

BY HOP JR.

Men have run 100 yards in 9.3 seconds, orbited the earth, talked with God, scaled Everest, located the poles, conquered the atom, and lived with the same woman for 100 years.

But the human accomplishment which most impresses me is that touch of genius in a mere sprinkling of people which enables them to remember unerringly and without hesitation the names of those whom they meet.

I stand in awe of the public figures who walk into a room filled with strange faces and within moments after brisk introductions are calling the names of persons as if they had known them since childhood.

If life has a phobia for me it is fear of instantly remembering names. When called to do so my mind instantly slams the door of recollection and leaves me standing there stammering for words (which always betray my inadequacy) while I stall for a few moments to try to pry the answer out.

After a little research, I was heartened to find my deficiency was not unheard of; in fact, it is rather common. Moreover, I've seen worse cases of name-blackouts, if that's what you call them, than I suffer. So far I've never forgotten my own moniker, although I won't say it will never happen.

I have, believe it or not, forgotten the name of my next-door neighbor at times, and on many occasions have been hard-pressed to come up with the correct words when encountering my relatives, although when you marry into a family the size of the one I did that might be forgivable.

If a psychologist were to probe my mind to find why it refuses to answer my command to function when the moment for remembering names is at hand, he would not have to ask for reflections back to my childhood. I had an almost-adult traumatic experience when in college that still shudders to think about, and from that day have never been able to conquer my fear of forgetting names.

It was, I think, my second year of study, and I was asked to be one of the student workers who helped register at the beginning of a semester. This sounded like a pretty tame assignment and I was going to get paid for it, so I gladly accepted the offer.

Only when they put me behind a table out in the hall and the students lined up, I realized what I was in for. Dozens of familiar faces were in the line and I felt I should know their names. Because in most cases I didn't, something snapped and for an agonizing two or three hours I could scarcely remember ANY names—even those of boys living in my own dorm wing.

So, as I filled out the forms I ducked my head, made out like I was very busy, and said in an official tone, "Name please" to each student as he walked up. I'm sure I got some dirty looks that day but I never raised my eyes to see them, I was petrified.

I've never met a politician who didn't have an amazing faculty for name recollection, and I'm about convinced that it's something they are born with and is not acquired. Jack Cox had the best memory for names I have ever seen, and I'm sure this took him a long way in politics. The only trouble was that the voters couldn't remember his name, and he got beat.

Engineering Underway On Community TV System

An engineering survey is underway this week on the new community TV system which is being installed by Sides & Associates TV Cable Company of Sayre, Oklahoma.

Dan Dougherty of Jerrold Electronics, Philadelphia, Pa., flew to Texico-Farwell the first of the week and began work immediately. He must complete his engineering survey before construction of the tower, lines, and other facilities can begin. He hoped to be through some time this week. Frank Sides Jr., president of the firm, says a contract will be let soon and construction should get underway in the early part of November. Sides & Associates hopes to be ready to go into business by Christmas.

The cable company officials were not able to give an exact breakdown of stations which would be received over the system until after the engineering work is done, but they assure residents that "all three networks" would be brought in. A local representative will be let to provide service for the system, but he has not yet been selected.

Sides & Associates have the choice of two price schedules for service. The first calls for a $100 tie-on fee and $5.50 a month service charge. The alternate plan will be $7.50 to tie on and $7.50 a month for service.

Dan Dougherty (in shirt), engineer with Jerrold Electronics, shows Frank Sides Jr. and Cal Pierce of Sides & Associates TV Cable Company where the firm's new antenna will be -- southeast of the city limits.

Citizenship Program For Texico PTA Members

Members of Texico PTA organization heard a discussion on citizenship at their Monday night meeting. Richard Cheney and Guy Merrel, members of Clovis Jaycee organization, presented the discussion stressing the "Free Enterprise System vs Communism."

They used the word America as basis for their discussion and stressed that the American people must be alert and informed to overcome the Communist forces at work in this country.

In the business meeting the group voted to establish a clothing bank to assist needy families in the community who have children in school. Under the clothing bank set up, clothes would be furnished to children who do not have adequate clothing to wear to school.

PTA President, Murray White appointed Mrs. Donald

Halle and Mrs. Willie Hammond as a committee to work on the project. They will be assisted by other volunteer workers in the drive for clothing. The executive committee will assist by listing the names of families needing the assistance of the bank.

Mrs. Buddy Pearce was hostess for the Monday night meeting. She used a Halloween motif for room decorations.

Phyllis Christian Crowned Homecoming Queen: Jerry Herington Pep Club Beau

During ceremonies at the Farwell-Plains football game Friday night, Phyllis Christian, a junior in the Farwell school and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Christian, was crowned homecoming queen and Jerry Herington, senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Herington, was named Pep Club beau.

Other candidates for the honors were Jane Bradshaw, Mikala Austin, Joyce Bass and Susan Blair, queen candidates; and Dannie Lindop, Doyle Johnson, Bobby Fields and Gilbert Dale, pep club beau candidates. Candidates were driven around the football field in convertibles, and then escorted to the center of the football field for the coronation, while the high school band played appropriate music.

Escorting the queen candidates were Leon Lovelace, captain of the football team, Johnnie Atkinson, Bobby Fields, Ronnie Henson and Doyle Johnson. The queen was crowned by Leon Lovelace and presented with a dozen red roses by Ronnie Henson. Johnnie Atkinson presented the queen with a gold football inscribed "Homecoming 1963."

Suzette Bourlon, pep club president, crowned Herington "Beau" of the club after which Sherri Austin, vice-president presented him with a gift.

After the coronation, queen candidates were escorted to a float at the left of the Farwell bleachers where they were seated for the game.

The float made from white had a raised stand in the center on which the queen was seated directly underneath a white weather balloon bearing the words "Steers - Homecoming 1963."

After the queen and her court had been seated on the float, victory balloons attached to the float were released simultaneously with those in the hands of fans seated in the Farwell cheering section.

Plans for the coronation were under direction of the pep club, whose sponsor is Peggy Woodard.

Steers Begin District Play After Plains Loss

With hopes high for a district championship, Farwell goes to Kress tonight (Friday) to try to tie the Kangaroos down. This will start conference play and fans figure the Steers can get off on the right foot with a win over Kress. The oddsmakers favor the visitors.

So far the Steers have a record that on paper is not too impressive--three wins and three losses. They dropped a disappointing game to Plains last week when they let the Cowboys lasso them to put the damper on the Farwell Homecoming, 25-22.

The Cowboys beat the Steers in the closing minute of the game with a field goal to break a tie.

Plains thus continued its mastery over the local eleven, even though the visitors had gone into the game Friday night in the underdog role.

Farwell started off well and was able to move the ball effectively and cross the goal line four times in the game, but the scrappy Cowboys kept coming back to keep the pressure on.

The contest was hard-fought all the way as the lead changed hands. The Steers scored first and converted to go ahead 7-0, but before long they found themselves on the short end when Plains scored and added two more to lead 8-7.

In the second quarter Farwell again raced ahead, 14-8, but the Cowboys persisted and scored also, this time kicking the extra to lead 15-14 at halftime. Plains put the heat on the hosts in the third quarter by taking a 22-14 lead, but the Steers struggled to make up the deficit and closed it 22-14 in the early part of the last quarter.

Neither team was able to manage another touchdown and Plains took its victory on a field goal from about 30 yards out near the end of the game.

Coach Dempsey Alexander commented that in the Plains game Farwell's offense performed well, but "in defense we sure took a whipping." The Plains inside line outchaged the Blue and White defenders, to the surprise of the fans. Except for the Friona and Plains games, the Steer wall has been stout this year.

Texico Junior Girls Win First In Annual Play Day

Winners of first place and the sportsmanship trophy in the annual play day held for Curry County girls softball teams over the weekend were the Texico Junior Girls. Their sister team, the senior girls, took second place for their efforts.

The junior girls, who have a season record of six wins and no losses, took games from Grady and House during the play day event.

In the Grady game, played Friday, at the end of four innings Texico was trailing the Grady team by one score; however in the fifth inning Texico added four runs and continued their scoring ways in the sixth adding five more runs. During the same period Grady was able to add only one run.

Texico scoring came on triples by Molly Burch and Alma Stewart with Frankie Lambert, Texico pitcher, getting a home run. Texico advanced to the finals and met House Saturday morning.

The game with House proved to be a thrilling one with final score Texico 14 House 13.

At the end of five innings Texico was lagging behind the House aggregation needing five runs to win the ball game, when the first girl up to bat, Brenda Sims, hit a single.

Kathy Stone, who followed Brenda at the plate, also singled advancing Brenda to second. Alma Stewart hit a homer scoring both Sims and Stone. Merle Arnold was called on as a pinch hitter and came through with a homer to tie the ball game.

Tula Ortiz, next batter, took her base on thrown balls, followed by Pam Roberts, who hit a single. She was followed by Gilda Cathey, a pinch hitter, who walked loading the bases.

A Little Bit Of England Noted In Pat Kaltwasser

(EDITORS NOTE: The following feature was sent to us from South Plains College in Levelland where Pat Kaltwasser is attending school this year. In Farwell High School she was quite a popular girl and an outstanding athlete.)

If you happen to hear a "Cherio" instead of the customary "Hi" on the campus at South Plains College, it just might be Pat Kaltwasser giving her friendly greeting.

Pat, whose birthplace is London, England came to SPC from Farwell. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kaltwasser.

Her mother, a war bride, met Pat's father on a train near London. The meeting, a casual one, came about through the inquiry of a location in London which Pat's mother, a native of the large city, could answer without any difficulty.

The couple married in London in March 1944 and Pat was born in April 1945. Approximately seventeen months later the family came to the states, settling in Farwell, where Kaltwasser followed the occupation of farming.

An out-door girl, reared on a farm, Pat likes horseback riding and sports of all kinds, especially basketball. She was captain of the girls' basketball team while in high school, and also played volleyball.

The most exciting time in her life came when she was named to the all-district team, as this was a goal she had worked toward. Her father, a track team member during his school years, had great influence on his daughter and her love for sports. "I wanted daddy to be proud of me," said Pat, in all sincerity, and "it was a wonderful experience for both of us."

Pat spent six weeks in London two years ago, along with her mother, sister, Vicky and brother, Kevin. She has visited there at other times with her maternal grandmother and other relatives. According to Pat, she is always glad to be back home. "London is such a large city and too many people," said Pat. She found the English people to be more aloof than the American people and noted too that girls and women wear little make-up in London. She also noted the superior quality of merchandise and the crowds of people in the business houses.

She enjoyed her visits to the seaside and the country, which she thinks are the most beautiful in the world. She also was able to attend church at West-minister Abby and spent a day visiting a pen pal in a London suburb.

Her mother's love of animals has been instilled in her children and has possibly contributed to Pat's love of horses.

A girl who is versatile in her talents, Pat embroiders and reads when she is not participating in some out-door activity. She is a business administration major at SPC and plans to further her education at some university or college after graduation here. She plans a career in the business field.

A bit of England may be noted in Pat's accent, but she is a true American and a booster of the west Texas area.

The Editor's Letterbag

The Tribune encourages its readers to express themselves through the columns of this newspaper. All letters must be signed. We cannot be responsible for returning manuscripts. We reserve the right to judge whether a letter is suitable for printing.

Dear Editor:

First, I wish to say that I appreciate the news coverage generally given to activities of importance and interest to the people of Farmer County. And my relationship with the newspapers has been as cordial as I would expect to have anywhere. So this is a letter of concern and not of complaint.

The thing that prompts the writing of this letter is the omission from the report on the Farmer County Farm Bureau Convention of any mention of the outstanding speech delivered by Miss Linda Rector, grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foister Rector of Friona. This young lady came to Farm Bureau upon the recommendation of Friona High School administrators as a candidate for attendance of the First Annual Texas Farm Bureau Student Citizenship Seminar which was held on the campus of the college in Huntsville this summer. Miss Rector and Miss Jane Bradshaw, of Farwell High School went to the seminar under the sponsorship of PCFB. There they sat under the tutelage of some of the greatest students of American Citizenship in the United States. These girls came back with a real desire to tell their fellow Americans what they had learned in three short days of study and listening about the privileges and opportunities only an American citizen enjoys. They also learned of some of the efforts that are being made to equalize this great country of ours with the countries that have in the last few years been brought under the rule of Communism.

We felt deeply disturbed, upon reading the report that there was no mention of Miss Rector's report at the convention. She has spoken to at least one group before this, and made a brief written report in the school newspaper. We feel that our youth who take enough interest in things of this nature are due at least as much recognition as some other, much less important individual accomplishments receive.

Regarding "Americanism Seminars," this is one of the "radical right" types of things that is made a target of the Federal Communications Commission of this country, as a result of, and as suggested in the Secret Memorandum of Walter Reuther that was prepared at the request of President Kennedy and Attorney General Kennedy in December, 1961. This memorandum has very recently been made public, and it appears that it would be a great service to the readers of your papers to print it, possibly in serial form. There are some almost unbelievable ideas promoted therein, and some of them are already being implemented by the FCC and Internal Revenue Service. It is not long, and if you have not read it, I would like for you, and anyone else interested, to read the copy I have.

Sincerely yours,
Raymond Euler

Editor's note: Thanks for the letter, Raymond. Our sincere apologies to Miss Rector. Sometimes the most obvious things are the ones we overlook when writing news.

Impressive Ceremony Unites Miss Stanfill-V. Scott Johnson II

In a simple but impressive ceremony at Wesley Methodist Church, Oklahoma City, Miss Betty June Stanfill, daughter of Mrs. Bernice Stanfill, Seminole, became the bride of V. Scott Johnson II, son of Dr. and Mrs. V. Scott Johnson, Clovis, former Farwell residents.

The Rev. Robert L. Jones, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Oklahoma City University, officiated at the double ring service. Prior to the ceremony, Dr. Jones read the selection on marriage from Kahlil Gibran's "The Prophet."

The organist played arrangements of Rachmaninoff's "18th Variation from Rhapsodie on Theme of Paganini," and "Clair de Lune," preceding the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, A. M. Stanfill, Natchez, Miss., wore a waltz length dress of ivory silk fashioned with a tight bodice and a full skirt. The v-neckline was edged with lace and the fitted sleeves fastened with self covered buttons extended to points over the hands. Her bouffant white silk illusion veil was attached to a jeweled bow. She carried a bouquet of gladiolus and stephanotis arranged on a lace fan.

Attending the couple were Mrs. W. C. Wantland of Seminole and Ed Kelsey, Oklahoma City. Serving as ushers were Richard Mankinen, Redding, Calif., and Dick Blakeley, Oklahoma City.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Cobb Jr., Oklahoma City. The bride's table was covered with white linen and organza. Centerpiece for the table was a low six-branched candelabra flanked by the silver punch service and the wedding cake which was topped by a gold cross entwined with wedding rings.

Presiding at the table were Mrs. A. M. Standfield and Mrs. Clyde Cole Jr. of Enid, sister of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are making their home in Oklahoma City where she is Alumni Director at the university and he is doing research in experimental psychology.

JOTTIN'S By Jeanne

Penning a thought or two for a newspaper column every week is not always as easy as it looks -- some weeks, it's difficult to get started. This is one of those weeks. But I have managed to keep some items that have appeared in other newspapers the past few weeks that have appealed to me.

You might enjoy some of them too.

The hardest thing about saying what you think is the thinking.

The world is full of willing people; some willing to work, others willing to let them.

One neighbor observes: youngsters are at their mental peaks at ages 4 and 17. At 4 they know all the questions and at 17, they know all the answers.

A good speaker was on hand for the first meeting of Farwell PTA -- the officers had worked hard and everything to insure a good meeting was done. So where the people?

A handful of people willing to work, were there -- those willing to let them numbered in the hundreds.

We had to build more bleachers to seat the fans at the football games. Wouldn't it be nice to have to bring in more chairs to seat the "fans" of the stars of the learning process? Parents of junior and senior students could have learned a great deal Tuesday night; I don't think one such parent was there.

Donna Jordan, program chairman of PTA, has sent questionnaires to school patrons, inquiring about your wishes for PTA programs. Have you answered her questions?

Texico Girls--

Frankie Lambert hit a solid ball into the field scoring Tula Ortiz to win the game, and the ev. at. Logan had earlier forfeited a game to Texico, when they failed to show up.

Earlier in the week the junior team had taken a win from Dora 34-15. In the Dora game all regular players for Texico were taken from the game at the end of two innings and substitutes finished the game. All girls from Texico contributed to the scoring.

Winning from Grady and losing to Melrose the Texico high school lasses took second place in the weekend playday.

In the Grady game the Texico girls led until the seventh inning when it looked momentarily as if they might lose the game as the first two Texico batters up were retired; however after the game had been tied up LaNell Ingram, third batter, was on with a single. Lena Brown was walked and Kay Bush was sent in to run for Lena Brown. Bush and Ingram executed a double steal with Millie Autrey, next batter, hitting a single scoring Ingram and ending the game. Final score was 7-6.

Final game was between Melrose and Texico with Texico defeated by a fine Melrose team 10-6.

Scoring was something like this: 1st inning--Melrose four and Texico one; second inning--Texico four and Melrose one leaving the team tied until the top of the sixth when Melrose added four runs and Texico one to end scoring for the afternoon.

Texico team had taken a 19-17 win from Dora on Tuesday. LaNell Ingram was one of the big guns in the Texico offense having six for six with Millie Autrey and Sandy Tipton having six for eight. "These three came through when the chips were down," said Coach Green.

Our senior girls started the season slow, commented Coach Johnny Green but improved as the season progressed. They ended the season with a three wins four loss record.

Boys tournament play will get underway Friday when the Wolverines meet Dora at the Santa Fe Park south of the depot. Play will continue in Portales Saturday at the city softball park.

Longhorns Impressive; Win Over New Home

The Lazbuddle Longhorns, fresh from a magnificent win over New Home, will travel to Whitharral this week, and Coach Charley Walton says "We hope we will be able to field a team."

Lazbuddle dumped the high-flying Leopards of New Home from the unbeaten list last Friday night, shutting off the team which had averaged 53 points per game in a 12-6 homecoming win.

"It was the biggest team effort I've seen since I've been at Lazbuddle. We had the best pursuit on defense I've seen the team have," Walton stated.

Just as he had said his team would have to do to win, the Longhorns controlled the ball to beat New Home, Lazbuddle ran 64 plays, to 32 by the Leopards.

Lazbuddle scored the win with a story-book finish. With two seconds left when the play started, quarterback Kenneth McGehee hit Mac Brown on a 35-yard scoring play, which was, of course, the final play of the game. Lazbuddle had taken the lead in the third quarter when Lloyd Bradshaw ran five yards for a touchdown. New Home tied the count in the fourth quarter when high-scoring Terry Brown ran five yards for the score to make it 6-6.

The Longhorns threatened to score twice in the first half, driving to the 10-yard line on one occasion and to the 20 another time, but lost the ball on downs both times.

New Home's only penetration of the 20-yard line came on its touchdown. Lazbuddle "helped" the Leopards score, giving them the ball deep in their own territory on a bad snap on a punting attempt.

"We felt we had to control the ball. New Home had a poised offense. If they had gotten the ball more, sooner or later they would have been able to break for a score," Walton said. He credited the Longhorns with being stout on defense when the chips were down.

However, Walton pointed out that Lazbuddle's injury list was beginning to outnumber those able to play.

Those who are injured include guards H. W. Moore and Theron Vaughn, who have ankle and knee injuries; end Timmy Foster, who is out for the season, and back Hoppy Jennings.

Brown also has an injured hand, but is expected to play, anyway. Also, Walton pointed out that some of the starters were showing animals in the state fair, so would miss practice all week.

"If some of our injured players come around, we'll be all right. But I'm afraid we'll be completely without subs this week," Walton concluded.

If we hold genuinely to the idea of healing we should and can pray effectively for Divine help for those who are in need of healing.

Out of the glummiest prospects for a crop since the famous "freeze of fifty-five" has come the most amazing recovery in history for Farmer County cotton in this weird year of 1963.
Back in the spring, which was characterized by wet and cold weather, county farmers went to the fields again and again to get their cotton crop in the ground. Then after nursing it along for several weeks, farmers had practically all their hopes dashed by the worst rash of hallstorms to visit the Plains in years.

Field after field was plowed up and re-planted to early-maturing maize or abandoned to "get by as best it could" as farmers figured tender loving care couldn't possibly undo all the damage. Then the buds descended and that seemed like curtains for the crop.

1. A late, weak start
2. Heavy hail damage
3. Worse than usual insect attack

Those were the conditions that bore down on the crop all through the growing season, and along about the end of August, when bolls are usually popping and farmers' grins are a mile wide, the Farmer County cotton crop was just starting to bloom in many instances!

Farmer County was allotted 49,500 acres of cotton this year, and virtually all of that allotment went into the ground. Cotton acreage is at a high premium in this county and it is seldom that any of the allotment is wasted.

After the onslaught of the weather, the nearly-50,000 acreage was pared to roughly 30,000 acres, estimates Deryl Coker, Farmer County agent. It was the worst acreage abandonment, percentage-wise, in the county's history since farmers have been irrigating the crop.

But then an amazing transformation began to take place. The weather, which had been as unruly and onerous as a yearling steer all season long, suddenly turned perfect. There hasn't been a speck of rain descend on the county since the very early part of September, and that was only spotted.

There has been an uninterrupted chain of sun-filled days that have set new marks in the weather history books for extending the "Indian summer" past the time that the oldest oldtimers on the Plains can remember it.

Under these balmy conditions, the cotton crop, languishing as it had been for months, suddenly took on new life. At the threshold of maturity, it righted itself, fruited out splendidly, and began to produce lint.

This week, as the High Plains faces the moment of the traditional first killing frost, the farmers have been blessed with a recouped cotton crop that is sure to put some money in the bank even with a normal freeze date (around October 20).

This is truly the most outstanding crop recovery story ever written on the irrigated High Plains, and it is especially important to Farmer County, which has for years led the entire High Plains in cotton acreage yields.

Last year Farmer County farmers produced a stupendous crop of over 80,000 bales which averaged over one and two-thirds bale per acre for an all-time high. This year they were about ready to write the entire crop off for naught as late as September 1, but now in the middle of October the tune is a little different.

Nearly all farmers are hoping for a bare minimum harvest of a half-bale per acre and many are crossing their fingers for from three-quarters to a bale. Compared to 1962 that is a big drop, but on a lot of farms it could well mean the difference in "paying out or renewing my note".

Cotton farming, like raising other row crops on the irrigated High Plains, is a highly mechanized, specialized enterprise. The farmer, with his investment in water, fertilizer, insecticides and "experiment station-type" crop culture, does his utmost to insure himself of a crop in spite of the vagaries of Mother Nature.

But 1963 is proving once again—as if there were ever any doubt—that Providence has a strong hand in determining the fortunes of the farmers of the High Plains.

The recovery of the 1963 cotton crop was a natural phenomena entirely out of the control of the farmer. Coming as it has after two excellent falls in a row, the fall of 1963 is sure to be long remembered.

Wayne Koehler, farmer east of Oklahoma Lane crossroads, displays open bolls of cotton in his irrigated patch. Koehler says, "If frost will hold off another two weeks I will make a bumper cotton crop."

In contrast this field of dry land cotton in the area south of Clay's Corner has at least 80% of the bolls open; however farmers in the area say that harvest operations will be limited until after frost.

FOOTSAVING EDUCATION

by James E. Edwards

Are These Good Shoes?

Every spring every shoe-man loses friends (and customers) by the very natural process of growth and development.

Babies very rarely wear out their shoes; some toddlers knock shoes out of shape but not until they are outgrown. Then comes the first spring that they play outdoors most of the day and it is an awful shock to see what they can do to a pair of shoes when they rub them on concrete.

"Good shoes" usually means shoes that will not wear out. For adults this is a pretty good criterion but when you remember that going barefoot is healthful for active young feet, you must beware of stiff, heavy shoes that immobilize the foot. Walking and running can be accomplished by use of the legs even if the feet are in casts. There are children's shoes on the market that even the roughest wear will not faze but we are committed to buy and sell what is better for the children's feet.

This delightful and charming Ethan Allen Deacon's Bench is a direct descendant of the early "Settle" of the late 17th Century. The Settle originally served as a fireside bench and its high back staved off wintry drafts. Early in the 18th Century the Settle with a much lower back moved from the hearthside into New England churches and was known as the Deacon's Bench.
The Ethan Allen Deacon's Bench captures the authentic warmth and distinction of the original—makes a delightful addition in living room, den or foyer.

On The Farm In Farmer County

By DERYL COKER
County Agent

You have probably noticed that some wheat fields in the county have dead spots and these spots vary from very small to as large as 5 acres or more. A careful examination of these spots shows that white grub worms are at work. If these spots are big enough, it will pay you to drill them over. There is insecticides that can be used in controlling grubs, but they need to be put down with the seed at planting time. If you have noticed wax or gum oozing from the trunk of your peach trees they are probably infested with peach tree borers and now is the time to control these pests.

The insects damage the trees from about a foot above the ground to three or four inches below it.

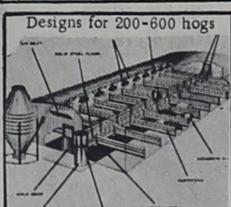

Treatment for peach tree borers is Paradichlorobenzene crystals applied to the infested trees between October 20 and November 15. All weeds and grass should be removed from the soil around the tree trunk for about a foot and the P D B crystals placed in a circular band around the tree about two inches from the trunk. A mound of dirt six inches high should then be packed against the tree without allowing the crystals to touch the tree as they will harm it if they do. Leave the mounds until spring, then level them back to the original ground line.

Two to three year old trees require about 1/2-ounce of P D B crystals per tree, and four to five year old trees need about 3/4 ounce per tree. A mature tree requires 1 ounce of crystals per tree, according to the entomologist.

When the crystals are placed around the trees the soil should be dry, and the soil temperature should be about 55 degrees F. For further information on the care of fruit trees come by the office and pick up a guide.

By CRICKET B. TAYLOR

In the recent Texas Home Demonstration Messenger, I ran across this thought, "Wisdom is knowing what to do next, Skill is knowing how to do it, Virtue is doing it." I thought how appropriate this saying fit the leaders in our Home Demonstration Clubs when they met recently for their annual luncheon and Council reports. They know what to do (and there was no complaining about how much they had to do) and they had the skill for doing the assignment. They did it and there by lies the Virtue. The chronic procrastinator (that's a big word) is lacking in virtue and most usually in skill or wisdom or both.

The Home Demonstration Council Chairman, Mrs. J. D. Sanders presided over the meeting with ease and confidence to match that of many who are well known in the field of public speaking. Their thoughts were well organized and showed thought in preparation. Mrs. Gene Welch made the statement that: this was her first time to make a talk before a group. This really proves that there is a great untapped potential in each individual, and they need only the opportunity to develop their talents which is an important objective of the Extension Service - that of developing leaders through Home Demonstration Club work.

The idea has been expressed recently, for the organization of a Home Demonstration Club in Farwell. It does not really take very many women to start a Club and those who are interested may contact the Home Demonstration Agent at the Courthouse for further information.
THE FASHION PICTURE FOR FALL
Two distinct looks are in the fashion picture for this fall. The sportive look of casualness leads the way, and the soft look is making a definite entrance, says Extension Service clothing specialists at Texas A&M University.
"The soft look is dressier and very feminine. The silhouette softly outlines the figure but definitely is not clinging," the specialist adds. Neutral colors are favored, though winter pastel woollens in sheer weights are an important trend. Heels of medium height but slim will be worn with the soft look in apparel. While dress lengths remain short--now just below the knee--the fashion-right woman knows a very high heel will give the impression of toppling forward--an unbalanced look.
A woman who wears the soft look will carry a small handbag and choose delicate jewelry, such as unmatched bracelets to complement her outfit.

Cotton producers have for several years become more and more concerned about the growing threat of synthetic fibers. Cotton profits have been seriously cut by loss of markets and acreage, and rising production costs. As our only basic answer to the problem cotton producer leaders across the belt have strongly pushed for an adequate research and advertising effort. Their ideas have become reality in the Cotton Producers Institute.

The Institute is completely producer controlled, non-political, voluntary and 100 per cent of its funds will go for research to cut production costs, develop new qualities and uses, and nationwide consumer advertising to sell more cotton. By an agreement whereby the National Cotton Council will service the program and bear all administrative costs, none of the Institute funds will be spent in salaries and overhead. Too, lending agencies and internal revenue have cleared the program as a tax deductible production expense.

The finance plan calls for $1.00 per bale to be paid by the producer. This is left strictly up to individual farmers, on a voluntary basis. In line with the usual support Farmer County gins give to progressive movements, we will cooperate in the program and its finance plan, accepting voluntary participation from producers.

RESEARCH PROMOTION

CPI BUILDS GREATER COTTON MARKETS AND PROFITS

COTTON PRODUCERS INSTITUTE

Research

The Institute funds are actively at work in key research projects aimed at:

1. Easing the cost-price squeeze on cotton growers by reducing costs and improving raw fiber quality; and
2. Producing new or improved cotton products.

Outstanding research organizations are working on Institute projects. In many cases, the projects are attracting funds from other sources, thereby boosting cotton's total research effort.

Promotion

The Institute is operating a hard-hitting advertising campaign to sell products made from cotton. It is aimed mainly at the U. S. housewife who buys most of the textile items used by the family. In addition, the Institute is telling garment manufacturers, retailers and others how advertising by cotton growers is helping them stimulate sales of cotton products.

We Heartily Endorse this Concept of a Self-Help Program

By voluntary participation in the Institute, cotton growers are demonstrating their ability to build for themselves a lasting and promising future in cotton. Every dollar goes for operating research and promotion programs — there is no overhead. The Institute deserves the wholehearted support not only of all cotton growers but all people in cotton communities. Organized research and promotion can increase markets and profits for cotton — the key to the economic health of this area.

By VOLUNTARY PARTICIPATION in the Institute Cotton Growers can demonstrate their ability to build for themselves - a lasting and promising future in cotton.
