

PERSONAL
By John

As a devotee of Johnny Carson, I seldom miss a night in which I don't get to see at least a part of his show. This accounts for the baggy-eyed look on the Getz family face along about Friday of the week. I'd rather fight, or lose sleep that is, than miss Johnny. Johnny has been ribbing the New Yorkers about the newspaper strike going on in that city. Out here, we are seldom bothered with any type of strike, let alone a newspaper one.

I am sure that many folks would miss the Tribune. This is not to trumpet the virtues of ye olde paper, but to point out the coverage that a newspaper has and the fact that in this age of TV and strident radio, a paper is read.

My reason for saying this is a release from the Panhandle Heritage Foundation concerning their fine summer production in the Palo Duro Canyon, "Thundering Sounds of the West." The management of the theatre distributed questionnaires to a number of families, asking where they had first heard of the production. Three hundred and forty-six of these were returned. Two hundred sixteen of these people had first heard of the show through word-of-mouth, 139 from newspapers, 72 from TV, 59 from radio, 25 from brochures, 3 from travel guides, 10 from billboards and 16 from other sources.

This proves that people like to talk, and like to read, rather than just sit and stare, or dumbly listen. In this electronic age, these are reassuring figures that man is still a social animal and not becoming a one-eyed robot.

The moral of my story is, for news and for advertising space, your local newspaper is still the number one media of public interest. And it always will come to serve an ultimate useful purpose in every household. I'd like to see you wrap your garbage on the latest radio program or housebreak your puppy with color TV.

"He that has a story to tell, let him not whisper down a well, but climb upon the highest steeple and shout aloud to tell the people."

Actkinson Leads Field Wins Weekly Contest

Theo Actkinson, one of the regulars in the Tribune's Cotton Bowl football contest each year, jumped into one game lead in the overall contest this week and also took home first place weekly prize money, calling nine of the ten games correctly.

Seventeen persons called seven games correctly, however, Mrs. Leroy Kitten and Linda Dannheim were off only one point on the tiebreaker game, to tie for second and third place weekly prize money.

Other persons calling seven games correctly were Bill Craft, C. W. Cathey, Buck Gregory, Henry Haseloff, B. V. Hughes, Mrs. Albert Johnson,

In second place in the overall contest are W. M. Roberts and Georgia Rundell with 30 games called correctly. Coming in for a close third are a father and son, Buck and Larry Gregory with 29 games called right.

Seven weeks are left to join in the fun so come on all you football fans and enter the contest this week.

NEW TEXICO FIRECHIEF -- Bill Thigpen, newly appointed firechief in Texico, looks over some of the equipment on one of the Texico fire trucks. He also revealed plans for a new home for the fire department in the near future.

Webb Resigns As Firechief, Bill Thigpen Appointed

At the last meeting of the Texico town council, the resignation of C. H. Webb as firechief was accepted. Bill Thigpen, assistant chief for a number of years, was appointed to the chief's post.

Reason given by Webb for his resignation was the press of business. He is trouble shooter for Clifford-Hill and was out of town much of the time. He said since he could not attend many of the meetings he felt that it was only fair that he relinquish the chief's position. Howard Billingsley has been appointed assistant firechief.

Council members were advised by the Texico Woman's Club that they (the club) wished to return the building which they had been using for a number of years for a club house to the city.

Mrs. Clara Wiehl, city clerk, was instructed to contact several insurance firms to get rates for insurance on the town's police car. The car carries liability insurance at this time, however, since a fire in which the car was damaged a few weeks ago, city fathers believe that it might be advisable to carry additional insurance on the vehicle.

Mrs. Wiehl was given permission to attend the Municipal League meeting in Clovis later in the week. All other business was routine.

Services Held For Mrs. Billingsley

Funeral services were conducted from Hamlin Memorial Methodist Church on Saturday afternoon for Mrs. E. U. (Minnie Lou) Billingsley who passed away in Clovis Memorial Hospital early Friday morning following a short illness.

The Rev. Billy Joe Foster officiated at last rites assisted by Rev. W. C. Strickland, pastor of the local church. Burial was in Sunset Terrace Memorial Park Cemetery under direction of Steed Funeral Home.

Mrs. Billingsley (Minnie Lou DuVal) was born March 31, 1889 at Pecan Gap, Texas, and was married to E. U. Billingsley at Pecan Gap on August 15, 1909. They moved to Parmer County on January 17, 1930 and settled on a farm five miles west of Lariat. They resided on that farm until 1936 when they moved to a farm two miles southwest of Lariat where they still resided at the time of Mrs. Billingsley's death.

She was a member of the Methodist Church and a devoted wife and mother. In addition to her own five children she reared three grandchildren, including H. R. Billingsley, Salinas, Calif. whom she took into her care when he was a baby of 10 months.

Survivors include her husband, E. U. Billingsley, Lariat; two sons, Rayburn, Big Spring;

MRS. E. U. BILLINGSLEY
Clark, Farwell; two daughters, Mrs. Johnnie May Vaughn, Yuma, Ariz., Mrs. Llewellyn Ogletree, Monterey, Calif.; 14 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren. One son, Scott, preceded his mother in death. Also one sister, Mrs. Oma Hawks, Bokchito, Okla.

Steers Will Meet Seagraves Eagles

Farwell's Fighting Steers, after a week's respite from the grid wars, will meet a strong band of Eagles from Seagraves at Steer Stadium tonight, Friday, as the windup of the locals' Homecoming festivities.

The blue and white team has been working out daily and appears to be in good shape for the game. They are expected to bounce back from the Plains game and be looking for some tailfeathers to put in their bonnets.

Seagraves fields a strong team, having lost to powerful Springlake by only one point.

Farwell is expected to recover its scoring punch, and coupled with their outstanding defensive work, figures to give the homecoming crowd a victory to celebrate.

Annual NROTC Exam To Be Held Dec. 11

Vice Admiral B. J. Semmes, Jr., Chief of Naval Personnel, announced today that December 11 has been designated as the test date for the 20th annual national competitive NROTC examination. Parents and high school officials should remind eligible young high school seniors and graduates to submit their applications before November 19, 1965.

The Regular NROTC Program, which is designed to supplement the career officer output of the U. S. Naval Academy, offers a wonderful opportunity for a young man to earn a regular commission while studying at one of the 52 NROTC colleges and universities. The Navy furnishes tuition, fees and books, plus a subsistence allowance of $50 per month to the NROTC midshipmen. Each summer, NROTC midshipmen go on interesting and rewarding training cruises to different parts of the world. After completing his four year college course and all requirements, an NROTC midshipman is commissioned as a regular officer in the U. S. Navy or Marine Corps and goes on active duty with the operating forces.

The program is open to male high school seniors and graduates who will have reached their 17th but not their 21st birthday on June 30, 1966. Those who make a qualifying score will be interviewed and given thorough medical examinations early in 1966. Approximately 1,600 young men from those remaining in competition will thus be selected to attend college next September to prepare for their naval careers.

1966 NROTC Bulletins of information and application forms are available at local high schools and Navy Recruiting Stations or from the Chief of Naval Personnel, Department of the Navy, Washington, D.C. 20370.

AMMO NOTES

By Bill Bennett, Agronomist

Sulphur - Nitrogen Phosphorus Relationships
Sulphur deficient areas in the United States have been recognized for many years. Many of these areas are in the Northwest with a few in the Southeast. More and more deficient areas are being found in the Midwest and Southwest. In recent years, yields of grainsorghum, wheat and alfalfa have been increased in the High Plains of Texas.

The results of several experiments show a response to sulphur but they also show the value of a supply of other nutrients as well. Nitrogen and phosphorus are two nutrients that normally are in short supply in High Plains soil and either need to be present in adequate supply or added to the soil to obtain a sulphur response. One example is a sulphur application on malting barley in Washington. More grain was produced when sulphur was included with the nitrogen application, however, nitrogen content in the grain was not affected. Low rates of nitrogen were used in the experiment but the researchers considered a nutrient balance important.

The importance of an adequate phosphorus supply when applying sulphur was shown in an experiment conducted at the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, Texas. Sulphur alone did not increase wheat yields. Phosphorus alone increased yields about one bushel per acre. When both phosphorus and sulphur were applied, yields were increased slightly over five bushels per acre.

Approximately the same relationship was found with alfalfa at the C. L. McGowan farm near Summerfield, Texas. Yields were increased slightly by sulphur alone. At this location, approximately 900 pounds more alfalfa were produced when fertilized with phosphate. When sulphur was included with the phosphate, 700 more pounds of alfalfa were produced with a total increase of about 1,600 pounds per acre when both phosphate and sulphur were used.

Grand Worthy Advisor Visits Bovina Assembly

Miss Shiela Frazier, Grand Worthy Advisor of Texas, from Pasadena, visited with girls of Bovina's Rainbow Assembly Monday night.

The girls met in the home of Mrs. A. M. Wilson where Myrna Ritchie, Worthy Advisor, presented Shiela with a money corsage. The money is given to the Mark Saxon fund for the education of needy Rainbow girls.

The girls then went to Clovis to dine.

They returned to the Wilson home where Trudy Skjerve, Bovina's exchange student, showed slides and gave a talk about her native land, Norway.

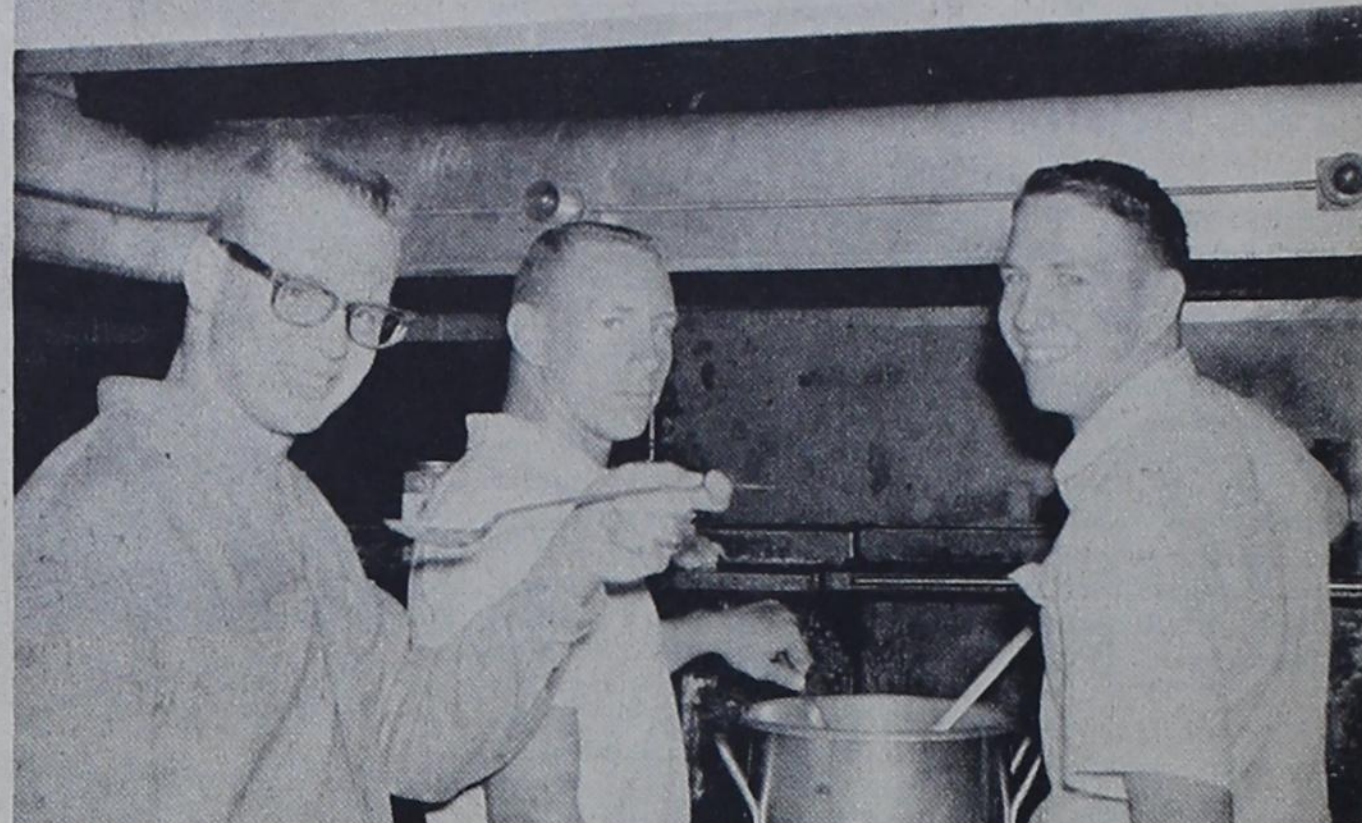

Sponsors were Mrs. Kent Glasscock, Mrs. Jim Hemke, Mrs. Clifford Leake, Mrs. Otis Spears and Mrs. Wilson.

The Rainbow girls attending were Doris Corn, Denise Clements, Sharon Hemke, Cindy Crump, Sheryl Lang, Cathy Sikes, Myrna Ritchie, Suzame

There were also guests including Ginger Glasscock, Pamela Wilson, Miss Skjerve, and Mrs. Doris Wilson.

The Grand Worthy Advisor spent the night in the Wilson home.

CHECKING THE CHILI — Larry Flowers, left, gives the taste test to a pot of chili being prepared by Rickey Fletcher and Jerry McCleskey. The Farwell senior class is sponsoring a chili supper prior to the Seagraves game. The public is invited to attend the supper and then GO and ROOT for the Steers as they play Seagraves.

National 4-H Club Week

Farmer County 4-H members join 2,250,000 other boys and girls in the 50 states in the observance of National 4-H Week, September 25-October 2.

The development of responsible citizens and future leaders for America is a high purpose in 4-H Club work.

Theme for the upcoming week will be "Learning for Living." The 4-H members will be joined in the observance by their adult leaders, friends and Extension workers. The "head-heart-hands-health" organization is supervised in Farmer County by Cricket Taylor and Joe VanZandt, County Extension Agents. 4-H is the youth phase of the Cooperative Extension Service's educational programs.

Objectives of National 4-H Week are to influence more young people to join 4-H Clubs and their cooperation. Also to encourage a larger number of men and women to become volunteer 4-H leaders and to increase public understanding of 4-H programs and activities.

In his greetings to all 4-H Club members, President Johnson said, "Your aims are directly in line with our Nation's goals to achieve fuller and better living for all. You will surely benefit, as will others, from your efforts to explore career opportunities and seek needed education, to practice healthful living, to use constructively your leisure time, and to strengthen your personal standards and citizenship ideals."

Parents or youth interested in more information about 4-H should contact a 4-H adult leader or the County Extension office in Farwell.

NOW LOOK THIS WAY — Victor Cox and his young pet "Jack" visited several places in Farwell this week including the office of the State Line Tribune (where this picture was made). The "Jack," only one month old seemed content to follow Cox from one area to another. Cox is a former Hollywood stunt man who now lives in Muleshoe where he operates the Muleshoe Horse Ranch. On the ranch he keeps a variety of pets including horses, mules, sheep, goats, dogs, cats, pheasants, and even a snake or two. In the near future Cox hopes to create the biggest mule show on earth, similar to the Barnum style, with antelopes, lion cubs, jumping goats, fox and hounds. He hopes to attract Hollywood producers to this area.

The correct way to pick up kitty is to place your left hand under his hindquarters, and slip your right hand between his front paws and under his chest. Use quiet slow movements, and in this way, you will win his confidence.

rough with their cat. He won't endure the same amount of mauling as a dog, and he doesn't like his tail or legs being tugged at.

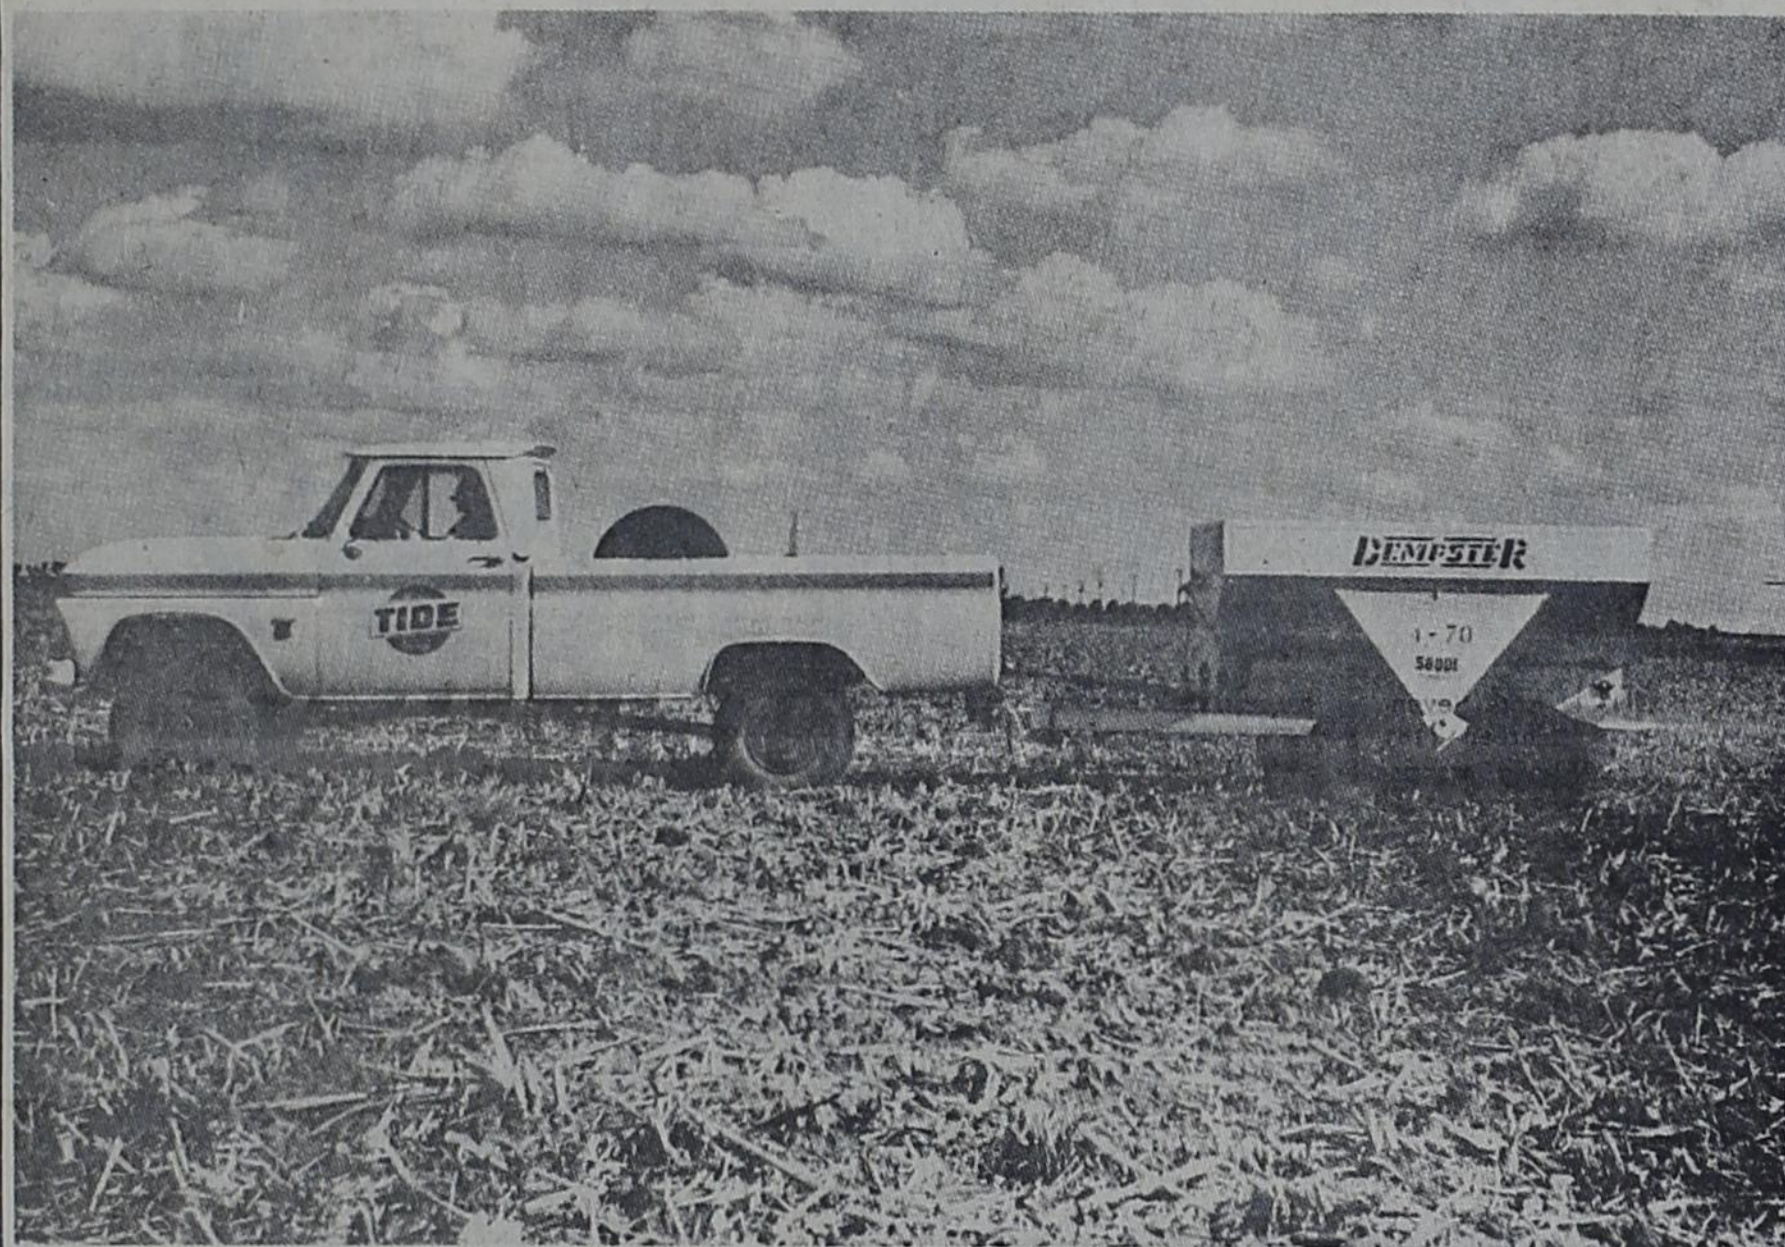

And, if you're taking a trip, don't just bundle your cat into the handiest cardboard box. The experts at the Purina Pet Care Center suggest that you purchase a regular cat carrier. Allow your cat to get used to it at home, and when you do go on a trip, your cat will be happy to live and travel in his carrier.

In The Fall Of 64

Made You Money This Season

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR:

If he followed Tide's Plow-Down Program last fall he will tell you it made him money. Lower application costs, higher production, maximum efficiency and production in a farming operation.

NOW IS THE TIME:

As soon as possible after combining, shred stalks and apply TIDE'S prescription blend fertilizer to get maximum decomposition of the stubble and bring your soil nutrient level up to its needed point.

And to take advantage of the soil conditioning effect brought on by the decomposition of your grain stubble-- use TIDE Bulk Fertilizer NOW. Put down part of your Nitrogen, all of your Phosphate and Potash now and have all of the needed nutrients available to your PLOW-DOWN fertilizer program. See your nearest TIDE representative.

TAKE THE GUESSWORK OUT OF YOUR OPERATION:

TIDE will test your soil and (or) analyze your plant tissues FREE of charge. Then a prescription fertilizer can be blended specifically for your farm.

NOW WITH TRACE ELEMENTS:

TIDE'S Prescription Blended Fertilizers now contain proven trace elements. Available Sulphur, Sulphate of Potash and Magnesium and still at competitive prices. The BEST in blended fertilizers to aid you in producing highest possible yields.

Letter To The Editor

EDITORS NOTE--

The following letter was written to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Arwine, of Floydada, by Keith Levy, son-in-law of Mrs. Arwine (Ethel Thomas) on Sept. 15, telling of the family's experiences in Hurricane Betsy. The Levy Family had been transferred to New Orleans from Amarillo only one month before Hurricane Betsy struck. The Levys are former Farwell residents.

Wed,
Sept. 15, 1965

Dear Arwines,

For several days I had followed the course of Betsy with some anxiety wondering just where along the Gulf coast she would come onshore. However, no one appeared too concerned until she started veering to the NNW and heading straight for New Orleans. Of course, the primary thing on my mind was whether to leave the city or not. Most of New Orleans is at sea level or below and protected from Lake Pontchartrain on the north and the Mississippi River on the south by natural and man made levees and dams.

A series of canals are cut through the city for normal drainage, and pump stations are set up in these canals to pump water back up to the lake's and river's level.

The Levys reside about 1/2 mile south of Lake Pontchartrain. If a hurricane were to hit just east of us where the counter-clockwise swirl of wind would hit the lake just right, we would receive lake water in our laps and be flooded out.

Well, we were undecided as to what course to take. Norma didn't want to leave all of our possessions when she felt that we could stay there and prevent normal damage from leaking roofs and broken windows. I, on the other hand, being of a cowardly nature anyway, was packed and ready to go. We received calls from friends wanting us to leave and spend the night with them, but just hated to leave so far from town. A couple who lives across the lake called and since they are about 20 feet above sea level, I thought that might be the thing to do. However in a very few minutes we heard that waves were going over the Causeway and the bridge was being closed.

Our power went off at 8:30 p.m. and we were left with a transistor radio and a few candles. The reports became worse and worse and the Mayor finally came on the radio and ordered the evacuation of all people north of Veterans Highway which is an east-west road about a mile south of the lake. This included us. Well, it was too late to leave the city as all roads but one were closed. This was highway 61 to Baton Rouge. I was afraid it would be jammed and have accidents blocking it, etc., but packed the car with a few blankets, food, our movies and slides, and Norma's silver. We thought if we lost everything we'd still have our pictures with us. Earlier in the evening we had moved the picnic table, benches and card table in the center of the floors and had stacked as much furniture as we could, as high as we could get if off the floor.

Just before leaving the house I happened to think of one of the Humble fellows who goes to church with us. He lived in the evacuating area, so I asked him what he was planning to do. He said he was heading for the Humble building. This sounded better to us as it was already too late to be on the road. The wind was close to a hundred miles per hour and things were beginning to move.

The six mile drive to the office was rather harrowing as visibility was limited; quite a few cars were out, and so was the flying debris. We arrived safely though, as did many other Humble employees. I managed to make beds for the kids, Norma and the dog on and under my desk and table and we sat the night out in total darkness. Winds were gauged at the airport up to 175 miles per hour and believe me that is a wind. This six story building did some shifting and shaking (so did I). My greatest fear, though, was from flying glass, so I kept a pretty nervous vigil by the window in my office. About midnight we thought there was a very short lull which was probably the very edge of the "eye" of Betsy. The eye passed about 25 miles west of New Orleans and turned and went right up the highway to Baton Rouge. So we were thankful we didn't go that route.

Along about 2 or 3 a.m. the place began to show the stress and strain. The windows in the offices on either side of my office went out (or in) and we got water flooding from that. Also part of the roof on sixth floor was blown off and water dripped through my ceiling. When things got light enough and calmed down a bit I discovered Norma on the sleeping bag in a huge puddle of water! Through it all no one complained, and the kids slept from about midnight on.

As soon as daylight came we packed up to head back to the house to see what was left. We experienced some high water on the road, but it wasn't bad. Buildings all along were terribly damaged and some were total losses. A Blueprint company next to the Humble building was flat. The whole back wall fell out, and the glass front blew in. However, we hadn't heard of any flooding yet. We very cautiously approached our neighborhood as all the power lines were down, and debris was all over the road. We had to park on the next block over and wade thru the mud to our apartment. All

Farwell FFA Elects Officers

Officers elected at the first meeting of Farwell FFA were president-Delton Wilhite, vice-president-Charles Kitten, secretary-James Kalwan, treasurer - Hobbie Coffman, reporter-Jerry Ford, sentinal-Joe Costillo, and chaplain-Stanley Kelm. Jerry Mathis is FFA advisor and agriculture teacher in the Farwell School.

The chapter elected a sweetheart and plowgirl at the first meeting. Pat Childers is sweetheart and Ginger Hughes is plowgirl.

Immediately following the meeting a watermelon feed was held for the FFA boys and their sister chapter-FFA girls. Buck Gregory furnished the watermelons.

The FFA Chapter has 38 boys enrolled in vocational agriculture this year. The boys will feed mostly barrows for a project. They will attend the Hereford, Amarillo and El Paso stock shows.

Mathis said "We are going to try and have a local stock show (in Farwell) this year - if there is enough support." Mathis also said he believes that a local show will be good for the boys and the community alike.

Pretty Clothes and Pretty 4-H Girls Go Together

PRETTY clothes on pretty girls are a common sight in 4-H circles, particularly among the more than three-quarter million girls from 9 to 19 enrolled in the national 4-H Clothing program, observes Miss Mamie Hardy, head of educational field activities for Coats & Clark Inc., sponsor for 25 years of the clothing program.

Sketched here are some of the fashions that 4-H girls are putting into their fall and winter wardrobes. In their clothing projects they learn how to sew on and care for new fabrics, and to choose color, line and design. The "learning-by-doing" is guided by local volunteer clothing leaders and extension home economists.

Miss Hardy conducts numerous workshops for extension personnel. Her newest is called "The Shape of Things" which teaches how to get different

One member admitted: "I wanted to quit several times as junior clothing leader, especially when a girl came to club with a zipper in wrong for the thousandth time. But with a little more patience and one last explanation that finally hit home, we both scored a victory."

Something "extra" is offered the young seamstresses by Coats & Clark. Awards consisting of medals, educational trips to the National 4-H Club Congress and a dozen scholarships of $500 each will be claimed this fall by top-ranking 4-H Clothing program members.

shapes in garments by use of various interfacing, backings and linings.

"Several generations ago," said Miss Hardy, "stiffeners used in garment construction gave exaggerated shaping and made the garment uncomfortable. Today's inner fabrics have changed to keep pace with the many new types of outer fabrics designed for contemporary living."

"The secret of good lines is knowing which type to use to achieve a softer and more comfortable effect," Miss Hardy added.

Workshop techniques will in turn reach local 4-H leaders who will pass them on to the girls.

Patience, persistence and pride in workmanship are three essential requisites for getting ahead in the clothing project, according to the 4-H'ers.

On The Farm In Palmer County

By JOE VANZANDT
County Agent

HEAD SMUT
Over the past few weeks, I have been surprised at the amount of head smut in some sorghum fields, I've inspected. Some fields and varieties have more head smut than others. Every farmer should check his fields for head smut. Particular attention should be given to resistance among different varieties. There is a direct relationship between the per cent smutted or sterile heads and the per cent yield loss. A 10 per cent smut infection would lower resulting yields by 10 per cent. The smut fungus is carried in the soil and sorghum grown from clean seed planted on infested soil may be attached by head smut. Also, when infested seeds are planted, the smut may be introduced into clean fields. However, the practice of planting treated seeds eliminates the spread of the disease on seeds to clean fields. Therefore, it is the soil-borne brown fungus spores, which are able to remain alive for years in the soil that are responsible for infection. On fields having no history of head smut, the most careful sanitary practices should be employed to avoid introducing the fungus. The most important means of controlling head smut is through growing resistant hybrids. Three new head smut resistant hybrids have been released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. They are RS 625, RS 626, and RS 671. The hybrid RS 671 has about the same maturity as Texas 660, and has consistently produced as much grain. RS 671 is 5 to 6 days earlier than the late commercial hybrids and has yielded nearly as well and should only be grown under irrigation. Head smut has never been found on either resistant parent or their hybrids when the seed stock purity was unquestionable. The resistant parents are being used by commercial sorghum breeders to produce other resistant hybrids. See me or come by the office for further information on Head Smut.

Letter To The Editor --

around were fallen trees and lumber. All the way home no one said a word - I guess we were just too tired or something. Our great surprise of course was to find that we had absolutely no damage. At this point we stopped to thank God for sparing our lives and our home. We felt very humble indeed and were to feel more thankful as time went on.

All around us things were wrecked. Every other apartment had some windows broken or roof damage. The one on the end of the street was in bad shape. Both ends fell off and complete windows and facings blew out of it. Fortunately it was not occupied yet. Two business buildings directly across the street were completely demolished. One, an older building, was concrete block. The second floor was missing and crumbled in the street in front. A new concrete brick building next to it was totally collapsed you couldn't even tell where it had been - just a pile of rubble. So you see our little apartment STOOD OUT as the only one around not damaged - especially to us. The landlord remarked, "You must be living right." My only thought and remark to him was that "I certainly hope so!"

Of course our area is probably in as good or better shape than any place else in New Orleans, and the terrible flooding which has taken place in Paquemes and St. Bernard Parishes is horrifying. I'm sure you all know more about that than we do as we have no TV, etc., and of course can't go over there to see it. They have begged people to stay away as it is hampering rescue operations, so we haven't tried to get out.

We feel so very lucky, because our greatest suffering has been only from the heat and lack of water and lights. There are still people being rescued and several thousand homeless, in rescue centers, etc. All kinds of aid is coming in, but it can never replace their losses. I've been real pleased and proud of the church. Several vans of food and clothing have been funneled in from Dallas, Houston, etc. and distributed by the churches here. I heard yesterday that some member who owned a shoe store sent 300 pairs of shoes.

And now for the present status of the Levys. I'm quite sure that we are in as good shape as anyone in town, but far from "back to normal." First of all, I've never been quite so proud of my family. Not one has complained about anything. I've decided they're made out of pretty good stuff! I had made a few pre-hurricane preparations, such as taping the windows, stacking furniture, getting flash light and transistor batteries, filling the tub and all available containers with water, etc. Well, when we finished straightening up after it was over, I went for a drink of water and discovered most of it had been poured out, the plug was pulled and we had very little drinking water. As the city water was contaminated, I became a little disturbed. Upon questioning Norma I found that she was guilty. When I asked her why she had poured the water out, she confessed that she didn't really ever expect to see the place again anyway, so why save water!! Oh well!! We also had laid up a few days supply of juice, vienna sausage, etc. to eat on. Well, we've eaten on it for a week now and the pickings are getting a little slim.

We can't keep milk or get ice, so this is a little problem. I haven't heard the kids, even Suzi, ask for milk, so how can I complain for not having coffee. Restaurants are beginning to open now, so last night we went out to eat. We're a little bit afraid of food poisoning, as things spoiled all over town. It just adds to the over-all stench of the swamp.

This morning after our peanut butter and jelly and glass of water the kids started back to school and I to work. So now Mama is left alone in that hot, sticky apartment. We have kept our minds somewhat off the depressing heat by playing hearts, monopoly, reading, etc., but sleeping is a little rough. We don't have screens, so when we open our windows we have mosquitoes. If they are closed we suffocate. So we try both. Most New Orleans schools are closed until further notice. One school was demolished and many others damaged and flooded. Most books had not been issued. They and the school buses were stored in a warehouse which flooded. So what was already a crowded, inadequate school system will be worsened. Thank goodness our kids are enrolled in Ganus school which had very little damage.

Electric power has now been restored to about 2/3 of Jefferson Parish, where we live, so I'm sure we will have it in a few days, and even if we don't our plight is so minor in comparison to some. They are still finding people trapped in attics and on roof tops, etc., so we feel very grateful that we are in as good a condition as we now are.

I'm assuming that you or our relatives and friends will want to know how we came out during the storm, so I'm having prints made of this to send you as Norma or I find the time and desire to write. We appreciate your concern, especially those who have called or tried to call and/or have written. Right now even though we know we have been wonderfully blessed, we're just a little depressed and very, very homesick. So, remember us in your prayers and thoughts and write us when you can.

Love to all,
Keith and family

MEET MR. WUNSTOP DUZZIT

A lady at a supermarket checkout counter unloaded a quart of milk, a dozen eggs, a TV dinner, six cartons of cigarets, hand lotion, suntan lotion, face cream, work gloves, flashlight batteries, two magazines, and the latest hit record. She paid her bill and went out grumbling: "Food costs so much these days. No wonder the farmers are getting rich."

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS
from The Bible

I seek not mine own will— (John 5:30)

God's will is good—everlasting unfaillingly good. We do not question this. But in our eagerness for the manifestation of some desire we may forget. We may let our human, personal will get in the way. We are filled with quiet assurance if we let God's will become ours.

The bride, a graduate of Farwell High School and South Plains College is employed by Allied Concord Financial Corp. in Lubbock.

The groom, a graduate of Whiteface High School and South Plains College also attended Texas Tech and is presently employed by Pioneer Natural Gas Co. in Lubbock.
