"Uncle Tom" Randol, 82-years-old, is one of the true old-timers of this region, having homesteaded outside of Texico 49 years ago, back in 1903. "And a heap can happen in 49 years", he says.

The old-timer, who has been a self-styled New Mexican for the past half century, actually was born in Sebastian County, Ark. He lived there with his parents until he was seven years old, then the family moved down close to Ft. Worth, Texas—to Arlington, Texas. "Uncle Tom" remained there until 1888, then struck out to make his fortune, settling first in Abilene, arriving in August. He was 18 years old at the time.

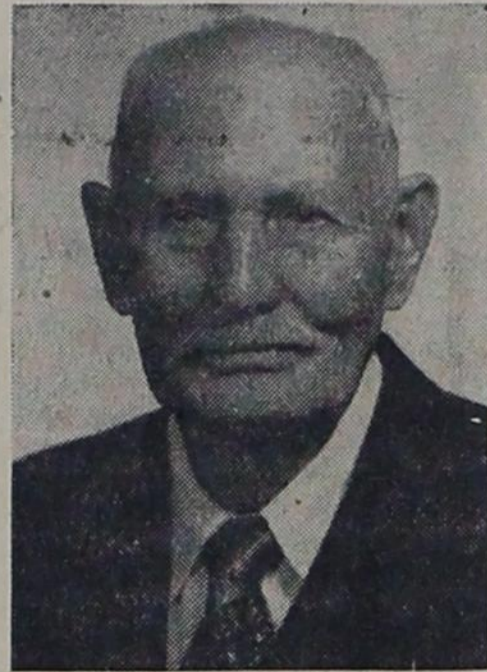

He first obtained a job as a ranch hand and did everything, including regular chores and helping in the round-up. Then he began employment doing general farm work.

It was during this period that Uncle Tom first met Miss Martha E. Decker, who was his future wife. The local man had attended the wedding of a close friend, who was also the cousin of Miss Decker. "I met her at the dance after the wedding ceremony," Uncle Tom says. That was in September.

The wedding was in Trent, Texas; so after Uncle Tom's return to Abilene, he didn't see the young lady again until Christmas. This was actually the first date for the couple, and they attended a Christmas tree party. After that time, they began going steady; Uncle Tom had had another date with the young Miss Decker the very next week.

They were married on August 1, 1889 at Trent. He was 19 years of age and she was 18. Uncle Tom was still employed as a farm hand. Her father was also a farmer.

The Randols moved to Abilene shortly after their marriage and lived on the Buffalo and Abilene highway on a farm. They moved to a farm and ranch after a short time.

The couple then heard about homestead land in New Mexico, so they just packed up their belongings and moved to Texico, where they homesteaded a quarter section of land. They had three children when they decided to make the move—Leona, 13 years old, Sam, 9; and Ebb, 5. Another daughter, Gladys, was born after they had moved to this area. Also accompanying the Randols was her mother. Mr. Decker had passed away some years before.

The family shipped their household goods by train and came through from Trent to Texico, by wagon. "We were 12 days on the road, Uncle Tom says. The Randols had an old friend living in Texico at the time of their arrival, who had told him "that this is the coming country." His reaction to the new home was immediately favorable.

Asked about schooling for his children, Uncle Tom relates that the family youngsters attended classes at Midway on a Locust Grove, which was located three miles south and 2 1/4 miles west of Texico. They also attended Texico Schools shortly.

Uncle Tom lived there on the farm which he homesteaded, for 45 years. The place is located three miles south and 1 1/4 miles west of Texico. Only about four years ago, in 1948, did the old-timer move to town.

Mrs. Randol passed away on February 19, 1948. She had been ill at intervals for about 10 years. At the time of her death, she was 77 years old. The couple had already observed their Golden Wedding anniversary; and had lived together a total of 58 years. "She always said that was an awful long time to live with one man," Uncle Tom says. He pays tribute to his wife when he says "she was a good girl, and always toted her end of the work."

"We really had a tough time the first seven years in Texico," the old-timer relates. "My mother-in-law furnished the money to pay for our car and build a dug-out, but it was up to me to furnish the grub." He stated that he worked for everyone who would give him a job, "if they offered me four bits, I took it." But he adds that hardly anyone had any money that day and time. "I worked for everybody and made some mighty good friends," he says.

When the Randols "got on their feet," Uncle Tom began staying on his farm.

He recalls that in those days, Texico was a boom town. People came from everywhere, he states. All land was homesteaded south and west of the town.

Uncle Tom reached his 82nd birthday on June 13. He lives alone and does his own cooking. As an annual celebration, he bakes his own birthday cake. And his favorite pastime these days is visiting around with the numerous friends he has made through the years. He has never been ill very much, having always been blessed with good health.

His oldest daughter is now Mrs. Leona Osborne and resides in California; Ebb lives in Muleshoe; Sam is a Farwell resident; and his young-

Texico Chamber Lists 17 New Members

The newly-organized Texico Chamber of Commerce has already enrolled a membership of eighteen, according to John Getz, secretary of the new organization. In releasing the names of the members early this week, Getz said he felt certain that additional members would be enrolled at an early date.

Members listed by Getz up to noon Monday included the following:

O. S. Allred, R. J. Williams, W. L. Freeman, Agrie Jones, Gene Lovelace, Herbert Potts, R. D. Williams, John Getz, Roberts Seed Co., F. S. Thigpen, Leroy Faville, Rip Snodgrass, Ira S. Levins, Texico Pool Hall, Russell Johnson, O. W. Francis, and Jim Moore.

TO HAVE OPERATION

Mrs. M. C. Roberts received word at the first of the week that her husband would undergo surgery at Mayo Clinic in Rochester Friday. Mrs. Roberts left Thursday to be with her husband.

Her daughter is Mrs. Russell Johnson of Texico. He has 15 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren, a total of 29.

He states that one of his greatest joys is that all of his children are married and have made their own homes and all are self-supporting. "I feel that I've just had a pretty good life," he says.

"When I go places, we always swap stories" he says, recalling some of the old days. He recites a quip made by the wife of one of his friends, Mrs. Curry, when she told Uncle Tom "When you come back to see us, I want you to have some new stories, I'm tired of the old ones." But Uncle Tom still enjoys telling his vast accumulation of "yarns," and entertaining his friends. He is a true pioneer.

HAVE 224 ATTENDANCE

Rev. C. M. Fields, pastor of Texico-Farwell Baptist church, reports 224 in Sunday School the past Sunday, with an overflow crowd for preaching services. He states that 103 attendants were in training union in the evening.

New School Building Lacks Finishing Touches

The new Farwell school building, which has been under construction for the past several months, is near completion. "All we lack are the finishing touches," says Jack Williams, superintendent of schools. All the furniture has been installed except the teacher's desks and the typing tables.

The new cafeteria equipment, consisting of chairs and tables, has been installed; and regular library tables and chairs are in the library.

The new equipment rooms and dressing rooms which are being constructed on the north end of the football field are not moving along too fast, "but we do hope to have them finished by the beginning of school," Williams says. Workmen are putting the roof on the building now.

Workmen plan to sow the lawn for the new building Friday, and landscaping of the school grounds will continue through the summer.

In the older school building, the three class rooms across from the gymnasium are receiving a new coat of paint.

CONDITION SATISFACTORY

Mrs. M. C. Roberts returned over the weekend from Mayo Clinic where she had been under treatment the previous week. Confined to her bed for the past few months, Mrs. Roberts says Mayo doctors report her condition as satisfactory.

Timely Talks

FROM THE TRIBUNE

This Week:

Behind the Scenes at The Tribune

Even with modern technical advances in the field of the graphic arts, an amazing amount of work rests behind every single issue of The Tribune that appears in your mailbox. While it is true that it is no longer necessary for the type in the paper to be hand-set, every word that you read in The Tribune receives personal attention from some employee three or four times before it arrives at your box.

Stories happen every day, yes, every hour. But finding out about those stories, weeding out the ones we think you're not interested in, and seeing them through a maze of operations to the finished product in our columns—well, it just takes a lot of work.

The present editor-publisher can easily remember when an ambitious fellow with a junked press and a shirt-tail full of type could set up shop and begin a newspaper. In fact, Mr. Graham paid the ridiculous sum of $800 for his first newspaper in Andrews, Texas. To boot, the seller agreed to chip in the building and lots.

By way of contrast, a new linotype (a machine used to set the type you are now reading) will cost the publisher from $9,000 to $12,000, depending upon special equipment ordered with it. Fortunately these machines are very durable.

But a linotype by itself is not one-tenth of the equipment needed to publish a newspaper. A press, a saw, composing stones, type, and a multitude of absolutely essential items swell to an incredible total.

And with all of this investment, which will range upwards of $50,000 in spite of all the beginning publisher can do, the newspaper plant will not make one red cent by itself. It has to be fought with every day of the year by hard-working people before it can begin to retire the investment, let alone show a profit. The pulisher is under a constant mental strain, night and day, 365 days a year, because it is his responsibility to see to it that the news is gathered, the advertising is sold, the subscribers are kept happy, and the employees are paid.

Fern Tipton To Have Check-up

Fern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Tipton, who recently underwent an operation on her foot, is recuperating nicely, according to her mother. The local girl is to return to Midland this weekend for a check-up.

Suffering an attack of polio two years ago, the operation was necessary to correct a bone disorder and allow Fern to walk without crutches. She has a cast on her leg and will be required to wear it this summer.

Fern now has a wheel chair and can move about alone, her mother says. The local girl expresses appreciation to everyone who has been so kind, and helped to make her convalescence more pleasant.

Kline was born in 1895 in Dixon County, Nebr. After attending Nebraska public schools, he enrolled in Morningside College in Sioux City, Iowa, and was graduated in 1915. Later he earned a B. S. degree from Iowa State College at Ames. In World War I, he was attached to the 71st Infantry of the U. S. Army, as a sergeant in the medical corps.

In 1920, Kline and Gladys Remer were married and started farming near Vinton, Iowa, in Benton County. This is a general farming operation in the corn-hog area, with pork production as a major project. In 1937, Kline was named as Master Farmer.

Kline's Farm Bureau service includes four years as township director and ten years as president of the Benton County Farm Bureau. He served seventeen years on the board of directors of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation, including seven years as vice-president and four years as president. Also, Mr. Kline served two years as vice-president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and since December, 1947, has been president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Good Turnouts Reported For Texico Program

Curtis Miller, director of Texico Youth program, reports pretty good turnouts for the program. He adds that the program is handicapped somewhat because workmen are still trying to complete the courts and make other improvements at the park.

No definite age schedule has been set for the recreation. Children are urged to be on hand at the park at any time during the day, for directed play. Miller is on hand in both mornings and afternoons to supervise games and to give instructions.

The director says good turnouts have also been evidenced for softball. Players meet each day at 5:45. The boys and girls team members work out together each day. New teams are chosen for each day.

The Texico park has been cleaned, leveled and packed, Miller says. The D & T Construction Co., which is engaged in Farwell at the present time, was available to roll the courts and pack them.

Miss Magerus Gives Reading At Meeting

Sixteen members were present for the regular meeting of Texico Farm Bureau at the school lunchroom Monday evening, Mrs. W. H. McDaniel, reporter, says.

In the absence of Luther Pearce, local chairman, Olan Schlueter, vice chairman, presided. Jo Sondra Magerus presented the reading which she will give in the 4-H Public Speaking contest in Clovis this weekend. "Her reading was very good," stated Mrs. McDaniel. It was proposed to have an amateur show at the next meeting, but no definite decision was made.

Cookies, doughnuts and pop were served and attendants played "42" afterwards.

Case Tried By Jury For Chicken Killing

A verdict of not guilty was returned by a six-man jury last Saturday afternoon for J. K. Treble, charged with killing nine chickens of his neighbor.

Four witnesses offered testimony during the trial, but no evidence was offered that was binding, because the jury's verdict was unanimous.

The plaintiff, Joe Mallouf, charged that Treble had killed the chickens, but the defense denied the charge. Treble offered testimony to the effect that the chickens had molested his own yard several times, and although he said he often had caught them and returned them to Mallouf's property, he denied having harmed them.

Local Polio Foundation Has Money in The Bank

"So far, we have had no polio cases reported in Parmer County this year," Loyde Brewer, county chairman, says, but if any cases occur, family members are asked to notify the county health officer, Dr. Paul Spring, in Friona.

Brewer adds that he has pamphlets on symptoms, and other facts about polio if local residents are interested in obtaining them.

Having no polio cases this year has placed the local foundation ahead financially, with over $1000 in the bank. "However, this money would care for a major case only about one month," Brewer adds.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (Special Correspondence) July 14—"The post-graduate study and teaching sessions here are like being back in college," Dr. Mary Leone McNeff, osteopathic physician of Security State Bank Bldg., Farwell, Texas said here today.

"We are learning the newest techniques for the prevention and cure of human illnesses to use back home," the doctor added.

Dr. McNeff is attending the 56th annual convention of the American Osteopathic association, being held at the Municipal auditorium here, July 14 through 18.

Smarts To Attend Furniture Meeting

Texas retail furniture dealers will flock to Dallas, July 21-24 for their annual convention and market, according to an announcement received from Frank C. Allen Jr., of Corpus Christi, president of the Retail Furniture Association of Texas.

In announcing the convention and market dates, Mr. Allen, who has just returned from the northern and eastern furniture markets, commented that there is an increasing trend towards modern and provincial furniture lines. This is due entirely to customer demand, he added, and many customers have an unshakable preference for the elegant, traditional furniture styles.

The Dallas Convention and Market will enable Texas dealers to choose furniture from the newest lines in all furniture styles offered by manufacturers. Many exhibitors in the market will be from the ranks of Texas' own growing furniture manufacturing industry.

Hundreds of dealers from Arkansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Louisiana will join the Texas furniture men in Dallas. All furniture people are welcomed to attend the Association's social events, Mr. Allen's announcement said. The market, however, is limited to furniture dealers.

Ben Smart, local furniture dealer, is planning to attend the Dallas Convention. He will be accompanied by his wife.

AN OPEN LETTER TO YOU -- OUR GOOD FRIENDS

Sixteen Years IN THE WRITING!

Another wheat harvest season has now drawn to a close, and although this particular season is only a phase of our year's business activity, we think it is a nice time to tell you how we appreciate your patronage. We have seen sixteen wheat harvests come and go since we first established our home office in Texico in 1936. We have seen big harvests, and have seen some lean years, too. The season just past would have made us happier if it had been a little larger, but that's just part of doing business.

And, we have come to find out, regardless of the way business goes—up or down—we still have been making and keeping friends. We like to call our customers "friends," because it is through them that we have been able to build and build, until we now have company branches in Clovis and Portales, as well as Texico-Farwell.

These friendships we have made and are still making are our most valuable asset. Roberts Seed considers itself personally responsible to each person with whom it does business—not merely as an individual, but as a friend.

Yes, we have seen sixteen wheat harvests come and go, and with all them have gone sixteen full and satisfying years of doing business with people in this great Southwest. And the future still looks bright.

"I'VE BEEN THINKING, BILL, AND I'M A LITTLE WORRIED ABOUT THE KIDS --

"You know, dear, I just finished reading about the terrible polio record this year, and I just can't help but worry about the kids. What would we do if one of them should happen to get polio? It's terribly expensive to treat, and we don't have much ready cash . . .

What if little Robert had it . . .

Could we pay the heavy medical bills so that he'd have the best of care? Shouldn't we have some polio insurance, Bill? I'm a little worried.

This is what the worried mother had read. The following is reproduced from a page one story in the Dallas Morning News, issue of Thursday, July 10.

STATECASES RISE ALL-TIME RECORD IN POLIO FEARED

By the Associated Press
Polio relentlessly pushed its record attack in Texas Wednesday as the state health officer voiced discouragement over inadequate funds to fight this and other diseases.
"I go out to look at this polio situation over the state, and I come back feeling more discouraged than ever," said Dr. George W. Cox as he reported 163 new Texas cases for last week.
The total was the second highest for a single week in Texas history, trailing only the previous week's 206.
"There's no question about it—I fear we're going to have more polio than we've had in any other year," said Dr. Cox.

The polio total last week soared to 1,309 cases, three times the year-ago figure and 256 ahead of the total for the similar period of the record polio year of 1950.
Dr. Cox pessimistically pointed to the spread of polio through Texas. Nine of the forty-three counties reporting the disease last week did so for the first time in 1952, making 121 of the state's 254 counties that have suffered cases this year.
Grayson County had its first case of the year, five at one blow. Other counties where polio struck for the first time were Castro, Aransas, Coke, Gonzales, Rusk, Stephens, Upshur, and Young, all with one case each.

The truth is, polio insurance for an entire family is extremely inexpensive. Visit our offices for additional information.

OIL ASSISTS IN SMOKE CONTROL

A petroleum-based synthetic fiber is playing an increasingly prominent part in smoke control. Filtration bags made of acrylic fiber, when used in factory smokestacks, minimize the amounts of soot of other contaminating material which can escape into the air. Besides, the bags sift out from 10 to 15 per cent of the carbon black formerly lost, which means a cash return for the manufacturer. Like other fibers derived from petrochemicals, these synthetics are proving their worth in industry as well as in the fashion field.

Association Says Roads Inadequate

Austin, Texas June—Rural areas must help finance city streets, and cities must cooperate in rural road-building if Texas' highway system is to be kept usable.

The cooperation is necessary the Texas Good Roads Association warns in its June issue of Texas Parade, because Texas' roads—of all classes—are sadly inadequate for today's traffic. Most of them are either too old, too weak, or too narrow.

More cities must participate in state-municipal street financing, according to the magazine, which cites figures showing that of $89.5 million spent within cities by the state in the last five years, $51 million was concentrated in the four largest cities. By 1956, another $89.2 million in state funds is scheduled for these same four cities.

In an article being prepared, Texas Parade will explain distribution of state money for street construction in towns of less than 25,000 population. Yet TGRA points out, if every city in Texas had a model street system today, it would become useless by next week if deprived of rural roads leading into these cities with their vast loads of commodities.

The Texas Good Roads Association calls on all Texans to work together for a solution to financing modernization of all state roads, declaring that "a division of purpose will spell failure for all."

Q's & A's For Vets

Q—I saw a house I would like to buy with a GI loan. The seller wants to charge me $200 more than the reasonable value which has been determined by VA. Is it all right if I pay him the extra $200.

A—No. Under the law, the purchase price may not exceed the reasonable value determined by VA. Any side payment made to evade this requirement of the law is illegal.

Q—I am now training under the GI Bill, and I just learned that I might possibly be recalled to active duty sometime in the fall. I plan to take my regular summer vacation. Should I continue with my GI course this fall, even though I may have to interrupt it to return to military duty? Or may I stay out of school and wait for my orders?

A—There are many uncertainties in a situation like yours. You cannot be sure of your return to service until you actually receive orders and are found physically qualified. So you should not interrupt your training merely on the probability that you may be recalled. Such an interruption would not be considered beyond your control; however, receipt of orders requiring you to report for active duty would be considered beyond your control, and would enable you to go ahead with your training after you are discharged.

Q—I am drawing compensation for a service-connected disability. Now that the rates have gone up, will I have to re-apply in order to get higher monthly payments?

A—No. You will receive the increased payments automatically. They become effective July 1, and will be reflected in the check you receive at the end of that month.

Secondary Oil Recovery Gets Results in Illinois

More than 20 million barrels of additional oil have been recovered from previously abandoned Illinois oil fields through water flooding operations. (Water flooding is the procedure by which water is pumped into the ground to force the oil toward the wells.) In 1950 alone, four thousand barrels of oil, or seven per cent of the state's production, were produced by water flooding. Conservation-minded oil men are literally squeezing every drop possible out of the underground reservoirs.

Use Of Diesel Oil, LP-G As Motor Fuels Increasing

Use of petroleum fuels other than gasoline on the nation's highways increased 42 per cent in 1950 over 1949—indicating the growing utilization of such non-gasoline motor fuels as diesel fuel and liquefied petroleum gases, principally in trucks and buses. Petroleum, a versatile raw material, can provide a variety of products for a variety of applications.

U. S. Crude Oil Production Reaches New Peak in 1951

Production of crude oil in the U. S. in 1951 is estimated at two billion 245 million barrels, thus passing the two million barrel mark for the second time in history. The previous record was made in 1948, when production soared to two billion 20 million barrels. The big jump in 1951 production (over 1950 (14 per cent) was caused by ever-expanding consumption by the American people of gasoline, fuel oil and other petroleum products; by increased military demands; and at least in part by the shutdown of Iranian production.

...cool your home with Refrigeration!

Yes, refrigeration is just the thing to keep your home cool and comfortable this summer. Refrigerated air conditioners control the temperature—keep all the heat outside. They keep the dust and pollen outside, too—making the inside air fresh and healthful.

You control the humidity for complete personal comfort when you air-condition your home by refrigeration, too.

Your home on the plains can be mountain cool this summer—use refrigerated air conditioning and see.

Jones Calls Attention To Farm Safety Week

Farm and home accidents are creating such a serious problem that a special proclamation has been issued urging farm residents and all persons interested in farm life to observe National Farm Safety Week, July 20-26, Joe Jones, County Agent, says. Estimates just released from the National Safety Council show that 14,500 farm people were accidentally killed last year and 1,250,000 others suffered lost time from injuries.

On Monday, of National Safety Week, programs on home safety will be stressed. Home accidents are costing Americans over $600,000,000 annually, in lost wages, medical expense and insurance overhead. The safe home, for family members and for children to grow up in, is one where the parents are safety conscious and where hazards are corrected.

Accidents in the home may happen because the homemaker is tired. The home management specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, say it's a smart thing to plan devices to save strength and energy. Use the head instead of the feet; don't carry heavy clothes baskets to the line; put the wash in a plastic bag over the shoulder or in a basket on a small cart; save lifting heavy loads and save bending by having work surfaces of the right height.

It's a good idea to make Farm Safety Week last all the year according to the National Safety Council. Remember everyone is important, whether man, woman or child and cannot be replaced. Believe in the dignity of safety. It is worth the time it takes to be safe.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
 Women's Travel Authority

All vacations boost mental and physical health, but some are taken specifically for reasons of health. If you are troubled with physical discomfort, perhaps you would like to know of a few spots which are blessed by Nature with therapeutic benefits.

Mineral springs that brace the circulation or ease pain in the joints are found all over the country. The late president Franklin Roosevelt made Warm Springs, Georgia famous. But other noted "watering" places are found in Virginia, New York, Arkansas, Alabama, New Mexico and Arizona, to mention a few.

If late summer is your sniffle and sneeze season, you might like to consult the lists of pollen-free vacation spots available through some touring services.

Where dry bracing air is what the doctor ordered, you might consider touring through Arizona or the Adirondacks, or head for Southern Pine in North Carolina.

Battle Creek, Michigan, is noted for its "health houses" which feature menus for the diet-conscious. In fact, the science of modern nutrition was virtually born in Battle Creek.

Sun and salt air are among nature's greatest pain-killers and fortunately this country has ample coastlines on three sides from which to choose a vacation retreat.

Incidentally, today's health resorts also dose the "patient" heavily with fun—which undoubtedly contributes to the "cure." Just be sure your physician approves of your choice.

More Cars On Road Use Less Gas Per Car

The increase of highway consumption of motor fuel in the last five years is due almost entirely to the increase in number of cars on the road, rather than to higher consumption per vehicle. Registrations of motor vehicles are up 43 per cent since 1946; motor fuel consumption for highway use is up 39 per cent; while consumption per vehicle is down three per cent. As automobiles and gasoline become more efficient, less motor fuel is needed to keep each vehicle operating at its best.

To increase America's oil supply by a million barrels a day would require 1,848,000 tons of steel and $965,000,000 or almost a thousand dollars and two tons of steel per barrel a day.
