It is often pointed out that there are two sides to a coin. There are also two sides to a business card, and the most reads like this on one side: "J. J. McMurtrey, Dealer in Whiskies, Wines, Beer, and Cigars. Beer Five Cents a Glass. THE TEMPLE BAR SALOON, Flagstaff, Arizona." The other side reads like

"Friends and Neighbors: I am grateful for past favors, and having supplied my store with a fine line of choice wines and liquors, allow me to inform you that I shall continue to make drunkards, paupers and beggars for the sober, industrious, respectable part of the community to support. My whiskies will excite riot, robbery and bloodshed.

"They will diminish your comforts, increase your expenses and shorten life. I shall confidently recommend them as sure to multiply fatal accidents and incurable diseases.

"They will deprive some of life, others of reason, some of character, and all of peace. They will make fathers fiends, mothers widows, children orphans, and all poor. I will train your sons in infidelity, dissipation, ignorance, lewdness and every other vice. I will corrupt the ministers of religion, obstruct the gospel, defile the church, and cause as much temporal and eternal death as I can. I will thus "accommodate the public," it may be at loss of my never-dying soul, but I have a family to support - the business pays - and the public encourages it.

"I have paid my license and the traffic is lawful, and if I don't sell it somebody else will. I know the Bible says: "Thou shalt not kill." "No drunkard shall enter the kingdom of heaven," and I do not expect the drunkard maker to fare any better, but I want an easy living and I have resolved to gather the wages of iniquity and fatten on the ruin of my species.

"I shall therefore carry on my business with energy and do my best to diminish the wealth of the nation and endanger the safety of the state. As my business flourishes in proportion to your sensuality and ignorance, I will do my best to prevent moral purity and intellectual "Should you doubt my ability, I refer you to the pawnshops, the poor house, the police court, the hospital, the penitentiary and the gallows, where you will find many of my best customers have gone. A sight of them will convince you that I do what I say. Allow me to inform you that you are fools, and I am an honest saloonkeeper.

J. J. McMURTREY."

There is a possibility that Texico may have some saloons in the near future, depending of course, on the outcome of the Curry County legalizing election this month.

Should the election carry, Texico would surely become an ideal site for such institutions, being near the dry area in Texas. We doubt very much that should there be any such new businessmen in Texico, whoever they may be, they would be as honest as the saloon keeper in Arizona. Incidentally, such a place actually exists.

We notice that federal aid to education has been knocked in the head again. We personally feel that this is beneficial, although we know there are some who honestly believe that it's better to have Uncle Sam build our schools than it is for us to do it ourselves.

What does this recent news make of the people who caused the last Farwell school bond election-which would have by now given us the buildings we need so badlyto fail? Remember the subtle whispers that went the rounds as balloting time approached?

They should turn their time and energy to natural opportunities (of which there are still plenty) instead of covetously planning to take, albeit by "legal" steps, the fruit of their neighbor's tree.

MEET TOMORROW

The walls of the new Church of Christ building in Farwell are going up rapidly. Here workmen are using scaffolding to lay the south wall of the new building. The local church has been moking plans for many months for this important event.

Members of the Pentecostal Holiness Church in Texico are proud of the progress on their new church building, which is going up alongside their older building. This is a view of the north side of the structure. The walls are brick.

Newest business addition to the Twin Cities skyline is this concrete block building on East Main. B. V. "Shorty" Hughes and L. T. Utsman are erecting "twin" buildings side by side. Hughes Auto Parts will occupy one side.

Second Rummage Sale Set Saturday A second rummage sale is planned Saturday afternoon at Kirkland Pump building in Farwell, by members of Theta Rho chapter of ESA, according to an announcement by Maxine Williams, president.

The sale is to begin at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and will continue as long as there are customers, says Mrs. Williams. Particularly needed for the sale are children's clothes and men's clothes. Also, bedspreads or quilts are good sale items. Anyone wishing to donate rummage is asked to call any ESA marked for maintenance (local the rummage.

It was pointed out by the court that the 30-cent increase for this purpose would be better than an across-the-board jump for all taxes (including the portion that goes to the state), and all of the various funds the county must provide for.

County Judge A. D. Smith this week says it has not been determined when the increase will become effective. He indicated it might come up for consideration this month (August) because it is customary for the county to review its budget in February and August.

What Do We Need?

Taking a regular and thorough inventory is an established and recommended practice in business. From an inventory of a business, analyses of various kinds can be established that point out the deficiencies and underscore the strong points of an enter-

Perhaps it wouldn't be such a bad idea to apply the same practice to one's community. What does Texico-Farwell need? How can we answer such a question without first having a basic inventory?

Here's our list of things we already have:

1. A good location on principal U. S. highways and the busiest railroad line in the world.

2. An abundance of water, and surrounded by farmland sufficiently fertile to stimulate lively agricultural development.

3. A climate that is healthful.

4. A community which is pleasing to the eye, at least in the residential areas, where many home owners take pride in the appearance of their

5. A per capita income substantially higher than the national average, as is shown by research figures in Sales Management magazine.

Here are some of the things we lack:

1. Community enterprise and cooperation among various elements to insure the proper development of the community as a whole-not Farwell for Farwellites, Texico for Texicoites. Most of the ties the community formerly had in common have been sev-

2. Additional expansion of industrial activity. The successful operation of Gifford-Hill-Western is the community it wants to be.

other counties in the High Plains Water District in farm land under irrigation. This fact is pointed out by a study conducted by D. W. Sherrill, newly appointed irrigation agent for the Texas High Plains area.

Parmer County is credited with having 360,000 acres under irrigation from its 2,300 wells. Parmer County is the newest irrigated "giant" in the state, with the big majority of the wells having been installed since 1953.

Lubbock has 350,000 acres under irrigation, and uses 4,500 wells to get the job done. The difference in number of wells is a quick indication of

Grain Sorghum Fertilizer Tests Generate Interest

Grain sorghum fertilization tests are receiving a great deal of attention in the fertilizer research program at the High Plains Station at Halfway.

Nitrogen is the fertilizer element that has been found to be most effective in increasing the yields of grain sorghum, but more information is needed as to how much nitrogen is needed, when it is needed, when it should be applied, and whether any phosphate fertilizer is required along with the nitrogen.
