Two Horses Die - -

Encephalitis Cases Reported In Area

by Mary Sobin
News Editor

Horse owners should be on the alert as numerous cases of encephalitis, a disease causing inflammation of the brain, have been reported in the Texas Panhandle, with one confirmed case in Curry County and one confirmed case in Parmer County.

According to Dr. Glenn W. Keim, Clovis veterinarian, a two-year old filly from the Texico area was put to sleep after it had become comatose from the disease.

Dr. Gary Cash, a Friona veterinarian, reports that he has seen five confirmed cases of the disease, and one was from west of the Friona area, and has since died from the infection.

Cash said the other four cases were in the Dimmitt area, in Castro County.

Both veterinarians issued an all-out warning to all horse owners, with Dr. Keim saying, "Those who have not had their horses vaccinated need to do so immediately. Mainly because the vaccination doesn't take affect for three weeks.

Those horses who have never been vaccinated for encephalitis will have to return for a booster in three weeks, and then again once a year," he said.

Parmer County Extension Agent Seth Ralston echoed both vets' comments saying, "Horse owners may have become slack in the last couple of years about getting their horses vaccinated. But this has been such a wet summer causing a lot of stagnant ponds around where mosquitoes (the disease carrier) will breed. They need to contact their vet immediately."

Dr. Keim explained that the disease, with the medical term "encephalomyelitis" comes in three main types; Venezuelan, Eastern and Western. The Western type is being reported in this area. "And I'm talking about now. This week. We're seeing an epidemic," Keim emphasized.

Dr. Keim said he is in constant contact with laboratories in Amarillo and College Station and "they are report ing many confirmed cases and some unconfirmed."

According to the Clovis vet, the first physical signs of the disease mean an owner is almost too late. "The virus is gone from the blood stream when the clinical signs begin to show," he says, explaining that the clinical signs include incoordination, off their feed, looking droopy and droopy lip."

The high fever which a horse will have in the "viremic stage" usually goes undetected by the horse owner, Keim says, and once the virus leaves the blood stream the organism affects the brain and spinal cord.

"There is no real treatment, just supported therapy with plenty of fluids and nutrition," the vet said, "and if they recover, they are permanently impaired."

One of the most frightening aspects of the disease is that it can be transmitted to humans, and according to the New Mexico Health and Environmental Department, pre-adolescent children are in the specific age bracket to be attacked by the disease.

"One man in Cloudcroft, N.M., died from it this year," said Dr. Keim, adding that even though humans can be given the disease, "horses are more susceptible" to encephalitis. Dr. Keim also said that the vaccine for encephalitis is available only for horses.

Keim stated that while the disease is transmitted from mosquitoes and other blood sucking insects, and that even birds can be carriers, the horse is a "dead-end host," and it is highly unlikely the animal will transmit the disease.

The New Mexico Health and Environmental Department reports that the primary link with Western mosquito-borne encephalitis is associated with irrigated farmland, and the virus activity is reportedly favored by a long, cool, wet spring.

There have been no cases of encephalitis in the past two years in the southwest, but according to Dr. Keim, "It has developed into a real problem this year."

"The first case was reported in April in New Mexico. For some reason the situation is ripe for the condition to spread, and we're having a lot of cases pop up," he said. The vet commented that confirmed cases in horses have been reported from Midland to Odessa, north into New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Cities Taking Precautions, Spraying For Mosquitoes

While the reported cases of encephalitis in the area have been in horses only, many surrounding cities are taking preventive action, and are spraying all area lakes, lagoons and towns for the blood-sucking vectors.

Curry County has been spraying the City of Texico's area lakes and lagoons for the past eight weeks on "about a weekly basis," according to Texico City Clerk Marie Christian, who said that county officials also make periodic checks in the area for mosquito infestations.

Mrs. Christian also said that Texico was "fogged" at least one time this summer and probably will be again before the summer is over.

Farwell city workers have dusted the area twice "in-between the two recent rains," according to City Clerk Janie Bowery, who added, "We will be doing it again this week, depending on the weather." Mrs. Bowery also said that the City of Farwell has plans to dust again July 22, "just before the rodeo."

Josie Long at the Friona City Hall said that city has sprayed twice and will continue to spray twice a month for the remainder of the summer months.

In Bovina, Trish Sherill said that city has sprayed already, and will continue to do so for the remainder of the summer.

Symptoms to watch for in humans with mosquito-borne encephalitis are severe headache, high fever, nausea and vomiting, seizures, mental confusion, change in level of consciousness, lethargy to coma.

The approximate duration of the infection is 4-10 days, there is no known cure, and no vaccination is available for humans, according to the New Mexico Department of Health and Environment.

On a positive note, the type of encephalitis being reported in this area and Panhandle horses is the Western variety, and according to a report issued by the New Mexico Department of Health and Environment, natural resistance to this type of the brain-disorder disease is common among adults.

Once contracted and "cured," after-effects are rare in adults, according to the reports, but occur in more than 50 percent of children under one year old.

Symptoms following the disease include mental retardation, personality-behavioral changes and motor defects in the small children.

All suspected and confirmed human and horse cases should be reported to the appropriate public health authorities, and it should be noted that a female mosquito once infected by a virus, remains so for life, and is capable of transmitting encephalitis by a single bite.

Prevention is with effective mosquito control, including the elimination of breeding sites, and the use of insecticides, repellants, protective clothing and screening.

Swat That Mosquito

It's that time of year again and those pesky blood-sucking mosquitoes are on the loose. Extra precautions should be taken to ward off the insect as many cases of encephalitis, a disease causing inflammation of the brain, have been reported in horses only, humans are susceptible to the disease and, according to a Clovis veterinarian, a Cloudcroft, N.M. man died from the disease this year.

There have been two confirmed cases, one in Curry County and one in Parmer County. While the cases are

Entry Deadline Today For BTM Queen Contest

Today is the final day to enter the Border Town Days Queen contest and all girls who will be students at either Texico or Farwell High School next fall and who would like to try for the BTM queen's crown have until 5 p.m. CDT today to turn in their entry blank and photograph.

Girls entered in the contest to date include Jennifer Williams, Tammy Obenshain, Rosa Lee Rubio, Shana Blain and Polly Turner.

Any girl who is not over 18 years of age and who will attend one of the Twin Cities high schools next year is eligible to enter.

Joann Getz, contest chairman, announces that a "Coke" party for all queen contestants has been tentatively set for Monday, July 20, at Luce's Restaurant to begin at 5 p.m. CDT.

The party is to give the contestants an opportunity to ask any questions they may have in regard to the contest.

Those girls still planning to enter are asked to submit a photograph of themselves for the contest to be published in next week's special Border Town Days State Line Tribune. The photos may be any size, although billfold size is preferred, and may either be a school, studio or Polaroid photograph.

A sponsor must also be secured by the contestant, but Mrs. Getz advises that she has been contacted by several area organizations and businesses seeking a contestant to sponsor, so BTM queen hopefuls need not worry about obtaining a sponsor if they don't have one.

Candidates will be judged by out-of-town judges on personality and talent. For their talent, which is to be performed in the Farwell Park Gazebo, the queen contestant may do such acts as singing, playing piano or other musical instruments, dancing, skits, twirling or pompon routines, readings, poetry reading and others.

Crowning of the new queen takes place in only one week, during the annual BTM park activities on July 25. The new BTM queen will be crowned by the reigning queen, Tracy Williams of Farwell.

For further information, call the Tribune at 481-3681 before 5 p.m. today (Friday.)

Jaycees Ready For Rodeo

Farwell Jaycees are busy with preparations for the High Plains Junior Rodeo slated for Friday and Saturday, July 24 and 25. The annual HPJRA rodeo is being held in conjunction with Border Town Days activities.

Nightly performances are set for 8 p.m. CDT at the Farwell Arena. Admittance cost will be $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for students. Children six and under will be admitted free.

Mike Haseloff is serving as chairman of the rodeo committee.

The Jaycees have conducted several workdays at the arena to prepare it for the rodeo and they say that things will be "ship shape" for the event.

Deadline for entering the HPJRA rodeo was Wednesday of this week, but those attending will see youngsters from ages eight to 19 competing in bareback bronc riding, tie down calf roping, bull riding, team roping, ribbon roping, barrel racing, pole bending, goat tying, breakaway roping and flag racing.

Winners will receive payoffs made by check the week following the rodeo.

Tickets to the rodeo will be sold at the gate.

Border Town Days Parade To Be Better Than Ever

The time is drawing nearer and the annual Twin Cities Border Town Days celebration is a mere week away!

Kicking off the Saturday, July 25, festivities will be the traditional BTM parade, which parade marshal Don Geries says is expected to be bigger and better than ever.

Geries said he already has more floats than last year signed up for the parade and that new groups from Clovis are also entered in the procession.

Deadline for registering for a spot in the parade is Wednesday, July 22. Those not officially entered in the parade will have to fall in at the end of the procession and will not be eligible for prizes to be awarded.

Parade entrants are to meet for formation at 10 a.m. CDT on Griffin Street in Texico north of the highway, heading south. The parade will head east through Texico, turning left at Fifth Street in Farwell and ending at the Farwell City Park. Marshal Geries advises that New Mexico State police will be on hand "to help us block the traffic."

Judging of parade participants will take place and prizes are to be awarded for best floats, best riding clubs, best antique car entries and, of course, the kids' decorated bikes.

Sponsors of the parade are the Texico-Farwell Lions.

Farwell Chamber of Commerce is donating prizes for the best three floats entered, with $50 for 1st place; $30 for 2nd; and $20 for 3rd place.

Trophies are also to be presented to the best riding clubs

Kids! Register Today For BTM Contest

Kids planning to enter the Decorated Bike Contest in the Border Town Days parade July 25 have only until Wednesday, July 22, to register if they are to be eligible for the cash prizes to be awarded to winners.

Those who feel they can best decorate their two-wheeled vehicle should register today at the Texico City Hall. Those not entered before the deadline of next Wednesday may ride in the parade but they will not be eligible to win a prize following the parade.

Ann Cooper, contest chairman, advises that cash prizes are being donated by T&A Welding of Texico and are as follows: 1st place, $8; 2nd place, $5; and 3rd place $4. These cash prizes will be awarded in each of the three entered, and will be provided by the Farwell Chamber.

Texico Chamber of Commerce is providing trophies for antique car entries, and the prizes for the kids and their best decorated bikes will be donated by T&A Welding of Texico.

Judging will take place in the following categories: Category I, best decorated bike and costumed rider; Category II, age six and under with best decorated bike; and Category III, age 7-12 with best decorated bike.

Out-of-town judges are to be used in the contest, and they will be judging on originality, neatness and the use of color.

Mrs. Cooper advises that children not completing the parade route will not be eligible to win a prize.

This year the bikers will be at the start of the procession, following behind the Texico and Farwell fire trucks.

Kids! Hurry to Texico City Hall and register!!! Time is running out!!!

Miss Rodeo New Mex. To Appear At BTM

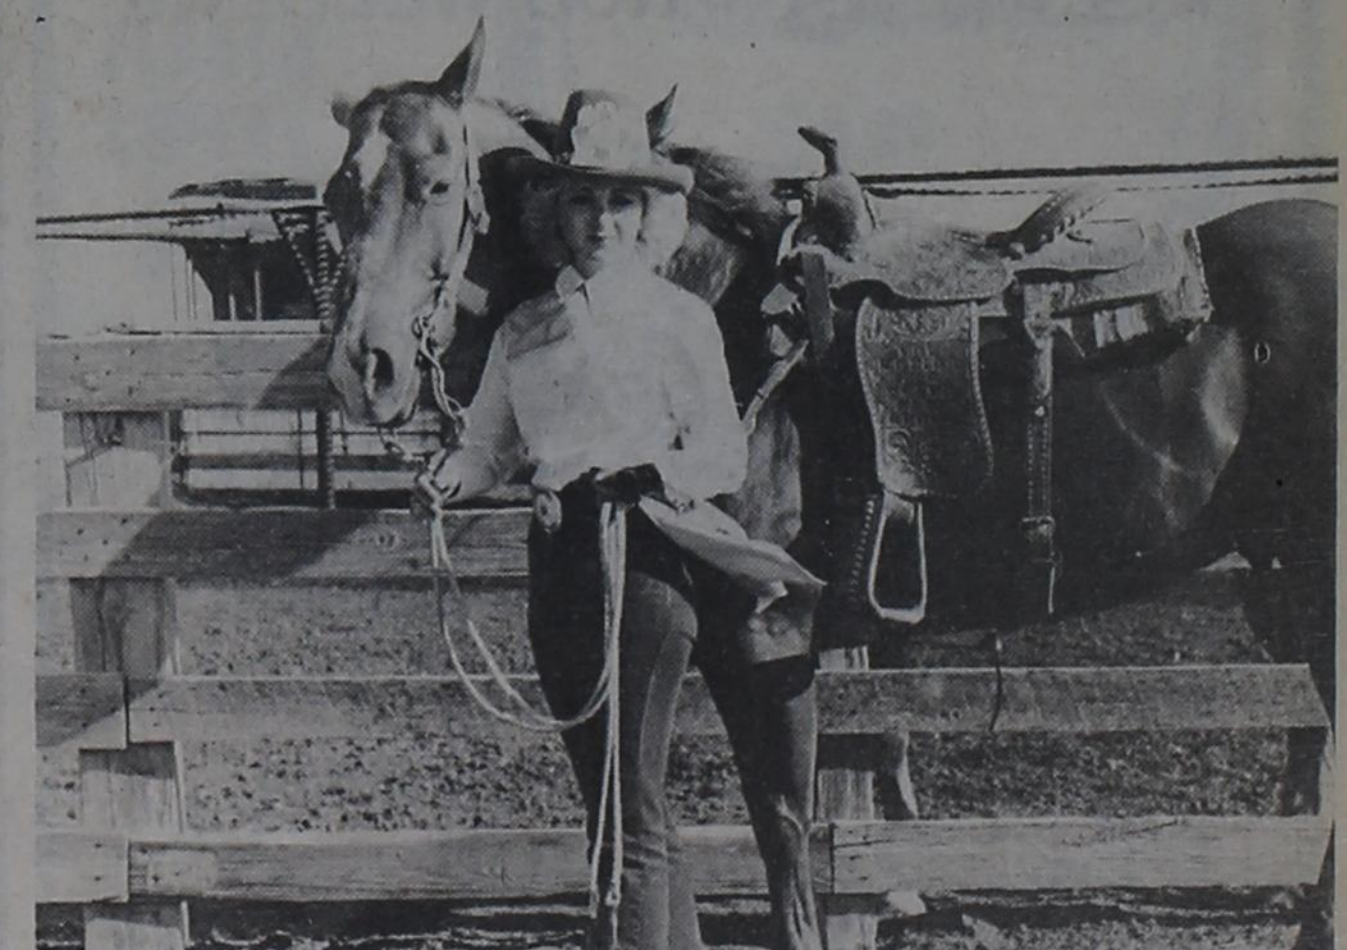

A special attraction for next weekend's Border Town Days will be Miss Rodeo New Mexico, Tamra Joyce Ridley of Santa Fe.

Miss Ridley will be making an appearance at the High Plains Junior Rodeo Association's rodeo, riding in the annual Border Town Days parade and will also be judging the BTM Beard Growing contest, deciding which Twin Cities men have grown the ugliest, most unique, and best looking chin whiskers.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Ridley of Santa Fe, Tamra is a senior at Eastern New Mexico University and will receive a Bachelor of Arts Degree in psychology and an Associate of Arts Degree in Journalism when she graduates.

The 21-year old blonde was crowned Miss Rodeo New Mexico 1982 at the recent Miss Rodeo New Mexico Pageant competition conducted during the 11th Annual Pioneer Days PRCR Rodeo in Clovis.

Contestants in that pageant were judged on horsemanship and rodeo knowledge, personality and appearance.

To Appear Here

Making a special appearance at next weekend's Border Town Days celebration will be Miss Rodeo New Mexico, Tamra Ridley of Santa Fe. The ENMU co-ed will be judging the beard growing contest, riding in the parade, and making appearances at the HPJRA Rodeo. The annual BTM festivities are only one week away and both the Texico and Farwell Chambers of Commerce are preparing to erect the "Welcome To Border Town Days" banners this week.

We junketed into New Mexico over the weekend and must say that the entire countryside looked better than we have seen it in years. We took the Grady to Ragland route to Tucumcari and were pleasantly surprised at the looks of that area. Even in the extreme northwest corner of Curry County it looked in great shape. Going from Tucumcari to Las Vegas via Conchas also was a revelation on what rainfall will do for the short grass country.

We passed through Las Vegas in the early afternoon and it was buzzing with people shopping around. We wondered what the town draws its subsistence from and it seemed to be the area ranchers in town shopping. They all ought to be feeling prosperous as small lakes and ponds were visible all over the mesa.

Of course, our recent rains have been beneficial to us and we hope that they continue for a while before shutting off.

Good Grief, California is in the throes of another batch of misinformed demonstrations. The Mediterranean fruit fly has been found in some of their orchards and it is truly a pest to both man and fruit. Unless it is quickly eradicated large parts of the California fruit land will be quarantined and the economic loss will be tremendous.

Fortunately, the Med Fly is very susceptible to the insecticide Malathion. This is the rub. The federal government wants to eradicate this menace by spraying Malathion from airplanes over the entire area. Naturally the local kooks are setting up a howl.

Those who really know about Malathion believe it to be harmless to humans in the very low concentration that will be used for the eradication program. Sure enough, those who do not know are hollering their heads off about cancer dangers in the years ahead. While it is granted that nothing is entirely impossible, the danger of future cancer from this application of Malathion is so remote that it puts these protesters in the Salem Witch hunters' category.

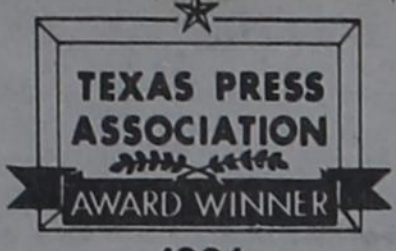

To a person living in California the ever present danger of earthquakes are far more serious than protective spraying of fruit crops.

This nation and the world cannot go back to producing food without the aid and protection of chemical products. Without these aids to massive food production many millions more human beings will starve to death. Inescapably we as a world have bred ourselves way past the "good old days" of horse and buggy farming. Only technology and science can save the world from the four horsemen of the apocalypse. The use of scientific tools to feed the world had better be encouraged, not discouraged by mostly imaginary problems.

I am more deadly than the screaming shell from a howitzer; I ruin without killing. I tear down homes. I break hearts and wreck lives. I have no respect for truth or justice, no mercy for the defenseless. you will find me in the pews of the pious and the haunts of the unholy. I am wily, cunning, malicious -- and I gather strength with age. I make my way where greed, mistrust and dishonor are unknown. I feed on good and bad alike. My victims are as numerous as the sands of the sea and often as incorrect. I never forgive and seldom forget. My name is Gossip.

Frona Man Arrested For Cattle Feed Theft

A Frona man was arrested this week in connection with the theft of 1,000 pounds of cattle feed from Hi-Pro feeds of Frona on July 10, according to Parmer County Sheriff Bill Morgan.

Also missing was an undetermined amount of aviation fuel. On July 13, the Farwell Convalescent Center reported that 100 tranquilizer pills were missing from their pharmacy. Arrested this week was Robert D. Garcia, 28, of Farwell on a Texas Army National Guard Warrant. Garcia is currently in custody awaiting the arrival of authorities from Ft. Hood, Sheriff Morgan said.

He donated his body to science and a memorial service was conducted with only family members present on Sunday, July 5, at 1:30 p.m. Mr. Towry was born June 24, 1893, in Buckner, Ark. He was a veteran of World War I and had lived in San Angelo since 1930.

Survivors include his wife Essie Towry; a daughter Billie Carlyle of Farwell; a son, Winston Towry of Uvalde; a brother, Otto Towry of Mineola; five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Texico C Of C Slates Street Clean Up Day

In preparation for the upcoming Border Town Days celebration, the Texico Chamber of Commerce has designated Saturday as "Clean Up Main Street Day," and all Chamber members will be out in full force ridding Texico's main street of weeds and other "eyesores," according to Louise Engram, Chamber secretary.

Plans for next spring's annual banquet were discussed and it was reported that the Border Town Days street banners have arrived.

Attending the meeting were Jim Pierce, John R. Hadley, Tony Mendoza, Bill Christian, Louise Engram, Ann Cooper and Lewis Cooper.

Encephalitis In Area . . .

 "When the disease develops in non-vaccinated horses, it's very severe," said the vet, adding, "Every horse in this entire area needs to be vaccinated."

In a report issued by the New Mexico Health and Environment Department's Clovis office, among the three major types of encephalitis which affect both horses and man, Western equine causes the most serious public health problems.

law in most states including New Mexico and Texas. All suspected and confirmed human and horse cases should be reported to the appropriate public health authorities.

It is believed that a female mosquito, once infected by a virus, remains so for life, and is capable of transmitting encephalitis by a single bite.

"It is generally accepted that this type is transmitted from infected mosquitoes to birds. The virus multiplies in the hosts and, for a few days, the birds serve as a source of infection for mosquitoes which feed on their blood," according to the report. "Presumably, the infected mosquito then transmits the virus to other vertebrate hosts during probing action at the time of feeding."

The report also indicates that the mortality of Western encephalitis in horses is about 50 percent. "Prognosis usually is unfavorable when a state of prostration has been reached," reads the report. "Cases showing profound prostration are to be considered hopeless." Encephalitis is reportable by

FIRE CALLS

There was only one fire call reported in Farwell this week, and Texico reports receiving none.

On July 14 at 10:41 p.m. the fire truck was dispatched to a fire reported between Sixth and Seventh Streets in Farwell, but when firefighters arrived at the scene it turned out to be a resident burning trash.

On July 9 Pauline Sierra of Bovina reported that both license plates had been stolen from her pickup truck sometime within the last month. The license plates are numbered RL-3084.

Lupe Garza of Bovina made two reports to the sheriff's office. She reported that someone entered her home in Bovina and took $90 from her billfold on July 4. In a second incident, Mrs. Garza said her purse had been taken from her car while it was parked in front of 403 Avenue C in Bovina.

Parmer County Spraying Company located west of Bovina on Pleasant Hill highway, reported that their glass door had been broken the night of July 8. Also on July 8, Agri-Sprayers, Inc., located west of Bovina on Pleasant Hill highway, reported that three cases of Aatrex Herbicide, valued at $180, had been stolen.

Local Farmers 'Hopeful' Bill Will Be On Agenda

The Texas legislature is meeting in special session this week, and if all goes as what at least two local farmers hope for, the Motor Fuels Tax Exemption bill will be placed on the agenda for the special session, and will be at last voted on.

The bill, which would allow a five cent tax exemption from every gallon of gasohol produced, was filibustered to its death during closing legislation in the Texas State Senate in early June. But if Guy Austin and Bert Williams, both Farwell farmers, have their way, it won't stay dead long.

Both men are members of the High Plains GPI Cooperative, a group that has already spent much money on educating legislators, hiring lobbyists and promoting the tax exemption bill.

Austin, chairman of the cooperative, is "hopeful" that the bill will be placed on the agenda, but at presstime this had not occurred. "It's purely a political thing," said Austin, "but we have been told that it has a good chance of being placed on the agenda." Austin said he plans to go to the state capitol to attend the sessions.

According to Austin, if the bill is approved, within two years three Texas plants will be producing 85 million gallons of ethanol annually.

With Clovis, Melrose - -

Dog Catcher Hired By City Of Texico

Texico City Council has entered into an agreement with the cities of Clovis and Melrose whereby the three neighboring municipalities will share in the employment of a dog catcher, according to Marie Christian, Texico City Clerk.

"The dog catcher will be paid $7.50 per hour and 25 cents per mile," Mrs. Christian said. "He is being hired on a two month trial basis and his hours will be supervised by Mickey Fenn (Texico town marshal)."

According to Mrs. Christian, Texico has 25 dogs that are registered with the city as being licensed. "All others are subject to be picked up" she said, adding "and even those with licenses will also be picked up if they are loose."

Texico's ordinance on dogs reads that "all dogs will be on a leash or contained in a fenced area."

Dogs picked up by the new dog catcher will be taken to the Clovis dog pound.

The Texico City Council met in regular session Tuesday night and approved its final budget for 1981-82. A resolution was also passed to balance the 1980-81 budget.

It was announced that the new office, (the old ambulance bay for the Texico fire station) at Texico City Hall will be completed shortly.

Attending Tuesday's gathering were Mayor John R. Hadley; trustees Vane Doshier, Lewis Cooper, and Donnie Morris; and employees Mickey Fenn, Marie Christian and Billy Hammit.

The five cent tax exemption is necessary, says Austin, to allow the plants to be built and begin production whereby gasohol, a blend of 90 percent unleaded gasoline and 10 percent ethanol, would be immediately priced competitively with pump sold gasoline.

And if the bill is not placed on the agenda of the current special session, or if it doesn't pass? "Then we're through," said Austin grimly. "They (the legislature) won't convene again until 1983. We'll be finished."

Currently, 26 states carry this same tax exemption bill.

50th Class Reunion Promises "Good Time"

"We have had a lot of response and so we hope to have a real good time," said Mrs. Ogetha Langford in referring to the upcoming 50th reunion for the Farwell High School graduating class of 1931.

The group has planned its celebration for July 24 and 25 to coincide with the annual Border Town Days festivities. For the gathering, the class of '31 has set aside July 24 for a Dutch-treat meal at LaVilla Restaurant in Clovis and on July 25 will meet for a basket lunch at the Farwell school home ec cottage.

The dinner is to begin at 8 p.m. CDT Friday night. Those attending the basket lunch are requested to meet at the home ec cottage at 9 a.m. CDT on Saturday.

Everyone attending is requested to bring some food for "an old fashioned basket lunch," said Mrs. Langford. "We're just going to spread it all out for everyone to enjoy."

"For those who cannot join us," said Mrs. Langford, "we request a summary of your life, what you have done, or at least some highlights, in the last 50 years. And we would love a snapshot."

Those who will not be attending but who would like to send a brief summary of their past 50 years should mail the information to Beulah Kistler Hobbs, Box 567, Farwell, Tex., 79325.

Those attending are invited to bring guests and are asked to bring any pictures of themselves or former school chums they may have.

The planning committee of Mrs. Langford, Beulah Hobbs, Audrey Elliott, and Albert Smith invite all former teachers, former classmates and friends to come by for a visit either at the dinner Friday night or the basket lunch Saturday afternoon.

Of the 15 graduating class members, four are deceased, but those who are looking forward to seeing old friends and rehashing old times include Katie Lee Graham Ross, Albert Smith, Alice Ragsdale O'Brian, Audrey Reed Elliott, Beulah Kistler Hobbs, Dealva White Worjanski, Mary Lovelace Burkhead, Kathrine Kyrke Danner, Juno Glascock Dolson, Clifford McGuire and Ogetha Barker Langford.

For further information, contact the reunion organizers.

Planning Committee

The 50th reunion for Farwell's graduating class of 1931 has been in the planning stages for several months now. Members of the organizing committee met recently at the home of Mrs. Ogetha Langford and are, from left, Beulah Moeller Hobbs, Audrey Reed Elliott, Mrs. Albert Smith, Mrs. Langford, and Albert Smith. The committee has arranged for a special Dutch-treat reunion dinner to take place July 24 at 8 p.m. at LaVilla Restaurant in Clovis, and for a reunion basket lunch set for Saturday, July 25, at the Farwell home ec cottage. All reunion activities have been planned to coincide with Border Town Days events.

Renessa Bradshaw Named Texas' Top Jr. Twirler

Renessa Bradshaw, 14-year-old granddaughter of Onie Bradshaw of Farwell, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bradshaw of Lubbock, recently competed for the Texas State twirling honors and won the title of Jr. Miss Majorette of Texas.

In addition, Renessa also won the Texas State solo and strut championship.

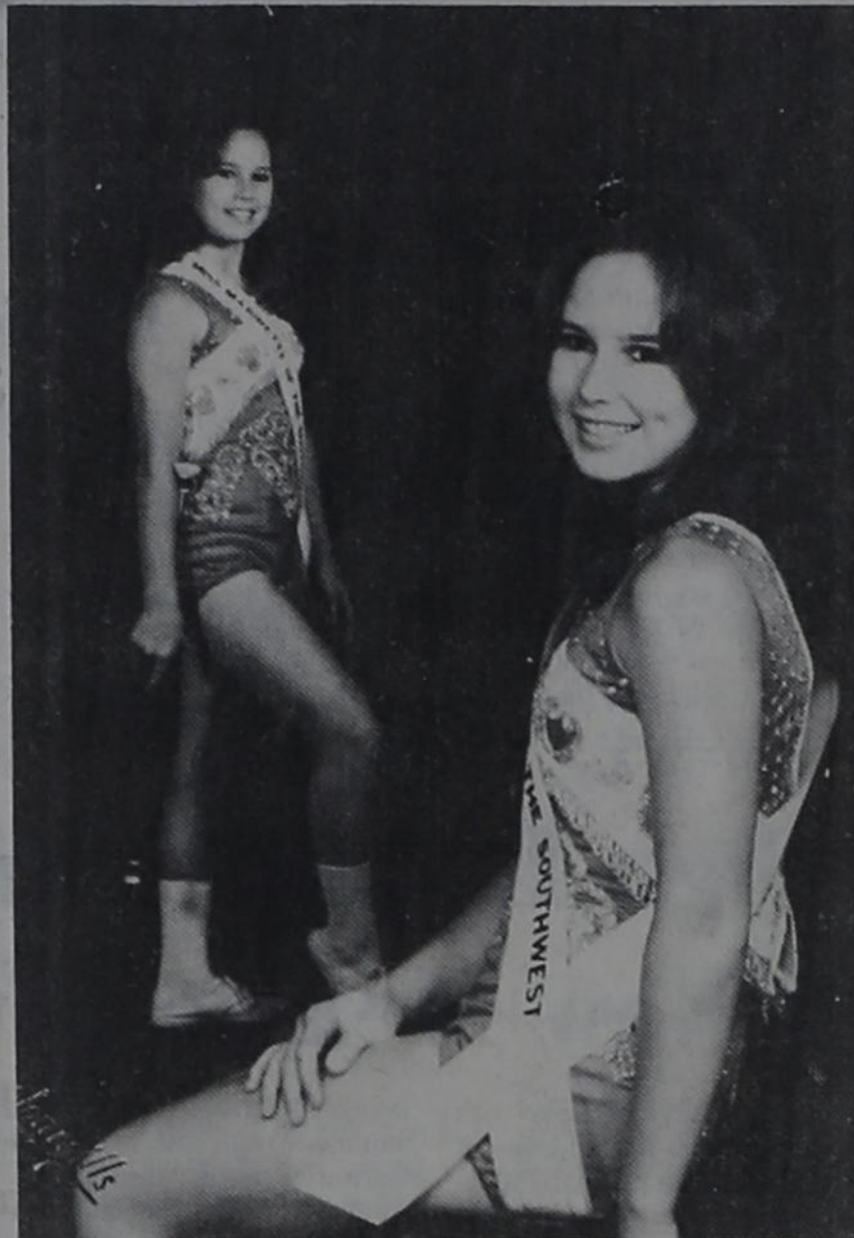

Her title qualifies her to compete for the Jr. Miss Majorette of America crown and she will be leaving next week for that competition on the Notre Dame campus in South Bend, Ind.

According to Onie, the week will be filled with events leading up to the announcement of Jr. Miss of America as well as world solo, strut and many other champions.

Renessa also qualified at the state level to compete in February at St. Paul, Minn., for the National Baton Solo Championship. She has won many honors in the past but is the first competitor in many years to have all first place wins in all events, and the first ever in the junior division to have ever won all three titles in the state of Texas.

"Having twirled for 9 years, it was a real dream come true, but has not diminished her goal of winning a national title," said Mrs. Bradshaw.

Local Families Enjoy Reunions

Mike and Peggy Goetsch of Farwell recently spent a weekend in Brandon, Colo., visiting Mike's parents, Carl and Pat Goetsch.

The couple was there for wheat harvest but said rain kept them from seeing any cutting.

Fishing in Colorado is how Neil and Betty Stewart of Farwell spent five days recently, and Neil says they had "real good luck," too.

The couple, and their daughter Sharla, traveled to South Park, Colo., where they spent five nights. While in the area they spent some time sight-seeing in Wolf Creek Pass, Creed and Lake City.

Highlighting their trip was a theater play as well as a fish fry.

Also fishing in Colorado were Lee and Gloria Hutchins of Farwell and their children, Geretta, Carl and Daniel. The Hutchins family trekked to Antonio, Colo., and stayed on the Conajos River while there.

Gloria reports that they "caught a lot of fish and had a real good time."

Their trip included some hiking, a fish fry and even a trip to Santa Fe on the way back home.

Here to spend the summer with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elvis Childs of Farwell and Mr. and Mrs. Clark Billingsley of Clovis, are Jay and John Childs, children of Jerry and Sherry Childs of Pensacola, Fla.

The two boys will be busy with many activities during their stay here, said Mrs.

Childs, and will be in the area for the remainder of the summer months.

Visitors in the Leon Billingsley home last week were Mrs. Mae McGill of Mancos, Colo., Mrs. Janie Fila of Clovis, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff McGuire of Mountain View, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robertson of El Paso, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy McGuire of New Deal; Mrs. Cora McGuire and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Billingsley, Roger and Deon of Farwell.

The honoree, her mother, Mrs. Billy Tom Young, and Mrs. Troy Christian, mother of the prospective bridegroom, Parents often ask: What can I do to help my child prepare for kindergarten? Following are some suggestions from Marcia Cole, Farwell Kindergarten teacher.

1. Read to him. Discuss the pictures, colors, and the content of what you read. Have him retell the story after it has been read. Children need to not only be aware of colors but able to identify them by name, and to recall in sequence the stories that they hear.

2. Talk to him. Parents are often so busy with their own work or chores that they neglect to have conversation with a small child. Children of preschool age need conversation.

3. Count with him. Count objects around the house. The child should be able to "say" his numbrs but also to realize "how many" four is. Let him count out silverware and set the table, count potatoes, pennies, etc., in order that he can count with comprehension.

4. Help him write (print) his name. Name should be capitalized at the beginning and lower case (little) letters inside. John - not JOHN.

5. Sing the "Alphabet Song" with him, or recite the alphabet in proper sequence. Show him letters (both capital and lower case) in his books and if he appears ready, identify them by name. "This is a capital A, this is a little a."

6. When he enters Kindergarten it will be a big day! Prepare him by talking to him about school. Encourage him, and reassure him.

7. BE PROMPT! Be prompt when you bring him to school and more important, be prompt in picking him up. A child usually becomes very nervous when other children leave and no one is there to take him. Look at his papers, praise him and, of course, ask about his day. Be excited!

8. Kindergarten is fun! Learning is fun! It can be as much fun for a parent as for a student. It is a time of growing and should be a delight for all. The experiences of kindergarten are lasting and will prepare the child for the rest of his school years. It may well determine his attitude toward learning, and it is important that parents share in the experience.

Dutch Quickels Return From Alaskan Vacation

Dutch and Dorothy Quickel of Farwell have recently returned from a two-week vacation that included a week's stay in Fairbanks, Alaska, with their daughter Teresa and her husband Date Dickman and their grandsons, Brian and Craig. Capt. Dickman is currently assigned to Ft. Wainwright Army Post in Fairbanks.

Their stay in Alaska, was, of course, highlighted by the presence of the grandsons.

Dorothy reports that currently Alaska is seeing 22 hours of daylight each day, with a little dusk and then dawn. "It was always daylight," she said. "It felt strange to see the sun shining at 11 p.m.!" She said that heavy window shades keep the sunlight out of the house so that everyone can get a good night's sleep.

The Dickman family lives on the Army post in military housing.

While in Fairbanks, the Quickel family had the opportunity to eat brunch at an old gold mine, visit the museum at the University of Alaska and have dinner in an old pump-house which featured entertainment on old bag pipes.

Traveling with the Quickels were Dorothy's sister and her husband, Iris and Rondal Price of Amarillo.

Before arriving in Fairbanks, the foursome drove to Seattle by way of Yellowstone National Forest. They flew from Seattle to Fairbanks, and when returning home, flew from Fairbanks back to Seattle. They then drove to Prineville, Ore., to visit Dutch's brother, Forrest Sanders, and on to Salt Lake City, Utah, and toured the Morman Temple Square.

Texico Boys Hold Offices At New Mexico Boys State

Attending New Mexico Boys State as Texico High School delegates were Kent Harding and Jeff Dunsworth. While both ran for office, Kent was victorious in his quest for County Assessor, serving De Castro county, and was also elected "Spirit Leader" by his city. Jeff was appointed Fire Marshal of his city.

Both boys deem the experience "a lot of fun" and say they learned much about state and local governments. Both agree that the best part was "making new friends."

"It was sad when it was time to go home," remembers Kent. "It was funny because at the first of the week you don't know anyone, then at the end they are just like your brothers."

Special guest of New Mexico Boys State, conducted May 30-June 5 at New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell, was Governor Bruce King who told the delegates, "I know of no program that trains young people to handle the responsibilities of state government as well as Boys and Girls State."

Kent and Jeff were both assigned to the same county, but each "resided" in a different city. Jeff was in Cortez City, serving there as its Fire Marshal and Kent was in Castillo City, keeping the "spirit" going.

For their first night the boys heard guest speaker Senator Harrison Schmitt who told of the importance of setting and obtaining goals. Schmitt is a former Boys State delegate.

The dorm rooms were inspected each day by cadets from the United States Military Academy at West Point, with the city with the cleanest number of rooms getting to walk to places first, therefore getting the best seats at meals and assemblies.

Kent said his city went from last place to first place by the time Boys State had ended.

The boys said they had the "best county" as Jeff's city had the Boys State governor elected from it and Kent's city had the Lt. Governor.

The approximately 450 delegates also participated in or watched the "Talent Show" which took place the last night of Boys State. Kent's city "brought the house down" with their dance routine, but he said most of the acts were guitar or singing solos.

Sponsored by the American Legion of New Mexico, N.M. Boys State also featured two hours a day of recreation time in addition to the rigorous government assemblies and film sessions. Texico's delegates took part in weight lifting, swimming and athletics during this recreational time.

Kent said he was "teased a lot" for having a Texas accent and that his Eastern New Mexico drawl earned him the nickname "Tex" with his peers at Boys State.

Jeff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Dunsworth of Texico and Kent is the son of James Harding of Texico. Both will be seniors at Texico High in the fall.

Texico Delegates

Kent Harding (left) and Jeff Dunsworth represented Texico High School at the recent New Mexico Boys State in Roswell on the campus of New Mexico Military Institute. Harding held the office of County Assessor, serving De Castro County and Dunsworth was appointed Fire Marshal of his city. The boys attended the session with approximately 450 other delegates from the state of New Mexico and were able to hear several guest speakers including New Mexico Governor Bruce King and U.S. Senator Harrison Schmitt.

Has the "inflation bug" bitten into your family fun? Bite back!

First, reconsider how you want to spend your family fun time.

Plan together as a family, focusing fun on free or inexpensive things to do.

Here are a few suggestions -- but they're only a beginning!

FAMILY 'HOW-TO' NIGHTS

Start, perhaps, with family "how-to" nights.

Their basic idea is to provide positive learning experiences for all the family members -- and to develop knowledge and skills that will help them become competent and independent persons.

Don't try to do all of these in one evening!

Some skills you might work on together are:

How to use the telephone or the CB radio; how to write a check -- you could explain banking, including deposits, withdrawals, savings, interest, money transfers and monthly statements, for example; how to set up a personal and a family budget; and how to operate appliances in the home.

exercises, sports, dancing and kite flying, for example.

FAMILY 'THINGS TO MAKE'

Family "things to make" can center around sewing, weaving, papier-mache, bird-house building, tin-can craft, rug making, painting, candle making, wild berry and fruit jellies and jams, paper craft, magic tricks, Christmas decorations from natural products, whittling, herb gardens and ceramics.

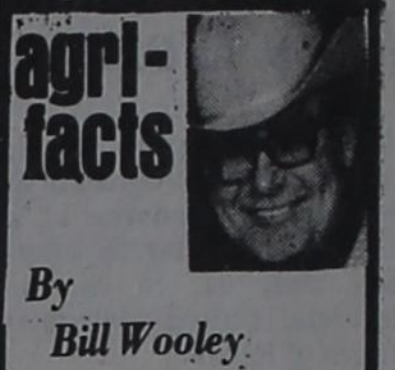

FAMILY 'PLACES TO GO'

Family "places to go" include events, such as flower shows, book reviews, song fests, community bonfires, fairs, bazaars and discussion groups.

Other places -- and events -- to attend include hobby - club meetings, city council meetings, museums, parks, zoos, public libraries, industrial tours, ghost towns and community theaters.

YOUR FAMILY IDEAS

Your family can start with the above list of ideas and create its own "Calendar of Events." You might want to start with a family project to find out what free or inexpensive activities occur in your community during the year.

By Bill Wooley

The one thing no cattle herd is immune to is fly problems. But, there are some steps you can take to significantly reduce the problems and now, early in the fly season, is the time to take those steps. Most effective control, of course, is through mist-blow, water based insecticide, especially in protection of pastured cattle. Entomologists say the effectiveness is due to the exposure of insects resting on grass, fences, in and around trees, as well as on the herd. Impregnated ear tags will help to control hornflies and face flies, although not effective against stable flies. Insecticide dust bags and back oilers are also popular in some areas, and provide protection against some pests. Whatever particular fly problem you have, now is the time to take steps effective into the fall.

Everything Will Be Ok

At this very moment you may be extremely worried, depressed, and your spirit may even be broken. But don't give up. God will not forsake you.

The Lord promises to you that He will work all things out for your good and you can be absolutely sure He will keep His promise. But He does things in His own time and in His own way. Because of His perfect knowledge, the Lord always knows best when things should be accomplished.

"When the Lord proclaims that all things work together for good to those who love Him," the Rev. Wallace Schulz said on a recent Lutheran Hour broadcast, "this does not mean that if you trust in God, you will never experience any problems or difficulties."

"If you trust in Him as your Creator and gracious Redeemer," the Rev. Schulz said, "He will use all things,

THE STATE OF TEXAS COUNTY OF PARMER

Before me, the undersigned authority, on this day personally appeared Benna Felts, County Treasurer of Parmer County, who being by me duly sworn, upon oath, says that the within and foregoing report is true and correct.

Girls Score Points In High School Sports

Involvement in girls sports at the high school level has grown at an explosive rate over the last decade. More than 2 million senior high school girls currently participate in competitive sports, an increase of more than 600% since 1970, according to Carey McDonald, Executive Director of the National High School Athletic Coaches Association.

But the number of participating athletes is not the only change in girls sports. Recruiting by colleges and universities and the availability of substantial scholarships has risen dramatically in the last two years, according to Roberta Morin, National Chairman of Girls Sports for NHS/ACA.

"Nationally, basketball, and track and field are the most heavily recruited sports, with volleyball in third place," Morin said. "One reason for the jump in recruitment is that high school girls are getting national recognition through the Prep All-America Girls Sports Team."

Co-sponsored by the NHS/ACA and Carnation instant breakfast, the Prep All-America Team recognizes 100 senior girls from across the country for outstanding athletic performance. Athletes are nominated by their coaches, and the final selection is made by a committee co-chaired by Morin and Dwight Keith, founder of NHS/ACA.

"Young women have come a long way since the days when some girls got notes from their mothers excusing them from gym class," Keith said. "Now they want to get out there and compete, and be cheered on, too, just as the boys do."

Morin sees an important trend in girls sports — an increase in the number of women coaches. "Girls who have participated in high school and college sports are coming back to teach high school sports or coach on a volunteer basis."

McDonald confirms this trend and adds, "We appreciate the increased degree of teamwork and harmony exhibited by coaches of girls and boys at all levels."

The future of girls sports seems to be one of steadily increasing participation and support. Said Keith, "Now is the golden age of girls sports."

Parmer 4-H'ers Earn 4th At Oklahoma Field Day

Parmer County's 4-H judging team earned a 4th place win at the recent Oklahoma Hampshire Field Day, conducted in Balco, Okla.

The team, consisting of Kevin Owen, Farwell 4-H; and Matt Howell, Charles Johnson and Charlotte Johnson, Bovina 4-H, traveled to Balco last weekend with Billy and Sandra Johnson and County Extension Agent Seth Ralston for the judging event.

According to Ralston, approximately 400 4-H and FFA members competed in the annual event, and "for Parmer County to win 4th place in its division of competition was a real honor. They did real well. The point spread wasn't that far off from the first place team."

Parmer 4-H'ers are currently making plans to attend the Texas Hampshire and Chester White Field Day to be conducted August 1 at Voca, Tex.

THE RULES OF GOLF

Here is a brief illustrated guide to some of the many rules applying to all golfers: If your opponent touches or moves your ball, your opponent incurs a penalty stroke.

The responsibility for playing the proper ball rests with the player. Each player should put an identification mark on his ball.

SPORTS SHORTS

Was "Tennis anyone?" really Humphrey Bogart's only line in his first play, as many claim? Actually, no. Bogart himself denied it.

Anyone in tennis can compete for a big championship if he or she is 21 or older, falls within one of three skill levels established by a National Tennis Rating Program, is a member of the U.S. Tennis Assn. (USTA) and joins a Michelob Light-sponsored USTA National League. For information, write to the USTA, 50 E. 42nd St., New York, NY 10017.

Cole Wins Consolation At Clovis

Farwell tennis players Doug Cole, Mark Cole, Clay Williams, Roger Robertson and Alan Eubank participated in the Clovis Men's Tennis Association annual tournament last weekend, with Doug Cole emerging as the Men's Class A singles consolation winner.

to garner a trophy win in the tournament, lost his first round play in a third set tie-breaker. He then defeated his opponent in the second round and won by default his third round of play. In the consolation round Cole defeated Doug Schieding of Clovis.

Clay Williams had court victories all the way to the Miller of Lorenzo 6-3, 6-2.

Castleberry and Janene Berry also competed in the girls doubles court action but were defeated in the semi-finals.

Several Farwell players are set to compete in this weekend's Portales Tennis Tournament, including Castleberry, Berry, Doug Cole, Mark Cole, Clay Williams, Roger Robertson, Alan Eubank.

semi-finals before he was defeated by Dwight Dudley of Clovis. Williams defeated the tournament's second seeded player during his second round of play, but was not as fortunate during the semi-final court action.

In other action for the local players, Alan Eubank won his first round in singles play, defeating Paul Kappitz of Clovis. Eubank was then defeated in the second round by Sam Patel of Clovis.

Roger Robertson played up to the quarter-finals before being defeated in the Class B singles.

In Class B doubles, Mark Cole and Roger Robertson lost their first match but won their second round of play in the consolation bracket. However, the Clovis team of Burk and Burk defeated the Farwell twosome in the finals of the consolation round.

"My monthly gas payments will be the same this winter, no matter how cold it gets."

CASHIER

In these days of rising costs, higher monthly utility bills come as no surprise. But, what may come as a surprise is that you can have a utility bill that's the same, month after month. Summer or winter.

It's Gas Company of New Mexico's Budget Payment Plan and it makes it easy for you to plan your gas costs because you're billed the same amount every month.

With the Budget Payment Plan, your total charges for one year are based on your total consumption for the preceding 12 months at the same location. You then pay 1/11th of that total each month.

If, at the end of twelve months your total gas bill is less than your total payments, your monthly Budget Payment for the next plan year may be reduced. If you've used more gas during the year than you've paid for, the extra amount may be spread over the next plan year. Of course, the plan is an optional program for residential customers.

If you have a checking account, it is recommended that you consider paying your Budget Payment through your bank with a bank draft plan.

Sign up for the plan. You'll love not getting any surprises.

Make Your Own Designer Jeans

Create your own designer jeans - and save lots of money, advises Becky Saunders, a clothing specialist. Before trying, however, there are several things the homemaker should consider, she says. Mrs. Saunders is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

TAKE A HARD LOOK

First, investigate the designer jeans patterns available. A review of the instruction guide sheet will either encourage or discourage you to continue.

Consider your time and sewing skills for such requirements as special seams, fly-front zipper, waistband, yokes, pockets, and/or decorative trims.

KNOW MATERIAL NEEDS

Next investigate your area's supply of suitable fabrics and needed trims, along with the cost of these items. Fabrics to consider - in various weight and fiber contents - include denim, corduroy, poplin, sateen, chino, ticking, duck and other sturdy fabrics.

Necessary notions might include heavy jean zippers, heavy-duty thread and machine needles (size 18) for topstitching, sturdy front-pocket lining, snaps or button fasteners and/or rivets.

UNDERSTAND FIT

A good fit is important for any sewing project, particularly for jeans. Purchase patterns by the full hip measurement. If possible, it is wise to compare the pattern to a comparable pair of jeans in a comparable fabric that has been ripped apart. Also, remember that some fabrics may stretch slightly during wear - or shrink each time they're washed. Always preshrink fabric before cutting it to avoid surprises later due to excessive shrinkage, relaxing grainlines or limp textures.

COPY SPECIAL TECHNIQUES

For a professional-looking garment, copy ready-to-wear techniques such as narrow seam allowances and contrasting topstitching such as orange on blue denim.

Also, special techniques include reinforcing zigzag bar tacks and decorative pocket

ADVANCED SEWING

After you master fit and basic construction techniques, you can create different looks by changing front and back pockets, the type of seams, front or back yokes, adding waistline pleats, and/or the flare of the leg.

"Sales and Loans Are Our Service"

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN -- The appropriations bill which passed the Legislature would, in general, authorize and provide funds for an increase for State employees of approximately 14.3% in 1982 and 8.7% in 1983 over the rates being paid in January, 1981. Employees who received no more than the $50 per month minimum increase provided by emergency legislation in January would be assured of receiving an additional increase of 9.2% in September 1981. This 9.2% increase, when combined with the $50 per month minimum granted in February, results in a total increase over the rates in effect in January of up to 18.2% in 1982 for some of the lowest paid employees.

Greater increases would also result from reallocations to higher pay groups for certain classified positions where high levels of turnover are considered unacceptable. The upgrading of MHRM Aides would result in salary increases in 1982 in excess of 25%. Additional increases are also provided for law enforcement personnel employed by the Department of Corrections, the Alcoholic Beverage Commission, the Parks and Wildlife Department, and the Department of Public Safety.

Sufficient funds are provided to grant average salary increases of 17.06% in 1982 and 8.7% in 1983 for faculty and professional personnel in the universities, Texas A&M Services, health science centers and other medical education programs. Other personnel in higher education would receive approximately 14.3% in 1982 and 8.7% in 1983 over the current January, 1981 rates.

The bill authorizes an increase in the rate of reimbursement for use of an employee's personally owned vehicle from $.20 per mile to $.23 per mile. The per diem allowance is increased from $40 currently to a maximum of $60 under certain conditions with a receipt for lodging.

Additional funds are also included to increase the State's contribution to employee group insurance from $40 per month in 1981, to $48 per month in 1982, and $58 per month in 1983.

The efforts of the Legislature were aimed directly at assisting state employees who have been hampered by rising costs and the inflationary spiral.

TWO MINUTES WITH THE BIBLE

BY CORNELIUS R. STAM, PRES. BEREAN BIBLE SOCIETY CHICAGO, ILLINOIS 60633

"FAITH, HOPE AND LOVE"

"AND NOW ABIDETH FAITH, HOPE, LOVE, THESE THREE, BUT THE GREATEST OF THESE IS LOVE" (1 Cor. 13:13).

St. Paul had been discussing, in I Corinthians 13, some of the miraculous signs that were to vanish away as God's revelation became complete. But faith, hope and love, he declared, would abide as a triune evidence of true Christianity.

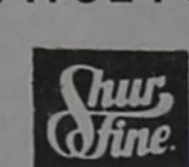

These three are all we need in the present "dispensation of the grace of God." Any church where faith, hope and love are found in full measure is a "full" church. It may have but few members, but what greater blessing could it wish for than faith, hope and love in abundant measure?

Faith, hope and love are a trinity often referred to in St. Paul's epistles. Each is of first importance in its way, and none can exist without the other two.

FAITH is of primary importance. "WITHOUT FAITH IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO PLEASE GOD" (Heb. 11:6), and how can there be hope and love without faith?

HOPE holds the central place among the three. Hope in the Bible is more than a wish, it is the opposite of despair, an eager anticipation of blessings to come. Hope is the Christian's experience, his living with eternity's glory in view.

LOVE is the crowning glory of the three; it is the fruit of faith and hope, and is greatest in the sense that it is "the bond of perfectness." Moreover, love is eternal, for some day for every true believer "faith will vanish into sight; hope be emptied in delight" and love will reign supreme.

Mesa Redondo - -

Bowe-Farmer Ranch Site For July Camp Meeting

by Faye Plank

The Mesa Redondo Cowboy Camp Meeting is slated for July 23-26 at the campsite located in a beautiful secluded area at the Bowe-Farmer Ranch 11 miles south of Tucumcari, N.M., on Hiway 18.

Mesa Redondo Cowboy Camp Meeting is within relatively easy access to many in Texas and New Mexico who have never had the experience of a cowboy camp meeting.

The camp meeting is set up to provide a Christian experience for persons of all ages. It incorporates religious speakers, music, children's activities and meals served under a tent.

All persons are welcome, regardless of denomination, who are willing to abide by the rules laid down by the association.

There are limited facilities and each party is responsible for their own camping equipment such as tents, bedding, campers, trailers etc. Meals will be served without cost.

Preaching is the heart of the camp meeting, but it takes a lot of preparation. The Bell Ranch, managed by Don Hofman, has been a big help in setting up camp facilities. This year they contributed the material for a new cook shed which replaces the old cook tent, which last year blew down during a high wind.

Under the direction of Rick Steel, camp manager, three meals will be served starting with breakfast at 6:30 a.m., dinner at 12:30, and supper at 6:30 p.m. Coffee is served from daylight 'til dark.

Early morning services are scheduled for 9 a.m. The next service is at 11 a.m. In the afternoon a service will be held at 3 p.m. with prayer meeting at 5 p.m. Following supper the evening service will take place at 7:30 p.m. Thursday's meeting will open at 6:30 p.m. with supper and preaching service to follow.

Mesa Redondo Camp Meeting will be four years old this season. It traces its lineage back to the Bloys Camp Meeting, started in 1890 in a quiet valley in the Davis Mountains of the Big Bend Country of Texas. It is steeped in history going back to a time when folks found it necessary to travel many miles for religious fellowship.

John Means was responsible for buying the land in Texas where the Bloys Camp meetings were held under a brush arbor. In later years the sons of Means, Huling and Sam Means and their nephews Dub and Joe Evans, came to southern New Mexico bringing with them their heritage of the Cowboy Camp Meeting. They were the founders of the Cowboy Camp Meetings in New Mexico. The first was held Aug. 1, 1940, on Nogal Mesa.

Later the New Mexico Cowboy Camp Meetings were taken over by the Presbyterian Church as a mission project but then became interdenominational and were organized as the Ranchmen's Camp Meetings in the Southwest.

Mesa Redondo Cowboy Camp Meeting Association was organized in May of 1978. Frank Crenshaw, a rancher from Melrose, N.M., was named president. Other officers were Rev. David Crow, Melrose, vice-president; Wilma Fulgham, Clovis, secretary; and Lou Briscoe, Tucumcari, treasurer.

Instrumental in starting the Mesa Redondo group was the Ted Van Soelen family of Clovis. Ester Van Soelen had spent many summers in her childhood attending meetings at Nogal Mesa with her family, the Otto Smiths.

Mrs. Van Soelen drew up the articles of incorporation for the camp meeting which stated as its objectives: "The object of the Mesa Redondo Cowboy Camp Meeting Association is to promote the cause of Christ by the preaching of the Gospel of Christ and the teaching of the Bible in a manner conducive to the reaching of many who would not otherwise go to church. This work is not for pecuniary profit or speculation. It is open to all people, regardless of denomination, who are in full sympathy with this work."

Some time before the Mesa Redondo Camp was organized, two of the main participants had had their own encounter.

D.D. Farmer, who would furnish the site for the camp meeting, had met W.E. "Bill" King, who was the preacher for the first meeting.

The men had met at a Boys Ranch meeting where Farmer heard King present his "pegging string" sermon. Farmer thought King was "his kind of preacher."

King, a veteran of cowboy camp meetings, and Farmer visited the Bowe-Farmer Ranch and agreed it looked good for a camp meeting site.

So, Farmer, King, and Mrs. Van Soelen, along with several others, and the Ranchers Camp Meeting of the Southwest Ass'n., brought Mesa Redondo into being.

The preaching is the heart of a camp meeting. In all cowboy camp meeting literature one finds that all denominational convictions or none are welcome. "Old Fashioned" religion is favored and the spirit of the occasion necessarily involves evangelism-revival.

Rev. King said, "When Jesus came, he talked plain, and he listened. He didn't have a fancy church."

"What appealed to the cowboy and his neighbors, isolated from a regular type environment, exists in us all, to some extent," King said. "Camp meetings give meaning to life that may seem harsh and meaningless in other ways."

King has spent many years on the camp meeting circuit, including a stint in the New Mexico Gila Wilderness. He branded, mended fences, broke horses by day - preached at night.

And he baptized many along the way - in creeks, horse tanks, one in a bath tub.

Vaudie Pierce, Clovis, finance chairman for the Mesa Redondo Camp Meeting, said, "Like all other cowboy camp meetings, the one at Mesa Redondo is being financed by voluntary contributions."

If you wish to have a heart-warming experience, to worship with many others far out in the canyons, to hear the lusty singing of a volunteer choir, to sit under the ministry of the Word of God and to join one of the "talk-it-over" informal sessions led by a preacher in a tent afterward, you are invited to come.

Visitors are welcomed at any time during the meeting. They can line up for a savory meal, pitch their tents or park their campers and travel trailers.

So promise yourself and your family that you will take them to this awe-inspiring place. Rock ruins dot the landscape, evidence that the area once gave shelter and a meager livelihood to many families.

Deer and antelope are to be seen at eventide nibbling the small grass plots along a dry wash.

There were tales of rustlers and cattle-stealing, brand changing, hide-a-ways, ranchers, homesteaders and such, as the first group of Christian cowboys looked over the Bowe-Farmer Ranch trying to decide on the "perfect" spot to locate the camp.

Looking out across the rugged cliffs from the top of the mesa, one can see the valley floor below and the few lonesome mountains lifting their faces to the heavens. No wonder the Lord seems so near, his presence so close.

From the camp on the canyon floor, you can watch the moonlight "gently settling" on the canyon rim. You can watch the sun peak over the top of the cliffs in the morning and quietly slipping behind the horizon at night. Here indeed you can find your Lord and visit with Him in your own way.

Talk About Old News

Last week Alma Boss of Texico had quite a surprise. She was having new carpeting installed in her home and when the old carpet and padding was stripped from the floor it was discovered that the original flooring was completely covered with old newspapers, including copies of the State Line Tribune, the Amarillo Daily News and the Clovis News-Journal, all dated in the 1940's. She thinks she can recall when her late husband glued down the newspapers under what was once linoleum, but she says, "I have no idea why he did it!" This isn't the first time old news was discovered in her home. Last summer her grandson found a newspaper dated 1903 in her basement!

Nursing Home Gets Superior Rating

Prairie Acres, Friona nursing facility, has received a "superior" rating as a result of the annual inspection by the Texas Department of Health, according to Jo Blackwell, administrator.

"This is the first time in the home's five years of existence that it has gained this most prestigious rating by the state agency," said Mrs. Blackwell. In a letter to the administrator, Cesar M. Elizondo, chief of the Bureau of Long Term Care for the Texas Department of Health, said:

"I am pleased to forward with this letter, Superior Certificate No. 00734 as the result of a recent inspection of your Intermediate Care III facility."

"The Superior Certificate will remain valid until a re-determination is made per-suant to rules and procedures governing grading.

"I express for the Texas Department of Health, our heartiest congratulations on this remarkable achievement. We are certain that you will make every effort to maintain this superior level of care for your residents."

Mrs. Blackwell said that many Prairie Acres residents are former Twin Cities residents and have families in this area.

Classes On Assertiveness Offered By Clovis MHR

How do you cope with daily conflict situations? For instance, you are loaded down with work, and your boss asks you to take on an additional project; you pick up your car at the repair shop and receive a bill almost triple what you expected; or you find a flaw in a new outfit, and the salesperson tries to make you feel responsible. What methods do you use to settle conflict in a manner agreeable to both sides?

Hardee and Annie Carter. There will be a nominal charge which will cover handouts and other materials used in the class. More information may be obtained by calling 769-2345. The class size is limited, so early enrollment is encouraged.

A bouquet of pink and white carnations decorated the newly-dedicated fountain for the ceremonies. Friends and neighbors of the late Mrs. Jones attending filled the approximately 40 chairs made available in the park, making it standing room only for the dedication ceremonies.

Do you use assertive or aggressive techniques to achieve your goals? Or do you exhibit passive behavior and never have your needs met? Perhaps, you may resort to passive aggressiveness, a technique which lets you vent your feelings but is not a productive method of handling most problems. Characteristic of this technique is sticking out your tongue, making snide remarks, or giving dirty looks to people.

"Assertiveness training helps a person develop responses to situations in which he or she would like to change or improve his or her behavior," says Mrs. Hardee. "Stress naturally accompanies most uncomfortable situations, and this class also helps people handle stress in their relationships. Our goal in the class is for people to learn to say what they want and feel (instead of just thinking it) in an assertive manner without being threatened."

"In discussing a memorial for Judy, we thought that the water fountain would be both a service to the community as well as a memorial for her," said Mrs. Aycock.

A new program offered at Mental Health Resources, Inc. is designed to help people deal more effectively and productively with the conflict situations which we all encounter daily.

Assertion and Stress Management is one of several life enrichment programs offered by Mental Health Resources, Inc.
