothing wrong with his stroking, either, and we'd venture to say that with a few days of practice Paul would be a rough and tumble competitor for anybody's match.

As for what happened to us, suffice it to say that we didn't finish in the money, but had a lot of fun watching everybody else. By the way, the preceding sentence is literally true. It was the most expensive sport we've had in a long time. For one thing, we contributed three hardly used tennis balls and one canful that had never been opened.

For another thing, while trying to get comfortable in a little patch of shade Saturday afternoon, we made the mistake of laying our specs down "out of the way" under Don Williams' pickup.

You guessed it. One of the 999 kids on the prowl eventually found them and made sure they were smashed.

Activity Increases For Law Officers

After a week of relative quiet, business picked up for county law enforcement officers during the past week.

Curry Fruit, 38, Portales, was picked up in the New Mexico city and returned to Farwell to face charges of breaking and entering and theft of a watch. He is alleged to have stolen the watch from a truck belonging to Felix Winegeart.

Fruit's bond was set at $1000 and he has been bound over for the grand jury, which will sit in September. Breaking into a vehicle is automatically a felony in Texas.

Pruit was working on the farm of M. A. Black near Friona. Winegeart had had his truck there for wheat harvest, and Pruit is charged with getting into the truck and taking the watch on July 13.

The worker, who was employed by Black, moved to Portales a short time ago. He was found to have the watch in his possession when arrested.

Antonio Andrada, 40, and Ernest Garcia, 29, were arrested and charged with drunkenness and fighting Sunday afternoon. They were picked up on an Oklahoma Lane farm.

The Spanish American men were tried in Roy Thornton's JP court and both pled guilty. They were fined $19.85 each.

Manual Garcia, 25, Muleshoe, was picked up in Friona Monday morning by Ben Moorman. The Bailey County man was charged with driving while intoxicated. He pled guilty in Judge Loyde Brewer's county court Monday afternoon and was fined $50 and costs, and three days in jail.

Two male companions traveling with him at the time of his arrest were tried for drunkenness in the Friona JP court. They pled guilty and were fined.

Manual Moreno, 34, Friona, pled guilty in Judge Brewer's court Monday morning to a charge of transporting whisky for the purpose of sale. He was fined $150 and costs.

Ben Moorman and George Reynolds picked Moreno up and discovered a case of whiskey in his car Sunday night. He paid his fine and was released.

Walter Baker, 27, Muleshoe, pled guilty in county court Saturday morning to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was fined $50 and costs by Judge Brewer.

Highway Patrolman Freeman of Muleshoe picked Baker up following a one-car accident near Clay's Corner about a week ago. Baker was slightly injured after turning his car over.

He paid his fine and was released.

Lindop Services Sunday

Funeral services for a former Oklahoma Lane man, Devere Knox Lindop, 39, were Sunday afternoon at Oklahoma Lane Methodist Church. Lindop, who had made his home in the community until he entered the service during World War II, was well-known here.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Lindop, Farwell, and a brother and his family, the Tom Lindops, also live here.

Officiating at services were Rev. Roscoe Trostle of Lubbock, who pastored the church when the deceased was a youth; (Continued on last page.)

FORTY-EIGHTH YEAR

SECTION 1

School Opening Plans Advance

Vacation time is nearing completion for 950 to 1000 young people, as the time nears to tear July, 1959, off the desk calendar and begin counting the days of August, the month of school openings in the Twin Cities.

Administrative duties at Texico and Farwell will be under the direction of new men this year, with superintendents manning their new posts early in the summer. Neither of the men will be new to the communities, however.

Directing affairs at Texico will be Buck Doran, who has been an instructor in the school. He succeeds Aggie Jones, who retired the past term.

W. M. Roberts, who served as high school principal at Farwell for many years, returns in 1959 as superintendent. He follows Jack Williams, who resigned after suffering a heart attack last spring.

Plans for the coming year are far advanced at both schools.

Doran says registration and opening day at Texico will be August 24.

Teaching staff was completed in June with the hiring of a science instructor and grade school principal. Bob Teel will teach science. A graduate of the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, he holds a BS degree. He completed his college work in June. The young man is married and the father of one daughter who is about three months old.

Hired to serve as grade school principal is Mrs. Zelfa Younger. She has been an instructor in Curry County and has taught in the Loving system.

Holidays and dates for commencement at Texico have also been released. Students will be dismissed October 21-23 and teachers will go to the New Mexico Education Association meeting in Albuquerque. Two days will be designated for Thanksgiving vacation -- November 26-27.

Christmas is traditionally the longest holiday of the year. School will turn out Wednesday, December 23, and convene again January 3.

April 15-18 is slated for an Easter holiday and closing date of school is May 20, with high school commencement on May 19.

As announced last week, Farwell Schools will open August 31 with registration planned August 27-28 for high school students.

Two vacancies remained on the faculty early this week, with administrators still trying to fill the English instructor spot and looking for a home economics teacher. An assistant coach was hired last week.

Both superintendents remind parents of beginners that all first graders must have small-pox shots. No child can attend school without immunization. Other recommendations are that children also have boosters on DPT shots and polio inoculation.

A-Day To Feature 'Miss Farwell' Contest

One of the highlights of Appreciation Day in Farwell September 12 will be selection of "Miss Farwell," a young lady in the trade area who will serve as official hostess for the Chamber of Commerce for the coming year.

The "Miss Farwell" contest is sponsored by members of Theta Rho chapter of ESA in cooperation with the civic organization. Merchants will sponsor candidates, with the winner determined by vote count.

ESA members are contacting merchants this week, but Mrs. Bert Williams, president, emphasizes that it will be impossible to see every businessman in town. So those who wish to sponsor a candidate and have not yet been contacted, are asked to contact Mrs. Williams or any other ESA member.

Entry fee is $5 for each girl, and candidates must be between the ages of 14 and 18, single and live in the Farwell school district. She must be willing to submit a picture for publicity purposes and will be in charge of her own vote campaign. Deadline for the contest is August 4.

Further plans for the special day include four drawings for trade tickets in amounts of $25 to $50, with participants registering with cooperating merchants.

Other attractions scheduled include Campbell's miniature train, special rides for children and free soda pop and ice cream in the afternoon. Final program for the day will be the finals for the "Miss Farwell" contest.

The young ladies who will participate will first be presented Tuesday night August 11, at a style show sponsored by Fern's and ESA. Admission to the show will be 50¢ and everyone attending will receive double vote-count for the queen candidate of his choice on that particular evening.

Further details will be announced next week.

TENNIS CHAMPS--Not husband and wife, but "in-laws," Ruby and Clarence Meeks won in the women's and men's singles division in the tennis tournament held Saturday and Sunday. The meet drew enthusiasm from many local players, most of whom hadn't been on a tennis court in years.

Meeks and Meeks Sweep Tennis Meet

Championship tennis players for the Twin Cities were unofficially named in playoffs over the weekend at the courts at Farwell schools, in a tournament scheduled as a money-making project for Theta Rho chapter of ESA.

Clarence Meeks, Farwell farmer, and Mrs. W. T. Meeks, housewife and utilities company receptionist, were awarded trophies in the singles brackets. Meeks defeated Herbert Potts, manager of Worley Grain, for his title, and Mrs. Meeks topped Mrs. Mark Fairman, housewife and music teacher.

W. H. Graham Jr., editor, defeated Glenn Phillips, farmer, for the consolation title in singles competition.

In men's doubles play, Graham and Johnny Armstrong, college man and farmer, had top score over Paul Wurster of Continental Oil and Calvin Murray, athletic director of Farwell Schools. To win the consolation bracket, Potts and Dwight Sheriff, real estate man, won over Bob Hart, farmer, and Harry Sheets, blacksmith.

Mrs. Sheets and Mrs. Bob

Anderson, housewives, contested for the consolation title in women's singles with Mrs. Anderson receiving the trophy.

Winning women's doubles were Mrs. Fairman and Marilyn Edwards, who topped Mrs. Meeks and Miss Jeanette Hughes, college student. Consolation winners were Miss

Kids Learn To Swim

Six children ranging in age from four to seven are enrolled in swimming lessons being given at Newtex swimming pool on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Lessons include instruction in stroking, breathing, kicking and floating.

Jerry Henson, manager of the pool, gives the lessons, assisted by Kit Doran and Tommy Standefer. The first lesson dealt mainly with helping children overcome their fear of the water. Each lesson will teach one or two more steps toward learning to swim.

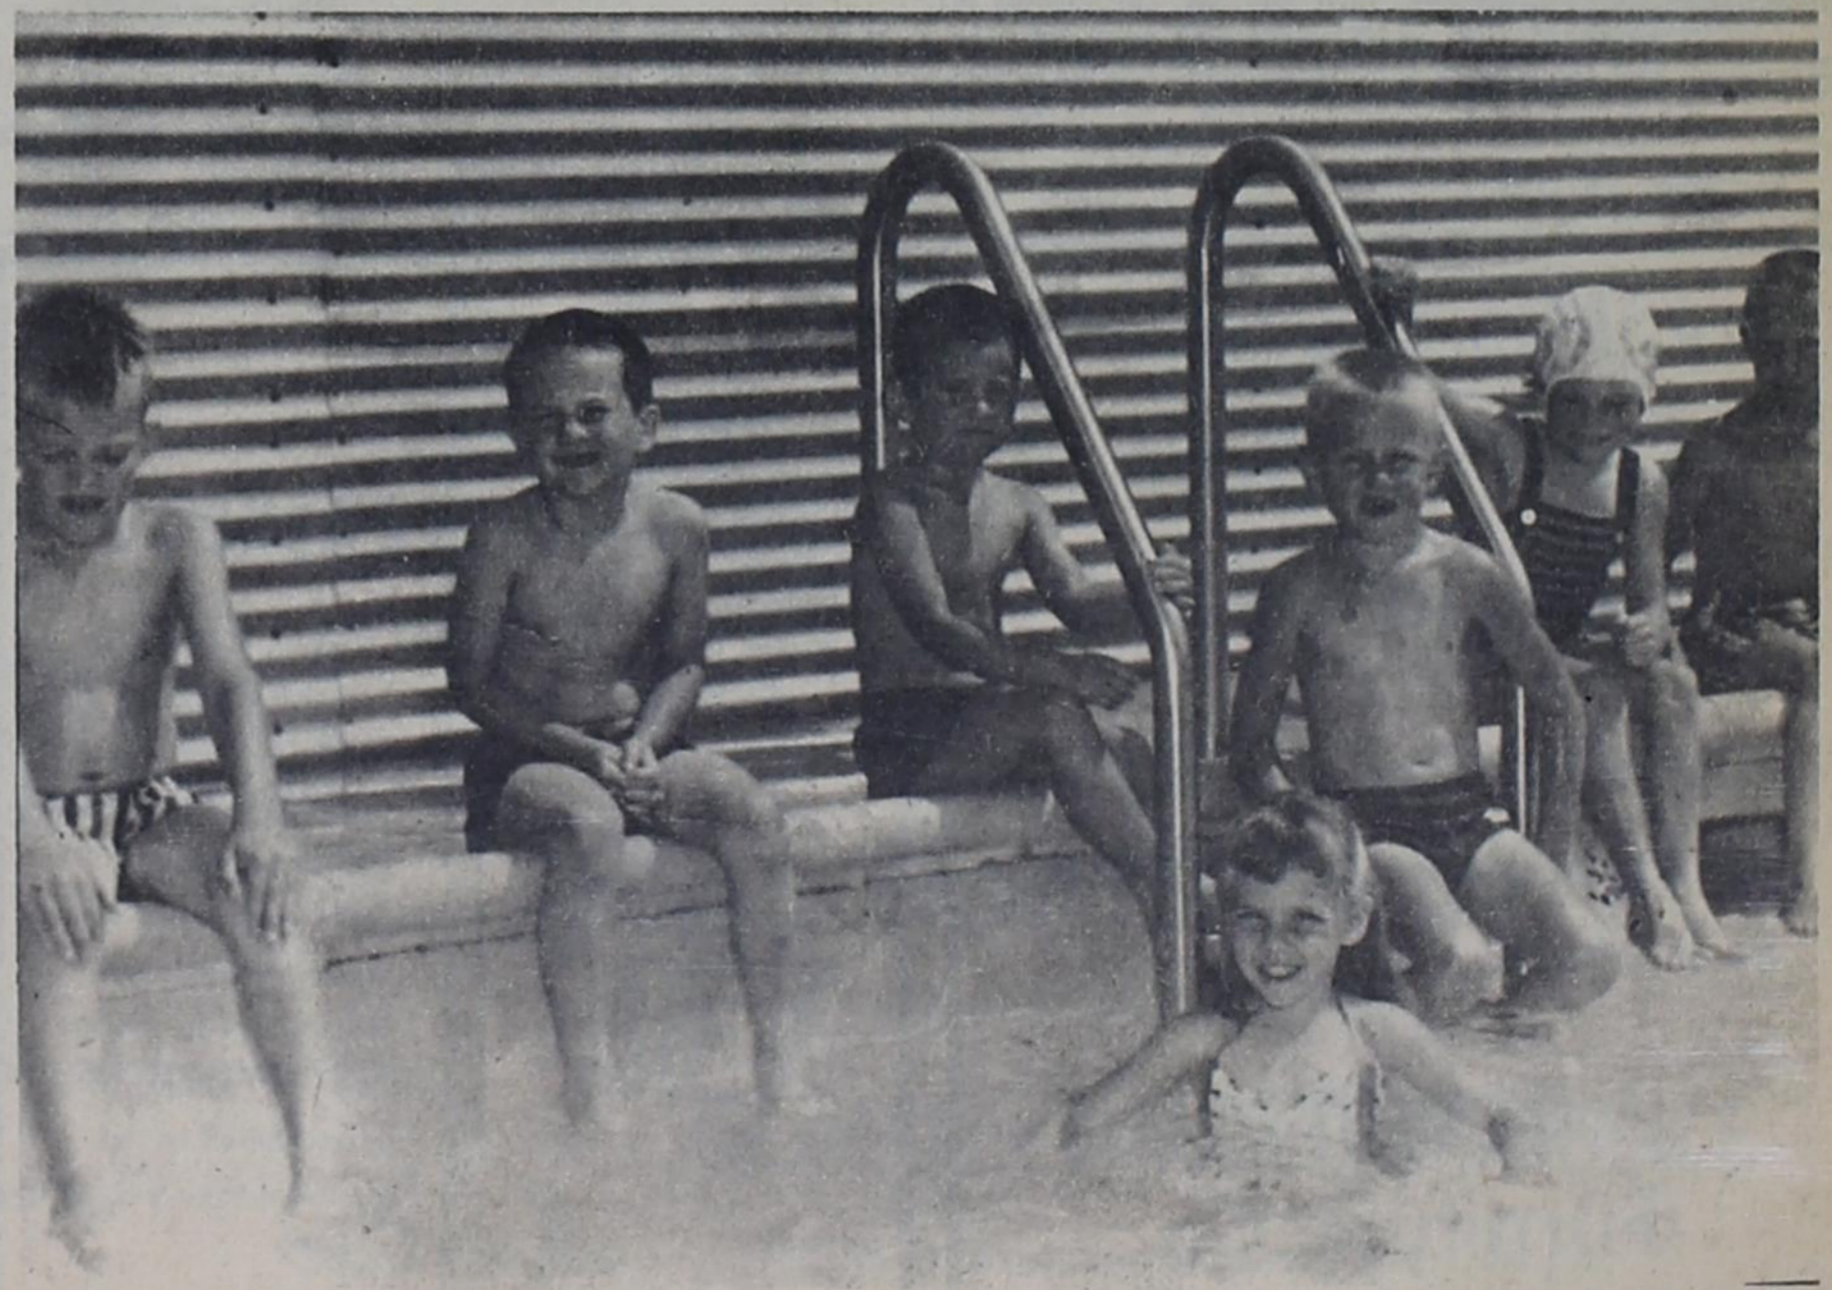

The jelly fish float, stomach and back float will be taught. After the children learn a plain stroke, if any time remains, they will be instructed in the crawl, side and breast strokes.

Although children presently enrolled are young, the course is for persons of all ages. Any person can enroll by Saturday and still receive full instruction. Cost is $10 for 12 lessons.

Those now enrolled in the swimming instruction are John Snider, Terri Edwards, Brad Jordon, Bobby Hart, and Ronnie and Hal Graham.

The pool, which has been open since June 20, will remain open during the month of August and probably during early September.

IN THE GOOD OLE SUMMERTIME these local young folks are doing what every kid loves to do--go "swimming." They take their work seriously at the New-Tex pool, though, since they are actually learning how to swim from instructors. Left to right are Bobby Hart, Ronny and Hal Graham. In the water is Terri Edwards and behind her is Brad Jordon. The other little girl we couldn't place, but the boy on the extreme right is John Snider.

The Mounting Tide

Made any U-turns on Main Street in Texico-Farwell lately? If you have and can still talk about it you're lucky...

Getting onto the Main Street in Farwell is quite a feat, unless you happen to be entering the traffic pattern of the first lane, which isn't too difficult.

Add to the traffic load of 70-84 the cars and trucks from 60, which enter at Texico, and you have a bonafide metropolitan traffic situation, complete with short tempers and high blood pressure.

This heavy traffic is good, of course, because it means that there are more people from our area driving and also that there are more people from non-local areas coming through our section.

We can be sure that traffic is going to get heavier as time passes. There is every indication that this will be the case.

Business people would do well to keep these facts in mind when they contemplate the future of their operations.

Also, we citizens should remember that the focal location of the Twin Cities means an automatic increase in traffic through our town, and that this is a good thing although at times a nuisance.

Farwell Seniors Reveal Plans

As school time once again draws near, people begin wondering, "What happened to that group of seniors who received their diplomas last spring?"

After interviewing members of the Farwell senior class of 1959, here is a partial answer to that question.

Johnny Lovelace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lovelace, has received a four-year athletic scholarship to Texas Tech and is making plans to attend there. Johnny has been active in sports during high school and received offers for scholarships from four states including Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Colorado.

JOTTIN'S By Jeanne

Ken Hanks really had a story-book trip into Old Mexico with about 36 other science students last month. They traveled into the country to study some tropical vegetation and other plants that are found there.

It was quite an experience for Ken, who learned many things about the presentation of the study of science to his students. His travelogue is something to hear.

But we just couldn't quite decide if we would want to eat in the little Mexican restaurant where the members of the tour were fed for a couple of days. The food was delicious, so says Ken, and it was a clean place, and he insists that even the chickens that wandered in and out of the little eating establishment "looked clean too."

Obviously, he has crammed a lot of "book-learning" into a few short weeks--it was quite an opportunity for him. He studied under a science grant.

Logically, Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey Alexander, new coach and his wife, have the three R's at their house--Rockne, Randall and Rowan, three energetic boys about 6, 3 and 1.

A couple of lines on one story got lost in the shuffle last week. If you read the information about the Shelby Jobeses accepting a position in Gruver, you still didn't learn what her new job would be. She will serve as vocal music director there. We are sorry this information didn't find its way into print.

Guests Visit Felix Monroes

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Monroe has been a granddaughter of Flagstaff, Ariz., Annette Hamm. The young lady's mother and brothers brought her to Farwell and her grandmother, Mrs. Troy Murray, came to return her to her home.

Other visitors in the Monroe home recently were Mr. and Mrs. Rush Avery, a cousin of Mrs. Monroe of Amarillo.

The Hills are making preparations to move from Jal to Hereford where he will be employed as band director.

D. K. Lindop Funeral Read

Rev. Vernon Willard, Plainview, also a former pastor; and Rev. J. R. Wood, present pastor.
Lindop had been hospitalized since July 12 in Amarillo. He had suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries when he was struck by an automobile while crossing a street in Amarillo. He died Thursday. He was born Nov. 10, 1919, at Childress and moved to Oklahoma Lane in 1933. He was a veteran and a member of Oklahoma Lane Methodist Church. He had resided in Amarillo for five years where he was employed in the city water reclamation plant.
Survivors other than his parents and brother of Farwell are two daughters, Carolyn Mae Lindop of Amarillo and Linda Kay Lindop of Clovis; and a son, Leslie Leon Lindop of Amarillo.

Serving as pallbearers were co-workers, Theo R. Harrison, Elmo F. Tipton, Lester W. Faver, Johnny G. Brackeen, Francis O. McDermott and Clarence H. Scherer, all of Amarillo.

Honorary pallbearers were John T. Alexander, Dewey L. Brinkley, Charles D. Heymer, Virgil Jordan Jr., Larry D. Loter, Vernon A. Gable, Jesse M. Thurmond, Jackie P. White, Earl Williamson and Gerald L. Ashford.

Burial was in Oklahoma Lane cemetery; Steed's Funeral Home was in charge.

Methodist VBS Is Concluded

Highlighting daily vacation Bible School at Hamlin Memorial Methodist Church last week was a picnic dinner on the church grounds Friday. Each child brought a sack lunch and drinks were furnished.

Sunday night parents and friends attended commencement exercises. Each department sang songs, read Bible stories and presented memory verses and other Bible work they had learned.

Handwork the children had prepared during the week-long school was on display after the program.

Average attendance was near 75 and enrollment on the last day was 80.

Rev. Bill Hardwick, pastor of the church, stated, "It was one of the most well-rounded Bible Schools conducted at the local church since I have been pastor."

Tennis

Susan Levins, college student, and Mrs. Anderson. They defeated Mrs. Sheets and Mrs. Claude Dyer, bank employee and housewife.

A great deal of interest was shown in the tennis tournament, which was the first such event to be planned here in many years, and was possibly the first in history. Spectators' cars jammed the surrounding area during the two-day meet, and many players indicated the desire to stage further competition in the future.

A 50¢ entry fee was charged for each division with funds going into the ESA philanthropic fund.

Work Begins On Methodist Church

If everything goes well, the Methodists should be in the first unit of their new church plant by Christmas, according to Rev. W. H. Hardwick, pastor.

Stakes for the building will be laid out today (Thursday) according to the pastor, and actual construction will begin Monday. Material is already being moved on the lot and the building committee has completed all necessary arrangements.

Elmo Jones, Littlefield contractor, has been awarded the contract for the new plant for $67,774 and the heating and cooling contract has been let to Southern Union Gas Co.

Kesner's Restaurant Opens In Bovina

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Kesner, who operated the City Cafe in Farwell for seven years, opened a cafe in Bovina over the weekend.

The establishment, Shirley's restaurant, is located in the building which formerly housed the Hiway cafe on Highway 60. The Kesners have sold their home in Farwell and are planning to move to Bovina.

MRS. JONES REMAINS CRITICALLY ILL

Condition of Mrs. Curtis Jones was extremely critical at press time this week, and family members had been called to her bedside. Mrs. Jones, who underwent major surgery several days ago, is in West Texas Hospital in Lubbock.

Hereford Plans Big Festival

Activities will be coming fast and furious for three days during the first annual Hereford Harvest Festival on July 30, 31 and Aug. 1.

Crammed into the weekend will be a carnival, three rodeo performances, beauty contest, parade, barbecue, airport dedication, pioneer reunion and exhibits.

In a gigantic community effort, Hereford civic clubs are combining their efforts to make this the largest such celebration ever held in Hereford.

The Festival actually got started on Saturday, July 25.

Starting on Thursday will be 40 big exhibits inside the mammoth Bull Barn. These will be open from 4 until 9 p.m. Thursday and Friday, and from 1 until 11 p.m. on Saturday.

At 6 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, the Hereford Junior Chamber of Commerce will stage a Harvest Festival Queen contest at the Hereford High School auditorium. There are 23 beauties sponsored by Hereford businesses competing for the title.

At 8 p.m. each night, Thursday through Saturday, the Hereford Riders Club will sponsor an amateur rodeo, with stock furnished by Morris Stevens.

Saturday, Aug. 1, will be jam-packed with attractions for the whole family.

From 11:30 a. m. until 1 p.m. the Hereford Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs will join forces to serve a big Western-style barbecue in Dameron Park.

Promptly at 2 p.m. floats, riding groups, the miniature Santa Fe train and many other attractions will swing through the downtown area. This event is being put together by the Hereford Optimist Club.

Pioneers of the area will gather for their own reunion

Saturday, starting with coffee, doughnuts and registration at the Jim Hill Hotel at 10 a.m.

Hereford's new City Airport will be officially dedicated at 3:15 p. m. Saturday by the present mayor and two former mayors. During the day, there will be many aircraft on display. Five aircraft manufacturers will have new private planes on the ground. Braniff will show a large passenger plane and several businesses will fly in large executive-type planes. In addition, the Amarillo Air Force Base band will provide music and the Air Force will provide several static displays. Also planned as an added attraction will be a stunt-flying and parachuting exhibition.

Announce Essay Contest

The opening of its 25th annual National High School Essay Contest was announced today by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The topic will be "Civil Defense--An American Tradition."

Students in all public, private and parochial high schools are eligible to enter the contest. National prizes are: First, $1,000 cash; second, $500; third, $250; and fourth, $100; plus 20 cash honorable mention awards. In addition, the federal Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization will award a $100 U. S. Savings Bond to the first-place winner in each state. State and local contest winners also receive additional Auxiliary awards which vary with the community.

The essay contest was started by the V. F. W. Auxiliary in 1935 to encourage young people to think and write on patriotic subjects. During the last school year more than 35,000 students from all 50 states and the District of Columbia entered the national contest. Dr. Shane McCarthy, director of the President's Council on Youth Fitness, was chairman of the national judges.

Further information on the 1959-60 contest may be obtained from local Auxiliary units, or from the Essay Department, V. F. W. Auxiliary, 406 West 34th Street, Kansas City 11, Mo.

Like other farm ventures it is a risk, but many farmers are convinced that year after year, feeding home-grown grain is the best way to market it. Burl Ford says the grain he fed last year was marketed for $3.00 per hundred, compared to $1.54 for that sold to elevators.

Ford believes that there is enough margin between $1.54 and $3.00 to cover feeding expenses and still pay him dividends.

Cantaloupes Nearing Harvest

Gateway Produce in Bovina is busy preparing its shed and equipment and growers are keeping an eye out for hail clouds as this year's cantaloupe crop nears harvest time.

Harvest is expected to begin about August 5th, about two weeks later than last year. Fewer acres were planted this year than last but yield per acre is expected to be higher. There are about 435 acres in the Bovina area compared to over 600 last year.

Market prospects are also better. Current price is $4.25 per crate. Last year the market rose to just over three dollars at its highest.

Gateway will process and handle cantaloupes for about a dozen farmers around Bovina, including a nine-member growers' association. Included in the growers' association are Bob Wilson, Tom Caldwell, Arlin Hartzog, Leon Grissom, Billie Sudderth, Bud Crump, James Boardman, Wendol Christian and Eddie Redden.

Harvest is expected to take about six weeks, ending around September 25th. Eight key men who work as packers in cantaloupe harvest will arrive from California in time to help with the Bovina harvest. They will form the nucleus of the harvest crew.

The packing shed will use 35 to 40 local workers and 100 workers will be needed for picking crews. These will probably be mostly national laborers. Also required in the harvest process will be 15 trucks and drivers to transport the melons from field to shed.

Last year 36 farmers in the Bovina area raised cantaloupes that were processed by Gateway. The produce company built their Bovina shed last year.

Last year's low price is responsible for the drop in the number of cantaloupe growers this year, according to a spokesman for the growers' association.

Contracts signed by growers and the produce company call for $1.75 per crate to be paid to Gateway for processing plus 42 1/2 cents per crate for picking and hauling to the shed. The rest of the proceeds will be divided at the rate of 75 per cent for the farmer and 25 per cent for Gateway.

This year's crop will be excellent if hail stays away until after harvest time, according to Billie Sudderth, a member of the association whose cantaloupes will be ready for harvest about August 10th.

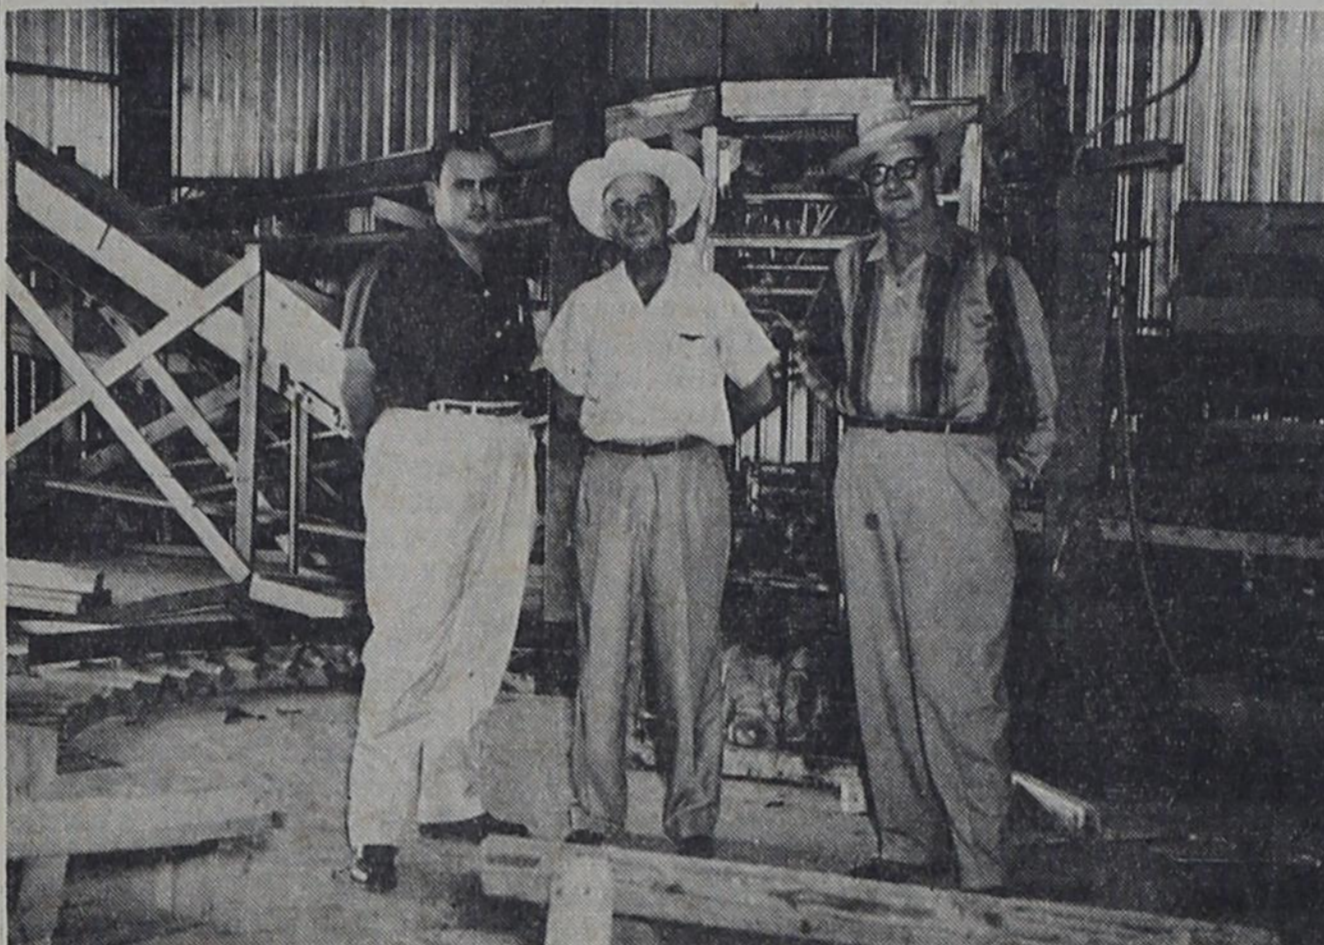

Sudderth planted double rows on an 80-inch bed. He says this method has proved very satisfactory, making less hoeing and better utilization of water. Sudderth's melons are about softball size. He has an excellent crop, yield wise.

O. W. Rhinehart and Tom Caldwell have earlier crops that will be about the first harvested.

Bovina is getting set for its second cantaloupe harvest when national laborers will be more numerous, cantaloupe trucks will crowd roads and it's hoped, farmers will cash in on a profitable venture.

BILLY SUDDERTH OF BOVINA has a good field of cantaloupes on his farm east of town. He planted his 'loupes on 80-inch beds this year and reports that the crop is showing excellent prospects.

Give To CROP And Feed Hungry People

All over the nation, people are again being given the opportunity to share the abundance produced on our farms. The 1959 CROP appeal will be launched in all counties of Texas this month when collections of wheat, peanuts, cotton, rice and cash will be made to care for homeless, starving refugees in countries where war, disease, and poverty rule.

County Supports Quotas

Farmer County farmers agreed with those in other parts of the nation that marketing quotas for wheat should be retained for the coming year. The vote, box-by-box, in Farmer County was as follows:

Bovina--63 for, 5 against; Friona 98 for, 8 against; Rhea--24 for, 9 against; Oklahoma Lane--41 for, 2 against; Lazbuddie--57 for, 6 against; Farwell--37 for, 9 against.

State-wide (preliminary) results indicate Texas farmers approved quotas by an 85.7% majority. A two-thirds or more majority is required to maintain quotas.

CROP is the Christian Rural Overseas Program of Church World Service. Four hundred and forty million pounds of grains, oils, rice, meat and other staples have been given destitute people all over the world since CROP was formed as the relief collection agency of the churches in 1947. Included in this total are Government donated surplus stocks of food, which Church World Service distributes overseas and for which CROP pays administrative charges, such as overseas warehousing, repackaging, and costs involving final distribution.

But CROP's main purpose remains that of asking for, collecting, and shipping abroad gifts of food produced on the farms of America. In this way more food is shipped and only in this way can sudden emergencies be met when danger to human lives dictates quick action and immediate help becomes vital.

CROP is primarily a community action program; it is nondenominational. Gifts from CROP reach refugees and other needy of any color, creed, or religious affiliation. CROP gifts sow the seeds of democratic good will in countries where this is important. As again this year we gather great harvests, let us be mindful of those who are hungry, sick, and diseased, and give that they too might have a more abundant living.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

BY RAYMOND EULER

An amendment that would have practically killed the Farm to Market road program was defeated in the House in Austin last week. It was an amendment proposed to HB 4, which would have stopped the 15 million dollars per year being appropriated for this purpose. The vote was 104 to 21 to kill the amendment. Our representative, Jesse Osborn, as usual, voted with the farmer on this amendment. In fact, all representatives of this part of Texas voted correctly.

During the regular session, SB 22 was passed that will require owners of trailers, semi-trailers, house-trailers with an empty weight of 4,000 or more pounds to obtain a certificate of title for such trailer. Farm trailers and farm semi-trailers are exempt from having to obtain a certificate of title for such trailers when used for hauling the farmer's own farm products. This law becomes effective on August 11, 1959. In some parts of the state, the Department of Public Safety has been issuing tickets for "unlicensed trailers" falling in the above category.

Safflower May Give County New Income

A new money crop may be sinking roots into Farmer county on a permanent basis.

Safflower is the crop and nearly 300 acres are being grown on an experimental setup this year for the first time in the county. Four hundred acres were planted but hail and heavy rains washed and hauled out much of it.

Farmer's Oil Mills is the name of the organization that sponsored planting and will handle marketing. The organization is the result of cooperation between Farmer's Union and National Safflower Co. Farmer's Union owns 50 percent of the organization and National Safflower 49 percent.

Safflower is a thistle-looking plant that is deep rooted and hearty. It takes most of its moisture from two feet below the surface and thrives on hot arid climates such as that of the High Plains area.

T. O. Lesly, who farms between Clay's Corner and Hub, can testify to the hardness of the plant. He has 20 acres that was planted between a field of milo and a field of wheat.

In May, a hailstorm destroyed both the feed and wheat. Lesly was sure the safflower was also destroyed since it was stripped of leaves and practically beaten into the ground. But by the time he replanted the milo, and was ready to plow up the safflower, the hardy new crop had recovered from the hail and was doing fine.

Spokesmen for the safflower company say this area is well suited to growing the crop.

Besides being resistant to hail, the plant's liking for dryness and its ability to draw water from deeper down requires less irrigation than crops that have more shallow root systems. Also safflower is planted in early April and gets a jump on weeds, so hoeing and cultivating is less expensive than for other crops.

Price of this year's crop will be $62 per ton. Yield is expected to be between 1000 to 3000 pounds per acre.

Lesly says he believes yield can be higher than this after farmers learn more about the new crop. The only other experiments with the crop in Texas were in 1941. Yield then was 1200 to 1800 pounds per acre. Lesly pointed out that if improved farming methods increase safflower yield as they have cotton and milo, safflower could be as good or better money crop than cotton now is.

Another point in safflower's favor, and perhaps the best to surplus-plagued area farmers, is the demand for it. National Safflower Co. has assured farmers that there is demand for all safflower that can be grown in the area this year.

Oil from safflower seed is used principally in paints and varnishes. It also has medicinal value because it yields a non-saponified fat that helps control fatty deposits in human circulatory systems.

General Mills Food Products is interested in safflower possibilities for human consumption and has agreed to conduct a nation-wide advertising campaign promoting it if National Safflower Co. can provide enough oil to assure fulfilling orders the campaign should create.

Each farmer planted only 20 acres this year. This year's crop will be used for next year's seed and more acres should be planted next year.

The organization will designate at least one grain elevator in the county as a receiving point for seed. An oil plant is scheduled to be built somewhere on the High Plains in the future. There is a possibility two small plants will be built instead of the larger one originally planned.

Lesly believes the only thing lacking in safflower farming is higher yields. He thinks this will be overcome as soon as farmers learn more about raising the plant.

Plows of dime store plain sun glasses. The effect is very glamorous."

Remove from heat, add and mix in sugar and biters. When cool, spoon prunes into jars, covering tightly and refrigerating at least 8 hours before you serve them. Drain and serve as relish.

For several years we have canned okra for frying, but never have tried the following method for preparing the okra. Mrs. George W. Palmer of 4208 Garland St., Amarillo recommends the following method.

This is a method of canning okra to be opened later and fried. Guaranteed not to be slimy. Wash okra and cut up as for frying. Spread out on clean cup towels and let dry overnight. Next morning sprinkle with salt and corn meal.

Pack into clean jars and process at 10 pounds pressure for 30 minutes. When it is to be eaten, again roll in corn meal and fry in hot fat.

For something very different and tasty the following recipe is one you will want to use over and over.

SPICED PICNIC PRUNES
1 - 1 - pound package large prunes
1 quart hot water
1/4 cup cider vinegar
1 3-inch stick cinnamon
6 whole cloves
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon aromatic biters
Cover prunes with hot water and allow to soak one hour. Simmer the prunes in mixture of vinegar, cinnamon and cloves until prunes are plump and tender, about 45 to 60 minutes.

Cotton Quiz

COATED COTTON GARMENTS PROTECT CREWS AGAINST DANGEROUS CHEMICALS.

LAYED BY--T. O. Lesly plows his safflower for the last time. He irrigated it once and may do so again although the crop shows no sign of needing water. Safflower is the area's newest--and most unusual-looking--crop. It has orange blooms and a thorny appearance at this stage of growth.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUNE FLOYD

Homemakers who prepare or help prepare income tax reports for their farmer husbands have probably often wished that a farming operation could be set up on the same basis as a business enterprise for tax purposes.

Anyone who is interested in such a set up should read "Should You Incorporate The Family Farm?" by Forest L. Goetsch of Doane Agricultural Service, Inc. in the July-August 1959 "Nation's Agriculture."

Some very practical advice is given on this subject and many farmers would probably be able to work out a solution to some of their income-tax problems in this manner.

There are many advantages along with a few disadvantages and each interested couple would have to study the plan before making any decision on the matter.

Mr. Goetsch explains the matter pretty thoroughly and it makes interesting reading even if you decide to answer "No" to the question.

Does your family fall into the category of "those who just love hot or fresh yeast doughnuts, but pass day old doughnuts up without even a nibble?" If so, you might like to use aluminum foil to prolong the freshness of some of the next batch you make.

By wrapping fresh doughnuts securely in foil and storing them in the deep freeze, you may have fresh doughnuts several days without re-making any. When you are ready to serve them, simply pop them into the oven and heat them fifteen minutes before removing the foil. Then serve them hot.

If you are still searching for a good buttermilk pie recipe, you might like to try this one: VANILLA BUTTERMILK PIE

1/2 cup butter or margarine
2/3 cup sugar
3 eggs
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 cups fresh buttermilk
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
9 inch unbaked pastry shell whipped cream and nuts, if desired

Combine butter with sugar and cream, beating until fluffy. Beat in eggs one at a time. Add flour and mix well. Stir in salt, lemon rind, buttermilk, and vanilla; mixture will appear curdled.

Pour into pie plate lined with unbaked pastry. Bake in oven preheated to 325 degrees and bake 35 minutes or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. If desired, top with whipped cream and finely chopped nuts.

The Farm and Ranch, one of our long-time favorite farm magazines, has recently added a featured page that we like very much. It is "The Very Idea!" and features new ideas for farm homemakers.

Two paragraphs from this page are being "lifted". We hope you enjoy them.

"Do you have an old flat-iron stored away in your attic or pantry? We had several. Some we painted black--others we painted with dull white paint and "antiqued" with gold paint. They make attractive book ends or door stops."

"If you have any way that you can obtain some tiny sea shells (a friend who lives on the coast?), you might like to make some sun glasses like the ones we have made. We used cement to glue the tiny shells and tiny pearls on the

Wimberly New Sesame Manager

William F. Wimberly has been named general manager of Texas Sesame Growers, Inc. operations on the High Plains, Robert L. Parker, executive vice president of the farmer-owned organization, announced today.

Wimberly will live at Mulehoe where Texas Sesame Growers maintains its High Plains headquarters.

Parker said that Wimberly not only will work directly with farmers in the irrigated areas of the Panhandle where approximately 85 per cent of the nation's commercial sesame is produced, but that he will be in charge of the organization's seed processing plant, its grain elevator and grain storage warehouses.

A large portion of the High Plains Sesame crop is processed through the new seed cleaning plant, and the grain elevator and milo storage facilities provide an additional service to the farmers of the area, Parker stated.

Brighten your home this summer by tinting curtains, shag rugs, and bedspreads. If these items are cotton, they can be easily dyed in your automatic washing machine.

HELLO, CHICAGO?--John O'Haugherty, salesman for Friona Growers and Shippers, gets on the phone to sell potatoes produced in this area. During the harvest season when the highly perishable crop has to be kept moving, the telephone is the potato salesman's No. 1 tool.

Potato Market Breaks

Potatoes are moving through Friona Growers and Shippers' shed but the bottom has dropped out of the market since harvest began three weeks ago.

John O'Haugherty, salesman for the Friona company, says $2.05 per hundred is a good price currently. Most spuds have been going at $1.65 per hundred.

The market opened strong three weeks ago at around $4 and there were prospects that it might go higher. Instead it has been steadily dropping. Second week saw the price fall to $3.50 and last week it really slumped.

About four cars per day moved through the Friona shed last week. O'Haugherty says he expects the pace and, maybe the market, to pick up quite a bit this week. He expects an average of eight cars per day to move this week.

Louisiana and Arkansas, two of the closer markets, have been closed to Texas potatoes because of an unusually large crop grown nearer. Louisiana began taking a few from distant markets last week and O'Haugherty expects Arkansas markets to open to outsiders soon. If so, this could give prices a boost.

Harvest is about one-third completed in the Friona area.

The outdoor enthusiast was all set to take a solo hike up into the mountains. A veteran old guide was helping check the hiker's provisions.

"Have you a map and compass?" asked the guide. "Absolutely."

"... and a deck of cards?"

"No, replied the hiker, 'whatever for?' 'Might save your life,' said the guide. 'I always carry a deck. If you get lost in the woods, just sit down, relax, and start a game of solitaire. Next thing you know, some kibitzer will pop up behind you and start telling you what card to play next.'

PREVENT SPOILAGE, POOR QUALITY IN HOME CANNED FOOD You lose time, labor and money when your canned food spoils. If quality is poor, the food may lose appeal and nutritive value.

Three causes of food spoilage are: under-processing, faulty seals and improper handling, according to Marie Tribble, extension foods and nutrition specialist, Texas A&M College.

Work for top quality in your canned products by following these suggestions from the specialists.

- Use young tender products... as fresh as you can get. Gather and can in the cool of the morning. Can in small amounts. Clean food thoroughly... keep all utensils and containers clean. Use aluminum, unchipped enamel or glass for holding or pre-cooking food. Aim for speed in preparation... "One hour from the garden to can is ideal." Use proper type of can or jar for food being canned. Have food hot when sealed unless canning vegetables by one-step cold-pack method. Do a good seal. Do not overcook or under-process. Cool quickly. Store in a dark, dry place. Store in a cool place -- 50-70 degrees F.

CORNER ON COTTON

Cotton acreage for the '59-'60 season is estimated at a little more than 15.8 million... that's about 28 per cent over this year's figure... just what kind of production will come from the increase will be forecast by the Department of Agriculture on August 10... with a production figure of 466 pounds per acre (that's what happened this season) or a little more--and some people think it may be more--a crop of better than 14 million bales would be in the offing... what would we do with this cotton? ... some long range projections by some pretty smart cotton people indicate that none of it will go into the surplus we now have on hand.

THE PARMER FARMER

by W. H. Graham Jr.

ing in the nation's most basic industry, and have decided that this would be a most difficult assignment for anyone.

Several years ago we saw the motion picture "Viva Zapata," which portrayed the life of the Mexican revolutionist who had great dreams of loosing his countrymen from the shackles of an oppressive government.

He won his war, and was finally ushered into the offices of "el presidente," where he took his place as the chief executive and proudly began to administer the affairs of state.

Within only a few days he came to the terrible realization that he was not intellectually equipped to cope with the intricate problems of governing a nation. His good intentions were smothered in the web-like entanglement of internal problems.

A short time later he left his office a disillusioned, bitter man, realizing too late that the lives he had spent so lightly to gain his position were wasted, and that he could not bring the reforms to the people that once had seemed so real to him.

We suspect that our farm problem would prove to be something like the problem that faced Zapata. Out in the "grass-roots" area where we live, things probably appear to be more simple than they actually are.

For example, if the writer were to have absolute sway in solving the ills of the nation's agriculture, his first act would be to eliminate the enormous surplus cropstockpile. But, just how would this be accomplished? Would we dump it in the sea or burn it? No, no, would be the cry of the public. Not with so many people in the world going hungry. That would be a national crime.

Very well then, let us give our surplus crops away to those who need them. First, we will give two billion bushels of wheat to India. What's that, Mr. Secretary of State? Did you say that would be quite impossible because Argentina, Canada, and Australia depend on the Indian market, and that if we give the wheat to India the wheat exports of these friendly countries will be in trouble?

Then let us give the wheat to the people of Czechoslovakia, who have had a very short crop this year. Did you say that will be impossible also? And because Marshall Tito is suspected of plotting with communist nations?

The above imaginary international drama can go on and on, endlessly. There is no end to the trouble that a person would be up against if he should attempt a reform of the farm problem. Not only would other nations be affected by any big changes, but the internal disorder would have major political implications. The pressure to resist change is terrific.

In spite of the way that we talk about the Department of Agriculture, the state department, and the administration these days (and not without good reason, of course), we ought to realize how lucky we are that it is not our responsibility to solve these problems.

This is not true of the High Plains, we are sure, but the grain sorghum acreage for this year is down on a nation-wide basis. The acreage of sorghums to be harvested is estimated at 18.7 million acres—down nine percent from last year.

Nothing gives us a bigger kick than getting a water technologist to sit down and "talk shop" for a little while. They don't come around very often simply because they do their work out in the field, and don't have much time for talking.

The other day, however, Paul Rettman of the U. S. Geological Survey office of Plainview was in to see us and we enjoyed visiting with him very much. It took only a few minutes for us to discover that Paul was being downright careful about what he was telling us. The USGS officials obviously have told their men to stick to what they KNOW whenever they talk, and that's a pretty good policy for everybody -- although it admittedly takes some of the fun out of life.

For example, Paul can tell you how much the water has declined in well "A" and in well "B". If the declines were the same, it might be assumed that a third well halfway between "A" and "B" would have a like decline. But you couldn't get him to say that. It would represent something he didn't know--and couldn't know until he actually took measurements.

Well, you can see this sort of limited conversation. Questions like, "On the basis of information you have accumulated during past years, how long do you think the water supply of the Plains will last if the rate of withdrawal remains the same?" received only a polite shrug.

Some things we did come out of our visit with that you might be interested in:

The USGS wants to know if Parmer County wants a complete survey made of its water resources (much more complete than the "inventory" of 1956). It would cost money--perhaps several thousand dollars. A story on this will carry more details. It should appear within the coming month.

A big area is being set aside in the central part of the High Plains and careful measurements are being maintained over a three-year period to see how much water is really in the hundreds of playa lakes. So far we've just been guess-

The high temperatures, low humidity, and dry winds of the High Plains result in a free evaporation table six feet deep! That is (theoretically, and on an average) if you exposed a six-foot deep pond of water to the elements on January 1, 1959, and no rain was permitted to enter it, it would have all evaporated by January 1, 1960. This has great significance for our surface water resources that are in the playa lakes.

The average length "run-off" in a draw such as Running Water Draw following a localized rain is about 10 miles. To put it another way, if Bovina gets a two-inch rain to-night that will probably put water in the draw down to Lazbuddie, but not much further. Very little water is carried from the High Plains by any such natural drainage.

The draws do have good recharge possibilities. Water running through them fairly frequently keeps silt washing so that the draw bottoms don't get "tight" and they do allow considerable water to percolate downward. This factor is aided also because the draw channel has been eroded down into looser soil structures.

Surface lakes are the opposite. The silt rushes in from the fields. It is suspended in the murky water, but slowly settles to the bottom. Over the years this silt stacks deeper and deeper on the lake floor until it practically seals the bottom. Nearly all of the "disappearance" of lake water is due to evaporation.

The intake of recharge wells can be greater than their normal output, but this is discouraged because of the possibility of the recharge water carrying sediment into the water-bearing formation further than can be pulled back out by the normal "sucking" action of the well.

What would you do if the Congress of the United States suddenly turned over to you the problem of administering a farm program for this nation? We have thought quite a bit along these lines in recent days as we watch the events unfold-
