

State Scores Win In Drive On 'Bookies'

Communications Systems Permanently Enjoined From Furnishing Information For Betting On Horse Races

AUSTIN, May 23. (AP)—The state scored a victory today in its fight against bookies as principal communication systems agreed to an instructed jury verdict permanently enjoining them from furnishing facilities for book making on the horse races.

Counsel for the American Telephone & Telegraph company, Southwestern Bell Telephone company, and the Western Union Telegraph company agreed to the injunction upon termination of a trial before a jury. They disclaimed intentional furnishing of equipment to bookies after a temporary restraining order was issued last August.

Everett Looney, special counsel for the governor, in the suit he urged last fall, hailed the verdict as "a death blow" to bookies. The judgment, he said, "was just as we prayed for."

Looney, who estimated the turnover through bookies amounted to $30,000,000 annually, predicted that "bookies can't operate for the companies say they will be very diligent. They agreed that if officers advised them equipment is being used by bookies they will take it out."

The agreed injunction would restrain them from knowingly placing any equipment in any place where betting was carried on or furnishing their facilities to any person to be used in the aid of gambling on any horse race.

Previously, district Judge Ralph Yarborough, who made the ruling, ordered an instructed verdict in favor of the Daily Racing Form in

Start Probe Of Michigan Night Riders

Detroit Black Legion Is Termed 'Agency Of The Ku Klux Klan'

INVESTIGATE REPORTS OF 50 DEATH THREATS

Four Members Of Society Confess Slaying Of WPA Worker

DETROIT, May 23. (AP)—State Police Capt. Ira H. Marmon, terming the "Black Legion" the "strong-arm agency for the Ku Klux Klan," announced today that he was investigating a report that 50 Michigan men had been marked for death by the secret vigilante organization.

Captain Marmon said that for months his troopers had been making an extensive investigation of the night riders society four of whose members have confessed the slaying of Charles A. Poole.

Tell of Beatings
Disclosing that he had sent two officers to Jackson, Mich., to investigate a recent death there, Captain Marmon said:

"We are checking all unsolved murder cases and suicide deaths. There have been a number of questionable suicides in the state," Marmon would not disclose the source of his information.

Prosecutor Duncaan McCrea said he had received numerous telephone calls since the round up Friday of 16 members of the Black Legion, from men who said they had been abducted and beaten by black-robed night riders wearing the death's head insignia of the legion.

"All indications are that this is a powerful organization, and one report is that it has 10,000 members in Wayne (Detroit) county," McCrea said. "Our investigation will not stop until we get to the bottom of this."

Motive Questioned
McCrea said the confessions of four men that Poole, a young WPA worker, was put to death May 13 on a little-traveled township road because they believed he had beaten his wife were "too fantastic to believe."

"We have not been told the real motive," he declared. "The men in custody say their lives are not worth a nickel if they talk too much, and those who have talked say they want to stay in jail for safety."

"There have been all kinds of rumors that the Black Legion has a huge membership throughout the country, that it is seeking political control, and that it is closely organized in every county in Michigan, but we haven't got any definite evidence on them."

Dr. Townsend Leaves Group With Problem

Committee Undecided On Action To Take On His Walkout

OPINIONS DIFFER ON NEXT LEGAL STEPS

Most Agreed That Pension Chief Should Be Cited For Contempt

WASHINGTON, May 23. (AP)—A barred house investigating committee was deadlocked today over action to be taken against Dr. E. Townsend, old age pension leader, for his continued defiance.

That Dr. Townsend should be cited for contempt, most members agreed, but on the question of whether he should be tried before the bar of the house or the case turned over to the courts there was a decided difference of opinion.

There were indications that the rush for an early adjournment of congress figured in committee consideration since a contempt trial probably would tie up the house for days.

Acquittals Numerous
At the same time committee members looked at records of persons cited for contempt who have been turned over to the courts and found that acquittals far outnumber convictions.

Several members said privately that they do not want to make a "martyr" out of Dr. Townsend and that angle must be given consideration in any steps taken.

With the committee still smarting from Dr. Townsend's dramatic walk-out and refusal to testify further, the doctor issued a statement from his Baltimore hotel room challenging the members to hail him before the house.

"Afraid"
Sheridan Downey, Dr. Townsend's counsel gave newsmen a statement which said "Dr. Townsend will not have the courage to put this matter up to the house because they will be afraid to give him a hearing before that body."

"They will weakly evade the issue and put this baby in the lap of the district court. The case will not come to trial before the election."

Meanwhile, at Townsend old age pension plan headquarters at Baltimore hundreds of telegrams voiced support and confidence of his followers awaited his return. Most of the messages urged him to stand fast in refusing to submit to further questioning by the committee.

FDR IN HYDE PARK TO SEE HIS MOTHER

HYDE PARK, N. Y., May 23. (AP)—President Roosevelt arrived at his family home here today and found his 81-year-old mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, resting comfortably following a hip injury sustained in a fall in New York City 10 days ago.

A small group of townsfolk greeted the executive as he left his special train. A little red-headed boy presented him with a huddy poppy and he was off to the family estate.

The president went straight to his mother's bedside, before breakfast, and found her in a cheery mood.

Negroes Are Barred From Demo Voting

M'Craw Makes Ruling On Texas Party Primary Elections

AUSTIN, May 23. (AP)—Attorney General William M'Craw ruled today that negroes had been barred from voting in the Texas Democratic primaries.

The opinion was given to Miss Emilie Limberg, Travis county clerk, in response to an inquiry. It further stated that a resolution adopted by the state democratic convention in Houston in 1934 declaring negroes ineligible for participation in the primaries still was in effect and need not be adopted at the convention meeting in San Antonio next Tuesday.

"I do not find that this resolution has ever been withdrawn at any subsequent convention of the democratic party," the opinion said.

M'Craw said the questions raised by the Travis county clerk had been settled by the state and United States supreme courts.

In the case of Bell against the Hill county clerk, he said Chief Justice C. M. Curreton of the state supreme court had held that a resolution such as that adopted at Houston "was valid and could be legally enforced by the democratic party."

MONDAY 'BIG SPRING DAY' AT RACE MEET

Several local people are planning to attend the Monday races of Midland Downs designated as "Big Spring" day.

Those who intend to go to Midland for the affair have been requested to notify the chamber of commerce office by 11:30 a. m. so that an accurate check can be made. Tentative plans call for a group to leave about 1 p. m.

TIME EXTENDED ON FILING WORK SHEETS

Time for filing work sheets for participation in the federal soil conservation and soil building program has been extended again, this time to June 10, County Agent O. P. Griffin was informed Saturday.

Approximately 860 of 1000 cotton farms in Howard county have already filed work sheets, he said.

Howard Co. Hunting Season Opens

Votes Are The Game; First Shots Fired

With the lid off the county judge's race, conceded by most observers to be the key point in Howard county politics this season, office seekers Saturday were pointing toward the July 25 democratic primaries.

Some regarded his address as a much milder effort than anticipated and had expected him to strike back hammer and tong at critics. Instead he alluded subtly to administration opposition and admirably clothed himself with the royal "we."

On the program were Charles Sullivan, asking his first term as county judge, and H. R. Debenport, former county judge. Both conferred themselves with pledges of efficient service and steered clear of entanglements in issues and personalities.

Only a few candidates for county or precinct offices were not represented Friday. The crowd was out somewhat due to drawing power of a play presented from the Highway school where funds were raised to send high school students to the Centennial.

Rainfall Aids, Also Retards Highway Jobs

Water-Hauling Is Stopped, But Surfacing Operations Are Delayed

Rains the past week created the paradox of benefitting and hindering progress on state highway projects in Howard county.

While expense of hauling water for new caliche base was slashed by the downpour and the road foundations given a good packing, surfacing operations were delayed.

Residents of Forsan and other southeastern parts of the county raised a hue and cry Saturday because a 700 foot unpaved stretch kept them off surfaced road as far south as Glascock county.

During the week approximately one and a half miles of one course topping was placed on the first section of Highway No. 1 east special maintenance project. With fair weather, S. A. McComb, section foreman, estimated three more days would see the project topped to the Mitchell county line.

A breakdown of machinery and wet weather combined to slow rock hauling operations on the Highway No. 9 north job between Big Spring and Fairview. S. C. Dougherty, resident engineer, estimated that it would be the middle of the week before any topping would be done on that end.

In the section joining to the Dawson county paved segment, Dougherty said there was approximately two and a half miles of road which does not have the first course base and five miles of a six and a half mile stretch which does not have the second course laid.

All available blades were being run over the new base on the north and east jobs Saturday as workers shaped up the roadbeds.

LABOR WARNED BY SOCIALIST AGAINST SUPPORTING FDR

CLEVELAND, May 23. (AP)—The 1936 national convention of the socialist party opened today with keynote speakers advocating immediate constitutional change and cautioning labor against the "mistaken policy" of supporting President Roosevelt.

Norman Thomas, national leader of the party, who probably will again be the socialist nominee for president, sounded this theme in declaring:

"Our great problems come from the avowed intention of certain leaders in the labor movement, some of whom have been socialists, to support Roosevelt, as they say, against reaction. This is to repeat the mistake of 1916 when they supported Wilson because he kept us out of war."

Joe Kuykendall, Dallas, will arrive here today for commencement activities in which his daughter, Eloise, figures this week. He will be accompanied back to Dallas Wednesday by Mrs. Kuykendall and Eloise.

Needed Rain Is Reported In Panhandle

Fall Assures Further Relief For Farmers And Stockmen

SHOWERS TOTALING .31 INCH FALL HERE

Precipitation General Over Howard, Dawson And Glascock

Rain descending over most of Texas Friday night and Saturday morning brought further relief to farmers and stockmen, particularly in the Plains and Panhandle region.

In the Big Spring area slow, steady rain Saturday covered most of Howard, Glascock and Dawson counties but was lightest where it was needed most.

Big Spring had .31 inch, according to the report from the department of commerce weather station at the airport. Precipitation in the downtown section and to the east was much heavier.

In Glascock county Garden City and Glascock county, long in a dry belt, were visited by good rains in the southern half.

At Garden City the precipitation Friday night amounted to .51 and showers Saturday morning brought it to an inch. In the extreme southern and southwestern parts of the county the fall varied from one to three inches, bringing relief to distressed shepherds. The northern portion of the county got an average of half an inch.

Lomax and Elbow communities in southwestern Howard county were passed again by the rain. Both places received only mild showers and many farms in those areas have not enough moisture to plant.

Stanton and most of Martin county reported only a light rain Saturday morning when a hard drizzle continued for about an hour.

At Midland the fall increased to .62 inches and was still heavier in the section southwest of the city. To the west, Odessa and other places as far as Toyah reported good rains.

Ackerly had another mist Saturday morning but hardly enough moisture to do any good. Knott, several miles to the south, recorded only a light sprinkle but sections nearer Big Spring came in for substantial amounts.

Dawson, one of the counties hardest hit by successive seasons of drought and which has only one far with crops up today, had spotted showers. In the city of Lamesa precipitation was very light but at Midway, 15 miles southeast, as much as three-quarters of an inch fell.

Heavy Near O'Donnell
Rains of cloudburst proportions prevailed in the region north toward O'Donnell just over the line in Lynn county. Cars were drowned out and many mired in unfinished roads when from one to five inches of rain descended Saturday.

Coahoma got another beneficial slow rain starting at 9:30 a. m. Saturday and continuing for four hours. The amount was estimated at three-quarters of an inch.

Northwest of Vincent the rainfall was reported to total one and a half inches. Territory toward Big Spring received a good soaking.

5 Convicted In Flog Case

Former Tampa Policemen Found Guilty On Kidnap Charge

BARTOW, Fla., May 23. (AP)—Five former Tampa policemen were convicted today on a charge of kidnaping Eugene F. Polunov, one of three victims who were flogged, tarred and feathered, by a mob in Tampa, November 23.

The six-man jury in criminal court returned its verdict after slightly more than three hours deliberation of Judge Robert T. Dewell's charge that the defendants should be acquitted unless the jurors believed without doubt that Polunov was abducted for the purpose of being secretly imprisoned.

The five convicted men are John P. Bridges, G. W. Carlisle, F. W. Switzer, G. A. Brown, Jr., and Sam Crosby.

Two others, former Police Chief R. G. Tittsworth and Special Officer Robert Chappell, were acquitted by directed verdict several days ago.

Busy Term Ended In District Court

Reviewing The BIG SPRING WEEK by Joe Pickle

88 Cases Disposed Of During Five-Weeks Session

Urgency of the relief situation probably has not been impressed upon the public conscience as much as it might due to the engrossing side issues which have tended to cloud the picture. Now the announcement from the Texas relief commission that it is pulling stakes on all types of relief after June 30 re-defines the problem and leaves no mistake that the task of caring for the unfortunate is purely a local one.

Seventeenth district court ended its second term of the year here Saturday with a record of having disposed of 88 cases.

From the viewpoint of business transacted, it was one of the busiest sessions in the district court here in several seasons.

Nineteen of the cases disposed of were on the heavy criminal docket. Convictions were obtained in 14 cases, four were dismissed (one while in the process of trial) and one resulted in acquittal, records of District Clerk Hugh Dubberly showed Saturday.

Monday Judge Charles L. Klapproth will convene the court for a two weeks term in Stanton. Following this Midland will have four weeks and then Odessa three weeks before the summer vacation season starts just before the democratic primaries.

Criminal cases disposed of during the five weeks term here were: John Johnson, murder, tried for fifth time and dismissed; J. E. Terry, driving while intoxicated, acquitted; Jack Redmond, disposing of mortgaged property, dismissed; Emmett Hull and T. R. Hardwick, conspiring to dispose of mortgaged property, dismissed; Robert E. Ray, assault to murder, nine months and $500 fine, motion for new trial denied, appeal bond posted; Leon and Preston Brown, felony theft, two years suspended sentence.

Harry Loftis, passing a forged instrument, two years; Jack McClellan, forgery, two years suspended sentence; J. B. Dean, forgery, two years suspended sentence; W. R. Bell, theft by bailee, four years, motion for new trial denied, appeal bond posted; Eo Clark, felony theft, dismissed while on trial; Paul Vaquez, burglary, two years in each of two cases, terms to run concurrently.

S'water Gets Press Meet

Odessa Man Named Head Of West Texas Association

MIDLAND, May 23. (AP)—The West Texas Press association devoted today to hold its next convention in Sweetwater.

R. Henderson Shuffler, Odessa, publisher, was elected president for the coming year.

Other officers named were Mrs. Mary Dunbar of Palo Pinto, first vice-president; Douglas Mcador of Matador, second vice-president; J. C. Smythe of Snyder, re-elected secretary-treasurer.

George Clarke, secretary to Governor James V. Allred, spoke at the session.

A resolution was adopted to present plaques to Lowry Martin of Corsicana and Walter D. Cline of Wichita Falls for their outstanding work as citizens of Texas and their efforts toward the Centennial celebration.

The session ended at noon and delegates participated in a golf tournament this afternoon.

RAILROADS SEEK TO HOLD UP 2-CT. FARE

NEW YORK, May 23. (AP)—Twenty-three eastern railroads filed federal suit today to enjoin the interstate commerce commission from enforcing orders establishing rates of two cents a mile for coach and three cents for Pullman cars.

The lower rates were ordered by the commission February 28 last to become effective June 2.

Back From Ft. Worth

W. T. Strange, Jr., chamber of commerce manager, returned here Saturday from a business trip to Fort Worth and Dallas. In Fort Worth he inspected the building which will house the all-West Texas exhibit including the WTCC district No. 6 display arranged by a committee headed by Strange.

When this is done there can be no sincere dodging of the issue. Deserving or undeserving human beings hardly can be allowed to starve or suffer unduly. The deadline is little more than a month away. It would be well to start thinking ahead of time.

Somewhat, this section generally gets its spring planting rains just in the nick of time. For the past few years this rule has had its exceptions but dollar-laden moisture gloriously brought it back into play Sunday, Monday and Saturday. As a result, there are comparatively few farmers who are not in a position to plant now.

Changes, too, are put in top shape and soon will be able to stop expensive feeding. A good rain is still a great blessing.

Big Spring should feel a bit proud that the school system here has been chosen from hundreds in Texas as one of a few "laboratories" for the new changes in curriculum. Other cities designated as experimental points have larger populations. It is worth something to a community to have an educational system recognized by the state board as being among the most efficient in the state.

To insure the success of the curriculum experiments here, practically 80 per cent of the faculty plans to attend school this summer. This shows fine spirit, especially so since teachers here receive notoriously low salaries. And in this con-

OIL INTEREST IS CENTERED ON ECTOR AND GAINES WILDCATS

37 Locations Made in West Texas During Week; Howard Wildcat A Failure

SAN ANGELO, May 23.—Testing of Wm. H. Dunning, Jr., No. 1 H. E. Cummins, northwestern Ector county wildcat, which filled 800 feet with oil overnight from 4,254 to 4,267 feet, the total depth, then cemented casing, and the logging of the first brown lime stringer at 4,020 feet in Landreth No. 1 W. H. Kirk, southern Gaines county wildcat, attracted attention in West Texas at the close of the week.

Earlier, Wahlenmaier and Atlantic No. 1-A Walton in Winkler county, one mile north and half mile east of the Henderson wells north of the Hendrick field, flowed 1,827 barrels of pipe line oil in 11 hours through open 2-1/2 inch tubing, bottomed at 3,070 feet, and Magnolia No. 5 Edwards in the Waddell pool in northern Crane county, responded to treatment with 5,000 gallons of acid by gauging 1,196 barrels of oil in four hours, a rate of 7,176 barrels daily, only three feet in the Permian lime pay, topped at 3,518 feet.

Hal Peck and others No. 1 Monroe in southern Ward county, extending the Grandfalls pool one-half mile west, developed a flow of 15 barrels of oil hourly by heads while cleaning out following a shot last week with 300 quarts from 2,197 to 2,317 feet. It was estimated good for 60 to 70 barrels daily before shooting. The well is 2,310 feet from the southeast and southwest lines of section 25-9-HATC and has been offset on the north-west by Republic.

37 Locations

Thirty-seven locations, about the weekly average recently, were listed this week after 95 in 11 counties the preceding week set an all-time record for West Texas. This swelled the number of tests being carried on reports to around 450. Winkler county led again last week with 12 locations, Upton county registered seven, Crane and Pecos counties four each, Ector and Ward counties, three each, Howard county, two, and Jones and Taylor counties, one.

Dunning No. 1 Cummins in northwestern Ector county drilled plugs from seven-inch casing cemented at 4,155 feet and was cleaning out to deepen. It is 2,200 feet from the south line and 440 feet from the east line of section 33-45-in-T&P, three miles west of Landreth No. 1 Scharbauer, and four and one-half miles northwest of Dunning No. 1 Scharbauer, the nearest producer. Dunning No. 1 Scharbauer extended the Goldsmith one and a half miles northwest. Its south offset, Gulf No. 6 Goldsmith, was plugging back from 4,260 feet to shut off a small amount of water before shooting pay.

Lime Stringer at 4,020

The first lime stringer logged in Landreth No. 1 Kirk, southern Gaines county wildcat, at 4,020 feet, was 696 feet below sea level. Drilling had progressed to 4,080 feet in lime and anhydrite and it was the consensus that considerable more hole would have to be made before the marker could be picked. The test is in the southwest corner of section 22-A21-pal, south of Seminola, about 10 miles southeast of Walsh-Adams No. 1 Averitt, recently shut in at 4,910 feet as a 12,388,000 cubic-foot gasser, and about eight miles northwest of the Means field in Andrews county.

Humble No. 2 Tubb in the Sand Hills district in western Crane county ran two and a half inch tubing for a pumping test at 4,375 feet before acidizing. It showed oil and water on three drill stem tests at 4,354 feet. The water was believed to have been drilling fluid. No. 2 Tubb is 1,980 feet from the north and west lines of section 11-B27-pal, quarter mile southeast of No. 1 Tubb, which flowed 881 barrels of oil in 24 hours, bottomed at 4,375 feet. Humble staked No. 2 Tubb 440 feet out of the southwest corner of section 10-B37-pal, about a quarter mile northwest of No. 1 Tubb.

Farther southeast, Moore Bros. No. 1 Barnsley estate, seeking Ordovician production in the southwest quarter of section 48-35-pal, had slight oil shows at 4,200 and 4,273 and drilled ahead below 4,405 feet in hard lime.

Howard Failure

Failures included Southern Oil corporation No. 1 W. P. Edwards, eastern Howard county wildcat, which struck sulphur water at 2,983 feet in lime. The water rose 400 feet in four hours and abandonment was expected. The test is in the southwest corner of section 22-30-is-T&P, one mile southwest of Eastland. White and Moore Bros. No. 1 D. H. Two Added In East Howard

Sinclair - Prairie No. 36 And No. 39 Dodge Wells Completed

Two completions were recorded by Sinclair-Prairie Oil company on the Dodge land in the East Howard field during the past week, while several new locations were made. Sinclair-Prairie's No. 36 Dodge was finished as an 800 barrel well, bottomed at 2,780 feet. The same company's No. 39 Dodge was completed at a depth of 2,784 after being given a 700-quart shot.

The No. 37 Dodge was reported cleaning out at 2,820, and the No. 38 Dodge was cleaning out at 2,780. Sinclair-Prairie a week ago made locations for Nos. 41 and 42 Dodge. Ennsbrook Oil corporation's No. 2 Dodge was drilling at 1,780. Location is 330 feet from the east corner of section 37-74-pal. Humble No. 2-C Walton, northwest of the producer and 1,880 feet from the south and west lines of section 34-74-pal, was drilling plugs from cemented seven-inch casing, bottomed at 2,569 feet in lime.

Stanford No. 1-B E. F. Cowden, indicated one and a quarter mile northwest extension of the Foster pool in Ector county and in the northeast corner of section 14-43-2s-T&P, drilled ahead at 4,274 feet with no increase in oil. A small amount of water had exhausted when the well recovered 100 barrels of oil in eight hours in swabbing to the bottom of the pipe. The Sam Goldman No. 1 Denman was to spud Sunday, operations having been delayed a day by Saturday's rains. The test is located 1,650 feet from the north and east lines of section 10, block 20. W. E. Production company, using a new Emsco 122-foot derrick, will use Diesel power on the test. The Goldman No. 2 will be started on completion of the No. 1.

Sinclair-Prairie will have an offset to the Goldman well, with location 1,650 feet from the east line and 990 feet from the north line of section 10, block 20.

Two locations have been staked by Sinclair-Prairie on Texas Land & Mortgage Co. land in the east one-half of southeast one-fourth of section 4, block 20. One is 2,970 feet from the east line, and the other is 3,880 feet from the north line and 990 feet from the east line.

These will give Ennsbrook three offsets: one 2,810 from the north and 990 from the east line; a second 2,970 from the north and 1,320 from the east line; and a third 3,880 from the north and 1,320 from the east line. Tools were to be moved in for the first location.

State Treasurer Here In Interest Of His Candidacy

CHARLEY LOCKHART

Charley Lockhart, state treasurer, was a visitor in Big Spring Friday night and Saturday, and made calls Saturday in the interest of his candidacy for reelection. Although it was his first visit to Big Spring, the 35-inch-tall state official is known by many here. Lockhart drove here from Lohn, Coleman county, where he made a graduation talk Thursday night. He had planned to go on westward, but changed his plans after Saturday's rains and left here for Colorado and Snyder.

The treasurer has visited several sections of the state recently in the interest of his campaign. He asserts that financial conditions in Texas are better than in any other state in the union. Lockhart is asking reelection on a business appeal. Pointing out that his term of office has been during the depression, when many banks and other institutions were forced to close their doors, the treasurer said the state of Texas has not lost a cent of the public funds.

"The state treasury department is a business and not a political institution," said Lockhart. "It handles the people's money and honesty is one of the first qualifications of anyone seeking this position. I am endeavoring and shall continue to do so to the best of my ability to render to all the people that impartial service which they are entitled to receive."

AUSTIN, May 23. (UP)—The Texas Longhorn baseball team put up its bats today until 1937 after a scheduled last game of the season with Texas A. & M. College was cancelled because of rain. Centennial Theme Used In Table Decorations And Program Given By Chapter; Other Officers Here

The local chapter of the Order of Eastern Star entertained Mrs. Rebecca Miles of Jacksonville, worthy grand matron of the state of Texas, with one of the prettiest parties of the week, when she stopped off Friday for her official visit. The centennial theme was employed in the decorations and the program.

Four other grand officers were present to pay respects to the honoree. They were: Mrs. J. B. Young, past worthy grand, Mrs. Norman Read of Coahoma, who will be worthy grand matron next year, and her husband, and J. T. Brooks, both of whom are on state committees.

Miss Eloise Haley presented gifts to the five state officers, reciting an original rhyme as she made the presentation.

Mrs. J. F. Hall, worthy matron of the hostess chapter, decorated the Masonic hall with roses and spring flowers in a profusion of vases and bowls.

The dining table was centered with a huge block of ice in which were frozen a Lone Star flag, small pots of cacti, a miniature figure of a cowboy and a string of red, white and blue electric lights that when lighted made the centerpiece unusually attractive. Pots of cacti and yellow cactus blossoms with small figures of Texas rangers and Indians added to the table decorations.

Individual cakes iced with a Texas flag and punch laded from a huge block of ice were served to the group.

Mrs. Miles made her official speech using "Service" as her topic.

Mrs. Jack Terry is hostess for bridge

Shuffle and Cut club members and one guest, Mrs. A. C. McGlothlin played at the home of Mrs. Jack Terry Friday afternoon. Mrs. Watson Hammond made high score for the club. Mrs. William Dehlinger second. Mrs. B. P. Franklin received the floating prize and Mrs. George Crosthwait the bingo.

W. O. N. MEETING

The W. O. N. circle will hold a called meeting for business purposes on Monday afternoon at 2:30 in order not to meet Tuesday evening, due to commencement exercises being on that date.

Colleges To Draw Many BS Teachers

Many From Elementary Grades Will Attend Summer School

The largest number of grade teachers ever to attend summer school from Big Spring will go this summer, announced T. E. Pierce, elementary supervisor. Pierce himself will be in college, but it will be to teach. He will lecture on "Elementary Education Administration" at North Texas State Teachers college, Denton, this summer.

One reason for the large percentage of teachers becoming students is the fact that the state has selected Big Spring school system as an experimental school in curriculum revision program for next year.

This is an unusual honor for Big Spring and one that will also reflect on the teachers themselves.

In order to be sure of meeting the situation successfully, the elementary teachers are going away to study problems in their field, and to become better qualified to cooperate with the state program, as well to make themselves better teachers.

It is commendable in a group paid such low salaries that they are willing to sacrifice in order to go to school.

North Texas State Teachers college will draw seven students out of the elementary school teachers. They are: Miss Lottie Maye Liggett, Miss Lillian Bee Wade, C. L. Cromwell, Miss Letha Amerson, Miss Grace Mann, Miss Neal Cummings, Miss Fonnell Whitley.

Hardin-Simmons draws the next largest number. Those going will be: Mmes. T. A. Stephens, Cecil Wasson, R. L. Baber, W. E. Martin; Robert Bassett, John R. Hutto.

Miss Marguerite Collins will go to Southern Methodist university, Dallas; Miss Audrey Phillips to Texas Christian university, Fort Worth.

Three will attend C. I. A., Denton. They are: Misses Aisley Forsrie, and also Miss Jona Jordan.

Opinion of Heads

Asserting that the trip was in close harmony with current pedagogical ideals, W. C. Blankenship, city superintendent, listed some specific and general objectives of the trip. Among them are: To see a true picture of Mexico than border towns afford; to experience social life of a Mexican city; to practice speaking commercially in the markets and cafes; to visit old Spanish landmarks and historical shrines of San Antonio; to give students a foreign trip at minimum cost; to broaden the experience of students through worthwhile contacts; and to promote Pan-American ideals of international good-will.

George Gentry, high school principal made the following statement concerning the trip:

"In my judgment the excursion to Monterrey offers an unusual opportunity for one to make a delightful trip at a very reasonable cost. The itinerary is such that those who take the trip will see some of the most interesting places in Texas and Mexico. For persons interested in the Mexican people and language it ought to be very profitable.

"I hope that all of our students who can possibly afford to make this trip will do so. The information and impressions that they get will be invaluable to them through the year."

THE STUDENTS PASS A MILESTONE

Significant time of the year for parents and teachers as well as pupils is that of school-closing, when actual classroom work is recessed for the summer months.

This particular time is all the more important to that group which receives diplomas denoting the completion of the standard public school course.

This graduation season of 1935 is a happier one, in many respects, than those of the previous years.

Various authentic surveys have been made to show that the employment outlook for graduates is better than it has been for many years.

Graduates of the Big Spring high school need have no fear of holding their own in the world, provided they are willing to meet the ordinary demands upon them.

The 1935-36 term has been successful for our local schools. It has seen an increase in the number of affiliated credits, with revision of the credit list to suit the needs of the students.

Big Spring may take pride in its school system; and through that, pride in its school graduates.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Attainment of that celestial sphere where anonymity leaves off the celebrity begins in a short-lived joy to many better knowns.

The doubtful privilege of having one's name plastered over the front pages and of being gaped at like a white whale in a circus is usually the forerunner of an endless sequence of distressing annoyances and grievances.

Take that young writer several years ago who lived in comparative though pleasant obscurity.

Then he had the misfortune to write a best-selling novel. Overnight he leaped into the limelight.

As an innovation his new affluence was pleasant for a time, but in the end it began to pall.

Today he is one of our more promising younger authors, with three satisfactory tomes to his credit.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT K. ALLEN

WILMINGTON, N. C.—Down in this tip end of North Carolina, where the inconsiderate protrusion of Cape Fear diverts the Gulf stream off toward England, there are some agricultural projects which Rex Tugwell's resettlement experts are watching.

Here a man, who has given his life to the study of southern farming, has worked out what may be the solution for the agricultural-economic problem of the south.

Most everyone—including new deal experts, southern senators and the southern policy committee—is agreed that the disease gnawing at the economic backbone of the south is tenant farming.

When Mac Rae began, many years ago, Wilmington was a thriving tar, pitch and turpentine metropolis bigger than Chicago.

Mac Rae began with the theory that if the south wants to progress agriculturally it must study the Europeans, who have used their soil for hundreds of years and kept it fertile.

They were given a start on soil which had to be cleared of timber, lent seed and tools, given the help of a project manager and permitted to pay for the land in easy installments.

Another Hollander, A. Ludke, was making $27 a week in a Manhattan shirt factory when he took over a small patch of land at Castlehaynes, one of the Mac Rae projects.

At Penderles, a government project further up the river, Mac Rae undertook to give the subsistence homesteaders in Washington the benefit of his long experience.

Mac Rae, after first offering to give the government the land on which Penderles was planned, finally accepted a figure set by government appraisers at $50 an acre.

The trials and tribulations of Penderles from that point on form a laboratory case of the difficulties of rural resettlement under government supervision.

Mac Rae several times asked to have his resignation accepted, but was requested to continue. He also asked for and welcomed investigation by the interior department.

Finally he resigned in November, 1934, and has had no connection with Penderles since. However, the government still owes for office space which he rented to it at $50 monthly.

Mac Rae believes, some day a prosperous colony. Thanks to Mr. Mac Rae's foresight, it is one of the most perfectly laid-out farming communities in the United States.

Julian Morton, Mac Rae's son-in-law, who had long experience with various homestead colonies, continued as manager of Penderles until recently, and both subsistence homesteaders and Tugwell's resettlement agency, which now has taken over the project, have paid tribute to his efficiency.

Justice McReynolds, with his vehement dissenting opinion on the gold clause case still fresh in his mind, leaned forward and wisecracked:

"Sometimes that isn't such a violent presumption, is it?"

Sen. William E. Borah is in a dilemma. He is all dressed up but has no place to go.

Borah is fighting mad. He is firmly convinced that his rivals, backed by "big interests," are spending huge sums to defeat him; that only the use of secret state funds keeps him from winning the republican presidential nomination.

He is itching to break loose and head his flock out of the water.

Chapter Four CIRCUS QUEEN

"Enter!" the woman intoned and hilted forward. Arriving at Dirk, she smiled, showing rather bad teeth. She looked him over, a blue-eyed young man in white summer-flannels and light shetland topcoat, a bare-headed young man with drops of rain on his bright chestnut hair. A young man all alone.

"Come in," she said more softly. "I tell you future and your past. I tell games and places. I conceal nothing."

It sounded much too thorough, and as Madame Chowdhury lifted an inner curtain, beckoning with a fat dark hand, Dirk murmured that he was merely looking for some one, and dropped the flap.

No knowing when Isabel would appear, and there would be the session with Madame Crowdhury for Natalie before they could leave. He had left the umbrella in the car, would wait in the main tent out of the wet. Buying a ticket, he went in, found a seat low in the reserved tiers.

The trapezists were performing, flying here and there to swing from each other's hands. The rain dripped through the seams of the tent. The rungs to which the performers clung must be wet, he thought. Presently the man and woman in their pink tights bounded to the ring and ran out, making way for the clown, a spotted, tumbling fellow whose entrance woke a squeal of juvenile laughter.

A man stood at the performers' exit not far from Dirk. Heavy-set, dressed in loose-fitting rather seedy clothes, he leaned against the edge of the tiers, watching the rings. A weathered Panama hat was pulled down on his face, throwing it in shadow, a face thick-set like his body, heavy-jawed, with a bulbous nose and a ragged black mustache.

An unlighted cigar twisted at the corner of his mouth, and his eyes stayed with the clown and the ringmaster, not missing a move, not laughing. It was an old story to him.

A gust of applause and laughter followed the exit of the clown. "Firefly!" the ring-master shouted, and Dirk turned to see a girl flying into the arena on a coal-black horse. The girl was dressed in red—light red trousers, flaring at the ankles, silver buttons down the side, a silver-and-red bolero, a white sash.

Slim and straight she stood, taking off her hat as she came, holding it in her hand. Her hair rose and fell, a long curling bob, black as the horse. She seemed as much a part of her mount as if she had been a flaming wing.

Now she had dropped into the saddle, had flung her sombrero on the ground. Round and round the ring she went, the horse gathering speed. Suddenly she had swooped under him, had left her saddle, was in it again, while the crowd applauded. Now she stood with one foot on the horse's head and one in the saddle, crouching slightly, a flying pose, a beautiful pose.

The man in the Panama hat still stood at the exit. There was no anxiety in his face any more than there had been amusement while the clown performed. He was endowed with faith, or with indifference.

It was over. Firefly had dropped again into the saddle, had leaned over to recover her sombrero, waving with it to the applauding crowd, putting it on. Now she was standing as she had stood at the first, was riding from the ring.

Dirk, clapping loudly, stood as she passed him. Their eyes met, and a little smile touched the corners of her mouth. Dirk snatched the rose from his lapel, and with a deft movement flung it to her.

"Bravo!" he shouted. She caught the token lightly, thrust it into the neck of her blouse, galloped out. Almost at once the horse returned, reins dangling, the clown jumping at his side, endeavoring to mount him. Now he succeeded, at-

Suddenly she was aware of Dirk, tempting to stand on his back as the girl had stood, succeeding for a flash, only to bend forward with stiff knees and grip the pommel, shaking first one pantalooned leg in the air, and then the other, affecting to be in a paroxysm of fear.

Round and round they went. No one was afraid for the clown. He was so funny. His painted grin was so sunny. How could any one be afraid who he so whoopingly, jittersily feared for himself?

The man in the Panama hat was gone from the exit. Firefly, the girl-rider, stood in his place. Not quite in his place—back farther in the shadow, slightly outside the tent. A dark green cape was thrown about her slight red figure, and she stood watching the clown.

Amid the roars of laughter Dirk stepped down. He wanted to ask Firefly where she had got her pony. A Spanish pony, it looked like. He wanted to tell her it was a beauty, and she was a darned plucky rider. He hoped she wouldn't mind.

Suddenly she was aware of Dirk, and turned. An eerie face, honey-brown under the rouge. Long lashes beaded with make-up, amber-brown eyes, wide now, and rather startled, a curved mouth lacquered in carmine. Dirk's rose showed at the edge of her blouse, dead-white against the spangles, and the warm gold-olive of her skin.

A glance at him, and a glance back of her into the dark of the lot. Dirk apologized, and said, "You took me off my feet with your riding."

Again that little smile at the corner of her mouth. Again her eyes went to the clown. "I'll bet you can ride, too," she said.

"What makes you say that?" he asked. "The way you watched." So she had noticed him. "I ride a little," he told her. "Not like you."

Suddenly she whitened, and a sound she screamed. She was gone from him, flying toward the ring. People were standing in the tiers. People were in the ring. The black horse had slipped and fallen. They were lifting him off the clown.

section, Big Spring can reconcile herself to the fact that other systems will snuff off the best talent here unless salary inducements are such as to retain them.

After five nerve-racking trials, the murder charge against John Johnson, Lynn county deputy was thrown out of court. Of the 60 jurors' votes cast on the case during its trials, 30 went for conviction and as many for acquittal. It was evident after the second trial that it would be next to impossible to reach a decision. Change in venue was ordered in an attempt to get a verdict, but the inevitable deadlock became more apparent. All of these details are interesting in a general sort of way to the average citizen until he realizes that the case must have cost in the neighborhood of $7,500; he is impressed that justice is often times very costly.

Big Spring was forcibly reminded during the week that she has a juvenile crime problem on her hands. Several youngsters were rounded up for having stolen parts from cars regularly in order to gain enough money to go to the show or take in some other form of amusement. Getting toward the root of the evil, police arrested a junk dealer said to be the "fence" for the boys. Later in the week another lad was taken into custody for stealing purses, cash and a watch. Police said they were about to pick up two other boys for petty thefts. It remained for the boys from Monahan to reveal the crux of the situation. He said his parents were narcotic addicts and had taught him to steal. His mother died and his father went to prison. While others were not in as bad a state, their home environment was either bad or shrouded in indifference. When boys have nothing better to do than steal they will steal.

In this connection Bill Inkman is due a measure of praise for posting a sum of money for a few of the boys caught to pay their way into the show when they feel they want to go. Bill is one whose the state's suit for injunctions to bookmakers. The state had sought cancellation of the Racing Form's permit to do business in Texas. It was one of the several defendants in the suit, which was instituted last August at the request of Governor Allred.

Judge Yarborough ruled that the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press extended to the Racing Form in the publication of race news. He further held that there was no evidence to show that the Regal Press, Inc., publisher of the race paper, had done any illegal acts or that the Racing Form was published to aid betting.

Hiding the paper published "legal information about races," Judge Yarborough said "it is not up to the courts to pass upon whether information published is wise; that is for the reader to determine." He held also that there was no other state law prohibiting the publication of probable odds on horse races, a point urged by the state against the Racing Form, and observed that some daily newspapers published that information.

Results of thorough tests back up the claims made for the superiority of the new Golden Shell motor oil, now being offered in sealed tamper-proof cans, according to Ted O. Groebel, general manager of the Westex Oil company, distributors in this territory of Shell products. "Shell's objective is not merely to keep pace with developments in automotive progress, but to contribute to this progress through its extensive research and engineering facilities," Groebel said. "The new Golden Shell motor oil is an example of this endeavor. Shell was not content to build a product just to meet today's driving conditions. The goal was to create a product with qualities beyond the requirements of today's increased needs. The thorough research and grueling tests of Golden Shell motor oil is the reason for Shell's delay of two years to market oils in refinery sealed tamper proof cans, and it is

Gary Cooper And Jean Arthur Stars Of Film Now At Ritz

'Mr. Deeds Goes To Town', Comedy Romance Directed By Frank Capra, Headlines Program For Monday And Tuesday

Winning public and critical acclaim as few pictures have in recent months is the new comedy, "Mr. Deeds Goes To Town." The Ritz theatre's featured attraction for Sunday and Monday. It was directed by Frank Capra, who gained fame and Hollywood laurels for his "It Happened One Night," and who is said to have repeated this success with the story of "Mr. Deeds."

Co-starred in the film are Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur. They also have shared in the praise, Cooper for having portrayed a comedy role with a deftness he has not shown in earlier pictures, and Miss Arthur for having presented another of the characterizations which lately have been getting her good parts in the films.

"Mr. Deeds Goes To Town" is an adaptation from a story by Clarence Buddington Kelland. It has to do with a young man from a small town—one interested largely in tuba playing—who falls into a fortune of $20,000,000. He is taken to New York against his will to receive the money and there is surrounded by grafters and hangers-on of a type he has never experienced before. Newspapermen les and remains to fall in love with him, and, unconsciously, causes him so much woe that he attempts to give his fortune away.

This move succeeds in getting him arrested for insanity. Comic highlight of the picture is Mr. Deed's sanity trial, described as being one of the most humorous episodes the screen has presented in months. The trial takes an unusual turn to bring the picture to a satisfactory conclusion.

In the supporting cast are George Bancroft, Lionel Stander, Douglass Dumbrille, Raymond Walburn, Margaret Matzenauer, H. H. Warner, Warren Hymer, and others.

Queen Bills Adventure Melodrama

'Absolute Quiet' Title Of Thrill Story Starting 3-Day Run Today

"Absolute Quiet" is the title of the program headliner at the Queen theatre for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday; but advance notices assert that the picture is anything but what its title implies. It includes the thrill punches, a dramatic story of an airliner crash, escaped killers and other taut situations that make up an exciting melodrama.

The story concerns a financier who, under doctor's orders has gone to his isolated ranch for a rest cure. He takes an assistant and his lovely wife along, sending the husband on various trips so he can be alone with the girl.

Suddenly one night, two escaped killers appear at the ranch house and take command. A few hours later a giant airliner crashes on the ranch's airfield, the accident caused by the fact that the desperadoes won't turn on the floodlights. In the crashed plane are found celebrities of all kinds, including a governor and a screen star.

The financier, by telling the actor that the desperadoes caused the catastrophe, goads him into killing the pair. Then it comes to light that the financier has victimized at various times most of the people in the plane.

The actor decides to kill him, but before he is able to do so, the financier is stricken—the excitement brings a heart attack and death.

Louis Hayward, English player who has won honors on the New York stage, appears as the actor. Opposite him is Ann Loring, another recruit. She portrays an actress en route to Hollywood. Stuart Erwin is seen in the role of a reporter, while Irene Hervey has the part of the wife. Lionel Atwill has one of the strongest roles of his career as the financier, and Wallace Ford is seen as the chief desperado. Robert Livingston, Harvey Stephens, J. Carroll Nash, Raymond Walburn and Matt Moore are others in the cast.
