

By Hop Jr.

More on Farwell's beginnings: Mrs. Anne Overstreet referred to a story in The Tribune a number of years ago which concerned the death of Judge J. D. Hamlin, her brother. That was in January of 1950.

This story, which was written by Hop, our father, ascribed the founding of Texico to the Judge, and also recalled that he had a hand in the laying out of Farwell "in 1906."

That promotion was under the direction of the old Capitol Freehold Land Trust, which had Judge Hamlin as its local representative. Evidence continues to accumulate which indicates that Farwell got its start sometime in 1906.

What has become of our prospective wildcat southeast of town? We haven't heard a word concerning it lately. About a month ago, everyone we bumped into wanted the low-down on the well.

A story appearing in the Amarillo paper listed an "intention to drill" which prompted a large number of people to believe that this might be done immediately. Such hasn't proved to be the case.

The interest that area residents manifested in this announcement took us rather by surprise. After following the rigs in their wildcat drilling on the western part of the High Plains for a number of years, our enthusiasm for the possibilities of oil hereabouts has begun to wane.

But there are still a lot of people who do think that oil can—and will—be tapped in this vicinity, and appear willing to speculate on the problematics of discovery.

The nearest production from here is to the southeast at Littlefield, where we understand over a 100 wells are now pumping the black gold. The Littlefield strikes of about three or four years ago proved to be a very considerable asset to the economy of that area in spite of the fact that this was not regarded as a major development.

The finding of even a small deposit as close as seven miles to Texico-Farwell could mean a great deal to all of us, financially speaking.

So far as we know, this is the first wildcat scheduled near the sandhills to the south, which are an outward indication of a major geologic "border" below.

Looking the other direction, we notice that some production has come into southern Roosevelt County to the southwest of here. Oil may never get here, but it's getting closer by the day.

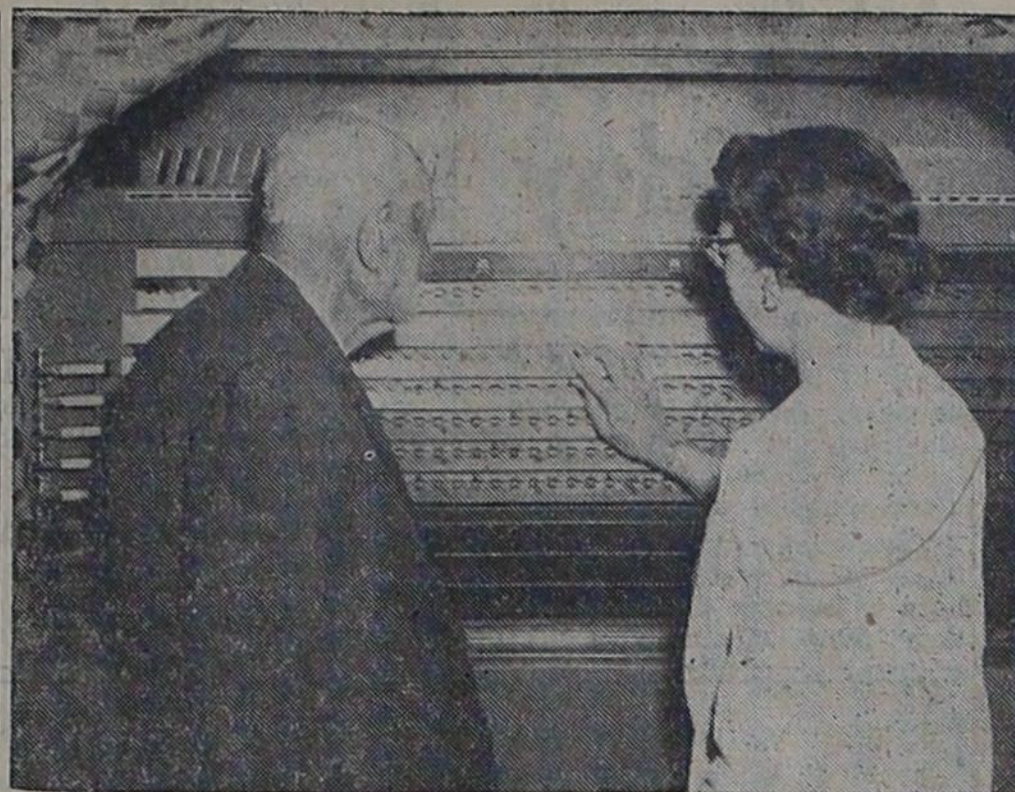

It wasn't too long ago that we deplored the appearance and living conditions of many Texas oil towns, and we still don't think we would enjoy a "boom" that would have so many features undesirable to permanent, slow-gaited residents.

But after checking over what some of that oil money in the hands of the right kind of people can do for a town such as Andrews, we have decided that maybe we could stand some of this prosperity—just a little.

Farwell's football team, which has been good all season long, is beginning to raise some eyebrows of some persons besides just local fans. Whether the Steers have what it takes to win district remains to be seen, but two wins in the conference is a good start.

Sudan, which punted Morton 27-0 while Farwell was beating Friona Friday night is going to have to be reckoned with, and statistically at least, will go into the game against Farwell next week as a favorite. (Unless Friona beats them this week, which is unlikely.)

We have been impressed with the balance shown by local boys, which is unusual for a school of this size. The offense is good, and fast, not only on the ground, but through the air. Punting is acceptable, and after-point kicking is acceptable. (Continued On Last Page)

First Street Paving Contract to Poteet

The contract for the paving of four blocks on First Street was let this week to A. O. Poteet, paving contractor from Ralls. Engineers started on the grade work last Saturday and the installing of the curb and gutter is scheduled to get underway in the near future.

The shooting of the asphalt is not scheduled until next spring. The reason for this is to avert the possibility of damage due to severe weather conditions during the winter months.

The four blocks to be paved are

Woman's Club To Sponsor Cake Walk

Announcement has been made that the Texico Woman's Club will sponsor a cake walk on Tuesday evening, November 6, about 8:30 near the City Hall in Texico.

The group will also sell Spudnuts and coffee at the City Hall all day on election day. A portion of the street will be roped off for the cake walk which will be staged while residents await election returns.

Mrs. Judge Stone, chairman of the finance committee, says club members are to bring their cakes to the City Hall about 8:30.

Cemetery Association Dinner Is November 6

The Texico Cemetery Association will sponsor its annual Thanksgiving dinner for the Association fund on Tuesday, November 6, at the old Legion Hall in Farwell.

Serving will begin as early as 10:30 and will last "until the food runs out," according to a reporter for the group. Everyone is cordially invited.

Royalty Crowned At Schools

Junior Candidates Are King and Queen At Texico Festival

Improvement of the physical plant of Texico Schools was the underlying theme of the Fall Festival, with the theme of gaiety, royalty and fun-making as the seeming purpose, Tuesday night.

Members of the Business Education Club of the school under the direction of Mrs. Agrie Jones, sponsored the festival, which provided a highly successful extra-curricular event, which in turn will afford a redecorated stage in the auditorium plus such items as dictionaries, reading desks and other supplies needed by individual classes, according to Agrie Jones, superintendent of schools.

Main attraction of the festival was the coronation of Matt Pendergrass and Wilma Walton, junior candidates, as king and queen of the high school; and of Jerrie Thigpen and Eugene Servatius, eighth graders, as prince and princess of the grades.

Other candidates who participated in the ceremony were Betty Pendergrass and Joe Glaze, seniors; Anita Moss and Kenneth Hawkins, sophomores; and Christine Bowers and Travis Taylor, freshmen.

From grade classes were: Pat Hill and Kenneth Taylor, seventh; Lynn Doshier and Carole White, sixth; Sue Walton and Terry Niece, fifth; Cynthia Spence and Jimmy Wakefield and Jo Doshier and Wayne Watts, fourth; Veda Wilson and Jerry Miles, third; Pamela Roberts and Jackie Billingsley, second; Janet Wilson and George Porter and Patricia Thompson and Gregory Burns, first.

Dick Lockhart, president of the Student Council, was master of ceremonies for the coronation.

Gross receipts for the festival were $748.79 and expenses were $90.84, leaving a net of $657.95. All (Continued on Last Page)

Election Time Drawing Near

Texico-Farwell voters will join voters all over the nation Tuesday as they take part in the general election, which will determine who will hold the top national positions.

Not only will voters help select the president and vice-president of the United States, but they will cast votes for candidates on the state, district, and local levels.

On both sides of the line, the Democratic ticket is the only one which has a complete list of names from the national to the precinct offices. However, in New Mexico, the Republican party has candidates for all state-wide offices.

On the Texas ballot, the Republican and Constitution parties have candidates for top offices and in New Mexico, the Prohibition party, Socialist Labor party, and the New Party of New Mexico have candidates for the leading positions.

Farwell voters will have little selection other than the national race, as winning in the state Democratic Primary is equivalent to election in Texas. Only one candidate is making a bid for office as a write-in. He is W. Lee O'Daniel, who finished third in the primary for governor, behind Ralph Yarborough and Price Daniel. Daniel is the Democratic nominee for that position.

For state offices in New Mexico, the governor's race heads the list. Republican candidate Edwin Mechem is trying to unseat Incumbent John Simms, democrat.

Polls in both towns are to be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Farwell voters will vote in the county courtroom while Texico citizens will vote at the city hall.

Texico Voters to Use Voting Machine

Rather than have the customary ballot for the coming general election, Texico citizens will join other cities across the state and do their voting on a voting machine. Curry County recently acquired several machines for its larger precincts.

The voting machine was installed in the city hall last week and it has been creating considerable interest among Texico citizens. Mrs. Juanita Autrey, city clerk, has been instructing voters on the operation of the new "gadget" and she asks that all citizens come by and learn to use the machine prior to election day.

If voters will go by the city hall before Tuesday, they can be shown how the machine functions and have an opportunity to go through the operation as they will on election day. However, if they wait until election day, they will be instructed only from a dummy sheet.

The new machine will be located in Texico permanently.

Pentecostal Church To Have Revival

A revival will begin at the United Pentecostal Church in Texico on Sunday, November 4, with Mrs. Margaret Gentry of Hobbs, N. M. conducting the services.

The public is invited to attend services nightly beginning at 7:45. Music and special singing will be a feature of each service, and the pastor, Rev. B. L. Barnes, extends a cordial invitation to everyone to attend this meeting which will last through November 18.

Farwell Thanksgiving Set for November 29

Poor attendance at the Farwell Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday night was responsible for a postponement of a discussion on the plans for a Farwell cemetery, which has been a subject of discussion at meetings the past few sessions.

The five attendants did decide that November 29 would be designated as the official Thanksgiving holiday for the city, however, and it was decided that the organization would sponsor the installation of Christmas lights in downtown Farwell, as they have in the past.

"OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF PARMER COUNTY"

FARWELL, TEXAS THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1956 NUMBER 4

LOOKS LIKE ADLAI IN PARMER COUNTY

By W. H. GRAHAM Jr.

Eight years ago a certain statistician named George Gallup had attained a widespread and hard-earned reputation for being able to determine, in advance, what the outcome of elections would be. He—and others—put a lot of faith in their pre-election interviews which sampled public opinion and placed a yardstick on anticipated behavior at the polls.

Life magazine even went so far in their prognostication as to publish an issue in advance of the voting with a picture of Tom Dewey, governor of New York and the Republican nominee, as "the next president of the United States."

What happened is common knowledge to almost everyone old enough to vote. Harry Truman, the old Missouri warrior, won his greatest political campaign and carried off the presidency.

For that and other reasons, anyone who samples public opinion ought to be prepared for some more than just mild surprises. Even so, it's hard to resist the temptation to speculate on anything as exciting as a national election, and for that reason, the Bovina Blade, State Line Tribune, and Friona Star cooperated in a late season survey to determine, if possible, what will be the trend of the voting Tuesday in Parmer County.

The way in which the sampling was taken was to select 25 eligible voters each from Farwell, Bovina, and Friona. They were classified as pro-Eisenhower, Stevenson, Andrews or undecided. No names have been used, and no person contacted refused to express himself or herself.

Tabulations from the 75 persons interviewed indicate an unquestionable leaning for the Democratic ticket. In fact, if the scanty statistics are projected to represent the 2200 votes in the county that are expected to be cast Tuesday, Stevenson-Kefauver will carry Parmer County by a landslide.

The Demo nominees polled 69.3% of the vote in the Parmer County sampling. Eisenhower and Nixon garnered only 28.6%. All in (Continued on last page.)

Homecoming Date Changed to Dec. 1

Annual homecoming banquet for ex-students and teachers of Farwell, West Camp, and Oklahoma Lane schools will be December 1, instead of the originally announced date of November 24, says Mrs. Bunk Phillips who is assisting her husband with plans for the affair. Phillips is president of the organization.

The social will be on Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the evening in the school cafeteria. The date for the banquet was changed after Gov. Allan Shivers proclaimed Thanksgiving in Texas for the last Thursday in November. After checking with various colleges over the area, ex-students association learned that probably more graduates would be home for the Thanksgiving holiday the latter weekend.

"We feel that more ex-students and teachers would be able to attend the banquet December 1", says Mrs. Phillips. "We only hope that the change won't keep others from attending, who would have been here otherwise."

John Lee, a former Farwell football coach who is now principal of Justin Schools, and E. W. Harper, former superintendent of Oklahoma Lane and now of Muleshoe, are to be special guests for the occasion. Mrs. Phillips says that Harper told her in a telephone conversation last week that he is looking forward to seeing his former students and friends in the area. Lee told her that if his school didn't happen to have the same holiday, he would "drive all night to be here", and is anxious to visit with old-time friends.

"If these people are willing to make such an effort to attend our banquet," Mrs. Phillips says, "the least we can do here in town, is to attend ourselves and to give them a hearty reception." She urges ev- (Continued on Last Page)

Men Lodged in County Jail

Several men are lodged in Parmer County jail this week awaiting action on charges from theft to forgery, according to Sheriff Chas. Lovelace.

Marshall Lee Edwards of Plainview has been returned here to face charges of theft on a Grand Jury indictment. He is charged with theft of a pickup.

Charlie Gilmore of Oakwood is awaiting action on a charge of forgery, with his bond set at $1000.

Sheriff Chas. Lovelace picked up Thomas Livingston on an FBI warrant Monday in Bovina, and the man is lodged in jail, until a U. S. Marshall arrives to take him in custody.

Walter Winn, who has been indicted by the Grand Jury on a forgery charge, has been apprehended in Delta, Colo., and is to be brought back here, Sheriff Lovelace says.

LADIES TO WEAR FREE CORSAGES

"Flowers for the ladies" will further enhance the pre-game air of festivity when the Sudan Hornets play hosts to the Farwell Steers Friday night, November 9, in the third conference game for the locals.

And the extra touch is all for free, compliments of Watkins Gin of Farwell, which is owned by Drew Watkins and managed by R. A. Smalts.

Watkins, in a telephone conversation with The Tribune this week, revealed that the Gin will provide free corsages for all Farwell high school girls, and all women Steer boosters who plan to attend the Farwell-Sudan game at Sudan.

The corsages, which will be white and tied with blue ribbon to signify school colors, will be distributed at the Farwell Pep Rally in the school gymnasium the afternoon preceding the game at 3 p.m.

So ladies are asked to attend the pep rally and pick up their corsages.

Steers Kick Chiefs 7-0

A stout forward wall was the key to the 7-0 victory the Farwell Steers racked up against the Friona Chiefs in a conference clash at the Farwell field Friday night. It was the second straight conference win for the Steers and the game was the first conference encounter for Friona.

A capacity crowd, composed of fans from both Friona and Farwell, viewed the contest in chilly weather, as Steer quarterback Johnny Lovelace hit end Glyn McDorman with a 13-yard pass in the second period for the game's only score. Lovelace also kicked the extra point.

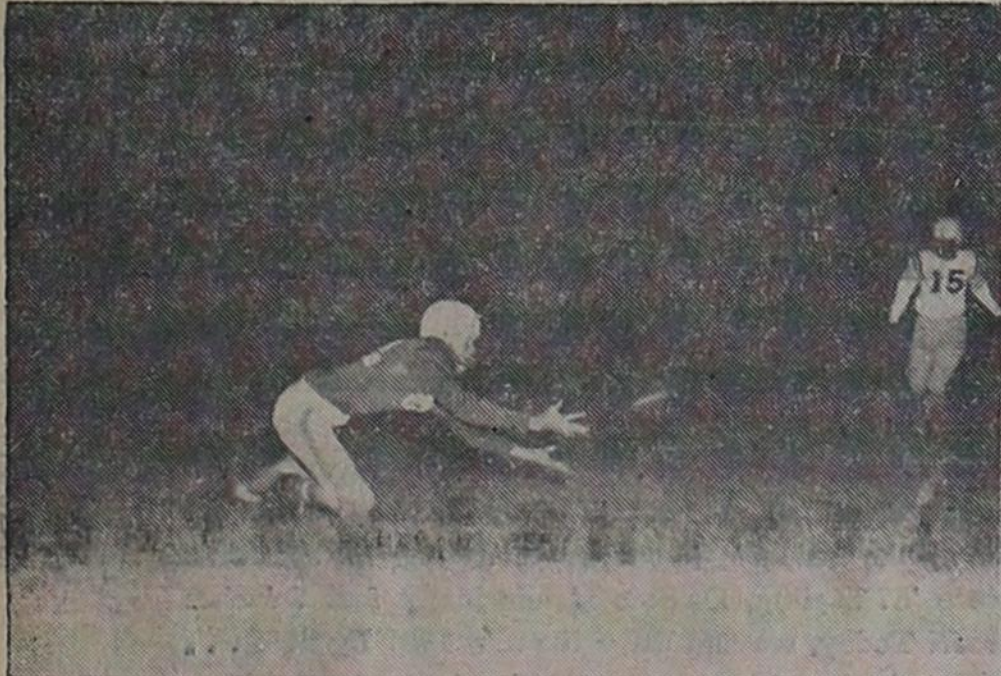

The touchdown came after pass receivers had bobbled several Lovelace passes past the Friona secondary. Farwell's defense has been rugged all year (allowing only one touchdown in seven games), but appeared to be at its best as they stopped several Chief drives inside the 20 yard line. The win was the Steers' sixth straight after battling Melrose to a 0-0 tie in the season opener. It was the Chiefs' fifth loss of the season, against two wins.

Although it was on a pass play that Farwell scored, they rolled out most of their yardage on the ground. The Steers amassed a net rushing yardage of 168 yards and 11 first downs. Their 64 yards passing gave them a total offense (Continued on Last Page)

WELL, ALMOST—Glyn McDorman kneels in an attempt to pull in a low pass in the end zone. Out of the play is Nolan Johnson. McDorman made up for this completion the very next play as he caught a pass on the other side of the field for the game's only touchdown.

NO TD HERE—David Willard bats down a pass in the Farwell-Friona game Friday night that would have meant a Friona touchdown if completed. Cheated of the ball is Joe McLellan of Friona, who is stepping across the goal line.

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

The Election

As is the case before every election, this newspaper wishes this week to express its opinions concerning the worthiness of candidates who will appear on the general election ballot Texas voters will face next Tuesday. In addition, there are other matters, including the state constitutional amendments, upon which we would like to comment.

To begin with, it is a foregone conclusion that the Democratic nominees for county and state offices, and for national congressional offices, will be elected in this predominantly-Democratic state. W. Lee O'Daniel, who won't take no for an answer and is asking for a write-in vote, won't get anywhere.

And all state and congressional Democratic nominees, save one, are acceptable to us, and will receive our vote. The single exception is John White for commissioner of agriculture. His philosophy of the relationship of government and farming are exactly opposite ours (which you will discover a little later in this editorial).

On the national scene, we are choosing Dwight Eisenhower and Richard Nixon over Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver. This choice has not been an easy one, and we have studied for this decision many weeks. Before we give our reasons, let us first say that we are one of those "screwballs," as Harry Truman once put it, who believe in putting principle above party, and in voting for the man whom we think will do the country the most good. We offer no apologies for voting a split ticket. It is an American's privilege.

If we had to choose a party label, we suppose it would be "Conservative Democrat." Our uncertainty in this respect is the result of the knowledge that technically, at least, there isn't any such animal. But in fact, the two major political parties of the United States have come to be so much alike that clear-cut choices between one type of government over another are virtually nonexistent, and the only alternative left for people of our thinking is to sub-divide within the party. Allan Shivers, Texas' greatest governor, is again publicly supporting the Republican presidential nominee, and for good reasons. There are thousands of men and women in Texas who find themselves in the same peculiar circumstance. We have not left the Democratic Party. The Democratic Party has left us.

We want to re-emphasize that the choice between the party nominees at the top of the ladder is not a clear-cut one. Both party platforms embrace what may be termed a "liberal" attitude concerning government. The difference is in degree, not direction.

In fewer than 200 years, America has veered disturbingly from the principles upon which this country was founded, and upon which this nation has risen to be the greatest in the history of man. In fewer than 200 years, freedom of the individual has been halved and government control has been multiplied ten-fold by the dreamers, who though well intentioned, would return us to the rut of stagnant, European-born socialism. The trend has been gradual, but it has been steady. If it is not soon reversed by men and women who choose opportunity above "security," then we will have already passed through our golden age and a decline in prestige and prosperity for our great America will set in. Collapse from within would be a greater calamity than collapse from without.

We were impressed last week with a statement examined by a county woman's club: "Freedom is never secure—security is never free." This brings to mind the present over-emphasis of "security" in national affairs. The great planners never remind the voters that the ultimate in "security" would be the man in prison, who never has to worry about shelter, food, or clothing. A little bit of "security," guaranteed by a benevolent government, ultimately leads to something akin to this illustration. The more we expect Uncle Sam to protect us from the realities of life, the more freedom he robs us of. A choice has to be made, and we know where we stand.

Here, in a nutshell, are the reasons we find it impossible to endorse the Democratic national ticket this year, based on the party's aims as outlined in its platform:

They want to extend social security coverage and liberalized benefits. It is impossible to broaden the program without broadening the taxes that support it. The program already provides for a tax of over 6 percent of everyone's income within a few years. Can we stand more?

The Democrats want to operate the post office as a "public service", without regard for whatever losses may be incurred as a result. Wouldn't a realistic rate schedule that would put the department on a paying basis be more sensible? After all, losses here have to be made up from general tax funds, and the effect is that many persons are taxed for the benefit of a few who use the mails to an advantage.

The Democrats want to increase the minimum wage to $1.25 per hour, and expand coverage of this regulation. Any increase in the minimum wage base always results in general wage increases because skilled laborers always expect a "spread" between their pay and the pay of unskilled or untrained workers under them. And an arbitrary forcing upward of wages has as its ultimate result another senseless spiral of higher wages-higher prices, higher wages-higher prices. Before the last steel strike, our dollar was worth only about 52 cents. It is worth less than that now, and this trend must be stopped.

Removal of exemptions from the minimum wage would sooner or later come to non-industrialized areas such as ours, and while skilled workers are worth more than that in this area, farm laborers, for example, often can't be paid that much. How would you, as a farmer, like to be told that the LEAST you could pay a cotton chopper would be $1.25 an hour?

Also on the labor front, our national Democrats ask for outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor laws, the only protection which the nation now has against the selfish interests of the now combined AF of L-CIO monopolies.

The Sherman Anti-Trust Law is comparable to the Taft-Hartley Law in that it seeks to harness the tremendous power that large groups of workers—or management—have when they gang up on the consumers.

Another serious point here is that the Democrats, if-elected, promise to repeal state "right to work" laws—a subject which hits very near home around here. Did you know that Texas is one of only a few states today which has a law that says a man doesn't have to join a labor union if the place where he wants to go to work is organized?

Both parties recommend tax cuts, but the national Dems are too careless with their promises.

THE STATE LINE TRIBUNE

W. H. GRAHAM JR., PUBLISHER

ENTERED AS SECOND CLASS MATTER AT FARWELL, TEXAS, UNDER THE ACT OF MARCH 3RD, IN 1879.

ISSUED EVERY THURSDAY

SUBSCRIPTION RATES — Farmer and adjoining Counties $3.00 per year; elsewhere $4.00 per year.

How can they increase the personal exemption from $600 to $800 without putting the national budget back into the red with deficit spending? We believe that the time to reduce taxes will be when the national debt is in hand and our children and grandchildren are not saddled with an obligation that is now over $1600 for every man, woman, and child.

Instead of getting government out of business, the Democrats at the top of the ladder are endorsing more federal power projects, such as the one on the Tennessee River, which provides low-cost power to a small area of the nation at the expense of the taxpayers who do not receive this generosity. The Hell's Canyon Dam on the Snake River was whipped in congress last year, but it, and others like it, would become reality under the guidance of top men like Stevenson.

Stevenson's ignorance of national preparedness for these uneasy times is phenomenal. We cannot give up atomic research, nor can we eliminate the draft. Yes, we would be grateful if a way could be found to stop the testing of atomic devices if it could be stopped in ALL the world, but as a matter of practicality, it can't be done. Consequently, our responsibility is to keep ahead—or at least up—with nations which might destroy us if they had the chance. The same thing goes for the draft. Nobody wants it, but what else will replace it in perilous times?

Now to the subject of agriculture—a sensitive topic in an area such as ours.

Admittedly, the farms are out of balance with the nation in an economic sense. However, it might be well to consider for a moment what brought about this unfortunate situation in which we see the man on the farm producing more than his neighbors need to eat and clothe themselves.

A truly free economy offers a competitive climate that is a harsh teacher. Since the great depression of the 1930's, the farmer has understandably sought protection from ruinously low prices. He has fallen natural victim to the planners who believe that the law of supply and demand can be repealed.

It was easy to endorse production incentives during a time of war, and the high prices and great demand caused by World War II created a "seller's market" for farmers. Their comparative prosperity in years following that conflict were a direct result of wartime conditions.

After the emergency has subsided, incentives (in the form of high price supports) were retained. The political advantage of this action was obvious, but it has had disastrous economic repercussions. The law of supply and demand cannot be long violated. It caught up with farmers and depressed markets to below-support levels. As a consequence, large amounts of the national farm product have gone into government warehouses instead of marketing channels, and the farmer has discovered that Uncle Sam is in reality a poor customer.

This newspaper endorses the principle of price supports for the protection of the farmer from disastrous declines in the market. Until such time as protection in the form of subsidies, tariffs, and other concessions are ended to other parts of the economy, it stands to reason that farmers are going to need at least this much help. However, when price supports approach the point where farming is "guaranteed" profitable, the demand for production receives an artificial stimuli that has results by now all too familiar. Farming then becomes an investor's market, and farmers suddenly find themselves competing with doctors, lawyers, and financial plungers out to make some money with their spare cash.

The soil bank should never have been necessary, but something of the kind will have to be undertaken to turn the farming picture upright once again. The time is past due for the "cure" to be administered, and the medicine of the soil bank is bitter indeed. This program, though its necessity may be argued, will result in further dislocations. Already we have heard of many instances where non-farmers are buying land from dryland owners who are throwing in the towel. These buyers are having the land paid for by the government program!

If a man catches a cold, he does not cure it by additional exposure. He curtails his activity and takes some mean-tasting medicine. That is what is happening to the nation's agriculture.

The hopeful thing about this is that agriculture does not HAVE to depend on government for its destiny. The most prosperous, most satisfied farmers in the country today are the ones who have the least government control. Farmers are going to have to help create markets for the things they produce. They are finding out that it is not practical to expect the government to do the selling job for them.

By aggressive merchandising and market development, by intensive research for new uses and more efficient means of production, farmers can assure themselves of a prosperous future. This action should be taken through commodity groups or farm organizations: government won't do it.

Now to the amendments:

No. 1—FOR. We believe anyone imprisoned through innocent is entitled to compensation upon his release and pardon.

No. 2—FOR. Would lift a needless restriction upon the authority of the commissioners' court to transfer money from one fund to another. Flexibility of local government would be improved.

No. 3—AGAINST. The permanent education funds of the state should not be speculated with. Their investment in "gilt-edge" securities provides a modest—but safe—return. Adoption of this amendment might lead to careless investments.

No. 4—FOR. Improves teacher retirement benefit. (Continued on page 11)

Steers Meet Strong Eunice Team Friday

Farwell's Steers will take a week off from their quest to capture the District 3-A football crown and play host to a strong Eunice eleven from New Mexico. The game Friday will be the final home appearance of the season for the unbeaten, once tied Steers.

Next week they go to Sudan and the following week wind up regular season play at Springlake. Both will be conference games.

Eunice has only a 4-3 record thus far this season, but they have come along strong in recent weeks. They hold wins over Lovington, Santa Rosa, Ft. Sumner, and Jal, N. M., while losing to Van Horn and Fabens, Tex., and New Mexico Military Institute. Santa Rosa was last year's Class B state champion in New Mexico.

The Eunice aggregation has already won its district and according to some observers, is a team to be reckoned with as a contender for the Class B state crown in New Mexico this year.

Other than the record, the Farwell coaches—Russell Young and Shelby Jones—do not have much information on the Eunice team. It is known that they will have a heavier team than the Steers and their offensive game will probably be mostly on the ground.

Young was well pleased with the performance of the Steers in last week's encounter with Friona, saying that they played their best game of the season. He did say, however, that while the Steers did move the ball on the ground, failure to continue their drives for a score, has been a handicap.

Work on the part of the Steers this week in practice sessions has been to improve their offense and their pass defense, Young says.

Dick Lockhart Gives Report on FFA Trip

(Editor's Note: Dick Lockhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Lockhart of Texico, wrote the following report on the National FFA convention, held recently in Kansas City. He and Raymond Hadley of the Texico chapter attended the meetings.)

Sunday afternoon, October 14, approximately 200 boys from New Mexico boarded the Santa Fe train Number 23 in Clovis and headed for the 29th annual FFA National Convention to be held at the Municipal Auditorium in Kansas City, Mo. Among these were Raymond Hadley and myself, our chapter's delegates. We were divided into groups and the state officers were group leaders. We were in the group under Red Hartgraves, the state treasurer.

We arrived in Kansas City Monday morning and loaded into cabs, which took us to our home for the next few days, the Hotel Muehlebach, one of Kansas City's finest.

At two o'clock that afternoon, we took a guided tour through the Vando factory and the Ford plant. I thought it was very interesting to watch the assembly lines in both places. That night they had the national public speaking contest. The contestants all made very interesting speeches and it was hard for the judges to decide who was best.

Tuesday morning found us attending the first session of the convention. At each session they went through the formal opening ceremonies. The secretary then read the order of the day and each business item was taken care of in the proper order. Reports for the past year were given by the national officers and national FFA band and chorus always gave a few selections. At noon, the New Mexico delegation met in front of the auditorium to take group pictures. These pictures were available to the boys at the cost of fifty cents each.

That afternoon was the second session. That night, there was a special treat in store for us. The Firestone Rubber Company put on a show that they give every year. This program consists of movie stars, singers, television stars and other nationally known entertainers, and is a very good show. The auditorium was packed and several thousand were left standing.

Wednesday morning at nine o'clock, the fourth session was held. This lasted all morning and that afternoon we toured the Armour Packing Company and the Kansas City stockyards. These were also very interesting tours. Wednesday night we attended the fifth session which also followed the same program as the other sessions.

Thursday morning the sixth and final session of the convention was held. Afterwards we went to the American Royal Livestock and Horse Show. This is one of the largest shows of its kind in the country. We then saw the Hereford building, which is the national headquarters for the American Hereford Breeders Association.

At six o'clock that evening, we loaded in cabs and went to the train station. We boarded Santa Fe train number 24 and began the long trip home. At least, it seemed like a long trip. We arrived here about three o'clock Friday afternoon, a tired, but happy bunch of boys.

I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to the Texico FFA chapter, which made this trip possible. I will remember this experience the rest of my life.

THE MIGHTY CHRYSLER FOR 1957

Here's the glamorous, low-priced 1957 Chrysler Windsor V-8

Announcing the most glamorous car in a generation!

You never looked or felt as good in anything before!

Other cars have changed models . . . this one changes motoring. Look at its rich, racy lines . . . at the long, low silhouette . . . at the dramatic upsweep of the rear fenders that plume back from the waist like the wake of a hydroplane. It's a streak of a car with the elegance of the boulevard and the spirit of the speedway.

Get into this car, drive it into traffic or out on the open highway and you enter a new domain of travel. In the 1957 Chrysler, with its new Torsion-Aire Ride, motion has a new "feel". And wait till you toe the throttle. A new Pushbutton TorqueFlite Transmission teams with a mighty airplane-type V-8 engine, developing up to 325 horsepower, to give you a new high-velocity getaway, matchless passing power when you need it.

Come in this week and visit our showrooms. See and drive the most completely new car of the year!

Torsion-Aire Ride pours the road under you!

Try Chrysler's new Torsion-Aire Ride and you'll think some of the laws of gravity, motion and inertia have been suspended in your favor. No more rock and roll. No more pitch when you stop. Chrysler's new torque rod suspension and lower center of gravity give you a brand new ground-skimming "feel" of the road. The wheels ride the contours . . . but you don't. The road just pours under you.

Ground Observers Have Weather Alert

Members of the Ground Observers were called out on an alert Monday afternoon, and within a short while after the command came through from Air Defense Command in Oklahoma City, Wilfred Quickel, post supervisor, had called members of the Corps to their posts.

John Armstrong, chief observer, and his helpers were at the observation station from 4:15 until 9 p. m. Others participating other than Quickel and Armstrong were Wilma Linder, Otis Huggins, Bill Quickel and Johnny and Jimmy Armstrong.

The alert was over the entire area, to watch weather conditions. There was nothing severe enough for a report, however.

Next meeting of the Ground Observers is to be November 8, officials say. There will not be a second meeting in the month because of the Thanksgiving holiday. Anyone who is interested in civil defense is urged to attend the meetings. "We need all the help we can get," say members.

They emphasize that members of the Air Defense Command say "it's later than you think."

Officers of the newly organized Texico Woman's Club were installed at a call meeting of the group on Sunday, October 28. The installation ceremony was held at a Clovis restaurant with Mrs. William R. White, district secretary of the New Mexico Federated Women's Club, as installing officer.

Mrs. White wore a corsage given her by the Texico club featuring red roses, the club flower, with gold and white ribbon, the club colors.

Mrs. Scott Levins, secretary, was told that "Your notes will be history, and history will make your club." Mrs. Ruby Stone, treasurer, was charged to pay all bills promptly and to work closely with the president.

A "watchdog" was the name Mrs. White gave to Mrs. B. A. Rogers as she installed her as parliamentarian. "You say when to stop and when to go, what is right and what is wrong," said Mrs. White.

The Club's musician, Mrs. Gorman Byrd, was installed by proxy, but club members were told that they should take advantage of every musical program possible. "Your Club, as you represent it in your community, will be a success or a failure in the eyes of your community" was the charge given Mrs. Tena Roth, reporter.

In closing the simple, yet impressive ceremony, Mrs. White said, "The highest reward for toil in your woman's club will not be what you get from it, but from what you become from it."

Following the installation, a short business session was held. The finance committee reported plans for a cake walk and Spudnut and coffee sale to be staged on election day.

New members voted into the club include Mrs. Jim Moss, Mrs. Avis Patterson, Mrs. Ed Weisler, Mrs. J. N. Richardson, Mrs. B. O. Faville, Mrs. Curtis Miller, Mrs. Milton Henson, Mrs. Ivil Hessler, Mrs. John Adams and Mrs.

Mrs. Agrie Jones is chairman of the committee with Mrs. Scott Levins and Mrs. Judge Stone to assist her.

Following the business session, light refreshments were served to Mesdames William R. White, Fred Danforth, Agrie Jones, Ira Levins, Judge Stone, B. A. Rogers, Charles Stockton, Ansel Doolittle and Tena Roth.

Are Guests Here In Randol Home

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Schreefer and one-month-old son, Mike, left Saturday afternoon to return to their home in Fort Worth after visiting here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Randol.

Mrs. Schreefer and son returned here with her parents about three weeks ago to visit while Schreefer was on a tour of duty with the Air Force in England. Schreefer returned here Friday morning after a two week's stay in England.

Visiting last Sunday and Monday with the Randols and Mrs. Schreefer were Mr. and Mrs. Howard LaDuke of Indianapolis, Ind. Guests in the Randol home on Thursday were Mr. and Mrs. Quilla Danniell of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Wycliff Danniell of Arizona and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Cooper of California.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Crow and children from Memphis, Tenn. arrived here Saturday for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Violet Crow; and with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. "Pop" Spurlin. The Crows plan to remain here all of this week.

Members of the white race have an average of 50,000 hairs on their heads.

Back to Work

Mrs. Durb Kittrell returned to her job as secretary for the County Extension Agents' office Monday of this week. Mrs. Kittrell had been at home for about a month recuperating from major surgery.

Miss Linda Kube, student nurse at the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, visited during the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kube.

Change Meeting Date

Variety Club will meet Friday afternoon, November 2, at the home of Mrs. L. M. Grissom in Bovina, at 1:30. The meeting was originally scheduled for Tuesday, November 6. All members are urged to attend.

Loucile Foster was visiting here a couple of weeks ago, and says she likes her work as a house mother in a college dormitory, but she admits she still likes the small town best. She is substitute mama for 197 girls at McMurry in Abilene. With that many, she says it seems that someone is sick all the time, so she is getting some experience as a nurse, too.

We talked to Estelline Billington this week, and inquired as to the condition of Rev. Dewey Horton, former Baptist pastor here. She says they are taking the stand that "no news is good news". They haven't heard from the Hortons for several weeks and feel that he must be improving. He has been very seriously ill.

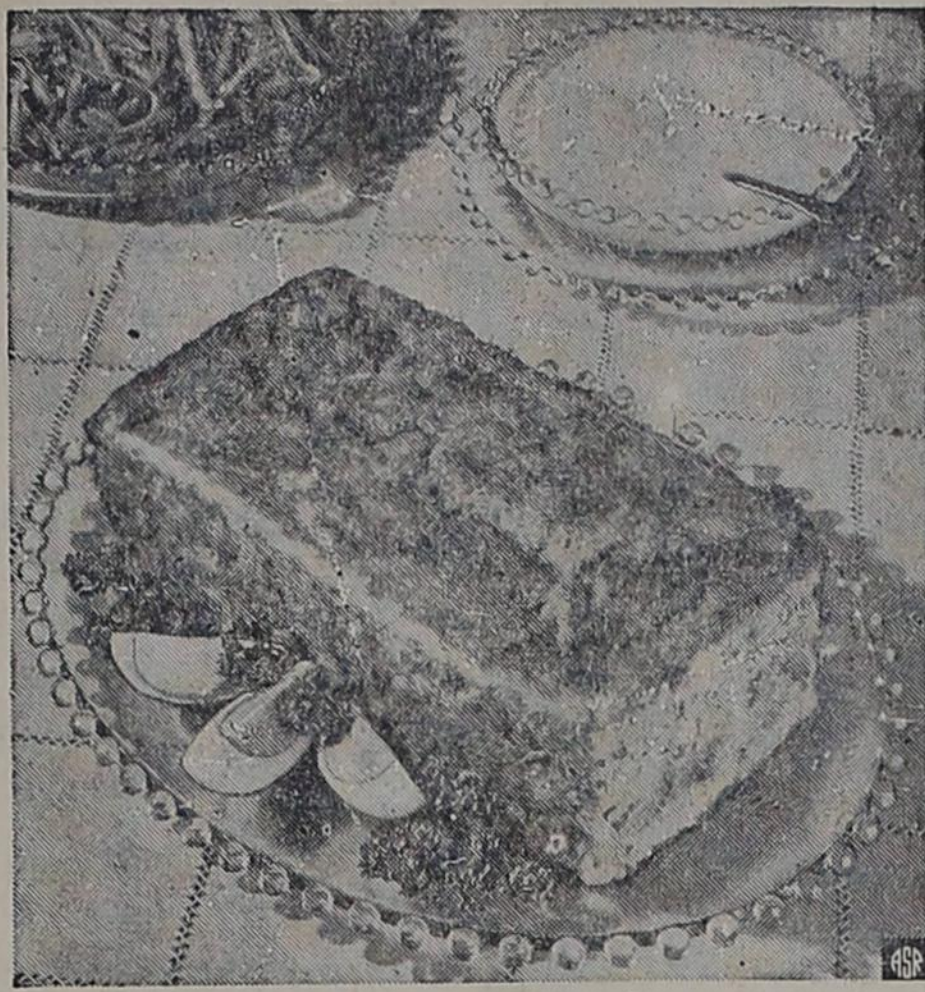

IS IMPROVING

On an inquiry from The Tribune this week, it was learned that Maude Brown, who has been seriously ill, is improving some. Family members say she is up quite a bit of the time. Mrs. Brown was in charge of Farwell School cafeteria, until her illness.

We were talking to Mrs. Kate Phillips recently, and she told us an interesting story involving the little Chihuahua dog belonging to her daughter, Elaine (Mrs. Carter Lawson).

The little dog became a frustrated mama after the death of her puppy and was so broken-hearted

Elegant Fish Loaf

A fish loaf can be smart . . . it can have food style—of course! Just look at this golden crusted one with its interesting texture! When a homemaker finds a recipe which tells her to use leftover cooked fish, for convenience sake as well as economy, she should fasten it firmly in her book of favorite and special recipes. Especially one which recommends corn flakes as a particularly flavorful extender. For while she may be confident of the nutritional value of fish loaf as a family standby, she will also discover that guests will enjoy it, in-or-out-of Lent.

Toasties Fish Loaf

- 3 cups corn flakes, finely crushed
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 2 cups flaked cooked fish*
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 1/4 cup minced onion
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon thyme
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 Dash of pepper
- 2 eggs, well beaten

Combine corn flakes and milk; let stand 10 minutes. Then add remaining ingredients, except eggs, and beat thoroughly. Fold in beaten eggs. Turn into well-greased 1-quart loaf pan and bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 1 hour. Serve with white sauce seasoned with small amount of mustard. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

*Fresh or quick-frozen cooked perch, haddock, cod, or flounder may be used. Or use canned tuna or salmon.

that her owner became disturbed. So Elaine went down the street to a neighbor's house and got a newborn kitten which she brought home to the dog.

The Chihuahua took the kitten as her own and is the most doting mama. If the old mother cat ever comes around, the dog chases her away in a rage.

Mrs. Phillips has the picture of the dog, and cat all lovey-dovey, but it wasn't quite clear enough to reproduce into a cut. We were disappointed that we couldn't include it in our column, too.

We always enjoy friendship, but we will always be just like a "little kid" on our birthday, and the kindnesses of friends just makes us bubble, on that particular day.

We may be getting up the ladder on age, but as long as we have birthdays as lovely as the one we noted last week, we'll look forward to that day once a year.

Birthday cards are so beautiful, and we read every line of every card and appreciated the thoughtfulness of the senders, along with other remembrances from our friends.

The upheaval at the Tribune office the past two weeks has been a big one, and all personnel are changing jobs so fast, no one knows who will be on what job next.

Yours truly is on the city news beat, one that we have rarely ever covered. We've been more used to the society stories. Monday of last week, our gal Friday on the Linotype, Esther Ferguson, went to bed on doctor's orders. She was at work Monday; Tuesday, she was in the hospital, so it was rather sudden. We went to work.

If you think Esther's roll was a minor one at the Tribune, consider the job of typing every line of news in the Tribune, plus the news for two other papers, in three days. That was her principal job, of course, she was energetic and didn't stop there.

Now we can Linotype — sort of. But it would take up three days to get the type set for the front page. So Richard Hapke, who has been handling the news writing, is back at the Linotype, and we are pounding the news beat.

And everyone is doing the job that needs to be done most at the moment and trying to readjust the schedule.

You can help, too, if you catch any major errors in the paper this week, just overlook them. It will be unavoidable.

And any news stories you have, please call us. We'd appreciate it.

Milton Lee Walling has been listening to his elders on the attributes of using fertilizer in progressive farming. So he innocently inquired of Edd Hardage, who sells the product, "Edd, if I feed my Shetland horse some of your fertilizer, will it make the horse grow?"

Talking with Juanita Mace the other day and she told us an amusing anecdote that happened in their family. Son Jimmy has always been a member of the Mace threesome in everything they do. Where they go, he goes, and always has.

So when Jimmy started to school, he came home heart-broken one day. Every kid in his class had a baby-sitter and he wanted one, too.

Sure enough, when Juanita explained to Jimmy what a baby-sitter was, he immediately changed his mind.

The Grahams are realizing more and more what an oddity they are. Haven't had a real conversation in weeks, that talk didn't eventually drift around to some TV program. Since we don't have TV, we don't know what they are talking about.

We've been hearing about a cer-

Some Farmers Hold Feed Grain Crop For Better Prices

This year's bountiful grain harvest has not—as yet—resulted in the tremendous rush to the elevators that the harvest of last year did. There are several reasons for this condition.

One is that the 1956 harvest has been more "spread out" than last year's, which didn't reach any more than a trickle until after a hard freeze. Another is that there is a considerable amount of grain staying on the farm this year.

Grain sorghum producers have seen their market show encouraging signs in recent weeks, and it appears to be getting stronger every day. Most area country points are now offering $1.90 or better—considerably above the lean level.

Since the continued drought has reduced ranges and feed supplies all over the Southwest to the most critical point in history, the irrigated High Plains of Texas is an "island" sitting in the midst of widespread need for feed and forage.

There is speculation that the grain market will top $2.00, but whether this will happen, naturally, awaits the hand of time. Meanwhile, transient trucks by the scores have invaded the area in the most unusual development in years.

The government emergency drought relief program has caused an unexpected outside demand for locally produced feedstuffs. With the government paying $1.50 per hundred on the cost of grain, and then paying for half of the freight in some cases, considerable milo is being trucked out to cattlemen in all directions who are buying the commodity for their foundation herds.

Some shipments are being delivered to the southern and central part of the state, some are going to the Oklahoma ranges, and some to Colorado. Other loads are heading west for points in New Mexico, Arizona, and even California. This year has seen more outside demand for the local feed than any other.

When turned loose to feed at will, a horse will eat himself to death, while a mule will eat only his fill.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

Your directors again wish to make public their standing invitation to you to attend their regular meetings. The next one is Monday night, November 5. The first Monday night of each month, about 8 o'clock, is the regular meeting night, in the Friona office.

Over ten million acres of wheatland have been placed in the soil bank for 1957, according to USDA reports. Although little Parmer County land was placed in the bank, the acreage reduction, nationally, will surely do much toward reducing the surplus, and possibly help the market for those who produce.

November 11 will find eight or ten of your members heading toward Houston to represent you in the 23rd annual Texas Farm Bureau Convention. If you can go, you will certainly be welcome, too.

The Texas Farm Bureau has asked Secretary of Agriculture Benson to permit farmers and ranchers to buy surplus feed grains from CCC at the same rates that now apply only to dealers.

"There is considerable dissatisfaction and disappointment among the farmers and ranchers regarding the administrative procedures for distributing drought relief feed grain," Hammond said in a telegram to Benson. He asked, among other things, that eligible farmers be permitted to use the certificates to buy feed grains from any source, not just certain dealers.

At present, eligible livestock producers must buy feed grain from dealers. They complain that this makes the price higher, thus nullifying some of the beneficial effects of the federal drought relief program.

The final date for signing conservation reserve contracts to begin in 1957 is March 15, 1957. This is with reference to the Soil Bank Plan. The farmer's net income is important to every industry and laborer. He buys 29 percent of all trucks; 9 percent of all passenger cars; 8 1/2 percent of all steel; 10-13 percent of all oil; 8 1/2 percent of all rubber; 5 percent of all electricity. Farmers spent $36 billion in 1955 to run farms and maintain homes. Don't sell the farmer short, whatever you do.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Do you know what soil conservation districts are and what we stand for?

We are people, working together in our communities and in our counties and in our watersheds to protect and improve this nation's most vital resources—soil and water.

We stand for local leadership in doing this job—a job that becomes more urgent every day.

As our population grows—at the rate of a quarter of a million people a month—and our cities and industries expand, we demand more from our land. And we're cutting into our good farm land for non-agricultural use at the rate of 1,000,000 acres a year. This land goes into urban developments, airports, highways, and other uses where it is lost for production of food or fiber.

Just because our land produces enough for our 170 million people in 1956 is no assurance it can provide abundantly for an expected 225 million or more by 1975 or in possible emergencies meanwhile—unless the farm land is kept in condition to produce what is needed, efficiently and economically. That means keeping our land permanently productive.

We can't afford to let our soil and water conservation "insurance" lapse. Combatting soil erosion and encouraging good land use is a job soil conservation districts can do well.

Why? Because from the very beginning, Americans have fought for a great principle—the principle that free men can govern themselves successfully. We believe in personal liberty and the dignity of the individual. We are determined that our families shall have the opportunity to live in peace and safety, without fear of compulsion.

Our government is founded on the principle that we—all of us together—have the spirit and the ability to decide for ourselves the actions we want to take together in our joint interests and common welfare. This is what we stand for.

This is a representative self-government—the best government and the best society that men and women have ever enjoyed on earth. This is the kind of government and society that offers the greatest advantages in personal liberty and the greatest opportunities for accomplishment.

This is the form, the spirit, and the practice of Soil Conservation Districts.

From—The What, Why and How of Soil Conservation Districts.

Next week we will continue what SCD's are. We hope to inform you in this way of what your Parmer County SCD can mean to you, how it can help you get your job of soil and water conservation accomplished.

Well Drilling Drop Traced to Lubbock

MULESHOE—Irrigation well drilling in Parmer County has fallen off over 70 per cent since Lubbock announced its intentions to tap Bailey County sand hills to bolster its municipal supply. The Bi-State Water Commission this week cited reports of the High Plains Underground Water Commission that show 229 wells were completed in Parmer County during the period from April to August in 1955. This year the number dropped to 62 wells completed in the same period.

"This is more than a coincidence," a commission spokesman declared. "With farmers feeling continued effects of the prolonged drought, supplemental water supplies are becoming more and more necessary. But when one city proposes to take more than twice the annual amount used by all of the Bailey County irrigation farmers in one year, folks are beginning to think twice before investing in an irrigation well. A drawdown such as that proposed by Lubbock can have drastic consequences for irrigation farmers."

The Bi-State group is continuing to exert legal means to stop the construction of the pipeline designed to carry 70 million gallons of water a day out of Bailey and Lamb counties. "We can't afford to stand idly by. The protection of our underground water resources should be personal and imperative to everyone in this area," the spokesman said.

"Everyone has a stake in this fight. If Lubbock takes all the water it wants without any opposition, other cities will turn to the sand hills for future supplies.

"And with billions of gallons of water being taken from this limited reservoir, water that it will take centuries to replace, this area is in danger of reverting to the status of dryland farming. "The economic repercussions would be astounding and perhaps fatal to the future of Parmer, Bailey, Lamb and all other counties that depend on the Ogallala formation for water supplies. A decline of more than 200 well completions in one year indicates the seriousness of the situation. That is the reason our Bi-State group is doing everything possible to protect and conserve the irrigation water resources."

Freight Rate Cut For Emergency Hay

Walter T. McKay, state director, this week says the FHA can now execute certification forms in connection with reduced freight rates recently worked out between the president and railroad representatives to further assist farmers and stockmen in drought stricken areas. This revised tariff provides for a reduction of 50 percent in the freight rate of hay forwarded to destination, and applies only in connection with hay purchases of individuals who are entitled to assistance under the hay and roughage program.

FHA is authorized to execute certificates in behalf of farmers and ranchers only, he said. Details of the program and forms required may be obtained from county offices.

October 1 Ginnings Much Greater Than 1956

Cotton ginnings up to October 1 in Parmer County were much greater this year than last, statistics compiled by the U. S. Department of Commerce show.

This year, they were 3,556, compared with only seven at the same time in 1955. Ginnings this week in the county are estimated to be in the vicinity of 15,000 bales.

Tex Says He's No Expert But He Believes Ike Is

The other night a bunch of us were sitting around in the drug store after the football game, drinking coffee and talking. You know how it is after a game in a small town, especially after the home team loses. Nearly every man in the crowd had a theory as to why we didn't win the game. Most of them, of course, blamed the coach. I couldn't help remembering that before we consolidated the county schools we didn't even have enough boys to make up a football team. And these same football experts who were saying what Rockne or Bud Wilkinson would have done, up until a few years ago they didn't know a football from a watermelon.

But that's the way it is in a small town (and in big ones, too, I understand). I guess there's no real harm done, although sometimes it's pretty rough on the coach.

I guess we have a right, in this free country, to be self-appointed experts in any line we want to pick out. It seems to me that most people choose either football or politics.

Take this presidential election coming up next Tuesday: During the last few weeks I have heard so many stories and theories from so many different political experts that I nearly get confused sometimes. I have to stop and think that the fellow who is talking probably doesn't know any more about it than I do, and that helps me keep straightened out.

In fact, I guess I have had my mind made up all along. To make no bones about it, I like Ike. He's a man you can always look up to and respect—the kind of man you'd be proud to point out to any person, from any country on the face of the globe, and say: "That's our President!"

About Adlai, now, I'm not so sure. Of course, if he was elected, he would be my President, too, and I would hope he'd do a lot better than most people around here seem to think he would. This is something I don't think we need to worry about, because from all I can hear and read, Ike is going to win it again.

It seems to me that if Adlai ever had a chance around here, he threw it away when he came out with that H-bomb business. Now, the folks in our town don't know much about H-bombs, except that they don't want any personal dealings with them. Our scientific knowledge of H-bombs is about on a par with our football knowledge, I reckon. But we do know one thing: We don't want some misguided, inexperienced fellow fooling around with our national defense. When it comes to trusting what Bulgargin says or what Eisenhower says, I'll take Ike. So will the rest of the country, if I don't miss my guess.

Just before we broke up the other night Doc Brown came into the drug store, and somebody asked him: "Hey, Doc, how's Ike doin'?" (Doc's a big Eisenhower man.) Doc said: "Well, it's a busy campaign for the medical profession. Last week Ike went and got his heart examined; and I understand that this week Adlai is going to get his head examined."

Yours truly,
Tex

"The Place Where Most People Trade" WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1956

We are sure the pioneer spirit still lives in America's young people, and we nominate the David Springs as an example. They drove from Alaska to Texas with three youngsters, age two, one, and two months, and enjoyed every day on the road.

John Lamb has been hopping around at work this week because he dropped a plow on his big toe and broke it.

We read this somewhere: If there is a stranger in your neighborhood today, better check on him, he may need a friend. If he is still a stranger tomorrow, better check on your neighborhood.

Plan to attend the Thespian play at the Friona auditorium, Saturday at eight p. m. "Superstitious Sadie" is a comedy and Miss Thaxton is the director.

Have you driven one of the 400 tractors? Call 2091 for a free demonstration. These are new tractors developed for new farming practices.

We thought, one day last week, we might have to move out of our house. There was a terrible odor at our back door. Our mother decided a big mouse or a tiny cat must have crawled into the walls between the house and garage. We endured it for a day or two and then we went out to sweep on the back porch and noticed a tiny toy coffee pot. When the lid was removed we had the mystery of the bad smell solved. That can was full of worms that had been dead too long. David was saving them for a fishing trip.

When you have trouble with your tractor, plow, binder, or irrigation motor, call the Parmer County Implement Company. If we don't have what you need, we will get it quick. We are as close as your phone.

Mr. Dub Gammon and his small daughter were in our store one day last week. Little Miss Gammon is just learning to talk English and Spanish, she hasn't made up her mind which one yet. She is about two years old.

An ingrate is a fellow who, starting to fall off a roof, prays like the dickens to be saved, and then when his pants catch on a nail, says, "Never mind, Lord, the nail did it."

Mr. Hardy May doesn't claim to be a gardener, but this year he has raised potatoes, turnips, carrots, and radishes. Mr. May has been harvesting his radishes this week with a one row machine that requires three men to operate. If all the rows of radishes he has were placed end to end they'd reach 250 miles. That's a lot of radishes!

If you are going to need a stalk shredder, call 2091 and we will be glad to bring a Servis Shredder out to your farm for a demonstration.

Twelve of Friona's high school girls were on Cotton John's television program Saturday. These girls call themselves the Treblaires and their director is Mrs. Eva Miller. After their television appearance they sang at the Amarillo U. S. O. The Treblaires have been invited back to KGNC Television for a show by themselves and they plan to go sometime in February.

If you really want to please the woman you married, on her birthday you could give her something you had made yourself. For instance—money.

The Parmer County Implement Company is anti-freeze headquarters. We buy more anti-freeze so we can sell it for less. We have I. H. Zerex, and Prestone. Ask us about our price.

A man driving a wheezy jalopy was halted by a toll-bridge keeper who said, "Fifty Cents." The man jumped out of the car and said "sold." If you have a car you'd like "sold" bring it by and we will trade you a better one.

Mr. and Mrs. James Boyles left the first of the week for a vacation in the Northwest. They will visit with friends and relatives and plan to spend a while with their daughter, Julie, and her family in Oregon. They will be gone about a month.

The new Oldsmobile will be here on Nov. 9. We hope we can trade the pickup we have been driving for one of the beautiful new Oldsmobiles. We may have trouble, though, the boys are real fond of the old pickup and John Bill asked the other day why we couldn't have a new Oldsmobile pickup.

P. S.—We do have some of the world's finest pickups for sale—the new Internationals.

Our neighbors, the Hank Outlands, have moved to the country. They live in the house on the Seamount ranch, east of town. Mr. and Mrs. John Gaede will soon move into their house where the Outlands used to live.

Harvest time is a good time to replace those worn tires you've been worrying about. Why not trade them in on some Goodyear tires? More people ride on Goodyear tires than any other kind.

Nov. 6 is election day. Some nations levy a fine on all non-voters. Some nations have laws forcing one to vote. Keep America a democracy and exercise your voting privilege.

For better, quicker service and parts, call 2091 or 2201. Night phones are 5121 and 3051.

THE PARMER FARMER

Combines remind of another harvest hazard that will take its toll, and that is the presence on our highways of old, improperly marked trucks and machines, or those which are in the hands of untrained operators.

The other morning we had to hit the ditch in a hurry to keep from running over a bob-tail truck pulling two cotton trailers. The driver pulled across the highway right in front of us, even though we were only a few hundred feet away and were driving at the maximum speed limit.

As we whizzed past, we murmured to ourselves how fortunate we were to avoid an accident, but could not help but notice that the driver of the truck was an aged Latin American laborer. Chances are he scarcely knew how to shift gears, let alone drive the truck correctly.

The farmer who turned such a weapon of destruction over to this untrained man was endangering public safety.

Information from the Department of Commerce indicates that cotton production in the United States will jump more than a million bales this year, compared with 1955. Almost half of that increase is expected to come from Texas.

Our state still doubles the production of any other state in upland cotton. We figure to gin 2,346,362 bales this year. Mississippi is looking for 1,260,318 bales. No other state is expected to top 1,000,000 bales, but Arkansas's will come close to that.

California's production, in case you're interested in "trend" states, will be about 200,000 bales, New Mexico's 120,000, and Arizona's 212,000. An amazing increase is expected in the latter two states. Last year, they ginned only 50,500 and 130,000, respectively.

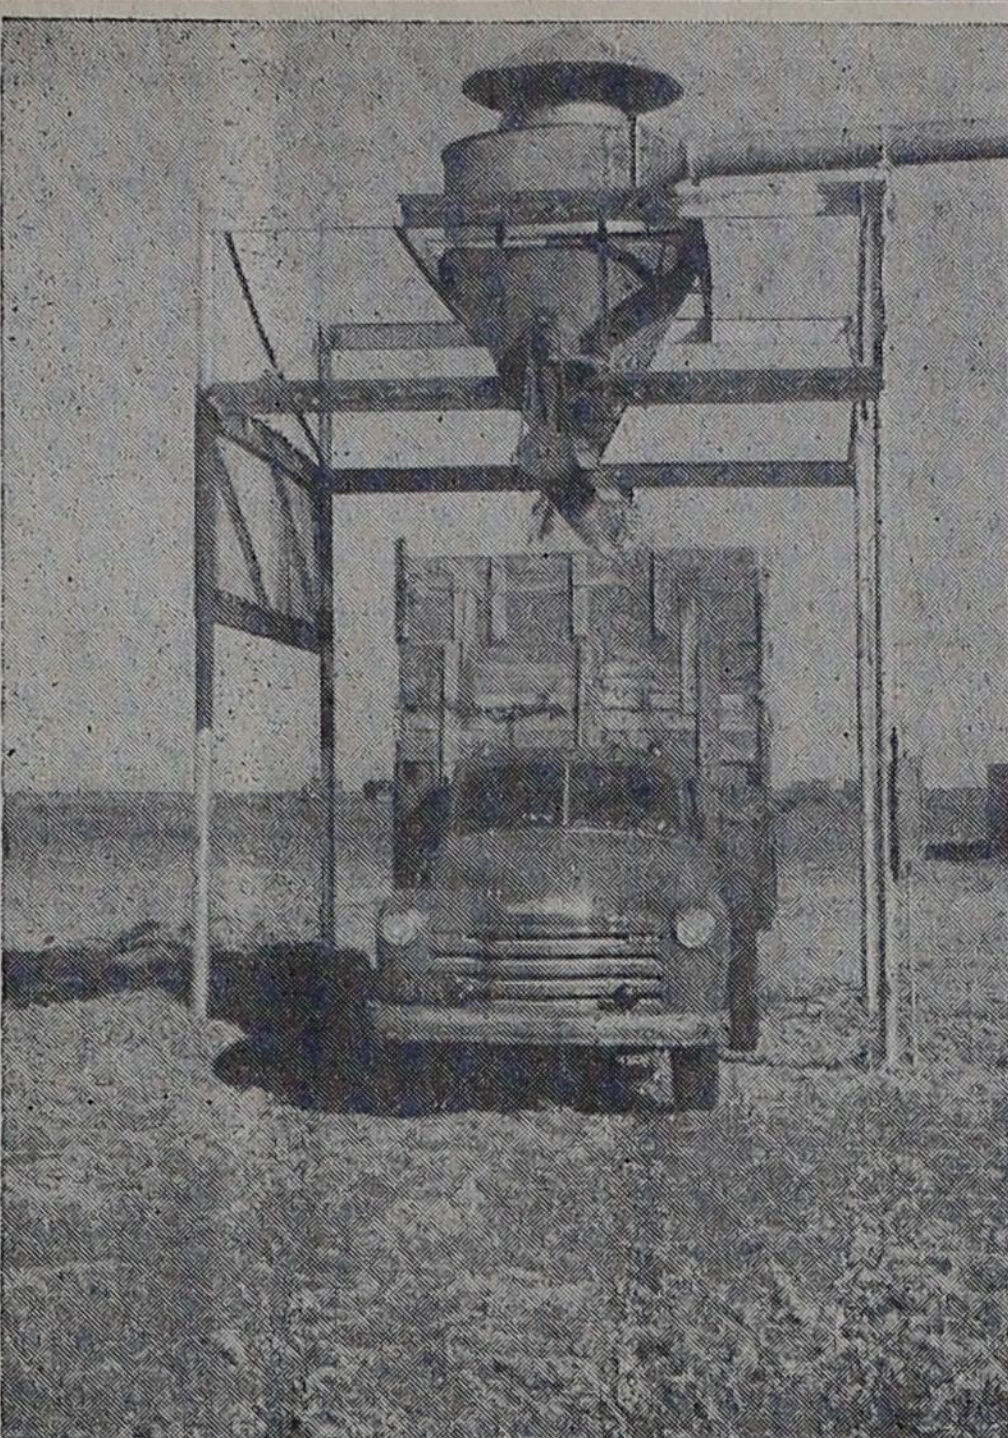

Tuesday is "it" day for the American farmer. There may have once been a time when the independent farmer of this country could sit back and watch the world go by without giving a tinker's dam what goes on in Washington, but that certainly isn't true today.

A farmer of today knows that his relationship with Uncle Sam often has more to do with how he fares than do the timeless elements of weather, insects, and disease.

We hope farmers have given a lot of thought to the issues of the day, and will be prepared to cast an intelligent ballot Tuesday.

Mexican jumping beans pump because of the larva of a moth which is inside.

Toboggan sleds were invented by American Indians.

NO LONGER WASTED—Pulled cotton goes through the front of gins, and often the burrs are burned as they emerge out the back after ginning. However, that practice is becoming less common, and a more familiar sight today is to see trucks lined up to receive the burrs like this one.

Lowly Cotton Burr Finally Has Future

The lowly cotton burr, a "waste product" of the cotton industry, is finally coming into its own. Like other industrial by-products, the burrs are being put to good use by the ingenuity of man.

Today, there are two principal demands for the burrs in the cotton producing regions of the High Plains. Both of them are fairly new in origin.

The cattle feeder and the farmer are now competitors of a sort for this once valueless by-product. The cattleman has found in recent years that the burrs can be useful in feeding operations. Although their nutritional value is low, they make good filler, and when used in a carefully planned diet, can even be made palatable to cattle.

Another demand for the burrs is a "recalling" of them to the place where they originated: the farmers' land. Application of pulverized burrs to the field has produced some very interesting results, and as research in soil conditioning progresses, an increasing importance is being attached to the use of this cotton by-product.

Tests at the Lubbock Experiment Station provide some figures for Parmer County cotton growers to contemplate. Check plots were used for three years, with applications of burrs ranging from zero to six tons per acre.

In 1953, untreated land yielded

379 pounds of lint per acre. Two tons brought the yield up to 422 pounds, 421 pounds were obtained with four tons, and six tons resulted in a 453 pound yield.

The untreated land produced 449 pounds in 1954, while two tons made 537 pounds, four tons 490, and six tons 555. In 1955, yields were 645, 821, 1017, and 1143, respectively.

Averages for the three-year period: zero, 491; two tons, 593; four tons, 643; and six tons, 717. On this basis, the increase amounted to $12.30 per ton for the two-ton application, $8.62 for the four-ton, and $8.30 for the six-ton.

These figures were arrived at by estimating the burr cost at $3 a ton, and the cotton to be worth 30 cents.

Water applied in 1953 totaled 16 inches. In 1954 it was 18 inches, and in 1955 the amount was 30 inches.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

If your husband isn't pleased with the taste of the venison or elk meat you have prepared for his dinner, don't feel too badly about it. It just may be that the manner in which the hunter took care of the animal he killed has caused the meat to have an undesirable taste.

According to the experts the important thing is proper preparation of the meat for cooking. They advise skinning the animal carefully just as soon as possible after the killing. The animal should then have the entrails removed and be cooled overnight before cutting up.

Do you have difficulty making fudge that isn't too sugary? If so, here is a recipe you might want to try. It is really failure proof and takes less than ten minutes to make. Since cold weather is traditionally the candy making season, you may want to make some for the holiday season, which isn't too far away.

CHOCOLATE MINT FUDGE

Combine 2 tablespoons butter, 1 small can evaporated milk, 1 2/3 cups sugar and few grains of salt in heavy saucepan over medium heat. Bring to a boil, then cook five minutes, stirring constantly. (Start timing when mixture starts to bubble around the edges of the pan.)

Remove from heat. Stir in 16 diced marshmallows, 1 six-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate chips, 1/2 cup chopped nuts and 1/2 teaspoon peppermint extract. Stir vigorously for 1 minute or until marshmallows are completely melted and blended.

Pour into 9-inch square buttered dish and allow to cool. Cut into squares. Top each square with a colored mint wafer if you want to make the fudge extra festive.

Read somewhere a few days ago that there were only 49 more shopping days left until Christmas. If you haven't already started the hand made articles you plan to make for Christmas gifts, now is the time to get out your materials and get started. Getting started is really half the battle. Once you get something started, you will be so interested in getting it finished that it will be difficult to stop.

Regardless of what you may have heard, it is perfectly legal to split your ticket if you want to, just as it is legal to vote the Democratic ticket straight. The purpose of the ballot is to determine what the people want. And if you want to vote for Eisenhower and Nixon — then cast the rest of your ballot for the Democratic nominees — that is your privilege. Don't let anyone tell you otherwise! BY LAW YOUR VOTE MUST BE COUNTED.

sive gain of 250 yards. Fullback Tommy Lovelace was the big gun for the Steers, powering his way to 117 yards in 22 carries, to roll up more rushing yardage than the entire Friona backfield. The Chiefs garnered 98 yards on the ground, plus 70 via the air lanes, for a total offensive gain of 168 yards. Larry Fairchild was the big offensive thrust for the Chiefs, as he accumulated half of his team's rushing yardage. Charles Hough was the man on the throwing end of Friona's pass completions.

Farwell took the opening kickoff, and being unable to move the ball, was forced to punt. Friona took over, and they too failed to move downfield. That was the way the game went during the initial period, except for one time when Friona recovered a Steer fumble on the Farwell 21. The Chiefs moved to a first down on the 10, but were finally stopped on downs at the 2.

The Steers started to move the ball in the second quarter, but fumbles in the backfield and miscues on the part of pass receivers halted each drive until the touchdown pass late in the quarter.

In the second half, both teams had drives underway, only to have them halted by fumbles and top-notch defensive play. Weldon Fairchild returned a Farwell punt to the Steer 10 yard line midway through the third period, but the Chiefs were held to a minus one yard for four downs from that point.

Late in the same period the Chiefs recovered a fumble on the Steer 20. Once again, though, the Steer forward wall stopped the Chiefs on four downs, this time with a minus two yards.

In the fourth period, Friona almost broke the ice with Quarterback Hough hitting Joe McLellan with an aerial good for 45 yards. McLellan, in the clear, lost his balance just after crossing the midfield stripe, with David Willard, Steer secondary man, about to overtake him.

Farwell stopped that drive by taking over on downs on the 30. The Blue and White then moved the ball to the 45, but lost it to the

Work Starts on Sewer Cleaning

Cleaning of Farwell's sewer disposal plant and lines got underway on Monday of this week with Southwestern Pipeline and Sewer Cleaners of Floydada doing the work.

Cleaning of the plant started Monday and work is scheduled to end the latter part of this week with the cleaning of 800 feet of line, says Wilfred Quickel, city clerk.

The Floydada contractor also received the contract for installation of sewer lines in the Tharp Industrial addition, but obtaining a property easement is holding up the work on the project, Quickel says.

Chiefs on a fumble.

In the waning minutes of the game, Friona started to threaten by turning to the air. Two passes were good for 20 yards, then a 15 yard penalty against the Steers for holding, moved the ball into Farwell territory. The Steers then broke up several of their pass plays and took over on the 39.

The Steers were moving the ball at midfield as the game ended.

formation was obtained the first of the week, and nearly everyone questioned seemed to have his mind made up. Fence-jumping at this late date is not expected.

Both Friona and Bovina handed the Republican nominees sweeping defeats in the pre-election straw poll, but Farwell cast a majority of votes for Eisenhower. This oddity is hard to account for, but it is something that pops up frequently in this county.

In the primary, for example, Friona went moderately in favor of Daniel, Farwell went heavily in his favor, and Bovina swung to Yarrowborough. Parmer County has a political makeup that is unpredictable.

Here's the way Parmer County voters have expressed themselves. They are listed by occupations:

Homecoming Banquet Changed to Dec. 1

Everyone who is a former student or teacher to make plans now to attend the banquet.

Also on the program will be musical numbers from various members of the ex-students association.

Other officers of the exes are Don Williams, vice-president; and Mrs. Dot Christian, secretary-treasurer. The officers have made a new mailing list, attempting to include all exes whose names and addresses are available. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of former students and teachers, who might not be included in the list, is asked to contact Mrs. Phillips soon.

Also, anyone wishing to have a mailing list of his former classmates may send 50c to Mrs. Phillips and she will mail the list to the purchaser. The association is low on funds and a way to add money to the treasury, is needed. Tickets to the banquet will run $1.50 and membership dues are 50c.

The remainder of the money ($163.16) is to be used to give the auditorium stage a much-needed face-lifting, say school officials. There is a possibility that other classes or groups will see fit to donate part of their proceeds to further redecorate the stage.
