Jaycee Survey Tabulated

The recent community attitude survey sponsored by the local Jaycee organization when tabulated brought forth many of the same answers as the survey conducted by the State Line Tribune staff some two years ago. Mentioned most often as things especially liked by town residents were the friendly, neighborly people, good churches and church programs, good schools, neatness and cleanliness of the town good climate, little or no vandalism and more than average civic interest. Also mentioned were the nice size of the town and the quiet which prevails. Disliked about our town were the old buildings on main street, not enough recreational facilities (especially for children and young people), not enough variety of stores, too many stray dogs, parking around the post office, too much fast traffic, and the vacant lots which have been allowed to grow up in weeds.

In answer to the question—In your opinion what are the five most important things which need be done to make this a better community?—following are a sample of the answers given by many people. Recreation for all (particularly children and teenagers), a youth and community center, swimming pool, parks with playground equipment, general clean-up, fix-up of the town, new post office, tear down or improve old buildings, and encouragement of new businesses and industries to the town, and last but not least more dental and medical facilities.

Some 107 persons were contacted during the survey, however not all answered all of the questions.

Following are answers given in part B of the survey:

Know Your Teachers

Amos (Moose) Tatum, one of the more popular teachers on the Farwell campus has been serving as high school principal since 1956. After having lived in the community and served the school for the past nine years Tatum says, "I am convinced that the finest and friendliest people in the world and the best students anywhere live in this area."

Tatum began his teaching career in the small community of Franklin, Okla. in 1941. After teaching for one year he was called into the armed services early in 1942 where he remained as a member of the Air Force for the next four years. He was discharged in 1946 and returned to Bennington in Southeastern Oklahoma where he made his home for the next four years.

In 1950 "Moose" accepted an appointment with the Civil Service Department and taught at various bases in Oklahoma, Texas and Alabama for the next six years.

Tatum graduated from high school at Caddo, Okla. and attended Southeastern State College at Durant until he received a B. S. degree in science with a minor in agriculture. He later attended school at Austin College at Sherman and received a master's degree in educational administration from that school. He has since done work at Western State College in Gunnison, Colo. and at Austin College.

He is married and his wife, Lenora, also teaches in the Farwell school system. They are parents of one daughter, Patti, who will begin her sophomore year at Farwell this fall. She served as drum major for the high school band last year.

In addition to his interest in school work, Tatum is a member of the local Lion's Club and the Farwell First Baptist church. He is a fishing and golfing enthusiast. Tatum is also an avid sports fan - which sport is his favorite - "why all of them of course." He has served as class sponsor for the senior class for the past six years and has also served as sponsor of the student council.

Tatum says there may be disadvantages in staying at a school for several years but he feels that the advantages far outweigh the disadvantages and is looking forward to the coming year with much enthusiasm.

James (Jim) Pierce is beginning his second year as high school principal at Texico. He first began teaching duties at the Texico school in the middle of the 1958-59 school year as agriculture instructor succeeding Tom Hudson. For the next four and one half years he served in that capacity. All of his teaching experience has been in the Texico school.

He graduated from high school at Iraan (a small town near Pecos) in 1949 and attended college for a one year period before being called into the service of his country. He was a member of the armed forces for the next three years re-teaches general science. Mr. and Mrs. Pierce are members of the Texico First Baptist Church and he is a member of the local Lions Club. He is an avid sports fan and enjoys farming activities, although no longer associated with the agriculture department.

Pierce said, "I am looking forward to this year's work with much anticipation." He has been busy for the past several weeks helping to work out schedules and get the building in readiness for the beginning of school on August 24.

Handicapped Men Make Plans For Business Venture

Two former local men, Ted Cook and Charles Ott, although handicapped are making good in the business world and at the present time are making plans to establish a business in Amarillo, which would serve as a training service for the handicapped.

Cook, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Ruckman, Texico was stricken with polio in 1954 and Ott, husband of the former Yvonne Hoxton of Texico and grandson of Mrs. W. W. Hall of Farwell was stricken with the same disease in 1956.

Cook is owner of T. C. Specialty Sales in Roswell and he called Ott a few years ago and asked him to come to work with him, Ott like Cook had to learn the business from scratch.

Cook isn't surprised when a handicapped person becomes a business asset. "We know through trial and error they can be productive," he said, "if you challenge handicapped persons, and show them an avenue to approach the challenge, it's seldom that they fail."

Cook now has a dream which may take years to materialize, but if Amarillo citizens take to the idea may become a reality in a short while.

He wants to start a business that would be a training center for handicapped people. He has tentatively named it Vorehab, from vocational rehabilitation. The advertising field, Cook has found, has particular potential for handicapped persons. His proposed business would include telephone services, speciality sales, surveys, telephone solicitations, direct mail advertising and a print shop.

In addition the business would set standards to assist employers in judging the potential of a handicapped person. They hope that the business will eventually be able to "go to financiers and manufacturers and suggest that they place the handicapped in businesses of their own, with the company guaranteeing their notes.

Another possibility, under consideration is the establishment of a loan service which would be receptive to handicapped persons, who wishing to enter business on their own, cannot proceed without financing.

When the project gets off the ground Cook can immediately employ six persons and hopes eventually to have employment for as many as 100 persons in the Amarillo area.

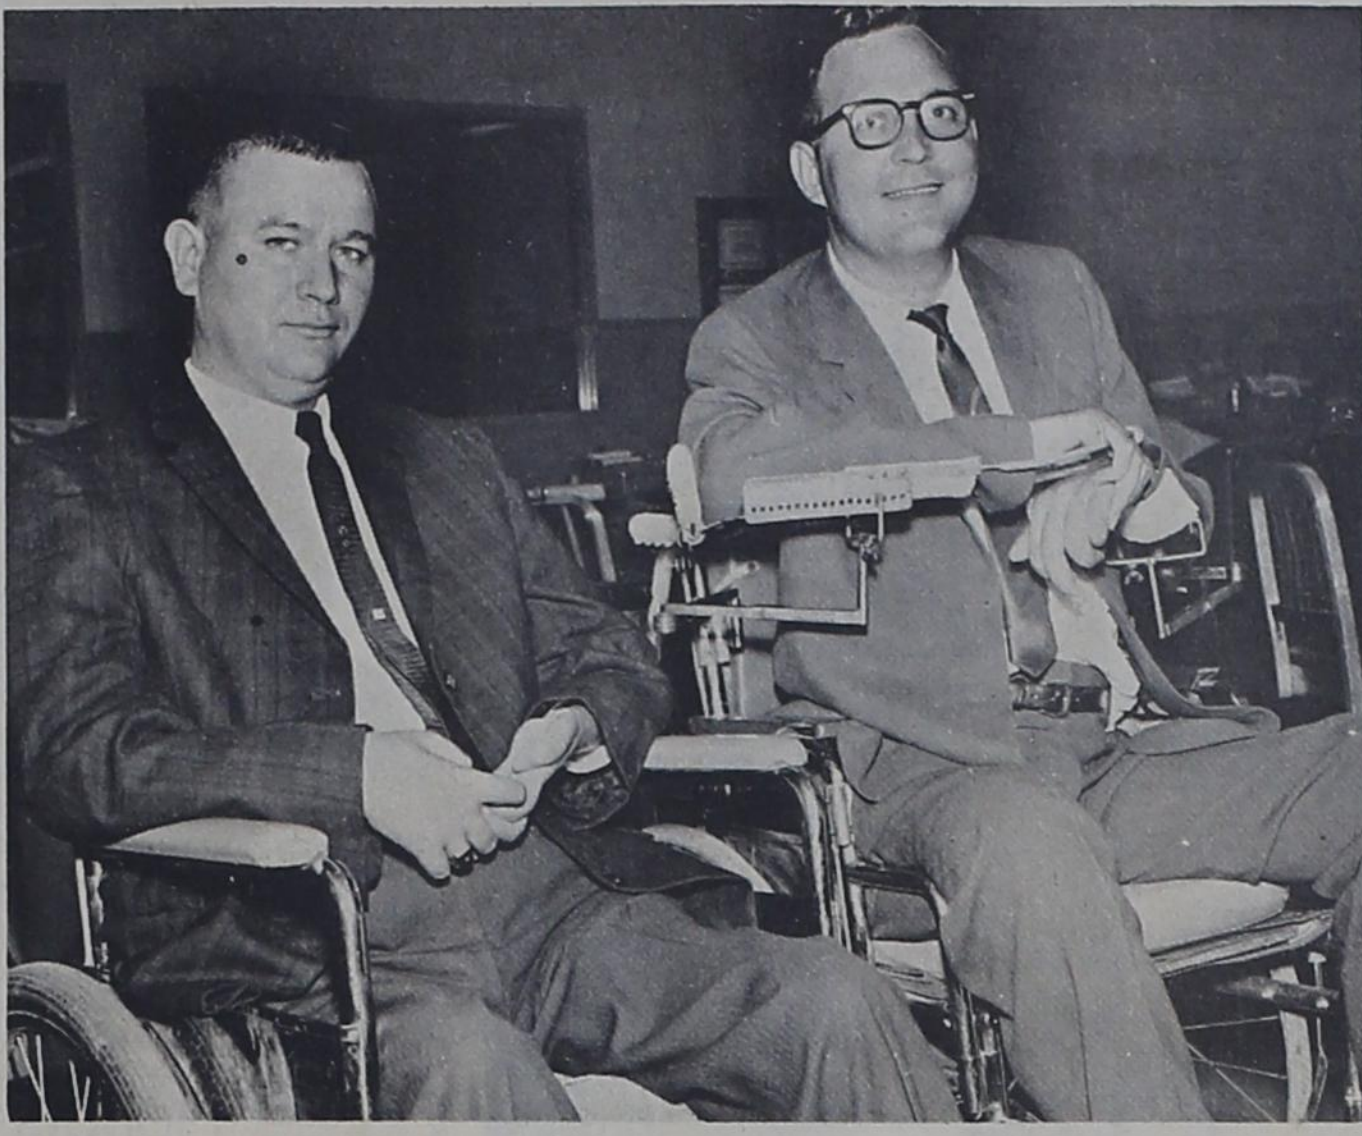

Some of the jobs he hopes to have available are for salesmen, secretaries, printers, commercial artists, Christmas Card artists, supervisors for handicapped persons in training, financial managers, researchers on extending the capabilities of the handicapped, and perhaps a bookkeeping service.

The men hope to put the handicapped to work, but they want to do it on a competitive basis. Cook points out that the business would be an asset to the community in which it is located and if successful to the country.

The following ten rules of safety were published recently in the State Policeman with the notation that the rules are being printed to help children be protected from harm and injury.

2. Do NOT accept candy or gifts from strangers.
3. Do NOT accept rides from strangers even though you have missed your bus or are late for school.
4. BEWARE of strangers who are overly friendly in the movies. REPORT them at once to the usher or man in charge.
5. Take a PAL along when you go to the movies, playground or store.
6. Never play alone in alleys or deserted buildings. KEEP TOGETHER.
7. NEVER play in or around trunks, packing cases or crates, caves, or abandoned ice boxes as you may become locked inside.
8. Do NOT cross the streets except at marked crosswalks, at intersections, or where there is a policeman on duty. Then WALK do not RUN across the street.
9. Do NOT cross the streets except at marked crosswalks, at intersections, or where there is a policeman on duty. Then WALK do not RUN across the street.
10. When riding a bicycle obey ALL traffic laws.

Always remember—the police officer or sheriff is YOUR FRIEND—go to him if you need assistance or are in trouble.

Ted Cook, left, and Charles Ott make plans for business to aid handicapped persons. Ted is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Ruckman Texico and Charles is the grandson of Mrs. W. W. Hall, Farwell and the son in law of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Horton, Pleasant Hill.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By VERN SANFORD

Down in that rugged, hilly country of Texas north of San Antonio, around Boerne and Bandera, there ranges a strange kind of animal. Scant few humans ever have seen one of these elusive critters. Indeed, many find it difficult to believe that they exist at all.

But they do exist, all right, and you can take the word of Bob Snow for that. Bob has killed more than 100 of the wild creatures and in the process has had some hair-raising experiences.

This animal of which we speak with awe is the Russian wild hog, a lean and muscular animal with the speed of a race horse, unbelievable stamina and a viciousness when cornered that has left many pursuing dogs bloodied and dead.

Despite man's best efforts to eradicate the Russian hog, its numbers continue to rise. According to Bob, there are more than 100,000 of them in Texas today than ever before.

So many, in fact, that landowners openly are soliciting hunters to come to their ranches to hunt the hogs. Snow, who is from Kerrville, is a hunter of wide and varied experience. For many years he was with the Texas Game and Fish Commission. But today he is retired to a life of hunting.

hog had crawled under a brushpile and died. In all, the hog ran for something like 10 miles and killed a couple of Snow's prized hounds in the process.

Yes sir, that Russian hog is a tough one, all right. This hog got an inglorious start in Texas. Legend has it that many years ago a man with a traveling exhibit came to San Antonio. He was down on his luck and wished to get rid of his animals. Included in the lot were several Russian hogs.

A rancher bought the hogs and transported them to his ranch in the Bandera area. He hoped to crossbreed them with domestic stock. But soon thereafter the Russian hogs escaped and vanished into the underbrush. They all but disappeared for several years. Then ranchers started seeing the elusive hogs. Their numbers had increased appreciably. Hunters like Bob Snow have found the Russian hog to be a sporting big-game animal. A few are slain each year by deer hunters. But in most instances the hogs have to be pursued by trained dogs which trail them in the dense oak and cedar brush characteristic of this part of the state.

There are no special dogs used in hunting the Russian hogs. Just about every kind of breed imaginable might be represented in a typical pack. Snow usually carries a new dog along on a hunt and if it shows any aptitude for hog hunting, it becomes an official member of the pack.

Bob follows along on horseback as the dogs take off into the underbrush, noses laid against the ground, trying to pick up the fresh scent of a hog.

Highlights and Sidelights From Your State Capital

AUSTIN -- All available money and manpower of the Texas Water Commission is being dedicated to a long-range state water master plan.

Gov. John Connally authorized the agency to transfer money already appropriated by the Legislature for other purposes. Existing state plans, in Connally's opinion, "fall short of satisfying the water needs for all of Texas."

In 1961, the Commission produced a plan for meeting Texas water needs to the year 1980.

Both the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, are coming up with their own long-range plans covering parts of Texas. They propose diversion of water from surplus areas like the Sabine to water-shy areas like the Nueces.

Connally said the federal government is considering a water pollution control bill which would supplant state authority in the field.

He urged the Commission to explore "all reasonable alternatives," including those contained in preliminary reports of U. S. Agencies.

The Governor indicated he will authorize other state agencies to cooperate in the crash program. He also pledged his help in any way possible and to recommend to the Legislature "necessary funds to fulfill this important responsibility."

STIFF GUN LAW URGED-- Pressure from prosecuting attorneys is beginning to sift through to legislative candidates who are being urged to pass a gun registration law during the 1965 session in an attempt to reduce the crime rate and help police solve crimes.

Latest of the recommendations along this line comes from Dallas' District Attorney Henry Wade. Gun registration is on the list of the most-controversial issues a legislature can tackle and proposals on the subject frequently are skirted.

TEXTBOOK PROTESTS PILE UP--About 500 individual letters and 39 petitions bearing some 3,398 signatures concerning three high school biology books have been received by Governor Connally, Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar, and the State Board of Education.

And more are arriving every day. Most protestors claim three of the eight biology books being considered for public school adoption by the State Textbooks Committee have "an excessive amount of evolution in them" being filed for the State Textbooks Committee to review, since Connally, Edgar and the State Board have no say on textbooks selection.

The 15-member committee has the task of picking five books each in 18 subjects from the 226 books under consideration. Public then will have an opportunity to make formal complaints about the biology texts, as well as any others which are considered "objectionable," before the committee's selection list is submitted to individual school districts.

DROUTH AID--Sen. Ralph Yarborough announced here that 23 counties will qualify for drouth aid under two federal programs.

Eligible for emergency loans through the Farmers Home Administration are Brazoria, Dal-lam, Dawson, Falls, Gonzales, Hardin, Hartley, Jefferson, Lavaca, Navarro, Wharton and Wilson counties.

Eligible for hayting and grazing privileges until October 31 under a U. S. Agriculture Department program are Collin, Dallas, Donley, Eastland, Freestone, Jones, Rockwall, Rusk, San Augustine, Scurry, and Taylor counties.

SALES TAX RAISE SUGGESTED -- A Texas State Teachers Association spokesman last week suggested the Legislature raise additional funds for education through increasing the sales tax rate or removing present exemptions.

L. P. Sturgeon, TSTA public relations director, said a half cent increase would raise $50,000,000 a year and an across-the-boards amendment another $61,000,000. TSTA is driving for a $45 a month increase in teachers' pay.

If Texans paid the same amount of taxes as citizens of neighboring states, argued Sturgeon, Texas would have enough money for public school and higher education improvements.

NEW RANGER NAMED--Toliver H. Dawson of Del Rio was named a Texas Ranger by Department of Public Safety Director Homer Garrison Jr. Dawson, who first served as a highway patrolman at Alpine, will be stationed in the Carrizo Springs area. He succeeds the late Wiley Williamson of Gonzales on the 62-man force.

SHRIMPERS REMINDED OF DEADLINES -- Texas shrimpers were reminded by the State Parks and Wildlife Agency of the August 15 opening of the shrimp season in coastal bays. Also called to their attention was the August 31 deadline for renewing commercial licenses.

September 1 to August 15 has been designated as the Fall shrimping season in Sabine Lake.

A new regulation to prevent bait shrimp from being sold on the commercial food market also was announced for Gulf markets of Jefferson and Orange counties.

HUNTING 'ON THE CUFF'-- Almost one out of every three Texans hunt "on the cuff," or without having to buy a license, according to J. Weldon Watson, executive director for the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Watson said that last year 230,000 of the 740,000 Texans licensed to hunt secured exempt licenses without cost to them. Others paid the usual $3.15.

On the exempt list are persons age 65 and older; those under 17; and those who can show they are hunting on their own land and live on that same property.

Watson said 2,350,000 licenses for hunting, fishing and commercial fishing uses now are available from 2,800 official deputies of the Parks and Wildlife Department.

AIRPORT FUNDS -- Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr advised the Texas Aeronautics Commission's director, Frank W. Raymond Jr., that the Legislature could amend the State law to authorize the State to appropriate funds to incorporate cities for construction of airports and navigational facilities without violating the constitution.

Commission is expected to seek a legislative sponsor for this type of bill.

Health service is allowed $4,924 and plant maintenance costs $6,000. Pupil transportation is another major item, $19,230. This money is spent for salaries, replacement of vehicles, transportation insurance and other expenses of operation and maintenance.

Salaries, heat for building, other utilities and supplies for operation of the school plant total $22,496, and other fixed charges are $3600 for insurance and judgments.

Planned capital outlay for furniture and equipment is $3000 and debt service lists $24,000 for retirement of serial bonds and $14,822 for interest on serial bonds and $100 for other debt service to total $38,922.

Budget totals $301,131. A breakdown of estimated revenue shows $153,624 from local sources, $2522 from county sources and $105,263 from the state. Another $1,200 is derived from sale of property or net insurance recovery, and unencumbered fund balances (including cash in hand and any temporary investments) totals $11,015.

This totals an estimated revenue of $317,813.

Approves Building Permit, Submits Plans

In a short business session Friday evening the Texico town council approved a building permit in the amount of $1,500 for L. J. Spears to erect a garage on his property on Turner St.

The mayor reported that plans had been submitted to a Clovis contractor for approval, for building two show homes on the E. A. Rogers property in Texico.

Bob Lebow, chairman of the zoning committee reported no progress with the program and all bills for the month were approved for payment.

Next session will be held on August 21.

Formal Ceremony Unites Miss Gaines, James Linthicum

Miss Betty Lois Gaines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Gaines of Bronco and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Gaines of Bovina and James Harold Linthicum, son of Lovell Linthicum of Midland and Mrs. Lovell Linthicum of Dallas, exchanged nuptial vows recently in a candlelight ceremony at United Pentecostal Church in Texico.

Rev. E. L. Barnes, church pastor, read the double ring ceremony.

The couple exchanged vows before an archway of greenery entwined with daisies and flanked on either side by baskets of gladioli. The archway was banked with potted palms and centered with a white satin kneeling bench. A background of candelabras featured burning white tapers. The pews were also lighted with individual candelabras.

Mrs. B. L. Barnes of Texico played traditional wedding selections and accompanied Mrs. Don Sudderth of Bovina as she sang "I Love You Truly" and "Whither Thou Goest."

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a formal gown of brocade satin featuring a French cut pointed bodice with portrait neckline and bracelet length sleeves. The controlled bell shaped skirt fell from the fitted bodice into a bustle back, sweeping into a cathedral length train. She wore a veil of silk illusion which was attached to a pill box hat of brocade satin. She carried out tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue. The bride carried a cascade arrangement of white roses entwined with satin streamers tied with love knots and surrounded with Stephanotis atop a white Bible.

Frieda Gaines of Bovina attended her cousin as maid of honor.

Jacqueline Gaines of Bovina, cousin of the bride, served as bridesmaid. They wore identical formal gowns of blue satin designed with fitted bodice and elbow length sleeves. The bell skirt featured inverted pleats. They wore circlet veils attached to matching pillbox hats and carried long stem carnations.

Pam and Rhonda Sudderth of Bovina were flowergirls. They wore floor length gowns of blue satin. The fitted bodices featured short sleeves. They carried long stem white carnations.

Gary Barnes of Texico was ring bearer and Ricky Woody, cousin of the bride, from Clovis, was page.

Billie Sue Woody of Clovis and Vicki Smart of Farwell were candlelighters.

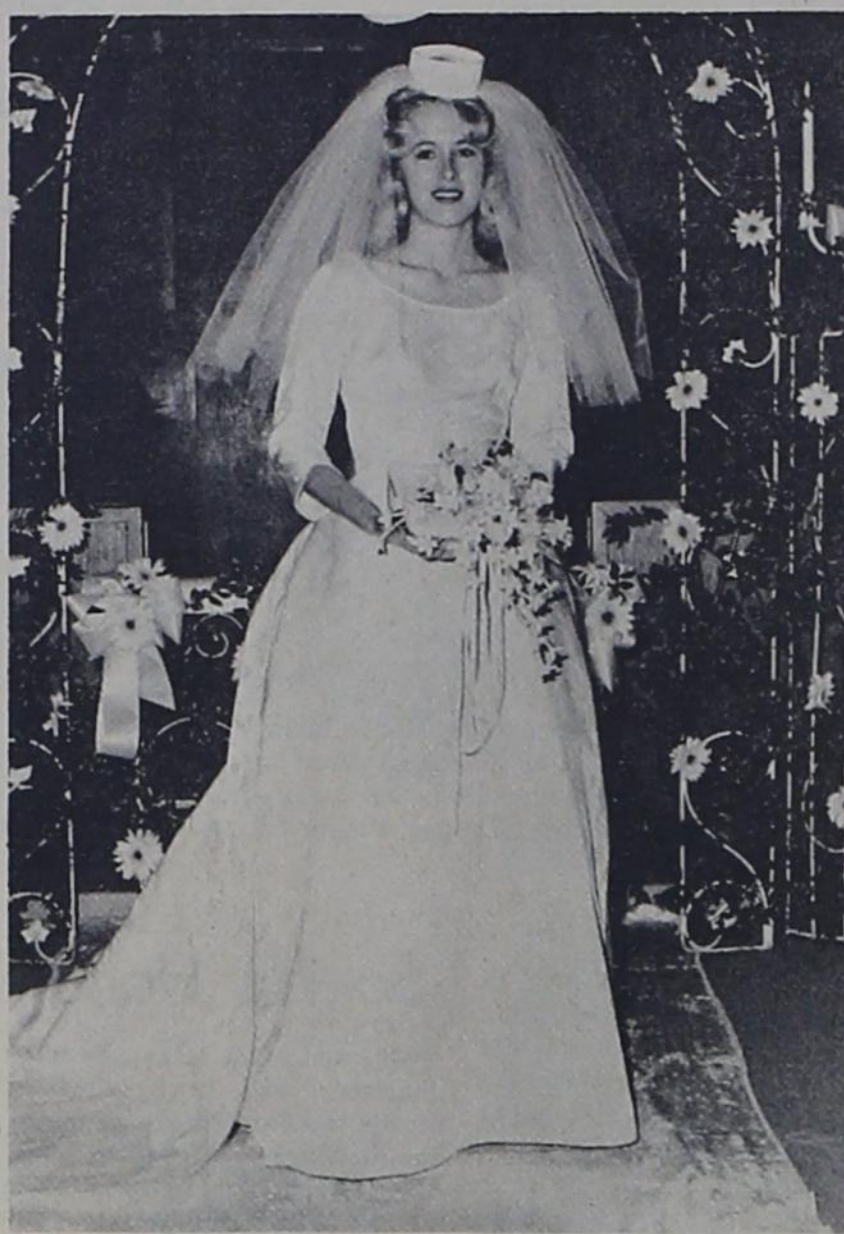

Ronald Gaines, brother of the bride, attended as best man and groomsman was John Long of Bovina.

Ushers were Truman Gaines of Dumas and O. W. Adams of Bovina.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gaines chose a pink suite with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother wore a pink sheath dress with white accessories and a corsage of carnations.

For her wedding trip to New Mexico the bride chose a moss green suit with beige accessories. She wore a corsage of white rosebuds from her bridal bouquet.

Immediately following the

ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Don Sudderth hosted a reception at their home honoring the couple.

The bride's table was laid with white lace over blue and centered with a blue and white floral arrangement. Mrs. Don Sudderth served the tiered wedding cake and Mrs. O. W. Adams presided at the punch bowl. Both the bride and groom are graduates of Rankin High School and presently attend Texas Tech where he is majoring in architecture and she is a student of psychology.

Following their wedding trip they will be at home in Lubbock.

BUFFET BRUNCH setting, elegant enough for the most festive at-home entertaining, offers a charming welcome to the spring season. The table-top arrangement of mixed spring flowers, swirling lengthwise gently from either side of the center bowl, echoes the graceful garland decoration of the melamine dinnerware. This classic design, in fine translucent white with gold trim, is perfectly at home with "Sunday best" linen and sterling silver.

SUNDAY BRUNCH: EASY & ELEGANT

For hostesses across the nation, "Sunday brunch" has come to be one of the most popular ways of entertaining at home. It's readily adaptable to large family gatherings, or the vacationing college crowd, or simply a small group of close friends. Planned buffet-style, it's also one of the most happily relaxed ways to enjoy one's guests. And it can be just as elegant as it is easy to plan.

Begin by arranging the table informally for self-service, and design the decorations as a colorful welcome to the new spring season. A lovely choice for any springtime Sunday is a floral centerpiece, planned to complement the pattern of your very nicest table accessories, as in the setting pictured here. The garland motif which is the border design of the fine melamine dinnerware inspired the charming arrangement of flowers and leaves placed lengthwise the table at each side of the low bowl of spring blossoms. Result is a pleasing harmony of color and line, and a festive setting for delicious food.

The menu for "brunch" can be as elaborate or as simple as you like.

- Ham and Asparagus Hors d'Oeuvres
- 1 10-oz. pkg. frozen asparagus spears
- 1 envelope onion salad dressing mix
- 1/2 cup salted water
- 1/2 cup salad oil
- 6 tablespoons vinegar
- About 12 oz. thin square boiled ham slices

Place asparagus spears and salted water in a saucepan. Cover and bring quickly to a boil over high heat, separating block of asparagus with fork to hasten thawing. Then reduce heat and cook gently 8 to 10 minutes, or until asparagus is just tender. Drain. Place in shallow dish.

Meanwhile, measure vinegar into a jar with tightly fitting cover. Add onion salad dressing mix and shake well. Add salad oil; shake again. Pour half the dressing over the asparagus. (Remaining half may be used at another time.) Cover asparagus. Marinate in refrigerator at least 3 hours.

Roll each asparagus spear in a slice of ham. (If oblong slices of ham are used, cut each in half and use a half slice for each asparagus spear.) Cut each roll into 3 bite-size pieces. Insert party pick in each serving. Makes about 4 dozen hors d'oeuvres.

ENMU Inaugurates Two New Programs

Two new academic programs will be inaugurated this year at Eastern New Mexico University.

One will be a four-year program with a major in medical technology leading to a bachelor of science degree. The other is a two-year program for medical secretaries with an associate of arts degree.

The two new programs were approved recently by the Eastern Board of Regents. Dr. Donald C. Moyer, university president, said Eastern is "proud to be able to offer these two programs." To earn the medical technology degree, the student will do three years of course work on campus and the fourth year will be an internship in one of four AMA approved hospitals.

Hospitals in which the students may intern are Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo, Bernalillo Indian Hospital in Albuquerque, Veterans Administration Hospital in Albuquerque, or St. Vincent's Hospital in Santa Fe.

The first three years of the program will include 96 credit hours of work. Dr. Moyer explained, installation of the program will require the addition of no new courses, he said. The curriculum will include courses in the General College, biology, chemistry, mathematics, physics, and other scientific course plus certain electives.

During the fourth year of study, the student will earn 32 credit hours making a total of 128 credit hours of work to obtain the degree. The internship will include medical, lab, and classroom work.

Objective of the two-year program is to train secretaries for work in medical situations, Dr. Moyer said.

A total of 64 credit hours will be required to earn the associate of arts degree. Also included in this program is an internship period of eight weeks during the second year. The internship will be in a hospital, doctor's office, or medical clinic.

Instruction in the curriculum will include secretarial training courses, business courses, and science courses.

Bamboos-The Woody Grasses

A. F. DeWorth
Professor of Floriculture
Texas A&M University

Most gardeners are not familiar with the many uses of bamboo. The bamboos vary in size from dwarf forms that grow only about 10 inches high to the giants which often reach 90 to 100 feet at maturity.

bamboo. The types of plants included in this group normally confine themselves to small areas, since the rhizomes or underground stems make little or no horizontal growth.

Even though this type of bamboo does expand its radius of growth, it does so very slowly. In general, the clump type species are not as cold hardy as most of the running types.

All of the bamboos have a tremendous range in size and habit of growth. One of the smallest is the Pygmy Bamboo, Sasa pygmaea. The culms, or upright stems on this species have a diameter similar to a toothpick or match stick but are spaced very closely together so that the plant makes an excellent ground cover.

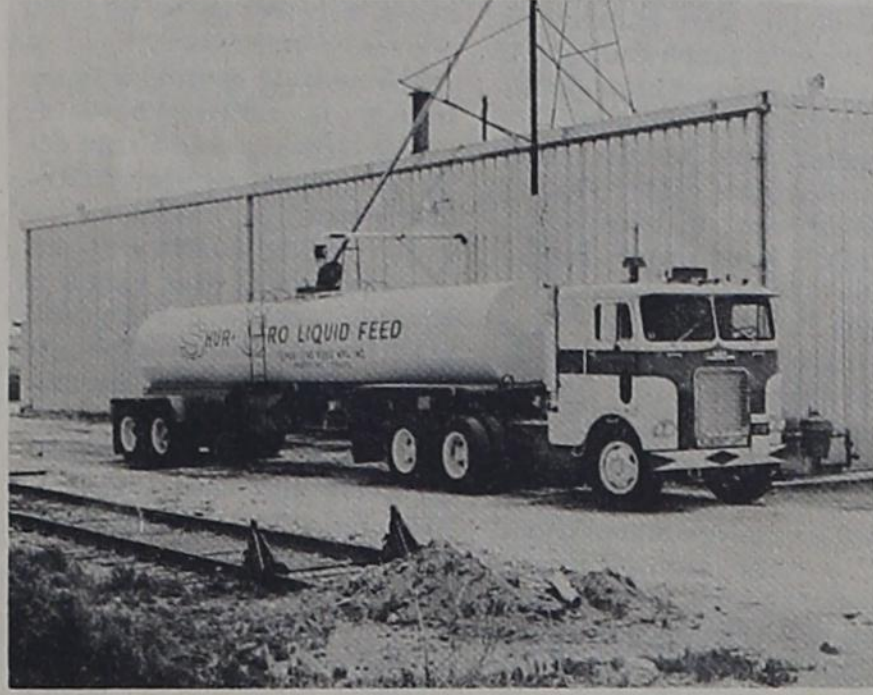

The other types range in size and growth habit from this dwarf plant that reaches only 10 inches in height at maturity to the Timber Bamboo that has stems 8 inches in diameter and will reach 80 to 90 feet when full grown.

Bamboos are usually slow to become established in the garden when newly propagated plants are planted, but once they do, all are easy to grow. Like any other garden subject, newly planted bamboo plants require a heavy watering at 7 to 10 day intervals.

They can be planted from rhizomes, or divisions in either early spring or late fall or they can be planted from containers at any time during the growing season. They can be pruned or thinned to perform almost any garden purpose.

Almost any type or kind of bamboo will shed a few leaves at a time throughout the entire year. They should be placed in a location in the garden where the constantly accumulating mulch provided by this leaf-shedding will add, rather than detract, from the atmosphere of the garden.

Consult your local nurseryman for a list of the types and kinds of bamboos available in your area. You will find many interesting and unique types of garden subjects in this large group of outstanding garden plants. Few plants require as little care after they become established.

MMMMMM GOOD - This 5000 gal. trailer-tank delivers the goodies to some twenty cattle feeding operations in the West Texas-Eastern New Mexico area. Operated by Shur-Gro Liquid Feed Co., Inc., of Hereford, General Manager Roland Barton says the truck delivers liquid feed which is basically 32 per cent protein, and is used as a supplement to range and feedlot feeding.

USDA's Texas Testing Lab Serves Cotton Industry

The U. S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with Texas A&M University has just released a brochure describing the operations and services of the USDA's Cotton Testing Laboratory here.

In operation since 1936, the laboratory is one of two fiber and spinning units conducted by the Standards and Testing Branch, Cotton Division, of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service.

L. J. Watson, head of the laboratory, said the organization serves all phases of the cotton industry -- from producer to processor.

"The brochure describes how special equipment and trained workers perform principal fiber and spinning tests to determine the quality and suitability of raw cotton as it makes its way from the field into finished yarns.

The brochure, which describes the laboratory and how to take advantage of its services, is available free from the Agricultural Information Office, Texas A&M University, College Station.

Carryover of cotton on August 1 was the highest since the alltime record was set in 1956. It increased during the 1963-64 crop year despite larger disappearance than year earlier due to the large 1963 crop. Favorable growing conditions and record-high yields contributed to the largest crop in a decade.

On The Farm In Parmer County

BY JOE VAN ZANDT
County Agent

BRUCELLOSIS PROGRAM

The testing of cattle in Parmer County for recertification as a modified certified Brucellosis free county has been making good progress this summer. Bob Bennett, Federal Livestock Inspector, has been handling the testing program.

All of the cattle in the reactor and suspect herds during the 1961 test are being tested by Bennett. The other requirement for recertification is that 20 per cent of the cattle in other herds be tested. All herds are not required to be tested, only a percentage. Therefore, everyone will not be contacted to test their cattle.

Cattle owners that want to have their herd tested for brucellosis should contact either Bob Bennett at the Golden Spread Motel in Friona or the County Agents office in Farwell. Bob is anxious to test all the cattle that the owners desire a test on.

Having your cattle tested is good insurance for maintaining a clean cow herd with a high per cent calf crop every year. You need to know whether you have a brucellosis reactor in your herd so you can get cleaned-up before it spreads. This is one way to help maintain a highly productive herd of cows at no expense to the owner, except for his time.

BEEF CATTLE RESEARCH

The proceedings and research reports given at the 14th Annual Beef Cattle Shortcourse has been published. This contains 161 pages of the latest information on Beef Cattle and contains 24 separate reports covering many phases of beef production. There is about 40 pages devoted to hybrid bermuda grass reports.

There is considerable expense to publishing this publication. Therefore, those of you who desire a free copy must send me your name and address so I can have our Agricultural Information office send you a copy.

SOIL TEST NOW
The application of sufficient fertilizer, in proper balance to correct soil deficiencies, is now accepted as one of the most profitable single practices.

Soils vary greatly in their ability to supply nitrogen and phosphorus. The soil test remains the best single guide for determining the amount and grade of fertilizer needed. Remember that 50 bu. of wheat grain alone contains about 50 lbs. of N and 25 lbs of P2O5. Forage removed by grazing can contain 20 per cent protein or about 3 per cent actual nitrogen on a dry weight basis.

Data from research conducted on the Pullman soils indicates time of nitrogen application is not a major factor where wheat is being grown for grain only. Yields were about the same when nitrogen was applied preplant, in split applications, or as a topdress in February.

However, where grazing is to be practiced it is important to apply all or part of the nitrogen as a preplant to stimulate early growth. The nitrogen can be conveniently applied anytime before listing. If solid or liquid forms are used, they should not be left on the surface for long periods.

If the soil test indicates a deficiency of phosphorus, the phosphate should be applied in such a manner that it will remain in moist soil--in reach of permanent roots. Like other field crops, much of the phosphorus is utilized while wheat plants are young. Because phosphorus moves very little from point of application it is important it be applied preplant. Top-dressing with phosphates after wheat is up cannot be expected to give the most profitable response.

Taking soil samples now will insure getting your report back in plenty of time for final planning and fertilizer application. Complete information on sample collection and mailing may be obtained through the county agent's office.

HEAD SMUT
Now is the time for grain sorghum growers to check their fields for head smut.

Particular attention should be given to resistance among different varieties. This information can be used in selecting a variety to plant next year.

There is a direct relationship between the per cent smutted or sterile heads and the per cent yield loss. A 10 per cent smut infection would lower resulting yields by 10 per cent.

A recent survey in Central and South Texas found an average head smut infection of 10 per cent on susceptible varieties.

To insure against infection of next year's crop by this costly disease, the best solution is to plant resistant varieties.

Eggs produced by older hens are more valuable for processing into liquid, dried, and frozen products. U. S. Department of Agriculture studies show. The eggs from young hens contain more thick white -- preferred for table use. Consumers, producers, and processors, the scientists say, could benefit from these findings. Processed products now absorb about 10 per cent of the nation's output of eggs.

Change Proposed In Beef Standards

A revision of U. S. quality standards for beef has been proposed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in line with recent recommendations of the National Advisory Committee on cattle and several state and national cattlemen's organizations.

De-emphasis of maturity as a grading factor in young beef is the major proposed change, says Frank A. Orts, Extension meats specialist at Texas A&M University.

This revision would result in some reduction of marbling requirements for prime, choice, good and standard grades and would reduce the number of maturity classifications in these grades from three to two, Orts points out. It would also eliminate the two marbling degrees in excess of that now classified as "abundant" indeterminate quality grade.

The other revision, he said, is that all carcasses must be ribbed to be graded; that is, the hindquarter and forequarter must be separated between the 12th and 13th rib so the ribeye is visible to the grader.

Although beef palatability tends to increase with age, increased marbling tends to enhance palatability. Thus, says Orts, grade standards require increasing amounts of marbling to compensate for increasing maturity.

Recent research has indicated that additional marbling required to offset increased maturity in cattle under 30 months of age has been over-emphasized, the specialist says. The new proposal would reduce by one degree the marbling required in choice grade beef carcasses from animals 28 to 30 months old.

The USDA state the revision will simplify application of grading standards and grading

LUBBOCK, Friday, August 14—John Reynolds, Executive Vice President of the Western Cotton Growers Association of California has recently completed a two week survey of textile mills and offices to determine what effect the cotton law passed in April of this year is having on the farmer's cotton markets. In a letter to Plains Cotton Growers, which included a number of quotes from textile executives, Reynolds said: "There's no doubt about it. Everybody's optimistic even though the law has been in operation only a few months," and added that "The threatened big acreage cut has been forestalled."

new cotton law, but we have already increased cotton use by 10 to 15 per cent since the bill was enacted," he said, and brightened the picture more by adding that: "Our new $10,000,000 plant is evidence of our renewed faith in cotton because it is set up to spin 100 per cent cotton fibers."

The overall optimism in the industry is confirmed by Plains Cotton Growers own textile engineer James Parker. "Generally speaking," he says, "the cotton textile industry is the most vigorous I have seen it in several years, and every mill man is enthusiastic about the future of cotton yarns and fabrics." Parker also states that some 25 or 30 cotton processing companies have announced plans for either expanding present facilities or building new plants. He adds that: "There is a definite interest in shifting some of this expansion to Southwestern parts of the United States, including concrete plans for another cotton textile plant to be located on the High Plains in addition to the one announced by the Hanes Company."

Reynolds quoted William Reid, President of Riegel Textile Corporation, as saying: "Before this legislation, cotton was in more serious trouble than most people realized because growers had not yet felt the full impact of what was going to happen to their markets unless the price of cotton came down. Now that has changed. In our company we will use from 9 to 13 per cent more cotton for the balance of this year than we did in the same period last year."

The head of Avondale Mills' New York office, Frank Mountcastle, told Reynolds that their mills would be running from 6 to 10 per cent more hours on cotton than they were before the law was passed. "The new cotton legislation stopped the planned expansion into synthetics which our company was considering," Mountcastle said, "and one other firm that I know of which was a heavy user of synthetics has shifted entirely to cotton."

A 6 to 10 per cent increase in the use of cotton by a mill may not sound like much to beat the drums about, but when multiplied may times over a lot of cotton is involved. Furthermore in many instances such increases are replacing planned reductions, which has the effect of doubling the benefits received. Consider what Ben Tipton, Vice President of Dan River Mills, had to say.

"We would have dropped about 10 per cent without the in short, what is happening to cotton under the lower prices of the new law is nothing short of wonderful, but should that price go back up after two years the cotton industry could well travel the same road to stagnation as the coal industry.

"We expect to buy much more cotton under the new law, but if it is not extended we will drastically cut cotton buying in favor of synthetics."

C. A. Gibson, President of B. I. Cotton Mills, said: "Previous to this law cotton was being priced out of the market and synthetics were taking over," and added "I can assure that the buyers of textile fibers, although they may prefer cotton, will continue to switch to man made fibers if the pricing ground rules for cotton are not stabilized."

Litterbugs Are Tax Liability

Litter thrown on streets and highways by pedestrians and motorists is more than paper, trash, cans and bottles. It is taxpayer's money, says Reagan Brown, sociologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Where does the taxpayer come in? He has to foot the bill for the clean up job, explains Brown.

In addition, when trash is allowed to collect along streets and highways, gutters and sewers may be clogged and during heavy rains flooding may occur. The damage resulting from the overflow often means further expense to the city, county and state governments and it can also be expensive to property owners, says Brown.

Texas is being judged every day in competition with other states for industrial location sites and the record can be improved, says the specialist. In some states, the state government is being asked to pass laws to prevent the marketing of any product in disposable containers or cartons and to increase the fines for "litterbugs."

Brown believes Texans can correct the situation without legislation. It will take teamwork, he says, and a real desire on the part of all citizens to make their state the cleanest and most beautiful in the nation.

A litterbag in every car, pickup and truck is suggested as a starting point. And finally, says Brown, it may take some crusading by neighborhood leaders and others to make the public more conscious of the fact that it is their money they are wasting when they scatter litter everywhere they go.

Sometimes leather garments stored in hot, crowded closets through the summer will give off their color to other garments stored next to them.

AMMO NOTES

By Bill Bennett, Agronomist

WHEAT FERTILIZATION
Rates of fertilizer use should be related to the price you can expect for your crop. Farmers are looking at this point now in regard to the price of wheat and the rate of fertilizer to use. So let's discuss the economics of wheat fertilization.

One major point is that it is false economy to try to cut costs by decreasing fertilizer rates. With prospects for relatively low wheat prices, it is necessary to produce optimum yields per acre. It takes fertilizer to do this.

You know what ammonia can do for wheat yields. You can usually count on at least 10 bushels extra wheat per acre with 80 pounds nitrogen. A 120 pound nitrogen rate will usually produce an additional 15 bushels per acre. Fifteen bushels of wheat at $1.40 will provide an extra $21.00 for a cost of $8.00 for the ammonia.

Phosphorus is also a good investment on wheat where it is needed. Returns may not be as great as with nitrogen. A 40 pound P2O5 rate will usually provide an extra 4 to 8 bushels per acre - a return of $6.00 to $11.00 per acre from a $4.00 per acre investment.

Phosphorus is usually the element which gets left off when a cost-price squeeze comes around. In this regard, let's look at one important point-nutrient balance. In a Swisher County test conducted by the personnel of the Bushland experiment station, 80# nitrogen per acre increased yield by 4.7 bushels. The application of phosphorus alone actually decreased yield by 1.6 bushels. An application of the two together - 80# N and 80# P2O5-gave an increase of 21.1 bushels per acre.

This 21.1 bushels of wheat at $1.40 represents a $29.54 return for an investment of $13.20 worth of fertilizer. This is a good example of nutrient balance and it illustrates the importance of using both nitrogen and phosphorus where needed.

Meal Planning Suggestions Made By Extension Specialist

Summertime poses a special problem for the homemaker. During the hot weather, her family wants light refreshing meals. Mrs. Gwen Glyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist, offers these suggestions for summer meal planning.

Milk is plentiful and listed as one of the week's best food buys. By adding fresh fruit purees or canned juices as well as ice cream to it, milk becomes a filling, nutritious and inexpensive snack or addition to any meal.

The dry weather is continuing to put plenty of fresh beef in meat counters. Among some of the more favorite beef buys are rib cuts, chuck, rounds and loins. Smoked hams and picnics are also showing good trends; as are fryers.

An excellent plum crop this year will make plums an inexpensive snack and dessert item for many tables. Prices of grapes are down and more blueberries are coming out of Michigan, so plenty of fresh fruits should be eaten during the hot weather.

Overlapping supplies of celery and lettuce are making these vegetables good buys while most others have only fair to good choices.

President Johnson has proclaimed the period from November 20-26 as National Farm City Week. "The consumer's stake in assuring the continuing vitality of our agricultural system becomes more apparent each day as the world's exploding population creates ever increasing demands on us for food and fiber," he said in his proclamation.

On July 1, 5,645,000 colonies of bees were busy with their honey making chores in the nation. According to the Crop Reporting Board, this is 2 per cent more than the number of colonies which produced the record 1963 honey crop.

Wash-Wear Shirts Researched At A&M

Research planned to determine the meaning homemakers and their husbands attach to the terms "easy care," "minimum care" and "wash and wear fabrics" is underway at Texas A&M University.

Conducted by the home economics research department, the study also is designed to help determine consumer expectations of performance and care of selected wash-wear men's shirts.

Mrs. Carol Bathke, project leader and instructor, whose specialty is textiles and clothing, explained that consumer satisfactions with the use of wash-wear shirts during 30 typical wash-wear periods of home launderings are being rated. Research panel members also are scoring the subject's responses to factors considered to contribute to satisfaction from the standpoint of comfort, ironing ease and wrinkle-resistance. Two factors -- fiber and cost -- are being considered in the pilot study, which will continue into early 1965. Two price ranges of national brand shirts are being used in the research. After all data are collected, a comparison will be made between homemaker responses and the ratings made by the panel.

Results should be of special members of the men's garment industry.

Health And Vitality

Vim and vigor! Health and vitality! That should be the result of the Special Milk Program of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Under this program during the past fiscal year, Texas school children consumed 108,008,000 half-pints of milk -- one of the most nearly perfect foods.

This milk, however, was in addition to about 123,266,000 half-pints served with Type A lunches, says John J. Slaughter, southwest area food distribution division director, USDA Agricultural Marketing Service, Dallas.

Special milk was provided at 3,613 public and private schools, child care centers, summer camps and other non-profit institutions, said Slaughter. It was served primarily at mid-morning and mid-afternoon breaks.

Milk for the program was purchased locally, explains Slaughter. The USDA furnished a cash reimbursement averaging about three-and-one-half cents per half-pint or approximately $3,835,000 for Texas during the year.

These reimbursements enabled children to purchase milk at reduced prices, Slaughter points out.

Milk is especially important to youngsters as a body-builder in food and is a source of calcium, protein and riboflavin.

FOOD COSTS

Have you known husbands or other members of the family who were always raising the roof about the grocery bill? It is a conviction of some that the grocery bill gets accused of more wrong doing than anything else.

SAD BUT TRUE -
This scene took place at a supermarket check-out counter.

Check-out girl: "The amount is $12.91."

Customer: "No wonder the farmers are getting rich."

These were the items in her basket:

- 6 bottles of soda pop
- 1 box corn flakes
- 3 pairs of nylons
- 2 long-playing records
- 4 lbs. ice cream salt
- 1 box corn flakes
- 1 long-handled mop
- 1 egg beater
- 1 quart of milk

The groceries (corn flakes and milk) come to 62 cents. The farmer's share of the sale was only 14 cents.

The revision of supermarkets to the old general store line-up of merchandise helps obscure the fact that food is really a bargain.

The homemaker who wishes to control her food cost will want to analyze her buying habits to see whether she is (1) buying to get the best dollar values; (2) buying at the best dollar values; (3) buying at the best time; (4) choosing sensible quality for each use and not using the highest grades for all purposes which may be very wasteful; (5) getting the quality she should for the dollar spent.

Buying habits of the homemaker, because she is the food-purchasing agent for the family, have a striking effect upon food costs.

It is important to record family living expenses correctly in order to analyze buying or spending habits.

Our Extension office is able to give help in record keeping to those homemakers who are interested in family spending. Call 481-3619 or come by the Extension office in the Courthouse in Farwell, that is located on the 2nd floor.

Ways To Reach Limited Income Families Studied

Hundreds of millions of dollars are spent in educating young people to earn money, yet very little is spent in teaching them how to use it for the benefit of themselves and their families.

These remarks made by Mrs. Esther Peterson, special assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs, set the stage for the first meeting of the new Panel on Consumer Education for Persons with Limited Income, according to Mrs. Florence W. Low of Texas A&M University. The panel met recently in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Low, Extension Service assistant director for home economics and immediate past president of the American Home Economics Association, represented Texas on the 33-member panel. Members reviewed present programs and resources, and considered subjects on which consumer information is most needed, Mrs.

Low said this week. "More effective ways for reaching limited income families also were explored," Mrs. Low said.

Mrs. Peterson, in her address, said that the panel's mission "is to find ways to teach and reach consumers who have little money to spend, and who need to make every dollar count."

"Among other things, we are going to search for answers to this incredible paradox--the poor pay more for almost everything, including credit, food and household goods,"
