Texico School Accepts Bid Of Clovis Construction Co.

Erhard and Co., a Clovis construction firm, was successful bidder for the building project at the Texico school when bids were opened on Monday night at a special board session. Work on the project will begin within the next few days, according to Supt. A. D. McDonald.

The Clovis firm, who constructed the present high school building in Texico some two years ago submitted the low bid on the building project. The bid as accepted is in the approximately amount of $122,270.00.

Two additional classrooms and a library will be added at the high school building and five additional classrooms and two restrooms will be erected at the elementary building. The addition at the high school will be at the west side of the present building. The additional rooms at the elementary site will be west of the present building, the breezeway.

Other firms submitting bids on the building project include John C. Cornell, Inc., W. R. Bauske, Griggs and Williams all from Clovis and Gray Construction Co., R. O. Beatty, Inc., and Billard and Sons.

The bid of Witt Builders Supply Co. of Amarillo was accepted for laying a floor in the gymnasium, with construction to begin immediately. Bid on the floor project is in the amount of $4,950. The floor contract calls for the new floor to be laid over the present floor. A felt base will be laid next to the present floor and covered with a plywood base, which will in turn be covered with another layer of the felt base before the maple flooring is laid. "We should really have a good, sound floor when work is completed," said the superintendent.

Completion date on the flooring project is set for around the middle of August. School officials hope to have the additional classroom space ready for use by the beginning of the second semester of the coming school year.

Texas Boys' State

BY DOYLE JOHNSON

Following is an account of the week spent in Austin attending Boys' State as written by Doyle Johnson, representative from the Farwell High School.

Boys' State is something I wish every boy could attend. It gave me, as it did every boy there, a different outlook on our government as well as a stronger feeling of loyalty toward our country.

The boys from the 18th district of the American Legion met in Amarillo, Friday, June 4th at 5:30 p.m. Our bus didn't leave until 8:30 p.m., so we had time to get acquainted with the other boys from our area. We left, a loud and happy group, but not knowing what to expect when we arrived in Austin.

We arrived Saturday morning, June 5th, still happy but not nearly so loud after our night's ride.

After eating breakfast we had time to ourselves until registration that afternoon. Upon completion of registration we were assigned to a political party, a city and a room.

All of the boys were listed in alphabetical order and every other one was in a different party. The odd numbers were the Longhorns and the even number the Pioneers. Then they would take about the first 50 and put them in one city, second 50 in another and so on down the line. I was in the Pioneer Party and was in McGee City.

We had our first meeting on Saturday night. This was to get instructions and meet the boys in your city.

We were up at 5:15 a.m. every morning, with flag raising, callisthenics and then breakfast. This is the way we got every morning off to a good start.

Sunday morning we attended church services. After church we started our business. We had meetings for city, county, and state just about every day until Tuesday morning when we had primary elections. Tuesday night we had the primary runoff election, to show who would be running for the state offices.

Wednesday was one of the big days at Boys' State. We held our usual party meeting and heard speeches for the state offices. Then the time finally came to hear the final speeches for the governor, Lt. Gov., and Attorney General.

After those speeches Dr. H. Roe Bartle spoke to us. He was a very good speaker and each Boys' Stater will always remember his speech. It meant a lot to everyone there.

Next came the general election to see who would be our city, county, district and state officials. Thursday everyone took his office and at 12:30 the Inauguration Ceremonies for each of the elected offices was held.

Friday was another big day because we were allowed to visit the state capitol and the Attorney General spoke to us. That night we had the Governor's Ball and the two Boys' Nation delegates were revealed. We got to bed later than usual so Saturday we didn't have to get up until about 6 a.m., at which time we began to prepare for the return trip home.

We held our final assembly at 8 a.m. and they dismissed us at 9 a.m. The two buses head-

No Watermelon Feed This Year, Says C Of C

Chamber of Commerce officials and its board of directors meeting in special session on Tuesday decided to not hold the annual community watermelon feed on July 4, this year, as has been the custom in recent years, due to the fact that July 4 falls on Sunday. Since the holiday falls on Sunday many people will take advantage of the long weekend for out of town trips, chamber members believe.

In place of the July 4 watermelon feed a similar event will be held at a later date. Bob Westphal was appointed chairman of a committee to work out details for the later event. Other committee members are W.H. Graham and Pat Patrick.

Tribune Places Third In Contest

Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Graham returned Sunday night from Dallas where they attended the summer convention of the Texas Press Association and National Editorial Association, with the meetings of the two organizations held jointly. The Tribune received the third place award for appearance in the contest for newspapers under 2000 population, sponsored by TPA.

The Grahams went to Plainview Thursday where they met Ross Middleton of the Earth newspaper, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Alford of the Amarillo Citizen and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hamilton of the Kress News, and the group traveled to Dallas together.

Open House Set Sunday At New Bank In Texico

The richness of black walnut paneling is blended with the striking white teller's windows and divider runners, for a modern decor in the new Citizens Bank building in Texico. Open house is Sunday afternoon.

Open house for the Texico branch of Citizens Bank of Clovis is slated Sunday afternoon from 2 until 5:30 CST, say bank officials and everyone is invited to come by and see the facilities and get acquainted with the Texico personnel.

Two young men who have grown up in this area will direct the activities of the new banking facility -- Bill Christian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roschelle Christian and James Ussery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ussery. Bill is assistant vice president and James is teller.

"We will strive to serve the community in every way and to build the town of Texico and the area we serve" says Christian as he stresses an attitude of friendliness and neighborliness by bank personnel. A community room in the bank building is available for use of the community.

The new building is 60x40, 2400 square feet, and is located north of the fire station and city offices. The exterior features an off-white brick and a flat roof. The front windows which form one wall of the community room are floor to ceiling with panes divided with aluminum frames. To the east of the entrance, architectural interest is achieved with square aluminum columns set in brick, and accented by a background wall of textured charcoal. Double glass doors lead to a vestibule, which opens onto the bank lobby and the community room.

Concrete squares pave the area in front of the building with two planter areas holding evergreen trees. The drive-in window appears on the east side of the building with a paving area to encircle the building for easy access to the window.

The lobby and community room have terrazzo flooring with the working area covered in vinyl. Black walnut paneling is used throughout the building with the exception of the north wall, which achieves contrast with the wide panels of a grainy marble design. The acoustical ceilings are interspersed with recessed fluorescent lights of waffle design, and the dark paneling is further accented with white insets at the teller's window and divider tops.

Rest rooms and storage are built at the back area of the building and the vault and safety deposit boxes are enclosed in a brick room. Forty-five safety deposit boxes are now available with plenty of room for expansion of the facility, says Christian.

The community room is equipped with a refrigerator-stove unit and facilities for about 40 people. The small kitchen area will be enclosed in a nook with accordion doors.

A private office is also designed with walnut paneling and features gold carpeting and a double window arrangement which overlooks the bank lobby.

The bank has been open for business since June 14 and offers complete banking facilities, including a drive-in window and a night depository, and a savings program. Four per cent interest is paid on savings, says Christian.

My Impressions Of New Mexico Girls' State

By Veda Wilson
(Editor's Note: The following account of New Mexico Girls' State as written by Veda Wilson, Texico Representative to the sessions recently held in Albuquerque gives an inspiring insight into the activities of participants from over the state.)

Girls' State began on June 13 on the University of New Mexico campus with 285 girls and two guests from Mexico present. We divided into six cities, two counties, and two parties.

I was in Sage City, Lincoln County and the Federalist party. The motto of my city was, "The World is Our Stage; God is our Critic."

As quickly as we arrived in Albuquerque, our schedule began. We had lunch, and immediately went into general assembly where we were taught the proper flag etiquette. That evening C. L. Kay spoke on "Let's Get Involved." He also proudly wore our yellow beanie, which all girl stateres are required to wear at all times. We were also addressed by the 1964 Girls' State Governor, Patsy Madrid, and the two delegates from Girls' Nation.

Monday marked the beginning of the elections with the city officials being elected. I was elected Police Judge of Sage City, and before the week was over, I had the pleasure of presiding over a city court case.

The county officials were elected Tuesday, also the state primary elections were held.

A film and talk was given by Mr. Kay, entitled "Our American Heritage." He stressed the importance of knowledge and inspiration. It was also stated that today's citizens do not have a definite idea of what they want. But what they really want is a cause. He defined for us the three types of government—An ericanism, Socialism, and Communism. We as American citizens should be proud of our history, our heritage, our grand

MY HOMETOWN -- Veda Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Wilson and Texico High School representative to New Mexico Girls' State invites everyone to come visit the Land of Enchantment (New Mexico) following her return from the girl state sessions, where she truly learned to appreciate the land WE live in.

beginning and should always strive to make today better than yesterday, and tomorrow better than today.

Wednesday, Mr. Kay spoke on "The Challenge of the Hour." Do you sit idly by and say "Oh, well, what can I do anyway?" Or do you go to work and use all your physical and spiritual resources to defeat communism? It took only one man to save Brazil from Communism. Always remember, United we stand, Divided we fall.

That afternoon, each party held his party convention, modeled after the major party conventions seen over TV last fall. Each party has his keynote speaker, party chairman, and party platform. Speeches and demonstrations also added to the conventions.

State Police Sergeant Jerry

Workman showed a film entitled, "Wheels of Tragedy," an authentic account of actual traffic cases in Ohio. May I add that the wounded traffic victims were still in the cars. I am now a firm believer of buckled seat belts, driving safely and cautiously, and not exceeding the speed limit.

Sergeant Workman also demonstrated "Judo" for us, we really enjoyed this part. The Talent show followed, and all of the talent was just great!

The Inaugural ceremonies were held on Thursday evening with Justice J. C. Compton administering the oath of office. Guests included Governor Jack Campbell; Boys' State Governor, David Walters; and Lt. Governor from Boys' State, Bobby Richardson. Roswell now boasts three governors, Girl and Boy State Governors and Governor Campbell.

Everyone went to Santa Fe on Friday. The Senators and Representatives went to the Senate and House to work on bills. The higher officials spent the day with their counterparts learning more about that position. The other Girl Staters spent the day touring points of interest in Santa Fe.

I had the honor to serve as Minority Leader in the Senate. It was great learning the procedures of how a bill becomes a law, especially when you are the one doing it.

Some of the bills passed are as follows: (1) Ringing of the Freedom Bells on July 4 (2) Governor Campbell to proclaim Americanism week, (3) Youth Juries, (4) the selection of Girl Staters, (5) A memorial plaque in honor of Mrs. Genta and the other American Legion Auxiliary members. These and others will be sent to every member of the New Mexico Senate and House of Representatives. I am very proud of these bills and I only wish that we had more time to finish our legislation.

Saturday night the delegates to Girls' Nation were announced and the Governor of Girls' State for 1965, Lisle Borom spoke.

The one person that made more impression on me than any person I have ever met is our Governor, Lisle Borom. Every time that she spoke her dedicated and moving speeches made quite an impression on everyone present. Lisle is a very poised and religious person. Saturday night she spoke for about 15 minutes. She is so sincere and her convictions so deep, that before she was finished, every one in that room was in tears. Lisle can speak like I have never heard before. With her soft, sincere voice she speaks about God, and He speaks through her.

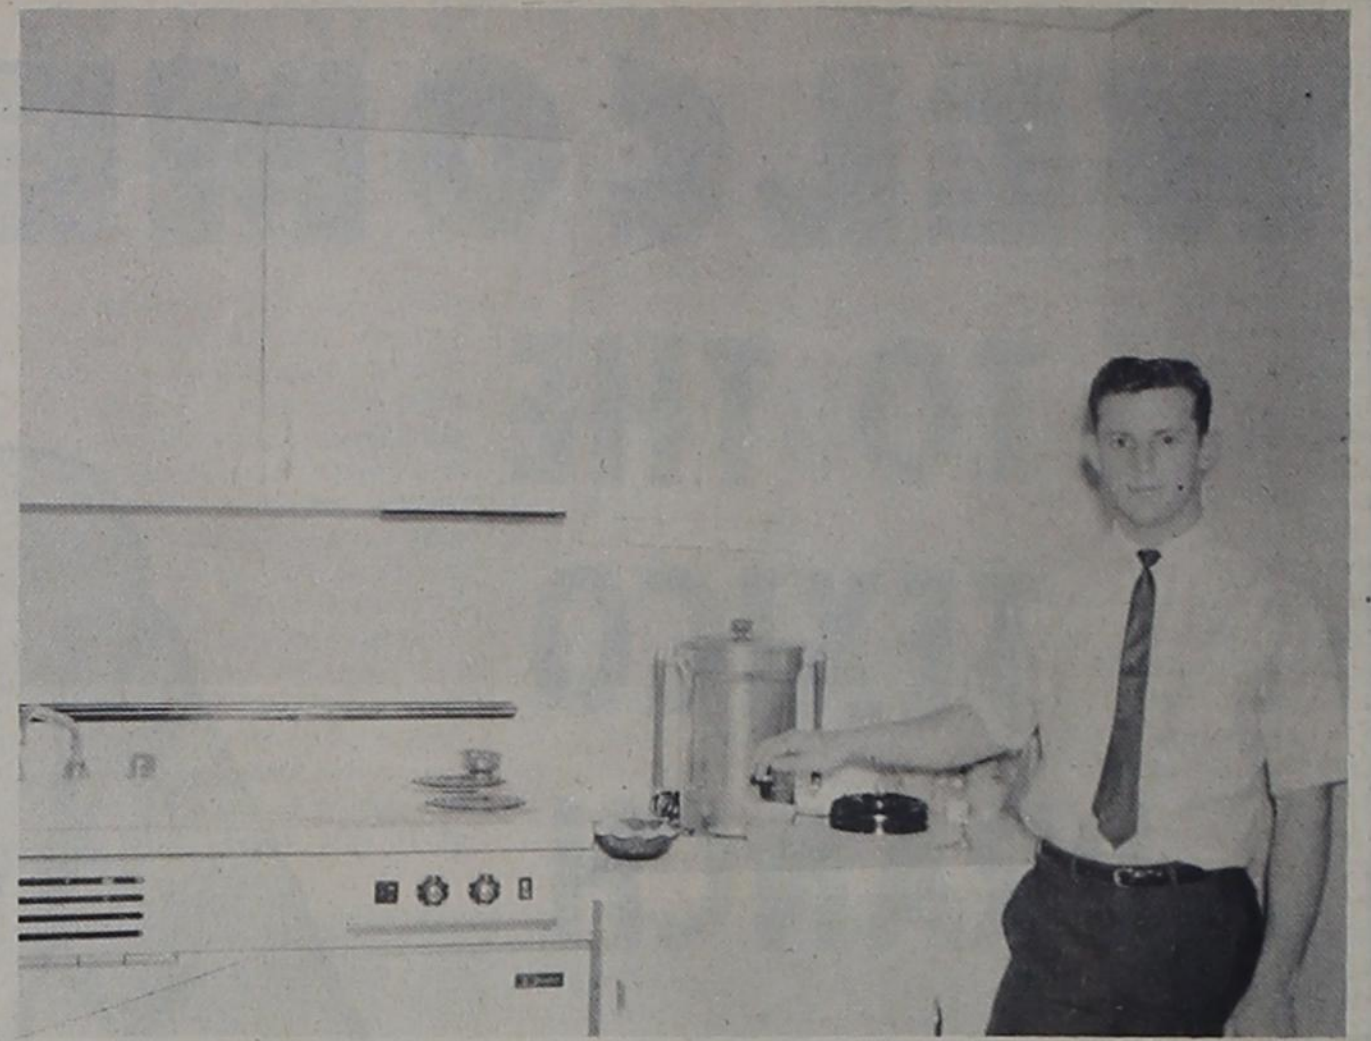

Girls' State has taught me my lessons well. I have been inspired to re-dedicate myself to God's service and to realize how great a country God has given to us. Girls' State has given me a motto to live by, "Do what you must do, and do it well. Never do anything that you would be ashamed of doing, do it as if God were right there watching you."

God gave us this free country and it is up to us to keep it that way. No one can do too much for his country. You have an obligation to fight Communism. It is like a disease. You are infected before you realize what happened. You have an obligation to get out and vote on election day; if you vote, you have a voice in your government, if you don't you might as well be living under communism.

With the help of our counselors and our dedicated governor each girl left Girls' State a new and different human being. Each of us was inspired to protect and promote the well-being of our great country.

We are in the last stages of freedom and the only stage left is Bondage! You won't realize what freedom is until you lose it.

This is my thanks to the Texico Woman's Club for sponsoring me, and to my faculty for selecting me to attend Girls'

Shirlene Martin Is Bride Of Bobby Actkinson

In a mid-afternoon ceremony on Sunday at Farwell First Baptist Church, Shirlene Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Martin, Farwell, became the bride of Bobby Actkinson, Lubbock, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. (Theo) Actkinson, Muleshoe.

The Rev. J. L. Bass, pastor of the Farwell Church read the double ring service before a setting of 15 branched candelabras surrounding a huge bouquet of white gladioli. Focal point of the altar setting was a gold framework kneeling bench with white satin pillows and white ribbon bows. The entire background for the altar setting was palms of emerald greenery. Family pews were marked by bows of white satin ribbon.

Organist, Mrs. Donald Watkins, played a medley of nuptial music preceding the ceremony and the traditional wedding marches. She also accompanied soloist, Peggy Martin sister of the bride who sang, "Oh! Promise Me," and "Whither Thou Goest."

Ushers Jerry Childs, close friend of the bride and groom, and Donald Ray Madison, cousin of the groom, Lamesa, also served as candlelighters.

Maid of honor was Peggy Martin, sister of the bride. Brides matron was Mrs. Mike Earl, Lubbock, former roommate of the bride at South Plains Junior College. The attendants were attired in identical street length dresses of aqua, designed with tunic overskirts of aqua silk organza lined with taffeta. Their headpieces were short veils of aqua attached to minute halo hats in matching hue. Their shoes and gloves were white and they each carried a long stemmed white mum tied with aqua satin ribbon.

The bride escorted and presented in marriage by her father, chose a formal floor length wedding gown of white taffeta with appliques of lace. Seed pearls and sequins outlined the Sabrina neckline and the long fitted sleeves came to petal points at the hands. Front panel of the dress was lace over taffeta. Appliques of lace bordered the long flowing skirt which fell into a chapel train.

Her waist length veil of white silk illusion fell from a tiara of pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade of roses atop a white Bible, borrowed from the brides matron.

Following tradition the bride wore for something old the Wheat harvest in Parmer County is off to a sputtering start, with many combines stopped by the current rains almost as soon as they have begun cutting. However, many farmers believe that if the elements cooperate wheat harvest will be two thirds to three fourths completed by end of the present week.

Delbert Lingnau, operator of the combine, pulls up to unload his precious cargo (wheat) into a waiting truck on the Joe McWilliams farm in the Lariat vicinity. McWilliams estimates that the crop will make a yield of 50 bushels per acre.

IN PARMER COUNTY

Wheat Harvest Swings Into First Gear

After getting off to a sputtering start, due to the recent rains, with many combines halted almost as soon as they had begun cutting, wheat harvest in Parmer County was finally thrown into first gear this week. Farmers in the western and southern sections of the county predict that if the dry weather holds, most of the wheat in their areas will be harvested by end of the present week. However, harvest in the Friona and Rhea areas will be later since combines are still not able to get into many fields due to the recent heavy rains in those areas. The Rhea elevator had received some wheat early this week.

First load of wheat in the Farwell area was brought in to State Line Grain Company on June 9, by Otto Lingnau of Lariat. The wheat, possibly of the Comanche variety, weighed 61 pounds per bushel and had a moisture content of 13%. It averaged a yield of 55 bushels per acre, according to Lingnau, who had predicted that it would make approximately 50 bushels. The second load was brought to Sherley Anderson Pitman elevator on June 11 by Wilbert Kalbas. His wheat also averaged 55 bushels per acre.

Other cereal grains, including oats and barley, are also being harvested at this time. They are also making above average yields. John Aldridge reports that the barley crop recently harvested by John Christian produced a yield of 105 bushels per acre. The crop was located three miles east of Farwell, on the Oklahoma Lane road.

Persons faced with decisions of what to give the new homeowner can make use of this basic kitchen equipment list prepared by Mrs. Wanda Meyer. The Texas A&M University home management specialist says that equipment most often used in the kitchen include one set of measuring cups, a set of measuring spoons, and a set of mixing bowls. For multi-purpose use, select oven glass mixing bowls.

Vernon Symcox Elected To Angus Association

Vernon Symcox, Farwell, has been elected to membership in the American Angus Association. A summer-time food favorite with many families is fried chicken. It's good served hot or cold. Chicken also is a good budget stretcher, emphasizes Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist with Texas A&M University.

This membership was one of 385 issued to breeders of registered Aberdeen-Angus in the United States during the past month.

ASCS News Release

PROTEIN CONTENT - TEST WEIGHT AND NEXT YEAR'S WHEAT PROGRAM CAN EFFECT PRICE OF CURRENT CROP OF WHEAT.
 Any of the above mentioned items can influence the price the grower may receive for this year's crop of wheat. If a producer places his wheat under CCC loan he will receive a premium for high protein content wheat and will receive a premium for heavy (test weight in excess of 62 lbs. per bushel) wheat.

In the event congress should pass new wheat legislation within the next couple of months that indicated a higher price for the 1966 crop of wheat than offered for 1965 crop, this could very well cause an increase in the market price for this year's wheat crop. These are things that the grower should consider when deciding whether to sell his wheat now, hold it in storage or hold it under CCC loan. Below is a chart from which a grower may compute the amount of loan available for the quality of wheat he may have on hand. It is suggested that he figure the loan rate, find out what the current market is and estimate what he thinks the market might rise up to between now and next April. Then, do as he pleases in disposing of his wheat on hand.

CHEMICAL WEED CONTROL

I suspect there has been more talk, questions asked and only partially answered about weed control chemicals this year than ever before. I would also guess that Parmer County is one of the largest users of weed herbicides this year. There are a lot of things we are all learning about these chemicals due to such widespread use. The chemical residue in our soils and how this affects future crops is the main area that we don't know a lot about yet.

PRECAUTIONS ON 2,4-D
 Herbicides can be useful tools for controlling weeds if they are properly applied. Improper application can cause crop damage and lawsuits from neighbors.

The use of 2, 4-D can usually stir some quick comments, either pro or con, depending on your past experience with it. Several farmers are about ready to start using 2, 4-D to control weeds in their grain sorghum. Extreme care should be followed when spraying with 2, 4-D. Follow directions on the label exactly.

Use only amine salt or low volatile formulations as they are less likely to vaporize and drift. Spray only when wind is less than 10 miles per hour. 2, 4-D formulations may be used at 1/2 pound per acre to control broadleaf weeds once sorghum is 6 inches tall but before flowering. Hybrids containing Wheatland parentage should not be treated with 2, 4-D because serious yield reduction and lodging may occur. Best and most profitable results will be obtained if weeds are treated before they are 6 inches tall.

In Parmer County, farmers must obtain an application permit from the field representative of the State Department of Agriculture, Gene Cupp, 1924-34th Street, Lubbock, Texas, for applying any herbicide on plots of 10 acres or more. On smaller plots, the operator must notify the same office of his intent to spray before making application.

The State Herbicide regulations outline that when the wind is 7 to 10 miles per hour and when 1 pound of 2, 4-D is applied, the distance to susceptible crops must be 4 miles, downwind, and 250 feet, upwind. If 1/2 pound is used then these distances could be reduced one-half.

Farmers should watch the wind and quit when it gets close would like to visit with every farmer that has suspected herbicide damage. We want to know what circumstances surround every situation so we can better advise you farmers next year. If you have some dead, dying, yellow or slow growing sorghum spots in your field please notify the County Agent, Farwell, Texas, 481-3619.

COTTON HERBICIDES
 After cotton reaches six inches in height and if soils are moist and grass is in an active stage of growth, Karmax, plus a surfactant, gives good control. Another chemical, Caparol and surfactant can also be applied post-emergence when cotton is 6 inches high. Some confusion still exists on the use of DSMA and surfactants as a post-emergence spray for grass control in cotton. There are two forms (Continued on page 4)

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTON GROWERS, INC.

LUBBOCK, Friday, June 18, 1965 - Cotton producer and producers representatives from areas in which more than 80 per cent of all cotton farmers operate have endorsed a re-phrased policy statement through the Cotton Producers Legislative Committee.

The re-statement of producer policy followed the second presentation of CPLC testimony before the House Agriculture Committee, which closed out open hearings in Washington June 15. Observers on the scene report that growers, generally, remain united on the basic objectives they consider indispensable. However, some grower organizations failed to agree with the methods whereby these objectives are to be accomplished, and several organizations, including Plains Cotton Growers, declined to have their names attached to the latest CPLC testimony. Hence the new draft of producer policy to further promote producer unity.

The only serious crack in the producers' wall came when Western Cotton Growers of California presented separate testimony offering to accept either a direct payment or government loan as a means to supplement producer income. In addition, the Western plan would support prices on only that cotton consumed domestically and would leave individual producers the option of producing without acreage controls if he chose to forego all federal supports.

Western is based in Fresno and represents growers whose cotton has been selling in the market at substantial premiums over loan value. For this reason that group feels less apprehension over the possibility of limitations on direct payments and has a less specific interest in whether the loan is set at a low or high level.

Excepting this group, Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, says producers are more convinced than ever that direct compensatory payments to producers in cotton legislation would lead to the downfall and the eventual collapse of cotton as a major industry.

The latest expression of producer philosophy, point Number Two of which bears out Johnson's observation with regard to direct payments, is currently approved by 13 grower organizations across 12 cotton belt states. It reads:

1. The negative approach to cotton exports has resulted in our cotton having lost its fair share of world markets. It must be abandoned. A positive effort in keeping with the spirit and the letter of Sec. 203 of the Agricultural Act of 1956 would achieve a 6 million bale offset with opportunities for increases as world markets expand, accompanying gains in population and levels of living.
2. Direct payments, in lieu of non-recourse loans as basic cotton farm income supports, are unacceptable to an overwhelming majority of cotton farmers.
3. The 16 million acres, national allotment, must be retained as a base for any adjustments in production by individual farmers.

4. Major reductions in government costs cannot realistically be taken out of net incomes of cotton growers. Net incomes of producers have been drastically reduced and in some instances eliminated during the last two years. Further cuts through Congressional or Administrative actions will be protested by a vast majority of cotton farmers -- intensively, and persistently. These protests will reflect deterioration of the financial structure of the rural economy everywhere cotton production is a significant enterprise.
5. Recognizing the necessity of future reductions in government costs growers propose changes in level of price supports through adjusting non-recourse loan rates in keeping with relative changes in costs of production.
6. In this Nation, dedicated to economic growth and stability, it is unthinkable that our virile economy in rural areas will be cut to pieces with big acreage reductions, disappearing net farm incomes, low-pressure local activities and the elimination of job opportunities for people associated with cotton production and allied lines of business.

The House Committee on Agriculture is set to begin the task of drafting its cotton recommendations to Congress early in the week of June 20. Senate Agriculture Committee hearings on the omnibus farm bill got underway June 16 and the committee will probably get around to discussing a cotton law by June 22 or 23. Cotton Producers Legislative Committee is scheduled to appear before the Senate Committee on June 23, and the testimony of that group will be built around the above policy statement.

The Administration in Washington, big-city editors, columnists and in many instances the general public continue to blow-up the cost of farm programs out of all proportion to their true significance.

These would be able to see the picture in better perspective if they would look seriously at figures recently compiled by Florida's Representative Edward Gurney, who has broken down the ways in which an average $1000 paid in federal income taxes is spent. Of the $1000, Gurney states, only $44 goes to agriculture and farm programs. By contrast, $64 is used for health, labor and welfare; $54 for veterans' services and benefits, and $114 for interest on the public debt. The remainder he says goes to national defense, $528; education $16; international affairs and finance $40; space $48; commerce and transportation $28 and $36 for "general movement."

The members displayed good sportsmanship and horsemanship throughout the show. Those attending the show could see what the members have learned through the horse program.

VanZandt said he was glad to see several younger members competing in the show. Just give them a few more years and we will be able to see some good results of the 4-H Horse educational program.

There were 5 members who tied with 3 points for high individuals in the show. However, as the show rules stated that ties would be broken on the basis of total performance points. If a tie still exists the horse that placed in the greater number of classes would be declared the winner.

The senior division, 13 years and over, winner was Milton Walling with Pruner. Milton won three first place awards and two second places and in addition the showmanship class for which no points were given.

Winner in the junior division, 12 and under, was Royce Sisk on Duke. Royce had one first place, two third places and a sixth place. Royce was tied with three other juniors with three Walling, Tommy Williams, James Calaway, Jack Templar, Pike Jordan and Mrs. Wayne Clark.

of the arsenicals. One is disodium methanearsonate and the other is monosodium methanearsonate.

The disodium is a wettable powder and the monosodium is a liquid. Most of the research done with DSMA has been with the disodium form and is fully recommended for use on cotton after it has reached a height of three inches or more. The monosodium is more toxic than the disodium. It is probably a little more effective on weed control but a little "hotter" on cotton. Monosodium has caused some leaf burning and plant stunting on young cotton but it seems to recover and make a normal yield. Both the disodium and the monosodium forms have been cleared for use on cotton, both materials are cleared for two applications.

The first application should be made after the plants measure three inches in height.

The last application should be made before the first blooms drop. These materials work better during high temperatures, above 85 degrees F., and dry weather. Follow directions and precautions on label as these are arsenic compounds.

BINDWEED CONTROL

Recent rains have helped furnish bindweeds with needed moisture for good growth. Bindweeds are a costly weed to everyone. They reduce crop production and one patch of bindweed can infest neighboring areas.

Field Bindweed is most susceptible, therefore most readily controlled by the following herbicides: Fenac (2, 3, 6-Trichlorophenylacetic acid) at 20 pounds per acre; Tritac (2, 3, 6-Trichlorobenzoyloxypropanol) at 20 pounds per acre; Tordon (picloram) at 3 pounds per acre; PBA, Benzac 354 or Zobar (polychlorobenzonic acid) at 40 pounds per acre; 2, 3, 6 TBA, Benzabor, Benzac 1281 or Trysben 200 (trichlorobenzonic acid) at 20 pounds per acre; Sodium Chlorate at 960 pounds per acre in 500 to 1000 gallons of water.

All of the above herbicides, except sodium chlorate and Tordon, should be applied with 50 to 100 gallons of water per acre for liquid applications. Some of the above herbicides also are available in dry formulations, Tordon which is a newly approved herbicide needs to be applied only with enough water to wet the foliage at the rate of 3 pounds of material per acre.

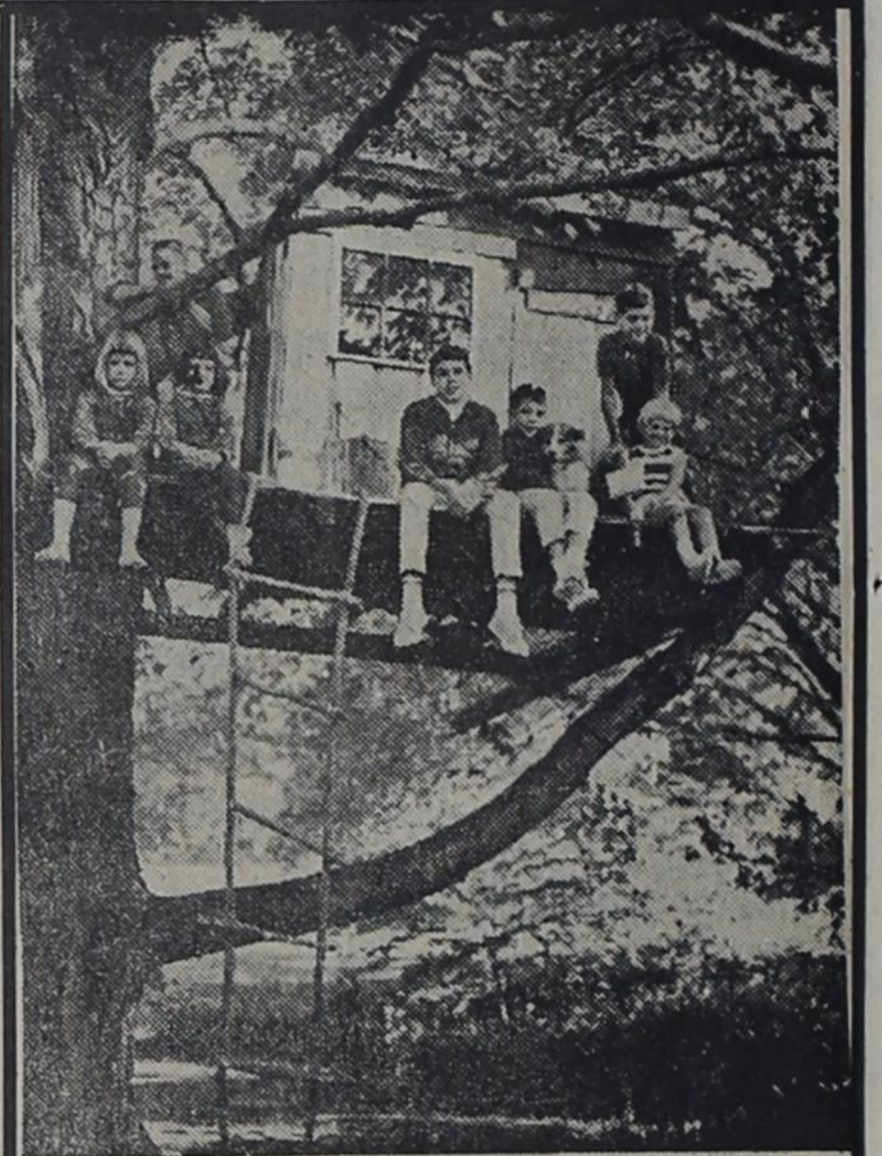

Adequate control can be achieved with the following herbicides, but control with this group of chemicals will require two to five applications and possibly as many growing seasons:

ice. If they don't, then the award will be passed down to the next members in line.

SEWING TIME

It's Clothing workshop time in the County for 4-H groups. A total of 16 groups are working under the leadership of trained adult leaders. Two Junior leaders, Janis Billingsley and Kathryn Gober, are working as Junior 4-H leaders with 1st and 2nd year girls of Oklahoma Lane Club. They are doing their project work under the guidance of Mrs. Edmund Kitten. Mrs. Wendell Garner of Bovina, leader, reported her group of first year girls finished except for completing records.

These groups of girls are learning by doing. Participating in groups, learning to cooperate with others has its place in the development of this age group. The same type of construction is being given each girl, but each girl does her own work. The County Dress Revue has been set for July 13th at the Friona School Auditorium. A period will be given on modeling, from 1:30 to 2:30 p. m. for girls appearing in the Dress Revue.

HOUSE FOR COMFORT
Much money is spent on homes to give beauty, and physical comfort such as central air conditioners and heating and other conveniences, but it is amazing how little thought is given to light conditioning at home. Visual comfort has been sadly neglected. It has been said by those who have studied and done research on light and its effect upon the eyes, that too often its not glasses that are needed, it's a good lamp. A good lamp, properly placed, gives the right amount of non-glaring light. The right light for the right job is very important.

Poor light for study can be the reason for little Johnnie bringing home poor grades.
Glaring inadequate light causes eye strain and fatigue.
Poor posture is a common cause of inadequate poor lighting.
The beauty of furnishing and color (which is important in decorating) can be destroyed or at least robbed of their beauty from poor light.
Most homes have kept pace with modern electrical living in their kitchens and laundries but their lighting has not been improved since the Model T was brought and new.
Fixtures were usually decorative ornaments and bare bulbs glared in the eyes and there are many homes who still have this kind of lighting around. Today's fixtures and lamps are both decorative and functional and planned to serve changing activities in the home.
What is good light for desk work?
First there are three types of lamps that may be used to conserve precious eyesight when using eyes for study and desk work. One type is:
• A table lamp (straight or swing arm type).
• Wall lamps (2) spaced 30" apart, or
• Custom made - built in type.
Lamp shades should be opaque or fairly dense but not in color. Bottom of shades 15" from top of desk and placed 12" back from edge on left side of desk. A 150 watt bulb is needed to supply the right amount of light.
If children are expected to do their best in school work, providing a good study center should be of first importance in furnishing a home for comfort.
Recipes easy to follow are given for every seeing task in the home plus decorative lighting, and yard lighting. These are worked out by scientist in research.
To see your home in a new light check with the Extension Office for help information - the office is in the Courthouse at Farwell - second floor or call 481-3619 for information.
