Steel Framework Up For Farwell Stadium

Steel framework was completed yesterday (Tuesday) for Farwell School's new 1200-seat stadium. Located at the football field west of the campus, the new stadium is being erected at a cost of around $5000.

When completed, it will afford Farwell sports fans with the first permanent athletic stadium in the school's history.

Concrete foundations for the structure had been completed by school employees some time ago, as Central Iron Works of Waco, contractors, were scheduled to have the steel framework completed by Aug. 15.

However, the war situation delayed the steel and it did not arrive here until last week.

Ben Hardin, foreman of the 5-man erection crew, said very little difficulty was encountered in bolting the steel to the foundation, and the work was done within two days. He considered the work done by school employees as "way above the average."

Revenue for the stadium was secured by the sale of season athletic tickets to Farwell businessmen. Jack McManigal was chairman of this successful campaign. The businessmen will in turn re-sale the ducats. The bleachers are arranged on both sides of the field. About 650 seats will be on the west or "home" side, and 550 will rest across field on the east side. Both sections are 60 feet long.

First game for the Steers on the home field with the new stadium will be with Dimmitt Sept. 29.

Business Leader With Great War Record Tells How Hadacol Has Rebuilt Him Physically

Was run-down, weak, after service in South Pacific due to deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin

Mr. Donald Hedburg, who resides at 1812 Parker in the fashionable Riverside District of Wichita, Kansas, has been an up-and-coming executive member of the staff of the great Wichita Eagle newspaper for over four years.

Mr. Hedburg has an enviable record of combat with the U. S. Army in the South Pacific in World War II. He is very active in civic affairs. And just as he was anxious to pitch in and do a job during the war—he now wants to help his fellow citizens who (like he was once), are physically run-down and weak due to lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron, and Niacin in their systems.

Here is Donald W. Hedburg's witnessed statement: "When I returned from service, I faced the problem of rebuilding myself physically. I was in a general run-down condition.

"In my present capacity of advertising salesman for Kansas' greatest newspaper, The Wichita Eagle, it's absolutely necessary that I have plenty of vitality—'get up and go.' I had real cause to worry. Nothing seemed to rebuild me constitutionally. Then a friend of mine on the national staff told me about HADACOL—he asked me to try at least five bottles. I'm on my fourth bottle and already I feel like my old self. I look forward to a day's work and go home—play with the children—work in the yard—fish until midnight! Thanks again to HADACOL, energy and vitality once again course through every fiber of my body. You bet, I too, am now a missionary for this great new HADACOL."

Get That Wonderful HADACOL Feeling Everyone is Talking About

HADACOL gives such wonderful results because it not only supplies deficient, weak run-down systems with more than their daily needs of important Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron, and Niacin—but also helpful amounts of precious Calcium, Phosphorus and Manganese—elements so vital to help maintain good health and physical fitness.

If you are a victim of neuritis pains, certain stomach and nervous disturbances, constipation, insomnia or a weak, run-down condition due to such deficiencies, HADACOL will start you on the road to feeling better often within a few days. Thousands upon thousands of records of grateful men, women and children proved this to be so.

Many Doctors Recommend It
HADACOL is recommended by many doctors not only to their patients but to members of their own families who have such deficiencies. Before giving up hope—you owe it to yourself to at least give HADACOL a chance to help you. Why keep dragging yourself around feeling "half-alive" when it's so easy to have that wonderful HADACOL feeling that everyone is talking about! Trial-size bottle, only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. Refuse substitutes.

Blue And Gold Motif Featured At Banquet

The official colors of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, blue and gold, were featured in beautiful decorations in the Friona Church Fellowship Hall, the past Thursday evening, when the local MYF played host to the "Shining Light" sub-district banquet.

Some fifty persons were seated at the lovely tables, on which low bowls carried flowers of yellow and white, with a blue taper centering each bouquet. Crepe paper streamers also were furnished to further the motif, and the two lights burning, other than the candles, were covered with blue and gold paper.

Jimmie Burgess of the Earth delegation served as toastmaster for the evening, presenting the various numbers. Clara Derrick of Bovina offered a vocal solo, Vera Ann Jones of the Friona church read, and the principal talk of the evening was given by Mrs. Parish of Earth.

She chose as her subject, "Christ Above All" which was the theme of the evening meeting.

Representatives were on hand from the Bovina, Earth, Muleshoe, Progress, Oklahoma Lane, and Friona Methodist Churches, with the AL aggregation being the only one in the sub-district not represented.

Signing the guest register were Rev. Oscar Bruce, Mrs. John Wilson, Mrs. Earl Derrick, Clara Derrick, Mack Charles, Buck Duncan, Caroline Wilson, Jerry Ellison, all of Bovina; Rev. and Mrs. A. D. Moore, Merrill Rundell, Mrs. M. C. McDorin, and Johnnie White, Oklahoma Lane; Jo Ann Hill, Dan Thompson, Bill Thompson, Jon Ann Thompson, Rev. C. M. Jones, John Thompson, Jo Ann Darley, Sue Atkinson, Troy Atkinson, Charline Bass, all of Progress; Jimmy Burgess, Donald Bock, Billy McMaster, Bobbie Cearley, Yvonne Newton, Mrs. Elsie Bock, Mrs. Parish, all of Earth; Keith Bray, Frances Tate, Bobbie Collins, and Bill Barber, all of Muleshoe; Junior Fulks, Mariee London, Rev. and Mrs. James E. Tidwell, Ruby Shaffer, Ray Nell Foster, Billy Joe Mercer, Tommie Jones, Billy Ray Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Osborn, Vera Ann Jones, and Lois Norwood, Friona.

Girl Scout Camp Starts On Monday

Daily classes for Friona Girl Scouts began Monday of this week, to continue through Friday evening, when a special campfire program will be given with mothers of the Scouts as guests.

Mrs. Frank Spring, one of the workers for the summer day camp, said on Monday that the purpose of the school was to give special Scout work on outdoor and nature work, with the classes being held at the annex of the Methodist Church. Registration was conducted Monday afternoon.

One of the special visitors will be Marilyn Chancey of Clovis, field executive for Girl Scout work in this area. Miss Chancey visited in Friona during the weekend for instruction work with the group handling the day school and will make a visit to the camp Wednesday, it was reported.

Workers at the school include Mrs. Ralph Wilson, director; and Mesdames Bill Stewart, Sloan Osborn, Frank Spring, Dan Ethridge, Welton Dixon, Richard London, Mack Bainum, Guy Latta, J. G. McFarland, Ralph Miller, and Russell O' Brian.

Dinner Held Thursday In E. R. Day Home

Miss Tila Rue Day was honored with a combination birthday and farewell dinner the past Thursday night in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Day, in Friona.

Guests at the dinner included Misses Rose Williams, Patsy Cobb, Wanda Robason and Tila Rue Day; L. A. Jones, Jack London, Jimmy Hughes, and Dean Hall.

Miss Day left Saturday for Amarillo, where she enrolled at Northwest Texas Hospital for nurse's training. She was accompanied to Amarillo by her mother, Mrs. E. R. Day, and Judy Crume, who returned to their homes here in the afternoon.

TO RECEIVE DEGREE

J. T. Gee, popular member of the Friona school faculty who has supervised vocational agriculture work for several years, is to receive his Master's degree at graduation services to be held at Texas Technological College in Lubbock tonight (Wednesday). Mrs. Gee and family will accompany him to Lubbock for the exercises.

School Opening Nears, Faculty List Short

Definite date for registration at the Friona public schools will be announced the latter part of this week, Supt. Dalton Cafey said on Monday, adding that "it will either be September 1st or 4th". Cafey explained that he was forced to hold up announcement of the opening of school due to construction work currently in the final stages of the grade building, "and I should know by Wednesday or Thursday of this week when we can get started."

In the meantime, the school head left on Monday for Denton, where he hoped to fill two vacancies remaining in the grade school faculty list of the school. Otherwise—unless last-minute resignations are received—the list is complete at this time, he added.

Some 525 students received schooling at Friona during the past year, and Supt. Cafey on Monday indicated that he expected a like number, or possibly a few more, during the 1950-51 term; with a heavy enrollment being anticipated in the primary grades.

Teachers currently on the faculty roster include Mrs. Wayne Stark and Mrs. John Bengner, first grade; Mrs. Davis, formerly of Deaf Smith County, and Mrs. Pearson, of Canyon, newcomers, second grade; Miss Hanson, of Melvin, Tex., third; Mrs. Willie Jones, of Black, and Mrs. W. L. Edelman, fourth; Mrs. Nolte, Mr. Keel and Mr. Hillis, departmental work in fifth, sixth and seventh; Mrs. Cecil Robason, eighth; D. M. Kelly, grade school principal;

Vernon Smith, commercial; J. T. Gee, vocational agriculture; Cecil Robason, mathematics; Glenn Cunningham, music; Mrs. Dalton Cafey, science; Gene Tyre, social science; Mrs. H. T. Carr, English; Raymond Cook, athletic director; and Mrs. Baker, home economics. All faculty members hold degrees, Cafey added.

In addition to regular work, a special class for exceptional children will be conducted this year, under the direction of Mrs. Vernon Smith.

Greenbugs Prevalent In Local Feed Crops

A good crop of greenbugs appears due to be harvested along with the 1950 row crops in the Friona section, according to reports from farmers over the area, a number of whom are considering spraying as a possible means of eradicating the heavy infestation of the bugs.

Although men who customarily raise row crops report "we always have greenbugs", they do admit that the current infestation seems unusually heavy. Some farmers, producing feedcrops this year due to the fact that the feed crop expired under drought, are considerably worried about the presence of the pests.

Commercial spraying may be the answer, it is believed, and it is quite likely that a number of fields in the area will get the treatment.

Good Crowds Attend Baptist Revival

Good crowds are attending the summer revival series of the Friona Baptist Church, which is being held in a tent on the church property, with Rev. W. C. Carpenter, of Raton, N. M., as the visiting evangelist.

Rev. T. B. Allen, local pastor, said on Monday that the series would continue through Friday evening, and issued all residents of the area a cordial invitation to hear Rev. Carpenter during his visit here.

Hospital Boiler Gets Overhaul

The boiler of the Friona hospital, which furnishes steam heat for the entire hospital unit was overgoing repairs and changes the first of the week, Ralph Roden, manager, said today.

New burners are being installed, safety pilot lights will be added, and a new thermostat unit will also be added.

Leave On Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Collier and children, Darrell and Rita, left Saturday night on a week-long vacation trip. They planned to visit in Dallas, (Continued on Following Page)

Six New Buses Added To Friona School

Six new buses—one Chevrolet, one GM, and four Fords—will be on the routes for the Friona school during the 1950-51 term, Supt. Dalton Caffey said today, replacing an equal number of vehicles which have been in service at the school for some years.

One of the buses will be a small panel job with a seating capacity of nine; another panel will seat 16; two of the buses will handle 36 passengers; one will carry 42 and the largest will handle 48, the school official added.

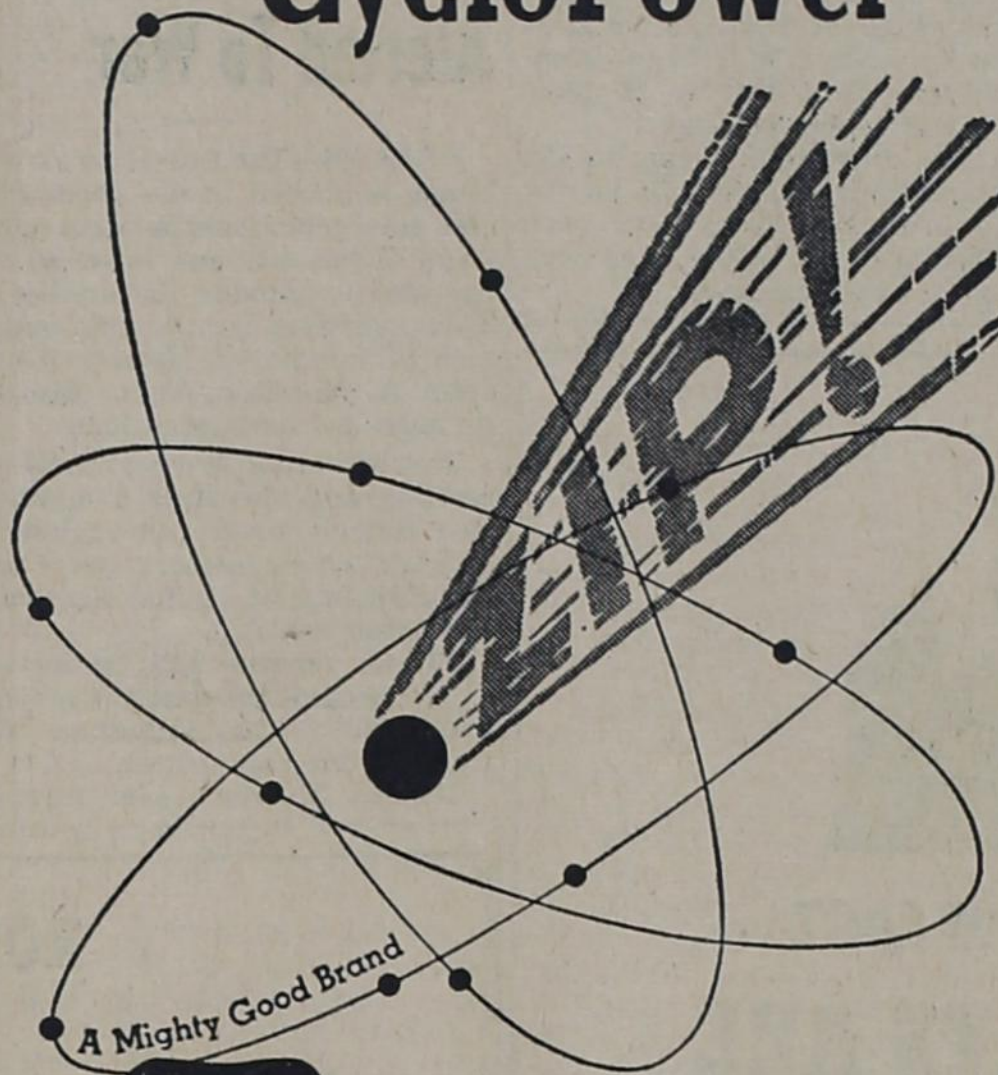

Three of the later model buses belonging to the school will remain in operation, Supt. Caffey said the early part of the week. All new vehicles are expected to be on hand and ready to roll for the first day of the 1950-51 term, Caffey concluded.

Twenty-five years ago only about one-fifth of the agricultural income in Texas came from the sale of livestock, while today more than 45 percent comes from that source.

1950 Cotton Loan Rate Announced By PMA Office

The Production and Marketing Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture this week announced that the average loan rate for middling 15-16-inch white and extra white upland cotton produced in 1950 will be 29.45 cents per pound, gross weight.

This rate is 90 percent of parity price of cotton as of Aug. 1, 1950. Last year the average loan rate was 29.43 cents per pound.

B. F. Vance, chairman of state PMA committee, advises that loan rates will vary according to location. Rates will vary from a high of 30.23 cents per pound in the concentrated mill area of the Carolinas to a low of 28.68 cents per pound in Arizona and California.

Vance says that loan rates for Texas have not yet been announced but should be available in the near future. Loans will be made on cotton represented by warehouse receipts issued by warehouses approved by CCC and on farm-stored cotton stored in structures approved by county PMA.

Cotton producers' notes will bear interest at the rate of 3 percent per annum and will mature July 31, 1951, but will be called on demand. Loans will be available through April 30, 1951.

Additional information and instructions relating to the cotton loan program will be available through the county PMA offices.

Texico Faculty Meets First Time Monday

The first faculty meeting for instructors in Texico Schools for the coming year will be Friday at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, says Agrie Jones, superintendent.

The full quota of teachers for the year has been hired, he states. U. V. Scott, who has taught at Pleasant Hill for the past two years, will instruct the fifth grade. He received his degree from Highlands University in Las Vegas, N. M. The Scotts already have moved to Texico, and are living in the N. W. Peyton home.

Registration for Texico schools, as announced earlier, will begin Monday morning from 8:45 to 12 noon. Classes will begin Tuesday.

Workmen have been preparing the school buildings and grounds for the coming term. All floors have been refinished and new sashes have been installed on the windows.

A new ceiling and inside walls have been placed in the music room. Supt. Jones went after more war surplus materials Friday which were given to the school. Materials received included a heavy floor sander in good running condition, several hundred bolts, a teacher's desk and chair, 200 feet of fire hose, and various other items.

Work is continuing on buildings and grounds. An outdoor play court to be used for tennis, basketball, and other sports, is being constructed with a concrete floor. Workmen are covering up the old agriculture shop foundation which was partly floored for the court.

They plan to complete the play court by time school begins.

"Besides making the old foundation useful," says Jones, "we are removing an ugly eyesore."

The lawns have been mowed and the masonry on the front of the buildings has been painted, Jones states.

Salvation Army Alerted To War

DALLAS—The Salvation Army in Texas is alerted to the needs of the war emergency, and is organizing in every Texas city and town where it operates to provide its familiar Red Shield services for the men and women of the armed forces, Lt. Col. John A. Morrison, Texas divisional commander, announced today.

The Salvation Army already is financing and operating a number of Red Shield clubs throughout the country which formerly were under the direction of United Service Organizations (USO).

"These centers will be increased as the need of the military personnel demands," The Salvation Army Commander announced.

Colonel Morrison said that some thought has already been given by the Salvation Army to a national campaign to raise money for the servicemen's clubs, either through Community Chests, or as an independent campaign.

"This will not be necessary," he said, "if USO is reactivated." He pointed out that USO is still a legal corporation and can be reactivated by the president, if and when the need arises. In that event, the Salvation Army would transfer the interim services which it is now mapping into the USO of which it is an integral part.

Santa Fe Movements Heavy Through Here

Local Santa Fe officials said today that train movements through Texico-Farwell the past few weeks have been the heaviest experienced since shortly after the close of World War II.

An average of forty freight and passenger trains per day have been cleared through the local station for the past few weeks, with most of the freight hauls being made up of 80 to 110 cars.

Passenger traffic has maintained the usual schedule, with most of the trains being made up of increased coaches, express cars, and Pullmans.

Asked what was being hauled on the freights, one official here replied tersely, "Everything." He went on to add that military movements were responsible for some of the increased traffic, but for the most part, shipments consist of farm implements, automobiles, and perishable products from the west coast.

If all the trucks in the U. S. were lined up, a story says, they would reach more than once around the world. And oh, the things their drivers would shout at the guy in front.

'Aunt Flo' Is Living In Home of Her Own Design

(Editor's note: Panhandle people are always interested in the life stories of pioneer residents. One of the reasons this is true is because the old-timers always have been through unique experiences when the country was "wild and woolly." Such a pioneer is "Aunt Flo" Hall, who, although 90 years old, feels young enough to design her own home. Here Aunt Flo tells her story to Jeanne Dudley, Tribune staff writer.)

NOT TOO OLD TO DRAW HER OWN PLAN—This is the home that "Aunt Flo" Hall, 90, drew plans for. She can be seen near the front door on the porch. Aunt Flo is a pioneer resident of the Panhandle, and lives in the home with her nephew, Perry Looney, near Bovina.

"AUNT FLO" HALL

"One thing that made me like big rooms and closets in a house was because I was born in a big house," says 90-year-old "Aunt Flo" Hall, of the room arrangement of the home for which she drew the plans recently completed at Bovina.

Discussing the home in which she was born in 1860 near Madison, Ohio, Aunt Flo relates that it was a log house, but not the kind one sees in Texas. It was constructed of perfectly square logs that fit together like 2x4 boards.

The room in which she was born was 16x15 (the man who built the house had 22 children). The fireplace took four-foot logs. The two-story home with a two-story porch was all hewn logs which were weather-boarded on the outside and sealed on the inside.

Aunt Flo was 17 years old when the family moved to Texas. She, her parents, and seven brothers and sisters, left Ohio in September, 1877, and traveled all the way by train. Asked if she enjoyed the trip, she laughed and replied, "No, I didn't like it."

The country was fairly well settled until they reached St. Louis, but from there to Dallas, everything was sparse and unsettled. The family stayed in the old Granger hotel in "Big D" from Friday until Sunday, when they rented a house and set up housekeeping.

The family had moved to Texas because of the father's health. After two months in Dallas, they moved again to Ennis, Texas, where Aunt Flo stayed until she was married to Charles W. Hall, Oct. 19, 1881, when she was 21 years old.

"Girls in those days," she said, "didn't go with boys until they were 18 years old." Her new husband was a true Texas, being "born and raised" in the Lone Star State.

After the Halls had been married six years, they moved to Dallas and then to Lubbock in 1906. Charles farmed most of the time, though he worked for a transfer company for a while.

The Halls had four children, none of whom lived to be a year of age. Charles died in September of 1918.

Lived in Several States

After living in New Mexico about 1912 to 1918, living in Arizona for a while, and settling in California, Aunt Flo again returned to Texas.

Recalling her stay in California, she said she ran a hotel in Imperial. One day, a Texan staying there called her off to one side and began explaining, "Mrs. Hall, I know you are from Texas. I can tell by your talk. Now you'll just get along better if you don't tell anyone where you're from. People in California just don't like people from Texas."

Aunt Flo, even though she realized he was trying to be helpful, thought the incident amusing. But she told him, "I'm from Texas. If anyone doesn't like it, they can just pass on."

Eventually Aunt Flo sold the hotel, owned another one in Brawley, Calif., for a while, where she contracted pneumonia.

The doctor ordered her to rest, so instead of going on further into California, Aunt Flo came home to Texas and stayed. She can't remember the exact date she settled in and around Parmer County, but she thinks it was around 1930. She can remember that there has been a big change in the Plains since she has lived here.

Occupations of Aunt Flo include several varied jobs. Besides being a hotel proprietor, she has owned a millinery store, clerked a little, helped on the farm—just all sorts of things to make a living, she says.

She lived in Texico for six months and clerked in Triplett Brothers' store. She also owned a farm near Texico and stayed there. She always considered the house of her sister, as "home", however.

Recalling some of her earlier experiences, she says she has seen Texas grow from ranch country into settlements.

Remembers Civil War

Aunt Flo remembers that during the Civil War her father sold a big sorrell horse to the army and after the animal had been gone for three or four years, he returned to the farm.

Her father tried to get the law to do something about the horse because the animal didn't belong to him and he wouldn't keep it, so he turned the horse out. A neighbor took and cared for the animal.

One vivid memory is that Aunt Flo's parents were Democrats in a Republican state. During the war, people would ride by the house and yell, "Hurrah for Abe Lincoln, hurrah!"

One young lady who had been a dear friend before the war, would come by and yell what Aunt Flo referred to as "Republican talk." Her mother always remained calm and friendly.

One day as the girl rode by and began shouting remarks, her big wide-brimmed hat fell off and hit the horse which she was riding. Frightened, the animal bolted away. Mrs. Rush, Aunt Flo's mother, yelled at the hired hands in the field to run after her. The men, who resented the girl's taunts, refused at first, but the mother insisted.

As they walked off, one remarked, "I don't care if she breaks her neck." They did catch the runaway horse, however, and possibly, saved young Molly's life.

Many years after the war was over, just before the Rush family moved to Texas, Molly came to see Mrs. Bush to ask her forgiveness for the way she had treated her during the war. She said her actions had been on her conscience all those years.

Saw Abe Lincoln

The railroad split the Rush farm in two. The house was located across a road and a small field from the tracks. The distance from the house to the railroad was approximately two blocks by today's measurement, Aunt Flo pointed out.

After Abraham Lincoln was assassinated, they transported his body by rail to his home for burial. The car on which his casket was placed had doors open on either side.

As the train passed across their property, Aunt Flo said her brothers and sisters and the hired girl rushed over to see the train carrying Abe Lincoln's body.

She was too small to run after them, so her great aunt took her in her arms and tried to tell her what she was witnessing. She kept telling her never to forget, to try to remember always that she had seen Abe Lincoln. Though only five years old at the time, Aunt Flo has never forgotten the experience.

She says she can still remember vaguely how everything looked. Two soldiers were standing at the head of the casket and two were standing at the foot. She'll never forget their hats, with high impressive plums that looked like fans above their heads. She thought they were blue, but she just can't remember for certain.

She can remember lots of things that happened when she was very young. Students had to carry water from the undertaker's house to the school house and often they watched the mortician saw fancy scrollwork on plain boards, which he fashioned into coffins.

School memories stir other associated reminiscences. There was a time in Ohio when the people would hire only Republican teachers and didn't want Democrat children to go to school.

She remembers that her father went to a board member and told him that he was "going to send his children to school, and if the teacher mistreated them, they would have to answer to him."

The board member agreed because he thought all children should go to school, so everything worked out fine. Aunt Flo began her schooling when she was five years old.

It was all over in a short while, so the Rush children got along all right. They were the only Democrat children who attended school, however.

All Democrats were scratched from the church registers during that period, also.

Explaining why her family happened to be Democrats in Ohio, she stated that she was born in the North, but her grandparents were all from the South. While living in the South, they had been converted to the Quaker faith, so they set their slaves free and moved to Ohio.

Where the town of Dayton, Ohio, now stands, is where her great grandfather settled. Up until a few years ago, a family reunion of her mother's family, the Moats, always was held there.

Lives with Her Nephew

Aunt Flo lives with her nephew, Perry Looney, in Bovina. When Perry decided to build the new house, Aunt Flo went to work. She drew two plans, and Contractor Hubert Ellison suggested only a few changes for the final drafting.

All of the rooms are big, and the largest is a combination living room and dining room which is 14 feet wide. To those who told her that 12 feet was plenty wide, she quipped that after the furniture was put in, people would have to stumble on each other's feet to walk through the room.

She didn't want this situation, so the spacious room was constructed as she had planned.

The L-shaped hall in the center of the house is 38 feet long and all the bedrooms are 12x12. The bathroom as the same feature of the other rooms—it too is large, Aunt Flo says when they lived on the farm, the bathroom was a small narrow room, so they built this one big.

The linen closets in the hall have rows and rows of shelves, but Aunt Flo has just about decided she won't use this space for a linen closet. Perry likes to fish and hunt, and he needs a place to keep all his equipment. What could be more ideal than the large hall closet?

Discussing closets, Aunt Flo says, "I despise little closets. I like them big enough to do something with." The one in her room emphasizes this fact, as it is four feet wide and 10 feet long. Her room is located at the rear of the house. Perry wanted her to have the front room, but she decided she liked the back one much better.

Everything in the home suggests spaciousness. Aunt Flo just doesn't like to be crowded.

Trouble with Railroad Workers

Back in the early days, when the railroad was under construction, an orphan boy who stayed with Aunt Flo's family shot a man for stealing watermelons. The workers on the railroad had been pillaging meats, fruits, wheat, corn—practically anything they could get their hands on.

They had gotten quite a few watermelons from the boy's patch, and he had told the father that he would shoot some of the pilferers if they did not stop.

Mr. Rush told him to shout "who's there!" three times, and if no one answered, to shoot into the air. The boy did exactly as he was told, but he accidentally nicked the stealer. The man wasn't hurt badly, but he threatened to do all sorts of things to the boy.

The father took over and told the company bosses, because, after all, the men had been stealing from the farm for quite some time.

Limited Teachers

Schools had one teacher for all students. In Ohio, students could attend until they were 21 years old. After coming to Ennis, however, the younger children missed a lot of schooling. There was only one school in town, and it was a private institution.

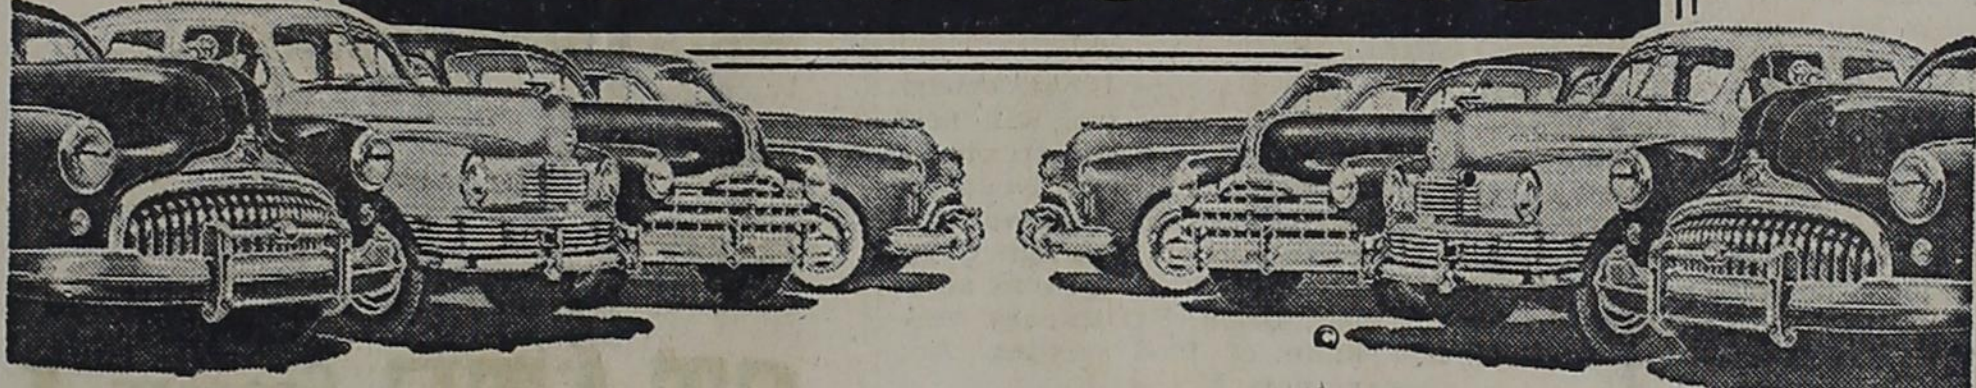

The second year they were there, a traveling teacher came in, rented a room, and taught two weeks. The same teacher came back the next year and taught two weeks again. The town then got a public school.

The white-haired, clear-eyed Aunt Flo is now happily settled in Bovina where she intends to remain. She is still a pioneer in spirit, and she still knows what she wants. She sees nothing unusual in drawing a house plan at her age. It's just another job to be done.

It is dangerous economy to build steep stairways to save space, especially if they are used frequently. Every stairway should have the protection of a guard rail—low enough for children.
