Religious Survey Scheduled Sunday In Farwell

The Farwell Baptist, Texico-Farwell Methodist and the Farwell Church of Christ churches are joining forces for a religious census on Sunday, Feb. 14, under the auspices of the Texico-Farwell Ministerial Fellowship. Rural churches along with the Texico Baptist church have already completed a survey in those areas.

Residents of Farwell are asked to cooperate with the census takers by having the needed information ready when they call on Sunday. The survey will begin at approximately 2 p. m. says J. L. Bass pastor of the Farwell Baptist church.

All Farwell residents who do not plan to be at home on Sunday afternoon should clip the Church Community Survey ad from this issue of the paper and mail it with the desired information to one of the local pastors (J. L. Bass - Farwell Baptist; W. C. Strickland - Texico - Farwell Methodist; Paul Wilkinson-Farwell Church of Christ. Information gathered in the survey will be of much help to the local churches.

Father Dies

Word was received Sunday afternoon by Mrs. Leroy (Mattie Mae) Looper of Texico of the death of her father, C. D. Lanfer of Godley, Tex.

Rev. and Mrs. Looper left immediately for Godley to be with her mother.

Bond Issue Election March 1, For Texico School District

At its January 18 meeting the Texico Municipal School Board adopted a resolution calling for an election to vote on a $130,000 bond issue, for additional buildings at the school. Election has been set for March 1.

Included in the building program will be three and maybe five elementary classrooms, and two classrooms and a library for the high school, making it possible for the elementary grades housed in the old building, constructed in 1918, to be moved out of the building which has been condemned for sometime.

The old building is no longer satisfactory for the five classes which meet there, said Supt. A. D. McDonald, adding that the board took all of the numerous things needed at the school into consideration before making the decision.

A high school library is desperately needed, in order that it might be more useable for high school students; relocation of the library will make the old library available for elementary school students, who also need a library.

The bond issue would raise taxes only slightly with a tax rate worked out to keep taxes steady over a period of time (at least two years). Taxes would be about the same as 1963 - 64. They were slightly lower last year, says Supt. McDonald.

"It is the opinion of the school board that the school facilities be in as good condition as possible at this time," said Supt.

JOTTIN'S By Jeanne

I don't know whom the Prentice Mills were supporting with their cheers at the Farwell-Silverton ball games Tuesday night. The young man who was so outstanding for Silverton, Greg Towe, is their nephew. So I'm sure their loyalties were divided.

I had a sister playing on the Silverton girls squad, so I had to do a little cheering for both teams.

Mrs. Jim Hughes added some unusual recipes to my collection this week -- and even furnished the persimmons to try them. Some of you might be interested in persimmon pudding and fresh persimmon cake, too.

PERSIMMON PUDDING
1 cup sifted flour
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 tsp. baking powder,
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 cup seedless raisins
3/4 cup nuts
1 cup fresh persimmon pulp
1/3 cup milk (sweet)
1 tsp. vanilla
Sift together all dry ingredients, stir in raisins and nuts. Combine remaining ingredients and stir into flour mixture. Pour into greased and lightly floured 1 quart mold. Cover tightly and steam for one hour, or grease and flour top of double boiler and cook on top of stove. Keep water in bottom of boiler boiling. Cook for one hour or until inserted knife comes out clean.

FRESH PERSIMMON CAKE
1/2 cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 cups flour
1 1/2 tsp. soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 cup nut meats
Dash of salt

Club Studies How To Prune A Tree

Texico 4-H Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Wilson, in the Pleasant Hill Community last Wednesday for a demonstration on the proper methods to use in pruning trees.

Karl Kramer from the Soil Conservation office presented the demonstration. He stressed the fact that fruit trees need to be pruned at least every other year for the best results - and they also must have all excess limbs (those coming from the root) cut away each year as fruit from these limbs is of little value.

He also showed how to prune a tree for the greatest amount of beauty if it is not in use for a windbreak. "Trees for windbreaks should be bushy, but those used for beauty should be well proportioned," he said.

Following the demonstration on pruning trees two demonstrations with foods were presented. Veda Wilson showed how to prepare and serve congealed salad and Janet Wilson prepared tuna salad sandwiches. The salad and sandwiches were later served with potato chips and soft drinks.

Money Management Is Club Topic

Money Management was topic for discussion when 4-H club members met at Oklahoma Lane Community Center on Feb. 3. Mrs. Cricket Taylor, HD Agent presented the program and the 4-H pledge and motto were led by Alan Gober.

Plans were made for the Oklahoma Lane Club to stage a house to house canvas for the Parmer County March of Dimes Drive. Date for the drive was set for Feb. 17.

Refreshments were served by Nell Christian and Randy Gregory to: Kathryn Gober, Harold Jones, Janie Billingsley, Kevin Kaltwasser, Tina Rundell, Steve Kaltwasser, Sherree Rundell, Alan Gober, Cheryl Kaltwasser, County Agent Joe VanZandt, HD Agent Mrs. Cricket Taylor, leader, Mrs. Melborn Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Buck Gregory.

Participates In Polar Strike

Army PFC Marvin D. Knowlton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Knowlton of Muleshoe is participating in Exercise POLAR STRIKE, a 14 day winter field training exercise in Alaska that is scheduled to end Feb. 17.

More than 12,000 U.S. and Canadian military personnel are taking part in the maneuvers.

POLAR STRIKE, under the direction of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is being held to study military operations under arctic conditions and to evaluate plans for reinforcement of the Alaskan Command.

Knowlton, a machine gunner in Company B, 1st Battalion of the 172nd Infantry Brigade's 60th Infantry at Fort Richardson, Alaska, entered the Army in January 1964 and completed basic training at Fort Polk, La.

He is a graduate of Muleshoe High School.

Irrigation - Water Conservation Workshop In Hub Feb. 17

James Murphrey, Extension Area Farm Management Specialist with Amarillo headquarters will be a speaker at the Irrigation Workshop. He has his master's degree from Texas A&M and has worked with the Soil Conservation Service, taught Vocational Agriculture and served as an Assistant County Agent. His work covers this area in giving leadership to farm management work.

Making better use of our water is the theme for a workshop Wednesday, February 17, at 1:30 p.m. in the Hub Community Center.

This County-wide program is sponsored by the Parmer County Soil Conservation District and The Program Building Committee in an effort to present the latest irrigation and water conservation, stresses Joe VanZandt, Parmer County Agent.

Tom McFarland, manager of High Plains Underground Water District, will cover pending water legislation, water table decline and results of water conservation studies by the District.

Discussion on methods, rates and timing of water applications will be given by Dan Huckabee, Area Engineer with the Soil Conservation Service.

James Murphrey, Extension Farm Management Specialist, will discuss economical management of water for highest net return per acre-inch of water.

The workshop has been planned with a question and answer session after each speaker. Jimmy Smith, local Soil Conservation Service Work Unit Conservationist, says this will be a timely program of concern to everyone.

Many farmers this past year learned the hard way how important it is to make the best possible use of every gallon of irrigation water. VanZandt says, "I believe these outstanding speakers will leave us plenty of food for thought on ways to improve our irrigation efficiency."

If you are interested in being brought up-to-date on irrigation and water conservation be at Hub, Wednesday, February 17 from 1:30 to 4:10 p.m.

Manager of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District is Tom McFarland, another speaker on the Irrigation Workshop program. He was a marine in World War II and has farmed around Littlefield and Hereford. He has served as manager of the Water District since 1952.

On The Farm In Parmer County

By JOE VAN ZANDT
County Agent

Parmer County has a wonderful group of dedicated volunteer 4-H Club adult leaders who contribute their time, effort and money to promote and assist the 4-H Club program. And they serve without pay.

To assist them in reducing their 1964 income taxes, we have information which lists a number of items they may claim as charitable deductions provided the leaders itemize their deductions.

Among the items are out-of-pocket transportation expenses, including the cost for use of cars or trucks to and from 4-H sponsored events, necessarily incurred in rendering donated service to 4-H.

Actual unreimbursed expenses incurred by 4-H adult leaders in attending contests, training meetings and other 4-H sponsored events. This includes meals, lodging and transportation expenses while away from home.

Also expenses for cash contributions and contributions in kind, such as food, equipment, paints and other supplies. The amount to deduct is the fair market value at the time the gift was made. No deduction is allowable for the time contributed.

Leaders who claim deductions by itemizing their accounts should keep accurate records throughout the year.

While we are talking about 4-H, our Lazbuddie swine exhibitors did alright for themselves at Amarillo and Fort Worth. Theresa Seaton had the Champion Hampshire at Amarillo which won his class at Fort Worth. Loy Dale Clark had the Champion Chester White at Amarillo and Fort Worth.

We are real proud of several 4-H project groups that have gotten started recently in some of our clubs. These include at Oklahoma Lane an etomology group under John Christian and a beef group with Gilbert Kaltwasser as leader and in Bovina an electric group led by Otho Hammonds.

Tractor groups are in the process of getting started in Farwell by J.R. Sewell and Joel White and in Friona Bill Dufer. Also an electric group in Friona with Hank Outland as the leader is ready to get started.

In addition Horse and field crop project groups in all Clubs are about ready to start their programs. If you have questions about any 4-H program write the Parmer County Agent, Box 285, Farwell.

IRRIGATION - WATER CONSERVATION WORKSHOP
Want to get the latest information on irrigation? It will take about 2 1/2 hours of your time to hear the program on irrigation and water conservation at the Hub Community Center, Wednesday, February 17 starting at 1:30 p.m.

The speakers include Tom McFarland, High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, Dan Huckabee, Soil Conservation Service Engineer; and James Murphrey, Extension Management Specialist.

HERBICIDE QUESTIONS
If you missed the Chemical Weed Control meeting Monday afternoon and have questions, feel free to call on the County Agent. We don't know all the answers, but will do the best we can and will find out the answers to those we don't know.

MILK HOMOGENIZATION
More than 75 percent of milk going to consumers is homogenized. Gone is the creamline which for many years was the measure for richness of milk. But, homogenization hasn't taken anything away from the value of milk as a food.

The process is a simple one. Milk, at 145 degrees Fahrenheit, is forced under high pressure through a restricted opening against a flat surface. The impact of the fat globules to break up into smaller ones.

Homogenized milk tastes richer. This is because the surface area of the fat has been increased five times over that of the original fat globules surface. The milk has a richer color because it is more densely white due to the increase in the number and area of suspended fat particles capable of reflecting and scattering light.

Homogenized milk fat is more easily digested to the digestive process. Most homogenized milk contains between three and one-quarter and three and one-half percent fat. This is a very small percentage of fat when compared with many foods.

The homogenization process does nothing to the nutritive value of milk, except make it easier to digest. Milk continues to be nature's most nearly perfect food and you never outgrow a need for it.

Parmer Soil Conservation District Faces A Budget Crisis

The National Association of Soil & Water Conservation Districts reports that Federal assistance to Soil Conservation Districts face a severe slash in the administrations forthcoming budget proposed for the 1966 fiscal year. It would be a grievous error of judgment, the N.A.C.D. believes, if the resource development program of local Soil Conservation Districts on the privately-owned lands of America were greatly reduced or discontinued.

The huge job of achieving wise land-use, flood prevention, erosion control, recreational improvements, and other phases of resource development -- all within the framework of private property and without government regulation -- is a specialized and continuing job of basic national importance. Inasmuch as the condition, the management, and the development of these resources affect the well-being of all the people -- not farmers alone -- this work requires strong public support.

It is almost unbelievable that the administration would move to slow down and cut back the voluntary service of 15,000 unpaid District Supervisors in nearly 3,000 Districts with two million cooperating landowners in the steady work to protect 73% of the land of America for the greater usefulness of all Americans.

The Budget Bureau Director, Kermit Gordon, proposes legislation aimed at charging local Soil Conservation Districts and District Cooperators a fee for technical assistance. Not only would it multiply the financial burden on those farmers least able to afford it, such a proposal would devastate the conservation and resource development program on the privately-owned lands of America and completely misjudge the national benefits derived from it. Budget cuts in Federal participation in conservation and resource work will not extend to programs involving the public domain, National Parks, National Forests, and other publicly-owned lands.

The Bureau of the Budget has proposed that Congress enact legislation to authorize a REVOLVING FUND through which Soil Conservation Districts, farmers, ranchers and other cooperators would pay the Federal Government a part of the cost of technical assistance from the Soil Conservation Service used in establishing soil and water conservation practices on the land.

The Parmer County Soil Conservation District's annual share of the cost for technical assistance in establishing soil and water conservation practices on the land based on the cost for the 1964 F.Y. would be approximately $5,000.

These are reasons why the Parmer County Soil Conservation District will ask Congress to kill the REVOLVING FUND:
1. It would slow down the soil and water conservation effort on the privately owned lands in America. It would result in an estimated decrease of 40 to 50 per cent in the application of conservation practices on the land and reduce the quality of practices applied.

2. It would treat the American landowners unfairly. It would charge the American landowner for technical assistance which the Federal Government provides free in large doses to foreign nations.

3. It would penalize the small farmer who couldn't afford to pay. The family farms are the very backbone of rural America. They operate most of the land and are the first custodians of the water.

4. It would weaken local leadership and self-government in resource conservation and development. Soil and Water Conservation District supervisors would become collection agents for the Federal Government.

5. It would break faith with State and local governments. State legislatures and county governments over a quarter of a century have been gradually building up their financial contribution to the

The proposed legislation would require that cooperating soil conservation districts or landowners and operators pay to the Service up to 50% of the cost of technical assistance furnished to help install planned practices on their lands. total soil and water conservation effort with the understanding that the local-state-federal team effort would be maintained as a team effort for the good of the national welfare.

6. It would increase costs. A collection system outside of the accepted tax structure in America would have to be devised. Farmers would need more financial assistance to pay for technical assistance.

7. It would reverse a policy of 30 years standing. Congress established the policy 30 years ago that technical assistance is available from the Soil Conservation Service without charge to the private landowners and operators receiving the help.

8. Farmers would assume the city people's responsibility for soil and water conservation. Soil and water conservation contribute directly to the welfare of all the people because soil and water is the base for our daily diet of food, drink and wholesome living.

9. It would slow up the effort to reduce water pollution. The conservation needs inventory shows that erosion is still the dominant problem on two-thirds of the nation's land area. Soil eroded from watershed areas pollutes rivers and streams with sediment and clogs harbors and bag areas.

10. It would act as a drag on the development of recreational areas on private lands. The Soil Conservation Service type of technical assistance for recreational development on rural land is not available anywhere else, even for hire.

11. It would slow up needed adjustments in good land use. In 1964 technical assistance guided more than one million Soil Conservation District cooperators in converting 2,500,000 acres from crop use to less intensive uses such as grass and trees.

12. It would hit hardest in economically depressed areas. Much of what can be done to alleviate poverty in rural areas is bound up in the use of soil and water resources. Soil and water conservation is basic to economic development in rural areas and family farm stability.

13. It would reduce the beauty of the countryside in rural America. Rich green valleys, calm clear waters, fertile soils and contoured fields, dense forests and lush pastures, and developed and protected watersheds are what make up the beauty of the countryside. An eroded gully detracts from the beauty of America as much as an auto graveyard.

Americans are expected to set a new national record as beefeaters in 1965, say economists with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. In 1964, they ate a record 100 pounds of beef -- an increase of 6 per cent over the previous year. And more's in store in 1965. They're also expected to eat more veal and turkey.

The Texas Safety Association reminds hunters to never climb or jump with a loaded gun. Never pull a gun toward you muzzle first. When going through fences, push your gun on ahead, or hand it to a companion with the breech open. And, don't set your gun against a tree or fence. It could fall and discharge.

AMMO NOTES

Nitrogen losses
The possibility of nitrogen losses from topdressed nitrogen has been of concern to agronomists and soil chemists for many years. It has been known for several years that nitrogen losses occur from topdressed applications of area and urea - containing nitrogen solutions. Only recently have losses of nitrogen been measured from other sources under certain conditions.

Losses from urea are usually greater when topdressed on sod crops such as Bermuda grass than when topdressed on bare ground. The mechanism of loss of nitrogen from urea is the decomposition of the urea molecule into ammonia and carbon dioxide in the presence of moisture. If enough moisture is present, the ammonia will move on into the soil. If moisture is limited, losses will be more apt to occur.

Losses from other topdressed nitrogen sources is due to another type of reaction and is restricted to certain types of soil - the ones that contain excess free calcium carbonate. The ammonium form of nitrogen reacts with calcium carbonate. This is an unstable compound which will break down and release ammonia as a gas.

The rate of this reaction, and hence the extent of loss, will be determined by temperature, moisture and the amount of free carbonates present. Low temperatures will usually slow down the reaction, hence, nitrogen losses would be less in cool weather.

The extent of loss will vary. Loss has been measured ranging from none to 15% to 20% on highly calcareous soil. The reaction usually will not proceed until after the nitrogen has been applied for about 2 days. Losses are usually only about one half as great from ammonium nitrate than from other sources since half the nitrogen is in the nitrate form which will not react in the same manner.

The practical application of this is that calcareous "caliche" soils which have received a nitrogen topdressing should be irrigated within 24 to 48 hours, if possible, after the nitrogen has been applied.

This fact of loss of topdressed nitrogen should not keep an individual from topdressing where needed. Responses are good in spite of any losses. A knowledge of this occurring under these conditions may result in more efficient use of applied nitrogen. It also provides one reason as to why wheat on "caliche" soils will yield less than our good brown soils.

Consumers Can Sharpen Their Shopping Skills

Even though 1965 is well underway, there's still time for consumers to evaluate shopping habits and then improve, says Mrs. Gwen Clayatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

Keep alert to what local markets are featuring. Plan weekly menus to include as many "specials" as possible. Remember the regular prices so that specials can be readily recognized.

If storage room is available, buy featured foods in quantity if your family can use them. In planning menus and shopping for food, keep the family's nutritional needs in mind. Plan ahead for what you need and want. Keep the menu plan flexible so you can include special sales at the grocery store.

Plan a shopping list and remember to take it with you. A shopping list helps to cut down on impulse buying. Consider cost and time when selecting convenience foods. Many foods with convenience built-in cost the same or little more than foods without the convenience.

"If time is important, built-in maid service may be worth the additional cost," says Mrs. Clayatt.

4-H Club members and leaders are making preparation for the Parmer County Favorite Food Show to be held March 6, at 1:00 p.m. in the Hub Community Center. All members enrolled in Food Projects and who have worked under an adult leader are eligible to participate. Members should have attended at least 50 per cent of the group lessons to be prepared for the food show.

According to reports of the 4-H Adult Leaders in Food projects there will be about 75 members eligible to participate.

This is an achievement event, and it gives 4-H members an opportunity to show their friends and parents what they have learned in 4-H project work. It is hoped that all will participate.

LEADER TRAINING - Par-

men who are interested in taking training in Bedroom Improvement 4-H project guides will meet in Hub Community Center Friday, February 12 at 1:30 p.m. We are in need of leaders for Farwell and Friona as there are 4-H members who would like to take this project but thus far a leader has not been secured. This is a worthwhile project for girls and it is hoped those that want to take this work may do so. Mrs. H. R. Denney of Bovina and Mrs. Webb Gober of Oklahoma Lane will assist in this training meeting.

COTTON SIGN-UPS BEGINS

Cotton producers who wish to participate in the domestic allotment program for 1965 are given from February 8 through March 26 to make their intentions known to County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Services offices.

Lorene Mangum, Acting Office Manager of the Lubbock County ASCS, says: "This sign-up is a new development for cotton farmers, and for that reason a special effort is being made to get the word around."

Those who elect to plant within their domestic allotments may grow other cash crops on the remaining part of the effective allotment, but if the effective allotment is over 15 acres they cannot plant feed grains in excess of their feed grain base and still qualify for supplemental payments.

WESTERN COTTON PRODUCTION CONFERENCE

The economic outlook for U.S. cotton and a wide range of production practices affecting yield and quality will be under discussion when the western Cotton Production Conference gathers in Lubbock on March 2 and 3.

The affair is jointly sponsored by Southwest Five State Cotton Growers, Inc. and the National Cotton Council, with Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. of Lubbock serving as the local host.

of water softener with several tablespoons of mild abrasive household cleanser (such as Bon Ami). Add about 1 cup of hot water. Mix this solution and with a stiff nylon brush, scrub the tile well. Nylon bristles do not soften when wet. For a more thorough treatment, scrub tile walls with moistened fine (3/0) steelwool or fine steelwool soap pad. When the tile is clean, rinse and dry. Then apply a coat of cream wax for easier maintenance.

for which 1965 allotments are not released to the County ASC Committee, domestic allotment is the smaller of 15 acres or the 1965 effective allotment. Farms on which the domestic and effective allotment are the same are not required to sign up for participation in the domestic allotment program, but all others must sign up prior to March 26 in order to participate.

WESTERN COTTON PRODUCTION CONFERENCE

The economic outlook for U.S. cotton and a wide range of production practices affecting yield and quality will be under discussion when the western Cotton Production Conference gathers in Lubbock on March 2 and 3. The two-day conference, keyed specifically to the interests of cotton growers in the western section of the Cotton Belt, is to be held at the KoKo Palace, Lubbock, and will open at 9:15 a.m., March 2.

The affair is jointly sponsored by Southwest Five State Cotton Growers, Inc. and the National Cotton Council, with Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. of Lubbock serving as the local host. Roy Forkner, PGC President, is general chairman of the event and has emphasized that all interested persons are invited to attend. There are no registration fees.

Following an opening statement and welcome by Forkner, first speaker will be Dr. M.K. Horne, Chief Economist for the NCC. He will discuss current domestic and export cotton programs and analyze cotton's competitive situation in the world of fibers. Also addressing the group at the first morning session will be James S. Parker, Textile Industry Relations Director, Plains Cotton Growers, who will speak on "Mill Quality Needs in the Years Ahead."

Dr. G.A. Niles, associate professor at Texas A & M University, will give an address on cotton quality with particular emphasis on cotton from the Texas High Plains. He also

Farm Bureau Drive Slated

The week of February 8 - 13 has been designated "Farm Bureau Membership Week" in Parmer County. The local county farm organization will deal with staple length and its relationship to varieties, and with the quality of leading High Plains varieties in terms of fiber properties and spinning performance.

There are a total of 16 other speakers scheduled to appear. Each is a recognized authority in his field and they will cover such subjects as farm management, insect and weed control, cotton diseases, irrigation, climatic factors, harvesting, plant breeding and farm mechanization. The speaker on each subject will orient his remarks toward improved yield and quality as well as cost reduction.

In addition to formal addresses, discussion periods are scheduled frequently during sessions to give those in attendance an opportunity for questions. Following adjournment, set for 2:30 p. m., March 3, a tour of the Textile Research Laboratory at Texas Tech has been arranged.

The Western Cotton Production Conference is an annual event and future plans call for alternation of the conferences between western states.

PCG SUPPORTS COTTON TRAILER LOAD INCREASES

Representative Ralph Wayne of Plainview has introduced a bill to the Texas Legislature which would increase the gross weight limit on cotton trailers from 10,000 to 15,000 pounds without an increase in the current $5.00 registration fee.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., along with other farmers and ginners organizations across the state, is supporting the measure, contained in House Bill Number 11. In PCG's testimony, figures were cited to demonstrate the need for maximum storage of seed cotton in these trailers on area gin yards. The statement pointed out that available strippers on the High Plains can gather the crop approximately four times as fast as area gins can gin it, creating a delay between harvesting and ginning and slowing down the rate of harvest.

TEXTILE MILL TOUR READY TO GO

Enough people have registered for the Plains Cotton Growers Textile Mill Tour February 16, 17 and 18 to assure the success of the trip, but there is still room for interested parties who wish to make the tour according to James Parker, PGC Textile Industry Relations Representative.

The tour, which will take participants through installations in the Spartanburg, South Carolina area, leaves the airport in Lubbock at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, February 16 and will return to Lubbock on February 18. Participants are requested to be at the Lubbock Airport no later than 8:00 a.m. February 16.

Those who have not registered for the tour but would like to go should contact Plains Cotton Growers in Lubbock for full details.

have a special enrollment drive underway as part of a statewide effort to push Farm Bureau membership in Texas to 100,000 by Oct. 31.

An official proclamation signed by County Judge Loyde A. Brewer called for citizens "to give due recognition to this observance honoring the Parmer County Farm Bureau."

Earlier Gov. John Connally proclaimed the same period as "Farm Bureau Membership Week in Texas." The statewide drive is to be launched with big area rallies Feb. 2

Hinn Soybean Results Good

Research results throughout the High Plains of Texas in soybeans have been most gratifying for the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, "Farm Centered Research" plots, which are actual tests on farmers' land over the country, have been most successful according to Jack Werner, associate agronomist of the Foundation staff, Werner, who is in charge of Farm Centered Research tests reports that information gained in the soybean variety tests has been most helpful in finding the proper soybean for each specific area of the Plains.

The Foundation staff planted and supervised some eight test plots scattered from Farnsworth in the northern Panhandle to Ralls on the South Plains. On each of these test plots, ten different varieties of soybeans were tested.

Hinn, the new soybean developed for the Plains by the Foundation, was tested against the standard beans grown in the area as well as several new experimental soybeans being developed by the Foundation. In all of the tests, Hinn outyielded the standard varieties by from 5 to 10 bushels.

One of the new beans being developed at Halfway and included in the "Farm Centered Research" plots is an early maturing short season bean that has a low water requirement. This new soybean will be best adapted to the north Plains region which has a shorter growing season. In the south Plains, this bean will be a good crop to plant in case of "fall out" when it is too late to come back with either cotton or grain sorghum. In one test north of the Canadian River, this short season bean produced 45 bushels per acre when planted double-row. On the Clayton Terrell farm east of Plainview, another yield of 38 bushels per acre was harvested.

Werner stated that, "Texas is now the number one leader in the nation in bushels harvested per acre of soybeans. With the new varieties being developed, Texas can become the top-ranking state in number of acres in a few years. Soybeans that yield as high as the Hinn give the farmer a good net per acre return, and this is what the farmer wants."

One young farmer from Spearman, Don Robinson, grew 136 acres of the Hinn soybean under adverse conditions, yet harvested around 32 bushels of beans per acre. This field was ready for harvesting on November 5, but due to the weather, harvest was delayed until December 27. During this time, the soybeans received two heavy rains, a 6-inch snow, a sleet coating, and strong winds.

The Hinn withstood the weather by standing up till harvesting and had very little shattering. Robinson said that less than 2 bushels per acre fell out of the pod.

Early Wind Storm Brings Serious Problems

A long, dusty spring has begun for people living in the sprawling plains of Texas and states to the east and northeast. A major wind storm, coming out of the north and west on January 27, a month ahead of the normal blow season, blew topsoil from a quarter of a million acres. The howling storm swept dust high into the air. It darkened the sun as it spread across Texas, Oklahoma, and Louisiana. A day later it hovered over Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Texas dust cut visibility to 1 1/2 miles at Evanston, Illinois.

Winds had blown on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday to dry out and "soften up" the land before the big punch came on Monday. No one in the area escaped without damage.

Two people were killed in an automobile accident near Lovell at the height of the storm when visibility was near zero. Blinding dust multiplied the frequency of road accidents throughout the area.

Traffic stopped. Airports were closed. Many unpaved roads were choked with sand or weed drifts, or were gutted with "potholes" dug by the wind, and became impassable.

Wind-blown sand and pebbles blasted the paint and chrome on automobiles and scarred and pitted windshields. Insurance claims mounted in the wake of the blow. Many cars couldn't be started until dust and sand were washed from engine parts.

House paint and windows were damaged. Roofs were lifted from many buildings. Neon signs were destroyed and others were damaged.

People took shelter to wait out the blow. Streets were abandoned. There were no customers in stores. A day's business was lost. Store keepers watched helplessly as plate glass windows were blown in and fine sand sifted into merchandise on the counters.

Lights came on in homes and on the streets, but sand blew into switch boxes, caused short circuits and interrupted service. During this period a Big Springs hospital had to put its emergency power unit into operation.

Patients with dust-aggravated bronchial infections took all available beds in many hospitals, and overflowed into the halls and even the maternity rooms. Many had to be turned away. The county health board at Big Springs reported that the dust aggravated sinus conditions, colds, allergies and other health problems for many people who made no report.

Wind-blown soil poured into many ponds and reservoirs, reducing their capacity. Filtration costs for municipal water supplies will be higher as long as the sediment remains in suspension.

The cost of cleaning out all buildings, public and private, is high. Housewives say you just can't keep the gritty dust out.

Damage to the land was moderate to severe, with the greatest damage done on cultivated fields not protected by stubble, crop residues, or cover crops.

"In spite of the fact that range grasses produced less than one-fourth their normal growth last year because of dry weather, there was little blowing on grass land," said State Conservationist H. N. Smith of the Soil Conservation Service in Texas. "Good range management made the difference."

The greatest damage occurred in a triangular area with corners roughly at Odessa, Abilene, and Tulsa. Snow on the ground in the Texas panhandle reduced blowing in that area.

The Avalanche - Journal at Lubbock editorially called for wider acceptance of conservation practices to control "blowing topsoil, that stuff that city people insist on calling dust." The editor concluded that "Every dust storm should serve as a reminder that wind erosion can be held down."

"A storm as severe as this, so early in the season is a warning of damages that may yet be expected," Smith said. "The winds, which ranged far from the limited area of the most severe damage, has tended to dry out the soil and 'soften' it for wind storms sure to come this spring."

"The choking dust recalls vividly the big blows of the 1930's," Smith continued. "It was on such a day in 1935, when dust from the Plains darkened the sky in Washington, that Congress created the Soil Conservation Service without a dissenting vote. Since that time, changes in land use, grass planting and conservation practices promoted by the Soil Conservation Service have tied down millions of acres that won't blow this year."

But because of the conservation work done by farmers and ranchers throughout the Great Plains Smith thinks it unlikely that there will be storms this year of the magnitude of those that came during the great depression of the 1930's.
