

Farwell had its place in the sun for a few hours last Sunday as the Olympic Torch Relay Caravan stopped at the city park for lunch. About ten o'clock, the three food preparation semi rigs pulled on the south side of the courthouse. By three in the afternoon, the only visible reminder was a small pile of plastic trash bags, either left for the trash department or souvenir hunters.

Elsewhere in the Tribune is a story with pictures of the food preparation units. They were some duds. Also, as you can tell from the menu, it was a traveling Hyatt-Regency for cuisine. However, according to some of the support personnel, it was not quite as good as the menu indicated. But, what menu doesn't overstate?

We sampled some of the noon lunch and found it very good. In fact, immediately afterwards we had a strange urge to go running, but laid down until the feeling safely passed.

We talked to the keeper of the flame and found out that there were nine "flames," three sets of triple lanterns with flames. Each triple unit was kept separate from the others and refilled with butane or propane every 24 hours on a staggered basis. The rationale being that all three sets would not go out at the same time nor would an accident take all three separated flames out at once.

The flame truck had racks for 750 torches which were replenished as they were distributed during the cross-country run. Some 4,000 torches were scheduled for distribution.

The cadre runners were volunteer, trained employees of AT&T who ran four mile shifts, once in the morning and once in the afternoon or night. The runners kept on the road from 8:00 a.m. to about 10:00 p.m. It was not a 24-hour marathon.

The food catering service put out a brochure giving the seven-day menu. The caravan personnel changed every seven days, on Saturday. Sunday's breakfast included broiled rib-eye and ended Saturday evening with Rock Cornish Game Hen with Bing Cherries. Not exactly a Big Mac menu for the week. The runners needed it; the truck drivers were gaining weight.

The caterer's advice was that the runners should not partake of local food or water. We can understand that, as a case of Montezumas Revenge could prove embarrassing. However, we did note that a garden hose was run from one of the courthouse lawn faucets over to one of the food preparation vehicles. Maybe they purified the Parmer County water or just used it to wash the dishes.

As late as 1:00 p.m. Sunday, we were assured the flame exchange would take place at the State Line between Texico and Farwell. We just happened to travel out of town on the Lubbock highway and discovered the next relay team and new torches were out by Lunsford's. This is where the four-mile stint ended and that's where the new torch and relay team took over.

That was the only discrepancy we found in their tightly coordinated schedule. Apparently all the stopping places and exchange sites were rigidly controlled by the four-mile running distance. No more and no less.

Last week in a burst of candor, U.S. Senator Barry Goldwater termed the U.S. Senate a "cookie farm." This observation came after that august body passed one of the silliest, most asinine and stupid pieces of legislation imaginable. Goldwater was charitable. He should have called it a "funny farm" or more correctly, a "flatulence farm." It is given to issuing loud noises and terrible smells.

Torch Relay Exchange

Olympic Torch Relay runner Patty Byrd of Kansas City, Mo., lights her torch from the torch of the previous runner at the exchange point east of Farwell on the other side of Lunsford Auto Parts. In the middle picture, with her torch lit, Patty takes off on her four-mile leg of the journey. In the picture on the right, Patty is running through Farwell. As she crossed the railroad tracks into Texico, she passed the halfway point in days and distance in the trek across the United States. Sunday marked the 41st day of the 82-day journey and marked 4,500 miles of the 9,000 mile relay.

Twin Cities Receive Much Needed Moisture

The Twin Cities of Texico and Farwell both recorded between 6.6 - 7 inches of moisture during the past week, halting the area wheat harvest temporarily.

With the exception of the hail accompanying the rain a week ago Tuesday night, all the rainfall has fallen steadily and slowly, with all areas receiving some moisture each day.

Sherley - Anderson - Pitman elevator in Farwell recorded better than 6.6 inches of moisture during the one-week period. Total rainfall was right at 7 inches, said Johnnie Williams.

Walter Curd in Texico reported that, all total, that city also received about 6.6 inches of rainfall.

As of Monday of this week, the Leon Langford farm north of town received over four inches since the last report, and Aero Farm Chemical in the Pleasant Hill area reported that rainfall there was about 5.5 - 6 inches total.

South of town, the Ted Magness farm recorded 4.5 inches received before the rainfall Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Lonnie McFarland at Sherley-Anderson elevator in Lariat reported only a total of 3.3 inches of moisture. "We really didn't receive any rain over the weekend," said McFarland. "I guess we were probably the only ones who didn't."

The city of Clovis to the west received a little over five inches total. The rainfall there caused many areas of flooding. Several of the streets were impassable, and several families in the low areas had to sandbag around their homes to keep the water from pouring in.

When asked what problems the moisture might be causing for the wheat harvest, McFarland said, "I don't think the rain has hurt the harvest any, it just delayed the harvest."

"Some problems could arise if the moisture continues for a long time, but for now, I think everything is all right. We're just waiting to get started harvesting again."

Bayou Barometer

The First Street lake in Farwell again measured the rainfall in the Twin Cities. Last Saturday morning the water was once more at "flood stage" after nearly two inches of rain Friday night. It has rained every day since then, with a total of 6.6 to 7 inches of the wet stuff falling during the past week. Wednesday morning the sun was shining, but more rain was predicted.

Texas Residents Cautioned To Observe Fireworks Law

The following article is a public service by the State Line Tribune through the cooperation of Charles Aycock, District Attorney, and The Prosecutor Council.

Its purpose is to make you aware of a prosecutor's role, of your responsibility as a resident of Parmer County, and how we can work together to alleviate some of the society's problems.

FIREWORKS AND THE LAW

Needless to say, everyone wants to have a safe and happy Fourth of July. However, in the past, the fun of exploding certain types of dangerous fireworks resulted in the tragedy of loss of a finger or loss of eyesight. In order to try and better protect the public, the legislature has regulated the type of fireworks that can be sold at retail or possessed by individuals in the State of Texas.

It is unlawful to offer for sale or to sell fireworks to children under 10 years old or to intoxicated or irresponsible persons. Further, it is illegal to explode or ignite fireworks within 600 feet of any church, hospital, asylum, public school, and within 100 feet of where fireworks are stored, sold or offered for sale.

It is also illegal to ignite or discharge fireworks within a car or to throw them from a car. Violations of the state fireworks law can result in a fine of not more than $1,000, and imprisonment for not more than one year, or both.

Persons selling or manufacturing fireworks are required to obtain a license from the State Fire Marshal. Applications for a fireworks display permit

Farwell Post Office To Host Open House

Farwell Post Office is planning an open house for Tuesday, June 26, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, says Postmaster Otis McMillan. "We're having the open house," says McMillan, "so that we can better get to know the people of the community, and they can become better acquainted with us and our operations."

Postal officials are planning to serve cookies and punch during the open house, and people are invited to come in

Farwell, Community Hosts Olympic Caravan

Sunday was a "once-in-a-lifetime" day for area residents as they greeted and welcomed the Olympic Torch Relay when the support/supply caravan began arriving at Farwell City Park about 10 o'clock in the morning.

The three large semi-tractor rigs, the food units, pulled in first and parked on the south side of the courthouse facing west. Immediately, the food preparation for the noon meal started. The food units always arrive about two hours ahead of the main caravan in order to have the meal ready to serve by noon.

All food is prepared by ARA's traveling food service staff at the stopping site. The meals are designed to meet the important nutritional requirements that are vital to long distance runners. Their seven-day menu will be printed in next week's issue. Also, see three of the main entree recipes next week.

Shortly after the food units were in place, most of the 37 caravan vehicles, with the exception of the lead and security units accompanying the runners, began arriving at the park.

The parking areas on both sides of the courthouse were lined with the fleet of 14 specially designed GMC motor homes housing the cadre runners and relay support personnel, the computer control center, offices for the press and relay staff, and the emergency medical service.

In addition, a Magnavan carrying the Olympic torches and propane, and the truck van operating as a mobile service center for all vehicles in the relay with two mechanics and a complete supply of spare parts and maintenance, arrived at the park.

Residents viewing the caravan vehicles at the park were allowed to enter and look over the interiors of the units, with the support personnel describing the different functions.

The highway from Lariat through Farwell and Texico, and all the way to Clovis, was lined with people to view the torch relay runners.

The Olympic cadre runners waiting to begin their four-mile segments east of Farwell, just past Lunsford's Auto Parts, were Patty Byrd of Kansas City, Mo., Judy Riggle of Campbell, Calif., Jeannie Dixon of Mobile, Ala., and Robin Paine of San Diego, Calif.

The 250 men and women making up the AT&T Olympic Cadre Runners will carry or accompany the Olympic Flame every kilometer of the way from New York to Los Angeles. In addition, the 4,000 sponsored Youth Legacy Kilometer runners will raise $12 million for youth sports programs.

The cadre runners were selected from the one million employees who made up the Bell System before the January 1 breakup. Sponsor of the Olympic Torch Relay is the new entity, AT&T Communications.

The core of the torchbearer cadre - 80 members - were drawn from the AT&T Corporate Cup running team, champions in both 1982 and 1983.

Applicants, for the 250 runners needed to execute the relay, had to be able to run 10 miles a day. Males had to run 10 kilometers in 37.12 minutes, or six minutes per mile. Females needed to run it in 43 minutes.

Most of the men were running a seven-minute mile, according to the runners interviewed in the park.

The requirements are based on recognized U.S. running standards. The team selected is approximately 75 percent men and 25 percent women, and includes people in the "over 40" category. At any given time, from 13 to 16 runners travel with the torch caravan. The cadre rotates each week.

"The relay is not a fun run, even though the 250 runners are giving up vacation time to participate," says Lou Putnam, co-captain of the Corporate team.

Putnam emphasized that the selections were made with one primary objective in mind: To get the torch to Los Angeles safely and on time. "The runners," he added, "will have to be able to make up time lost to traffic tie-ups, crowds, detours, and a variety of natural phenomena we can't foresee. They must have speed, stamina, and the ability to draw upon inner resources to keep the Torch Relay on schedule."

Plush Homesteads

This picture was taken before all of the units of the Olympic Torch Relay Caravan arrived at Farwell City Park. A short time later, caravan units lined both sides of the street on the south side of the courthouse as well as along the north side. Part of the fleet of 14 RV-type mobile homes can be seen in the foreground. The motor homes were specially designed for the task of carrying the more than 80 persons making up the caravan at one time. Among the motor homes is the maintenance and repair vehicle and on west facing Third Street are the three semi-tractor rigs housing the food service units.

Funeral Rites Held For David Clark

Funeral services for David Don Clark, 25, of Clovis were conducted Tuesday, June 19, from Steed-Todd Funeral Home, with Cecil Bunch, minister of West 21st Street Church of Christ, officiating.

Interment was in Lawn Haven Memorial Gardens in Clovis under the direction of Steed-Todd Funeral Home.

Mr. Clark died Monday, June 18, at Clovis High Plains Hospital. He was born September 24, 1958 in Clovis, and had been a lifetime resident of Pleasant Hill and the Clovis area.

He attended Clovis schools and was employed with the Wayne Palla Dairy. He was a member of the West 21st Street Church of Christ.

Survivors include his wife, Dottie, of the home; two sons, Calloway Clark and Ronnie Jack Clark; two step-daughters, Windy Miller and Angie Miller; his parents, Donald and Lueta Clark of Pleasant Hill; a sister and brother-in-law, Sherry and Weldon Embry of Farwell;

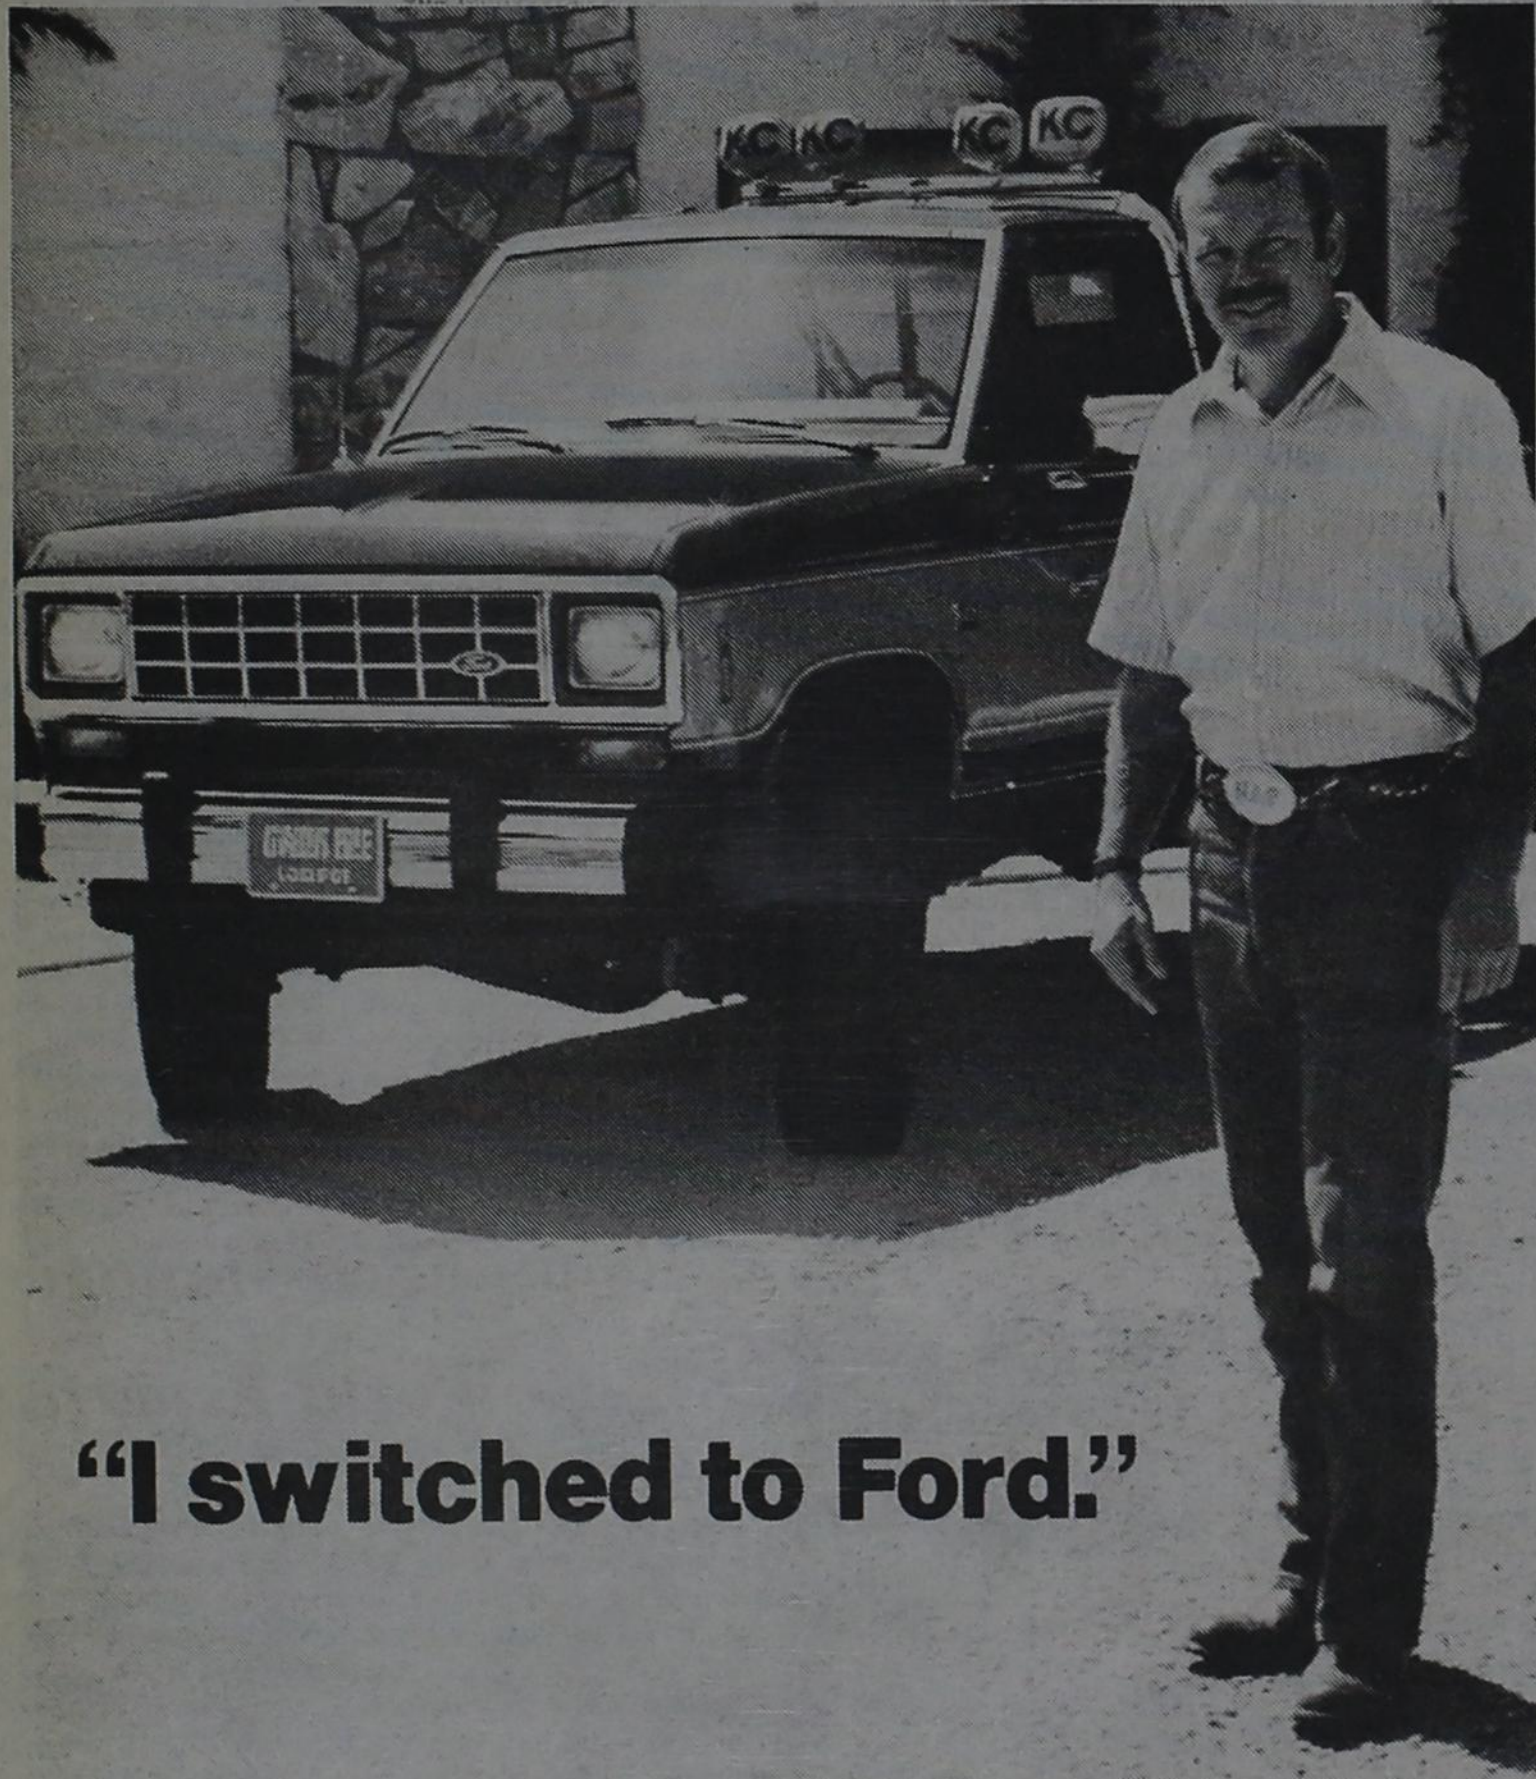

Also, his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Clark of Pleasant Hill and Mr. and Mrs. L.E. McKillip of DeLeon, Tex.; and numerous nieces and nephews.

Pallbearers were Steve Mullins, Ronnie Jones, Randy Wright, Butch Priest, Ricky Wooley, and Bryan Shanahan.

Olympic Caravan Food Preparation Big Undertaking

About ten o'clock last Sunday morning, the Olympic Torch Relay Caravan's food preparation and serving trucks arrived at Farwell City Park. Immediately, ARA Services personnel began the preparation of the noon meal for some 80 runners and relay support staff.

The three food vehicles on semi-trailers pulled up in a staggered formation just south of the Courthouse facing west.

In picture No. 1, the truck on the left is the food storage and supply vehicle. The center truck, barely visible, is the 45-foot mobile kitchen, and the truck on the right is the 48-foot dining car divided into a serving area and dining room with booth seating for 30 people.

In picture No. 2, the food is taken from the kitchen on the right to the rear of the serving and dining trailer on the left.

Picture No. 3 shows the back of the food and supply trailer on the right where food and supplies are transferred to the kitchen on the left.

Food prepared in the kitchen on the right is taken to the back of the small cafeteria-style area in the back of the dining-seating area.

Picture No. 6 shows members of the relay support team eating in the air-conditioned dining area with stereo music playing continuously.

Pictures No. 7 and No. 8 show relay support personnel and the runners entering the dining and serving truck from the side, where they passed through the serving area to the right to the dining room on the left.

A lot of the runners and relay staff filled their plates and enjoyed their lunch in the shade at the park tables and benches, instead of in the dining room.

There, the many families coming to view the once-in-a-lifetime event had easy access to the runners who spent over an hour signing their autographs on the children's t-shirts brought especially to the park, and Olympic Games books which were passed out by the support personnel.

ARA Services, with headquarters in Philadelphia, Pa., is providing food and refreshment services 24 hours a day for runners who are carrying the Olympic torch on the 9,000 mile, 82-day journey from New York City to the Los Angeles Coliseum, site of the 1984 Summer Olympics.

During the course of their trek, the torchbearers will consume some 11.5 tons of food. ARA's staff prepares breakfast, lunch, and dinner daily. Menus are representative of those that will be served to the athletes competing in the Summer Games, as ARA is the official provider of food and transportation at the Games. The meals are designed to meet the important nutritional requirements that are vital to long distance runners.

In addition to the main meals, ARA provides hot meal, snack, and beverage service. Made-to-order sandwiches and a variety of self-service items, including luncheon and dinner plates ready for microwaving, are available 24 hours a day.

The mobile "kitchen-on-wheels" is a self-contained 45-foot semi-trailer with its stainless steel interior lined with state-of-the-art cooking equipment including three commercial roasting ovens, four open burners, a 64-inch thermostat-controlled griddle, two 35-gallon tilting braising pans;

Also, a pressurized vegetable steamer, two temperature- and humidity-controlled holding cabinets (one hot, one cold), a commercial food processor, slicers, a high-speed dish washer, and other small kitchen appliances.

The kitchen carries a day's water supply (500 gallons), holding tanks for gray water, its own propane-powered generators, heating and cooling systems, and a water purification system.

The specially modified kitchen is provided by Nooner Food Service of Bakersfield, Calif., which worked closely with ARA to modify the kitchen to their specifications. The company is owned and operated by Larry and Joann Keller. Keller is driving the kitchen during the relay, and is available for "troubleshooting" any problems which might arise.

Breakfast is served from 5:30 to 8 a.m., lunch from noon to 2 p.m., and dinner from 6 to 8 p.m.

A microwave oven is located in the dining vehicle for those runners who may have an urge for a hot meal after finishing a late night leg of the relay. Runners are urged to eat hearty, there's no limit on seconds.

ARA's grocery list includes, among other things, 1,640 pounds of pasta, 4,920 pounds of meat, poultry and fish, 14,760 dozen eggs, 2,460 pounds of fresh fruit, and 615 gallons of fruit juice.

The seven-day menu, which will be printed in next week's issue, is repeated each week as the runners and support personnel, with the exception of the main staff, stay with the relay team for only the seven days.

Relay Food Managers Have World Expertise

John Scanlan, dining room manager, is responsible for coordinating food service to runners on the Olympic Torch Run.

Scanlan was ARA's General Manager for the food service at the 1984 Winter Olympics in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia. His responsibilities included setting up menus, designing serving systems, training personnel, and designing facilities to serve the estimated one million meals during the Games involving 2,100 athletes and support staff and thousands of spectators.

He has been an employee of ARA Services, Inc. since 1962. He has extensive experience in supervising large-scale food service operations including the Pan American Games in Venezuela in 1983 and the Winter Olympics in Lake Placid in 1980.

Branka McNally, food supervisor on the Olympic Torch Relay, was ARA's special projects manager for the 1984 Winter Olympics. She was responsible for food production, administrative procedures, and menu planning for the Press Village, with 10 restaurants to feed an estimated 8,000 members of the media and tourists attending the Games.

A native of Yugoslavia, she learned English while attending Mankato State University in Mankato, Minn. She also is fluent in Serbo-Croatian, Russian, French, and Bulgarian. She joined ARA Services in 1980 as a food service director at DePaul University in Chicago.

Both Branka and John look so young that it's hard to imagine that they could have this much experience and be so capable with such responsibilities.

Dr. William Lewis To Practice In Hawaii

As most of the community knows by now, Dr. William Lewis and his family are leaving Farwell. Dr. Lewis has accepted a position to work with four other doctors at a clinic in La Haina on Maui, one of the Hawaiian Islands, to practice general medicine. Bill will be working for the Kaiser Permanente Medical Group, a conglomerate of about 150 doctors who practice on the islands.

The opportunity came about while Bill, Caroline, and their two daughters, Meredith, age 3½, and Lindsay, age two, were attending a medical convention on Maui in January.

While touring the hospital facilities at Maui Memorial Hospital, Bill was offered an application to fill out to practice as a member of the Kaiser group. At the same time, they were told that getting into the group wouldn't be easy.

According to Caroline, the application rested on Bill's desk for about three weeks before he decided to mail it. "He nearly threw it away," she said. "That's how slim the chances of us getting a practice in Hawaii were."

Within a matter of weeks, Bill and Caroline were notified that their application had been accepted, and there was a position for him at a clinic in La Haina. "It really happened very quickly," said Caroline. "Bill received his license to practice in Hawaii in early April, but it was dated March 6."

Since that time, Bill and Caroline have been preparing for the move. Caroline has been busy packing clothes, leaving their winter clothes here, as the weather on Maui is warm the year around. Bill has been busy searching for a place for them to live, and has found and rented a place only about 100 feet from the ocean.

Once in Hawaii, Bill will have to learn a few new medical techniques, such as how to treat cuts people receive on their feet from walking on the rocks, and how to treat injuries a lot of tourists receive while swimming in the strong-currented Pacific Ocean.

Although Caroline worked three days at the clinic here in Farwell, she doesn't plan to work in Hawaii. "I'm looking forward to spending my time with the girls," she said, "and exploring and getting to know the island."

The Lewises will leave for Long Beach, Calif., next Wednesday. Their vehicles will be shipped across the ocean, and they will travel by air from Los Angeles to Maui on Saturday, arriving there after a five and one-half hour flight.

"We're really going to miss Farwell," said the Lewises. "We've made a lot of good friends here that we're really going to miss. We do plan on visiting as often as we can. Thanks for all your love and support."

Perrys To Nashville

Rev. and Mrs. W.T. Perry of Farwell left last week for an extended trip to Nashville, Tenn. Rev. Perry is the Statistician of the New Mexico Conference of the Methodist Church.

In that capacity he has been elected to membership of the General Council on Finance and Administration of the United Methodist Church, and assigned to the official Committee on Church Forms and Records.

The committee is meeting in Nashville this week in preparation of various records and forms to be used by local churches during the 1984-85 quadrennium. The committee is formed by ministers and laity of the United Methodist Church from over the United States. Rev. Perry is the statistician representing all 73 Annual Conferences of the Church.

The Perrys planned this to be a relaxing trip to and from Nashville driving in their motor home. Plans were that they would stop and visit friends and relatives as they traveled, as well as take in some scenic attractions.

They expected to be back in Lubbock for the meeting of the South-Central Jurisdictional Conference of the United Methodist Church July 16-20. They planned to return to the Twin Cities about July 23.

Visit With Runners

W. T. Magness Family Gathers For Reunion

The family of W.T. and Velma Magness of Farwell hosted a reunion last weekend in Farwell, with 49 of the 53 family members attending.

Attending the reunion were Janie Bowery, Farwell; Joe Allen Bowery III and daughter Kristy of Pearland; Charlie Bowery of Abilene; Irene Phelps, and sons Chuck and Bobby Hammit of Farwell; Cecil and Becky Bowery and children Michael, Kevin, and Tricia from Houston; Bessie Engram and daughter Amanda of Amarillo; Vicki Bowery and children Shasta, Samantha, and Waylon of Mission;

Also, Billie Jupe of Farwell; Leroy and Teresa Jupe and son Leroy III of Farwell; Tom and Linda Jupe and sons Russell and Eric of Lubbock; Vickie Chilton and sons Jesse and Dwayne of Wheeler;

Other family members from Farwell were Joel and Katherine White and sons Boyd and Bruce; Robin and Lynn Mahaney and children, Jody, Justin, and Jade; Rick and Joyce Ketcherside and sons Nicolas, Preston, and Spencer; and Mike and Peggy Goettsch and son Derek.

The three family members unable to attend were Kay and Jo Anna Bowery of Pearland, Andy Bowery of Mission, and Steve Chilton of Wheeler.

Memory & Aging

Many people assume that aging and forgetfulness go hand-in-hand. But this is not true for all people -- some continue with excellent memories, while others suffer a loss in memory. Some who lose their ability to easily remember do so quickly, and others lose their recall slowly.

People of any age can have trouble remembering. Perhaps they never learned what they want to remember very well in the first place, because it had little meaning to them at the time. Or they may be having trouble with recall.

According to Extension aging specialists, psychologists have identified a number of things that make it more difficult to remember clearly as people grow older. For example, if they can't see or hear as clearly as they used to, they may not be learning or storing the items very well in the first place. That may be one reason why some elderly people can clearly remember things that happened years ago, but have difficulty remembering things that happened yesterday.

Living longer also means that older people have a larger pool of items they have to search through in their minds in order to remember something specific. This can take time.

If they have suffered any of the diseases that affect thinking ability, such as arteriosclerosis or Alzheimer's disease, then memory will be impaired.

Poor nutrition, lack of exercise, depression or lowered motivation and fatigue, due to disturbed sleep can all result in memory problems for older people.

In addition, there is sometimes a "psychological" factor. Some older people expect to lose their memories. They don't forgive themselves when they forget things and they see their slips of memory as a reminder of old-age.

While there is no "miraculous cure" for memory loss, here are some suggestions for improving memory:

*Get plenty of exercise, eat well-balanced meals and stay active enough in the daytime that you can sleep at night.

*Realize that you may be depressed and you may need to talk to someone about how you're feeling before you'll start feeling better.

*Make "memory joggers" to give you some extra signals that let you know what you need to know. For example, write down names and phone numbers; set out medicine cups labeled with the time of day; make routine times to check things, and have routine places for those items you use regularly.

*Give yourself plenty of time to learn things that you want to remember. You don't have to rush or do things at anybody else's pace. Concentrate on what you want to learn.

*Forgive yourself when you forget things. Anxiety over forgetting makes it even harder to remember them.

Karen Snodgrass Named Academic All-American

Karen Snodgrass of Texico has been named an Academic All-American by the National Secondary Education Council.

The NSEC has established the Academic All-American Scholar Award Program in order to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines.

The Scholars must earn a 3.3 or better grade point average. Only scholars selected by a secondary school instructor, counselor, or other qualified sponsor are accepted. These scholars are also eligible for other awards given by the NSEC.

Karen, who attends Texico High School, was nominated for this national award by Kenneth Shaw, principal. She will appear in the Academic All-American Scholar Directory, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in American history. Certainly, winners of the Academic All-American awards should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, executive director of the NSEC.

Karen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Snodgrass. Her grandmother is Thelma Snodgrass of Clovis.

Farwell Baptist Church Hosts 'Men's Bake-Off'

In observance of Father's Day, a "Men's Bake-off" was hosted at First Baptist Church in Farwell on Sunday, June 17, following evening worship services.

Some 30 men participated in the "bake-off," each baking a cake without any help from wife, children, or friend. Some baked their cakes Saturday and some waited until Sunday afternoon.

The "judging" was held after Sunday evening services, and the "winners?" were announced.

Doyle Johnson's supposed-to-be chocolate sheet cake was judged "most valiant attempt" and he received a black ribbon. John Lowry received a dishonorable mention for his attempt.

Herman Gerles' lemon cake received the "best cake mix" award, and he was presented with a blue ribbon.

Micky Lunsford with his chocolate pecan sheet cake received the "best scratch cake" award, and he was also presented a blue ribbon. Keith Stephens was awarded honorable mention for his strawberry cake attempt.

Dr. William Lewis received "best decorated cake" honors for his chocolate chip attempt, and also won a blue ribbon. His cake was decorated in icing with the words "Farewell Farwell, Tomorrow To-Maui."

Purpose of the bake-off was to promote family enjoyment and togetherness, and one of the wives reported that she and her children had enjoyment all right, they were "in stitches" watching father attempting his concoction. The recipe said to beat, and father was trying to do so with a fork, not realizing that a mixer could be used.

The only complaints were from the wives who had to clean up their wrecked kitchens, and from the judges who had to taste all of the delicacies, of which most of them "were awful," they said.

Baby Shower Honors Kayla Sharrell Copp

Kayla Sharrell Copp, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rick Copp of Lazbuddie, was honored with a shower on Friday, May 4, in the Lazbuddie School home-making room.

Guests were greeted by Kayla Sharrell, dressed in a red, white, and blue sailor dress, and her mother, Lana Copp. Lana's corsage was a spring bouquet of silk flowers.

Special guests were the honoree's great-grandmother, Mrs. Dollie Cantrell; her step-grandmother, Mrs. Edna Duke of Floydada; her aunt, Mrs. Julie Duke, and her cousins, Justin and Randi Duke of Plainview.

Fruit breads and lime sherbet punch were served to the guests. The pink-covered serving table was decorated with stork paperwares, crystal punch bowl, and trays of breads. The centerpiece was an Effanbee baby doll sitting on a bed of multi-colored silk flowers and greenery. The doll was a gift to Kayla from one of the hostesses.

The hostesses gave individual gifts. Hostesses for the occasion were Janice Bradshaw, Debbie Magby, Debra Redwine, Cindy Harris, Cassandra Cargile, Reta Mimms, Vickie Burch, and Billy Mason.

Hospital Notes

Lavon Mills of Farwell is confined to St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo for x-rays and tests. Mrs. Mills fell while walking Monday morning, injuring her hip and leg. She was taken to Friona hospital but then transferred to the Amarillo hospital. Extent of injury had not been determined at press time.

Todd Christian of the Oklahoma Lane community was admitted to the Clovis hospital on Monday where he underwent a tonsillectomy on Tuesday. He was released that evening and is reported to be doing fine.

Mrs. C.L. Cash of Farwell was admitted to St. Mary's Hospital in Roswell two weeks ago, and underwent surgery on Tuesday of this week. Report of her condition was unavailable.

Methodist Kids' Day Out Postponed Until June 27

Kid's Day Out planned by Hamlin Memorial United Methodist Church will take place on Wednesday, June 27.

This past Wednesday's outing had to be cancelled due to the weather, and is scheduled a week later hoping that the weather will clear and the grounds will dry out by then.

The one-day outing for children from kindergarten through the seventh grade will be held at Ned Houk Park north of Clovis.

Anyone who has not pre-registered but would like to, may still do so by contacting Margaret Aycock at 481-3885, or the church office at 481-3689.

Children who are planning to attend must bring a sack lunch and must be at the church sanctuary by 9 a.m. CDT.

The group will leave by car at 9:15 a.m. to travel to the park and enjoy a day of games, songs, crafts, and exploring God's world. They should return at approximately 4:30 p.m.

Child Fingerprinting

Parmer County Chief Deputy Jerry Atchley fingerprinted children of parents who wished to have an accurate set of their child's fingerprints. The three-day clinic was conducted by the Lazbuddie Young Homemakers. Having his fingers printed by Deputy Atchley is Cory Winders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Winders.

Laz. Young Homemakers Host Fingerprinting Clinic

Lazbuddie Young Homemakers recently conducted a fingerprinting clinic for children in the community whose parents wished to have an accurate set of their child's fingerprints.

Parmer County Chief Deputy Jerry Atchley gave his time to help the club in this project. There was an overwhelming response from parents requesting that their child be fingerprinted. Deputy Atchley spent three days in Lazbuddie on this project.

One of the Lazbuddie Young Homemakers was quoted as saying, "We appreciate so much the many long hours that Deputy Atchley put in as he painstakingly fingerprinted each of the many children who came through the clinic. We are also grateful for Lazbuddie School's willing assistance."

The club organized the fingerprinting clinic as a community service. Children from preschool through sixth grade were allowed to participate in the clinic with their parents' permission.

Deputy Atchley took an accurate set of prints of each finger and the right palm. Only one copy of each child's prints was made, and these were given to the parents to keep. These fingerprint records can be used to identify a missing child.

Lazbuddie Young Homemaker vice-president, Debbie Magby, was chairman for the fingerprinting project. Other members include Lana Copp, Marca Morris, Joann McDonald, Reta Mimms, Janice Bradshaw, Cindy Cargile, Debbie Weir, Janette Thorn, Debra Redwine, Debbie Smith, Marleen Bennett, Ellen Gallman, Mandie Seaton, Vickie Burch, and advisor, Cassandra Cargile.

Leading The Runners

Leading the core caravan of the 1984 Olympic Torch Relay from New York City to Los Angeles is this classic Buick Riviera convertible with its four official passengers. On the back of the car in a specially built rack is one set of the forever burning flames. Three sets of the flames are located separately throughout the caravan and filled on a staggered basis so that all three sets would not go out at the same time nor would an accident destroy all sets.

Mr. Fixit

There were several "Mr. Fixits" who with their complete repair shop and parts vehicle keep all the trucks moving and all the equipment operating as

TELL OUR ADVERTISERS
YOU SAW IT
IN THE TRIBUNE!

"I was surprised how quick the variety was ready to graze."

"In fact, some of my neighbors tried to rent my pasture when they saw how much better established it was than others all around us."

Pioneer® variety 2157 gets off to a fast start, quickly establishing the kind of healthy, vigorous growing stand so necessary for good pasture. Its upright growth habit helps provide maximum available grazing.

And because 2157 has proven to be such a good yielder, you can count on it to deliver top-quality wheat at season's end.

If pasture is part of your wheat program, new 2157 should be, too.

New Wheat Variety 2157

Superior Yield • Excellent Standability • Outstanding Grazing

"When I pulled my combine into the field, I knew for sure this wasn't an ordinary wheat crop."

"That 2157 was standing out there good and straight. And when I moved down the rows, I could hear the cylinders running full."

Farmers who've seen this impressive new high yielding variety like its standability and tolerance to dry growing periods and severe weather. It has excellent resistance to leaf rust, stem rust, fungal leaf blights, soil borne mosaic virus and the Hessian fly.

In side-by-side comparisons, Pioneer® brand 2157 wheat has consistently out-yielded other popular varieties. And it has shown consistently high test weights.

At N.M. Boys State - -

Danny Powell Learns Works Of Government

by Leigh Ann Woods
 Danny Powell of Texico recently returned from New Mexico Boys State with his eyes opened to the ways of the government. Danny was one of 406 boys from across the state of New Mexico who attended Boys State this summer at the New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology in Socorro.

Boys State is sponsored by the American Legion in hopes of teaching young men about three levels of government, city, county, and state, and to prepare them for their actual participation in government actions as adults.

When the boys arrive at Boys State, they are thrust into the land of the mythical 51st state in which they are given complete control over how the government operates at each level. They are allowed to elect their own officials, make and enforce their own laws, pass their own bills and amendments, and schedule sessions between the House and the Senate.

As each boy registers, he is assigned to a city, county, and party, either Nationalist or Federalist. Danny was a citizen of Trujillo and a member of the Nationalist party. In campaigning for offices, it was up to each boy to decide what office he wanted to run for and on what level. Danny was elected as city treasurer, but he was defeated in his race for state treasurer.

As city treasurer, it was Danny's responsibility to see that all of the filing fees, taxes, and fines were collected, and that the city budget was balanced. "That wasn't easy," said Danny. "I had all of the collecting to do in my spare time, and I was accountable for every single penny of it." Filing fees, taxes, and fines weren't paid with real money, but with Boys State play money, said Danny. Each boy was given $50 upon registration to use as he needed it.

"The state elections were exciting," said Danny. "We had a debate between the two candidates for state governor, and were allowed to ask questions. The candidate who was elected won by only two votes."

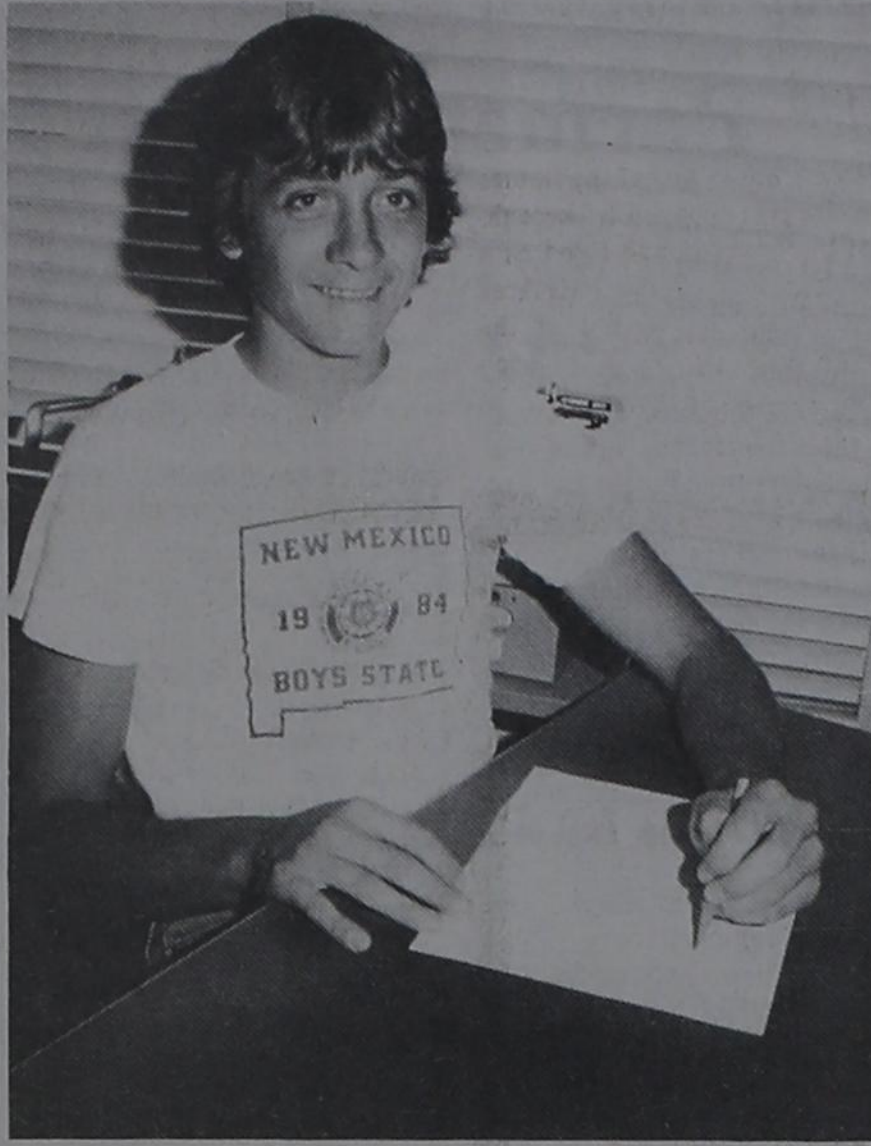

Although no one who was not a member of the Senate or House was allowed in during their sessions, several Boys State members got to watch or participate in mock trials. "There were eight cases altogether," said Danny, "but four of them were settled out of court. Boys participated as judges, attorneys, witnesses, defendants, and jury members. It was very interesting."

Along with actual participation in government, the Boys Staters were treated to visits and talks by several New Mexico state officials. According to Danny, Lt. Gov. Mike Runnels was a guest speaker, and Supreme Court Justice William Federici was on hand to swear in the Boys State officers, and Secretary of State Clara Jones attended the ceremony. The boys also heard talks by state attorneys and state policemen.

The last night of Boys State, the boys were treated to a Coke party given by their counselors. "It was a lot of fun," said Danny. "We all chipped in to pay for the refreshments."

"The whole experience was neat," continued Danny. "There's a lot more going on in government than it seems. The best part about it, though, was meeting new people and making new friends."

Texico junior Doug Thornton also attended Boys State, along with Danny, but he was unavailable for his comments on the experience.

Boys State Delegate

Danny Powell, son of Larry Powell and Mary Morin, both of Texico was a recent delegate to Boys State at New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology in Socorro. While there, Danny was elected as a city treasurer and was responsible for collecting taxes, fees, and fines, and balancing the city budget. Maybe, through his experience at Boys State, Danny will be able to come up with some ideas to help with the national budget. Doug Thornton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thornton of Texico, also attended Boys State as a delegate.

Sheriff's Report

No arrests and only two thefts were reported this week by the Parmer County Sheriff's Department.

C.E. Trimble of Bovina reported on June 14 that six saddles and eight sets of bits were taken from his barn on June 13 or 14. Total loss was listed as $2,550.

Doris Meeks of Farwell reported the theft of a 27-inch Free Spirit bicycle, taken from their residence the night of June 14. Value was listed as $150.

FIRE CALLS

Farwell Volunteer Fire Department received one ambulance call the past week, but no fire calls. Texico and Pleasant Hill volunteer fire departments received no calls.

On June 18 at 7:28 a.m., the Farwell ambulance was sent to Third Street, where it transported a resident to the Friona hospital.

Hires Asst. Band Director - -

Farwell School Board Accepts Resignations

In its meeting on Monday, June 11, Farwell School Board accepted three teacher resignations and hired an assistant band director.

Members accepted the resignations of Karolene Inman, fifth grade teacher; Catherine Latham, elementary PE teacher; and LaReta Barber, aide in the elementary early childhood program.

James R. McWilliams was hired as the assistant band director, guitar teacher, and history teacher, at a salary of $4,500 above the state schedule.

Prior to the regular business session, the Board met at 7 p.m. to view a video tape replay of a speech given by H. Ross Perot at the School Board Workshop in Canyon.

In other business, the Board accepted the Superintendent's Annual Report, and approved the report of the Committee on the 1983-84 Self Study of Farwell Public Schools.

A budget hearing was advertised for this meeting, but no one appeared. The Board reviewed the proposed budget, and made some revisions, but postponed action on adoption until a later date.

In final action, Board members approved the financial reports and the payment of bills. Board members present were Joe Hughes, Wilbert Kalbas, Maxine Williams, Floyd Coates, Steve Pierson, Richard Hasehoff, and Edward Corn. Also present were Superintendent W.M. Roberts, and principals Jerry Dee Owen and James Craig.

Texico Chamber Plans BTD Participation

Texico Chamber of Commerce met briefly last Monday night, June 11, to discuss its participation in the upcoming Border Town Days celebration.

According to vice-president Jim Pierce, the chamber voted to sponsor a queen candidate who has already been selected, and also to purchase new pennants to string across the main street during the celebration.

In other business, chamber members discussed the awards for the winners of the BTD Old Car contest which the group is sponsoring.

Texico School Board Hires Art Teacher

During its regular summer session conducted Tuesday night, June 12, Texico School Board dealt with three important matters.

First on the agenda was the hiring of a combined art teacher and librarian to replace the retiring Sylvia Burgett. Board members voted to offer the contract to Billie Cooper, a native of Roosevelt County with lots of experience in art education.

The Board accepted the resignation of the computer room aide, Leandra Byrd, and board members voted not to accept federal funding for the Chapter I Migrant Program for next year.

Reason for the decision to decline the federal money, said Superintendent Jim Pierce, was that no migrant students are attending Texico schools now. Last year, the program was cut in half, and if the program was continued this year, Pierce said, there would not be enough money to hire any personnel.

Next meeting of the Board will be July 10 at 7 p.m. MDT in the board room. Those present for the meeting were Arlye Crooks, Herman Gerles, Greg Martin, Roy Thornton, Johnnie Rucker, Jim Pierce, and Marcia Leavell.

Parmer Co. 4-H Horse Show Held In Friona

Performance Award Winners

Demonstrating their ability to ride well and winning performance awards at the Parmer County 4-H Horse Show Saturday, June 16, were, from left, Robin Houlette of Friona who won the high point timed event award [headstall and reins]; Klay Camp of Farwell, awarded the belt buckle for high point peewee; and Randy Davis of Oklahoma Lane, who earned the high point performance award [headstall and reins].

The show was moved to the Friona Riding Club arena, because of the heavier rainfall at the Bovina Roping Arena, only one hour before time for the show to begin.

The 4th annual Parmer County 4-H Horse Show was held Saturday, June 16, at the Friona Riding Club arena. Because of the rainfall at the Bovina Roping Arena, the show was moved to the drier Friona arena one hour before time for the show to begin.
