Celebrity

Auction in perspective

Well, folks, Farwell's Celebrity Auction is now history.

Probably won't see another one here for at least 25 years, if then. They're the kind of event that is best held only once in a great while.

Obviously, I can't speak for all the more than 400 folks who attended. But those who chatted with me afterward indicated it was really a fun time. I was too busy working to enjoy all of it -- I was the guy handing the items to the auctioneers. But it sure was fun to see the bidding on the specialty type items. And all I can say is that I admire the bravery of the parents who brought their children. The youngsters wanted virtually everything in sight!

With the real good turnout, and the fact that the auction netted about $6,900, I think it's fair to call the auction a success.

There probably were a few folks who didn't think (a) anyone would put it on, (b) any celebrities would send items, (c) that celebrities would send interesting stuff, (d) that local folks wouldn't go around to area businesses and collect donations, and (e) that any folks would attend the auction.

But as I've written before, Farwell is a conservative community and there are some folks who aren't "into" trying something new. That's okay. Someday, I'll probably be one of them.

But it was a real joy to see so many folks working together to make the auction a success. When I had first come here, people told me that was one of the strengths of the community. I have found out they were right.

Folks who worked together on this novel project included the Texico-Farwell Rotary Club, ESA, Beta Sigma Phi, Farwell Study Club, Farwell High Student Council and individuals like Curtis Smith and Virgil Fiske. There are a lot more folks who I should mention and my apologies for not getting them all in here.

Especially helpful were the three volunteer auctioneers -- James Priest, Don Gerles and Raymond Martin. I learned a lot watching them work.

One sidelight of the event was that the Farwell Community Center, for which the auction was held, got a lot of good publicity throughout the area. One of the auctioneers commented to me about how nice a facility it is.

The auction itself was a bargain-hunter's paradise. Items that normally would sell for $150 to $200 went for $50 to $75. On the other hand, when at least two people wanted a specific souvenir, the price shot up rapidly.

Some very nice gestures were made. Photographs of Brooke Shield, Roger Staubach and Dyan Cannon had been made out directly to the Farwell Community Center. The persons who bought the photos donated them back to the center. They will be framed and placed on the walls in the lobby. Years from now they will bring back many memories of the auction night.

Of course, some "shocks" did occur. After the auction was over, for example, my wife informed me of the items she had bought. That's what is called an "after shock," I guess.

My boy, Robbie, was happy, too. Although he got outbid for some of the classier items (that train set was out of this world), he won one of the Silent Auction items (some fishing lures) by being the highest bidder -- at $3.01. The bidder ahead of him had only bid $3!

Another highlight was the fella

Dust Bowl meant wet sheets placed on the windows

Sallie Patterson and her family moved to a farm 38 miles north of Clovis in 1918 from Georgia.

They moved out here during a blizzard. Her father had filed a claim or what we call a homestead. Her father had worked in the copper mines.

Her father, Jim Patterson, worked on the railroad here and help build the Rock Island. He also farmed and raised Kaffer corn, and maize. He followed the harvest east of Amarillo.

In 1918 there was a flu epidemic. When someone had pneumonia, they put a type of gray salve on some cloth and placed it on his chest. This was supposed to draw out the pneumonia.

Sallie went to Boney and Bellview schools north of Clovis. She either walked, rode a horse or rode in a horse and buggy. The schools were about 2 1/2 miles away. She was taught writing, reading, arithmetic and geography.

Sallie met her husband Herman at a singing convention. In 1931 they were married.

They moved to Hollene, N.M., and worked on a farm, raising three sons, Fred and Martin of Farwell, and Nolan of Amarillo. While at Hollene, they received electricity, but no phone service until about 1955. Herman worked for Joe Head for about eight years, driving a maintainer.

The boys were active in basketball and baseball. Martin went to college at Plainview.

Sallie remembers the "dust bowl" was a very bad time in the 1930's. They put wet sheets on windows to help keep out the dirt. She remembers covering up food on the table with a cloth so the dirt wouldn't get in the food.

Her husband started working for the ASCS office, setting pumps, measuring land. He was the chief clerk. They moved to Clovis in 1955, and later to Farwell.

SALLIE CHANDLER

While her husband worked at the ASCS office, a man came in one day and asked if they knew anyone who might like to sell Fuller brushes. Herman went home and told Sallie. Her first reply was that she couldn't sell anything like that since she sure couldn't knock on stranger's doors. But she thought about it and decided to try it.

Sallie has been selling Fuller Brush products for 17 years.

Sallie sold Fuller Brush products for about a year when her husband died. "He must have known that something was going to happen," said Mrs. Chandler.

Sallie enjoys playing Skip Bo, crocheting, quilting and piecing quilts.

She remembers the wash boards, making lye soap, dirt roads, and roads made out of wagon trails.

One Christmas came a real bad snowstorm, with wind blowing. They were going to the school for the Christmas program.

Her father took the wheels off the wagons and put runners made from trees on the wagon. Then they put on blankets, quilts, and hot irons to keep warm and headed for the Christmas party.

Mrs. Chandler has 11 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

She is an active member of the First Baptist Church of Farwell.

Farwell plans Sesquicentennial activities here

It looks like a full year of Sesquicentennial events for Farwell in 1986, according to plans laid out at Monday's meeting of the city Sesquicentennial committee.

Here are some of the highlights:

--The Texico-Farwell Lions Club will sponsor a contest to derive a city flag.

--Border Town Days will have a Sesquicentennial theme.

--The State Line Tribune will have its 75th anniversary issue in September 1986. The Farwell Study Club will hunt up old-time pictures of Farwell for inclusion in the issue.

--The Farwell Study Club will host the fall Caprock District meeting.

--ESA will tie in its annual pheasant hunt with a Sesquicentennial theme.

--Parmer County Extension Service will sponsor a quilt contest.

--The Farwell 4-H and FFA will put together a historical tour map of Parmer County.

--The Farwell Study Club will collect old-time recipes, such as from the 1930s, for publication in the State Line Tribune.

Other projects mentioned were:

--Painting a mural on the side of the City Hall building. Councilman Curtis Smith said the council would support this project.

--Renovation of the XIT marker. It was suggested that this might be a scout project.

--The Chamber of Commerce banquet would have a Sesquicentennial theme.

--A scrapbook of clippings about the city's various Sesquicentennial activities would be kept.

--A non-denominational church service including the city's churches.

--A sale of Texas state flags.

Also, several Farwell school events are planned:

March 5-9 will be Public School Week. Delta Kappa Gamma teachers will host it. Each member will dress in costumes depicting teachers' dress from the early pioneer days through the modern era. Schools will use Sesquicentennial themes.

On April 21, the Farwell Junior High history department will honor

All whiskered gents needed

Entrants are needed for the annual BTD Beard Contest, so all you men with facial fuzz are urged to sign up now.

The same rules as last year will apply this year. Contestants did not have to be clean shaven on a certain date, so everyone may enter even with a full-grown beard or mustache, or one on the way.

No entry fee will be charged, and contestants will be judged in three categories: best looking, ugliest, and most unique. Awards will be given to all three winners.

So, all you whiskered gents, sign up now with Red Lonsdale at Red's Barber Shop in Farwell. You must sign up to be a contestant.

The Border Town Days Marshals are Steve Stephens and Virgil Fiske. They are beginning the sale of Shave Permits to all the clean shaven men of the community. This Shave Permit at a cost of only $1 will keep the marshals happy and may keep you from being thrown in the BTJ jail. Only the gentlemen with some type of facial fuzz will be exempt, say the marshals.

Celebrity Auction raises almost $7,000

The Celebrity Auction, first of its kind in the Eastern New Mexico - West Texas area, raised more than $6,900 for the Farwell Community Center Saturday night.

More than 400 persons attended the fund-raiser to help repay center loans.

About 400 items were auctioned off. Half were part of the silent auction, where people wrote their bids on a piece of paper. The other 200 items were auctioned off in about three hours and 45 minutes. Three auctioneers had volunteered their services -- James Priest, Don Gerles and Raymond Martin.

While the auction was under way, spaghetti suppers were sold by ESA, BETA Sigma Phi and the Farwell Study Club. The auction itself was run by the Texico-Farwell Rotary Club. And the Farwell High School Student Council helped with crowd control and the Silent Auction.

Items were purchased ranging from $1 to more than $200. Items ranged from pennants and baseballs to a market-ready pig, a coffee table and a stereo.

In addition, radio station KSEL in Lubbock held an auction for the Community Center, giving away a case of old-time cola bottles. They raised $117.00.

Although the auction's doors were not scheduled to open until 6 p.m., folks started arriving at 5:30 p.m. to view the items. The actual auction began at 7 p.m.

Farwell students, including Angie Charlson, DeAnn Curtis, Kendra Stephens, Melinda McMillan and Terri Hillock, helped with the Silent Auction and crowd control.

Rotarians with jobs at the auction included: Joe Jones, lining up the auctioneers; Tom Nichols and Bill Christian, handling the "pay window"; Larry Cochran, crowd control; Mike Pomper, handing items, with explanations, to the auctioneers; Vic Christian, Charles Christian and Steve Breckenridge, bringing items to the purchasers; Larry Millhouse, putting up direction signs on the highway; and Duane Hamar, in charge of the Silent Auction.

Also, Duke Kirkland placed a sign at the corner of Ninth and A streets, directing folks to the auction.

While the auction was under way, tables were set up where tickets were sold for Border Town Days giveaways -- a VCR and a pickup truck.

The registration desk was run by Pam Smith and Othena Smith.

Several pictures were bought at the auction, then donated back to the center, including three which had been autographed directly to the Farwell Community Center -- from Brooke Shield, Roger Staubach and Dyan Cannon. These pictures will be framed and placed on the center walls by Maxine Williams.

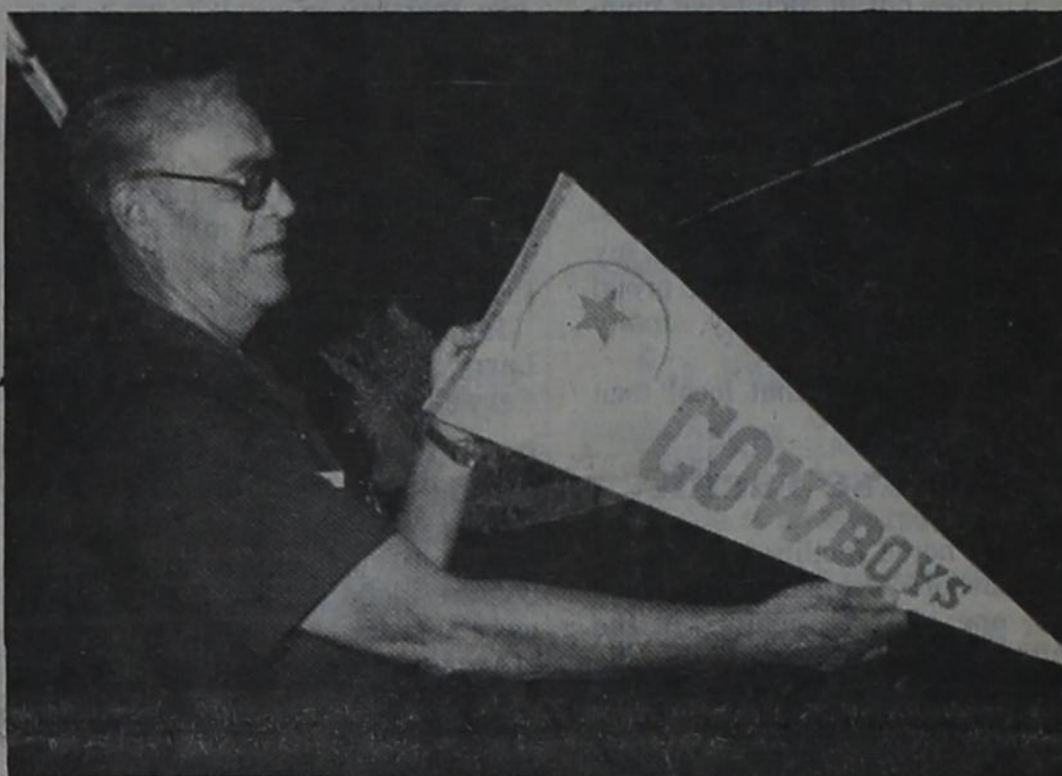

Also, a Texas flag that flew over the capital in Austin was donated back to the center in the hopes it would be placed on a flagpole at the center.

BTJ Committee hopes for wrapup meeting

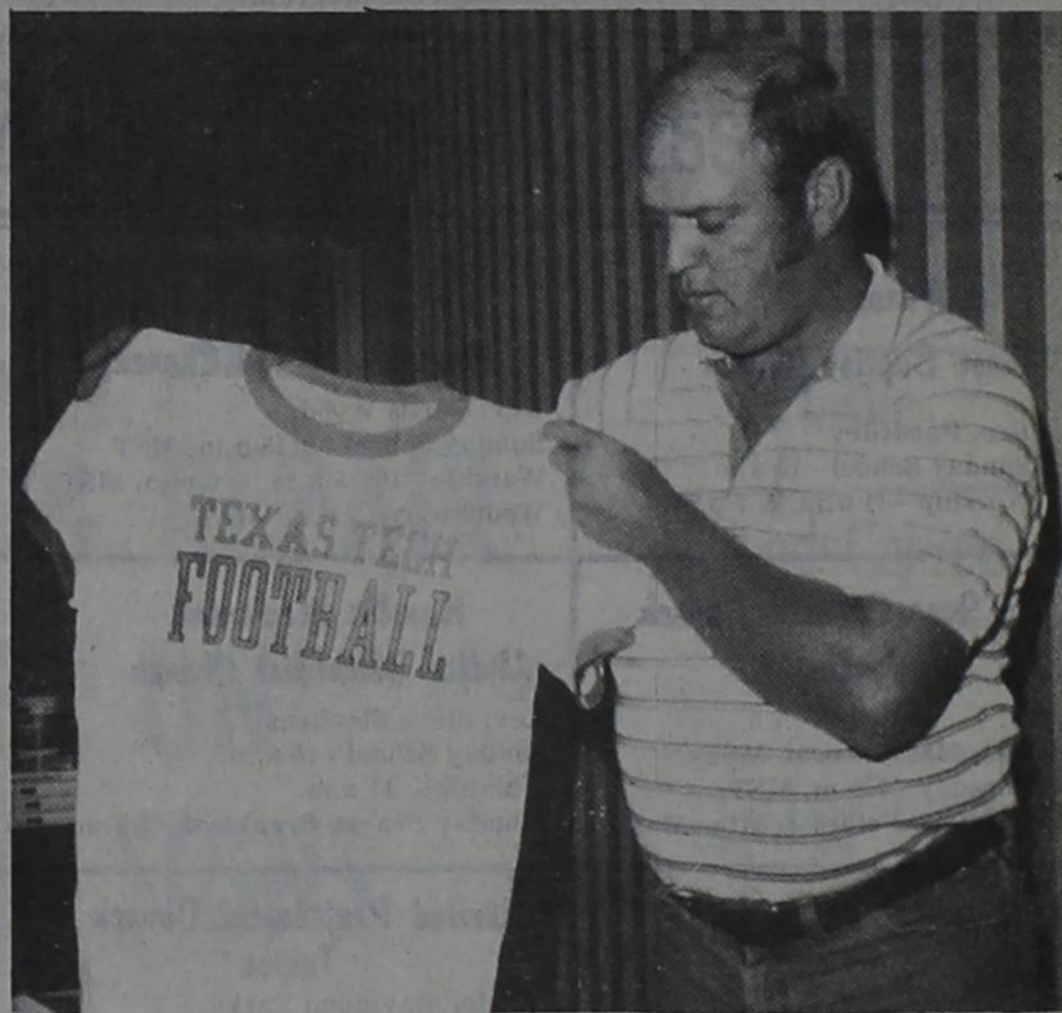

Border Town Days Committee will meet July 1, for what is hoped will be the wrap-up session for the 1985 BTJ Celebration July 25-27.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. CDT at Luce's Restaurant.

All members of the committee are urged to be present to give their final reports. Committee members are representatives of each civic and social group in the Twin Cities, including Rotary Club, Lions Club, City of Farwell, City of Texico, both Chambers of Commerce, both local fire departments, Farwell Study Club, both local sororities, the JCCAs, and all local churches.

Bill Christian shows one of the Celebrity Auction souvenirs that brought a hefty price -- a Dallas Cowboys' pennant autographed by Coach Tom Landry.

Ed Corn displays a Texas Tech football T-shirt, one of four donated to the Celebrity Auction by Tech.

LaMoin Williams and Terri Nichols plot the strategy for the spaghetti supper that was served at the Celebrity Auction.

John Getz, chairman, says that if all members are in attendance with their reports, the committee can complete plans for this year's big event and not have to meet again this month.

"So, please, let's everyone have their reports ready and come to this important meeting," urges Getz.

San Jacinto Day by featuring an art exhibit of local artists in the school library. Guest speakers will be invited, too. The cafeteria will feature barbeque and beans.

On March 1, the school system will recognize Texas Independence Day with a Sesquicentennial program in the high school auditorium.

Here's some background on the Texas celebration:

On April 21, 1836, Texas patriots won a decisive battle in their struggle for independence from Mexico -- the Battle of San Jacinto. With this victory, the new Republic of Texas was born.

Until becoming one of the United

States in 1845, Texas existed as an independent republic, recognized by diplomats from a number of foreign countries.

Monday's meeting was chaired by Frances Kube. She asked that any other groups or individuals with ideas to help celebrate the Sesquicentennial contact any committee member.

"Texas is a great place to visit anytime but in 1986 it will really be special," said Mrs. Kube. "Texans are proud of their state and we are going to show it off for the Sesquicentennial in ways that have never been done before. So make plans now to help us celebrate.

Auction

who bought the poster featuring the 1984 Chicago Cubs, National League East Division champions. He then turned around and donated it to the State Line Tribune so I could proudly hang it on the walls here.

Speaking of "proud," I thought it was really nice that folks who live here turned out in such great numbers to support the auction. Money spent went to an important community cause. And, as a treat, winning bidders received some neat souvenirs that are one-of-a-kind in the entire Eastern New Mexico -- West Texas area. Unless I miss my bet, a lot of local kids will be proud of their souvenirs many, many years from now.

So when you see that local teen proudly jogging around town in his Olympic warmup suit, just remember that as yet one more positive aspect of the auction. And when you see that "Seattle Seahawks" pennant, signed by famed quarterback Jim Zorn, adorning one boy's room, remember the auction.

So that wraps up the Celebrity Auction, Farwell version. It's time to go to bigger and better things. Bring on Border Town Days!

Wild horse facility opens

A wild horse facility has opened southeast of Farwell on Farm Road 1760, one of three centers in the United States working with the Bureau of Land Management to relocate wild horses.

Carr's Central Holding Center plans to take applications for adoption of some of the 2,000 wild horses being taken to the holding facility. Randall and Paula Carr were among 400 applicants to construct a holding facility. Four applications were approved by the BLM.

An Act of Congress in 1971 mandated the BLM to manage horse herds on public lands in the West. The Adopt-a-Horse program was begun five years later. An estimated 60,000 horses have been relocated to domestic homes through the program.

Her early childhood and teenage-years were spent as her "Mother's-helper." Due to these responsibilities the opportunity for formal education was very limited, which was a great sorrow to her. In her desire for learning she sought knowledge by study of the Holy scriptures.

In 1908, she moved with her family, from Kentucky to western Oklahoma. There, she met Herman H. Henson, and married him March 13, 1910. Four children were born - Dorothy Hubbell, Milton, Roberta McGuire and Herman.

Soon after marriage and as a young mother, she became acquainted with the restored gospel. Because of her faithfulness and devotion, many of her children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren are members of her church.

Due to her failing health, she was advised she must move to a dry climate. In May 1919, with three small children, they moved to New Mexico, and settled near Elida, where all of her children received their high school education. In May of 1934 they settled on a farm east of Farwell.

Chicken barbecuing time is here

Texans enjoy backyard barbecuing and eating as much as anybody in the U.S., and chicken barbecue is an all-time favorite.

A few simple steps will enable you to enjoy mouth-watering chicken barbecue to your heart's content, says Dr. James Denton, poultry marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Chicken barbecuing involves four basic steps. First, split the birds in half and sprinkle each half generously with salt and black pepper before placing on the pit, advises Denton. To shorten barbecuing time, cut halves into parts.

Second, make sure coals are white hot before putting the chicken on the grill. Any type of cooker can be used, but keep the coals 8 to 12 inches from the cooking rack for best results, says the specialists.

Another basic step for top-notch chicken barbecue is to use a basting sauce during the cooking process which contains no tomato product or sugar because such sauces burn easily. A basting sauce will keep meat moist and juicy and add a desired flavor. Apply basting sauce and turn chicken halves frequently.

Denton suggests these ingredients for a basting sauce: 1 tablespoon salt, 1 teaspoon black pepper, 1 stick butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire Sauce and a few drops of hot sauce or red pepper. Heat the mix over a low flame until the butter or oleo melts; then add the juice of one lemon (vinegar may be substituted). Next fill the pan with water and heat but do not boil. Spices such as garlic salt or lemon pepper can be added to suit personal preference.

To top off the barbecuing process, apply a finishing sauce to the chicken about the last 20 to 30 minutes before cooking is complete. This is the most critical time during the entire cooking process, emphasizes Denton. Check the meat carefully and turn it frequently to avoid burning the finishing sauce.

Several types of finishing sauce are available and vary from mild to hot. To prepare your own sauce (for 10 chicken halves), use the following: 1 cup cooking oil, 1 cup vinegar, 1 cup catsup, ¼ cup sugar and ½ cup water. Add salt, Worcestershire Sauce, hot sauce, garlic and other seasonings to taste.

Chicken barbecue should be complete in about 1½ to 2 hours. Cooking longer with less heat usually results in the most flavorful, juicy and tender barbecue. Placing the cooking rack closer than 8 inches to the coals will reduce barbecuing time, but the meat will be drier and less tender, Denton points out.

A test for doneness is to twist the drumstick which is connected to the thigh. If the joint between the thigh and drumstick is loose, the chicken is ready to eat. Another test is to cut into the meat at this joint. The moisture in the joint will run clear if the meat is done.

The fun part of chicken barbecuing is to develop your own secret recipe and cooking style, says Denton. The four basic steps outlined can be varied to suit your style and taste.

One variation is to debone the breast and thigh meat and marinate it overnight in the refrigerator in a mixture of 16 oz. herb-seasoned

Italian dressing and 8 Oz. picante sauce. Cook in the same manner as before while basting with the marinating sauce.

For another type of marinated chicken barbecue, Denton suggests using a soy-teriyak (or Worcestershire) sauce marination for two-to-four hours before cooking.

Most of all, let your imagination be your guide and have fun, says the specialist. Who knows? The world's greatest barbecue chef may be in your own backyard.

Fashion winners

Parmer County 4-H youths competed in an annual fashion show June 15 in Friona. Each contestant entered in one of four clothing categories and age divisions. There

Blanket spray permits lifted

The Texas Department of Agriculture is suspending the issuance of blanket spray permits in Deaf Smith, Parmer, Collingsworth, Donley and Hall Counties effective June 21.

The action is being taken following the recent confirmation of several hormonal herbicide drift cases involving more than 1,000 acres. In the last 2 years, more than 50,000 acres of cotton in the panhandle were severely damaged by drift from hormone herbicides, the most recent the 1984 Big Drift in Parmer and Deaf Smith Counties.

Angela Lamb, TDA Supervisor of the Amarillo District Office said "We checked with several aerial applicators in the area and discussed the situation with them. They agreed that we should take the steps necessary to stop it, given the magnitude of the 1984 drift situation."

Effective immediately, no blanket spray permits will be issued for the four regulated counties (Hall is already covered until October 15,) and all permits previously issued will be rescinded. That action means that the use of hormone herbicides must be covered by an individual spray permit for each application. In addition, no permit may be issued if there are any susceptible crops within 4 miles of the target area.

TDA has a team of field inspectors in the Panhandle as a direct result of last summer's drift problems in which more than $16,000 in fines have been collected so far. The field inspectors are maintaining a high visibility in the area with the emphasis on obtaining voluntary compliance.

The high volatile (Butyl Ester) formulation of 2,4-D is used to treat broad leafed weeds, but can cause severe damage if it comes in contact with cotton or other susceptible crops. The Butyl Ester formulation can move off target even after being properly applied, if the temperature reaches 85 to 90 degrees. It's use is already prohibited in Deaf Smith, Parmer and hall counties during warm weather months.

DARLENE DUNCAN

Duncan, Brown engaged

Charles and Alice Duncan of Texico have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Darlene, to Bruce Allen Brown son of Estel Brown of Carlsbad and the late Mary Jane Brown.

Wedding vows will be exchanged July 27, at 6 p.m. in the Central Church of the Nazarene in Roswell.

The bride-to-be is a 1981 graduate of Texico High School. She is now employed by Danny's Burger Barn in Texico.

The prospective bridegroom is a 1979 graduate of Carlsbad High School. He is currently employed at Ponca Warehouse in Roswell.

The couple invite all friends and family to attend their marriage and the reception to follow.

Pictures ready

Pictures of the Farwell eighth grade graduation can be picked up July 1 at 2 p.m. at the Farwell High School auditorium at the north door. There will be extra pictures available.

Wedding Vows exchanged

Jeanine King of Texico and Mr. and Mrs. M.D. Lovvorn of Farwell announce the marriage of their children, Steven and Jessie.

They were married June 21 in Farwell.

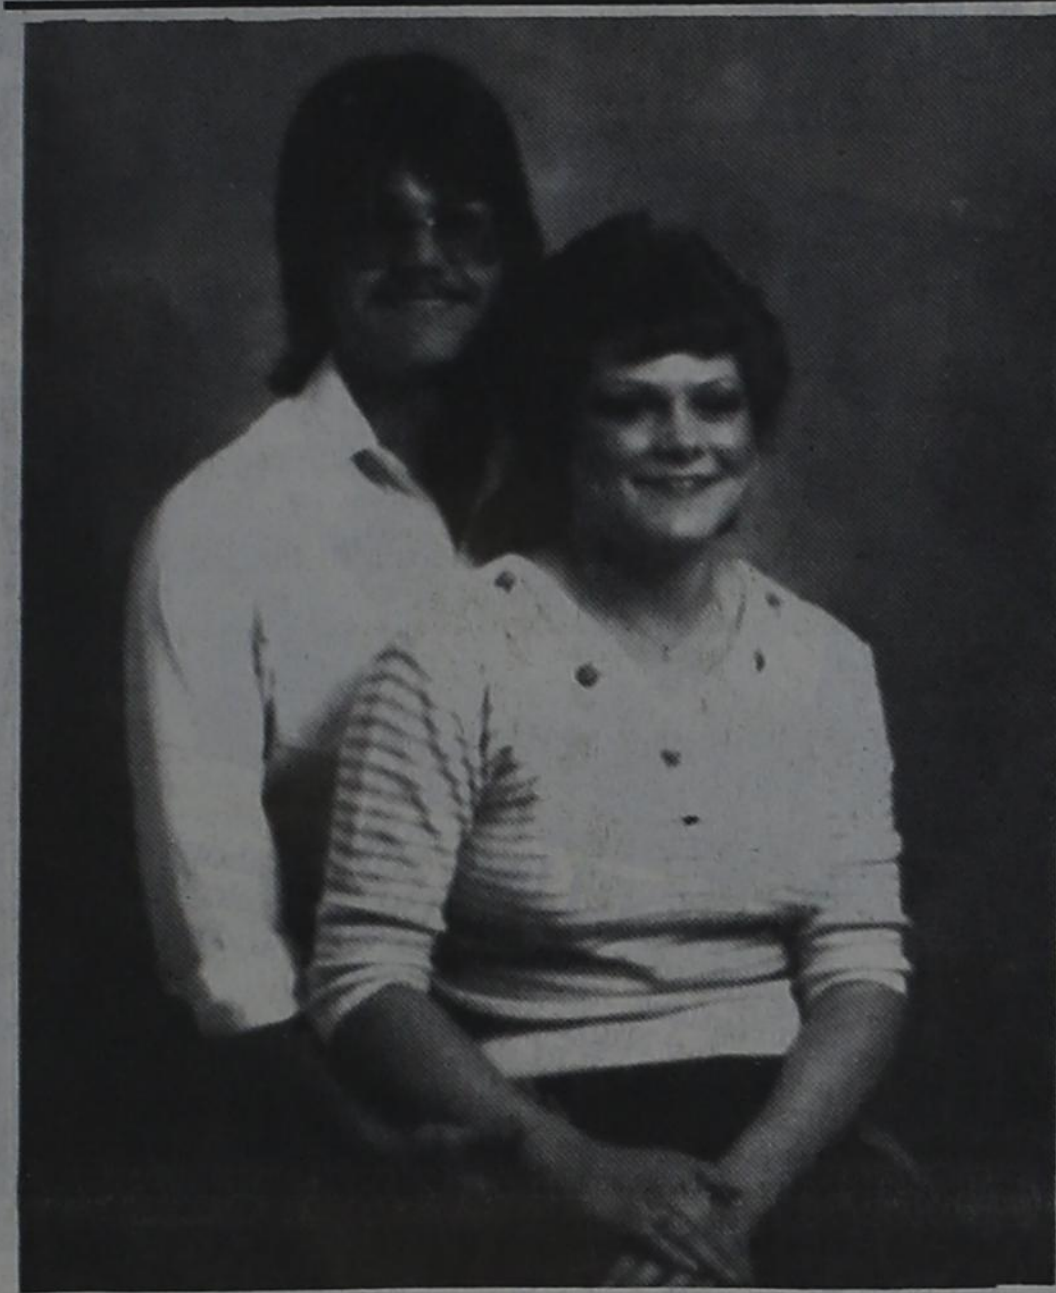

Steven is a 1984 graduate of Clovis High and is presently employed by the Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Clovis.

After a wedding trip to Dallas, the couple will be at home in Texico.

Allens visit

Judy Pomper of Farwell was visited last week by her parents, Ed and Vi Allen of Westmont, Ill. The visit was a surprise. The Allens just showed up in Farwell and said "here we are."

After the visit, the Allens went on to Mansfield, Texas, to visit another daughter, Joyce Renslow and her husband, Rob.

Charlson attends Girls State

"I feel that there was no other way I could have learned more in 10 days by attending Texas Bluebonnet Girls State. It has helped me to understand how the government works," said Angie Charlson.

Girls State is sponsored by the American Legion in order to teach young ladies about the government and encourage them to get involved.

Angie said, "As soon as we arrived, each girl was assigned to a city, county, and party. I was in City J (Jolly Jumping Jacks in Boxes at Jamming Junction.)"

Angie was in Pecan County and a member of the Federalist Party. There were 12 cities and six counties. There were approximately 582 citizens.

The session took place at Seguin at Texas Lutheran College from June 11-21.

"We spent the first few days deciding what offices to run for on what level," she said.

Angie ran for two offices, the municipal judge and the district attorney and was defeated for both.

"We also had House and Senate meetings. I was a representative of the Senate where we wrote bills and resolutions," said Angie.

She continued: "We heard speeches by Myra McDaniel, Secretary of State; she related the history of women and their accomplishments in the Texas Legislature. She spoke of overcoming 50 years of scorn and prejudices against women's right to vote." She also spoke of all the great leaders who followed.

Lawyers Claudia Sangster and Collyn Peddie outlined the court structure for Girls State citizens and staff and explained the actual court proceedings.

Ann Richard, Treasurer, State of Texas, also spoke.

"We toured the State Capitol building and, while there, John Hill, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, swore into office the Girls State elected officials," said Angie.

Also at the Capitol Building, the girls cut a record with patriotic songs.

ANGIE CHARLSON

Angie said, "The speeches stressed that women should get more involved in political offices and vote on issues. By doing this, you have pride in America and you have a feeling of patriotism toward the flag."

Flag contest set

The Texico-Farwell Lions Club Monday decided to have a contest to sponsor a city flag as a Texas Sesquicentennial event next year. Currently, Farwell has no city flag.

The season ran a week longer than scheduled because of make-up games necessary due to the recent rains.

Some 160 boys and girls from the Twin Cities area participated in the program during May and June, making up three divisions: Pinto League (Tee Ball, 7-8 years old), Mustang League (9-10), and Bronco League (11-12 years old).

Thirty-one All-Stars were chosen to represent Texico-Farwell in post-season tournaments.

Tourist center here?

The possibility of placing a tourist center in Farwell was discussed at Tuesday's Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Ideas thrown out included using City Hall, a lot near the old McDorman Laundry, and Farwell United Drug.

The Chamber authorized Secretary Dutch Quickel to ask drug store owner Steve Breckenridge if he would allow tourist brochures to be placed in his store if such brochures could be gotten from the state.

Also, a sign would be needed to let visitors know. It was also mentioned that perhaps the "Texas" marker could be moved to a grassy area with picnic benches installed.

Horner, Smith get awards

Elayne Horner and Lonnie Smith have received the Neil Snipes scholarships. It amounted to $400, $100 for each semester.

They are graduating seniors of Texas High School.

Snipes graduated from Texico High School in 1982 and was attending Eastern New Mexico. He died in December 1984 in a car crash.

The scholarship fund was set up in his name at the Citizen's Bank in Texico.

"At the present time, there is $1,000 in the fund at the Citizen's Bank. A continual contribution can be made at the Citizens Bank in his name," said James Harding, Texico counselor.

"It is hoped to keep the fund going as long as possible," said Harding. Neil was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Snipes of Clovis.

Faith proclaimed our Liberty throughout the land!

Fhroughout the course of history,
Although they seldom dared to try,
All men had dreamed of being free—
Until that fourth day of July;
For then, two hundred years ago,
With help from God a tiny band
Of men proclaimed the thing we know
As Liberty throughout the land.
Because of them, we speak our mind;
In government we have a voice.
And then we may, when we're inclined,
Attend the Church that is our choice.
So, climb aboard the Freedom Train
This special Independence Day;
And pray that freedom will remain
Forever, in the U.S.A.!

All bills are created equal.

At least they are if you sign up for Southern Union Gas' Equal Payment Plan. Then your gas bill will be the same each month—whether it's hot or cold outside.

The Equal Payment Plan works like this: If you have lived in the same place for at least one year, your total charges are calculated for the next year based on your past gas usage. The total charge is divided into 11 equal payments that you make each month. If your gas consumption changes drastically, your equal payment may be recalculated, but you will be notified first.

After 11 months we check your total gas usage. If it is more or less than anticipated, your monthly bill will be adjusted and the difference will be spread out over the next year. To remain eligible for the Plan, payments must be made monthly or your account will be payable in full.

If you want all of your bills created equal, send in the coupon below within two weeks after receiving your July gas bill. The Equal Payment Plan will start in August.

Yes, I would like to get the same residential gas bill every month of the year. Sign me up for the Equal Payment Plan to begin with my August bill.

I understand that if payments are not made monthly as billed, I will be removed from the Plan and the full balance will be due and payable.

SHARLA MORRISON AND SCOTT SAYLOR

Approaching marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Morrison of Muleshoe announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sharla Renae, to Scott Lynn Saylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. (Jake) Saylor of Clovis, formerly of Muleshoe.

Vows will be exchanged Aug. 3 at 7 p.m. in the First Assembly of God

Church of Muleshoe. Miss Morrison is a 1984 graduate of Muleshoe High School and attended Texas A&M. She is presently employed at First Bank of Muleshoe.

Saylor is a 1982 graduate of Muleshoe High School and is currently farming in the West Camp community.

Forbes family has reunion

Charles Wesley and Catherine Elizabeth (Melcher) Forbes and their children came from Indian Territory (Oklahoma) to the Clovis area where they homesteaded -- some in 1907 and some in 1909.

One son, Earle, was an auctioneer and had a transfer company in Clovis for many years. Another son, Myron, built some of the first houses in Texico and Clovis. Another son, Chelsea, at one time operated the Busy Bee Cafe on South Main in Clovis.

Some of their descendants and relatives met recently for a family reunion at Rincon Montoso in the mountains 25 miles northwest of Las Vegas, N.M.

Hudnalls have visitors

Rev. and Mrs. Harvey Hudnall and Mrs. Claud Heath of Farwell had several of their children and grandchildren in their home for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Jordan, Justin and Jennifer arrived from Farmington. Mrs. John Warrick and J.W., her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Dilbeck and Kyle arrived from San Antonio.

They visited with Mrs. Heath Friday night while Rev. and Mrs. Hudnall and J.W. Warrick went to a wedding rehearsal dinner in the First United Methodist Church in Portales. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harmon of Portales hosted the dinner for the wedding party for the members of the wedding of Rhonda Heacock and Bob Harmon, both of Portales. J.W. was to serve as usher.

After the dinner Rev. Hudnall returned home and went to Lubbock to meet their son, Dr. and Mrs. Wayne Hudnall and Eric from Baton Rouge, La. Robert Harmon of Portales was the only one of the other relatives in Portales who knew the Hudnalls from Louisiana were going to be at the wedding on June 22.

All the Hudnall relatives had arrived except Wayne and his family who went with the Roberts. Sue Harmon was happily surprised to see her brother and family as they entered the foyer of the church just minutes before the wedding ceremony began. The groom noticed the Wayne Hudnalls were there as he was watching the bridesmaids coming down the aisle.

After the wedding and the reception, all the relatives went to the Robert Harmon home except the bride and groom who left the church for Albuquerque to fly to California for their honeymoon.

Texico schools hold budget talks

The Texico School Board met with Dr. Lusiano Baca of the State Office of Education June 18. Baca praised the Texico schools highly during the district's budget hearing.

Before Baca presented his budget analysis, Texico Superintendent of Schools Jim Pierce took several minutes to outline the district accomplishments in the 1984-85 school year. Pierce pointed out the district's strong computer education program, which includes approximately 50 microcomputers throughout the three schools. In addition, the district has $34,000 of equipment on order, Pierce stated.

Pierce also pointed out that the district has increasingly attempted to schedule activities around class time and other non-academic activities.

Baca began his budget analysis by stating that Texico has the second-highest average teacher salary in the state. If Social Security payments are included, Baca said, the district ties with another for the highest average salary. He also mentioned Texico's high entry-level salaries.

Pierce also noted that all but one class in the Texico schools had scored higher than average on the comprehensive Test of Basic Skills and that every senior passed the Adult Performance Level tests.

Pierce said, "It really has helped us with our teachers, to keep them."

Texico's average teacher salary is $27,200, Baca said. The district is providing a salary increase of 3.3 percent for 1985-86.

The district's athletic teams and other extra-curricular programs were also outstanding, Pierce said; he mentioned a number of Future Farmers of America projects and the fact that the girls volleyball team won the state championship for its division.

The district has also managed to maintain a high level of teacher experience, at 12.5 years on average, and a more than reasonable pupil-teacher ratio, Baca said. He told Pierce that Texico is an outstanding district and has worked extremely well with available resources to overcome its problems.

Texico's estimated budget for 1985-86 is approximately $1.94 million.

Snipes attends Boys State

Kyle Snipes of Texico recently returned from New Mexico Boys' State.

Kyle was one of 416 boys from New Mexico who attended Boys State at the New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology in Socorro.

Boys State is sponsored by the American Legion in hopes of teaching young men about three levels of government - city, county, and state, and to prepare them for their actual participation in government actions as adults.

KYLE SNIPES

When the boys arrive at Boys State, they are thrust into the land of the mythical 51st state in which they are given complete control over how the government operates at each level.

As each boy registers, he is assigned to a city, county and party, either Nationalist or Federalist. Kyle was a citizen of Cortez City, and Decastro County and was a Federalist.

Kyle was nominated to be county deputy, to enforce laws that the county had passed.

The Governor of New Mexico spoke, as did a city policeman from Albuquerque who was on a Swat Team, and lawyers.

They did not have regular recreation time but one of the cities had a basketball tournament.

"It was very educational and this will help in everyday life. It also gave a deeper understanding what the American Legion does," said Kyle.

Kyle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Snipes.

WE THINK IT'S TIME AMERICANS DID A LITTLE FLAG-WAVING

Seems like these days it's "cool" to not display patriotism. Well, maybe it's time we warmed up to what this country's all about. You can be aware of the problems that lie unresolved and still have faith in the American dream. We say, let's wave the flag—not tear it down—let's be proud that we are Americans.

Sarpalius reviews bills

After every session, we spend days sifting through the documents of our recently completed work, seeing what passed and what didn't. The results often are surprising.

This year some of the biggest surprises came on the social and political fronts. Everybody knows the Legislature passed an indigent health care bill, but how many realized that at least a half-dozen other landmark social and governmental bills either were passed or almost passed?

Come with us, if you will, as we review some of those bills and the reasons for passage or failure.

SOCIAL ISSUES: Unquestionably the indigent health care bill dominated the social agenda this session. There were others, though, including:

Abortion - We worked with Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Rockwall, to see that abortion is more closely regulated in Texas. Starting Sept. 1, all Texas abortion clinics must be licensed, and those clinics will be forced to compile detailed records about their activities. More abortion bills are expected next session.

Alimony - Sen. Kent Caperton, D-Bryan, passed out of the Senate a bill that would have allowed judges to grant temporary alimony only in extreme cases. In no instance could alimony be granted for more than three years. Overwhelming Senate approval, however, did not impress the House, and the measure failed in that chamber.

Health Facilities - Free enterprise advocates won a big victory on this issue as the Texas Health Facilities Commission, the agency that licenses construction of hospitals and related center, on Sept. 1 will cease to exist. As a nod to the unique nature of health center, lawmakers did give the governor the power to create an alternate review process if one ever is needed.

Nursing Homes - Operators of nursing homes didn't get off as easy as people looking to build new hospitals. When the Texas Department of Health was renewed under the Sunset process, stronger penalties were adopted for nursing homes that violate state regulations.

Right-to-Die - This bill may appear controversial but really isn't. It simply allows a person to request disconnection of life-support systems if those systems are the only thing keeping the person alive. The bill also allows families in emergency situations to make such a decision for patients. This bill in no way relaxes state abortion regulations.

GOVERNMENT ISSUES: The squabble between Democrats and Republicans over creation of a "Super Tuesday" presidential primary captured the state's fancy. In the end, the Republicans won the battle and the primary bill failed. Look for the issue to return next session. Some government and political bills enjoyed a better fate, others went the way of the primary bill. Among them:

Billboard Regulation - Cities soon will have more power to regulate the placement and content of billboards, according to a bill passed this session. Some last minute compromising made the bill acceptable to billboard owners.

Carnival Rides - Previously unregulated, carnival rides beginning this fall will have to be tested annually for stress. The ultimate goal, of course, is to make sure the rides are safe.

Judicial Elections - Many people wanted to do away with the practice of electing state judges by party affiliation. Our survey of the district indicated some interest in changing the system. Several interesting proposals were submitted, but none made it to the House or Senate floors.

State Income Tax - House members approved a constitutional referendum that could have led to the prohibition of a state income tax. The measure was quashed in a Senate parliamentary maneuver. The referendum will be reintroduced next session and, given the state's desire never to have an income tax, has a good chance of passing.

Observers say the session made landmark gains on the social front. Some of those gains - like the indigent health care plan - were good ones, others were not so good. At least none required additional tax dollars.

On the political front, a lot of controversial notions such as presidential primaries and judicial reforms moved a little further in the legislative process than before. Look for those issues to surface again in 1987, with a vengeance.

If you have any questions about these or other issues, please write us at P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Tx. 78711.

Fire Calls

The Farwell Fire Department reported three calls last week:

On June 20, the ambulance was called to Bob Hammond's and transported a patient to Frona Hospital at 8:32 p.m.

On June 25, the ambulance was called to 608 4th at 2:35 a.m. and transported a patient to Clovis High Plains Hospital.

Marriage Licenses

There were five marriage licenses issued during the past week by the Parmer County Clerk's office.

Marriage licenses were issued to Calvin Martin Ulen, Jr. and Rosa Annette Rowe; Jose Alberto Acquire and Maria Ester Silva; James Lee Applebeck and Deborah Dawn Coy; James Derek Glidewell and Lisa Rosemary Sabia; and Margarito Tarango and Nancy D. Dears.

Out on the JOB WATCH UP FOR POWER LINES

Out on the job, power lines bring needed electricity to the site. But they can be dangerous... if you don't watch up! You need to be especially careful when you are handling re-bar, pipes, scaffolding, or tools that are long enough to contact overhead lines. Contact with power lines is also a potential danger to operators of front-end loaders, dump trucks and any other equipment of unusual height.

Keep an eye up for power lines. Watch up, for safety's sake.

Stephens attends Boys State

Brent Stephens attended the Boys State session at the University of Texas in Austin, June 8-14.

Each participant is placed in a city, county, and one of four districts which make up the mythical 51st state of the United States.

Here's what Brent had to say: "Upon arrival, I found I was in Hester City, Benefield County and belonged to the Nationalist Party. During the first day we elected city officials and organized city governments. I ran for County Sheriff and lost by six votes.

"During the next few days we had meetings and we developed our party platform, devised a campaign strategy, and held primary elections.

"After many debates and speeches, the platform was completed. The platform was on driving while intoxicated. Our bill was "no pass, no play."

"All citizens were treated with a visit to the Capitol building. While there Gov. Mark White spoke. We also toured the LBJ Museum."

The last evening they were surprised with a pizza party.

"This trip was really a memorable experience for me. Thanks to the faculty and the organizations that sponsored me. It was a real honor to go," said Brent.

4th of July decorations

The State Line Tribune window has been decorated in a patriotic theme for the Fourth of July. It was done by Gloria Atchley. "I'm dedicating this to all the servicemen and police officers who have given their lives for the cause of freedom," said Mrs. Atchley.

Texico may use private contractor

The Texico City Council Tuesday night continued its discussion of using a private contractor to haul away its garbage.

The option available is for a contractor to pick up garbage placed in containers along the streets, haul it to a central dumpster, then bring it to the Clovis landfill. The central dumpster would also be open to city residents for large items they want to get rid of.

The council agreed to have specifications drawn up for a private contractor. Bids will be advertised shortly.

In other business, the council re-hired Duane Hamar as city attorney. Two bids for the post had been received.

The council will have to re-advertise bids for a city insurance policy. It was noted at the meeting that this is a problem many New Mexico cities are facing -- a lack of insurance coverage due to companies not wanting the business.

The next council meeting will be July 9.
