This is a view looking down from atop the tanks of Worley Mills storage units in Farwell. The flat storage warehouse below was crashed into by the toppling tank. "A" is the top of the tank where it crumpled to the ground. "B" is the warehouse. "C" is the damaged top of a nearby tank that was struck as the weakened unit collapsed.

Inside the warehouse, light pours through the top of the burst roof, and part of the 24,000 bushels of wheat in the tank lie on the concrete floor. No one was injured in the freak accident, which occurred Wednesday afternoon.

Watermelon Feed To Be Monday at 7

Fifty watermelons have been purchased and final program plans are being formulated for the community-wide watermelon feed Monday night in the Texico City Park, beginning at 7 o'clock.

The feed is being sponsored by the Texico-Farwell Lions Club and the get-together is for honoring members of the Texico and Farwell School faculties. The public is invited to take part in the feed and all the melons will be furnished by the Lions.

A musical program of local talent is being worked out for the affair, but it was not complete at press time. Also planned is for the superintendent of each school to introduce all the faculty members.

The feed is planned by the Lions due to the large number of new faculty members in the school systems and the need for new and old members alike to become acquainted with the townspeople and other patrons of the school districts.

The feed is to begin at 7 and the program will begin as soon as a good crowd gathers. It will continue as long as there are melons to serve and people to eat them, says a Lions spokesman.

The melons, purchased from a farmer near the Lazbuddie community, are to be delivered sometime this week.

Word has been received here that A-1c Joe M. Sewell, member of the 3510th Squadron, was selected Airman of the Month for July, at San Antonio. A-1c Sewell is the husband of the former Dorothy Pullam of Farwell.

The young man is originally from Greenville, S. C. He was born in Georgia and went to school there, before moving to South Carolina in 1941. His hobby is "mostly working on automobiles."

The Sewells are parents of two children, Joan, 2½, and David Lee, 7 months.

Steers, Buffs Clash Friday

Football, 1957 style, takes the spotlight Friday night when the Farwell Steers lock horns with the Melrose Buffaloes here in the season opener. Game time is 8 p.m.

Coach J. D. Atwell has given seven seniors, three juniors, and one sophomore the nod for the starting line-up and all are lettermen with the exception of one.

The Steers will be out to offset the 0-0 tie the Buffaloes played last year, the only black mark on an otherwise unblemished record.

The Steer mentor says that the Blue and White team will be ready for the game Friday, "if the injuries heal up." None of the injuries have been serious, but on Wednesday several of the players were crippled up with various type bruises.

A light workout is planned for today (Thursday) in hopes that the ailing Steers will be ready for the game.

According to records, the Steers should have little trouble handling the Buffaloes, since they lost nearly everything through graduation last year, and are reported to have the thinnest squad in many a year. The Steer mentor doesn't see it just that way, however. After hearing how bleak the football fortunes of the Buffs seemed this year, Coach Atwell retorted, "When a team starts crying that much, you'd better watch out."

The Steer-Buff series has had many close games since it first started back in 1949. At no time has there been more than a three-touchdown margin and in most of them one touchdown has determined the winner.

If last Friday night's scrimmage with Dimmitt is any indication, a large crowd should be on hand to watch the opening game. A fine representation of fans was on hand as the Steers butted heads with Dimmitt, a Class AA team.

Atwell expressed satisfaction at the way the team fared against the classy Dimmitt eleven, saying that, "They surely didn't run over us."

Against Dimmitt it was the first time that many of the Steers had played on offense and also the first time that several of them had played defense. Last year, there was enough depth so that some of the boys played only one phase of the game, but this year the players will have to go both ways, the coach points out.

Other than the starters, the remainder of the Steer roster is as follows:

- Glyn Hardage, 145, senior end
- Billy Smith, 150, senior guard
- Wayne Jesko, 140, senior center
- Mike McManigal, 170, junior tackle
- Morris Reed, 150, senior end
- Gerald Christian, 140, junior back
- Cyrus Dale, 160, junior guard
- Larry McDorman, 140, sophomore back
- Robert Carthel, 175, freshman tackle
- Benjy Dial, 125, freshman back
- Tommy Williams, 120, freshman back
- Larry Jesko, 145, junior guard
- Barthel Ford, 140, sophomore back
- James Burleson, 140, sophomore guard
- Bobby Curtis, 155, sophomore tackle
- Tommy Barker, 130, freshman center
- Bill Owens, 125, freshman end
- J. F. Mounts, 150, freshman tackle
- Carroll Huggins, 125, freshman back

Longhorns Open Season Friday

Going into their second year of 11-man football, Lazbuddie's Longhorns open the 1957 football season this Saturday night at 8 o'clock. The game will be against the Muleshoe B squad on the Longhorn's home field.

Workouts for some 40 football hopefuls got underway last week and prospects are good for improving on the team's 2-8 won-lost record of last year, it is reported.

Coach George Washington will be in his second year at the Longhorn helm, and he is hoping for a pretty fair season. The Longhorns will be in District 3-B, and following the season opener Saturday the remainder of the schedule is as follows:

- Sept. 13, Vega, home
- Sept. 20, New Home, home
- Sept. 27, *Whitharral, away
- Oct. 4, open
- Oct. 11, Farwell, away
- Oct. 18, *Amherst, away
- Oct. 25, *Happy, home
- Nov. 1, *Hart, home
- Nov. 8, *Bovina, home
- Nov. 15, *Kress, away.

McCauley Leases Furniture Mart, Smart To Lubbock

John W. McCauley took over the operation of the Texico-Farwell Furniture Mart this week, and Ben Smart, former manager of the concern, announced plans for opening a similar business in Lubbock.

McCauley said that he would begin stocking the store immediately and would be open for business when the first shipment of furniture arrives. Smart is winding up the moving of his furniture from the Texico store to Lubbock and he plans to open his new store there in the near future.

Smart, along with his brother, Jim Bob, has been in business in Texico-Farwell for the past nine years. His new business will be known as Smart Furniture Company and it will be located at 323 North College Avenue in Lubbock.

McCauley has been operating a furniture store in Amarillo, but has closed there and he and his family moved to Texico last week. McCauley's partner in the business is J. B. Sudbury, who (Continued on Last Page)

Means Closes Out Grocery, Hardware

Les Means this week announced that he will close out his Home Grocery and Hardware store in Texico. He is offering his $4,000 of stock in a sale.

In addition, equipment will be offered for sale, and the building will be available for lease. Means has operated the store for 13 years.

Means this week says his plans for the future are not complete, although he does expect to enter the real estate business on a full-time basis.

Prospects Good As Texico Softball Season Opens

Prospects are good for a pretty fair boys softball team, Coach Paul Frederick said this week, as he prepared his Texico Wolverines for the season opener against Logan tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at Logan.

are 11 lettermen returning from last year and two additional ones from Rosedale, the coach says. "If the pitching comes through, we should have a good club," Frederick adds.

Heading the list of some 40 boys working out for the team

Lettermen returning are Bob Stover, catcher; Jerry Bowers,

The Rosedale players, who should give the Wolverines a boost, are Jerry Trower, pitcher; and Larry Ruberson.

As for the girls team this year, which also opens the season at Logan tomorrow, Frederick says that quite a few lettermen were lost and there are only four starters returning from last year's team. Inexperience will be the main problem, the coach says.

The starters returning from last year are Melba Walsh, catcher; Wilma Dodson, pitcher; Janel Seale, left field; and Garlene Clear, first base. Other lettermen are Lunell Lovett, Gloria Johnson, Anita Moss, and Darlene Day.

The lettermen are all of the juniors and seniors who are out for the team and the remainder of the squad will be made up of 12 sophomores. The sophomores are the ones who were on the junior high team that copped the Curry County

Young adult fellowship class of the church is sponsoring a pancake breakfast at the church basement on Sunday morning, September 15, from 6 to 8 o'clock. The project is under the direction of John Lovelace, class president, and proceeds will be used to purchase 50 new folding chairs for the Sunday School departments. All members of the church and anyone in the community are invited to attend this breakfast. There will be no charge, but you may give whatever you desire.

Susannah Wesley Bible Class will meet Tuesday, September 10, at 3 o'clock in the home of Mrs. E. G. Blair. Mrs. Albert Thomas will be leader for the day. All members are urged to be present.

Wesleyan Service Guild will hold its regular meeting Monday night, September 9, in the home of Mrs. John Armstrong. This is the first fall meeting of this group and all members are invited to be present.

The commission on membership is compiling a complete list of members of this church. B. A. Rogers is chairman and John Getz is serving as corresponding secretary in the project. If you know the address of any member who has moved away, please contact one of these men. We are also interested in having a list of members who entered our fellowship between April 1955 and May 1957. If you joined this church during this time, please call the pastor.

The official board has completed the membership of the "steering committee" to begin the preliminary work on our new church plant. Members are J. H. McDonald, Paul Wurster, Sam Aldridge, Woodrow Lovelace, W. J. Matthews, Jack Williams, W. H. Graham Jr., H. Y. Overstreet, and W. D. Howard. This group will meet tonight (Thursday) at the church basement at 8 to begin their work.

The Methodist Men's organization has sent in its gift of $200 to help build a men and boys building at the Sacramento Methodist Assembly. This is a very fine work and was done with the finest of attitudes.

You will all receive a copy of the financial condition of your church within the next week. Please study it carefully and ask yourself if you have been responding with the same joy and generosity with which you have been receiving all of the good gifts of God.

Ushers for church services for this next month are Joe White and Gilbert Watkins.

The paving contractor has just completed the paving of both streets at the parsonage. This improves the looks, value and livability of your property.

Church school attendance is beginning to come back up now that school has started. We had 114 in Sunday School this past week and 118 in the morning worship hour. The evening services can use some more support.

The MYF'ers and all the sponsoring couples are asked to meet with the pastor in the basement at 6:15 this Sunday evening. Bring a sack lunch and we will have a picnic for our evening meal. After this we will re-organize our MYF and assign each member to a certain program area.

Remember the Sunday School class that meets in the Border Theatre each week. This can become one of the finest fellowships of the church if you will share your life, love and interest. This class will meet direct at the theatre at 10 and have its devotional opening there instead of at the church. Let's see if you can fill it up!

This week's copy of Look magazine has an article on "The Methodist." Of all of the Methodists in the United States, our area was selected to show the real vitality of a well organized group with high visions of the Methodist Church. Our own bishop is shown twice in pictures and the magnificent St. Luke's Methodist Church is also pictured. Get a copy today and share it with your family. You can well be proud to be a Methodist when you have and practice the noble ideals of your faith.

Hoping to see you in church Sunday!

A. W. Anthony Jr. Is Conservation Farmer of Year

A. W. Anthony Jr., who lives and farms six miles north of Friona, has been named conservation farmer of the year in the Parmer County Soil Conservation District.

He will be recognized at the annual SCD banquet Thursday night (Sept. 5) in the Bovina school cafeteria, and featured speaker of the evening will be Austin Meredith, secretary of the Canadian River Authority. Meredith will tell of plans for impounding the waters of that river for serving the needs of the High Plains.

The banquet will be at 8 o'clock and the public is invited, announces A. L. Black, chairman of the SCD board of supervisors.

A. W. "Dub" Anthony Jr. was selected for the honor this year because of his soil and water conservation practices. Young Anthony is regarded as a top notch farmer and a good example of what better farm management consists of.

Anthony owns 160 acres and he and his wife and family live in a modern home on the southeast corner of his quarter. The home's grounds are well maintained, and Anthony's neatness carries over to his farming, also.

Dub and his brother, Ernest, farm 2,200 acres in all, which makes them a busy pair, but the Friona farmer is convinced that big-scale farming does not necessarily mean sweeping, wasteful methods.

"The idea today is tied up to what you can produce on an acre," he says, and he speaks from experience. "We have tried to water 200 acres of land with one irrigation well. If you water 100 acres per well instead you'll do a better job and make more profit for the water you pump."

Having plenty of water doesn't mean Anthony has seen his way clear to waste any, however, and he faithfully carries out a number of practices that lead to better use of that valuable resource.

The Anthony family makes use of the time-proven underground concrete pipe for transporting water from their wells to the field. They thus avoid waste from seepage, evaporation, ditch breakage, and other troubles. Dub has three-quarters of a mile on his own place.

This year's conservation farmer is a pioneer in the "broadcast strip" method of controlling surplus water or "tail water," and the bone-dry ditches on the Anthony place testify to the effectiveness of that system.

Dub drilled in hegari on the bottom 150 feet of his grain sorghum field, and took special pains to see that the planting path of the hegari was at right angles to the flow of water that came down the grain sorghum rows. The water heads southeast on the Anthony farm, so the hegari is planted "crooked" on the lower end of the field to offer maximum resistance.

Anthony reports that the water "walks" into the hegari after "running" down the rows, and seldom if ever gets to the ditch. What's more, the hegari produces a big crop of bundles that are handily consumed by stock on the Anthony farm—a neat arrangement.

Dub is not afraid to experiment, and this year he has some double-row grain sorghum, seeded at a rate of 10 pounds per acre. He's quite pleased with prospects. All of his sorghums this year are hybrids. He has 70 acres of the double-row crop. Anthony's 80 acres of wheat averaged 45 bushels an acre this year, and has already been plowed back into the land to get maximum benefit from decomposition of the stalk. He also applied 100 pounds of anhydrous ammonia to help speed up the process.

One unusual sight on the Anthony farm is 90 acres of grain sorghum which he classes as "dryland." However, a portion of the field was pre-irrigated by surface pipe using a well that was available earlier in the year. Dub says he didn't pay much attention to the project, but the difference between the crop where it received the pre-irrigation and where it did not is amazing.

It is Anthony's estimate that the grain sorghum, which is Texas 610, will yield between 2,500 and 3,000 pounds where pre-irrigation was applied. "And that's about all profit," he says.

In fact, Anthony appears to be prouder of his "dryland" milo than he is his well-watered, well-fertilized crop that he figures will do 6,000 pounds or better. Anthony has used Austrian winter peas as a green manure crop and has other soil-conserving practices underway from time to time. On his home place, his crops consist of 70 acres of maize, 13 acres of alfalfa, 40 of wheat, and 20 summer tilled land.

Cotton Insects Seen

Two mid-season "favorites"—the bollworm and the leafworm—have been showing up in Parmer County area cotton in recent days, County Agent Joe Jones said this week.

He suggested that farmers watch for worms and eggs and do some counting to figure if infestations warrant control measures. "Five small worms and eggs per 100 terminals is still a good yardstick for control," says the agent. He was speaking of bollworms in that instance.

However, he emphasizes that leafworms bear watching, too, and he suggests that farmers apply measures when worms begin to rag the leaves of the plants.

"It's been said that leafworms don't hurt anything by chewing on the leaves, but that isn't the case," emphasizes the agent. "The leafworm begins eating at the top of the plant, and will stop maturity of the young boll at the top that are very important for that 'extra' cotton that every farmer wants."

A good idea is to inspect often and be prepared in advance for whatever steps are believed necessary, says the agent.

There'll be plenty of bundles cut from this hegari on the Anthony farm north of Friona. The main purpose of this crop, however, is to stop surplus irrigation water from running out the end of rows of milo.

Concrete irrigation tile saves lots of valuable water on the Anthony farm. This is a steel vent near the well. With A. W. Anthony Jr. is his small son, Dennis, who's as interested in farming as his daddy.

Another New Treatment For Cotton . . .

A new easy-ironing, quick-drying cotton, resistant to damage from rot and heat, has been made by a process developed through the U. S. Department of Agriculture research.

The treated fabric, "fully acetylated" cotton, is still in the laboratory stage and not ready for commercial production. However, tests show that it has several easy-care characteristics added to the natural qualities that have made cotton an outstanding clothing fabric over the years.

Fully acetylated cotton is heavier yet faster drying than ordinary cotton. It is also stronger and more heat and rot resistant. It looks like untreated cotton, but it has a rougher texture. Researchers hope that adding softening chemicals to the treatment may eliminate this harshness. The new fabric can be dyed a full range of colors and shades. It is not affected by solvents that dissolve some synthetic fibers.

Pleats can be ironed into the new fabric with a dry household iron set at the temperature for wool. These pleats withstand considerable wear and are easy to reset after laundering.

ACP Cost-Sharing Program Available

"We still have funds for federal cost-sharing for needed conservation practices under the Parmer County agricultural conservation program," Joe W. Magness, chairman of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today.

Magness invites farmers to submit requests to the county ASC office in Farwell, any time during the month of September for cost-sharing on conservation practices they can complete before the end of the year.

Practices, for which cost-sharing is available in this county are:

- C-1—Initial establishment of permanent sod waterways.
- C-5—Constructing diversion terraces.
- C-12—Reorganization of farm irrigation systems by installing concrete, plastic or steel pipe.
- C-13—Leveling irrigable land. Limited to bench leveling.
- E-3c—Control of bindweed.

The 1958 ACP has been authorized by congress, approved by the secretary of agriculture and is now being developed by the Texas ACP Development sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake covered at 350 degrees for 1 hour and 15 minutes.

For a subtle flavor difference, try this: Add sliced canned water chestnuts to fresh or frozen peas or green lima beans; season with salt, pepper, butter or margarine and simmer until vegetable is tender and flavors blended.

Place ten-ounce package of frozen asparagus in a 1-quart baking dish. Add 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon celery seeds and 1 tablespoon juice. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour.

Add extra "zip" to green beans this way: In a 1-quart baking dish place 1 ten-ounce package frozen French-style green beans or fresh beans and ½ cup water. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour. Drain and pour over beans 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine combined with 3 tablespoons chili sauce.

Group. The county ACP Development Group will meet soon to select practices and set rates for the county program. It will be offered to farmers about December 1.

"Farmers planning to do conservation work this fall and receive cost-sharing assistance will be in a more favorable position if they make their requests now," Magness points out.

Magness also points out another important provision concerning the seeding of wheat for 1958. In the future a farmer will not be able to increase the wheat allotment on a farm by overseeding his allotment as has been the practice in the past. If any farmer intends to seed wheat in excess of his allotment it is suggested that he contact the ASC office prior to seeding time for an explanation of penalty procedure and other information concerning the overseeding of his allotment.

It's a beautiful crop of milo—we think. This picture illustrates the major weed problem that area grain sorghum producers are faced with this year. Such fields will be real headaches when the time for harvest has arrived.

Weedy's the Word For 1957 Crops

By W. H. GRAHAM JR.

The Parmer County area's 1957 crops are beautiful—if you can find 'em under the weeds.

Well, perhaps that is overstating the problem, but in all truth, this is the worst year on record for weed infestation. Most anyone will agree on that.

How come the forest of weeds in milo fields all of a sudden? Where did all the weeds come from? Why haven't we been able to control them this year?

These and other questions pop into the mind of anyone who takes a drive in the country these days. And, there are a number of answers to the questions.

In the first place, remember that Parmer County farmers got "scared" of using hormone-type herbicides for weed control this year by the law adopted last fall which imposed strict regulatory steps on all persons using the chemicals.

The law was adopted solely for the protection of cotton growers—and many of them had claimed in seasons past that their cotton was severely damaged by such chemicals as 2-4, D, which had a tendency to drift around from place to place in the rather unstable High Plains air.

Much ill will and some outright disputes were caused by the use of 2-4, D, and the result was adoption of the herbicide control law. It placed the responsibility of using hormone-type chemicals directly on the user, and set up such a large amount of regulation and red tape that most farmers shied away from the permits that were offered.

Secondly, farmers ran head-on with an unusual combination in spring weather for the Plains: cool and wet. In a hurry to get their crops in and off to a good start, farmers found conditions for growing weeds just as good as they were for raising grain sorghum. And so, the careless weeds came right along with the milo, and by the time cultivating time had rolled around (following cloudy or drizzly days and cold nights), the weeds were as big as—if not bigger—than the crop itself.

Weeds between the rows were eliminated with sweeps, but the weeds in the rows—well, most of them are still there, as you can see for yourself. They've come right along with the feed, and in most cases, tower above the heads by a foot or more.

Cotton fields do not have the appearance that so many grain sorghum fields do this year for the simple reason that cotton is the Plains' "pampered" crop, and our ability to produce a lot of lint at a good price has made it worth-while to remove the weeds by hand hoeing.

Hand hoeing seldom if ever can be figured a paying proposition for milo—at least not at present day prices and present day production costs. For the most part, farmers are just cussing the weeds and letting it go at that.

It isn't true that Parmer County naturally has more weeds than other areas. Don't forget that we are the only High Plains area covered by the special herbicide law. That puts us in a class by ourselves.

Hormone-type herbicides are being used with caution everywhere that cotton is grown—but they've about been put out of use in our county, at least for this year. (Chemicals such as 2-4, D do not affect narrow-leaf plants such as the sorghums, but they damage broad-leafed crops such as cotton.)

Permits at one time during the season were being issued at the rate of about seven per week, and that number indicated that a very small percentage of local farmers made use of herbicides this year.

There are two main problems attached to the big weed crop of 1957. One is the immediate and pressing worry of harvesting the milo with the infestation. Some farmers are considering "topping" the weeds just above the grain with special cutters (see picture elsewhere).

The weed stalks will make it a problem to get accurate adjustments made for the combine. They will also make it hard for the combine operator to get all the grain that is in the field.

Secondly, the big weed crop of this year, which has gone practically untouched, can be expected to produce a record seed crop that will fall to the ground, be plowed under, and produce other possible record weed crops in years to come. That's a long-range headache.

As to the solution, County Agent Joe Jones says the best idea to work on is prevention—not cure—of weeds. One of the keys to this practice is to move the planting date back to avoid the conditions that make for ideal weed growth. "We need to kill as many weeds as we can before we plant, and then to plant late when we know our feed will get off to a fast start and leave the weeds behind," he says.

This spring, when the grain sorghum plants were small and tender and farmers couldn't work fields, the weeds responded in great number and with great vigor to water in the soil from irrigation (intended for the feed, of course), and the showers that fell from above and further hindered weed control work. Also, fertilizer that grows a lot of grain also grows a big weed, farmers are finding out. The trick is to keep the weed from getting its share.

Traditionally, the High Plains farmer gets "planting fever" along in April, and along in early May, wild horses could scarcely keep him out of the field, he's so anxious to get going on another year.

However, the idea that early planting means early harvesting is often erroneous, points out Agent Jones. Milo planted on May 1 will not mature 30 days sooner than feed planted June 1.

"We need to plant along late in May or early June," believes the county agent. "In a year such as this our early-planted crops don't go anywhere even if we do get them in quickly, and what's more, they take water to keep alive. We could possibly avoid one irrigation a year by later planting."

Farmers whose fields were washed or crusted by spring showers and who had to plant over poor stands found that generally speaking their planted-over (later) crops were much cleaner.

"There are some good examples where farmers planted just a part of their crop over, and there isn't any doubt which part is cleaner," says Jones.

While careless weeds are by far the most prolific weed (and are not considered noxious), the outbreak of Johnson grass is rather alarming this year, also.

"We've been worrying about bindweed so much lately that we've almost forgotten that Johnson grass needs to be worked on too," reminded the agent. "While I don't want to minimize the danger of bindweed a bit, I think we should still remember that Johnson grass is a problem and needs constant control."

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

We just returned from the best and first honeymoon we ever had. As all travelers know, there are lots of pretty country in other places to visit, but this (home) seems the most satisfactory for all practical purposes.

We feel that Raymond Schueler as chairman, and all the directors and associates of the Farm Bureau weed committee are due special recognition for the work they are getting done this year. We realize, of course, that some of the accomplishments are being made possible by those who served the previous three years, and former chairmen and directors are due the proper appreciation for their efforts.

It seems that the railroad officials are preparing to eradicate the weeds from their right of way, and that is one the committee has worked on since formation of the committee.

The district queen contest will be held in Lubbock Thursday night, Sept. 19. During the day, policy development meetings will be held in the same city. We are looking forward to seeing our candidate, Miss Wilma Norton, do well in this contest. All farmers interested in the future of Texas agriculture would do well to attend the policy development meeting, too. Members of the resolutions committee will be expected to attend. Some new, and possibly good, farm program resolutions will be presented from counties in this area.

20 Acres of Milo Cut Near Friona

First load of 1957 milo is in the bins at Friona Wheat Growers Elevator, after a 20-acre field of dryland was harvested on the H. C. Claborn farm north of Friona.

A little earlier than the first load last year, the grain produced an estimated 1,300 pounds per acre. Arrangements for disposal of the grain had not been completed at the middle of the week, so the going price is not known.

Testing 15 percent moisture for the first load, the grain weighed 56 pounds per bushel, and was graded number two.

Cutting of the field started Saturday afternoon and was finished Tuesday afternoon. Located six miles north and two miles west of Friona, it is the only known field in the area that a combine has been tried on, with other fields expected to come about two weeks later.

... (2) limiting the harvest of soil bank base crops to a "permitted acreage" (in general, the soil bank base less the number of acres in the soil bank); (3) controlling noxious weeds on the acreage reserved for land; and (4) controlling erosion on the land, where this is necessary.

"Farmers who participate in the 1958 winter wheat acreage reserve program in Parmer County will receive payments in the amount of $20.32 per acre for irrigated wheat and $9.31 for dryland wheat.

Quitting Time

Near For Sorghums, Too

High Plains Farm and Home has given much emphasis recently to the recommended "shut-off" date of August 20-25 for irrigating cotton on the High Plains.

It has not intended, by omission of mention, to suggest that watering other crops—such as grain sorghum—could be continued at a profit up until the time of a killing frost.

"Watch for when the grain begins to turn," suggests County Agent Joe Jones. That's the best barometer, he believes.

The net effect of watering milo after that stage of development is to increase the moisture content of the grain and thus place an unnecessary delay on the time of harvest, he cautions.

Pumping water on a grain sorghum crop after the ripening color is evident is wasteful and expensive, and is a practice that doesn't pay, he says.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Thursday night is the night of the Parmer County Soil Conservation District banquet which will be held in the Bovina School cafeteria at 8. This is a special invitation to everyone in the area interested in soil and water conservation to attend this meeting.

Dinner will be served and a short conservation program will be presented after the meal. There will also be awards to outstanding conservationists in the area. You can obtain tickets from various businessmen in Bovina, Friona, and Farwell as well as the district supervisors.

Something to think about: Soil is the farmer's bank. It won't stand too many promissory notes.

In looking over the district the last few weeks, one thing has begun to be very noticeable. This is the fact that on our dry land, farmers who planted on the contour of the land have grain which will be cut where just across the road the farmer who planted up and down the slope won't cut a thing.

A few exceptions have been noted on contoured land where this was not true, but in these cases a dense hardpan was found about six inches below the soil surface. The moisture conditions on the fields were the same. Contour farming made the difference.

If you receive any rain you can hold it on the land by the use of contour rows or furrows. On up and down the hill rows, the water runs out the ends before it has time to go into the ground. The type of rains we receive in the summer are usually hard and fast and to get them in the ground we need to hold them there until they have time to go in.

Where possible, this same thing is true with irrigated land. In most instances we lose all our rain water on irrigated land along with the soil that is washed out of the field. We need to conserve both water and soil by taking the fall out of our rows.

Fall-Planted Seed Needs Inoculation

Farmers who are considering planting fall-seeded legumes should take precautions to see that their seed is properly inoculated. Little expense is involved in the process, and seed inoculation is regarded as cheap insurance on getting the crop off to a good start.

All legumes should be inoculated with proper nitrogen-fixing bacteria and phosphate for best results, suggests the county agent.

He has further details on the procedure.

This odd-looking contraption will be swinging into action again this year. It's a "de-header" and is used primarily to cut sudan out of grain sorghum fields, although it can remove tall weeds, Johnson grass, or other unwanted growths. Owner is Cecil Rundell of Farwell, who drives a new and improved model this year. Several others have been built in the area and all are expected to be quite busy this year.

THE PARMER FARMER
By LELAND BOYD AND W. H. GRAHAM JR.

The calendar of events for September has some field days which will be of interest to farmers of the area, and with most crops almost laid by, we suggest that you make plans to attend at least one of these meetings.

For your record, one of the first to take place this month is to be in Friona, Sept. 12. It is to be of special interest to poultry raisers, and is sponsored by Cummings Farm Store.

The meeting will consist of a meal and a film on new ideas in the poultry industry, with discussion of the film to follow. The meeting is open to anyone who desires to attend. E. H. Cummings says that the grinding-mixing machinery that is being installed at the store will be completed by the meeting.

September 17 is the date for DeKalb's annual field day at the company's experimental farms near Shallowater. The day will include a tour of the test plots, a noon meal, talks from farm leaders, and panel discussions between farmers on irrigation, and other subjects related to Plains farming.

September 18, the Texas Research Foundation's Experiment Station at Halfway, will observe its first field day. Farmers over the area are invited to come and observe the activities and progress of the institution.

If you are planning to attend one or all of these trips, check with your neighbors and plan to go together.

Although we are not too well versed on the advantages and disadvantages of sorghum alum, the possibility that a few defects are going to show up as it is grown under less than ideal conditions, exists. We heard reports that it develops a high percentage of prussic acid during drought, more than any of the other sorghums grown locally.

Among the advantages claimed for the plant is drought resistance, but during the dry spells, a person who grazes it might wish it were not around if a herd of cattle takes a few bites at the wrong time.

Even spacing of plants helps produce better yields, and it does not necessarily follow that double rows should mean double seeding, he suggests.

Although it's poor business to ever weigh your crop before it goes onto the scales, it's hard to resist the temptation to compare fields with one another, and a not uncommon conversation goes like this:

"There's my Caprock over there. It'll make 4,000 pounds, while my Martin's is good for 3,750."

Last year, some farmers were disappointed with the yields of their new and highly publicized hybrid grain sorghums. This year, however, most everywhere we go, farmers are indicating satisfaction with pre-harvest appearances of their hybrids. It looks like they will be outstripping old standby varieties quite a bit if predictions come true this year.

There have been rather disturbing reports in circulation that the Parmer County area will again be faced with a serious storage problem for the coming milo harvest.

Outgoing shipments are, according to our information, meager compared with the amount of old milo and this year's wheat still in the warehouses. In connection with this, there has been a slight interest shown in on-the-farm storage construction, but only a ripple, really, when the size of the crop is taken into consideration. Just how serious this condition may be we haven't determined. Sometime this week we hope to compile enough reports to be able to tell.

We notice that farmers are "playing around" with planting methods more than usual this year. There has been some double-row cotton in the area and it isn't too uncommon to spot double-row grain sorghum.

County Agent Joe Jones says farmers think of double-row planting they usually think of doubling the amount of seed they plant. That is, six pounds for one row—twelve pounds for two.

This year has been good proof that commercial fertilization is here to stay, and that some of the soundest businesses that will serve agriculture will continue to be those that dispense the chemical miracles that give our irrigation-tired soils a boost.

However, there doesn't appear to be anything on the market that can take the place of good old stalk when it comes to adding organic matter to the soils of the Plains—which are notoriously low in this important ingredient.

Wheat Sign-Up Ready

The sign-up for the soil bank's 1958 winter wheat acreage reserve opened this past Monday, and Prentice Mills, Parmer County ASC manager, says that the new "Soil Bank Base" provision of the 1958 acreage reserve program should be thoroughly understood by farmers before they sign agreements.

The manager gave the following explanation of the program:

"Each farm taking part in the program will have a soil bank base established for it, based primarily on the average of land devoted to soil bank base crops during the past two years—1956 and 1957. The base crops will include the basic ones, such as corn, wheat, and cotton, and other crops such as the grains, annual grasses cut for seed, oil seeds, cowpeas, potatoes, commercial vegetables, field and canning peas, and beans.

Requirements under the 1958 winter wheat acreage reserve program include: (1) reducing wheat acreage below the farm's

When you see a tall-sideboard truck coming down the road, it's usually filled with silage. Here's the way it gets full. It drives alongside a cutter that chops the corn or other silage crop and blows it neatly into the truck. The truck is delivering to Farwell Feed Lots, a big feeding operation where 8,000 tons of forage from 400 irrigated acres will be ensiled. Price of the silage this year—around $7 a ton.

Cleaning up a field the quick way is how a whirling silage cutter works. Here tall corn is being cut from the farm of Mose Glascock, south of Farwell. Nothing is left except the short stumps of the corn stalk and the rest is whisked away to storage by a truck. Glascock's corn is making 18 tons per acre, the yield having been reduced by severe worm infestation.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER
BY JUNE FLOYD

The next time you are invited to a salad supper and want something different to take, try this recipe for Ham Ring. It is different and very tasty.

Ingredients:
1 envelope plain gelatin

1/4 cup chopped celery
1/4 cup cold water
1 1/2 cups meat broth
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 hard boiled egg
2 cups ground cooked ham
1/2 teaspoon onion juice
Soak gelatin in cold water. Dissolve in boiling broth. Add lemon juice and salt. Cool. When mixture starts to jell, add all other ingredients except egg. Slice egg and arrange in ring mold. Pour a little of the meat mixture over and harden. Then add remaining mixture. Chill until firm.

If your daughter is looking for something new and different from which to fashion a bulletin board for all the things which girls seem to collect for such boards, suggest that she hunt up an old wash board. Surely you don't plan to use that one that has been hanging in the basement, garage, or storage room so long. Just offer the wash board to her and her ingenuity will do the rest. They can be disguised in any number of ways and certainly give the room that "different" look most girls want. Seems like the most popular thing to do right now is something that is really different.

Some of our homemakers are enjoying home-grown fruit this month. Seems that most of the fruit was later than usual but the quality and taste has not changed. The Russel O'Brians had a very good peach yield as did the Gus Schlabs. The Herschel Johnsons, Obra Coles, O. J. Beenes, and several other families will be eating plum jelly, butter and preserves for a long time.

The plums grew profusely along the Canadian River north of us this year. Like the local orchards, the bushes produced fruit later than usual, but those who took time to pick and work the plums into their favorite jellies, etc. feel that their time and effort was well spent.

Does anyone around here grow garden peaches? If we had ever heard of such thing, it escaped our memory. Two of our daughters visited in Western Oklahoma this week and enjoyed eating garden peaches some of our Okie relatives had grown. Whatever grows in Western Oklahoma will grow on the High Plains, so some of us should be growing this new kind of peach.

Pears and turkeys are two of the leaders on the list of foods that are to be plentiful and economical the next few months. Had you thought of serving turkey to your family at any time? There is no special reason why we should wait for Christmas, Thanksgiving, or some other special occasion. Another thing that most of us seem to think is that the only way to serve turkey is roasted with dressing and giblet gravy. One variation which is very good is Creamed Turkey.

Ingredients

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup chopped onion
1 1/2 cups diced celery
3/4 cup flour
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
8 cups turkey stock (or water and bouillon cubes)
4 cups diced cooked turkey
2 cups cooked peas
1 cup chopped pimento
1 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce
Melt butter or margarine in large saucepan; saute onions and celery until tender but not browned. Stir in flour, salt and pepper; blend. Gradually add stock and cook until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Add remaining ingredients and heat thoroughly. Serve over hot, cooked rice.

Then to go with the Creamed Turkey and to use one of the other plentiful and economical foods, you could serve Pear

Waldorf Salad.

Ingredients:

8-10 large pears
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 cups diced celery
Leaves of lettuce
1/2 cup chopped pecans
1/2 cup drained canned bing cherries (optional)
Peel and core pears; dice and sprinkle with lemon juice and salt. Combine whipped cream and mayonnaise, add to pears and celery. Chill. Just before serving, pile mixture on lettuce leaves and sprinkle with nuts. If desired, garnish with bing cherries.

Carrots Roll at Friona

Carrots were packed for the first time in Friona, beginning Friday afternoon of last week with several tons of the "rabbit food" being sealed in pound plastic containers.

The crop was dug from Kenneth Neill's farm near Friona, and even though the turnout in percentage of quality carrots was not so high near the beginning of the digging, a good price kept the picture favorable.

About 35 percent of the first carrots were going into the cow-feed bin, but later estimates after the earliest patch had been processed, said that about 25 percent was what the later dug patches were culled.

The carrots were drawing $3.90 for 48 one-pound plastic bags, and are packed in shiny ebony and clear plastic containers. Price, though as unpredictable as the weather, stands a good chance of remaining high enough to give carrot growers good returns from their carrot enterprise. Yield on later dug fields is expected to be better than the six to seven tons which Neill's produced, maybe as high as 10 tons. Poor seed is blamed for the drop in quality and yield for Neill's first dug field.

CARROT HARVEST BEGINS — A conveyor takes carrots past these workers for inspection and packaging into "Golden Spread" bags, as carrot packing begins in Friona, at Friona Growers and Shippers. It is breaking in time for equipment, installed this summer, and graders, too, since this is their first time to package carrots.

Since this is the first experience that Friona Growers and Shippers, Inc., has had with carrots, a carrot handling expert from the Texas Rio Grande Valley is on hand to help get the organization acquainted with carrot packing. He is Boyd Martin, of Alice.

Those who attended were: Bovina—Barbara Rega, Freddie Taylor, Virginia Rea, James Stevens; Farwell—Frankie Coffman, Judy Billingsley, Truman McKillip, Kenneth Krieger, Johnny McCuan; Friona—Margaret Mabry; Black—Tommy Tatum, Kenneth Duncan, Doris Barnett; Lazbuddie—Beverly Smith, Richard Chitwood, Steven Young, Billy Hardage; Rhea—Gladys Dean, Lindy Dean, Marilyn Potts.

4-H'ers Enjoy Party

Parmer County older 4-H Club girls invited the older 4-H Club boys to a party August 30 at the Hub community house. Games were directed by Barbara and Virginia Rea, Bovina; Beverly Smith, Lazbuddie; and Judy Billingsley, Farwell.

Visitors—Madeline Chang, Ed McGuire, Catherine Chang, Avis Crissup.

Adult leaders—The Ellis Tatums, Leon Billingsleys, J. B. Youngs, Dee Chitwoods, and James Mabrys.

The group decided that they would like to have a regular party every two months. The next one will be Saturday night, October 26.

Vote Goes Over

Lazbuddie voters looked at the other side of the coin when they went to the polls in a special tax rate election last week. They approved a request by their school board that they invoke Public Law 116.

That gave the board leeway to increase the tax rate from $1.50 per hundred dollars valuation to $1.65, and furnished money said to be badly needed for local maintenance requirements.

The vote was 98 to 35, reflecting a considerable increase in balloting from the 24-16 (against) vote of a month previous.

Katherine Pullam To Oklahoma School

Katherine Pullam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Pullam, left Farwell in August to enroll in school at Tulsa, Okla., at Will Rogers High School.

The young woman began classes as a senior there, and plans to complete her diploma this year. Her parents report that she is one of 800 students in the class, and likes the school very much.

She is staying with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Culberson. He is a brother of Mrs. Pullam.

jottin's from jeanne

Three little kittens, haven't found their mittens, but they have found something better. They are now the proud owners of little girls, all their own.

The kittens are gone to new homes. The first of the three is now living in Albuquerque with the two little granddaughters of Ruby Dixon. The second one also has two little girls for playmates—the daughters of the Claud Coopers took the pet home with them.

The last one was getting lonely for his brothers or sisters, and went to live in Lazbuddie. Mrs. Jack Smith called us and asked about the kitten. She came for it Wednesday, and told us that it was to belong to one of the neighbor children. We failed to ask her the name of the child. The Graham cat family is now right back where it started—just Mammy and Pappy Cat remain.

We think we have joined the ranks of the sneezing, sniffing, watery-eyed hay-fever sufferers. We keep hoping it is just a cold, but actually know better. We now have the utmost sympathy for other members of the fraternity.

The questions pour, when Ronny happens to see Kirt and Kater Crume together. Kater is his uncle and he just can't understand why there is another man,
