Industrial Bond Issue Discussed By Commission

An inquiry from several businessmen on the feasibility of locating new businesses in Texico was the main topic for discussion at a meeting of the Texico City Commission Monday. The Industrial Revenue Bond issue, which attracted the Lucerne Milk Plant and Swift and Co. Packing Plant to Clovis, was explained at some length by City Attorney Harry Patton.

Several businessmen who desire to locate businesses in Texico will be at the next meeting of commission members to discuss the plan with them. The plan has been highly successful in other New Mexico cities and commission members feel that a similar undertaking would be successful here.

In other business transacted commission members discussed buying a two-way radio for use in the police car, which has recently been purchased by the city. The police car is a 1961 Studebaker, which was formerly used by the Clovis Police department, and was bought by Texico from John Parker Motor Co. for $600 on the lease purchase agreement.

A request from postal authorities for permission to paint the parking area in front of the post office and designate it as a 10-minute parking zone was granted. A request from A. O. Arnold to temporarily close an alley behind his house was granted with the understanding that he be available at all times to open the alley to city employees or other persons who might need to go through the alley.

Commission members discussed extending the firezone from its present boundaries to State Road 108 on the west, the state line on the east, the railroad on the south and one-half block north of Wheeler Ave. on the north in blocks 17-22. City Attorney Patton is to draw up an ordinance and present it to commission members for their approval at the next regular meeting.

Liens against 16 property owners who have delinquent water bills against their property, are being drawn up and will be filed in the near future. All persons who have delinquent occupational licenses are being sent a letter of notice and if the licenses are not paid promptly, suit will be brought against such businesses.

One occupational license was paid by Ray and Erma Stone for the operation of a trailer rental agency in Texico. One building permit was issued to Analeto Ortiz to move a four room house to Hereford St. to be used for a residence. Sam Lewis, city police magistrate, reports that $165 was collected in fines during the month of July.

All bills were approved and ordered paid and the next meeting was set for August 17, 4:30 p. m.

KELLY GREEN SEED, INC., is the name James "Pat" Patrick has chosen for the new firm he has recently started in Farwell. Patrick and two associates have purchased the facilities of Henderson Grain and Seed Co., and will feature feed, seed, fertilizer and other products as well as providing grain storage facilities.

Patrick Buys Henderson Property, Launches Firm

Acquisition of the elevator and office facilities of Henderson Grain & Seed Company in Farwell was announced this week by James W. "Pat" Patrick, a resident of the community for 10 years and former manager of Golden West Seed Company in Texico.

The office, warehouse, and storage and elevator units situated south of the railroad at the old Henderson location in East Farwell, and also the Henderson residence, were purchased by Patrick and two non-resident business associates.

The Henderson facilities have been leased in recent years to Jake McCarter and operated as McCarter Grain Company. (Not involved in the transaction and no longer a part of the Henderson holdings are storage units between the Amarillo and Lubbock trackage.)

The property was purchased from Mrs. C. M. Henderson, who has maintained her residence here since the death of her husband, "Heinie", last year. Mr. Henderson was a well-known figure in the seed and grain business.

Patrick and his associates will do business as Kelly Green Seed Company, Inc. His partners in business are Ben Harvey of Sanger, Texas, and Travis Ward of Athens, Texas. Both men have grain and seed business backgrounds, although neither will be active in the management of the Farwell-based company.

"We are in the grain business so far as storage is concerned, and we will run a licensed elevator, able to handle grain for government-loan storage," Patrick told The Tribune this week.

He emphasized, though, that the primary theme of the business will be seed, feed, fertilizer and allied lines of agricultural products. The company plans a Texco feed dealership.

Patrick says the company will wholesale seed products across the nation and will push retail seed sales "very strongly" in this area.

Equipment at the plant includes four cleaners and treating equipment. The firm can now do custom cleaning, and is adding new equipment to enable it to do better cleaning work on problem seeds such as sudan.

The transaction became effective this week.

Patrick moved to Texico-Farwell from Pampa. He is a Texas Tech graduate with a degree in agronomy. He and his wife Mary Jean have two children and live in Farwell.

JOTTIN'S By Jeanne

Our neighborhood is changing rapidly. In the last few months, we have lost the Raymond Jeskoes and his mother, Susie Jesko, and also the Fern Burks. And we have gained the Partin Austins and the Mose Glasscocks, both of whom moved in from the country.

The latest change will occur in a couple of months when the new home of the Bruce Blairs is to be completed. They will still be fairly near, but just a couple of blocks further down the street.

When I get tired of looking out the front door and watching the walls go up on the Blair home or the brick go on the Bill Moss home, I can look to the north and watch the paving machinery work on one of the side streets.

Many changes are being made and we have a front-row seat.

Joann Getz had a note from Alice Tucker from Hillis, Okla. It will seem strange at Farwell Schools this year without Mrs. Tucker and R. B., her husband, on the staff. The couple will teach in Hart next year.

Mrs. Tucker was invited to serve with Texas Education Agency for the coming year in the area of guidance and supervision. This is quite an honor in the guidance field. Although Mrs. Tucker says "It's a dream we all hope for and then are scared speechless when it finally becomes a reality", she turned down the position. She had already accepted the position at Hart and felt that was where she should go.

Mrs. Tucker holds a B. S., summa cum laude, M. A., and has served as certified administrator, supervisor and counselor, qualifications which made her eligible for the Austin position.

As sort of a farewell, Mrs. Tucker asked Joann to convey to the many gracious parents "I have enjoyed for the last nine years" regards. "I thank them for allowing me just a tiny niche in their child's growth," she concludes.

Sounds as though she might be just a little homesick for Farwell already.

One of the questions that has been asked me more than any other is, "Who is this Mr. Kelly and Mr. Green or is that just one fellow." As near as I can tell Kelly Green is an Irish color which I think is very pretty. Now what could be more appropriate than a good Irish color, a Shamrock for a symbol, and a fellow by the name of Patrick running the joint. One smart fellow told me that I didn't spell Kelly right, but I'm by that like the man who said, "If burd don't spell bird what the heck does it spell."

Now is the time to be planting Austrian Winter Peas, Vetch and rye, Elmer Hargrove and M. A. Snider, Jr. have just finished with some Austrian Winter Peas. These are excellent crops to hold ground from blowing during the winter and to give grazing and soil benefits from the addition of nitrogen. If you are needing extra early grazing try rye and vetch. I think that you will be amazed at the extra amount of good grazing that it will give you above that furnished by wheat. We also have some certified Elbon rye that we would contract for seed during harvest next year. If you have clean land and are interested in rye I would like to talk to you.

Kelly Green Seeds Inc. will be licensed to store and handle your grain sorghums. We would appreciate the opportunity to buy or store any part or all of your crop.

If you need wheat, barley, rye or oats cleaned and treated bring them in. We are equipped to do custom work in bulk or sacked. Tests that have been run by Dupont Company have shown yield increases of almost 5 bu. per acre due to treating alone. This would amount to $10.00 per acre which is pretty good returns for the few cents it cost to clean and treat.

THE HIGH PLAINS
FARM AND HOME

ANOTHER BUMPER YEAR IN PROSPECT

August is the month of high hope on the High Plains. August is when lucky farmers already "have it made" and some not so lucky are sweating out their chances to see how crops will mature under the hot Southwest sun.

Crop prospects are excellent in the Parmer County area. The two principal cash crops, cotton and grain sorghum, are in tip top condition. The cotton (upper left) is fruiting heavily and possibly damage from insects is virtually over. Grain sorghum (upper right) is headed for another record yield year. The crop in the picture is "through." No more irrigation water will course down the thirsty rows. The full, heavy heads of grain have only to ripen in the pre-autumn sun.

The area's small but lively vegetable farming business is at the peak of its activity (lower picture). All in all, things are looking mighty good on the farms of the Parmer County area.

Farmers Gin Construction Moving At Rapid Pace

"We hope to be able to gin a bale of cotton by September 15," said Jimmy Fletcher, who was just recently hired as the first manager of Friona's Farmers' Coop Gin.

Construction at the new gin site was really getting into "high gear" this week, with work proceeding on the main gin building, and beginning on other phases, including excavating for the scales.

Fletcher comes to Friona from Estacado, Texas, where he was manager of the Farmers Gin Company there during the past year. Prior to that, he managed the Bethel Gin at Portales, N. M., for two years.

Fletcher got his start in the ginning business at Buster's Gin at his home town of Ropesville. He spent six years there, learning the business "inside out."

A graduate of Ropesville High School, Fletcher and his wife Geneva have three sons, Randy, 7; Timmy, 3; and Kym, 2.

The new manager is impressed with the Friona area, and sees a bright future for the new gin.

The Farmers' Coop Gin is to be outfitted with all-new equipment, with an original capacity of around 14 bales per hour.

The gin will not burn any burrs, eliminating the smoke problem. The burrs will be returned to the farmer for use as fertilizer.

FRIONA'S NEW Farmers' Co-op Gin is rapidly taking shape two miles south of the city on state Highway 214. Completion of the gin is scheduled in time for this fall's crop. New manager of the gin, Jimmy Fletcher (right foreground) says he hopes to be able to gin a bale at the new gin by Sept. 15.

Three-County Growers Plan Vegetable Display

Plans were disclosed this week for "Salad Bowl on Display," a county fair-type competition in fresh vegetables and canned goods for vegetable growers in Parmer, Deaf Smith and Castro Counties.

The contest is scheduled for Saturday, September 29, at the Hereford Bull Barn. Any individual in the three counties is eligible to enter, and should write Larry Kaul, Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce, Hereford, for entry rules.

The basic requirement is that the individual raise the product to be entered, rather than a group. A grand prize will be awarded to the individual entering the largest number of vegetables.

"The purpose of the show is to let the frozen foods industry know about the diversification possible in growing vegetables in our area, with the goal of getting a large frozen foods processing plant in the area," said Frank Ford, chairman of the Agriculture committee of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce.

"We'd like to have as many entries as possible from Parmer County, to help make the show a success," stated Ford. It was pointed out that representatives from Libby's, A&P Shurfine and other companies have been invited to judge the show. There will be contests for each type of vegetable, as well as canned goods, with ribbons awarded the winners.

People who are doing some home canning this summer are urged to make entries. Equipment dealers who would like to display vegetable handling equipment may notify the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

"Getting a processing plant in our area is possible because of beef-feeding here," said Ford. "This would make for a year-round operation, with beef processing in the vegetable off season."

For physical fitness include something from each of the Big 4 food groups in your daily diet: Group 1 -- milk and milk products, Group 2 -- yellow and green vegetables, citrus and other fruits, Group 3 -- meat, eggs, fish and poultry, Group 4 -- whole grain or enriched cereal and bread.

Katie Blackstone Receives Ribbon At District Contest

Katie Blackstone represented Farmer County in the District 1, 4-H Dress Revue that was held Wednesday, August 1 at 3:30 p.m. in the YWCA Auditorium in Amarillo. One hundred 4-H Club girls, parents, and guests attended the annual event.

Katie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Blackstone of Lubbock, modeled a brown, hand screened, cotton print shirt-waist dress. She chose black accessories to complete her outfit.

Judging for the fit of the dresses, accessories and the poise and grooming of the girl took place at 1:15 before the public dress revue. However, construction and record books were judged the day before. All girls were awarded blue, red, or white ribbons. Katie was presented a white ribbon. This was her first year to be eligible for district judging.

Winners in the district who

First alternate is Kathryn Ann Sneed of Sherman County, second alternate, Terry Langkeit of Lipscomb County, and third alternate, Carole Walton of Potter County.

County Girl Seeks REA State Title

The T. I. Burlesons and Sloan Osborns left Tuesday morning for Corpus Christi, for the annual convention of the Texas Electric Cooperatives, Inc.

The Burlesons' daughter, Sondra Kay, is one of the finalists in the Miss Texas Rural Electrification contest. Sondra Kay holds the title of "Miss Deaf Smith County Electric," representing Farmer County in that contest.

The group is to return home by way of Austin, where they will pick up the Osborns' grandchildren, and return home on Sunday.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

BY RAYMOND EULER

We are quoting the last two or three statements in an interview held by Wayne E. Swegle, managing editor of Successful Farming magazine, with Orville Freeman, United States Secretary of Agriculture.

Question: "Mr. Freeman, are you, in essence, giving a franchise to the farmer to operate?" Answer: "In a sense, I suppose that's true."

And then, here is an excerpt from a memorandum sent last month to State ASC Committee members by Administrator Horace Godfrey of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service: "We know that you were as disappointed as we in the defeat of the farm bill in the House on June 21. Nevertheless, as I have previously stated, we lost a battle but not the war."

Farm Bureau vigorously opposed this "farmer franchise" bill and feels largely responsible for its defeat, and is proud of it.

J. T. Jones, Farm Bureau Weed Committee Chairman, reports that all plot maps of bindweed on railroad right of ways have been forwarded to Santa Fe with the exception of the area between Friona and Bovina. If there are some farmers in that area interested enough to come by, get the maps, walk and mark the spots of bindweed thereon, these will be forwarded for treatment.

We consider the following paragraph from a speech by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover very appropriate for reading and study by every citizen: "Our nation holds in trust the last hope of a free civilization. Our dedication to truth, justice and individual dignity must not be compromised. If we are strong enough, and care enough, and maintain our national integrity, this nation will survive the terrible threat that presents itself today. With God's help, we will meet the challenge of survival. This is the heritage of America."

Your County Farm Bureau membership is forty above the same time in 1961. Your membership is invited.

FHA Business Was Good During 1961 Fiscal Year

Arch T. Fowler, Area Supervisor of Area 20 of the Farmers Home Administration in Texas, announced today that during the past fiscal year, July 1, 1961, to June 30, 1962, the FHA had collected $4,390,149 in the seven counties that make up Area 20. The seven counties are Bailey, Castro, Cochran, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, and Parmer.

Fowler also explained that during the past fiscal year, 1961-1962, the Farmers Home Administration has assisted a large number of farmers to produce their 1962 crops. Loans totaling $3,761,435 have been made in this seven-county area during this same period of time. These borrowers were unable to get financed through the regular conventional lending sources.

The loans were of many types -- Operating Loans to help a man with his farming operations; Farm Ownership Loans to help some farmer buy a family-type farm or help a farmer acquire some additional land to enlarge his present farm to a family-type farm; Rural Housing Loans to assist someone in repairing or building a home in rural areas, small communities, or towns of less than 2,500 population; Soil and Water Loans to assist a farm owner in reorganizing his farming operation by introducing approved farming practices, drilling irrigation wells, installing water distribution systems, building terraces, fencing, and other things necessary to increase the productivity of his land resources; and a few Emergency Loans to just help a man through this crop year.

Fowler said that in 1961 many borrowers paid the FHA in full and if present prospects for the crops this year were reached that many more would pay out in full in 1962.

One of the requirements for borrowing from the FHA is to be unable to secure the needed assistance through regular conventional credit sources. Many of the farmers that FHA assisted during the drought years have paid FHA in full and have returned to the credit sources they used before coming to the FHA. The assistance that FHA gives to farmers and ranchers is a contributing factor in the overall economy of a county or community. This is especially important in a practically total rural area without any large industrial payrolls.

The HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUNE FLOYD

This is definitely home food preservation time for most homemakers on the Golden Spread. Within the next few weeks an enormous quantity of vegetables and fruits will be processed and stored for future use. All of us will be busy canning, freezing, preserving and pickling various produce items.

One of the most important things to keep in mind regardless of the method you plan to use is the length of time it takes to complete the job. The quality and flavor of vegetables is much better if very little time elapses between picking and storing.

For adventures in good eating this winter each of us should try a few new recipes. Of course, some of the things we prepare will not go well with some members of our families, but serving the same old vegetables in the same old ways sometimes gets monotonous.

Having a few jars of pickles made by the following recipes will add variety to many winter meals.

Pickled Okra
garlic (1 clove per pint)
hot pepper (1 pod per pint) okra
dill seed (1 teaspoon per pint)
1 quart vinegar
1 cup water
1/2 cup salt

Place garlic and hot pepper in bottom of hot jars. Remove part of the stem of okra pods. A part of the stem must be left on. Pack okra firmly in jar, and add dill seed. Bring vinegar, water and salt to boiling point; simmer for 5 minutes. Pour over okra; seal jars. Yield: enough pickling solution for about 6 pints.

Watermelon Pickles
7 pounds (1 gallon) watermelon rind
2 (2-inch) pieces of stick cinnamon
2 tablespoons whole cloves
2 tablespoons whole allspice
10 cups sugar
1 quart white vinegar

Select thick rind from a firm melon. Cut green skin and pink flesh from rind and discard. Cut rind into cubes or thin slices. Soak rind several hours or overnight in cold water, in the refrigerator, if possible. Drain, cover with fresh water, and boil about 20 minutes, or until tender.

Drain. Tie spices in a clean white cloth. Combine sugar and vinegar, add spice bag, and simmer to form a thin syrup. Add rind and simmer until fruit is clear (about 15 minutes). Pack into hot, sterile jars and seal. Yield about six pints.

Green Tomato Pickles
1 gallon green tomatoes
6 large onions
1/2 cup salt
1 tablespoon whole black pepper
1 tablespoon whole cloves
1 tablespoon crushed celery seed
1 tablespoon mustard seed
1 tablespoon ground mustard
1 lemon
3 pods red sweet pepper
3 cups vinegar
3 cups brown sugar

Slice tomatoes and onions thin. Sprinkle salt over them and let stand overnight in a stone jar. Next morning, freshen in cold water for 1 hour. Tie spices in a cheesecloth bag. Slice lemon and two pods of pepper very fine. Drain tomatoes and onions.

Add all seasonings except one pod of pepper to the vinegar, then add tomatoes and onions. Cook for 30 minutes, stirring gently at intervals to prevent scorching. Pack in jars and garnish with slender strips of the red pepper, placing them vertically on opposite sides of each jar. Process in hot water bath for 15 minutes.

Pop Tate's Relish
1 basket (about 1 gallon) green and red tomatoes
1 basket (about 1 gallon) green and red sweet peppers
1 stalk celery
12 medium onions
1 bunch carrots
1/4 cup salt
vinegar
sugar

Put tomatoes, peppers, celery, onions and carrots through food chopper and mix well. Add salt. Let stand in cool place overnight to draw out juice. The next morning, press through collander or cloth sack to remove the juice. Measure vegetable mixture and add equal amounts of vinegar and sugar, cup for cup. Put spices in a cloth bag and add to vegetables. Cook to desired thickness. Add sugar or vinegar to suit taste.

MOUNT OLIVE, N. C. TRIBUNE: "The truth is . . . that in lower job levels, federal pay is higher than comparable work in private businesses. Many clerks, secretaries and various other types draw nice pay checks for doing very little, in fact. Private industry, however, pays those executives, and others, who produce, and who create profits and capital, more -- quite often -- than the government pays many of its ablest servants. This is only right. Government service has never been an inducement to Americans on the grounds that one can make more money, or as much, as in private business."

WITH THE COUNTY AGENT

DERYL COKER

The 4-H Boys Camp held in Holy Ghost Canyon is over and those who attended certainly enjoyed the trip. We ended up with 30 4-H Club members and 12 adult leaders.

I certainly appreciate the efforts and help by the adult leaders.

Speaking for myself, I gained several pounds from the excellent food that Mr. James Mabry prepared. If 4-H members and adult leaders have never attended one of these camps they should start planning now for next year, so they will know they haven't missed anything.

The recent rains have been a great asset to Farmer County. They came at a time when cotton was fruiting and grain sorghum heading. These rains should definitely boost our county income this year. But as normal when the weather is wet we have weed problems to contend with. Some cotton fields will need to be cleaned so as the cotton can be harvested mechanically because we might not be able to obtain labor for hand harvesting.

Due to the rains we can expect an increase in harmful insects. Bollworm damage is increasing in many areas of the High Plains and we in Farmer County should keep a fairly close tab of our insect situation. If we should have bollworms this year it is very important that we find them while they are small or just after hatching so control measures will be effective.

A one-day school for cotton gin operators will be held at Lubbock, August 21. Five sessions will be held simultaneously with factory trained engineers from the five co-operating gin manufacturing companies serving as instructors. Cotton gin operators who plan to attend are requested to register at least a week in advance of the school. If you should need additional information come by the office.

Several reports over the state of Texas have showed that Ruelene, a chemical which is used for grub control, has caused some ill effects. Our entomologist says that Ruelene should not be recommended for grub control until a more satisfactory formulation is available.

So far this year we have had three cases of screwworms reported, which is good as compared to last year.

We expected to have a few screwworms this year, but we should have even less worms next year and eventually we should have no screwworms at all.

Livestock producers should continue to collect samples and send in or bring them by my office, so the people working on this program can stay abreast of the current situation.

HD Agent's Notes

BY MISS ETTIE MUSIL

Are you getting your son's and daughter's clothes ready for school? This year's back-to-school clothes have a different trend. News in little girls' clothes, both dresses and sportswear, is that many designers of adult wear are designing dresses for the little girls.

This means that they will reflect a definite grown-up design. One designer will feature a little jacket outfit which may be done in a variety of fabrics. The skirts may be swirl, flared or done with unpressed pleats. Jackets may be cut - away or squared off design.

Blouses may feature floppy or tailored bows, if belts are used they will be wider than last season. And look for set-in sleeves and princess curves in both dress and sportswear lines. Dresses without collars are good again for another season.

Even though high fashion trends are for a certain line, consider your personal line. Long tunic lines are for slender, tall figures as are wide belts. Big bows on blouses and dresses are not for short height and short waists. These bows tend to make you shorter. "What design of fashion looks best for me?" is a good question to ask yourself no matter what is high fashion.

Along with current rush of freezing corn thought you might want to try our freezing method for corn - on - the - cob. Corn is at its best when it is young with small, plump and tender kernels and thin, sweet milk. If the milk is thick and starchy, it is better to freeze corn as cream style.

For corn on the cob, husk and remove most of the silk. Trim off damaged end from ear worms. A good way to remove most of the silk remaining on the ears is by washing ears in water. All silk will be removed easily by the washing. Then sort ears according to size for different heating times.

Heat water to boiling in a large kettle. Drop a few ears at once into the water that is boiling vigorously. Cover and begin timing. Too many ears will cool the water too quickly. Heat small ears that are less than one and a fourth inches in diameter for seven minutes. Medium ears, from one and one-fourth to one and one half inches in diameter should be heated nine minutes. Large ears that are over one and one half inches should be heated 11 minutes.

Cool the ears immediately in iced water for the same length of time that it required for heating. Drain and pack the ears into polyethylene bags or wrap in moisture - vapor - proof material.

If polyethylene bags are used, fill with the needed number of ears for meal serving or number easy to close open end. Dip filled bags into lukewarm water to force air out of the bags. Submerge food below the water, then twist the opened end of the bag that is above the water line. The bag will become collapsed tightly around each ear of corn forcing all air out of the bag. The twisted end of the bag can then be closed with a rubber band or wire band.

I have found that the bags will remain closed during the freezing process if the twisted end of the closing is folded over before the rubber bands are tightly twisted over this end. Then freeze immediately.

If you needed more information for freezing than what was available in my news column last week, write for or come by for the free bulletin "Frozen Foods." If you follow directions accurately you should have successful frozen foods during the fall and winter months.

If you need more recipes for serving fresh potatoes that are so plentiful now, ask for the USDA bulletin, "Potatoes in Popular Ways." Also, recipes for potato dishes are available in the bulletin, "Vegetables, Vegetables."

Next week I shall be out of the office while I am on annual leave. If you need any information you may contact our junior assistant, Miss Celia Patton. I shall be back in the office August 20.

Farmers Hear Report About Curbing Irrigation Waste

Area farmers met last Friday at the Hub Community Center to discuss the problems of waste irrigation water.

The expectations of the High Plains Undergrround Water Conservation District for the individual farmer were explained.

Most of the farmers were in agreement that they needed to make use of their "tailwater." It was pointed out that through the High Plains Undergrround Water Conservation District, control of the area undergrround water is left in the hands of the farmers through the county committee system, with no state or federal control.

Tom McFarland, district general manager, states that if a farmer has a particular problem in working out a solution to his waste water, he should contact him at the Lubbock District Office.

The district has an engineer whose job it is to help design such facilities free of charge. It was stated that the district wants to avail themselves of this service whenever possible.

Rains Cut Irrigation Costs

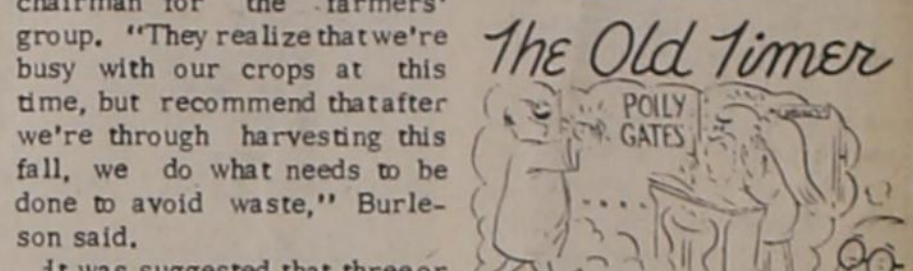

The rains which finally covered the Southern High Plains rather generally have been excellent, and as a result the farmers have saved thousands of dollars through reduced irrigation pumping costs.

Now, however, many are commencing again to pump water to the growing and fruiting crops. Some never stopped. During this stage of crop growth -- when the crops are in peak bloom -- adequate moisture is most necessary for optimum yields.

This is the time also when a minority of irrigators will have water losses due to "tailwater" escaping from the cropland.

It is apparent that many farmers should take better care of their irrigation water. Particularly, in view of the fact that the High Plains Undergrround Water Conservation District has just published a map which shows declines of the undergrround water level amounting to more than 100 feet in some areas of the southern High Plains during the past 24-year period.

In a day when farmers do considerable talking about high production costs, and justifiably so, many of them could effect substantial savings through the use of good irrigation management practices.

The Old Timer

It was suggested that three or four farmers might want to go together and "pool" their runoff water into one lake, for use by one of their group either to pump back onto crops, or for

"A big bankroll won't count when the roll is called up yonder."
