

PERSONAL
By John

The other Sunday evening we were returning from Clovis between 8 and 9 p.m. We have been doing this regularly for several years and hence have noticed almost every time we have seen a State patrol car pulling a traffic violator over for a ticket or a warning. This has been so regular that it is a topic of comment with the wife and I. In commenting on this fact, other facets of traffic regulation have occurred to us.

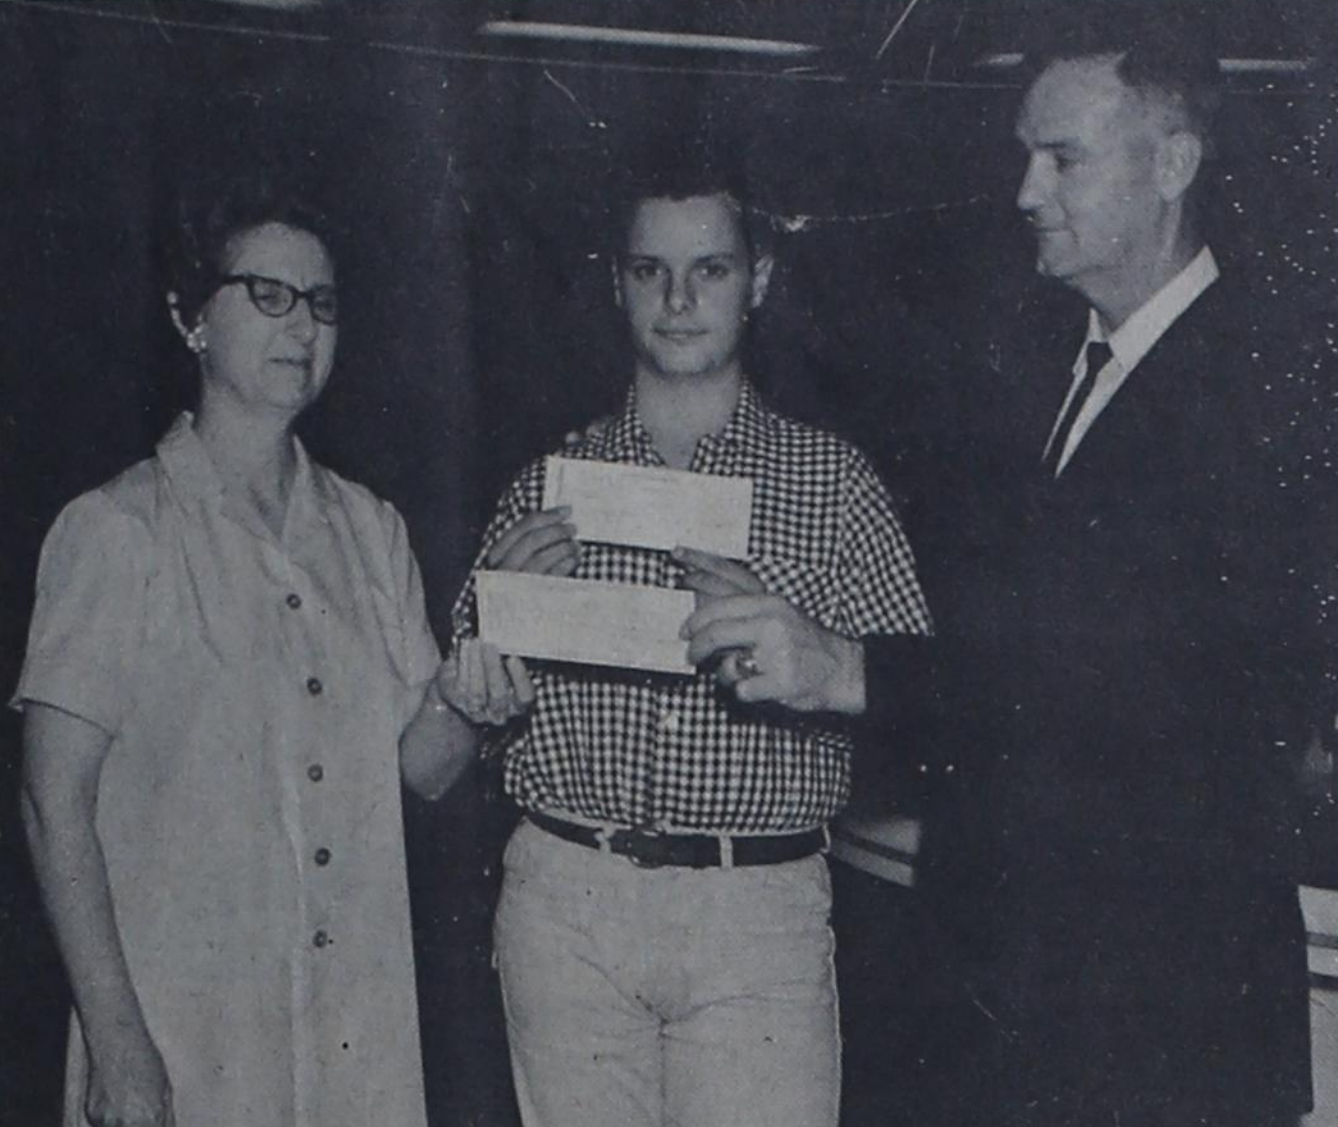

We believe that to be sound, enforcement must reflect a knowledge of why people do a certain thing. This knowledge can be gained from an intelligent study of the data gained from accident reports and traffic surveys. This information can be used by the engineers to design and build safer roads. It can aid the placing of traffic signals and warning signs. It can tell the concerned officials how the public sees the hazards on a specific stretch of road. It can lead to a more effective program of road building. After a better road is built, to obtain the maximum benefit from the safety features built into it, it needs sound police administration.

Every officer on patrol should stop all persons he sees violating traffic regulations and take the appropriate action. This might be a verbal warning, a ticket, or an arrest. The way the officer handles the situation is extremely important. If he is properly trained he will leave the offender, if not necessarily happy, at least not resentful of the way it was handled. An officer should never lecture and he has no right to "bawl out" anyone. Law enforcement is a business. It should be conducted in a businesslike manner.

Two things tend to discourage a positive response from the traffic violator. One is the use of terms in which there are no clear standards by which to measure. For example, "Driving too fast for conditions" . . . "not exercising proper or due caution" . . . "speed that is unreasonable or imprudent;" these are some of the fuzzy phrases that are used to describe offenses that meet no particular test but only the officer's opinion or mood. Motorists cannot or should not be expected to translate such vagaries into required action. Multiple charges growing out of the same situation and happening in a close sequence leave the offender with a feeling that the officer is "pouring it on" and perhaps even attempting to play judge in meting out punishment.

Another thing, the enforcement of unrealistic engineering requirements defeats the efforts of the officers to obtain community support and to share some of the responsibility for traffic safety. Signs, signals, and markings are provided to ensure safe and efficient traffic flow. If they are realistic and the need for them is obvious, most motorists will gladly obey them. But to post a 50 or 55 mile an hour speed on a highway capable of handling traffic moving 65 to 70 defies common sense and invites gross disobedience. Unfortunately, such disobedience is contagious and tends to contaminate the areas that are properly posted. This leads to a breakdown of law enforcement and a downgrading of all law enforcement in the eyes of the public.

At this moment in our national history, it is of paramount importance that we all respect our law enforcement agencies and try every way we can to honestly and diligently cooperate with them. Cooperation is a two-way street and let's not let traffic regulations, poorly designed and as poorly executed, destroy our fundamental respect for the dignity of the law of the land.

NOI NOT TWINS OR LOOK ALIKES-- but Mrs. Frances Boling and Johnny Hughes are top winners in the merchant's football contest. The newcomers to the contest sparkle with pride as they accept checks for a tie in first and second place weekly prizes from Joe Jones, vice-president of Security State Bank, one of the sponsors of the contest.

Newcomers Win Weekly Prizes

The newcomers to the merchants' football contest swung into action last week to win the weekly prizes for first and second place tie, as Johnny Hughes, a new entrant, and Mrs. Frances Boling, who has only entered one time previously, each called eight games right and missed the tiebreaker score only 14 points to outcall a total of 182 contestants.

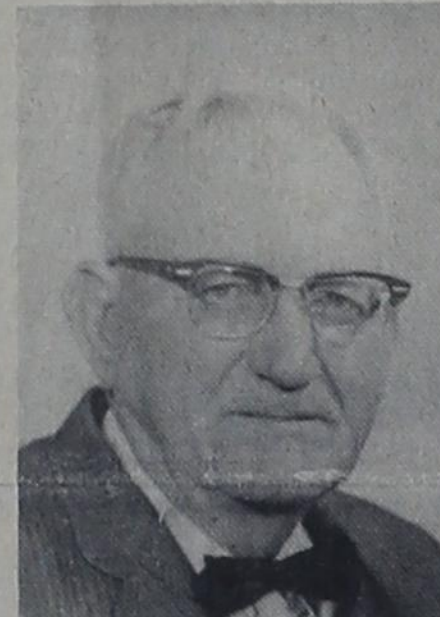

Coming in for third place in the weekly contest was Mrs. Ysleta Kittrell, a regular in the contest for a number of years. She missed the tiebreaker score 21 points. Other persons calling eight games right were Glenn Marsh, Jerry Bradshaw and Linda Phillips.

Persons with 34 games to their credit are Jerry Mathis, Frances Birchfield, Stephen Birchfield, Gene Ezell, Dorothy Bauer, Edwina Owen, Bill Prince and Mark Williams.

Seven weeks are left in the contest, so COME ON and join in the fun. Grand prize is two tickets to the Cotton Bowl game and $50 expense money. Weekly prizes of $5, $3 and $1 go to the persons calling the most games right each week.

Lee Golaway Services Pending

Funeral services are pending for Lee Golaway, 73, who passed away at his home in northeast Farwell Monday morning around 9:30 following an apparent heart attack. At time of his death, Mr. Golaway was engaged in unloading chicken feed. His wife became alarmed when he failed to return to the house after some time had elapsed and when she went to check on him he had passed away. He and his wife had returned only Friday from a visit with children in California.

LEE GOLAWAY

Mr. Golaway was born in Pennington Gap, Va., May 27, 1893. He was married to Malinda Young on August 14, 1910. The couple lived in east Texas for a number of years before moving to Farwell in 1923. They lived here for some 20 years and then moved to California. They returned to Farwell to make their home near a daughter, Mrs. Douglas Landrum, some three years ago.

Survivors include the wife, Malinda; his mother, Mrs. John Stanley, Irving, Tex.; four sons, Andrew, James and Frank, all of San Diego, Calif., and Charlie, Somerton, Ariz.; two daughters, Mrs. Mae Landrum, Farwell, and Mrs. Belle Douglas, Honolulu, Hawaii; nine brothers, two sisters, 26 grandchildren and 31 great-grandchildren. One daughter, Mary Jane, preceded her father in death some four years ago.

PRIZE WINNER -- Carolyn Miller, who drew the fire prevention poster she is holding and a representative of the Texico FBLA organization, was amazed when told that the poster had been declared winner in the "Fire Prevention" poster contest sponsored by the Texico Fire Department. The winning organization received $25; second place winner, Honor Society, received $15; and the Student Council entry received third prize, $13. All organizations in the school could enter as many posters as they wished. Announcement of the prize winners was made Wednesday afternoon by Roy Harvey Snodgrass, representing the fire department.

How Much Support For The Troops?

A group of Yale University religious leaders have applied for and received permission from the United States Treasury Department to send medical supplies to the North Vietnamese and to the Viet Cong controlled portions of South Vietnam.

The fact that the government of the United States could grant such permission is almost unbelievable, yet true. Approval for the plan had been sought by a group of religious leaders headed by the Rev. William S. Coffin Jr., Chaplain of Yale University.

The permission was somewhat restricted but nevertheless constitutes an act of aiding an enemy. The permission as granted, stipulated that the value of the supplies sent be not more than $300. Now this isn't much and will not be of great strategic value to the enemy but this is not the point.

Consider the reactions of an American soldier, risking his life each day to further the policies of the government of the United States, and then receives news that this same government has granted permission for medical supplies, no matter how little, to be sent to the same people he is engaged in fighting.

I do not pretend to know what the Lord's views are on the subject, but I do know this; regardless of official appraisals of the situation in Viet Nam, American troops are engaged in mortal combat with an enemy dedicated to enslavement of free people.

We cannot send American troops to battle, and not give them complete and total support, including the use of all weapons at our disposal to promote the cause of victory, which is after all, the only reason that a war should be fought in the first place.

It is too late to ask ourselves whether we should be in Viet Nam or not -- we are there and 5000 Americans have died there. We must pursue the goal of total victory or else 5000 lives will have been wasted.

Above all, we cannot allow misguided philanthropists to jeopardize the morale of our troops by sending aid and comfort to the enemy whom they are fighting. It is high time that groups of pacifists in this country realize that war is a dirty and serious business, not a game, and can only be ended by victory over the opposing forces.

Since there will always be those who will not understand and continue to help the opposing forces, it is up to the government to see that their efforts are unsuccessful. To do otherwise will only insure that the war will continue on and on with American lives being committed to an ever-dripping faucet of blood in Asia.

Advice On Home Planning

When shopping or planning for a new house, the housewife should take a good look at the overall kitchen planning. Some very awkward situations are found in many new homes because not enough thought and planning was done.

The flow of traffic and convenience of the appliances is very important. Some of the awkward situations that could grow more irritating with time are as follows:

1. Be sure a built-in oven or dishwasher does not obstruct traffic when it's open. This can be hazardous.
2. Doors which, when they open into the kitchen, should not cut off use of an appliance or a portion of counter space. Sometimes you can solve the problem by having them swung to open out or in the opposite direction.
3. Lack of counter space is frustrating. Be sure there's a "landing-strip" beside the refrigerator--preferably on the side where it opens, by a built-in oven (let's hope it's heat-proof) and ample ones on both sides of the sink.
4. In smallish kitchens, avoid having major traffic run right through the main work area. Children rarely stop, look or listen, which could make such a traffic arrangement exasperating and dangerous.
5. If you walk quite a distance from sink to range, you're in for spills and a lot of trotting back and forth when you need water for cooking, to drain vegetables, etc. About three to six feet is a manageable distance.

Germination Irrigation Produces Optimum Yields

Wheat irrigated at germination, joint, boot, head, and soft dough stages produced optimum yields and returns in the 1965-1966 wheat irrigation and fertilizer research tests at the High Plains Research Foundation, according to Dr. Earl Collister, Executive Vice-President and Director.

Foundation tests showed that the last or soft dough stage irrigation can be eliminated if adequate rainfall occurs in the latter half of May. For the second consecutive year, the winter irrigation applied in February to non-grazed wheat was not profitable. The optimum and economic yields of Tascosa wheat, used in the test, were produced with 120 pounds of nitrogen plus 30 pounds of sulfur and/or 60 pounds of P2O5 (phosphorus).

What is there about traveling salesmen?

Well, one thing about a traveling salesman is that he gives his car hard usage. Business calls require a lot of start and stop driving. And that's when corrosive engine wear can cause serious damage.

Actually, start and stop driving is the kind of driving most of us do most of the time. So, to protect your motor under these severe conditions, your Phillips 66 Dealer recommends Trop-Artic All-Season Motor Oil. Trop-Artic starts protecting at low temperatures, and keeps on protecting at high operating temperatures. It's a light oil, a medium oil and a heavy oil, all in one!

To keep your car running better longer, get Trop-Artic Motor Oil at any station where you see the Phillips 66 Shield.

The wheat irrigation-fertilizer study was conducted by Loyd Langford, Associate Agronomist and Dean Howard, Assistant Agronomist at the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, Tex. The protein analysis on these tests was conducted by S. N. Vilm, Chief Chemist of Producers Grain Corporation, Amarillo. This research was conducted to help growers determine the most timely irrigation schedule and efficient fertilizer level for growing wheat with profitable returns under various farming conditions, Dr. Collister said. Twelve fertilizer levels were applied preplant in randomized complete block design and replicated four times within each of the three irrigation methods. One hundred pounds of Tascosa wheat seed per acre was planted on October 25, 1965 and was harvested on June 25, 1966. Under the conditions of the wheat test, sulfur produced high yields and returns. The addition of 60 to 90 pounds of P2O5 produced a significant increase in yield over nitrogen alone at the 80 pound nitrogen rate under all three irrigation methods. The addition of phosphate increased yields sufficiently over nitrogen alone in most treatments to pay for the phosphate cost. This wheat irrigation-fertilizer test will be valuable this year due to the increase in allotted wheat acreage for 1966-1967. Complete details on the wheat irrigation-fertilizer test can be found in the research report recently sent to all supporting members of the Foundation.

Back The Steers

In searching for greater happiness in life, we may look to other persons or things for the answer. We may think happiness depends on friendships with others. But in our search have we looked in the right place—in our own heart? Happiness is within us. It is a state of mind, a feeling in our heart. When we look to God for happiness, we find it in the everyday things in life. Happiness is peace of mind, and the realization that God satisfies every longing in our heart and fills our life with good.

What Is An Editorial?

(Newspaper readers and the general public often have questions about newspapers, news coverage and new policies. This periodic series will provide information important to you as a newspaper reader. The following concern editorial and personal comment. You are invited to send in your questions about newspapers.)

1. WHAT IS AN EDITORIAL?

An editorial is the expression of an opinion. That opinion may be expressed by the newspaper itself, by a syndicated columnist, a public figure or an average reader. Letters-to-the-editor from readers are editorials, too.

2. WHAT IS THE PURPOSE OF AN EDITORIAL?

The purpose of an editorial is to create discussion among readers and thus cause the reader to think through a situation or a subject and form his own opinion. In brief, then, the purpose of an editorial is to provoke thought.

3. WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE IN A NEWS REPORT AND AN EDITORIAL?

Basically, the news story is an account of something, while an editorial is an opinion on something. The news story tells factually only what happened. The editorial interprets and evaluates what happened.

4. ARE EDITORIALS NECESSARY?

They are necessary if a newspaper is to play the key role of protecting the rights of people. Editorials can serve as the source of jelling public reaction to injustice and lead in bringing about change. Editorials are the voice of freedom; a check against abridgment of individual freedom.

5. DO EDITORIALS SOMETIMES INTERFERE WITH GOVERNMENT?

Yes! Often it is an editorial which causes extra government delay and care. It causes public officials to use caution, to deliberate, hold public hearings and to change courses. Editorials serve as a check on government and by so doing increase freedom of individuals by decreasing or delaying the power of government.

6. HOW DID EDITORIALS COME TO PLAY SUCH AN IMPORTANT ROLE?

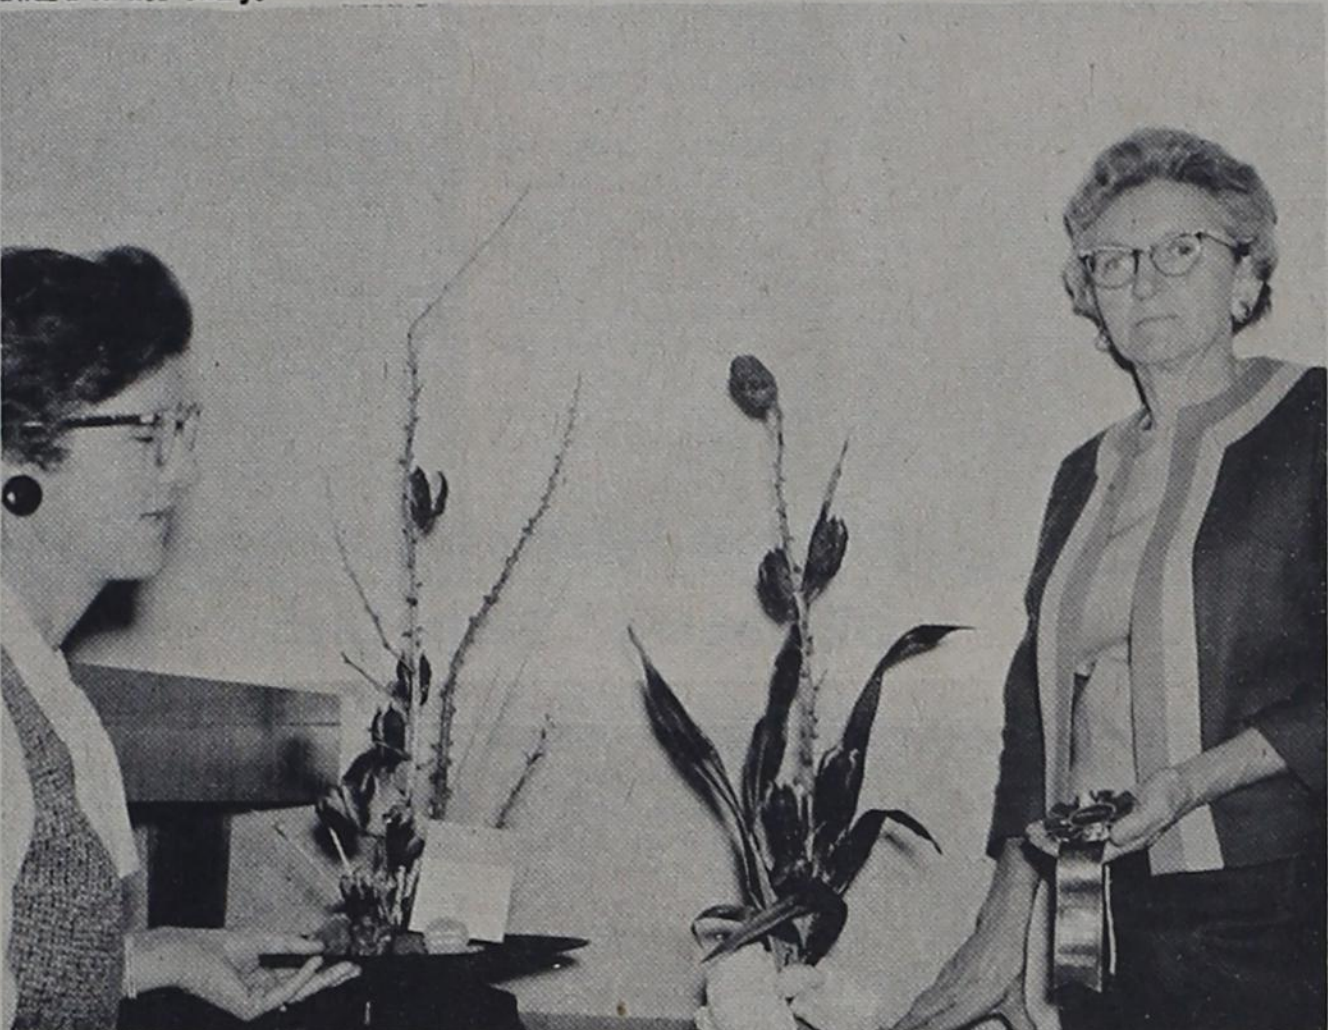

Newspapers in the original 13 colonies expressed, in editorials, opposition to measures which were felt to be unjust. When the crown attempted to outlaw editorials, the people demanded our press remain free because they saw a free press as the guardian of liberty. When the Bill of Rights was written, a free press was guaranteed, as a means of protecting the people's freedom.

7. DO EDITORIALS EXERT GREAT INFLUENCE IN POLITICS?

Editorials, by provoking thought, influence politics. Editorials, in themselves, tend to have little or no effect on the outcome of political campaigns, however. The fact that a newspaper endorses editorially a candidate or party, does not mean the readers so vote. The influence of editorials comes in causing people to form their own opinions and vote their choice. Editorials often cause a greater number of people to vote, and whenever the electorate is broadened liberty is served.

Farm To Market Roads --

Highway Commissioners Approves Spending $142,400

The Texas Highway Commission has approved the spending of $142,400 for highway safety and betterment and improvement of the farm to market road system in Parmer County during 1967, District Engineer Oscar L. Crain of Lubbock has announced.

He said a total of 38.4 highway miles in the county will be involved. Work will be under the supervision of James King, district maintenance engineer.

The work is part of the Highway Commission's combined 1967 Farm to Market Road Improvement and State Highway Safety and Betterment Program.

The safety and betterment portion of the program will cover 38.4 highway miles in Parmer County and cost an estimated $142,400.

The Parmer County portion of the project will be on Highway 60 from county line to county line. It is divided into three parts -- from New Mexico state line to Bovina, 12.8 miles; from Bovina to Friona, 10.8 miles; and from Friona to Castro county line, 14.8 miles.

Herbert C. Petry, Jr., chairman of the Highway Commission, called the combined program "a double-barreled effort in two vitally important highway areas."

1st District Try Tonight --

Steers Lose Thriller To Seagraves Eagles

The Farwell Steers were handed their fourth close loss of the season Friday night at Seagraves as the Eagles edged the Steers 30-26. Although the Steer offense showed no lack of scoring punch, the defense once again encountered trouble in the form of hard running backs.

This time however, it was not one, but two, of the big fellows that dealt out the misery. Mike Bagley, 185-pound fullback, and Melvin Francis, hard charging halfback, ripped the Steer line most of the night for big gains which sustained the Eagles' scoring drives. With Gary Burnett and Bernard Gibson, both over 200 pounds, blocking from the tackle positions, Seagraves was able to move the ball almost at will, scoring in each of the quarters to edge out the Steers by four points.

The Steer passing game failed to function with the precision of which it is capable, as Bobby Field completed seven passes out of twenty attempts with one interception for a percentage of 35. Seagraves' Clarence Law on the other hand threw only seven times but completed four of them including three touchdown passes to Tim Blair. The Eagles running game accounted for the other touchdown.

The Eagles drew first blood with a minute and seventeen seconds left in the first quarter as Clarence Law pinpointed Tim Blair on a second and goal situation for the touchdown. They elected to try for two and a successful attempt handed Seagraves an 8-0 lead.

The Steers came roaring back after the ensuing kickoff, with the big play being a 24-yard pass from Field to Bruce Dolar to give the Steers a first down on the Seagraves 32-yard line. Johnny Schell carried for two and then Field elected to keep and skirted the left side for a first down on the Eagle 14. Al Phillips carried to the six and Field then crashed over for the touchdown. A pass to Schell was good for the two point conversion and the score was tied 8-8 with 10:10 left in the half.

A fumbled snap on a fourth down attempt put the Steers in business again only minutes later as the Steers pounced on the loose ball on the Seagraves 27. On the first play from scrimmage, Johnny Schell ripped his way downfield for the go ahead touchdown with 6:18 left in the first half. The extra point attempt was fumbled but the Steers led 14-8.

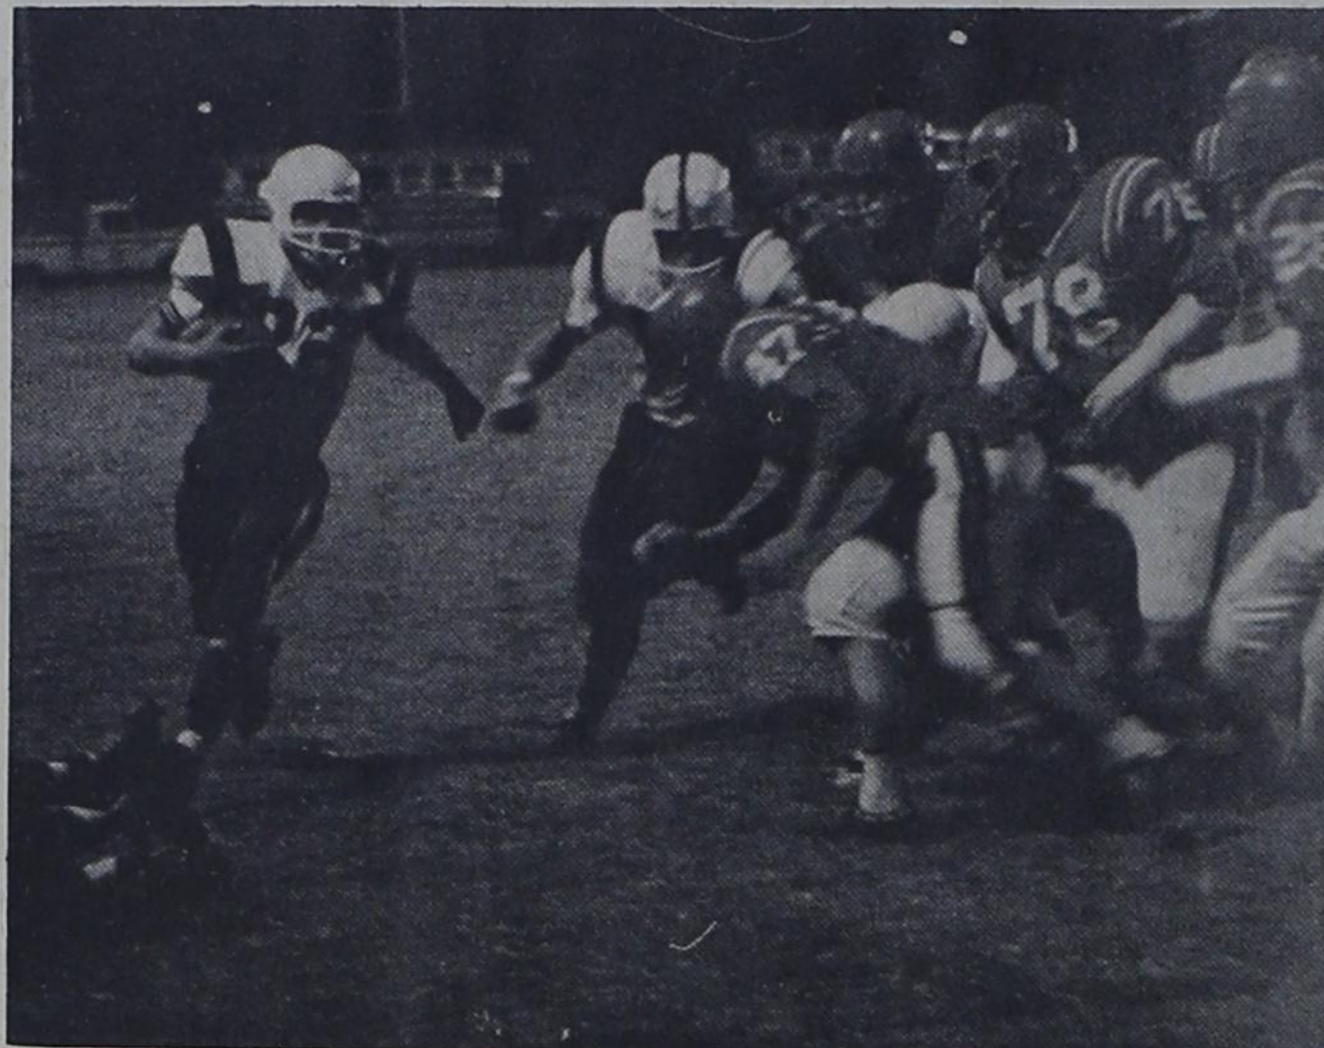

Seagraves came right back as Francis returned the kickoff out to the Eagle 29. Nine plays later, with Seagraves faced with a fourth down and eight on the Steer 34, Law once again found Blair open and hit him with a strike for the touchdown. The two point conversion was successful and Seagraves regained the lead, 16-14.

With 1:58 left in the half, the Steers started a drive which ended with a highly disputed play on the Eagle goal line. Charles Norton returned the short kickoff out to his own 40 before being hauled down. A completed pass to Al Phillips, and two carries by Field moved the ball to the Seagraves 31 with 48 seconds left. Phillips then lugged the ball to the Eagle 16 with 18 seconds showing on the clock. A completed pass to Schell and a keeper by Field moved the ball to the one foot line with only 11 seconds good defensively as they might have been." He singled out Bobby Chadwick and Bobby Field for turning in exceptional jobs along with Johnny Schell and Al Phillips, who were injured in the game. The coach is hoping that both of the injured boys will be able to play by Friday night.

own ten and promptly drove 90 yards in 12 plays with Law keeping for the final five yards and a 30 to 26 lead. The Steers tried desperately to come back with a score, but with 2:40 left in the game, Law intercepted a Field pass on the Eagle 29 to insure the victory for Seagraves.

SHORT YARDAGE -- Bobby Chadwick sweeps the right side of the Steer line for short gain. Blocking for the runner is the Blue and White quarterback, Bobby Field.

STOUT DEFENSE -- The Steer defense was playing tough as they forced the ball out of the hands of the Seagraves runner. Farwell recovered the ball but was unable to take advantage of the break for a score. The Steer defense forced two fumbles that the Blue and White were able to convert to scores in the third quarter of last Friday's game with the Seagraves Eagles.

In Rodeo Competition

Dewey Pierce and his brother, Johnny, of Texico are among the group of Eastern New Mexico University students who are competing in the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association rodeos this season.

They were in competition in a rodeo in Portales over the weekend and will be competing in the Southwest Region Rodeo in Guymon, Okla., late this month when Oklahoma A&M hosts teams from the area. Both boys are graduates of Clovis High School.

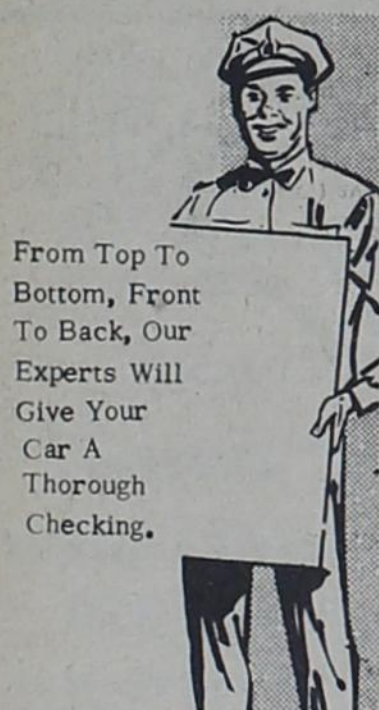

GOTCHA -- End Randy Johnson says as he bears down on an Eagle runner in the third quarter of last week's game.

left. In a controversial decision, it was ruled that Larry Surtle was stopped short of the goal line as time ran out in the first half.

The Eagles scored again in the third quarter as Bagley, Francis, and Dennis McKenzie combined to move the ball to the Steer 15 in eight plays. For the third time, Law connected with Blair for a 15-yard touchdown play. Francis carried for the two point conversion, and the Steers were behind 24-14.

Twelve plays later, the Steers were on the scoreboard once again as Phillips took a pitch-out from Field for the score, capping a 74-yard drive which consumed four minutes and nine seconds on the scoreboard clock. The two point conversion pass fell incomplete and Seagraves still led at that point 24-20.

A recovered fumble on the Eagle 30 provided the Steers with another scoring opportunity only minutes later. It took the Steers seven plays to score from that point as Field carried over from the two for the touchdown. Bobby Chadwick attempted to pick up the two point conversion, but was stopped short. With two seconds remaining in the third quarter, Farwell held a 26-24 advantage.

The Steers were provided with another chance at scoring seconds later as McKenzie fumbled and Farwell recovered on the Eagle 15. A fourth and five situation failed however and the Steers were forced to relinquish possession of the football.

Cadet Band

by Will (Scoop) Anderson

Under the direction of the skilled Charles Turner on September 30th, Homecoming Night, the band made its first public marching performance.

They played the selections, "Post Game Polka" and "Bleacher Boogie" (what a wild beat!), then marched off the field with great precision.

"The Junior High Band did a marvelous job on their first performance", says Freshman Cheryl Raye Boling. "They did real well for beginners", avows Sixth Grader Barbara Goettsch. "They did pretty good", says Seventh Grader Brett Hargrove.

All in all they did pretty well for their first public performance.
