events, let me explain a little. Judge Brewer. About 1950 I rather incautiously made the remark, during a rather mild political dis- Receives Final cussion, that I would quit smoking if they dared levy another Payment tax on my weeds. Well sure enough, the imagination of the Texas legislators became as ossified as their collective farmer, was the first Parmer minds and they yielded to the county farmer to receive final temptation to strike yet another payment under the present Feed blow for clean living and motherhood and raised the tax gram through the local ASC ofon cigarettes.

A rather obnoxious participant to the aforesaid discussion ments to land owners, landhad the gall to remind me of lords and sharecroppers under my rather innocent declama- the program. I carefully refrained from smoking from that day to about the Holiday Season of 1964 when I was ex- 280 acres of wheat and the balposed to the seductive aroma and taste of the new little cigars to grain sorghum and in lay with the plastic tips. Yes, I was a gentleman and offered several ladies one, but strangely I had no takers. I had better discuss that with the wrong on that one.

. . . . Well I was hooked on cigars then and proceeded to stink up my vicinity with cigar smoke until the 17th day of September last, my natal day, always a good day for resolutions. I again swore off the habit. My fun loving friends, if I can so term them, have on several occasions been so bold as to offer me a stogie. I am sure their intentions are as pure as a politician's when he raises social security, taxes as well as benefits. Not being one to let them get by that easy, I accept with great aplomb and fire it up.

When the cry is raised that I am going back on my advertised word, I say that my good intentions only go as far as to quit buying the heavyily taxed tobacco, not forsaking that which comes to me free. Either our society is more affluent than I have estimated or my friends are quite generous, as I have had to puff a free stogie every several days.

So to finally quit, I may again have to say NO and stick with it. But to be fair, I find quitting smoking no great challenge, I think I will do it every now and again. I understand Clay Henson does.

Larry Gregory Leads In Cotton Bowl Contest

For the second time this season Larry Gregory, Farwell Steer squadman, is in the lead in the Tribune's Cotton Bowl contest. Gregory called eight games right this week for a total of 44 in the overall contest, placing him one game ahead of his nearest contender Theo Actkinson, W. M. Roberts and Georgia Rundell, who each have called 43 games right.

Coming in for a close third place standing are Jerry Mathis, Edwina Owen and Jerry Dee Owen, who have each called 42 games right. Each of the persons in third place called nine games correctly this week.

Persons with 42 games right are Lewey Bradshaw, Buck Gregory and Archie Thompson. Those with 40 games correct are Henry Haseloff, Pat Owen, Champ Porter, Teresa Quickel, Junior Robertson, Vernon Scott and Jim Ussery.

Winner of first place weekly prize money was Mrs. Glen (Liz) Phillips, who along with eight other persons called nine games correctly. ## MEET MR. WUNSTOP DUZZIT

A woman visited a psychiatrist and pleaded, "You've got to help my husband. He thinks he's an elevator!"

You send him in to see me," replied the psychiatrist, "and I'll try to straighten him out."

"Oh, I can't do that," moaned the wife. "He's an express and doesn't stop at your floor."
