The Parmer County 4-H Achievement Banquet was held in Bovina Saturday night with 165 in attendance. Speaker for the event was Bill Clayton, state representative from Springlake.

The banquet honored 60 club members who received county award medals, year pins and cash awards for various programs and activities during the past year. In addition about 25 other members were honored for their successful completion of one or more projects and received 4-H year pins.

The banquet was sponsored by the Deaf Smith County and Bailey County Electric Co-ops. Parmer County 4-H clubs expressed their appreciation to all the businesses and individuals who had helped them.

Special recognition was given to 4-H adult leaders at the banquet. In addition, six leaders were recognized for length of service to 4-H. Mr. James Mabry, Lazbuddie, received a pearl clover award for 15 years service as an adult leader. Mr. and Mrs. Leon Billingsley were awarded gold clover pins for 10 years service. Mrs. Harvey Blackstone, who has served seven years as a leader, received a silver clover pin. Also Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller received silver clover pins for six years service as 4-H leaders.

Longtime Texico Resident Dies

Funeral services were conducted from Steed Funeral Chapel Saturday at 2 p.m. for Mrs. P. M. Owen, 78, a longtime resident of the Texico area.

Mrs. Owen, who died at Clovis Memorial Hospital Friday following a short illness, homesteaded with her family on land two and one-half miles south of Texico in 1902. She was married to P. M. Owen in 1907 and they continued to live in the same vicinity. She was a member of the Church of Christ.

Minister Ebb Randol, a longtime friend of the family, officiated at the funeral service and burial followed in the Texico Cemetery under direction of Steeds.

When he returned to civilian life, he took over the editorship of the Friona Star until he received a position as editor of the Lovington, New Mexico Lovington Daily Leader. Richard moved to Lovington and ran an excellent daily paper. While there, he became a well-known and well-liked member of that community. There, he met and married his wife, Carolyn. Recently his ability came to the notice of the Farm Bureau Board of Directors and they tendered him his present position.

As a token of regard to him, the city of Lovington held a "Richard Hapke Day" before he left. Surely this is a heart warming testimonial to individual perseverance and initiative. Also, it is a shining example to the opportunities available to ANYONE in America who will have the fortitude to WORK, WORK, WORK.

I cannot help but feel that this quality is being abandoned today in favor of the cradle to the grave security offered by our socialist minded politicians. To quote from the writings of Richard's successor in Lovington, Paul Foraker, "We believe in only one type of anti-poverty program, summed up in three words, GO TO WORK."

Write Santa Letters Now

Word was received by the staff at the State Line Tribune early this week from Santa at the North Pole asking that we remind small fry in the surrounding area to get their letters written to him as soon as possible.

The jolly white-bearded fellow, says Mrs. Claus and his staff of wee elves, are working around-the-clock in order to be able to fill the requests of all the boys and girls, and for this reason the sooner letters are received the easier it will be for him to make preparations for delivering the articles.

The Tribune, as in the past, is receiving letters for Santa. All letters will be forwarded to Santa at the North Pole and will also be printed in the Christmas issue of the Tribune.

The following 4-H members received County Award medals in their respective award programs:

Yule Project Deadline Dec. 1

Deadline for getting YOUR name on the giant PTA Christmas card which will appear in the Christmas issue of the State Line Tribune is Dec. 1. Therefore, if you wish to make a donation to a worthy cause and have your name appear on the Christmas card you should lose no time in contacting one of the workers in the "PTA Yule Card Project Drive" says Mrs. Gene Hardage, project chairman.

During the past two weeks, workers in the drive have been canvassing the area around Farwell and in the city soliciting donations for the Library Fund. Patrons are asked to contribute the amount they would ordinarily spend in mailing Yule cards locally to the project.

Names of all persons making contributions to the Library Fund will appear in the full page Christmas Card ad in the Tribune.

At Home In Parmer County

By CRICKET B. TAYLOR
County HD Agent

4-H Gold Star Boy and Girl, James Schlenker and Kathryn Guber were present for the Annual Gold Star Banquet held Saturday night in Amarillo. Their parents were also present for the occasion along with the County Extension Agents. It was an inspiration to see boys and girls take charge and assume leadership of such an event.

Plans are shaping up for Parmer County 4-H Achievement Award banquet to be held in Bovina Saturday, November 20th at the School lunch cafeteria. Dale Blackstone, 4-H Council Chairman will preside over this meeting, where awards will be given.

Fashion Notes - "Granny" dresses is the rage now among teen-age girls. If you think teen-age girls have been wearing skirts too short, you can stop worrying. Hem lines have dropped to the ankles in the newest teen-age fashion fad—the "Granny Gown." These are cotton shifts with versions of Empire waists, ruffles and lace. With the younger set going back for old fashioned look, who can predict what type of fashion will be popular next? The hoop skirts may be on its way back.

All of this may be only a brief fling. American girls are not likely to give up their unrestricted freedom of comfort in dress for a very long time. Basic clothes will still be around and pants too. For lounge wear and party outfits the "granny" styles seem to be most popular. It is indeed a change from pants and slacks. No doubt by the time 4-H'ers start their clothing project this will have gone by and something else will be in fashion.

Food - Holiday preparation for those festive meals is in full swing now. For those lovers of candied pineapple in fruit cakes here is a recipe you may enjoy. Especially if you happen to have more time than money because it is economical and very good too.

The Parmer County Game Management Association in cooperation with local business sponsors is sponsoring a Pheasant Hunting contest Dec. 1-Dec. 7. Winners of contest prizes will be determined by the persons bringing in the longest pheasant tail feather.

The association has separate contest set up in Bovina, Farwell and Friona. Prizes in each town's contest will be awarded to the top five individuals with the longest tail feathers.

The five awards will be donated by merchants in each town. The approximate value of awards in each of the contests are: 1st place, $25; 2nd place, $20; 3rd prize, $15; 4th prize, $10; 5th prize, $5.00. In addition to these prizes, the overall winner, the person bringing in the longest pheasant tail feather in Parmer County, will receive a plaque, courtesy of the Game Management Association.

In Farwell, prizes are being donated by the following: 1st prize, Pioneer Sorghum Co., Gilbert Kaltwasser-dealer; 2nd prize, Worley Grain; 3rd prize, Lariat Gin; 4th prize, Farwell Fertilizer; 5th prize, Farwell Hardware.

Farwell Hardware will be contest headquarters for the Farwell area and Clay Henson will measure the tail feathers.

The chairmen of each town's contest are Bud Crump in Bovina, Gilbert Kaltwasser in Farwell, and Gary Brown in Friona. These men helped to set up the contest in each town and obtained a business house to be headquarters.

Pheasant season in Parmer County is Dec. 1 - Dec. 7, bag limit two cocks per day, possession limit is four. For some of the young boys who may not have hunted pheasants before, the cocks are the colorful ones with red heads and long tail feathers, says Joe Van Zandt, County Agricultural agent.

The fairly good supply of pheasants in Parmer County is largely the result of 2,260 pheasants that were brought and released in 1962-63 by the Game Association. Nearly everyone questioned reports they have seen more pheasants this year than ever before.

There seems to have been a great hatch this year with lots of young pheasants raised.

Some people question the benefit of a pheasant season when we are still trying to increase our pheasant population. Jack Patterson, president of the Game Association, reports that around 55% to 70% of an average pheasant hatch are cocks. Actually only one cock is needed for about every eight hens. These facts point out that about seven out of every eight cocks can be harvested and still leave plenty to reproduce.

Actually pheasants are better off when there is the proper ratio of cocks to hens. When there are too many cocks, they get to fighting and injure or kill each other.

Pheasant hunting is big business to some areas and Parmer County has the potential of becoming prime pheasant hunting country. This long tail feather contest is aimed to create new interest among farm operators.

The key to increased pheasant production in Parmer County is adequate cover during the winter. It is hoped that farmers will leave a little sorghum stubble standing on next year's lay-out ground. This is a good natural cover. The Game Association, at each contest headquarters, is also taking orders from persons who would plant some free shrubs to help provide wildlife cover. The Association is going to distribute 5,000 free shrubs about next April to anyone who signs up. The main shrub that will be distributed will be Multiflora Rose.

The Association is also requesting the assistance of all pheasant hunters to report how many birds everyone killed in the season. This information will help the Association make future plans for pheasants in the county. A list for this pur-

Steers Lose Thriller To Anton, Steerettes Win

Farwell basketball teams lost three hard fought games to Dimmitt, one of the best AA teams in the area, on Friday night on the local court. Final score in the girls game was 53-44 while the boys were soundly trounced 73-21. Final score in the B game was Dimmitt 70-Farwell 40.

However, on Monday night both the girls team and the B team defeated teams from Anton to retaliate for the losses of Friday night while the Steer varsity team was defeated by Anton by a one point margin.

Led by Robin Mahaney with 18 points, in the scoring department the B team defeated Anton 47-40. Also scoring in the double figures with 14 points was Cal Wilkinson.

The Farwell girls came out on the long end of a 61-34 score led by Jackie Gast with 27 points. Diane Lovelace accounted for 9 points while Nelda Winegearth and Donna Dale each had 8 points. High for Anton with 13 points was Jeanette Buchanan.

Coach Vernon Scott commented that the girls played a fine game both on Friday and again on Monday night. He says the girls are showing improvement in each game, "the game on Monday was especially good" he stated.

In the boys varsity game Jim Gray, Johnny Schell and Al Phillips each had 11 points to split scoring honors while Lewey Bradshaw tallied 8 points. Larry Crews was the big gun for Anton with 29 points.

With only four and one half minutes left in the game the Steers were trailing by 10 points when they went into a press to close the gap. With only one minute 29 seconds left to go Coach Scott sent Larry Gregory into the game. Gregory scored four points in the ensuing seconds and as the buzzer sounded to end the game he shot the ball from the mid-court position and narrowly missed the basket. The game ended 52-51.

Coach Scott commented that Gregory will possibly be back in action within the next week. "The team is showing a marked improvement, and I expect them to be ready to go in another month" commented Coach Scott. He is quick to give credit where credit is due and was high in his praise of the team members who came through in the rebound department.

In the Anton games Debbie Hargrove had 7 rebounds and Jackie Gast had 6 for the girls, while Doyle Johnson had 14 rebounds for the boys and Jim Gray had 9. "Rebounds are as important or more important than the points" said Coach Scott.

Jackie Gast with 19 points led local scoring in the Dimmitt game, followed by Donna Dale with 11 and Kandy Meeks with 8. High for Dimmitt was Donna Summers with 29.

Al Phillips led Steer scoring with 9 points. Bob Bradford with 20 was high for Dimmitt.

Next game for the Farwell teams is Nov. 29 when they tangle with Dimmitt at Dimmitt.

COLD WEATHER DRIVING EXPERT PREPARES FOR WINTER.

Why more motorists switch to the Tiger when it gets cold.

Many cars that ran just fine all summer get into trouble when ear-muff time rolls around—stalling at stoplights and coughing and chugging halfway into town.

That's when a lot of people switch to the Tiger. Winter-formula Enco Extra gasoline is blended to match the weather conditions in your area—including a special additive to help guard against icing. Result: easier starting, faster warm-up and a lot less worry about stalling.

You'll like the way new Enco Extra behaves on the open road, too. It's the High-energy gasoline with the: (1) cleaning power; (2) firing power; (3) octane power to help preserve the performance of new cars and restore lost power and mileage to many older cars.

Switch to the Tiger and get that nice warm feeling. Happy Motoring!

Mailing For Christmas Instructions

"Last Christmas the post office handled more mail than ever before, yet the operation was the most efficient in history," said J. R. Smart, Farwell postmaster.

Nationally about 99 per cent of the Christmas mail reached its destination before Christmas Eve.

"Zip code use and the cooperation of the public in mailing early were the main reason for the success. With the same or better cooperation this year, we expect to handle an even greater volume of mail with less effort than during the 1964 Christmas rush."

Postmaster Smart gives the following advice to help mailers prepare for the upcoming mailing season.

1. Update last year's address list and include Zip codes, the phone book is usually a good source for local addresses.

2. Prepare a gift list as soon as possible. They stress the fact that not only are former students and teachers invited but anyone who would like to attend is invited to do so.

Present officials of the Ex-Student Association are M. A. Snider Jr., president; Mrs. Ruby Meeks, secretary-treasurer; and Troy Christian, vice-president.

as possible. Shop early to take advantage of full stocks. Be sure to have on hand enough shipping materials: boxes, tape, wrapping paper.

3. Use first class postage on greeting cards. This assures their being forwarded if the recipient has moved or undeliverable cards will be returned if a return address is on the envelope.

The postmaster emphasized again this year that poorly wrapped and loosely packed cartons are the major cause of parcel post damage. He urged that cartons be tightly packed by using stuffing materials to fill the empty space around the items in the boxes.

He also asked that all mailers make an effort to address their letters, cards and packages as clearly as possible and that they make every effort to mail early, not waiting until the last minute to deposit all their gifts and greetings.

Doctor in the Kitchen

by W. W. Bauer, M.D.
Consultant, National Dairy Council

ARE TEEN-AGE SNACKS A PROBLEM???

"And while we're here, doctor," the mother of the teenage girl said, "I wish you would tell her how to eat right. All that stuff she eats — hamburgers, hot dogs, popcorn, milk shakes . . ."

The lady got the surprise of her life.

The doctor pointed out to her that he realized that teenage diets leave much to be desired, in which they differ not a whit from adult diets. But they aren't as bad as they are sometimes painted, at least in some respects.

Hamburgers and hot dogs supply useful proteins, since they are made of meat. Many girls do not eat enough meat, and are likely to be short on proteins. Milk shakes supply much needed calcium, readily digestible sugar, good quality protein, a fine supply of B vitamins, calcium, and other useful minerals, especially phosphorus.

Looked at from that angle, a milk shake can contribute significantly to the diet. And let's not overlook the popcorn, which is a nice way to get chummy with some whole-grain cereal, nicely buttered.

But Snacks Not Enough

Of course the girl, or boy, should not expect to live exclusively on these delectable delights. There is much more required for a good nutritious diet for a teenager or anybody else. The big difference is that the teenager, still in the growth-and-development stage, needs these nutrients more than does the fully grown adult.

A good diet for teenagers, or anybody except sick people living on medically prescribed diets, is very simply outlined. It falls into four main categories:

First, there is the meat group — meats, fish, sea-food, poultry, eggs, milk, cheese and the leguminous vegetables (navy beans, soy beans, dried split peas, lima beans and lentils).

Next comes the dairy food group — milk and its products, including ice cream, ice milk, sherbets, cream and whipped cream, cheese and low-fat milk in various forms.

Then there is the fruit-vegetable group, which, as its name implies, includes all the fruits and vegetables with their content of sugars, starches, vitamins, minerals and supplementary proteins.

Finally we come to the group of enriched white-flour bakery products, refined white enriched cereals, or whole-wheat cereals and bakery goods, which supply, in addition to their starch and sugars, important vitamins and minerals and supplementary proteins.

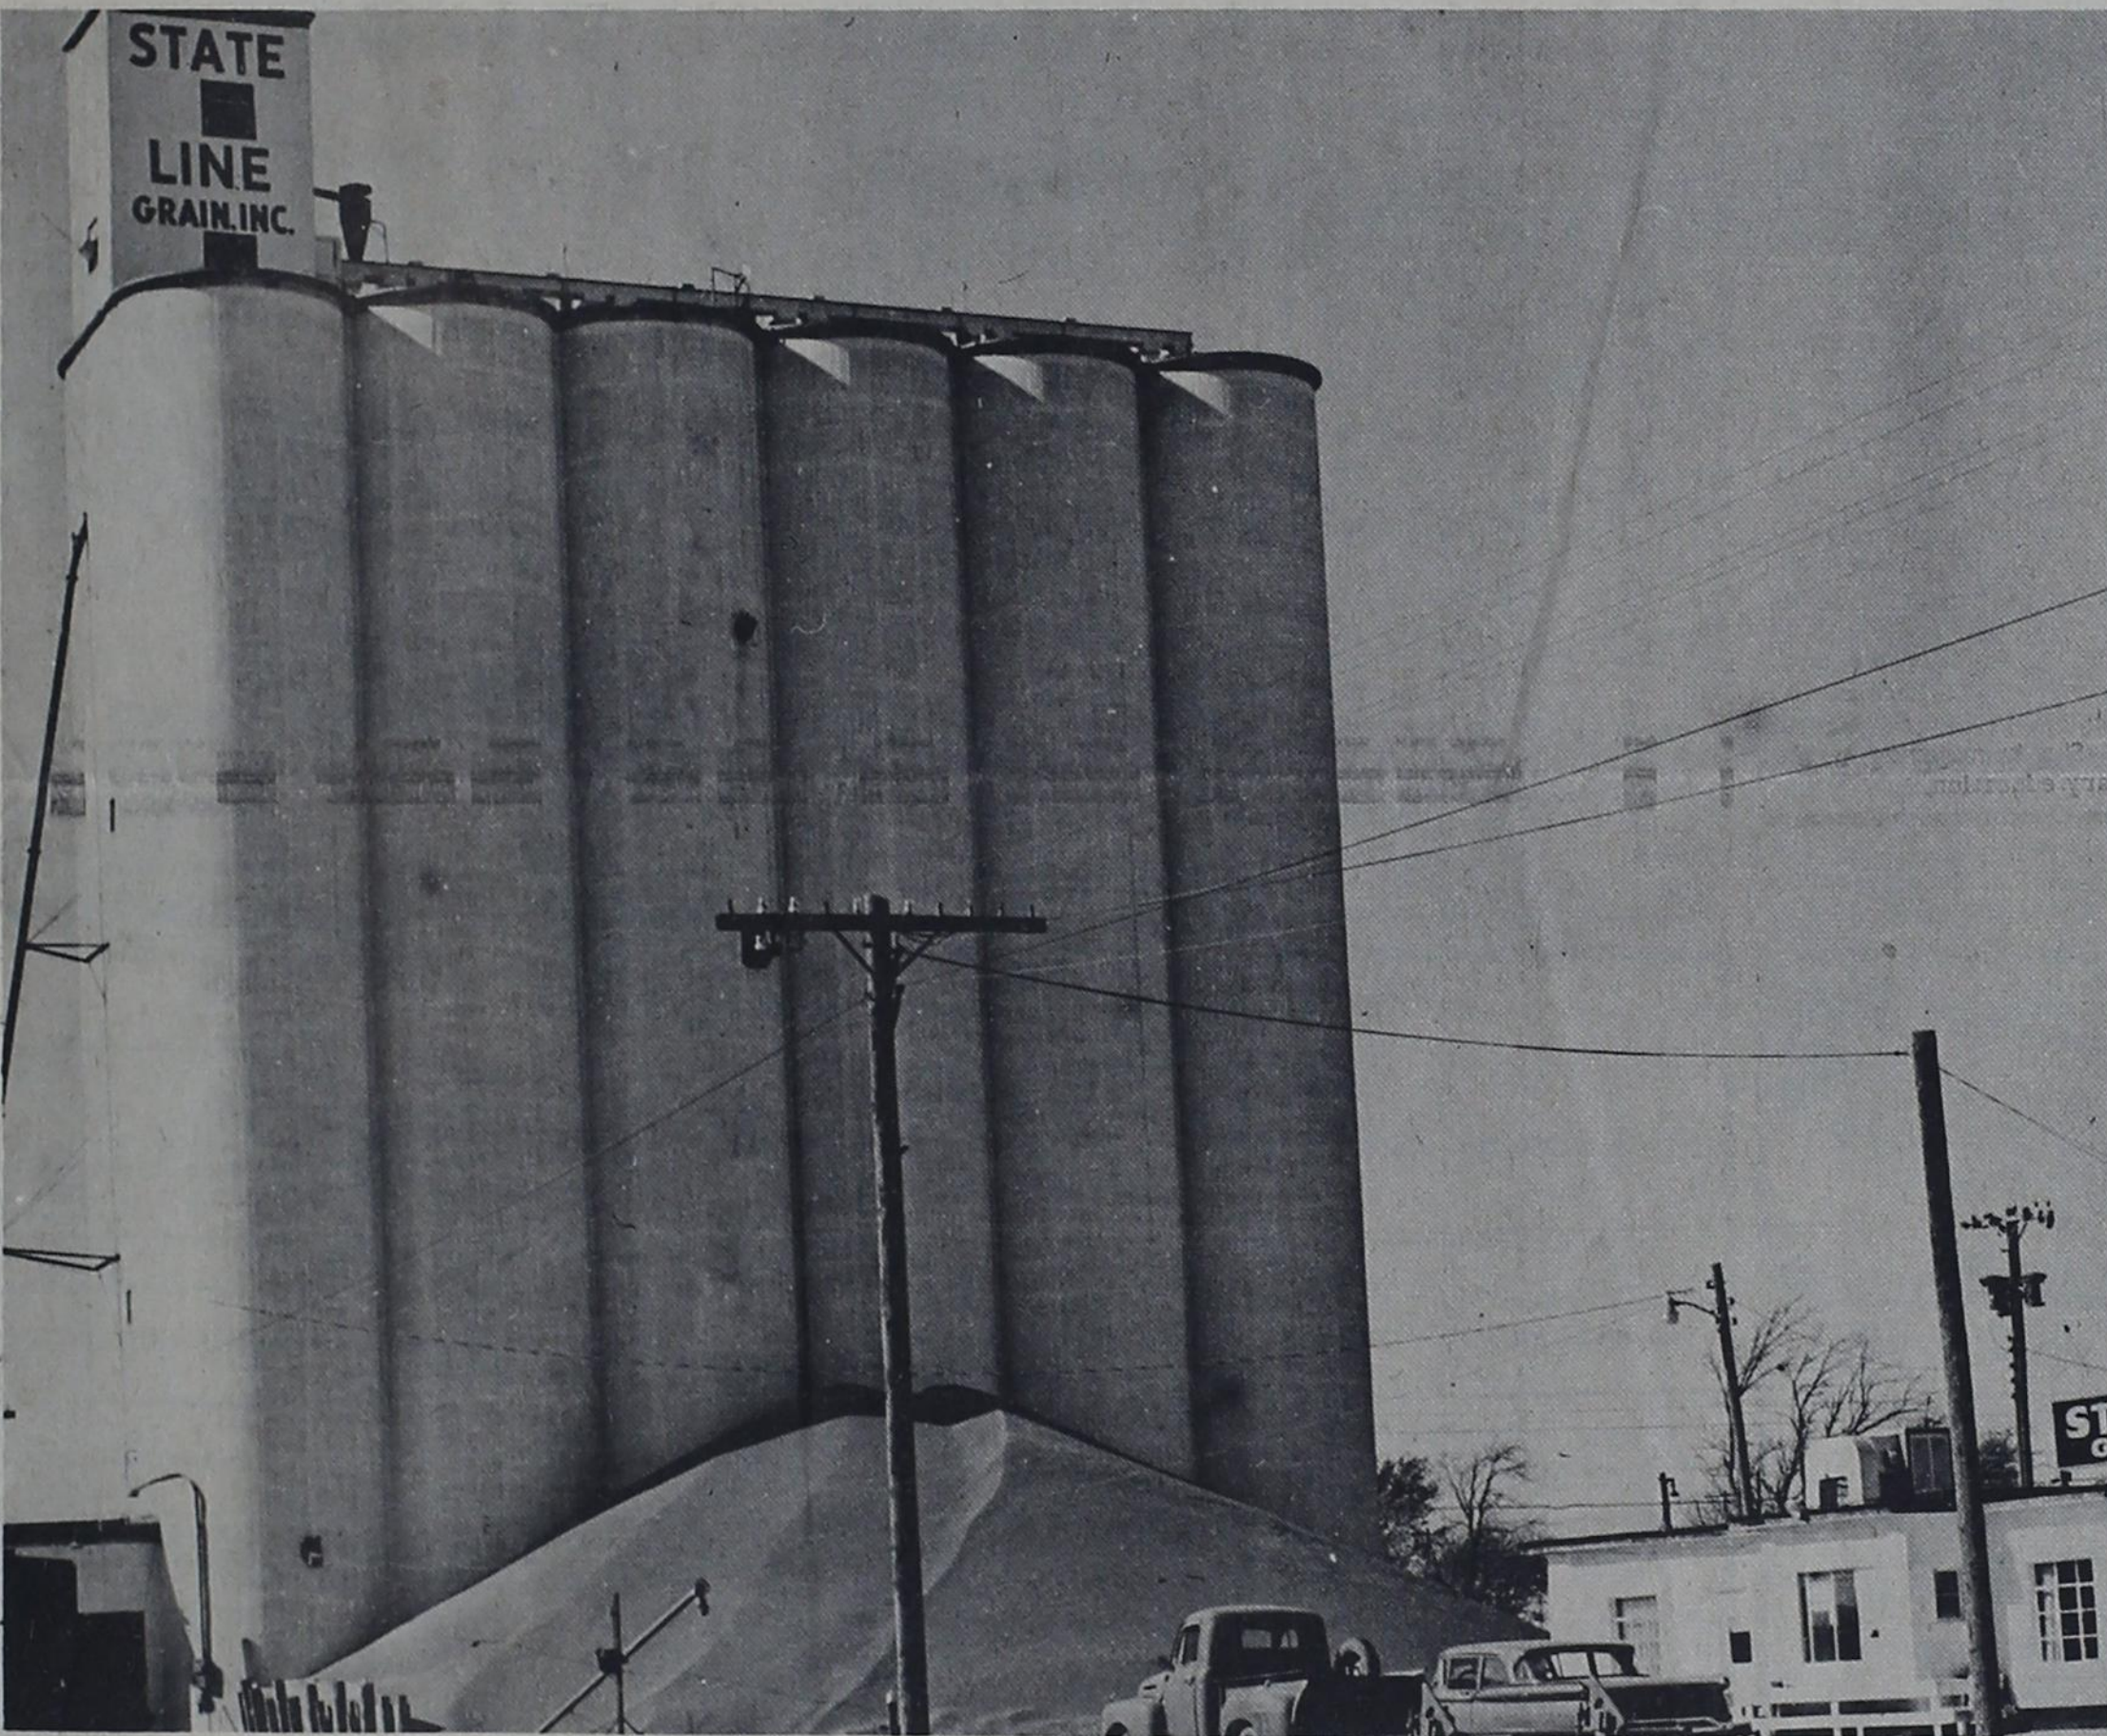

Recommended Servings

Two or more servings daily are recommended for the meat group. Four or more servings of the vegetables and fruits and breads and cereals groups. Adults should have 2 or more glasses of milk daily. Children 3 or more; teenagers 4 or more (smaller glasses for some children under nine); pregnant and nursing women 4 glasses or more.

For teenagers? Yes, and for you, too, homemaker, and your whole family.

Major Je Don Porter Reports On Vietnam

"I believe the United States is more totally involved in Vietnam than the American people realize," stated Major Edward JeDon Porter who has just returned from a year spent fighting with the 13th Army Battalion located in the Mekong Delta in Vietnam.

Major Porter arrived in Vietnam in October 1964 and has just recently returned to the States. He reported to Camp Walters early this week for two months of training after which he will be assigned to an Army base in Kansas.

The Major was originally the Deputy Commander of his battalion but was later Battalion Commander. In the battalion commanded by Major Porter were four helicopter companies and one surveillance company (fixed wing). Approximately 1,300 men were in the battalion. Members of the battalion were pilots, crew chiefs and gunners. Their main objective was to give support to the IV Republic of Vietnam Army Corps. Their secondary job was to re-supply and reinforce small outposts. Chief assignments were given fire support for operations with armed heliicopters and transporting tactical troops.

"Working relations with the Vietnamese forces were good," stated Major Porter. "Each troop had an American advisor as did the Province Chief," he continued.

"In order to understand a little better the conflict in which we are involved in Vietnam, it is important to remember that there are "No Battle Lines", but fighting may erupt at any place anytime," Major Porter said.

The area in which Major Porter was stationed is one of the largest rice producing areas in the world, and that is the reason the Viet Cong are so interested in controlling the area. The terrain is much like the area surrounding Texico-Farwell, except for the canals.

"The canals make it especially difficult for the Vietnamese and American forces to know from which direction the Viet Cong will strike, since it is possible to block all of the canals," he stated.

Farm people (most are farmers in this particular area) do not live on the farms as we do in America but instead they group themselves into villages, with several villages forming a Province (county). Head of the Province is a Province Chief, whose job is that of a civilian head of the community and military leader, making it one of the most dangerous jobs on the Island.

Most of the attacks on the small outposts are staged at night or in the early morning hours under cover of darkness, stated Major Porter. Usually the attacks are made by two companies (approximately 200 men). Since the attacks are made in the darkness, Vietnamese and American troops use flares to illuminate the area in order to give adequate support to the fighting forces.

The troops were given good support by the U. S. Air Force, Armed Army Helicopters, Vietnamese Forces, Province Air Support and the Vietnamese Navy, whose river assault boats would block the canals which are the best avenues of escape. The U. S. Navy was also there giving support to the troops on occasion, said Major Porter, in giving praise to the military forces who are all fighting to restore peace to the Island.

First approach of the Viet Cong to the Vietnamese people is the "Good Friend" (economic approach) giving them something to try to get the people on their side, falling in that they resort to "terrorism" he said. By these methods they have approximately 70 per cent of the people on the Island under Communist domination, although the people are not Communist," it is quite hard to tell friend from foe," he said.

In one of the most successful operations during the time Major Porter was on the Island, a body count after one of the battles was ended showed 200-400 dead, which indicated that the casualties had been much greater (twice as many) since the Viet Cong are quick to remove the bodies of their dead in such cases.

Eagle tactics were used to find the Viet Cong when intelligence was received of a large concentration of Viet Cong. Helicopters would be sent to attempt to locate the enemy, "If you were fired on you knew they were there and tried to locate where the fire was coming from," Major Porter said. After the concentration of Viet Cong were located, two battalions of Vietnamese government forces armed with U.S. weapons would be flown to the area in helicopters to assault the assembled Viet Cong.

The U.S. Forces and the Vietnamese forces made every effort to warn the civilian population preceding any attacks, said Major Porter, who described the civilians as the most unfortunate victims of the war, for they are caught in the middle since most of the fighting is in the villages. He stated that the morale of the Vietnamese people is excellent and that they are more than glad to have the American Forces giving them support.

The Major described the people in the area where he was located as pretty advanced, although far behind the Americans, since they have been influenced by the French for a number of years. They are relatively clean and have a public school system for both boys and girls he said. Main religion on the Island is Buddhism and approximately 90 per cent of the Christians are Catholic, he observed.

During his year on the Island, Major Porter was presented with several awards of honor among which was "The Cross of Gallantry with Palm," presented by General Quang, Vietnamese Senior Commander. The Cross of Gallantry with Palm is the highest award of honor presented by the Vietnamese Army. It was presented to Major Porter on Dec. 30, 1964, following action of Dec. 27, 1964.

Asked if he would return to Vietnam, Major Porter replied,

MRS. EARL CASH JR.

Marquitta Wall Is Bride Of Earl Cash Jr.

At mid-afternoon Nov. 7, Marquitta Wall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie O. Wall, Texico, became the bride of Earl Cash Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cash Sr., Albuquerque, in a double ring ceremony at the First Baptist Church in Texico.

Rev. Leroy Looper, church pastor, read the ceremony before a setting of gladioli, huge tissue wedding bells and palms of emerald green. Focal point of the altar setting was a hand-made kneeling bench adorned by pillows of lace and satin. The bench was made by Hortice

Freeman, Hagerman. The setting was accented by three huge candles, made by a lifelong friend of the bride's family, Mrs. Eula Mae Madole Gunn. Mrs. Ruth Reid played appropriate wedding selections preceding the ceremony and also accompanied the bride as she sang "Whither Thou Goest." Preceding the ceremony two of the candles were lighted by Linda Cash and Gary Cash, of Albuquerque. The third candle was lighted at the close of the ceremony by the bride and groom.

Maid of honor was Gwinette Lovett, Canyon, former classmate and close friend of the bride. Bridesmaid and brides-matron respectively were Jo-quetta Wall, Abilene, and Lanelda McDaniel, Clovis, sisters of the bride.

Bridal attendants were attired in identical street length dresses of turquoise velveteen with accessories in matching hue. They each carried long stemmed white mums tied with turquoise bows.

The bride, escorted and given in marriage by her father (he wore his wedding suit of teal blue-25 years old) was wearing a wedding gown of white lace and satin, designed with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves which came to points at the hands, fitted bodice and a billowing skirt. The dress buttoned in the back with 36 minute bead buttons.

Her shoulder length veil of white illusion was held in place by a minute crown. Her bridal bouquet was constructed to fit atop her white satin and lace covered Bible. After the ceremony the styrafoam arrangement was snapped off and the bride threw it to the waiting attendants.

As the bride approached the altar she stopped at her mother's pew and handed her a long stemmed red rose. As the newlyweds left the church they stopped at the pew occupied by the grooms parents and the bride presented her new mother-in-law with a long stemmed red rose.

Following tradition the bride wore for something old a gold pin which had belonged to her maternal great-grandmother. New was her wedding dress, borrowed was a tear-drop necklace from her maid of honor and blue was the traditional garter.

Leon Smith, Texico, was best man and Tom Rickstrew, former classmate of the couple who is attending Eastern New Mexico University served as usher.

The bride's mother was attired in a teal blue wool dress with which she wore white and brown accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. Mrs. Cash, mother of the groom, wore a dress of royal blue with matching accessories. Her corsage was also of white carnations.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held in the fellowship hall at the church. Decorations carried out the bride's chosen colors, turquoise and white.

When Mr. and Mrs. Cash left for a wedding trip to Grand Canyon, Mrs. Cash was wearing, for travel, a winter white jersey suit with blue accessories.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cash are 1965 graduates of the Texico High School. She has been employed by the Curry County ASC Office and her husband has been working for Troz Construction Company in Albuquerque.

They will make their home on a farm near Texico.

Stifling Flames
The bane of a camp cook's existence is to have his fire burst into flames, when what he wants is hot coals. Experienced cooks have found a way to instantly douse these unwanted flames. They merely sprinkle a handful of common table salt over the fire and— presto—the flames disappear.

On The Farm In Farmer County

By JOE VANZANDT
County Agent

Now is the time to take cuttings from the house plants you set outdoors last spring. Geraniums and coleus can be carried over the winter as small house plants and then used as garden plants again next summer. Be sure to place them where they will receive at least 4 to 6 hours of sun daily. Almost every gardener has a few choice plants from which he desires to collect seed and save for use the next season. Storing seed under proper conditions will greatly increase their longevity. Most seeds should be air dried and placed in glass jars with airtight lids or in polyethylene bags and closed securely with rubber bands. The sealed containers should be kept in a refrigerator or cool basement where the temperature will remain constant. Do not store in deep freeze.

IMPORTANCE OF PHOSPHORUS

The major element phosphorus is required by all plants. With the possible exception of nitrogen, no other element is as critical in the growth of plants as is phosphorus.

Analyses of hundreds of soil samples by the Texas A&M University soil testing laboratories reveal that available phosphorus is seldom adequate for crop needs.

Phosphorus is an essential element for plant growth and development. It functions in metabolism and is present in every living cell. As plants mature, most of the phosphorus moves into seeds and fruits. Phosphorus is associated with several vital functions in plants and is responsible for several characteristics of plant growth.

Some of the things done by phosphorus are:

It determines flowering and fruiting; hastens maturity; increases disease resistance; improves resistance to drought and cold temperatures; encourages early spring growth; strengthens stalk and straw; improves seedling vigor; improves forage quality; thus improves animal performance; increases yield; improves palatability of forages and vegetables and balances other plant nutrients.

An impressive list of chores.

It pays to follow the soil test recommendation on phosphorus.

PHEASANTS
With Pheasant season just around the corner, December 1 thru 7, I want to remind farmers to consider leaving a little sorghum stubble. We apparently have a good pheasant crop this year and these beautiful game birds certainly deserve a little protection from the winter weather ahead. I encourage you to leave some stubble standing on some land you plan to lay-out next year and wait until spring to shred it.

Furniture needed at this time, for the building, includes some chairs and tables. If anyone has such items he wishes to donate to a worthy cause, they are asked to contact Mrs. Clara Wiehl at the city offices.

The building was recently
