County Workers Are Named For Annual Polio Campaign

Workers who will have charge of canvassing in their respective communities in Farmer County in the annual March of Dimes campaign for relief of polio patients were named the first of this week by Raymond Euler, of Friona, county chairman for 1952.

Euler, in making his announcement, said that these individuals would work as community chairmen, and will in turn ask assistance from other residents in their respective areas. The drive, nationwide, got underway on January 1st, and is slated to continue throughout the current month.

In Farwell, Sterlyn Billington has accepted the chairmanship for the 1952 drive, and will be assisted by Paul Wurster.

At Lazbuddy, the Parent Teacher Association, of which Mrs. Joe Jesko is president, will make solicitations; R. E. Everett, principal of the Bovina school, will head the drive there; Shelby Jobs is to be responsible for the Oklahoma Lane working; Bill Sheehan will direct activities at Friona.

At Lariat, the drive will be led by Charley Felts; Mrs. Paul Koeltzow will have charge at Rhea; the Black campaign is to be directed by Mrs. Walter Fangman; and at Lakeview, Mrs. Otho Whitefield.

Loyde Brewer, chapter chairman for the county, said on Wednesday that "for the first time we are not starting out broke", adding that during 1951 there were no polio cases in this county, and the chapter "had a little money" on tap. However, it is another matter nationally with reports from the Foundation to the effect that at present some $5 million worth of debts against the Foundation are outstanding, and it is hoped that Farmer Counties will contribute generously.

With the drive barely underway, no announcement of special functions has been forthcoming. Ordinarily, special events are held in the various communities for money-raising projects, rather than individual solicitations.

Small "iron lungs" will be placed in business houses over the county during the current week, and Chairman Euler urged that people take advantage of this opportunity to make contributions.

Business As Usual As New Year Dawns

It was "business as usual" with all Texico-Farwell merchants as the new year dawned on Tuesday.

A check of the business district revealed that only the bank, both local postoffices and the court-house were closed for the day.

Generally speaking, most local merchants took inventory on Sunday, instead of Jan. 1, as is the custom locally.

Low Water Pressure Due To Small Lines

Small lines—not sufficient water—is responsible for the low water pressure being reported by some residents in Texico, according to V. C. Venable, of the Texico-Farwell Waterworks plant.

A checkup was made by Venable after several complaints on low pressure were received, and he said this week that in some instances a two-inch line is being forced to serve from ten to forty. "We have plenty of water in the local tanks," Venable pointed out, "but small lines over a good portion of Texico mean that it just takes the water longer to get through to the consumers."

As a matter of fact, most Texico residents are aware that the city's growth has outstripped available water mains in the residential areas and frequently some consideration is given to replacing the lines with larger pipe which would handle the consumer load.

Both Venable and Texico city officials have previously pointed out that such a program would necessitate considerable expense, as a bond issue would probably be required to handle the work.

"Until we have larger lines all over the town, some residents will continue to be plagued by slow-running taps," the waterworks manager said today.

52 Exes Return To Texico Homecoming

Fifty-two alumni of Texico High were present for the annual Homecoming Banquet, Saturday evening at Texico School.

Presley Landan, president of the Alumni Association, presided as master of ceremonies. Agrie Jones, superintendent of the local school, gave the welcome address and Wesley Osborn responded for the alumni.

B. A. Rogers received the recognition of being a member of the oldest graduating class present.

The banquet was served buffet style in the school auditorium. Tables were decorated with the school colors of green and white. Centerpieces for the tables was a red schoolhouse and a white church.

The menu for the occasion consisted of baked ham, yams, gravy, salad, and peach pie for dessert.

Olen Schleuter was elected president of the Alumni Association in a short business meeting. Serving with him will be Agrie Jones as vice-president and Mrs. Grayson Roberts as secretary.

Immediately following the banquet, the alumni assembled in the school gym to form a cheering section during the Texico-Albuquerque game.

Following the scheduled game, members of the graduating class of '35 clashed with the local team for a four minute game of basketball. F. D. Stout states, "As a kindness to others, we will not print the score, but it is rumored that the game was called because of darkness."

Members of the alumni team were: Lowell Sharpe, Lloyd Sharpe, John Hadley, Wesley Osborn and Carl Bullock.

Bank Deposits Up Over Last Year

Deposits in the Security State Bank of this city have shown an increase of approximately $400,000 over last year at this time, according to the financial statement appearing in this issue of The Tribune.

During the same period, the assets have shown an increase of approximately a half million dollars. Assets as set forth on the financial statement are nearing the three million mark.

A called meeting of the Clovis Toastmistress club is planned Thursday night in the home of Mrs. Homer Bennett in Clovis, Mrs. Porter, member of the group, says.

Holding the one lucky ticket out of approximately 150,000 in circulation, Mrs. Earl Moore, of Earth, was awarded a new Hudson automobile at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, before one of the largest crowds ever to assemble in Farwell. Hardage Hudson Company gave the $3200 automobile away as an advertising feature.

Drawing was conducted at the Farwell football field. Merchants cooperating in the award were: The Furniture Mart (Texico and Clovis), Border Theatre, Pop Spurlin's Station, Billington Barber and Beauty Shop, Kemp Lumber, Bradshaw Grocery, Roses Drug and Gift Store, Ray Mear's Produce, all of Farwell; Mustang Theatre, Bovina, and Goss Service Station, Muleshoe.

The prize car was a light blue Hollywood coupe.

The huge crowd attending the drawing began gathering at the field early Saturday afternoon, and by 4:30 the football field and the west bleachers were overrun with people.

Duplicate tickets in different colors, which had been issued because of a shortage of tickets, caused quite a bit of excitement—and disappointment—for Lee Nichols of Clovis. Nichols also held the lucky number, but when he arrived at the platform found that his ticket was the wrong color.

Mrs. Moore, the winner, is the wife of a tenant farmer at Earth. Her husband also does some driving of a gasoline transport truck.

Needing furniture for the home, Mrs. Moore purchased a nice bill of furniture from the Furniture Mart in December, and while she was here on her shopping trip she was given several tickets on the new car—one of which proved to be the lucky number.

Never before a winner, Mrs. Moore exclaimed, "I thought I was dreaming, I wasn't expecting it" as her number was called.

Asked if she would keep the new auto, Mrs. Moore stated that she didn't know, but "probably will". Mr. Moore, who did not accompany her to Farwell, was to be consulted. The Moores are now driving a 1949 Ford.

The Moores have two children, a girl and a boy. The daughter is the older, and is now a freshman in high school. The family has been residents of Earth for approximately 15 years.

Draw Special Venire In Livesay Hearing

Judge E. A. Bills of the 64th District Court has announced that he will be in Farwell on Friday of this week for the purpose of drawing a special venire of 120 men from which to select a jury in the Thomas L. Livesay murder trial.

Livesay faces a grand jury indictment returned in Bailey County, charging him with participating in the fatal beating of Joshua Blocher, 85-year-old self-styled "hermit" of Progress, on August 15, 1951. Lester D. Stevens, indicted jointly with Livesay, was tried in Bailey County early in December of last year and was given the death penalty.

Judge Bills has set February 4 as the time Livesay will go on trial in Farmer County. His case was moved here on a change of venue when Judge Bills ruled that obtaining a jury in Bailey County would be difficult, if not impossible. Livesay is being held in jail at Muleshoe awaiting trial, and Stevens has been placed in jail at Lubbock.

Garbage Collection Fee For 1952 Due

Residents and business firms of Farwell are reminded that the annual garbage collection fee for 1952 is due and should be paid to Ray Mears at the Mears Produce.

Mear said that the annual fee, payable in advance, was $6.00 for residences and $12.00 for business houses. He also called attention to the importance of burning all combustible waste and not putting it in disposal receptacles.

Work Progressing On New School Building

Workmen were busy on the new Farwell school building all during the holidays, with the exception of Christmas day and New Year's day, Supt. Jack Williams says. They are plastering on the inside of the building now during the cold weather.

Most of the roof is on, and all the windows have been installed. Also, nearly all the outside doors have been completed.

FROM THE HOPPER

By HOP

Viewed from a certain angle, there is only a slight difference between a rich man and a poor man. One worries about the next meal and the other worries about the last one he ate.

Well, how many of your resolutions have you broken already?

What's the matter with politics in Farmer County? It has been the custom in recent years for a number of political aspirants to make their announcements the first of the year. But up to now, there has been no public movement on the part of any of the hopefuls to get their announcements before the people.

Candidates in several of the nearby counties have been hurling their hats into the ring, but the local situation remains quiet with everybody apparently waiting to see what the other fellow is going to do.

O. W. Rhinehart tells me that he thought so much of our Christmas edition that he paid out 52 cents to mail a copy first class to a friend in Boston.

And here is a card from Mrs. E. G. Blair, who has been spending the Yuletide season with her daughter and husband near Milwaukee, Wisconsin. She writes, "Sure getting a glance at the winter. Fourteen inches of snow on the ground and still snowing, and the wind blowing like New Mexico."

In my opinion, Les Means has missed his calling. He should have been an advertising writer. After trying farming, horse-breeding, and a little of everything else, Les is now operating a business in Texico. If you don't believe he is a real ad writer, you need to turn to his ad in this issue to be convinced.

And here's a note from Peggy Schleuter, who is now located at Abilene. She addresses me as, "Dear Hop." (Isn't that sweet) and says, "I really look forward to receiving The Tribune each week."

The one-cent post card died with the coming of the new year. Hereafter, all those post cards will have to bear a two-cent stamp. And, furthermore, when you buy post cards in excess of 50, an additional 10 cents per 50 cards will be added. So, hereafter, I'll buy my cards in lots of 49.

My thanks to Joe Bell of Bovina, who says The Tribune is the best small-town weekly newspaper he ever saw.

Along the same line, Judge E. A. Bills says he gets newspapers from all over his district and The Tribune is one of the few that he enjoys. Thanks to both of you gentlemen.

Mrs. Steinbock Is Buried at Lazbuddie

Funeral services for Mrs. Alma Steinbock, 75 years old, and a longtime resident of the Lazbuddy community, were conducted at the Lazbuddy Baptist Church, Sunday afternoon by Rev. H. L. Anderson, pastor of the Lockney Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Steinbock passed away in a Muleshoe hospital, Friday. She had suffered a stroke some three months ago.

Burial took place in the Lazbuddy cemetery under the direction of the Muleshoe Funeral Home.

Alma Wilhemina Pyritz was born in Signat, Germany, on October 8, 1876. She came to America in 1898 settling in Marlin, Tex., where she was united in marriage to John F. Steinbock on Feb. 2, 1900. In 1901 they moved to Frederick, Okla., remaining there until 1925 when they located in Muleshoe, Texas. She was preceded in death by her husband on June 6, 1932; and by a step-daughter, Mrs. Thersia Mehl of Frederick in August of 1951.

Mrs. Steinbock was a life-long member of the Lutheran Church.

She is survived by eight sons, Alex, Ed, Walter, Reinhold and Alfred, all of Muleshoe, Johnnie of Flagstaff, Ariz., and Carl of Springfield, Oreg.; two daughters, Mrs. F. L. Oliver of Muleshoe, and Mrs. Dan Wynn, Slaton. Other survivors include a step-daughter, Mrs. Rudolph Pyritz; 23 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were J. R. Clark, R. Y. Jordan, Raymond Treider, Elbert Nowell, Jimmie Seaton and E. A. Parham.

Honorary pallbearers were Bill Mattieson, O. M. Jennings, Robert Bledsoe, Roy Kruger, Sam Layman and Edgar Broyles.

Ice-Glazed Highways Slow Down Driving

Ice-glazed highways throughout this region slowed traffic to a snail's pace Wednesday and travel was limited to actual necessities as it moved cautiously over the ice-coated pavements.

Numerous accidents were reported over the Plains region and some deaths, but so far as could be ascertained here there was only one slight mishap.

John McDonald of Portales overturned his large semi-trailer truck at the Texico Port of Entry when he attempted to come to a stop.

Wednesday's freezing-over followed a light rain that fell during the night Thursday accompanied by temperature readings that ranged from 14 to 20 degrees during the night.

The cold snap followed on the heels of an exceptionally warm period in the early part of the week when readings of near the 70-degree mark were recorded over area for the warmest January readings in history.

The rain of Tuesday night was very light, leaving only a trace of moisture after it had melted by mid-day Wednesday. More rain and snow was predicted before clearing weather.

Directors For Water District Will Be Named, Jan. 8th

Election of the first permanent board of directors of the High Plains Water Conservation District No. 1, of which Farmer County is a portion, is slated for next Tuesday, January 8th, according to an announcement by Tom McFarland, of Hereford, chairman of the board.

In Farmer County, four polling places have been designated: at the American Legion Halls in both Friona and Bovina; in the county court room at Farwell, and at the Lazbuddy school.

In charge of the election at Friona will be T. J. Crawford. F. W. Reeve, Clyde Goodwine and George Baker. At Bovina, C. L. Calaway, Wilbur Charles, Ed Ross, Troy Armstrong; at Farwell, Albert Smith, Mrs. O. B. Pipkin, Mrs. Harry Whitley, Mrs. Felix Monroe; and at Lazbuddy, Roy Daniel, George Crain, Joe Jesko and C. C. Matthews.

The water conservation district, McFarland pointed out, is the largest of its kind in the United States, with almost five million acres of land within its bounds. It includes all and parts of 13 counties and 19 incorporated cities.

Oliver Services Are Held In Ft. Worth

Funeral services were held for Ditch P. Oliver, Thursday, December 20, at the Riverside Baptist Church of Fort Worth. Oliver, age 47, was born in Hereford, but spent his childhood in Bovina, where his father, the late A. J. Oliver, was co-owner of the Bovina Mercantile.

The past 15 years he had been a resident of Fort Worth, engaging in the real estate business. He had been in ill health for several years, but death came suddenly as the result of a heart attack.

Surviving him are his wife; one brother, Morris Oliver, Abilene; three sisters, Mrs. Lillian Morgan, Dallas; Mrs. Kathleen Antillye, Abilene; and Mrs. Pauline Nicewarner, Abilene, a former resident of Texico-Farwell.

Henderson Retained As CC President

Meeting in a special session Monday morning, the directors of the Farwell Chamber of Commerce voted unanimously to reject the resignation of C. M. Henderson as president of the body.

Mr. Henderson tendered his resignation some days ago asked that he be relieved of the presidency. A spokesman for organization said that the directors felt that Mr. Henderson would continue to serve. Henderson was out of town and could not be reached for a statement.

"Henderson has been a valuable man in our organization and we do not feel that we can get along without his services," O. C. Sikes, vice president of the Chamber said.

OBSERVE FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY

MR. AND MRS. B. N. GRAHAM

Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Graham Feted On Fortieth Wedding Anniversary

"Looking back, forty years doesn't seem so long, but when one looks back time always seems short," state Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Graham, pioneer settlers of Farwell, who celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary the past Sunday.

Children of the couple honored their parents with an open house, held at the family home in south Farwell Sunday afternoon from 3:00 to 6:30. Over 100 guests called during the social hours, and the honorees were the recipients of many lovely gifts commemorating the occasion.

All of the Graham children were present for the celebration except Benton and his family, residents in Cucuta, South America; and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Graham, of Lubbock, who remained home because of illness of her small daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham were married at Lamesa on December 27, 1911, when she was 23 years of age and he was 33. The ceremony was performed in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Austin. On the way to Lamesa, Mr. Graham had the train stop in Tahoka, where he contacted the minister—a Baptist preacher—to perform the ceremony. The young groom was traveling on what was then called the "Blueweed Special", from Slaton to Lamesa.

For her wedding, Mrs. Graham wore a long white satin-faced crepe dress with fitted skirt and three-quarter length sleeves. Brocaded flowers of the same material as the dress were caught at the neckline and at the waist. As was the custom at that time, Mr. Graham wrote her father, asking for the hand of Irene Lee.

Asked how they met, the couple related that they became acquainted on the morning that Miss Austin arrived in Kress, Texas, to begin her teaching work in the first two grades of the school, Mr. Graham was superintendent there.

Asked if they dated right away, Mr. Graham quipped, "As soon as she got a chance." Mrs. Graham says that the superintendent had to order certain literature for her two primary grades and every day he came to her room to inform her that the books had not yet arrived.

Questioned about their first date, Mrs. Graham remembers that her future husband wrote her a note on the back of a check at church one morning and asked her to attend the evening services with him. (Mr. Graham denies this, but his wife says she still has the note to prove it.) She didn't write her answer, merely nodded her head. This occurred in September—and the couple was married in December.

The Grahams moved to Bovina in 1914 and came on to Farwell in November of 1916 and "have been here ever since". They rented houses in Farwell at first, then moved to their present home site. The house has been remodeled completely, time and again, Mrs. Graham states.

The couple has five children, three boys and two girls. All are married and have families with the exception of Howard (Muggins), the youngest, who recently completed his college work and is teaching school at Iraan, Texas.

The John Grahams, who live in Lubbock, have three children, Kent, Dennis and Kathy; Katie Lee, now Mrs. Raymond Ross, is the mother of a boy and girl, Ray Ann and David. The William Thorntons have two children, Martha Irene and Susan. Mrs. Thornton was Eunice Graham before her marriage.

The Benton Grahams, of South America, have four daughters, including one set of twins. They are: Patricia, Sandra, Janice and Linda.

All of the Graham children are graduates of the Farwell school. In fact, they had at least one youngster in school each year for a period of 24 years in succession.

Former County Clerk

Mr. Graham served as county and district clerk of Parmer County for ten years, from 1916 to 1926. He then went into the insurance business which he now operates. For a time, he was associated with his son, Benton, in a farming operation, and has also held the office of Justice of the Peace.

At the time he was serving as county clerk, Farwell's main business section was located on Third Street, and the courthouse was a long plank building much like the barracks buildings one sees nowadays. It was located approximately where the Claude Rose home now stands. A hallway ran the full length of the building, with rooms on the south side. County officials moved to the present (then new) courthouse in 1917, with Mr. Graham being the first clerk to occupy that office.

Naming officials who served with him at the time of office, Graham listed the late Judge James D. Hamlin, brother of Mrs. Anne Overstreet; F. W. Reeve of Friona; the late Frank L. Reed of Lazbuddy; F. L. Sprank of Bovina (now of Friona); and the late F. W. McElroy of Farwell, commissioners; Coke Hoppin, sheriff; and the late J. H. Aldridge, Sr., later filled the position. The late J. C. Temple was justice of the peace. The late C. G. Pratto was tax assessor and collector for a number of years.

Mr. Graham recalls that Mr. Temple performed the first "mail order" marriage vows that he had ever heard of. Early one morning before the eight o'clock train from Amarillo had arrived, an old fellow from somewhere north of Farwell on the New Mexico side of the line, drove up to the side of the courthouse in his covered wagon. He came in and inquired when the train was to arrive, finally informing courthouse personnel that he was expecting his bride-to-be on the train.

Sure enough, when the train pulled in, the bride-to-be was aboard. The couple returned to the courthouse, bought their license and inquired about the justice of the peace. The ceremony was performed by Mr. Temple, Graham relates, but the unusual part of the marriage was the way the participants were situated. A bench approximately 10 feet long extended along one wall of the room and as the vows were read, the bride sat at one end and the bridegroom at the other. Mr. Graham was witness, and states that it was an exceedingly solemn wedding.

Sees Actual Rustling

Another colorful event, one that Mrs. Graham has remembered over the years, is a scene she saw from her own front window. She looked out one day to see cattle rustlers driving a herd of cows as fast as they would go across the prairie in the south end of town, trying to get across the state line before they were apprehended.

Recalling early Farwell, the Grahams say that of course, there were no paved roads, but there was a pretty good train service. No open highway was in evidence from Farwell to Lubbock, it was hardly a road at all, more of a cow trail. The highway from Farwell to Friona was built after Mr. Graham became county clerk. There were only two windmills in Farwell in those early years, with many families using cisterns, and "I've carried many a bucket of water," Mrs. Graham continues. Coal stoves were in use, and the electric light system at that time was not very reliable.

Since their marriage 40 years ago, the Grahams have taken an active part in civic, social and religious activities in their town. When they married, she was a member of the Baptist church and he was a Methodist. Her father had been a deacon in the Baptist church for about 50 years. They are both members of the local Methodist Church, and all the Graham children are church members.

"We have many things to be thankful for," they continue. "All our children are healthy, and we have had no great misfortunes. . . . In fact, the children never had a more severe ailment than a broken nose," Mrs. Graham adds.

Mr. Graham laughingly stated that "forty years ago on our wedding date, I knew I was stuck," but as he continued, he acquired a more serious note, saying that a fortieth wedding anniversary surprised neither of them as they "knew that our vows would be sacred until death do us part".

"Marriage isn't an ideal philosophy of life, it is give and take; one must share with the other," the Grahams state, and they feel that it is a mistake for young people to wait until they can "afford" to get married. "Working together for success in life, they can grow together," they add . . . and they have 40 years of marital happiness to prove their philosophy.

Listed as among the blessings for which the Grahams are grateful is their accumulation of friends through the years.

Table decorations at the open house Sunday featured an arrangement of red roses, with a wedding band of satin topped with minute rosebuds representing the ruby of the ring. Mr. Graham wore a corsage of red roses and he wore a boutonniere carrying out the theme of their "ruby" anniversary.

Refreshments of coffee and cakes were served to guests.

OUR THANKS AND APPRECIATION

We wish at this time to thank each and every one of our customers, both old and new, for making 1951 the best year since we have been in business.

Since several of our Grocery Stores are going on a cash basis, we have this to say: The foundation of our business was built by our neighbors and friends, on both cash and credit, honesty, and fair dealing. In five years, we have lost only $43.30 on credit, and expect to collect $10.00 of that.

If that wouldn't prove to us that people are honest, what would? Our friends are mostly poor folks, like us. Our prices are the same. You pay no MORE because you are POOR. We have a cash drawing every Saturday at the store at 4:30 sharp. So don't forget, if you are GOOD, your credit is GOOD, with us.

Have a very few lockers for rent at $11 per year. Also do custom slaughtering and processing. Have an "A" rating with County and State sanitary standards.

We came here and started business with $2,000.00 and one broken leg. Out of this, spent $1,600 for the store and 10 lots, and the other $400 went for groceries and breakfast food. Most of our stock was Post Toasties, and it made a nice showing without much cash involved. Just a few more lines and our story will be over.

Just remember, when you trade with your local merchants, you buy something that you never pay for. He will set up with you when you're sick, dig your grave when you die, and look after your widow and kids when you are gone. Will your out-of-town merchant do that?

Here are some things you do pay for and get as a dividend: A bigger town, schools, churches, and lower prices. Keep this in mind: New York City at one time was a smaller place than Texico, New Mexico.

May the Good Lord bless and keep you through 1952 and our wish to all, and we do mean all, is health and happiness, wealth, and the best the world has to offer.

Dean Stangel Named Man Of The Year

DALLAS, TEXAS—W. L. Stangel, Dean of Agriculture at Texas Technological College at Lubbock, has been named 1951 "Man of the Year" in Texas agriculture by the Progressive Farmer magazine.

Editor Eugene B. Butler announces the award in the January 1952 issue of The Progressive Farmer, and cited Dean Stangel for his 35 years' service to Texas livestock and agriculture.

"All through the years," the article about Dean Stangel says, "Dean Stangel has persistently aggressively advocated that livestock should be balanced with crops in a sound farm management program....Stangel has run experiment after experiment to prove that money could be made feeding cattle, hogs, and sheep on grain sorghums, the 'corn of the Plains.'"

The Dean has also, the magazine points out, made a fine contribution to Texas agriculture through his long-time interest in livestock shows. "Thousands of anxious boys and girls have watched the dean as he ran his experienced hands over their fat steers, backed off, cocked his head to one side, rolled his cigar in his mouth, and then surely waved the animals to their places.

Stangel doesn't jibe with the usual mental picture of a dean, says P. F. You'll find Dean Stangel in a white Texas hat, cowboy boots, and more than likely weighing or judging cattle. "In fact, Texas Tech people figure that if they ever wanted to get rid of the Dean, the best method would be to make him stay at his desk."

Corn-cob-and-shuck meal, ground peanut hulls, dehydrated green cotton stalks and gin trash are some of the emergency roughages now being fed by Texas livestock producers. ## A Message of Importance ★ ★ ★ To Every Automobile Driver ★ ★ ★ In The State of Texas

HERE'S WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT THE NEW TEXAS "SAFETY RESPONSIBILITY LAW"

- 1 Enforcement Begins January 1, 1952. On this date, the new Safety Responsibility Law, as passed by the Legislature, goes into effect. This law was designed to protect you against financially irresponsible drivers and owners of motor vehicles involved in accidents. It affects all drivers and motor vehicle owners (except Federal, State, County and City-owned cars).
- 2 What Must You Do After An Accident? Under existing laws, you must file a written report to the Department of Public Safety if your car is involved in an accident where there is a death, an injury or property damage in excess of $25. Under the new law, a written report must be filed within ten days if your car is in an accident resulting in death, injury or property damage in excess of $100.
- 3 You Don't Have to Carry Liability Insurance, But . . . If you are not insured against bodily injury and property damage liability, you must be able to deposit with the Department of Public Safety security equal to the estimated damage, not exceeding $15,000.00, to cover all claims growing out of an accident anywhere in Texas in which you or your motor vehicle were involved. If you cannot establish financial responsibility for the future, your driver's license and your motor vehicle license plates are automatically suspended.
- 4 It's Easy to Establish Financial Responsibility with a motor vehicle liability insurance policy. If you do not now have such a policy, call your local insurance agent today. He is a qualified insurance counselor who will be happy to advise you concerning your needs.
- 5 What is the Minimum of Your Liability? The law permits each driver to establish the following minimum limits of liability: up to $5,000.00 for injuries sustained by one person; up to $10,000.00 for all personal injuries resulting from one accident, and up to $5,000.00 for property damage. You do not have to establish such liability but it is the easiest way.

Plans Underway For Service Trades Survey

The Lubbock District Enforcement Branch of the Office of Price Stabilization announced yesterday that plans were underway to conduct its portion of the nationwide survey in the service trades.

The survey will cover in the main the trades affected by Ceiling Price Regulation 34. Hugh Anderson, enforcement director for the 69-county West Texas district, said. He said, too, that the study of operations of slaughterers of the district continues.

At the same time, he called attention to a case this week in which a Brownsville, Texas, meat company entered pleas of guilty in federal court to charges of violations of OPS regulations.

Federal Judge James V. Allred assessed a fine of $1,000 against the company, a fine of $500 against the company head and suspended a 90-day jail term against him. The company president had been charged in a criminal information filed by the government in five counts alleging sales and deliveries of beef at prices above OPS ceilings and five counts alleging false invoices covering the beef sales.

The service investigation survey, according to Edward P. Morgan, OPS Enforcement Director, results from non-compliance on the part of firms and individuals selling services of many kinds. While compliance is satisfactory in some areas, he said, non-compliance is quite widespread in others.

Ignorance of the existence of the regulation and its requirements, particularly the filing and posting provisions of Section 18 of CPR 34, can no longer be given as an excuse because the regulation became effective last May 16, enforcement officials explained.

Morgan pointed out that authorization has been secured from the Department of Justice for the special assistant United States attorneys attached to the OPS district offices, and the U. S. attorneys to file injunctive actions in the field immediately in connection with the new compliance drive without securing pre-clearance from Washington. This step should speed up the survey and bring many violators of CPR 34 into compliance without further delay.

Among types of establishments under CPR 34 are power laundries, banks, linen supply and diaper services, hand and self-service laundries, shoe repair and hat cleaning shops, cleaning and dyeing plants, rug cleaning and repairing plants, pressing, altering and garment repair shops, fur repair and storage shops, radio and television service and repair shops, automobile repair shops, refrigerator and other electrical apparatus service and repair shops.

Others include bowling alleys and billiard and pool parlors, parking lots, operators of juke boxes, golf courses and automobile storage firms.

Texas Has Decline In Private Construction

AUSTIN, Texas—Texas, like the rest of the U.S., registered a substantial decline in private construction during the first month under the Controlled Materials Plan, which took effect October 1, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

Preliminary estimates of urban building authorized in October total $42,764,000, which is 26 per cent less than September's total and 34 per cent below October, 1950.

Pressing Research Fight Against Polio

The tripled polio incidence that has plagued the nation for the last four years has resulted in three-quarters of all March of Dimes funds being spent on the patient care requirements of the boys and girls, and the men and women, who have fallen victim to the only epidemic disease still on the increase in America.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will continue to pay for patient care of this kind because it realizes the nation must live with polio until it is conquered. But this year it has set out to raise sufficient funds to do the whole job.

That job includes pushing forward on the research front as well as in the field of patient care. Otherwise, the National Foundation contends, the nation will always be fighting polio. The thing to do, it maintains, is to eliminate the need for patient care by protecting man from ever getting polio at all.

From 1938 to September of 1951, grants and appropriations authorized for research by the National Foundation totaled over $14,000,000 and underwrote scientific investigations in 99 leading institutions throughout the country.

March of Dimes research has attacked the problem on a wide front. The fields of chemistry, biology, bacteriology, virology and others have been enlisted in this most massive people's attack on a single disease ever launched by a voluntary health agency.

It is encouraging to know that March of Dimes funds make it possible for scientists to say they are now more optimistic than ever in predicting the conquest of polio within the foreseeable future.

But March of Dimes funds are under the severe challenge of a rising, widening tide of polio. Only a rising tide of dimes can stem this challenge.

Livestock Shipments Climbing In Texas

AUSTIN, TEXAS—Livestock shipments in Texas during October increased 24 per cent over September primarily because of the expected seasonal upturn, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

Total September shipments were 74 per cent greater than September, 1950, but October shipments increased only 43 per cent over the same period last year.

Draft Boards Add 3 Appeal Boards

Austin, Texas—Three additional appeal boards have been added to Selective Service in Texas, Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state draft director, announced today.

The new appeal boards are located at Houston, San Angelo, and Tyler. The old Texas appeal board at Austin, in existence since 1848, has been retained. The new appeal boards were set up in compliance with Section 10 of the Universal Military Training and Service Act.

"This provision of law directs that an appeal board be set up in each federal judicial district," General Wakefield commented. "Each appeal board is required to have a member each from (industry and labor, one physician, one lawyer, and, where applicable, one member from agriculture."

"It is my understanding that the purpose for the amendment to the law was to make sure that every registrant should have an opportunity to have his appeal heard by an appeal board within the federal judicial district in which he resides."

The Austin appeal board will serve the Western Federal Judicial District of Texas, the Houston board the Southern District, the San Angelo board the Northern District, and the Tyler board the Eastern District.

Members of the appeal boards were appointed by President Truman after recommendation by Governor Allan Shivers, as required by law.

Members of the boards are as follows:

Houston: T. J. Arnold, chairman; George A. Wilson, vice-chairman; Dr. Henry R. Maresh, secretary; E. J. Mosher, all of Houston; and G. W. Liestman, Alief.

Tyler: Ben F. Johnson, chairman; Gordon N. Gray, secretary; Harry Dickson; W. B. McGinney; and Dr. E. D. Rice, all of Tyler.

San Angelo: E. E. Murphy, chairman; W. B. Groseclose, secretary; Marion H. Badger; Dr. D. D. Wall; and J. C. Woodul, all of San Angelo. Austin: Horace H. Shelton, chairman; D. T. Gilliland, secretary; T. J. Butler; Dr. Raleigh R. Boss, all of Austin; and J. H. Johnson, Del Valle.

The boards are created to permit draft registrants to appeal from classification decisions of local boards. Registrants must appeal within 10 days from mailing of a notice of classification.

Not All Bovine Mastitis Cases Yield To Drugs

Dairy farmers who count on drugs to solve all their bovine mastitis problems are in for a big disappointment, says the American Veterinary Medical Association. Good sanitation, proper milking, and sound principles of herd management should always go along with drug treatment if best results are to be obtained. The AVMA points out that not just one, but several different types of germs can be involved in mastitis cases, and no single drug is the answer to all of them. Moreover, some germs that attack the bovine udder resist all usual methods of treatment. An example is a tongue-twisting name of Pseudomonas pyocyanus.

New Diapers Need No Folding!

The old-fashioned diaper has undergone a revolution in a new design recently placed on the market. The new cotton diaper has been cut so that it needs no folding before baby dons it. The diaper's structure is said to make it less cumbersome for washing.

Other noteworthy diaper styles this season include standard designs in polka dot patterns and in shades of rosebud pink, baby blue, and baby green. Diapers are made of a soft surgical-type gauze and are double woven for softness and absorbency.

Christmas In Norway Unusual Experience For Friona Girl In University There

Editor's Note: The following is written by Jane Gallagher, now attending the University of Norway at Oslo, to her parents, the Reverends Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Meyer, in Friona, and details an unusual Christmas for Jane.

I went to a real Norwegian Christmas Eve at Chris's home, quite an affair. They celebrate three days of Christmas here, beginning with Christmas Eve, which is really the main event. We started out with "teå" a six o'clock (that includes "humpteen" varieties of Christmas cake, too), then we went round the "Yuletree", which is dancing around the tree to Christmas songs like a children's game, only everyone does it, including grandmother. Then you sing carols and talk and talk while you wait for the "julenisse".

These julenisse are really characters! They are little people who can be very helpful or very the opposite. They dearly love animals like cows and sheep and "Tarbabies" (Note: Tarbaby is Jane's spaniel cocker's name) and as long as the folks on the farm or the house are kind to them they will reward the kindness with good health and prosperity to all living creatures in their household. There's no guessing just how they pick out a house to look after, but some people say that they look around to see which families scatter crumbs for the birds and feed the stray cats and dogs and people who come around hungry. Your guess is as good as mine. Anyway, these nisse are wee little men with long white beards and bright red caps, and they can do anything, like cobble shoes, or scrub the kitchen floor when a good housewife is too tired; or look after the baby, or just anything to be helpful.

They usually live in barns, but in this modern age they will sleep in the back seat of cars in warm garages. There is one sure way to make the nisse angry, especially if you do not believe in nisse—and that is to forget to leave a nice warm bowl of "julegrot" (i. e., Christmas porridge), wherever he happens to live. Anyone who is unfortunate enough to forget that is liable to find his next year beset with hardships and maybe might even get sick. So, naturally, everybody makes an extra big bowl of "julegrot" for his nisse, and this makes the nisse very happy so he brings surprises for everyone in the house, sort of like Santa Claus.

Anyway, after dancing around the tree and singing to invite the nisse to come in, everybody sits down and watches the tree very carefully—and what do you know! One by one the candles on the tree light and burn brightly, and before you know it the julenisse has left a stack of packages under the tree.

Sometimes he stays to deliver them, and sometimes he just leaves them there in their pretty bright wrappings. Then he is usually so tired from watching everybody unwrap their presents that he goes home and crawls happily into his bed and goes to sleep while everyone in the house goes into the dining room to eat dinner. You see, his tummy is full of warm good porridge and he is happy over all the people and the children; children from one day to 191 years old, that he has made happy, that he sleeps quite peacefully until there is something else for him to do. He leads a very busy life, for there are ever so many things for an energetic little nisse to tend to.

I am bringing some statuettes of nisse with me when I come, so we can have some next year for our very own Christmas-tide.

My roommate and I, Bernice is her name, have a pretty little tree with a beautiful golden angel on top and with nisse and reindeer all scattered over it.

Speaking of "reindeer", we had reindeer steaks for our Christmas dinner. Turkey is "out" in Norway. There are just not any.

It rained for two days, Christmas and the day after. No snow, believe it or not, no frost, and the only white things in sight were the decorations on the inside trees. Most of the Norwegians just stood and pouted because they usually spend their holidays skiing and this year they couldn't even skate.

The Norwegian Olympic team has gone off to Austria to the Alps to train, as they now deem Norway hopeless at least until the middle of January and possibly later.

With best wishes for a happy, a prosperous New Year. Loads of love, Jane.

JOB-MAKER

"Cotton is one of the greatest job-makers among American crops. These jobs benefit everyone in the nation."—Farm and Ranch-Southern Agriculturist."

Old-Time Antidotes Fail Against New Poisons

Widespread use of new-type insecticides and crop chemicals has outmoded many of the antidotes once popular for treating poisoned animals, the American Veterinary Medical Association reports.

Antidotes such as salt water and mustard water still have a place in the emergency treatment of chemical poisoning, but it takes more than these simple remedies to save the lives of stricken animals, the AVMA points out.

Prompt, specific treatment is essential when a farm animal or pet accidentally swallows one of the new-type chemicals, including DDT, chlordan, lindane, or any of the organic phosphorus insecticides.

DDT, for example, is a chlorinated hydrocarbon that causes convulsions requiring treatment with sedatives and anesthetics in addition to usual measures. Poisoning from parathion and other organic phosphorus insecticides often calls for drainage to remove water that wells up in the lungs, plus treatment with oxygen and drugs.

Even the "safe" new rat killer, warfarin, can cause serious trouble if pets or livestock swallow a big dose. Ordinary antidotes are useless against warfarin because this compound interferes with blood clotting and causes internal hemorrhage that must be controlled with drugs such as vitamin K.

Stockmen who have insecticides and other farm chemicals left over this fall are urged to store them in a safe place—well out of the reach of stabled animals.

Another safety measure suggested by the veterinary medical organization is to keep these chemicals entirely separate from stock salt and feeds. In several cases, owners and herd attendants have carelessly fed poisonous chemicals to animals by mistaking these products for stock salt or mineral mixtures, the AVMA reports.

Sugar Treatment Goes Sour

Studies made by eastern veterinarians have shown that sugar feeding is not a dependable method of preventing ketosis in dairy cows. This ailment, characterized by a decrease in the amount of sugar in the blood, causes a sharp drop in milk production. Some cows develop crazy symptoms or lose consciousness. Although there is a scientific foundation for feeding sugar as a preventive measure, the eastern studies showed that such a practice actually may make the condition worse instead of better in some instances, for reasons unknown. The sugar treatment remains indisputably valuable, however, for cows that are actually down with the disease. In these cases, a specially prepared solution is given by intravenous injection.

Editors Cited For History Interest

AUSTIN, TEXAS—Weekly newspapers and their editors were commended for their interest in state and local history in University of Texas ceremonies honoring David M. Warren, Panhandle Herald editor.

Dr. H. Bailey Carroll, Texas State Historical Association director, presented an American Association for State and Local History award of merit to Warren, who is vice-chairman of the University of Texas board of regents.

"In honoring you," Dr. Carroll said, "the American Association for State and Local History also honors the weekly newspaper and long-suffering editors all over Texas and America."

He compared the certificate to "All-American" recognition in football.

"For any player to be dubbed All-American is also a compliment to his teammates," Dr. Carroll continued, "for no man is All-American except through a lot of selfless cooperation on his own part and on the part of others."

The Panhandle publisher and banker is past president of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society and a life-member of the Texas State Historical Association. He was recommended for the award by both the TSHA and the Missouri Historical Society, an unprecedented honor.

A native of Missouri, Warren was likened by Dr. Carroll to Moses Austin and Stephen F. Austin, native Missourians who won honor as distinguished Texas citizens.

"The scientist engaged in research holds in his hands the future of cotton and cotton manufacturing,"—Robert C. Jackson, American Cotton Manufacturers institute.

Warns Cattle Ringworm Dangerous to Farmers

Self-protection is urged for farmers who handle ringworm-infected cattle. In a report from Atlanta, Ga., Dr. James H. Steele of the American Board of Veterinary Public Health says that farmers appear to be in much greater danger of getting this disease than statistics indicate. Best advice is to wear rubber gloves while handling ringworm-infected animals, being sure to wash and sterilize the gloves after use. During use, the gloves should not be allowed to come in contact with unprotected parts of the wearer's body.

By BILL KENNEDY CONSERVATION NEWS

SOIL TYPE IS DISCUSSED

V. H. Smith, a former teacher in Friona, has asked for information on soils in the Friona area.

Smith is now bookkeeper for the Hobbs, New Mexico, school system and is in the process of writing a thesis for his Master's degree. His subject is, "The Business Potential in Friona, Texas."

Since the soil potential is of interest to all businesses, we will pass on this information.

Business men in Friona, Farwell and Bovina would probably be the first to admit that if it were not for agriculture, grass would grow in the streets.

Parmer County has four land classes. Friona is in about the center of 275,000 acres of predominantly Class II land, which is explained as "Good land that can be cultivated safely with easily-applied conservation practices."

The soil itself is described as deep, dark, heavy, tight; slopes up to one foot per 100 feet; takes water slowly; high water and fertility holding capacity; responds well to conservation treatment.

The adapted cash crops are: small grains, sorghums, cotton, corn, sudan and non-root truck crops. Adapted legumes include: alfalfa, clover, Austrian pea, Dixie pea, Mung beans, soybeans, and vetch.

Irrigated pasture grasses: orchardgrass, Fescue, Rhodesgrass, ryegrass, crested wheat, sand love, weeping love, Blue Prairie and Bromes. Dryland pasture grasses include: Buffalo, blue grama, Sideoats grama, hairy grama, Western wheat, K. R. Bluestem, Silver bluestem, and Indiangrass.

This soil type has five problems. There is too much runoff due to the slow water penetration. Water erosion will occur on long gentle slopes. Air circulation is reduced when over-tilled or clean-tilled too long. A plow pan forms easily. The soil will run together, bake and crust, and this problem is most severe at planting time.

A survey completed in September, 1949, showed that the average soil of the Friona type is deficient in phosphorus, nitrogen and organic matter.

LINES ARE RUN

During the past week, contour lines and terrace lines were run for John Armstrong. Contour lines were run for Donald Watkins, and a survey was made to determine the size and feet of concrete pipe needed on D. S. Anderson's farm.

"ELEVENTH COMMANDMENT"

A few years ago, while studying erosion in the Holy Land, Dr. Loudermills wrote the eleventh commandment as he felt Moses might have written it had he foreseen man's abuse of the land.

"Thou shalt inherit the holy earth as a faithful steward, conserving its resources and productivity from generation to generation. Thou shalt safeguard thy fields from soil erosion, thy living waters from drying up, thy forests from desolation, and protect thy hills from overgrazing by thy herds, so that thy descendants may have abundance forever. If any shall fail in this stewardship of the land, thy fruitful fields shall become sterile, stony ground and wasting gullies, and thy descendants shall decrease or be destroyed from the face of the earth."

Breakdown Reported At Oil Well Test

Reports of a breakdown in machinery at the site of an oil well test, being run some 10 miles northwest of Friona, were prevalent in the city today, although Sloan Osborn, on whose property the well is being sunk, said that he had been out of town and was unable to confirm the report.

Information is to the effect that the drill bit was broken or damaged as the test reached a depth of some 1300 feet, and other reports are that the bit, an unusually large one, cannot be immediately replaced.

The Parmer test is slated to go to a depth of 9,000 feet.

Miss Shirley Lovett, of Clovis, spent Sunday in the T. E. Lovett home.

Rebuilding Of Friona School Underway

Rebuilding of the Friona high school, which was gutted by fire the past May just after the dismissal of school, was scheduled to start this week, according to Supt. Dalton Caffey, on Monday of this week.

Structural steel arrived and was unloaded on the grounds during the Christmas holidays, and this material, Caffey said, was the only "hold up" according to BMFP, construction company of Lubbock.

Material for the building has been stockpiled at Lubbock during the past several months, the contractor had informed local officials, and with the arrival of the vital steel, work is expected to proceed at a fast clip. Final date for conclusion of construction has been set as Aug. 15, by the contractor, Caffey added.

When the new building is complete, the band and agriculture department, now housed in separate buildings on the campus, will find new quarters, with a 151x38-foot extension being added east and west on the north end of the building, somewhat similar in style to the old gymnasium on the south end of the building.

When all classes move into the high school, the cafeteria will take over the new building now being used for classrooms, and the old cafeteria, ag, and band buildings will be removed from the campus, Caffey added.

Much new equipment is to be installed in the school, but on the other hand, a good deal of the equipment removed by salvage crews from the building is proving usable, officials added, which is a happy note in the final expense column.

Wheat Fields Feel Blasting Winds As Drouth Continues

Wheat and stubble fields in Friona area have felt the effects of the blasting high winds which have swept the area for the past few days and some of the young wheat, none the better for dry weather, is showing the ravages of continued wind.

Excessive blowing of top-soil is reported in some areas, and it is nothing unusual to see farmers riding the tractors in a high wind as they throw up chisel rows in an effort to halt wind erosion.

What the area needs mostly, despite the heavy December snow that deposited around an inch of moisture in the soil, is more moisture in practically any form or fashion.

On the other hand, cotton farmers, interested in getting the remainder of their 1951 crop into the gin yards, are not too anxious just yet for moisture, although much of the crop in this area is the so-called "storm proof" type which will withstand most weather conditions.

Thought For The New Year Of '52

The favorite quotation of the King of England:

"I said to a man who stood at the gate of the year: 'Give me a light that I may safely tread into the unknown'; and he replied: 'Go out into the darkness and put your hand in the hand of God. That shall be better to you than a light and safer than a known way.'" — Miss Haskins.

Long Island Ducklings Get New Lease On Life

A deadly virus disease that threatens to bankrupt Long Island's duck producers, is now being controlled successfully with the aid of a serum bank. Poultry disease authorities from the New York State Veterinary College established in the bank by getting slaughter plants to save the blood from birds and flocks that had suffered from the disease. Now, at the first sign of a new outbreak, serum is obtained from the bank for use in immunizing exposed birds. The disease, heretofore unknown in the United States, destroyed nearly a million Long Island ducks in 1949 alone—or approximately 15 per cent of the total hatch.

An average bale of cotton weighs approximately 500 pounds and yields 170 pounds of seed for every 100 pounds of cotton.

It amazes us to see girls dancing with girls. We didn't think any woman would stand being pushed around by another woman.

Uncertainty Plagues Cotton Situations

AUSTIN, Texas—Great uncertainty currently plagues the cotton situation, says Dr. A. B. Cox, internationally distinguished authority on cotton and University of Texas professor of cotton marketing.

"The biggest single question," Dr. Cox stated, "concerns the imminent December estimate (of cotton production by the Department of Agriculture).

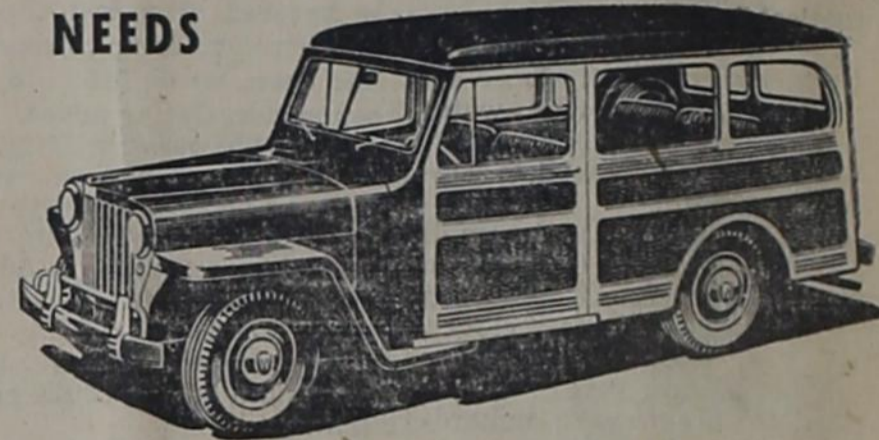

"The decline in cotton production prospects in the U.S. and in foreign countries has been about 3 million bales since August," he continued. "This has created a very bullish supply situation. Should the December estimate be decreased by 1 million bales from the November estimate, prices would most certainly reach the ceiling of 45.39 cents for futures.

"It must be recognized," Dr. Cox warned, "that present mill margins in this country will not support such a price.

"The strength in the market on the demand side lies in prospective exports paid for to a large extent by our own government, he explained. "It must also be recognized in this connection that as prices advance, the number of bales exportable with government grants decreases. Mills in this country will assuredly seek limitations of exports to hold prices of cotton down in the U.S. in order to continue in full operation."
