Ideal Weather Greeted First Performances

Postponed Annual Cowboy Reunion Draws Large Crowds To City

Crowds estimated at 5,000 witnessed the opening of the second annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion in two performances Thursday. More than 2,500 people were estimated to have attended both the afternoon and evening sessions. Ideal weather greeted the first show and except for a zipping south wind, the weather man furnished a perfect evening.

Gluttonous contestants caused the show to drag in spots, particularly in the night performance. Late ropers and riders somewhat disrupted the evening show.

Rodeo stock gave more spirited performances on the whole in the evening, especially the broncs. Notable exception, however, was the bucking of Machine Gun Kelly who was drawn by Ernie Barrett for a re-ride. He never let Ernie even get the swing and added insult to injury by thudding him to the ground one second before the bell. Clyde Barrow, ace bucking horse, was not drawn in either show.

Bud Spillsbury and John Lindsey drew repeated applause from the stands in their exhibitions. Bud worked out with his "educated" horse, "Nuliance." Lindsey, rodeo clown, was all over the arena with "Hoover," his mule.

Little eleven-year-old Delbert Lee Reynolds, Odell, brought the house down with two roping exhibitions. Both afternoon and evening he roped a half before it hardly started and in the latter performance did a good job of tying to do the job up in much faster time than the average cowboy. Jess Slaughter had tough luck with his calf, running him the length of the arena and almost back before having his loop fall short.

Two shows will be held daily at 2 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. in the new arena. There will be another parade Saturday 1 p. m. Jess Slaughter, president, announced.

Winners in the first day events were:

FDR Endorses Hull's Appeal For Adherence

President Roosevelt Expresses Concern Over The Situation

(By The Associated Press)

President Roosevelt announced a thorough endorsement of Secretary Hull's appeal for adherence by quarreling countries overseas to the Kellogg Peace Pact and expressed concern over the situation. He made clear that America was definitely neutral in event of war.

France's support of the League of Nations covenant and French attitude that financial and economic sanctions are necessary if Italy attacks Ethiopia were indicated in Paris and Geneva.

In a League speech, Premier Laval of France demanded enforcement of the covenant. French officials said he meant France would impose sanctions on the aggressor nation in event of war.

Italy continued troop movements toward East Africa. Emperor Selassie ordered mobilization of seventy-five per cent of government employees.

Hull's statement was received in Rome with the attitude that Ethiopia had already violated the Kellogg pact.

Italian naval maneuvers in the Mediterranean resulted in the Greek government making representations that Italian warships had entered Greek waters without permission.

Eighty-five Million Provided For Additional Direct Relief

HYDE PARK (AP)—President Roosevelt announced orders Friday for the Works Progress Administration under Harry Hopkins to take over the works relief drive until the permanent public works program under Secretary Ickes reaches a greater volume of employment. Ickes and Hopkins were reported satisfied.

The president said the program was provided for six weeks with $85,000,000 additional for direct relief, and added that the bulk of the remaining $1,250,000,000 to be spent in the next four months would go to temporary jobs, although consideration will be given to permanent projects.

The announced policy established permanently the Civilian Conservation Corps with a reduced enrollment.

For rural rehabilitation and housing, he said he expected corporate entities to be formed to provide for repayment to the government of homes to be built by the government.

Shettlesworth Resigns Place As Pastor Here

Rev. S. J. Shettlesworth, pastor of the First Christian church of this city, has tendered his resignation, effective Sept. 16. Rev. Shettlesworth will preach his final sermons here Sunday morning and evening. He will leave Monday for Commerce, Tex., to join his family.

Rev. Shettlesworth, who came to Big Spring April 1, 1933, will enter evangelistic work in the Christian church in Texas, with headquarters at Commerce, where his children have already entered school. Jack and Doris Shettlesworth have become students at East Texas State Teachers college, while Jimmie Grace and Bettie Joe have entered the public schools there.

Coming here from Breckenridge, where he served as pastor of the First Christian church for five years, Rev. Shettlesworth has made an admirable record with the local church. During his pastorate the church has grown and also has been cleared of indebtedness.

Dr. Shettlesworth's work in the evangelistic field will be taken up for the most part this year and next as Centennial evangelist for the Christian brotherhood, he said, and will be confined to work within the state.

Rev. Shettlesworth said he offered his resignation Aug. 15th, last, to the board of elders and deacons, to become effective Oct. 15th. The board decided later to let the resignation become effective Sept. 16th in order that Mr. Shettlesworth might enter into his new field of work as soon as possible, and also that his children might be enrolled in Commerce schools in time for the present session.

"I have enjoyed my stay in Big Spring immensely," said Rev. Shettlesworth. "This city has some of the finest people I have ever known, and it is with regret that I am leaving."

Written by a group of the best informed newspapermen of Washington and New York. Opinions expressed are those of the writers and should not be interpreted as reflecting the editorial policy of this newspaper.

Baffled—

New Dealers are scratching their heads these days to dig up an explanation for the fact that unemployment persists despite increasing signs of business recovery. So far they accept no political or economic formula.

Despite an unusually active summer in many lines, the experts' charts show that there are from 9,000,000 to 11,000,000 people out of work. The few declines registered during the uplift have been due to seasonal demands. What disturbs Washington is that, with production hovering above 80 per cent for months, it seems to make no dent in the relief rolls. Employment in railroad and construction fields still lags terrifically but that does not explain the scarcity of work.

Mrs. Phillips In Semi-finals At San Angelo Gives Dazzling Exhibition In Defeating Mrs. L. A. Krueger Of Angelo

SAN ANGELO (Sp.)—Mrs. Gordon Phillips, giving an exhibition of dazzling golf, went into the semifinal round by defeating Mrs. L. A. Krueger of Angelo here Friday.

Mrs. Phillips, who hails from Big Spring, had a 40 over the first nine and ended the match soon after the second round started.

She missed an eagle on the No. 5 120 yard hole when she failed to drop her putt. On the 556 yard No. 16, the Big Spring woman over-drove the green on her third shot. She posted a 40 on the first nine.

Advancing along with Mrs. Phillips into the next to last round was Mrs. R. E. Winger of Fort Worth, Mrs. F. C. Rochon of Wichita Falls, and Mrs. W. K. Powell of Angelo.

Mrs. Winger, the heavy favorite in the betting, slipped into the semifinal round by defeating Mrs. Will O'Connell of San Angelo, 4-3. Mrs. Winger made the turn with a 11 while her opponent was forced to take another stroke.

Mrs. Rochon bested Mrs. Olin Stanks of the Concho City, 3-2, while Mrs. Powell upset Mrs. Rhea Logan of Abilene on the 7th hole.

Mrs. Powell was three down on 18, but fought back to take the next hole, and ended the match with a par 4 on the 21st.

Warned—

Although the National Labor Relations board has not held its first meeting, it has already bumped into trouble. The first pronouncement by Chairman John M. Lewis aroused labor's fears that his would not champion the cause of collective bargaining as stoutly as they expect him to.

Mr. Madden had pointed out that his agency could intervene only in cases where disputes are "serious" and "affect interstate commerce."

WESTCHESTER, Penn. (AP)—Henry H. Rogers, Junior, and William Kelly, arrested in connection with the fatal shooting of torch-singer Evelyn Hony, were released on $2,500 bail each.

RODEO SIDELIGHTS

Lots of things can and did happen at the first day of the annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion rodeo here Thursday.

In the first place none received broken bones. They got plenty of painful bruises as they left their hard bucking steers and broncs. These big raw-boned steers have made several contestants stop zipping them down the shoulders and left them hugging for dear life. One rider made a country dive from his cavorting bronc and caught a pick up man around the neck. Neither one fell.

Earnest Paschall kept a big bull's record of never having been ridden entirely intact. He lasted about four jumps and six turns. That bull was as big as a locomotive and rough as a bear.

Special events listed for Friday are: A "coming and going" riding of a steer by Bill Welch and Tom Currie, and roping of a steer from the hurricane deck of a motorcycle by John Lindsey, clown. Cecil Thixton, Big Spring, will pilot the machine.

City fire boys deserve a big hand for their yeoman service in selling and collecting tickets in the grandstand. Working in shifts so as not to be short-handed at the station, they kept things running in perfect order during the two performances.

If Delbert Lee Reynolds, 11-year-old lad, continues to improve with age he is to be champion calf roper of the world some day. On his little pony, he made two quick catches Thursday and had he had enough weight, would have bettered the best time. That kid must have been born in a saddle.

Fire Damages Gomez Cafe

Fire believed to have originated from a moonshine still caused extensive damage to the Gomez Cafe and Dance hall in Mexican town 6:45 p. m. Thursday.

Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze but not before it had destroyed the roof and damaged the interior extensively.

They prevented the flames from spreading to a building which touched the roof of the burning structure.

A small quantity of liquor was burned with the fire.

Officers had not investigated the fire Friday morning.

Nelson Accepts Prison Position

HOUSTON (AP)—Dave Nelson, of Orange, informed W. A. Paddock, chairman of the Texas Prison Board, Friday he would accept the management of the prison system.

Spanish Class To Give Play Before Mexican Audience

McAdoo Will Wed Saturday

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Senator William Gibbs McAdoo and Miss Doris Cross, 26, daughter of Mrs. Nellie Cross, San Diego, will be married Saturday afternoon at the home of the senator's daughter in Washington. Mrs. Cross said Friday.

The engagement announcement was made from the senator's office in Washington.

His associates said he had been seen seldom with Miss Cross, a public health nurse.

McAdoo has been married twice. His second wife, now divorced, was Eleanor Wilson, daughter of the late President Wilson.

Army Recruiting Party To Arrive From Fort Bliss

Sergeant Rex Taylor, army recruiting officer stationed in charge of the district office here, said Friday that an army recruiting party from Fort Bliss is due to camp here soon.

There will be a dozen men from the Eighth Cavalry in the party which will camp here for a few days, working smaller towns in this vicinity.

Other places scheduled as camps are Brownfield, Lubbock, Plainview, Childress, Sweetwater, Midland and McCamey. No definite date as to arrival of the party has been received.

Howard County Teachers Will Meet Oct. 5th

First meeting of Howard county school teachers for the current term has been set for Oct. 5, Miss Anne Martin, county superintendent, said Friday.

The date was fixed so that all schools in the county will have been open for at least a week.

Chief items of business will be formation of the county league and election of officers. Professional problems will also be discussed.

O'Donnell Citizen Takes In Rodeo Here

J. B. Miles, pioneer citizen of O'Donnell, where he has resided for the past 33 years, was in Big Spring Friday to attend the Cowboy Reunion. Mr. Miles, a veteran cattleman and one of the founders of O'Donnell, was renewing acquaintances here with old-timers Friday. Mr. Miles used to make Big Spring his trading headquarters years ago, driving by team to this city to make his purchases. Miles has been engaged in the cattle business in his section, but of recent years has divided his land and leased it out.

Accompanying Mr. Miles to Big Spring was E. Q. Willis, also of O'Donnell. They planned to return to O'Donnell this afternoon after the rodeo performance.

Miss Emily Bradley has returned from a month's vacation spent in Dallas with relatives.

Long's Lieutenants Reported Ready To Smooth Out Trouble

Rumblings Of Discontent In Long's Ranks Are Heard

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Leaderless lieutenants of Huey Long were reported Friday ready to barter with the national administration to smooth troubled waters the dictator's death left.

Many rumblings of discontent among those close to Long were noted. Divergent interests and ambitions created the impression of confusion in the Long ranks and foes seized the opportunity to begin an attack.

"Long is dead but Longism still lives," said Mrs. Hilda Hammond, chairman of the Women's Committee of Louisiana. She blamed the United States senate with not investigating Long's rule.

The committee has sought to have Senator John Overton unseated on a claim he was elected through fraud inspired by the Long machine.

Governor Allen, titular head of the Long organization, declared "murder cannot annihilate principles."

Plane Speed Record Made By Hughes

SANTA ANA, California (AP)—Howard Hughes, movie producer, Friday established a world's speed record for land planes. The exact time was not computed, but officials said it was "around three hundred fifty miles an hour."

The old record was a "little over 314 miles an hour."

BOBBY JONES SAYS

Explosion Shots By BOBBY JONES, The only man who ever held the American amateur and open championships and British amateur and open championships in one year.

REARDING GOLF BALL AS MASS TO BE MOVED TIGHTENS ENTIRE SWING—TRANSFER PRACTICE SWING TO THE GOLF COURSE.

I was playing the other day with a fair businessman golfer, one of the around-eighty class. He had been having trouble with his tee shots when, on the seventh hole, he dug under and skied his ball into a clump of trees not over fifty yards from the tee.

Now, what's wrong with that swing? "Not a thing," I replied; "why don't you try using it sometime?" Without a ball, many of us are fine golfers. When we have a dandelion or a clover top to flick away we can do so unerringly with a full rhythmic swing that causes the club to whistle through the air and the dandelion or clover top to smack deliciously as the center of the club face lands upon it squarely.

The difference is accounted for by one factor which the ball introduces, the responsibility placed upon the player for the result of the stroke he is making. With the dandelion there is no result and no responsibility. There is no such thing as "slicing" or "hooking" a dandelion or getting a few extra yards with it. One has only to swing and let the club go, and so one really does swing. Neither tension nor over eagerness to hit has to be dealt with.

Why can one not school oneself to swing in this way when one is playing an honest-to-goodness golf ball? The better players do so naturally, of course. But the ability to be free from tension depends in large part upon the confidence which the player has in his swing. The difficulty of maintaining a confident attitude when there is nothing in past experience to justify it is admitted.

Eagerness to hit the ball hard manifests itself in several ways. Sometimes the player throws the club with his hands from the top of the swing. At others he whips his shoulders around too quickly. Probably most commonly, he permits his trunk, head and arms to be lowered by beginning to squat before he starts down. Any one of these mistakes can be seen on any golf course at almost any time.

The prevalence of fault at this stage of the swing supplies an adequate explanation of the fact that most average golfers are slicers. Each one of the errors mentioned has the effect of forcing the swing toward the outside whence it must sweep across the ball.

The average player's dandelion or practice swing surpasses his actual playing stroke mainly because it starts down at a leisurely pace. Because he is trying to exert no extraordinary force, he is content to build up speed gradually. He is content also to allow his hips to lead and his hands and the club to follow. In other words he is content to swing and let the club head do the work. How much more pleasant his whole world would be if he would only swing in this way with a ball before him!

But the ball is a mass to be moved. Instinctively the player feels that he must hit it hard—harder than he can. Rarely does he allow himself time to complete his back swing, so eager is he to have a go at it. And, to his amazement, perhaps, the very effort he makes to hit hard actually slows his club down when it ought to be gaining speed. (Copyright, 1935, by Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

FT. WORTH IS PLAYING W. T. CLUBS

As The Stars Play It... Putting mistakes usually are due to lack of concentration on the essential factor—that of bringing the club face up to the ball squarely and keeping it going squarely on the line of direction during contact with the ball.

By HANK HART... The Fort Worth Cats, under the management of George Milstead, will take a swing through West Texas next week and will play the powerful Big Spring Cowboys at Midland, Sept. 17.

The Texas League team has been playing post-season games throughout Texas for the past several years, but it will be the first time in over a decade that they will play a team representative of Big Spring.

The Cats will play in Loring Sept. 16 before going to Midland, meeting Harvey Munns' independent nine Monday afternoon.

The colorful aggregation comes to this part of the country from the Panhandle after several games with such teams as Amarillo, Panama and Borger.

In right field will be Art Whits, who beat out Fred Tauby for the loop's bat leadership with an average of .331. Tauby, who wore the colors of the Dallas Steers, left the Dallasites for the Chicago White Sox with an average of .329.

With an infield composed of Lil Stoner at first, Robello at second, Eldred at short, and Grimes at third, the Cats have a see-plentiful foursome bound for big plays in baseball. Jimmy Dalrymple, who has been a member of the Fort Worth team at intervals for the past several years, fills in at second when needed.

Weiss' running mates in the outer gardens, Al Hunt and Lincoln Blakely, who belongs to the Cincinnati Reds, is one of the best right-handed hitters to come into the Texas League during the past several years. Tall and rangy, he possesses a good throwing arm that has kept the eye of the ivory hunters on him for several years.

Weiss is scheduled to make his introduction in the big show next year, probably with Cincinnati. Blakely has two young catchers in Chosen and Krole, who see plentiful of service behind the plate. Chosen recently joined the Panthers after a lengthy service with Eldorado in the West Dixie League.

Fred Johnson, Claude Jonnard, and Milstead will bear the brunt of the pitching duties.

Foresters Clash With Buffalo Gap... CCC Forester baseball team here, out gunning for tough games, will tangle with the Buffalo Gap camp in a double-bill Sunday afternoon.

The Foresters lost two straight games to the Con Can camp team at Buffalo Gap last week.

besides the Oilers and Ballinger. Rochelle eliminated Water Valley, 6-2. Eden ousted Ozona, 6-1. Findlater of Angelo left Veribest by the wayside, 6-0. Lake View defeated Sterling City 11-5, and the Culwell Packers shaded the last of the ranch teams, defeating the Jackson Ranch, 9-3, while Miles bested McCamey, 9-3.

Findlater is favored to take Lake View in the quarterfinal play today. The Eden-Rochelle game will be a tossup, while the Culwell Packers should decision Miles.

The semifinal clashes will be played late Friday afternoon with the grand windup scheduled for 8:45 p. m.

experience. Tyler must have good men to work with, and I'll say that he always gets 'em. Handling cattle isn't altogether the dashing, adventurous sport that fiction makes it out to be. The job calls for a man who knows exactly how to handle cattle, how to work an unbranded steer out of a big herd, and knowing just when the steer is about to make a wild break for liberty.

HERE IS HOW BLACK-DRAUGHT HELPED SO MANY

At the first warning symptoms of constipation, take purely vegetable Black-Draught for the prompt relief so many say it brings them. "I take Black-Draught for biliousness and constipation," writes Mrs. Helen M. Williams, of Waco, Texas. "Sometimes I have headaches from this trouble or feel dull and sluggish, and I feel this way until I take Black-Draught and get the impurities out of my system, after which I feel worlds better." The writer of the above statement has taken Black-Draught, when needed, since she was a child. "Black-Draught, to my mother, was a family medicine," said Mrs. Williams. Let Color Of Your Bag, Shoes And Gloves Match This Winter

Gone are the days when a glove was simply something to keep your hands from freezing... or a brooch just a pin to keep your neckline in place. This year's fashions demand that accessories be chosen carefully so that they be in perfect tune with the rest of the costume. Designers have worked cautiously, using the same influences.

ences throughout, so that 1935-36 costumes may be perfectly coordinated from head to toe. A Jewelry Season—The women of the east loved their jeweled fashions... their girdles and sandals, necklaces and bracelets, all brilliant with colorful gems. Now western women are getting our fling at them. There are dazzling girdles to be had for wear with evening gowns... there are jeweled scarves to tie at the neck of a smart dress. There are exquisite Renaissance earrings that drop just a little, and look too, too smart with hair piled high in the evening. There are massive bracelets in the Hindu manner. There are charming brooches and clips that will add chic to the draped bodice of a frock. You will indulge your taste for jewelry this year, as you never have before.

Handbag Elegance—Handbags sing the same chorus of elegance. In the evening they are made of sumptuous fabrics, rich velvets, sequins, jewels, fine embroideries. They run to many shapes and sizes, and colors. They may match or contrast your evening gown. If they are picked, be sure that the colors are picked up somewhere in your gown to make the harmony perfect. Daytime bags are smartest when they complement shoes. With suedes, carry a suede or antelope bag. With rough leather sports shoes, there are handbags in the same or similar grains. If you want your bag to look different from any you have ever carried, buy one that is longer than it is wide. They are smart, and roomy enough for the busiest women. Colors follow shoes. The new ginger brown will be grand for your tweeds. Silk bags for afternoon go in for elegant frames. The bag is of satin or crepe usually, and the frame in gold, silver, jewels, or crystal, in important carvings. The silk bags look their best in black.

Glove Loves—Because of the importance of sleeves, gloves in perfect harmony will keep to a fairly simple silhouette. Cuffs will not flare too widely. Decorative motifs will not be conspicuous. This will allow you to wear your lovely oriental bracelets over their tops. Buttons are often used at the sides of dressy gloves. There are silky fabrics for the very first fall gloves, with suedes, and fine leather following when days get cool. The short glove is the darling of the mode for sports. It may open in front or back, it may button or not. It is seen in suede fabric, in pigskin, and capeskins. It is a dream in a sort of russet shade that will match shoes and handbags... a natural for tweed suits, and knits.

More than four tons of textbooks recently were delivered at a Lakeland, Fla., high school for distribution among pupils.

Job Hunt Ends In Death
MANSFIELD, Ohio (UP)—Only seven miles from his home at Fredericktown, O., whence he was returning after a futile search for work in Milwaukee, Lloyd Bechtel, 35, father of three, was killed while trying to hop a freight train. He had "hitch-hiked" that far.

Traffic Lights Aid Bandit
SALT LAKE CITY, (U.P.)—Obedience to traffic lights offered an opportunity for a thief here. As Mrs. Marie Kirkham stopped for a red signal, the door of her car was opened by a man, and a purse containing a bracelet and $9 was taken from the seat beside her.

Utah Literacy High
SALT LAKE CITY, (U.P.)—Utah is next to the lowest state in percentage of illiteracy for its population, being outranked only by Oregon. Only 1.2 per cent of Utah's population was classified as illiterate in 1930, while the national average is 4.3 per cent.

A WORD TO THE WIVES IS SUFFICIENT

The meals you serve help keep the family fit. In many homes, constipation results from insufficient "bulk" in the meals. This can be overcome by a delicious cereal.

Research shows that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" in convenient form. ALL-BRAN also provides vitamin-B and iron.

How much better it is to eat this gentle natural food than to risk taking patent medicines. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved, see your doctor.

Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

MORNING STAR - BY MARIAN SIMS

Chapter Nine - Emily snatched off her hat and was about to drop it on a chair when the beautiful room caught her up. She held it instead in her hand. "It's good to get back here. Mother. How pretty you look!"

PROMINENT IN G.A.R. MEETING

to say. "And I couldn't say another word. "God knows when I'll see you again. I'd come up now for the visit if it didn't make me feel like a rat deserting a sinking ship. When I suggested it, I can't say I was the argument that they'd save my board while I was gone, they fell on me in a body, insisting that my cheery face more than made up for my ditch digger's appetite. And so, dear child, those who are about to die salute you. Judith.

They're living in an apartment in Montgomery. Hunting jobs. "There's no disgrace in that, certainly. It's fortunate that Judith is young and strong. She will be a great comfort to her mother and father. There's a son, too. I believe you said, didn't you?"

It was no use, of course. Her mother wasn't temperamentally capable of understanding. Emily rose wearily to bathe her face. She wrote immediately to Judith and David. Their replies came almost simultaneously: Judith's as gay and impudent as ever; David's in the voice of a stranger. He wrote: "Darling— As usual, you're an angel. The reason I've taken this so hard is because of you—of knowing that I'll never see you at Carrollton again, with your eyes alight with pleasure; that I'll never be able to live there with you, and leave it to our children. Now everything else has faded before the immediate necessity of three meals a day.

You know I love you, don't you? If I didn't care so much I'd probably beg you, selfishly, to share something sordid and second-rate. That's one reason why I'm getting away; because Carrollton is in my blood, and anything else I do will be a compromise. And you deserve so much more than that, my darling. David. (Copyright, 1935, by Marian Sims) Emily takes a broken heart back to school, tomorrow.

"Pleasant trip home, honey?" he asked. "Very." She smiled at him adoringly, critically. "I can see that you've been positively waiting away." He chuckled guiltily. "I have put on weight. Needed you to worry about so I wouldn't have such an appetite. By the way," he looked bland, "there was a young man down town asking about you this morning. I imagine he'll be around before many days."

GAYNOR FILM REVIVES ROMANCE OF 1850'S

It is with another time, another era, that the film writers dealt when they wrote the script for Fox Film's "The Farmer Takes a Wife," which is now at the Ritz Theatre. A period when a gangling America was growing up into an empire of steam and steel, when the narrow artery of the Erie Canal bore the golden wealth of the West to the seaports of the East, when twenty-mile-an-hour steam trains had just entered into a duel to the death with four-mile-an-hour canal barges.

Against this vital, pulsing background of a nation growing into its maturity, the picture tells the story of two lovers, Janet Gaynor and Henry Fonda, whose lives and fates were bound with the momentous happenings in the world about them.

Walter D. Edmonds first unearthed the chaotic, turbulent and glamorous period in his excellent novel, "Romeo and Juliet." Elser and Connelly dramatized it in their hit stage production, and now the camera gives it more scope, more of the eloquence and the beauty of the natural scene in the Fox Film production of "The Farmer Takes a Wife."

The 1850's are the period of the picture, and Henry Fonda, a boy of the soil who yearns to own a farm of his own, has come to the canals seeking work. He is amazed at its life, its turbulence, its brawling, drinking men, and its lovely woman, especially one Janet Gaynor.

He secures work as a boat driver, and professes interest in Janet Gaynor. But Charles Bickford is anxious to do him battle for Miss Gaynor's affection, and Fonda demurs.

Exciting times follow. Passage up the canal to Buffalo. Humorous escapades, fights, lovely land-scapes. Soon Fonda owns half-interest in the boat, given him by his profligate captain who has just won a lottery prize, and Janet Gaynor is doing his cooking. The only rift in their romance is their divergence in allegiance; he loves the soil, she is a child of the waterways.

Then the inevitable occurs. Fonda and Bickford meet in battle, and Fonda, to everyone's surprise, administers a sound thrashing to his enemy. And so the picture proceeds to its logical climax as the farmer takes his wife from the turbulent life of the canals to the poetic life of the soil.

Work To Build Defensive Line

WACO—With the preliminary instructions and drills behind them, the Baylor Bears plunged into hard practice Wednesday. Coaches Morley Jennings and Botchey Koch have only nine days of remaining practice in which to round their charges into shape before their first game of the season. The drills are being held twice daily on the Bear practice field.

The Bruins start their season against Southwestern university. This contest is scheduled for the night of Sept. 21 and is to be held off on the historic Carroll field gridiron in Waco.

When the roll was called at the first practice session, forty-six Bruin prospects answered present. Of these reporting, fifteen are lettermen, nine are varsity squad members of last year, 21 are sophomores, with one junior college transfer.

Coach Jennings has capable material for each position and the reserve strength of the squad will be much better than that of last year. There are three centers, nine guards, eleven tackles, eight ends, three quarterbacks, nine half-backs and three fullbacks.

At the present time, the chief problem of the Bruins is to build a good defensive line which can hold its own against the heavy competition of the Southwest conference. Last season, defensive tackle play was very poor, and much of the poor showing of that Baylor team can be attributed to this fact. This season Coach Koch has eleven bruising candidates for these two all-important posts. Six of the eleven are sophomores of last year, and though a bit lacking in experience, these first-year additions offer a ray of hope for the Baylor mentors. The lightest of these tackle prospects weighs 190 pounds, while a pair of them tip the scales at the 245-pound mark.

Such important lettermen as Lloyd Russell, slippery quarterback from Oak Cliff, James Cloyd, scrapping center from Waco, and Wendell Simpson, guard, who was voted most valuable player of the Green and Gold last fall, are listed on the roster. Those reporting for the training camp include:

Centers: Cloyd, Reynolds and Rose.
Guards: Simpson, Buchanan, Laneri, Heussner, Gernand, Milburn, Jones, Sanderson and Crenshaw.
Tackles: Wilfong, McGleson, Parry, McDonald, Hikel, Blue, Buckley, Kriel, N. Reader, J. Reader and Carruthers.
Ends: Wray, Clark, Elkins, Terrell, Hubener, Kimbriel, Williams and Barclay.
Quarterbacks: Russell, Hensles and Moncrief.
Half-backs: Masters, Finley, Weekley, Scott, Burke, Wood, Moto, Thornton and Manning.
Full-backs: Brazell, Bartosh and Mansker.

News From Rural Baptist Churches

The Lees Baptist church will close its revival meeting Sunday with an all-day service. There will be Sunday school at 10 o'clock; preaching at 11 o'clock.

Lunch will be served at the church. Toney Baker will donate half a beef to supply meat for the meal.

The revival has been a success, it is reported. At the baptizing, which will take place at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at D. Black's, 20 converts will be baptized. There were five other additions to the church.

Between mealtime and the baptizing there will be a community singing to which all singers are invited.

Prairie View Church

The Prairie-View Baptist church closed their revival recently. The Rev. W. S. Garnett, pastor of the East Fourth Street Baptist church, was the preacher, assisted by the Rev. Willis Ray.

Services were shortened by the long period of rainy weather.

Five people joined the church. The Sunday school was reorganized with 81 members. The Moore Sunday school members attended the services.

Until the church can get a pastor Mr. Garnett will supply the church and preach on Saturday night.

He has some good looking animals on exhibition. Howard county people are especially interested in the cattle since I. B. Couble taught them to appreciate fine bred stock. Recently Stribling sold a 15 month old bull, Junior Advance Domino to Mousel Brothers, Cambridge, Neb., for $750 cash. Stribling's herd bull, Superior Anxiety, Jr., is a grandson of Superior Mischief, a bull that was bred by Mousel Brothers and sold by them at auction in 1920 for $2,000. Some bull, but it's the truth.

Vaughn Harris, Big Spring, had a tough time in his try at calf roping Thursday afternoon. He missed with his first throw and his horse got tangled. Instead of calf roping it turned into a bronc busting spectacle.

Sonny Edwards, son of M. M. Edwards, one of the rodeo officials, made a neat catch on his calf despite his No. 13. However, it brought him bad luck when his calf turned wild and Sonny had a time throwing him. At that, he tied the animal in 44.4 seconds.

Bud Spillsbury, Pecos, likewise had a hard time in throwing his calf, but his horse gave him remarkable assistance. Its front leg fouled on the rope but the horse just tightened up the slack and stayed with Bud until the calf was tied.

J. R. Phillips, Marble Falls, is a southpaw roper and had the event won with 20.5 seconds but the calf broke loose and gave the left hander no time.

"Nuisance" is Bud Spillsbury's horse and in the Thursday afternoon program the horse did everything but think an maybe could have done that. He side stepped, rolled, danced, kicked, pushed, posed, and then pulled the "wounded cowboy" act to perfection.

Ernie Barnett says his steer "was a shade salty" and he was at that Charlie Colbert's steer acted up after Charlie jumped off than he did while Charlie was riding him to the bell. Hoyt Heffner disregarded the bell for he was doing everything on his salty steer but smoking a cigarette, according to Hippo Alphine, rapid-fire announcer. Buck Jones stuck to his steer like a leech. The animal did everything but turn a double somersault, but Buck was with him to the end.

Mel Thurman and Doug Perry doubtless got some good shots with their cameras Thursday afternoon

Drive away the frown of eyestrain with Better Light

A frown is the danger signal that your child may be reading in a poor light and perhaps is straining a pair of precious eyes. Children often do not complain when they must study or read without sufficient light, but they are weakening their eyes needlessly, and may suffer lasting damage to their vision.

Fortunately, new and scientifically correct reading and study lamps have been designed to provide just the right amount of glareless light for students and for others who read or sew. Protect the eyesight of your family with these modern lamps that meet the Better Sight requirements as explained in the cut-away sketch.

merce. He was simply describing his jurisdiction as set forth in the law framed after the supreme court limited the government's field of operations. But to many AFL men it appeared that he was cramping their style in their new campaign to organize industry.

Federation President William Green was not misled. He has warned labor to stay within legal bounds in invoking the aid of the new agency. He wants no appeals based on a misunderstanding of the board's jurisdiction and authority. Aná Chairman Madden recommends a study of the Green pamphlet to all comers.

Immune—Every New Dealer recognizes that the supreme court now stands as the most serious threat to the administration's revamped program. They shudder at the thought that the high tribunal will be back at the same old stand early in October.

While D of J lawyers muffle their criticism of the judiciary, they do point out that seven judges who have cracked down are republicans. There is not a democrat in the list. Four were named by Hoover, one by Coolidge, one by Harding and one by Taft. Another subordinate New Dealer has gone to the trouble of tracing the legal pedigree of the American Liberty League's New Deal jury—and notes that every one has Big Business connections.

Administration spokesmen do not care to incur the charge that they seek to influence the federal judiciary. But if the supreme arbiters hold against the revised program at the next term and lower courts continue to hand down adverse decisions they may lose their judicial immunity.

has been one of the chief objects of legal attack. Director Lilienthal estimates that revenues totalling almost $2,000,000 have been lost as a result of opposition in the court-room.

The fight is typical of these anti-New Deal battles. When Knoxville and 26 other communities voted to purchase private lines so as to tap TVA power, stockholders took the case to court. Judge Grubb granted them an injunction and subsequently turned down other communities' applications for power. When he was reversed by the circuit court the power companies got an injunction against use of PWA funds to build the lines. These still hold and will not be affirmed or dissolved until the supreme court acts.

President Roosevelt has followed the case carefully. Should he lose out, another discussion of the court might be forthcoming. And this time he would have substantial support on Capitol Hill, whereas even his own leaders deserted him the last time.

Victims—D of J experts are making a study of the recent epidemic of kidnappings which may aid them in future snatches. They have come to some curious conclusions.

They note that the kidnapped in the major crimes were of German strain. Teutonic names figured in almost every instance where the kidnapping assumed national proportions—Urschel, Boettcher, Stoll, Weyerhaeuser, Bremer and Ham. Even Lindbergh is descended from a related race—the Scandinavian. The criminologists do not believe that this is mere coincidence. They point out that family ties mean a great deal among people of Germanic origin and the kidnapers may bank on that factor. Moreover, German theft is well known. So is the fact that they like to keep their savings in liquid form. Among the victims listed above were brokers, lumber men and brewers—Germans with presumably liquid or near-liquid assets.

Notes—Attorney General Cummings has fleeced in his office... He fleeced them to his fishes... A high treasury official returning from New York by train sent a Manhattan cocktail back to the bar when he found that it cost 30 cents... He thought the price too high... The GOP congressional committee has sent its able scout, Earl Venable, out on the road to find out whether the New Deal is slipping... Conservative Jeff Coolidge, undersecretary of the treasury, may supplant Marriner S. Eccles, Utah liberal, as governor of the federal reserve board... Henry Morgenthau picked Portugal as a vacation spot because there is no war or world banker in that part of Europe.

NEW YORK By JAMES McMULLIN

Reconciled—The outlook for inflation is a big factor in the continued spur of business activity and the sustained strength of the stock market. Informed New York sources agree that a huge expansion of credit is inevitable in the first three months of 1936. It is taken for granted that the bonus will pass—which will account for $2,500,000,000 to start with. Then there is the virtual certainty of added appropriations for relief and farm benefits. Estimates vary as to the total extra burden the treasury will be called upon to shoulder—but five billion dollars is generally considered the probable minimum.

Business leaders have made up their minds to go ahead as rapidly as possible in anticipation of this development. It's rated smart to take advantage of current prices before they begin to go up in earnest.

New York insiders understand that the administration—while not furthering inflation as a matter of policy—is reconciled to the prospect and is laying plans to be ready for it when it comes.

Salt—An important angle in the preparations is how to raise the necessary funds. Probably it could be done by floating new treasury securities in the amount required. But this might be something of a strain and would give anti-New Dealers a beautiful opening to press their charge that FDR is wrecking the national credit. Financial circles believe Mr. Roosevelt is sincere about not wishing to increase the federal deficit by any more than he can help. Taxation won't do for an answer, either. It would be bad economics and worse politics.

New Yorkers with excellent Washington contacts learn that the treasury is considering a move which would be at least a partial solution and would indicate a desire to keep the national debt within bounds. It would consist of using the two billion dollar seigniorage profit on gold—resulting from dollar devaluation—which the treasury still has at its disposal as a base against which to issue a like amount of silver certificates. This would not add to the debt nor would it be outright currency inflation—since the paper money would be fully backed by metal.

At the same time it might help to keep the silverites and paper money advocates reasonably contented.

Of course the two billion in question is at present allocated to the mysterious stabilization fund designed to keep international exchange under control. Therefore the stabilization fund would have to be abandoned before the money could be put to a new use. This in turn implies that some sort of stabilization agreement—even if unofficial—must be reached with England and France before next year. Knowing this background, you can see why New York takes with salt repeated treasury denials that its various officials who are going abroad will discuss stabilization.

Blue—

It may seem odd that the banks should be so gloomy about their earnings prospect when business in general is so clearly on the upgrade. It hardly sounds reasonable that they should expect to make less money than they did during the years of deepest depression. Yet they do—and here's why. For the past three years they have been partially able to offset extremely low money rates and small demand for loans (from "good" borrowers) by stringent operating economies and the recovery of assets which had previously been written way down as of doubtful value.

Lately there has been a very slight improvement in money rates and demand for loans—but so slight as to be more than nullified by the closing of offset channels. Doubtless assets have regained about as much ground as they are going to. Further economies are impossible. Physical volume of business is increasing—even if profits are not—so staffs cannot be pruned any further. Pay cuts too have reached their limit.

Moreover the banks must assume an additional expense load in higher taxes and Federal Deposit Insurance premiums. Annual deposit insurance charges for the New York Clearing House banks are figured at more than seven million dollars. Nobody claims that this assessment will be ruinous—but it is one more substantial obstacle that income has to hurdle before it is translated into net profit. Bankers just naturally feel blue all over when they look at these factors.

Rates—Railroad men—like bankers—can't yet see what all the cheering is about. But they have doped out a new angle on the problem of making ends meet which they hope will give them a shove in the right direction.

They figure that there are four types of freight traffic—wheat, coal, ore and lumber—which the trucks can't take away from them. So they are working up statistics to prove to the Interstate Commerce Commission that these must have higher rates on these commodities. Shippers will undoubtedly yell their heads off when they find out what the railroads have in mind—but if the higher rates are granted they will have no choice but to pay. That's the advantage of picking out products that cannot be satisfactorily transported except by rail.

Insiders who are watching this development cynically observe that at last—believe it or not—rail managements are showing signs of sense.

Equipment—The United States Steamboat Inspection Service moves in curious ways its wonders to perform. American ships are being ordered to equip their life-boats with 14 foot oars and scrap the 13-foot ones now in use. The new oars are nice and sturdy—but men of experience say the extra foot will make them impossible to handle.

Another order requires a new type of rocket pistol as a part of every lifeboat's equipment. They cost $60 apiece—but the informed say that $3 would be a fairer valuation. Shipping men are wondering what new wrinkle in lifeboat equipment the Inspection Service will think up next.

Sidelights—Raw material inventories are at the lowest levels in six years—45 per cent below 1933... This is a very healthy sign when coupled with the high current level of business activity... A vote of workers in a large automobile plant shows that they would rather work eight hours a day for five days a week than seven hours for five days and five hours on the sixth... The Mexican government has hired an American expert—Irene Seipt—to advise on the problem of educating abnormal and sub-normal children.

Every New Dealer recognizes that the supreme court now stands as the most serious threat to the administration's revamped program. They shudder at the thought that the high tribunal will be back at the same old stand early in October.

NEW YORK By JAMES McMULLIN

Reconciled—The outlook for inflation is a big factor in the continued spur of business activity and the sustained strength of the stock market. Informed New York sources agree that a huge expansion of credit is inevitable in the first three months of 1936. It is taken for granted that the bonus will pass—which will account for $2,500,000,000 to start with. Then there is the virtual certainty of added appropriations for relief and farm benefits. Estimates vary as to the total extra burden the treasury will be called upon to shoulder—but five billion dollars is generally considered the probable minimum.

Business leaders have made up their minds to go ahead as rapidly as possible in anticipation of this development. It's rated smart to take advantage of current prices before they begin to go up in earnest.

New York insiders understand that the administration—while not furthering inflation as a matter of policy—is reconciled to the prospect and is laying plans to be ready for it when it comes.

Salt—An important angle in the preparations is how to raise the necessary funds. Probably it could be done by floating new treasury securities in the amount required. But this might be something of a strain and would give anti-New Dealers a beautiful opening to press their charge that FDR is wrecking the national credit. Financial circles believe Mr. Roosevelt is sincere about
