New, Modern Public Library Opens

Offers New Services, Wide Array Of Books

The Muleshoe Area Public and shelves. Library opened Wednesday, December 15, in its new location at the corner of Avenue D and Second Street, Librarian Anne Camp reported that 250 books were checked out Monday and that there has been quite a number of people in to see the new library. All of the shelves and new books will be up Monday. Mrs. Camp and her assistant, Mrs. Ted Milsap are working this week finishing putting up books with the journal staff

Due to the new holiday regulations passed by the Texas legislature, Muleshoe State Bank, First National Bank, Tri-County Savings and Loan will be closed for Christmas Friday and Saturday, December 24 and 25. They will also be closed Friday and Saturday, December 31 and January 1 for the New Year's holiday.

Mrs. Camp received word Thursday that the library had received a $1500 grant from the Texas State Library Title I Services and Construction Program. This grant is to be used for special projects in the community. The library qualified for the grant by having good programs for pre-school children and the aged.

The library not only has a large selection of books, records and filmstrips for preschool children, but loans books to kindergartens in the community. Fifty to 100 books are loaned at a time for six weeks to two months periods and then are returned or exchanged for new books. Books are sent to the hospital and nursing home with the co-operation of the Muleshoe Hospital Auxiliary for the aged. Books featuring large type are also available for the aged who have trouble reading. A new feature is records that are available. Mrs. Camp said that they have a recording of the complete Bible that has been

To finance the new library, a bond was passed in the amount of $40,000 on September 10, 1968. The Texas State Library contributed $50,000. The city contributed $8,000 for furnishing the library and the Friends of the Library added $2,000 to this amount.

The Friends of the Library, various clubs and civic organizations, individuals and memorial donations have done much to complete the library furnishings and to buy other needed equipment. Hours for the new library are 11 a.m. till 6 p.m. on weekdays and 9 a.m. until noon on Saturdays. Books can be returned after hours by placing them in the outside book return slot.

The library also includes a garage for the Bookmobile that serves surrounding towns and counties.

The new, modern library is attractively furnished and will provide a quite, relaxed atmosphere for the studious, the bookworm and the occasional reader to browse through the large collection of new and old books available.

Committee members also participated in discussion and study sessions with other high-level federal officials, including Health, Education, and Welfare Secretary Elliot L. Richardson.

This year the Committee is focusing on such issues as Phase II, revenue sharing, welfare reform, health care services, drug abuse, new management approaches for natural resources and pollution abatement, and housing and communtty development legislation pending before Congress.

The Intergovernmental Relations Committee was established by the National Legislative Conference in 1957 as a means of expanding the important role of state legislators in the federal system. Representative John H. Conolly of Illinois, the President of the NLC, appointed Clayton Chairman of the Intergovernmental Relations Committee at the Conference's last annual meeting in Minneapolis.

Using these foods for Christmas dinners and snacks will help boost good eating, yet cut down on too many sweets and too many calories, the specialist points out. For example, turkey is relatively low in calories, but it's what you add to the turkey that hikes up the pounds. So if serving turkey with dressing, which represents the bread group, cut down on other breads. Sweet potatoes with marshmallows, a traditional dish to serve, should be accompanied with low calorie vegetables, seasoned with appropriate spices but with little or no butter or margarine, she says. Vegetables prepared this way will better complement the flavor of the sweet potatoes. Finish the meal with a hearty custard that represents the milk group, and garnish with a cherry.

Cranberries can be used in salads such as an ambrosia or served plain as cranberry sauce, Miss Reasonover suggests. Or try a cranberry upside-down cake for afternoon snacking. To make, spread canned whole cramberry sauce over the bottom of a buttered cake pan, top with a simple sponge

When serving traditional Christmas goodies to your family, then, don't forget the importance of good nutrition and calorie watching. You'll have both a merrier holiday and a happier new year, Miss Reasonover adds.

Market Report

COLLEGE STATION -- Your family's health greatly depends upon what you feed the members, and planning nutritionally balanced diets begins at the supermarket. So shop wisely this week and follow these marketing tips, suggests Gwendolyne Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

Food shoppers usually want to economize at bit more than usual during the weeks between Thanksgiving and Christmas, and a good way to economize is to take advantage of the current good values in plentiful pork. Best pork buys include loin roasts, picnics, Boston butts, pork chops, sausage and bacon. Ham prices have slightly advanced in some stores but are still relatively good values. Remember, pork chase for stocking the freezer. At beef counter, some specare available on blade chuck roasts. Features are scattered on rib roasts, chuck and round steaks, boneless rump roasts and Boston roll roasts. Ground beef in 3 or more pound packages, beef liver and stew meat are also featured in some markets. Frying chickens may be slightly higher than last week but are still considered "good buys." Turkey also continues to be a good choice; high quality birds are available in a variety of sizes and forms. Egg prices are near the same evel as last week with large sizes as generally the best

If you are planning to spark the holiday season with Christmas lights, remember these Christian Church mas lights, remember these easy tips that will eliminate the frustration of faulty wiring, blown fuses, bulbs that won't burn and switches that fail, suggests Pat Bradshaw, Exlowship of the First Christian tension housing and home furnishings specialist at Texas A&M University.

For Christmas tree lights, first estimate how many lights you will need, Miss Bradshaw says. Use this formula: height of tree (in feet) times width of tree at its widest part, times three. For example, on a sixfoot tree four feet wide, you would need 72 lights for the proper effect.

String lights on the tree and fasten securely in place before adding any other kinds of ornaments or trims, she adds.

For exterior lights, one or more extension cords are generally necessary, so the specialist says to make sure the lighting wire is large enough to carry the electrical load. Number 18 wire is big enough for most lines, but use Number 16 for lines over 15 feet long or lines that have a number of lights in the circuit.

connections used outside with a small plastic bag, Miss Bradshaw advises. Cut the bottom out of the bag and slip it over the connection. Tie both ends tight around the cord with a piece of strong twine. Before stringing lights along house or in trees, the specialist says to connect all strings of lights and extension cords just as they will be used in the final decoration. Before going to the trouble of putting light strings all in place, plug in the system and check if all lights are burning and if there are any shorts in the cords. This preliminary step of checking for burned out lights and faulty wiring saves having to take strings down again to replace a part that is defective. If you have doubts about the age of any bulbs, replace the ones that will be in especially hard-to-reach spots, Miss Bradshaw suggests. The new bulbs will more likely last throughout the Christmas sea-

No matter how you decorate for Christmas, plan carefully, take adequate safety precautions and have a Merry Christmas, she adds.
