A nation of criminals

I got my hackles up the other day when I heard folks discussing the possibility of Texas putting in a mandatory seat belt law. And that was followed with the word that child restraint seats in cars also would be mandatory.

Obviously, no one can argue against something like child restraint seats, can they? They would save lives; there is no question about that.

But what government fails to understand that anytime there is an action, there is more than one reaction. Here's what I see happening in our country: The government is interfering more and more in our private affairs, much to our detriment.

Sure, some good can come from laws like driving under 55 miles per hour. Surveys show that more lives have been saved, primarily because of this law. Now, let's take a look at the other side of the coin.

In a nutshell, we are becoming a nation of criminals. Yes, I'm talking about you and me. And that word is correct -- criminals.

The dictionary defines a criminal as someone who has committed a crime. And the word crime is defined as an act or omission in violation of public law either forbidding or commanding it, for which a punishment is prescribed and which is prosecuted by the state...

So let's get to the point: Have YOU ever driven a vehicle the past few years more than 55 miles per hour? If so, you committed a crime; you are a criminal.

I know that's not a very pleasant thought, especially when you consider yourself a law-abiding person. But if the dictionary is wrong, please let me know.

And let's continue along that vein. If the state puts in a mandatory seat belt law, do you think there might be times, such as when you drive from your home in the Twin Cities to Capitol Food for groceries, for example, that you might not bother "buckling up"? If so, you will have committed a crime.

And if you are just taking your little one to the nearby babysitter and you are in a hurry to get to work and you don't take time to use the child restraint seat, then you have committed a crime.

And if you fudge a bit on your income taxes, knowing full well how big corporations are getting away with murder, and knowing that you have to take advantage of every little break just to survive, you have committed a crime.

And so on. And so forth. Do you see what is happening, all in the name of "doing good" for society by our government? They are creating a mentality among the American people that "some" crime is acceptable. Where do you draw the line?

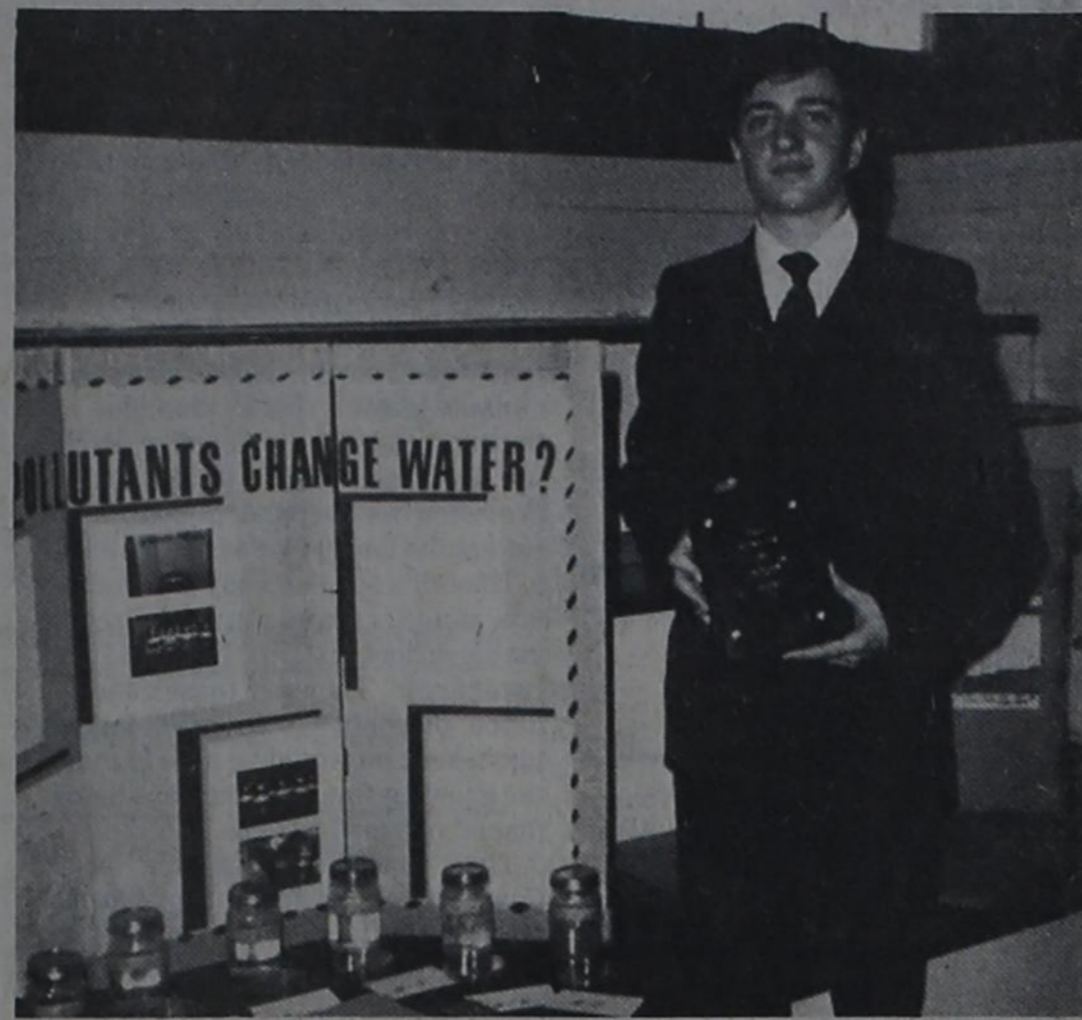

As you can tell from reading this column, I believe the less government interference in our personal lives the better. Their pushing into our lives is causing havoc with our trying to be law-abiding citizens. And I doubt the government understands that they are the cause of what is becoming a national disgrace.

Some of you may say that the crimes we are committing are "minor" crimes. Well, then, who determines what is minor and what is not? As far as I am concerned, a crime is a crime. If the state has punishment for not buckling up, that puts it in the same category as other misdemeanor crimes. Or are they felonies?

I also realize that we can avoid the types of crimes I have mentioned by being ultra-cautious. But you tell me: Hasn't there been just one itty-bitty time when you have driven over 55? And if the mandatory seat belt law goes into effect, then you see if you can tell me in 10 years whether you buckled up every single time.

If you must 'fess up to having exceeded that speed limit just once, in these spacious western areas, or had forgotten to buckle up just once (remember, "forgetting" is no valid excuse to the police), then, whammo, you have committed a crime.

Pretty miserable thought, isn't it? If it was just one thing, it wouldn't be all that bad. But what I see happening is that the government is putting more and more ropes around us. That is bad. The government virtually is forcing us to commit improper acts continually. And that's why I headlined this column "A Nation of Criminals."

Election ballots set Farwell City Council

Ten Farwell residents are running for the five aldermanic seats in the April City Council election.

But only one person -- incumbent Walter Kaltwasser -- filed for the mayoral post.

The latest individuals to file for aldermen are: James Chadwick, a Texas Farm Bureau insurance agent; Elizabeth Phillips, a junior high teacher; Donald Jones, a farmer, and James D. Williams, a salesman for Farwell Spraying.

They join Wesley Davis, Ysleta Kittrell, Curtis Smith, Martin Kube and incumbents Fred Chandler and Jerry Monk in seeking the five aldermanic positions.

The deadline for filing was March 6. The election will be April 6.

Farwell voters decided in a special election in January to change the form of government from two councilmen and a mayor to five aldermen and a mayor.

The mayor will have a two-year term. But, after the five aldermen are elected, they will draw lots to see which get one-year terms (two of them) and which get three-year terms (three of them). After this initial election, all terms will be for two years.

Farwell School Board

Farwell School District voters will have a good opportunity to decide which persons they would like to elect to the school board: seven candidates are seeking the three open seats.

Of the three incumbents, two are running again -- Maxine Williams and Wilbert Kalbas. Floyd Coates is not seeking re-election.

Others running for the board are: Joe Schilling, Carl Kirkland, Steve Hillock, Randy Kelley and Doyle Johnson.

The terms are for three years. Members whose terms did not expire this year are Joe Hughes, Ed

Corn, Richard Haseloff and Steve Pierson.

The deadline for filing was March 6. A draw to determine ballot places will be held today (Friday), according to School Supt. Willie Roberts.

A committee had been appointed by the School Board to make sure enough people would run. This committee included Lee Hutchins, Pete Fulcher, Gwen Corn, Linda Foster, Carl Kirkland, Doyle Johnson and Joe Schilling -- the latter three which signed up to run. The election will be April 6.

Lazbuddie School Board

Two Lazbuddie School District residents filed to run for School Board Wednesday -- Kenneth Russell and Mike Miller.

They join the three incumbents who are seeking re-election: Bobby Redwine, Nicky Nickels and Phil Brockman.

The filing deadline was Wednesday. The three terms are for three years.

The election will be April 6 at the Lazbuddie School auditorium. Polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

Farwell Hospital District

While most of the election news in Farwell has centered on the city council and school board, an election will also take place April 6 for the Farwell Hospital District board.

Five posts will be on the ballot, those of Don Williams, LaMoin Williams, Gwen Hughes, Jim Mace and Doyle Johnson. All except Johnson, who has filed for school board, are seeking re-election.

The only newcomer to seek election to the Hospital District Board is Prentice Mills.

Also on the board, but who are not up for re-election this year, are Troy Christian, Tom Nichols, Frances Kube and Bert Williams.

All terms are for two years.

The filing deadline was March 6. Since only five persons filed for the five open posts, it appears they all will be elected.

The McDaniel mobile home

Home gutted by fire

An early-morning fire Tuesday gutted the mobile home belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Lynn McDaniel.

The home is at 703 S. College, just south of the Texico city limits. According to firefighter Bob Spears, Texico firemen were called at 3:15 a.m. by the Clovis dispatcher. Spears said McDaniel awoke after smelling smoke in the home. He and his wife were uninjured.

Fire officials believe the blaze may have been caused by a grass fire. The fire was extinguished by the Texico and Farwell fire departments. The Clovis Fire Department stood by in case their help was needed.

Forced consolidation unacceptable

Two of my colleagues, probably with the best of intentions, have offered the Senate a bill that is completely unacceptable to many people in District 31.

Sens. Hector Uribe, D-Brownsville, and John Leedom, R-Dallas, recently introduced Senate Bill 263, a measure that would force counties or the state to do away with school districts that have an enrollment of less than 500 students.

To that extent, the bill isn't so awful. Our only objection would be that the school districts to be annexed or combined would have no say in the matter. We would have asked the sponsors to allow the affected school boards to vote before any annexation or consolidation could be final.

Had the bill been left with just that provision, a compromise might have been possible. However, the sponsors added a second provision, one that causes us to object strenuously. S.B. 263 also directs the State Board of Education to identify by Sept. 1 the school districts that have enrollments of less than 500. The state board then would be required to combine that school district with an adjacent district or districts to create a consolidated district of 500 or more students. This bill would affect 63 percent of the 89 school districts in District 31.

Affected districts would be notified by Sept. 15 of the proposed consolidation. New boards of trustees would be elected in early April, though there would be no provision for expanded boards to reflect the larger size of the district.

The bill's sponsors say this measure would create stronger, more viable school districts in the state's rural areas. They say these consolidated districts would have larger tax bases and would be able to meet the growing financial burdens being placed on rural schools.

Their premise contains a basic flaw. School districts in rural areas often are dozens, even hundreds of miles from the next school district. The logistics of transporting students from an abolished school district to a new one 50 or 60 miles away are staggering. If S.B. 263 passes, leaders of the new, consolidated school districts in the Panhandle and on the South Plains would have only two options. They either would have to expand greatly their transportation services to students or they would have to construct new schools at a point equidistant from the existing school district and the abandoned one.

Both options would involve new taxes and would create the very financial burden the bill is trying to avoid.

Forced consolidation might work for small school districts close to urban areas like Houston, San Antonio or Dallas, but it is not practical in the vast expanse of the Panhandle and South Plains. Nor, for that matter, would it work in the far West Texas or on the Rolling Plains.

For all these reasons, we remain steadfastly opposed to S.B. 263 or any bill that would consolidate school districts without the consent of the affected district's board of trustees.

We would appreciate your comments on this matter. Please write to Sen. Bill Sarpalius, P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Tx. 78711.

Computer to determine who gets computer

A computer will determine whether Texico School or the Nazarene School in Clovis gets the free computer both schools had coupon drives to get.

Both schools fell short of the number needed for a computer, but by pooling their efforts, they were able to go one. In fact, depending on the company rules, they may get a whole system and monitor.

To determine which school gets the computer, a computer will be used. The number of labels collected by both schools will be input, and a winning number will be drawn by the computer. Texico has a 2-1 chance of having one of their numbers picked since Texico collected about two-thirds of the number of coupons needed to get the free computer.

On March 1, the top class that collected coupons at Texico had a Coke party. The class was the seventh grade (103), with 1,171 labels. Top individual winners were Terry Whitener, with 291; Larry Powell, with 180, and Konni Warmuth, with 224.

Teacher Ronnie Warmuth, who spearheaded the drive, thanked everyone for their participation.

Club votes funds for sign

The Texico Booster Club voted Tuesday night to spend $100 on a proposed sign in the community which would list the school's athletic state championship teams.

A club member explained that the idea was raised at last week's City Council meeting and it was suggested that the Booster Club and Chamber of Commerce be approached to see if they would contribute toward the project.

Booster Club President Jim Holland suggested that the water tower be used. He suggested a Wolverine be painted on it, plus the words "Home of the Wolverines." Also to be added are the names of teams and dates they won state titles. The list includes:

1984 - Girls volleyball and boys basketball; 1983 - boys football;

1981 - girls basketball; 1980 - girls volleyball; 1979 - girls track, and 1973 - girls track.

At this point, the idea is still in the discussion stage.

THE RALPH GATES FAMILY

Ralph Gates family moving to Midland

Bro. Ralph Gates, pastor of the Church of Christ in Farwell for the past four years, is taking his family to Midland, Texas, March 13 where he will be a fulltime pulpit minister and involved in mission work.

He will be involved in an Eastern mission, which includes the dedication of Bibles in Slavic languages, and in a Caribbean mission.

Bro. Gates will be at the Fairmont Park Church of Christ. The church is about 2½ years old and has a membership of more than 270 members.

"This move will give me a better opportunity of pursuing more education," he said. "Deana and I appreciate the many kind remarks and good wishes since we made the decision to move. Our home will be open any time there, and we plan to visit Farwell often as the future allows."

Here's what Bro. Gates had to say about Farwell:

"The people of Farwell showed us a strong, intense family relationship. Farwell has a strong work ethic and friendly people. My family and I will always be grateful for the openness people have shown us. The city shows greater emphasis on God and country than other towns. Deana and I hope Farwell will grow with more young families and new people."

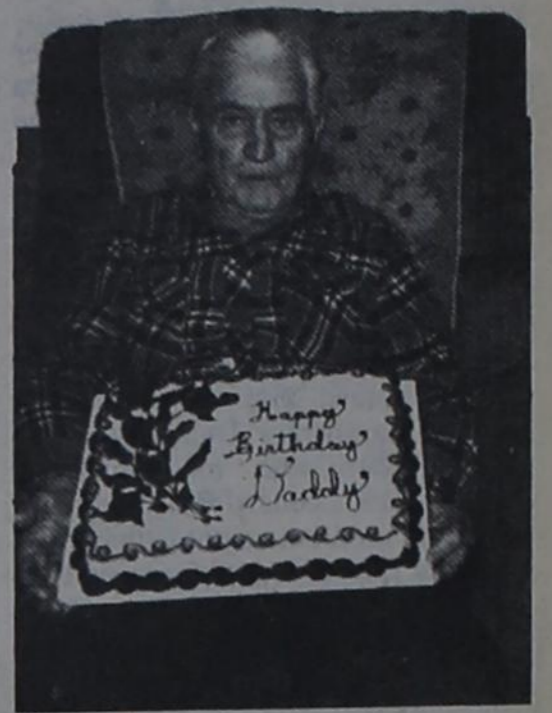

He added: "The Congregation exists only for one purpose and that is to carry on the work begun by Jesus Christ. They try to strive to share a concern for the needs of the total person: physically, emotionally and spiritually. It is simply a family of people who are attempting to restore the message set forth by Jesus."

Texico girls lose district playoff, but vie in regionals

Although the Texico girls' varsity basketball team lost its district championship playoff game, it still has a chance at the state title.

The girls take the floor in the regionals against Grady Friday night (today) at Elida. Because of its district defeat, the home court advantage was lost.

Texico had its 14-game winning streak stopped by Elida, 42-40, in four overtimes in the Wolverine gym Saturday night. For the season, Texico is 20-3.

"It was just one of those nights," said Coach Roy King. "We didn't shoot well although the hustle was there. Our next game will check out our character. Hopefully, we will bounce back and play our best game of the year."

Against Elida, Texico jumped ahead 6-0 before the Tigers scored their first basket at the 5:08 mark. With 57 seconds left in the first quarter, Elida tied the score at 12-12, thus setting the stage for the rest of the game. The first quarter ended with Texico in a 14-12 lead, on a Cheryl Scott jumper.

In the second quarter, both teams were cold shooting, due to good full court pressure and zone defenses. Often times, Elida had three players guarding Cheryl Scott.

In the second quarter, also, Texico ran into foul trouble as Cheryl Scott and Helen Jo Boarman both collected three personals, forcing them to the bench. With 2:14 left, Elida took a 16-14 lead, which it kept as the halftime buzzer sounded.

Both teams scored 8 points in this quarter as Elida maintained a 2-point lead going into the final stanza.

The game stayed close and with 53 seconds left it was 32-32. Elida went into a stall, but Texico took away the ball with 21 seconds and couldn't score.

In the first overtime, there was no scoring. In the second overtime, Texico scored two quick buckets and appeared heading for a win. But Elida came back with two baskets, also.

There was no scoring in the third overtime as Elida held the ball. The stall failed and the Tigers couldn't score. In the fourth overtime, Elida outscored Texico, 6-4, for the win.

Texico shot 30.2 percent from the floor, making 19 of 63 shots. The Wolverines were 2 of 8 from the free throw line -- 25 percent.

Scoring for Texico were: Cheryl Scott and Kelly Lynn, 12 each; Karen Snodgrass, Helen Jo Boarman, Kathy Harrison and Loretta Gonzales, 4 each.

Kelly Lynn led in rebounding with 12. Kathy Harrison had 7; and Karen Snodgrass and Cheryl Scott had 5 each. Helen Jo Boarman led in steals with 4. Kathy Harrison had 8 assists.

Coy Jo Burk guards an Elida Player.

Texico wins

Late Wednesday night, the Texico boys' varsity team defeated Dora, 57-50, in the District 6A basketball tournament at Floyd.

Texico now goes against Tatum at 7 p.m. (MST) Thursday, March 7, with the winner to play Floyd Saturday night at 7.

Texico was behind Dora, 24-23, at the half, but pulled away in the fourth quarter behind a strong press and the shooting of center Regan Williams.

Williams scored 25 points, followed by Danny Powell and Billy Bibbs, both with 10; Mark Meeks, 6; Stan Cross, 4, and Doug Thornton, 2

Texico boys win regular season finale

The Texico boys' varsity basketball team won its regular season finale against Elida last Friday, 64-48 in an away game.

Texico enters the district playoffs Wednesday night at 8 p.m. (MST) against Dora at Floyd. Texico's record is 7-3 in district and 14-8 overall.

The district playoff starts Tuesday with Elida vs. Melrose at 7 p.m. That game's winner takes on Tatum at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. The winner of the Tatum game faces the winner of the Texico-Dora match at 7 p.m. Thursday. No. 1-seeded Floyd will be in the title game at 7 p.m. Saturday.

Against Elida, Texico jumped into a 20-11 first quarter lead, and led at the half, 34-26. Texico outscored Elida in the third quarter, 14-7, and the fourth quarter, 16-15.

Scoring for Texico: Regan Williams, 27 points; Danny Powell and Mark Meeks, 8 each; Billy Bibbs and Eric Harding, 4 each; Doug Thornton, Stan Cross and David Loera, 3 each; and Jim Thornton and Don Vela, 2 each.

Cross led in steals with 5; Danny Powell had 4. The assist leader was Bibbs, with 8. Cross had 4.

Williams had 17 rebounds to lead in this category. Harding had 8; Bibbs and Powell, 7 each.

For the game, Texico hit 27 of 71 floor shots, for 38 percent. The Wolverines were 10 of 23 from the charity stripe, for 44 percent.

Here are some season totals:

Youths ski

Members of the Hamlin Memorial United Methodist Church youth group spent its spring break skiing last week.

They left for Taos, N.M., Feb. 24 and stayed at Camp Summer Life, about 20 miles south of Taos Ski Valley. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, they skied. Each evening, they had other entertainment, such as swimming and movies. On the final evening, the group went to Taos for dinner.

Everyone was thankful there were no major injuries - Rev. Steve Stephens slightly injured his knee - and a good time was had by the participants, according to member Patty Pomper.

Youngsters enjoy skiing

Members of the High School Royal Ambassadors of the First Baptist Church of Farwell went on a ski trip last week.

Traveling to the tennis ranch at Taos, N.M., were Mark Cole, Roger Robertson, David Woods, Wesley May, Jesse Coburn, Brent Stephens and Kenny Adams. Adult chaperone was Dr. J.R. Ivins.

The youths went skiing, innertubing and swimming during the trip.

Ivins thanks all those who made the trip possible.
