Pitching summary: Off Lee 3 runs, 11 hits in 8 innings; off Russell 0 runs, 1 hit in 1 inning. Hit by pitcher—by Lee (Crosetti). Losing pitcher—Lee.

Third Inning YANKES Crosetti flied to Reynolds in center. Gehrig singled. Ruffing hit a long fly to Demaree. Hartnett singled over first. Collins taking the ball several yards back of the bag but having no chance to make a play. Hartnett was caught stealing. Hartnett to Herman. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

CUBS—Collins singled. Jurgess fanned. Dickey took Lee's weak roller five feet in front of the plate and threw him out. Collins advancing to second. Hack singled to right scoring Collins, and went to second on the throw-in to the plate. Herman's liner bounced off Ruff's glove for a single but when Hack tried to score on the play, Crosetti, backing up third, threw the ball and threw him out at the plate. One run, three hits, no errors, one left.

Fourth Inning YANKES—Gehrig made a fine stop of Demaree's grounder and threw him out. Gehrig sent a long single to right but was out when he tried to stretch it to a double. Dickey singled over second. Selkirk popped to Hack. No runs, two hits, no errors, one left.

CUBS—When Demaree tried to dodge a pitch the ball hit his bat and bounded to Ruffing who threw him out. Cavarretta struck out. Reynolds popped to Gehrig. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Fifth Inning YANKES—Gordon doubled to the left field corner. Ruffing sacrificed. Hartnett to Collins. Crosetti struck out. Herman threw out Ruff. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

The clouds were heavy overhead as the Cubs came to bat in the fifth. Hartnett fanned. Dickey dropped the third strike and had to throw the Cub manager out at first. Gordon made a sensational stop of Collins' grounder with his back to the plate and threw him out. Jurgess struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Sixth Inning YANKES—Hartnett doubled off the wall in right. DiMaggio flied to Cavarretta in right. Hartnett holding second. Gehrig struck out. Dickey's high fly fell safely in left for a single. Hartnett scoring. Selkirk grounded to Lee and then beat the hit out for a single, just reaching the bag in front of Lee's throw. Collins protested. Dickey went to second on the play. Gordon fanned. One run, three hits, no errors, two left.

CUBS—Lee flied to DiMaggio in deep center. Hack beat out a grounder down the third base line for a single. Herman rolled to Ruff who threw to Gordon, forcing Hack but Herman was safe at

Benes Resigns As President Of Czechoslovakia; Germany Talks Of Reparations For 'Injustices' Daladier Govt. Claims Loom As Fresh Obstacle In The Way Of European Peace

Daladier Govt. Wins Decree Powers

Cabinet Will Rule With Full Authority Until Nov. 15

PARIS, Oct. 5 (AP)—The senate today voted to grant Premier Edouard Daladier's cabinet powers to govern France by decree until Nov. 15, powers already approved by the chamber of deputies. The senate's vote was 286 to 4. The chamber had voted the decree powers by 331 to 78, with 204 abstentions, after a stormy all-night session in which the premier met much more opposition than in the previous debate on approval of the four-power pact of Munich.

When the decree is published in the official journal, probably tomorrow, the Daladier government will have broad, almost undefined powers to rule the nation until Nov. 15. Such powers were sought to grapple with the economic and financial ills confronting France. Daladier came into office last April 10 with similar powers, but they expired July 31.

Only by a strange combination of appeals to patriotism and shrewd political trading did Daladier keep socialists from casting the 157 votes against him in the chamber of deputies. He was forced to cut the term of decree powers from Dec. 31 to the accepted Nov. 15, to promise the chamber publicly that he would respect people's front social reforms, and agree to call parliament into session about Nov. 16, so the cabinet would have no chance of passing next year's budget by decree.

$425,000 Payment Ends Oil Litigation

AUSTIN, Oct. 5 (AP)—State's attorneys closed their files today on one celebrated anti-trust suit and marveled prosecution for another. They wrote "finis" to a case charging 15 oil companies and two associations with conspiracy to illegally restrain trade and looked to commencement, probably early next month, of hearings in another charging six cement companies with price-fixing.

DEATH CLAIMS R. F. DARR

Death Tuesday night ended a life of only a few years short of a century, as Raife Fuller Darr succumbed at 9 p. m., at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Anna D. Whitney, at 211 West Ninth street. Mr. Darr would have been 92 years old next December 13.

Born in South Carolina in 1844, he has made his home with his daughter in Big Spring for the past 15 years. Previously, he was engaged in the furniture and undertaking business in Kentucky.

He is survived by his widow, the one daughter; a nephew, John Darr of Lexington, Okla.; two grandchildren, Herbert Whitney and Mrs. Virginia Wear of Big Spring; and three great-grandchildren. Funeral services were scheduled for 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Eberley chapel, with Dr. D. F. McConnell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, in charge. Burial was to be made in the Mt. Olive cemetery. Named as pallbearers were J. R. Creath, R. C. Strain, Theo. Andrews, T. S. Currie, Pat Harrison, W. F. Cushing and C. F. Duval.

THREE MAJOR COLLEGES IN TEXAS CONTINUING THEIR SEARCH FOR 'RIGHT MAN' AS PRESIDENT

By The Associated Press There still is plenty of room at the top of the Texas educational industry. This was evident today as boards of directors continued their careful search among candidates for president of three leading institutions—the University of Texas, Southern Methodist university, and Texas Technological college. Dr. Edward Randall, president of the University of Texas board of regents, said at Galveston Tuesday he believed selection of a $17,500-a-year man to succeed

Britain Calls For Russia's Support

Sir John Simon Is Heard In Debate On Munich Treaty

LONDON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Sir John Simon declared before the house of commons today that Britain had no desire to shut the Soviet Union out of "any future settlement of Europe."

The chancellor of the exchequer, a member of the "inner cabinet" which advised Prime Minister Chamberlain on the Czechoslovak-German crisis, urged Russia to join other powers in guaranteeing the boundaries of the Czechoslovakia that is to be left after dismemberment. Simon spoke in the third day of debate on the "Peace of Munich" and formally asked for a vote of confidence in Chamberlain's steps to bring that peace at a cost of satisfying Reichsfuehrer Hitler with Czechoslovak territory.

Simon affirmed Chamberlain's desire for a lasting understanding between democracies and dictators but denied Chamberlain was seeking a four-power pact among Britain, France, Germany and Italy which would disregard other states and "impose its will on Europe."

FD Would Like To See Labor And Industry Bury The Hatchet

Thinks That's Way Toward Better Business

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt hopes that labor and industry will get together to bring about an upswing in the nation's business. This report was given today by persons close to the White House who said Mr. Roosevelt believes that, if name-calling and bitterness is ended, the country may look forward to general economic improvement.

Saito To Be Recalled If American Govt. Willing

TOKYO, Oct. 5 (AP)—The foreign office announced today that Kenzuke Horinouchi, vice minister for foreign affairs, would be appointed ambassador to the United States in succession to Hiroshi Saito if the Washington government gives its approval.

COMPARATIVE RATE OF PAY FOR RAIL WORKERS ARGUED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Railroad labor counsel questioned today as he founded the testimony of a witness for the railroads that the wages they pay are high in comparison with other industries. Charles M. Hay, representing 18 brotherhoods, asked an emergency fact-finding board to discard a pile of charts and graphs offered by the railroads in an effort to justify a proposed 15 per cent wage reduction.

SPECIAL TERM OF COURT AT ODESSA

District Attorney Cecil Collings was in Odessa Wednesday where Judge Charles L. Klapproth of the 7th judicial district was arranging for a special term of court in Ector county. The court grand jury was in session at Midland Monday and Tuesday.

Dr. Eugene B. Hawk, vice president, has been acting president of S.M.U. since Dr. Charles Selemann relinquished his position after being named a Southern Methodist church bishop. No definite salary has been determined for the place. At Lubbock, Vice Chairman Spencer Wells said the Texas Tech directorate was "nowhere near a choice" of a successor to

Jan Svyrov To Direct Affairs Until New Chief Named

PRAGUE, Oct. 5 (AP)—Eduard Benes, target of Adolf Hitler's enmity, resigned today as president of Czechoslovakia because, he said, "my remaining in office might constitute an obstacle to the new conditions which now confront this state."

Wage & Hour Act Lauded By Leche

Labor Hears Him Call It 'Emancipation Proclamation'

HOUSTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Governor Richard W. Leche of Louisiana, addressing the American Federation of Labor's annual convention today, hailed the new federal wage-hour law as President Roosevelt's "emancipation proclamation to free white labor of the South."

The Louisiana executive brought cheers from 40 delegates in an otherwise dull session, when he proclaimed the "courage" of the South as "the nation's number one economic problem."

The federal's 58th annual assembly did little business on the convention floor, leaders waiting for the all-important resolutions committee to complete the first of its reports on questions which will determine the A. F. of L. future policy on labor and legislative matters.

William Green, the A. F. of L. president, presented Leche to the convention as an executive "with a progressive and liberal attitude toward modern day social and economic problems."

Conserving Of State's Resources Stressed

Neff Leads Parley On Water Supply Problems

AUSTIN, Oct. 5 (AP)—Former Governor Pat Neff, the "daddy" of conservation in Texas, today told W. Lee O'Daniel, governor-nominee, he would have no more important problem than preservation of the state's natural resources.

He said flood control was but one essential in a comprehensive program, adding that water and soil conservation were also necessary. The conference, sponsored by the Texas Watershed association, listed as other speakers R. J. McMahon, state reclamation engineer; Maj. E. A. Wood, director of the Texas planning board; F. O. Hagie of Washington, D. C., secretary-manager of the National Reclamation association; V. H. Schaeffgen, agriculture editor of the Dallas Morning News; and Clarence De Busk of Jacksonville, executive vice-president of the watershed association.

MRS. PURSER'S MOTHER DIES

Illness of several weeks' duration ended in the death, at 5:30 Tuesday afternoon, of Mrs. Rhoda Elizabeth Webster, 88, mother of Mrs. Frank Purser of this city. She succumbed at Mrs. Purser's home, 433 Hillside Drive, where she had resided for the past three months. Mrs. Webster became ill shortly after coming here from Eastland to make her home with her daughter.

Burial will be beside the grave of her husband, the late A. H. Webster, and old friends at Walnut Springs will serve as pallbearers. Mrs. Webster was born in Alabama Dec. 14, 1849. Besides the daughter here, she is survived by another daughter, Mrs. M. L. Smithman of Eastland; two sons, C. L. and J. M. Webster of Waco; nine grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. One of the grandchildren is V. R. Smithman, former city manager of Big Spring.

WILLIE FAYT was held in the county jail Wednesday on a charge of theft by bailor in connection with removal of a car from the county.

TEAL BLUE A FAVORED COLOR

Teal blue—a soft greened shade and one of the American fashion world's favored fall hues—colors this high school girl's frock of soft wool. It has the high neckline and flared skirt of the 1938 fall mode and is worked in wool-embroidered floral bands of rose, green, white and blue. The accessories are brown.

WRITING AND READING

Some serious books for cooler weather—

SUNDAY—Using the curious and occasionally enigmatic figure of Samuel Taylor Coleridge in its relation to the Wordsworths as a basis, Frances Winwar ends up in "Farewell the Banner" doing a panorama of a literary epoch...

MONDAY—George Lansbury's lifetime devoted to his peculiar and personal peace crusade is the subject matter of "A Pilgrimage for Peace." He has told much about the men he has met and the thoughts he and they have had...

TUESDAY—Nathalie Sedgwick Colby's "Remembering" is a book of reminiscences which, in effect, ties the old life of the Stockbridge, Mass., group into the current of modern affairs. It has humor, a little satire, a fresh outlook. (Little, Brown $3.)

WEDNESDAY—Frank Smith's "Thomas Paine" takes advantage of the current revival of interest in the great idealist and his work. It is not a racy book, but it is sincere and founded upon honest scholarship so far as this reader can determine. (Stokes: $3.)

THURSDAY—A man far more interesting than Queen Victoria's "dear Albert" has been brought out of the Victorian mists by E. E. P. Tisdall in "Queen Victoria's Mr. Brown." He is that most amazing of servants, John Brown—the man who dared on occasion to bully his capricious mistress, who once rebuked a roomful of statesmen who had not drunk a toast to their queen, whose private diaries were impounded, and later burned by royal order after his death. This is good reading. (Stokes: $3.)

FRIDAY—What seems almost a deliberate campaign to defy that consummate bore, Bronson Alcott, has new impetus this month in the publication of a selection from the 50 volumes of his journal. "The Journals of Bronson Alcott" are edited by Odell Shepard, who wrote his biography a year or so back. (Little, Brown: $5.)

SATURDAY—Lord Lunsbury has come out of his shell via the method of autobiography. "Patches of Sunlight" is the title, and a curious life that drifted into literature along unusual paths is the subject. (Reynal & Hitchcock: $3.)

W.M.S. To Sponsor Pie Supper Friday

Wesley Memorial W.M.S. are sponsoring a pie supper to be held at the church, 1202 Owens St., at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening for the purpose of raising funds for the conference benevolence claims. All are invited to attend.

Queen's Wreath Is Used To Decorate Luncheon Table

A beautiful arrangement of queen's wreath centered the luncheon table Tuesday when Mrs. W. E. McNallen was hostess to three guests and members of the Culbertson Study club at the Settles hotel. Mrs. R. H. Miller, who won high score, Mrs. Emory Duff and Mrs. Joe Pond were guests. Mrs. Thomas J. Coffee, Mrs. C. J. Stapleton, Mrs. W. M. Thurston and Mrs. Charles Koberg were the members present.

Mrs. D. S. Orr received a message Wednesday morning that her aunt, Mrs. Mattie Bradford of Ranger, died suddenly Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Orr will not be able to attend the funeral.

Noted Economist To Conduct Free Cooking School

Now Is Your Chance To Learn Home Economics

Girls now in school have opportunities to prepare for the responsibilities of managing a household that were not available to the girls of former days. Many experienced housewives often wish that they had been able to receive capable instruction in home economics.

The opportunity of learning from a well-qualified teacher is now made available to every woman, young or old, experienced or inexperienced.

The Happy Kitchen Cooking School, arranged by this newspaper in cooperation with a number of national food concerns and local enterprises, brings just such an opportunity to every woman at absolutely no cost, as admission to all the lectures is free.

Mrs. Arreva D. French, noted through a large area for her knowledge as a home economist and her charm as a lecturer, will conduct the school. It will be held from 2 to 4 p. m. on October 17, 18 and 19 at the Municipal auditorium, where arrangements have been made to seat everyone who wishes to attend and hear the lectures to be given by this well-known authority.

When the housewife is confronted with the knowledge that her cooking is in a rut, that she is always serving "the same old thing," it is wonderful to see what an inspiration she can receive from the practical demonstrations given by Mrs. French. There's a lot more to cooking than just dashing into the kitchen and starting to boil, fry or bake. Menu planning, buying judgment, food selection, and economical preparation all occupy a place of extreme importance.

All of these subjects and more too will be discussed by Mrs. French in her series of lectures. Remember, the lectures are free, and a cordial

Revival To Open Sunday At Fourth Street Church

Committees have been named and other preparatory work is going forward for a revival meeting which will open Sunday at the East Fourth Street Baptist church, to continue through the following Sunday. The campaign is under sponsorship of the young people of the church, and J. W. (Bill) Marshall of Dallas, secretary for the Baptist Student Union of Texas, will conduct the services.

Services will be at 10 a. m. and 7:15 p. m. each day, and in addition there will be a special meeting for young people each evening at 7 o'clock.

On the revival publicity committee are Otis Wilson, J. L. Andrews, Addie Lee Cotton, Addison Cotton, Iva Lee Shirley, Geraldine McClelland, Geraldine Woods, Naomi Alvis and Juanelle Teague. Buck Tyree is chairman of the ushers' committee, and on the entertainment group are Mrs. L. L. Redwine, Mary Cowling, Mary Ellen Miles, Frances Hurley, Oscar Stewart and Marcelle Martin.

BIG SPRING TEXAS

THE SPORTS PARADE

by Hank Hart

Football tickets to the San Angelo game Friday night may be purchased at the school tax office in the courthouse. Reserve seats will be sold at 75c with east side duets going at a half buck.

Doubtful Future

Herman Fuhrer, Big Spring's genial wrestling promoter, took a beating during the summer in the tin-can business which may end the grunt and groan biz here for a spell.

Lack of revolving talent caused the customers to stay away from the club in droves.

The fight racket on a small time scale is being exploited in Abilene and San Angelo and promoters are making ends meet, about as much as can be expected. Woody Windham, who headquartered in Big Spring for a spell and threw a show opening grid battle last weekend but the Big Spring boy had to take the blame along with Eddie Lam. Ole turned in some great games in mid-fall against the invaders but for some reason, wasn't called upon to carry the ball when the Owl moved in to threaten.

The Owl defeat pained Dr. M. E. Bennett of the home guard as much as it did any member of the Rice squad. Doc, who went to Fort Worth to watch the Texas Christian-Arkansas game last weekend, could hardly believe his ears when he heard the news. He searched out all the newspapers giving an account of the tragedy, finally threw in the towel with "I've read every paper from Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston and all say the same thing—that Rice took a beating."

All the Sweetwater Mustang secondary was sick abed last week but Dewey Mayhew, Abilene mentor, will have to hope for more than a mere headache or two when the Ponies and his Eagles meet in an Oil Belt game this weekend. The cards appear stacked against the War Bird director this fall with Sweetwater showing no weak points this far. Too, an Abilene regular, Halfback Bill McClure, will ride the sidelines due to injuries suffered in practice.

Last week Jinx Tucker, Waco scribe, ranked Corpus Christi as the top high school team in the state with Longview fourth, Amarillo seventh and Porth Arthur way down the list.

Corpus, tied by Temple, 0-0, has an outstanding machine but appears to be weaker than Longview or the Yellow Jackets who battled to a 14 tie in a game played at Longview.

HIS CAMPAIGN OVER

AUSTIN, Oct. 5 (AP)—Lee O'Daniel's campaigning is over, at least for the time being.

He has three opponents in the general election, a republican, a socialist and a communist, but doesn't intend to do anything about it.

Here for a water conservation meeting, he was asked if he planned any campaign before the November election. He laughed. "My campaign's over," he said.

Gain Revenge In Donkey Baseball Game At Baron Park

Day Cornelison's mighty blow to left field, and equally amazing ride around the bases before fielders could coax their donkeys into a position to field the ball, decided the donkey baseball game Tuesday night 10 for the Kiwanians over the Lions.

Cornelison's remarkable feat came in the last inning before a crowd of about 1,900. Up until that time no better had done much more than round first base and put the proverbial "rodin" to shame with feats of dust-bating. When the donkeys didn't buck, they bailed or got ball-headed about being seen.

Fans got the worth of the tariff in seeing what the riders take in early departures from the trained man-eating mounts. The "spirited" runs in the field to retrieve scattered balls was just as breath-taking.

NY Confident Of Finishing In 4 Games

Team Goes To Sweetwater Thursday

Mentor Johnny Daniel witnessed the results of four weeks work Thursday evening when his Yearlings, junior team of the local high school, took to Sweetwater for their first football game of the season with John Rangan junior high school's team of that city.

Daniel has been working earnestly with the Yearlings known last year on the fields, on the Birdwell training grounds. About 45 boys have been reporting to him each evening.

His best bet will be Junior Moore, hard driving back of the West Ward team of 1937 who has put on weight and who appeared to be "natural" as a ball carrier. Moore is fast and shifty.

He will be assisted by Bobby Mann, hard driving quarter, in the ball carrying department. Others in Daniel's starting secondary are Evans, half and Ely, half who do most of the blocking.

The Yearlings' average weight will measure up to about 125 pounds with Florent, right tackle, and Williams, right guard, the heaviest at 135 each.

Gothamites Due To Return With Gomez And Pearson

By GAYLE TALBOT
CHICAGO, Oct. 5 (AP)—Unaccustomed as they are to winning a world series, the Chicago Cubs go into their battle against the wonder Yankees today with bounding hopes and a strong hunch that they are going to upset the apple cart.

There is nothing very sensible about their dream. The Yankees look just as tough as they ever did, and you can't imagine how lethal they look when Red Ruffing is pitching and swinging his bludgeoning bat. That particular line-up gives the Yankees nine hitters, any one of whom can, and do, break up ball games.

But that is how the Cubs feel about it. They know that the posted odds are 12 to 5 against their chances, and the consensus of the experts is that the Yankees will win their first straight world championship in five games, winding up the series in New York next Monday night.

"Team of Destiny"
Yet the Cubs go into today's game thinking they are going to win. They have an abounding confidence in the pitching of General Bill Lee, who faces Ruffing in the first game, and they think they are a "team of destiny," or something. At that, there is something mystical about the fact that General Lee, a big fellow from the banana belt, is taking another whack at the Yankees.

A caparison crowd of, loosely, 44,000 was assembled for today's game, and that of tomorrow, Wrigley Field, one of the prettiest arenas in baseball, with its red brick wall circling the outfield, was a sellout last night. Speculators were demanding up to $75 for a set of single seats to the three games that will be played here in the series over six games, and the more hardy bleachers fans were in line at noon yesterday.

The Yankees, cocky as ever, think they will knock over the Cubs in four straight games. They are, if anything, a trifle too confident. They clinched the American league pennant some three weeks before the season ended, and they haven't played good ball since. They didn't look very good in their practice yesterday, and several rival managers of their league have been shaking their heads around the hotel lobbies here the last two days, speculating whether the champions would recover their 1932 form.

Pitched Nine Shuntouts

Everybody is agreed that the Cubs are sunk without a ripple if Lee fails them today. Lee has won 22 games this year. He has pitched nine shuntouts, more than have been pitched by any other two classes in the major leagues. He pitched three shuntouts against the American leaguers in the all-star game at Cincinnati, and allowed only one fluke hit.

Lee is a fast-ball pitcher, with a sharp curve that he keeps low and outside. That is supposed to be the only effective pitching against the sluggers of the Yankee batting line. If Lee stays them, then the Cubs have a chance, because he set-up will permit him to pitch three games in the series. If Ruffing beats him today, why it was a pleasure to have seen him.

Gomez, Then Pearson

Lefty Gomez is set to pitch the second for the Yankees and Monte Pearson for the Cubs.

The Cubs will reply with Clay Bryant and Dizzy Dean, which is strictly no argument if Lee comes a cropper.

Gaby Hartnett, catcher-manager of the Cubs, is determined to play in the series, though he is suffering with a couple of damaged fingers on his right hand. His bat is an important factor in the Cubs' attack.

The games here will be broadcast, but not by Charley Grimm, former manager of the Bruins, who has since become one of the sweetest voices on the air. Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis forbade it on the ground that Charley might be partial to his old club. The commissioner must have made his decision before he heard that the Cubs had cut Grimm off with-out a cent of the world series swag.

Phillies Pick Up Prize Rookie; Roy Parmelee Goes To Athletics

CHICAGO, Oct. 5 (AP)—The "new deal" that Philadelphia's fabled Phillies hope to swing under their new manager, Dr. James T. (Doc) Prothro, was off to a fine start today with the acquisition of Merrill May, Newark third baseman and generally regarded as the "prize" of the big league draft meeting.

May has been one of the stand-outs of the "wonder" team of Newark Bears that has mowed down the rest of the International League for the past two seasons. Since the Cubs bought Jimmy Gleason from the Bears some weeks ago, May has been the most talked of player from a big league standpoint, in the International league.

And the Phillies, notably President Grey Nugent, stepped right up and picked him first crack out of the box at the annual draft meetings last night. May batted a net .233 with the Bears during the regular 1932 season, and is still in the process of playing the little world series against Kansas City.

Altogether, 17 players were drafted from the minors by 16 of the 16 big league clubs. Only the pennant winners—the Cubs and New York Yankees—the Boston Bees, New York Giants, Cincinnati Reds, and Cleveland Indians "passed" on every deal at the meeting.

Compulsory Social Security Has Existed in Germany for More Than 40 Years

Two well-known veterans of the big leagues were brought back when the Washington Senators selected brilliant Charley Gelbert, from St. Louis Cardinal infielder, from Toledo, and the Philadelphia Athletics picked Roy Parmelee, from New York City, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, from Minneapolis.

Parmelee was one of five picked by Connie Mack for the A's. The others were Pitcher Bill Beckman, who won 29 games for Atlanta, Henry Phippen, 17-game winner for Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League; Joe Gartenben, Toronto third-sacker, and Bill Nagel, infielder and outfielder from Baltimore.

Others selected were:

By Phillies: Leighton Scott, Indianapolis outfielder.

By Brooklyn: Hugh Casey, Memphis pitcher, and Russ Evans, Jersey City hurler.

By St. Louis Cardinals: Jimmy Outlaw, Syracuse third baseman.

By Pittsburgh: Fern Bell, Louisville outfielder, and Jack Juchacz, Rochester third-baseman.

By St. Louis Browns: Hal Spindell, Seattle catcher.

By Chicago White Sox: Art Hermine, St. Paul pitcher.

Grimm To Pass Up Big Series

CHICAGO, Oct. 5 (AP) Charley Grimm, deposed as manager of the Chicago Cubs late in July, is passing up the 1933 world series opener.

The former Cub leader, now in radio sports announcer, said on his arrival from St. Louis yesterday he didn't plan to watch the Cubs and Yankees.

"I just can't enjoy any game where I don't have anything to do," he said.

Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis barred Grimm from basing casting the vote on the ground he might be partial to his former mates.

Grimm declared he was "not sore" because the Cubs failed to vote him a share of the series spoils.

"Frankly," he said, "I never expected to be cut in. They won't be patient for Gabby Hartnett and I had nothing to do with it. I don't believe an ex-manager is entitled to any dough."

Prothro, former manager of Little Rock of the Southern Association, succeeded Jimmy Wilson who resigned last Saturday after being at the Phillies' helm since 1934 when he replaced Burt Shotton.

Prothro practiced dentistry in 1921 and 1922 after a trial in the majors with the Washington Senators, then returned to baseball and has been associated with it ever since. The last nine years were spent in the role of manager, all in the Southern association, five years with Memphis and the last four with Little Rock. He won one championship at the helm of each club.

Bobby Martin Shines In Tuesday's Drill

Herd Plagued With Injuries To Regulars

Ross Callahan, bothered with a cold and a pair of bruised ribs, and Lefty Bethell, who was catching up in school work, were absent from football practice as the Beavin football squad went through its drills Tuesday afternoon in Steer stadium in preparation for the San Angelo conference battle here Friday night.

Injuries plagued the squad but Coach Pat Murphy sent the first and second teams through a grueling scrimmage drill and indicated that another was in line for today.

Other first stringers riding the sidelines were Clyde Smith, giant tackle, who injured an ankle in the Austin high game last week, and Alton Bostick, quarter. Bostick was struck in the eye by Jerry Spitzer, El Paso back. He was suited out and took several laps around the field but his understudy, Bobby Martin, ran the plays throughout the mixup.

Another scrimmage casualty was Len Nations who made the mistake of getting in the way of a first string blocker. He received barked shins and apparently turned his ankle. He had to retire but apparently was not seriously damaged.

Looks To Advantage

Martin is sure to see plenty of action in the Angelo game. Although he weighs but 120 pounds he was looking to advantage in finding holes in the reserve wall and breaking away for long gains.

Another bright spot in the team's drill was Martin's successful tosses to Chuck Smith, rangy end. Chuck was taking the short ones just over the line and getting away for prominent advancements.

For the first time this season James Wheat will run into an opposing tackle as big as he is and Assistant Mentor Chasmon Brandon labored with the goliath to erase the glaring weaknesses that "Toan" showed in the El Paso game. His opponent will be D. Pree, who played for the San Angelo junior high school team last year and whose weight is listed as 222 pounds, the same as Wheat's.

Long Lived The King... But It Was a Hard Life

All Europe marveled at the pomp and splendor of Louis Fourteenth. Yet, in all his 77 years, the French King had no refrigerator, fans or telephone...no radio or movies...no inflated tires on his gaudy coach.

So, it appears that we Americans don't live like Kings at all. We live better... far beyond the dreams of our pioneers... in a land of peace, coddled by science and invention...strengthened by the knowledge that this land of ours will always offer ample rewards to those with faith in the foundations laid down by our forefathers...faith in our national destiny...faith in themselves.

Atwood Not To Get In Game With Baylor

Patterson Excels In Practice; Mustangs On Way

By the Associated Press

Two Southwest conference football squads were on the way today and another leaves tonight for inter-sectional games that place them in the national limelight.

The Texas Christian university Horned Frogs, who meet Temple university at Philadelphia Friday night, departed yesterday and the Texas Aggies, who play the Sugar Bowl champions, Santa Clara, at San Francisco Saturday, left last night.

The Southern Methodist university Mustangs hop a train this evening bound for Chicago and their clash with Marquette university Friday night.

Meanwhile the Baylor university Bears and Arkansas university Razorbacks dug in with a vim for their conference struggle at Fayetteville Saturday in which a new stadium will be dedicated.

Return to form of two players who had been on the injured list heartened Arkansas but Ralph Atwood, backfield letterman, was still ailing and will be unable to play.

Baylor showed up well at stopping Arkansas' ground attack as demonstrated by the freshmen and Bill Patterson was never better at chunking passes. Durham Bivins, veteran back, nursed injuries.

The University of Texas Longhorns worked on defense against Oklahoma university plays which they will try to stop at Dallas Saturday. Indications were that Sophomore Nelson Puetz, Jr., would break into the line-up as a backfielder.

Injuries plagued the Rice Owls with Bill Hamer and Andy Nobles, guards, being forced from the line-up. The Owls play Louisiana State at Baton Rouge Saturday.

O'Daniel Learning About The State's Water Problems

AUSTIN, Oct. 5 (AP)—W. Lee O'Daniel, governor-nominate, was in Austin today to study the problem of water conservation.

Mrs. O'Daniel, her husband said, came for two reasons:

"Pat and Mike's sons are freshmen at the University of Texas.

O'Daniel planned to sit in all day at a statewide conference of water resources of Texas and make as few remarks of his own as possible.

"I'm here to learn," he said.

He still is receiving plenty of suggestions on how to finance old age assistance but has reached no conclusions.

He still considers himself "ledged against a sales tax and recalled he once made a trip to oppose it before a legislative committee.

He will meet again with a senate committee studying economics in government when the committee has something to report. They met recently in Fort Worth.

O'Daniel said he would return to Fort Worth tonight.

EXPELLED OFFICERS REINSTATED BY AUTO UNION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Philip Murray and Sidney Hillman, C. I. O. vice-chairmen, kept a guiding hand on affairs of the United Automobile Workers today, although their task of settling the union's factional dispute was ended.

The two officials sat with the newly reunited executive board of the A. W. while it discussed interpretation of its contract with General Motors and heard complaints from Chrysler and Dodge locals in Detroit.

The board reinstated four expelled officers yesterday in accordance with the recommendations of Murray and Hillman, who were appointed to arbitrate the long-standing controversy between board factions.

JAS. ROOSEVELT TO SEE SEVERAL GAME

ROCHESTER, Minn., Oct. 5 (AP)—James Roosevelt, son of the president, who had been recuperating from a stomach operation which kept him in bed 23 days, will leave for Chicago tonight to take in one game of the world series before heading for a California ranch.

From Chicago he will go to the ranch of Walter P. Murphy, Chicago, at Hollister, Calif., for further rest.

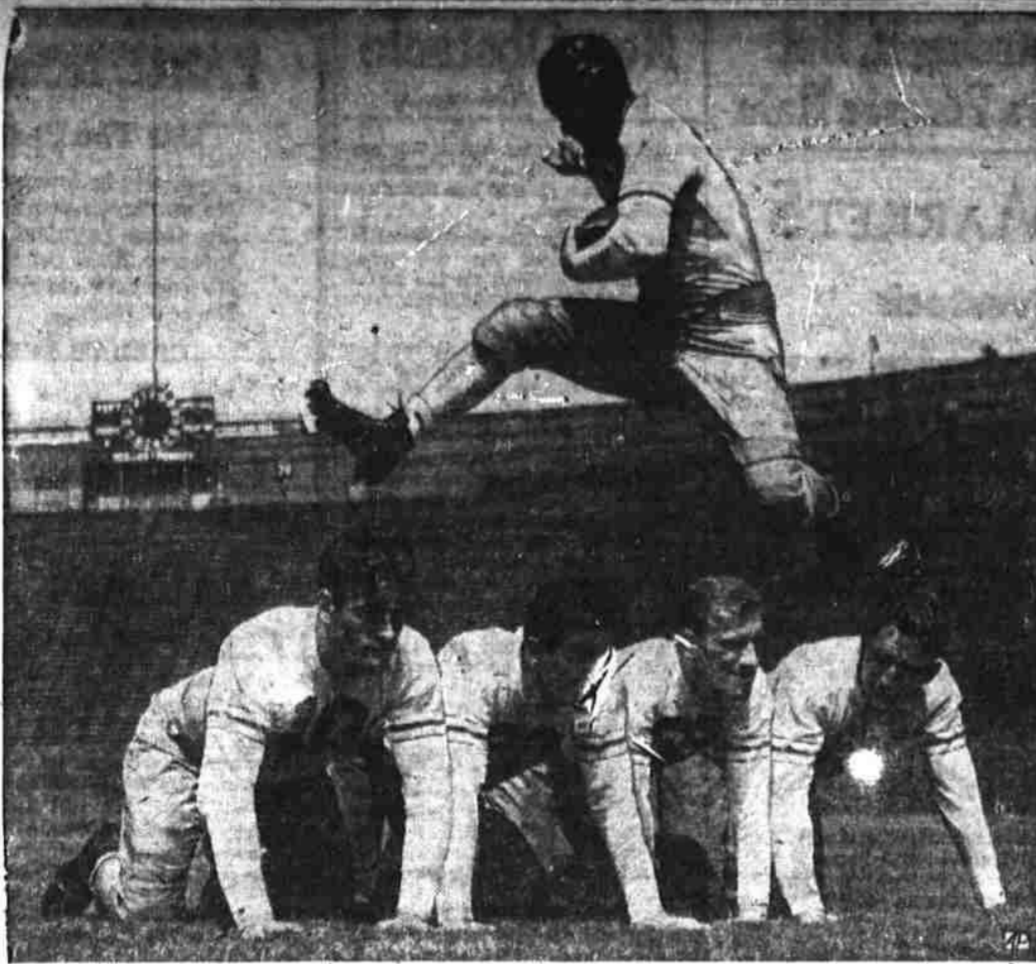

ARTURO TOSCANINI SAILS FOR U. S.

PARIS, Oct. 5 (AP)—Arturo Toscanini, the conductor who was said to have had passport difficulties with the Italian government, took a boat-train today less than an hour after his arrival in Paris from Milan.

He sailed aboard the Normandie with his wife and young granddaughter. Friends said he was anxious to reach the United States "as soon as possible."

Nova Agrees To Fight Baer, Pastor Or Farr

Coast Heavy Who Beat Barlund Due Back In NY Very Soon

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP)—Attention, St. Louis Browns: Hundreds of fans in southern Illinois are signing petitions asking that you give old Babe Ruth a whirl at managing the team next season...

Add all-America timber: Sid Luckman, Columbia, and Capt. Pete Powell, Navy end. The latter guy can't seem to miss a pass and he's tough meat on the defense, too...

Helen Jacobs, the tennis star, is house hunting in historic Virginia, but hasn't been able to find just what she wants yet... Tony Lazzeri, who knows every Yankee like a book, won't do the Cubs any harm on that bench today, believe you us.

Lou Nova, the coast heavy-weight who upset Gunnar Barlund as well as every critic in town, will be brought back as soon as possible. Already he has agreed to fight Tommy Farr, Max Baer or Bob Pastor on December 16, and may be cased in before that...

This is going away week for the Southwest conference. Mileage of its six football teams will total around 6,000 miles. Only one conference club will play in Texas and it will do its stuff away from home. Join a Southwest conference team and see the country. Tony Galento, booked in Philly November 14, begins training in two more weeks.

It's really an Oregon team at the U. of Oregon this year. Nine of the 11 starters are natives. Well, gent, you can say for us that Mr. Whizzer White was all they said he was. Mike Jacobs leaves for California Saturday to look over prospects for a spring shot for Joe Louis. Pity poor Col. Jake Ruppert with all his millions, his brewery and his Fifth Avenue building. He has one ball club going into the world series today and two more fighting it out for the "little world series." As for the Cunnel, a laid up with the gout and won't see a game. ouch.

55 MILLION PAID IN FARM BOUNTIES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—The Agricultural Adjustment Administration reported today it disbursed $55,140,805 in benefit payments to farmers and administrative expenses during July and August of this year. It said administrative expenses, exclusive of those of local county farmer committees, totaled $3,154,702.

Payments by states included: Oklahoma $1,539,504; Texas, $2,541,805.

KC Pins Hopes On K. Wicker

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 5 (AP)—The Kansas City Blues, still in the running but a full lap behind, pin their hopes for victory over the Newark Bears in the fourth game of the little world series here tonight on the stout arm of Kemp Wicker.

Wicker blanked the Bears in the series opener at Newark to give Kansas City its lone victory in three games. In the other two games the Blues' pitching was inadequate, the fielding spotty and the batting weak, with 12 to 4 and 7 to 1 Newark victories the result.

Manager Johnny Neun of the Bears was slated to send Alley Donald, knocked from the mound

WOULD AMEND CREDIT ACT TO HELP SALE OF FARM PRODUCTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Senator Borah (R-Ida.) suggested today that congress might agree to loosen credit restrictions on war debt defaulters if this would promote the sale of agricultural surpluses abroad.

"If it can be demonstrated that there is any practical way of disposing of agricultural surpluses to foreign governments, I would favor amending the Johnson act," Borah said. He added, however, that there appeared little reason to believe debtor nations could establish credits in this country.

The Johnson act prohibits United States loans to nations in arrears on debt installments.

Senator Lewis (D-Md.), a colleague of Borah's on the senate foreign relations committee, predicted that agitation for amendment of the Johnson act would push the whole war debt issue to the front in the next session of congress.

The Higher, The Smaller

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The American Society of Mammalogists here revealed the fact that the higher the pocket gopher gets up in the world, the smaller it gets. Studies made in the valleys and mountains around Pocatello, Ida., showed that in the valleys the pocket gopher is a respectably sized animal, but that when it gets up to a 7,000-foot altitude it shrinks considerably.

No Cause For Alarm In Oil Industry

Thompson Says The Statistical Position Is Strong

AUSTIN, Oct. 5 (AP)—Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Interstate Oil and Gas Compact, said today he felt no apprehension over the crude petroleum price structure.

He was commenting on talk heard in oil circles last week that weakness in the oil market had placed crude prices in their most hazardous position in a long time.

Thompson said the statistical position of the industry was excellent, production was under the strictest control in history and balanced consumption, stocks of crude were at a 17-year low, wages and hours were good and the public was getting the best product at the best prices of all time.

He concluded "jitters" weren't unusual to the oil industry, expressed confidence the "present mild attack" would pass on as others had and said it looked as if oil men would have to give more study to economics.

"The oil industry never was in a better statistical position than it is today," Thompson said. "We are producing 200,000 barrels daily less than is being consumed. This balance of production of crude oil with consumption of gasoline has always been the ideal which has been hoped to be possible of achievement. It has been achieved."

"But now they say that gasoline is weak on account of economic maladjustment. It seems there is always some sort of jitters present in the oil business."

He asserted the regulation of prices was neither possible nor desirable, adding that "in all these so-called limitation controls it is unexpected and unusual that it affects the applicant."

Cornhuskers Raise Cane

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Prof. H. J. Gramlich of the University of Nebraska agricultural college jokingly suggested at a farm meeting here that the slump in Nebraska corn production and increased sorghum acreage might result in changing the designation of the state from "Cornhuskers" to "Cane Raisers."

JAPS CONTINUE THEIR ADVANCE

SHANGHAI, Oct. 5 (AP)—Japanese followed up a 13-mile advance today with a furious attack by which they occupied Lohi, 30 miles southwest of Juchang.

Japanese claimed the maneuver turned the left flank of the Chinese line defending slithering-contested Tolan. Chinese said they defeated Japanese attempting to push through the Taping mountains to the north bank of the Yangtze, northwest of Hankow.

A Japanese communique said invading planes bombed Liaoshan, in eastern Szechwan province, and destroyed nine grounded Chinese planes, afterwards engaging in an air battle with 20 Chinese planes, seven of which were shot down.

In nearby Chungking, the statement said, three Chinese planes and two hangars were destroyed. On the Yangtze river front, the Japanese said their forces had captured the Saddle mountain forts.

YOUR MILEAGE MERCHANT backs up his personal assurance of easy winter starting and oil economy by OIL-PLATING YOUR ENGINE —more than an oil change!

JUST because this is in print instead of coming direct from Your Mileage Merchant's lips doesn't change the fact that he backs every word personally. How does he go through with that? By giving your engine the only OIL-PLATING. That's not mere words; it's what patented Conoco Germ Processed oil DOES.

Activated by an ADDED man-made compound—ADDED to oil's best natural qualities—ADDED to the best refining—this exclusive Germ Processed oil ADDS itself direct to the inner engine surfaces... unites so thoroughly that every working part stays constantly OIL-PLATED.

Does the chrome plating on the bumpers drain down every time your car stops? Neither does OIL-PLATING in your engine. When you want to start up again, after hours of wintry parking—after nights or even weeks in the coldest garage—you've got ready lubrication faster than instantly! —in advance of the fastest oil-circulation. For drain-proof OIL-PLATING has stayed lastingly plated all the way up, to make things slide lightly and swiftly for your starter and battery. That also tells you why you're rid of costly starting wear. And OIL-PLATING stays in as long as you use Germ Processed oil. The gauge-stick gives Your Mileage Merchant his strongest backing.

The ARMY

One of Texas' Great Assets

Visitors to the San Antonio Brewing Association constantly marvel at the highly organized precision and skill which accompany every step in the brewing of Texas' Own PEARL Beer to make this one of Texas' successful local industries. If you're aiming for cool, sparkling, summertime pep and refreshment, say "Bottle of PEARL, please." It hits the spot every time, because it has that "Extra Something" that makes a Winner with taste-wise Texans. The reason is in the bottle!

Texas boasts twenty Army posts including forts, camps, air-dromes, harbor defenses and receiving stations garrisoned by approximately 15,000 officers and enlisted men. Through War Department agencies in Texas, the Government spends approximately $40,000,000 annually in the lasting good, not only of the national defense, but of the Lone Star State as well.

UTILITY MAGNATE REFUSES TO REPLY TO QUESTIONS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Howard C. Hopson, the utility magnate, refused flatly today to answer questions asked him at a Securities Commission hearing, and the proceedings developed into a stormy series of arguments. Hopson was for many years the dominant figure in the Associated Gas and Electric system. The hearing was concerned with what, if any, relationship there was between his old group and the Utilities Employees Securities company. The latter company has denied it was an associated subsidiary. S. E. C. Council Lewis Dabney questioned Hopson persistently in this connection, over repeated objections by Wynne A. Warren, Hopson's attorney, and with little success so far as direct replies were concerned.

CRUDE PRICES CUT

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 5 (AP)—Standard Oil Co. today announced the price of crude in north Louisiana and south Arkansas would be reduced 17 cents a barrel, except in two cents and Rodessa which was cut twenty cents. South Louisiana's schedule was reduced sixteen cents. Included in the reduction in Arkansas was the new Buckner, Magnolia and Village fields, all in Columbia county. The price cuts were effective at 7 a. m. today and embraced all fields in which the Standard Oil Louisiana buys crude.

Capable of hurling three-inch shells five or six miles into the air, the guns are highly mobile. They can be sped quickly on their motorized carriages to the defenses of any vulnerable point. Authorities said available funds will provide around 340 of the weapons. The army has 50 or 60 modern-type anti-aircraft guns already in service.

GERMAN BUND'S USE OF ARMS STUDIED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—The house committee investigating the American activities began study today of reports of use of firearms and rifle ranges by the German-American Bund. John C. McCreck of Chicago, one-time newspaper reporter who became a member of the organization in order to investigate it from the inside was summoned to testify. He is now a committee investigator. Girolamo Valent of New York, chairman of the Italian anti-fascist committee, told the committee yesterday that Italy's fascist government has an extensive undercover organization at work in this country.

INSURGENT DRIVE IN SPAIN HALTED

HENDAYE, France, (AT the Spanish Frontier), Oct. 5 (AP)—The Spanish government reported today that troops halted an insurgent drive on the Ebro front and recaptured many positions lost during the past few days. Insurgents admitted counter-attacks in force but claimed possession of six additional government positions. The fighting centered among hills along the Gandesa-Mora de Ebro highlands. Positions have been changing hands repeatedly with little effect on the general front.

Mrs. T. M. McColister has returned to her home in Dallas after a week's visit with her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McColister.

KELLY FIELD FLIERS WIN THEIR WINGS

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 5 (AP)—Before a large crowd, plentifully sprinkled with proud relatives and admiring friends, Kelly field's largest class of student fliers today graduated from the advanced flying school. Wings and diplomas were awarded to 144 graduate students, including Lieut. Charles E. Westover, who had not returned from Washington where he attended the funeral of his father, Major General Oscar Westover.

They're Not Guaranteeing It, But Some Prognosticators Foresee Rain

Local weather prophets Wednesday climbed out on the limb and predicted that rain was in the offing. The unusual summer weather in October had them scratching their heads, but they agreed that such a condition at this season of the year would ultimately produce but one result—a radical change in weather. A radical change after nearly two and a half months of bone dry conditions would be rain.

Will P. Edwards, who reserves the right to be wrong or move his dates back, glanced at lunar changes and reported that seldom has any month such favorable chances at rain as does this October. There are five morning changes, the veteran prognosticator said. Between now and October 9 would be a good time to him, but of course he still reserves the right to move the date back.

Fox Stripping, while predicting on a less scientific basis, foresaw rain because, as he said, "these dry spells always break up with rain." Others felt a change in their bones. Some heard "over the radio" that there was going to be a radical change in temperature.

And those who didn't predict were big for the prophets, for Big Spring has seldom had as disagreeable a winter as the autumn of 1938, and not since a light shower in early August has this section tasted rain.

Anti-Aircraft Guns Speeded

Army To Have More Than 300 Ready Next Year

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—By next summer the army intends to have 300 or 400 of the world's most effective anti-aircraft guns ready for any emergency. "Not a day has been lost," Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson said today in starting work on the weapons for which congress approved $23,655,387. Army ordnance officers began work on preliminaries when congress voted the funds. When the recent war clouds began forming in Europe, they stayed at their desks at night, poring over reports, specifications, bids and contracts. General Malin Craig, chief of staff, told congress that the guns were the most vital of the army's immediate needs. In an emergency involving this country, the demand for protection from air raids would be "immediate and enormous," he said. The guns are being built at army arsenals, but numerous private manufacturers are working on gun mounts, height finders, directors, searchlights, listening apparatus and other equipment. Upwards of 315,000,000 in contracts already have been signed or are ready to be closed.

Stallings Head Of Lomax One-Variety Cotton Assn.

A. J. Stallings was named president of a one variety cotton association which was formally organized Tuesday evening in the Lomax community. Twenty-eight farmers signed as members of the association, listing 3,521 acres of cotton under terms of the units by-laws. C. Korneygin at Lomax signed an agreement to join the cotton on special days to keep seed strains of Texas Mammoth cotton pure. All producers grow that cotton exclusively except one who had 95 acres of it and 35 acres of Qualla. Free classing service of the bureau of agricultural economics will be utilized by association members. Last year, there producers had 1,500 acres and produced 1,616 bales of cotton. Similar organizations will be attempted at Vincent Thursday afternoon and at Luther Thursday evening.

would make easier terms for payment of reparations if Czechoslovakia became part of her Danubian economic system. The foreign office spokesman indicated progress for the international commission on the Sudeten might be more difficult from this point on.

"Hitherto it was easy, as the four zones (to be occupied by the German army before Oct. 8) were already fixed at Munich and only certain technical details remained," he said. "The fifth zone will prove more difficult. Also there is the question of reparations for the injustices inflicted by the Czechs upon the Sudetens since 1918."

Previously an inspired source close to the foreign office indicated such reparations would be demanded of Czechoslovakia just as soon as the Sudetenland was completely in German hands.

To the Munich accord was attached a map showing the first four zones ceded by Czechoslovakia for speedy occupation by the German army. Occupation of the first three has been completed or is under way. Occupation of the fourth is to begin tomorrow, to be finished Friday. Then, the accord said:

"The remaining territory of preponderantly German character will be ascertained by the aforesaid international commission forthwith and be occupied by German troops by the tenth of October."

From nazis in a position to know this correspondent gains the impression that Adolf Hitler will prove just as insistent and intransigent in his demand for handing over all that he claims as belonging to the fifth zone—not yet defined—as he was for the principle of annexation and the unconditional surrender of the first four zones.

The commission also is to determine the areas in which plebiscites are to determine whether they are to become German or remain Czechoslovak.

threatening the republic's existence. At its first meeting it decided no Czech officials should be appointed in Ruthenia without the approval of Ivan Parkany, minister without portfolio, who is a native of Ruthenia. Czechoslovakia's farthest eastern section. Government representatives also were named for two commissions, one to settle details of the Polish frontier controversy and the other to seek a resolution of Hungarian demands. At the same time the cabinet began consideration of a concrete plan to solve the Slovak appeal for an autonomous administration, pointing toward the possible establishment of a special ministry. Political circles—even Germans—greeted warmly the appointment of Frantisek Chvalkovsky as foreign minister to succeed Dr. Karel Krotka.

It was disclosed that Propaganda Minister Hugo Vavricka was en route to Berlin to attend a meeting of the international commission regulating German occupation of Sudetenland.

It was reported that Poles and Hungarians both had approached the Slovaks with offers of assistance, but so far the Slovaks were understood to have turned them down for fear acceptance would imperil the future of the Czechoslovak state.

modities which now are under-priced. Copper was cited as an example of a commodity whose price should not go too high and wheat and cotton were listed as products for which current prices should be raised.

White House authorities said the recent European crisis has had its parallel in the nation's industrial and economic problems. They asserted that while Europe was engaged in sabre-rattling and army mobilization, some people in this country were misrepresenting the government's policy, making dire forecasts of the future and building bogey-men to frighten the people.

Tips On Fall Fashions Revealed In Tour Of Local Stores

Hoop Models In Favor For Evenings

Velvet, Satin And Taffeta Shown In Many Numbers

Smooth velvet, sparkling satin and murmuring taffeta are made up into some of the most alluring afternoon and evening models the gals have seen in many a moon.

Most of the hoop models are in black and wine velvets and can be worn with or without the hoops.

On a recent shop-goddin' tour of the town, this writer saw the swankiest gown in black satin that you ever saw on a dance floor or in a garden.

Another little number noted was in rose taffeta with a V neckline to the waist.

The clerk also showed a black velvet dinner frock with a white lace top and velvet bolero.

Another number discovered on the tour was a blue brocaded taffeta that was set-off by a dahlia velvet girdle and clipped in front with a gold pin of multi-color sets.

Girls who get cold in such brief evening gowns would really like a model seen in a display window which featured a white fur bolero over a black taffeta gown.

TIPS ON FASHIONS

New bags range in shape from gilt-edged books to copies of grandma's knitting bag.

Plaids make their appearance as scarfs and belts for evening gowns.

Moire heads a long list of "re-vised" materials and is used for entire dresses or coats—or trims both.

A plain black dress can be rejuvenated in a hundred ways, ranging from plaid sleeves to colored moire sashes.

Don't forget the fashion importance of buttons in your zeal for zippers.

Spring tints of pinks, greens and yellows are a surprising feature of new fall clothes.

Brown, for once, threatens to compete with black in fall wardrobes.

Tailored Simplicity Finds Favor With The College Girl

PARIS. (UP)—Simply tailored clothes, with just an ash of sophistication, will find favor with the 1938 college girl.

Year in and year out, the thick brogues, leather jackets and sweaters and skirt combinations played an important part in campus fashions.

An unusual model, sure to catch the eye of those who like their clothes just a bit different is a rich brown wool dress, with a matching bolero jacket and beaver revers.

For evening wear, the college miss is partial to alluring, close-fitting gowns.

Evening Wear Picturesque

Historical Events Put Their Stamp On Gowns

PARIS. (UP)—Winter fashions for evening wear indicate a more feminine and picturesque trend.

One model, showing French revolutionary influence, was made of bottle-green velvet. The skirt had the gathered fullness, so much used currently.

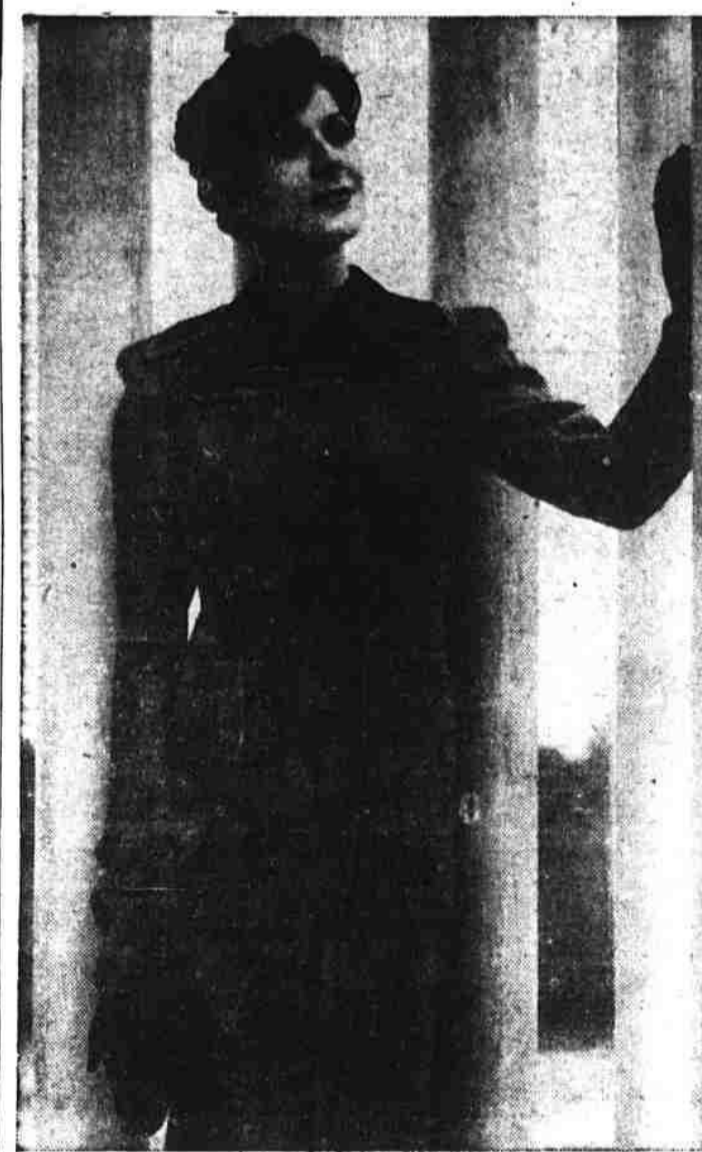

Gathered fullness also was evident in dresses, reminiscent of the crinoline period.

In contrast to these flowing evening frocks are those which show every curve of the figure.

A striking frock in pale blue velvet fits the figure of the model as though she were molded to its dimensions.

Another striking number was of black moire with red velvet bandings in cone shapes on the skirt topped by red bows.

FALL, 1938, BRINGS A BRACE OF NEW SUIT STYLES

FITTED JACKET Two types of suits have come to town for fall: the sleek tailleur with a jacket and skirt, and the costume suit which sets a jacket over a dress.

STRAIGHT JACKET The costume suit appears here in fine black wool trimmed in black Persian lamb, and worn with a green felt cuff hat.

Brilliant Jewels Adorn Costumes

Paris has taken all its jewelry out of the safe deposit vaults, out of the museums, out of the royal archives of the past!

Never has jewelry been so important! Ear-rings give sparkling lines to new upwept coiffures, dangling often to the shoulder.

Gathered fullness also was evident in dresses, reminiscent of the crinoline period.

Hats Are In 'Swing' Style, And Period Influence Noted

It's A Big Season For Fur, And Costume Jewelry Is Coming Back; Suits Run High In Popularity

By JEANE SUITS A tip from the Tipster: Tippy-hats are here to stay for the winter and the head will rule the fall fashion of 1938.

A recent survey of Big Spring apparel stores revealed that many epochs and lands have touched the new styles including reflections of the reign of Victoria, Edward VII, Louise XIV, Marie Antoinette and Eugene.

This is the big season for fur—fur jackets, fur muffs, fur hats and fur trim costume suits (very important this year).

Most popular numbers being shown in the Big Spring stores are the costume suits which combine a complete dress with a short jacket or coat.

The next in popularity in wearing apparel is the smart light weight wool frocks with suede, patent, velvet, button or applique trim.

And as for color—black is still predominating but it is flanked by the greatest variety of hues the fashion world has seen in many moons.

One shoe salesman said that next to black, the wine shoes, sometimes called dahlia or Paris wine, will lead the season.

And here are some tips on what you will match up, if you are smart: Match shoe to one color of a two or three color costume.

There isn't any reason why the women of this city can't kick-around in the latest in footwear this fall.

Big Spring merchants are showing rich colors in evening and afternoon frocks, hooped skirts, drop shoulders with great puffed sleeves.

And for bags and gloves, they follow the trend of fall colors. Suede, patent and suede combinations, alligator, attached suede and calf are the most popular materials for bags.

Romance The Keynote In Misses' Apparel

PARIS, (UP)—The young girl who is looking for romance and gaiety when school days start will discover without searching very hard that Paris designers have gone as romantic and feminine as one could wish. One big dressmaking house, in fact, is limiting its talents to clothes just for the fifteen-to-eighteen age.

Evening dresses are made most often of pastel-toned lames, their skirts so fully gathered that the gathers overlap in pleats at tight waist. Starched petticoats frequently underlie billowing waists and presentation gowns; sprays of flowers or scarfs of cloudy tulle add a touch of novelty to the debutante's dress.

A demure square-necked evening gown is made of wide vertical bands of moire in sweetpea shades. A "basket-woven" bodice combines the pastel moire bands with navy. A turquoise tulle dress, very full skirted, has a corsage of seven pink roses nestling in the cowl of a finch neck. A pleated hyacinth chiffon has ribbon bows cascading down its back.

Light-weight flannel in a heavenly pale blue color is used for a long-sleeved dinner dress which features a floor-length skirt all of unpressed box pleats. Wide panels of red and gray brocade stripe the bodice and form bands around the bottom of the sleeves.

Quite different is the patterned and frilled Louis XIV green and white striped taffeta evoking the French eighteenth century with its suggested bustle and ruffles from top to bottom. Different again, but equally as romantic, are the deb gowns which find inspiration in the Renaissance. In this class we find a drop-shoulder crimson velvet with gold-needle embroidery down each side of its skirt and around its low neck.

PENNSYLVANIA AND N. YORK IMPORTANT TO MAJOR PARTIES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—High stakes are bound up in the political game the administration is playing in New York and Pennsylvania.

The two states have 83 electoral votes, which may determine the 1940 presidential election. The party winning the states this fall will consider it has enhanced its 1940 chances.

For this reason, as well as a desire for continued support for administration measures from New York and Pennsylvania congressmen, the campaigns in the two states may be expected to draw the close attention of President Roosevelt and his keenest political aides.

Coats Marked By Gay Colors

Bright Shades Noted In The Winter Collections

PARIS, (UP)—Rich, gay and light colors, shown to such surprising quantity in the new collections, appear for the first time in many years as accepted tones for fall and winter cloth coats—coats with or without fur trimming.

For the full length cloth coat, deep plum and violet shades bid to outdo all other colors. Still coats, however, lean either toward smoky blues or rust shades. Both types are ornately trimmed with arabesques or floral cutouts of broadtail or lamb; their satin linings are often black satin. And when they are not black, they tend to be of a brilliant contrasting color.

The winter's simple long coat, an absolute necessity in anyone's wardrobe, is almost too extensively cut to describe, except for two points: a certain width of back which involves wide shoulders; and a slight back fullness above the waist which eases the fit. This latter may be accomplished by deft fitting which introduces a very narrow center gore tightening the waist and flaring width into an expertly done skirt.

Two other definite silhouettes for the winter coat must be seriously considered. One has been influenced by the Persian and general Oriental lines. It has a straight back line of skirt which follows the walking figure, while gored, circular or gathered fullness goes frontward as the lapped-over front. In the long Persian coats, sleeves are loose and long; but in the shorter coats a second Persian line is followed in a tight sleeve. Necks influenced by the Persian are always high and round, often cut for wear with detachable fur.

FRIGHTENED PUP HALTS TRAFFIC

DALLAS, Oct. 5 (AP)—Dozens of workers were late getting on the job this morning but a little black-and-white dog provided a good excuse.

Ten street cars were brought to a standstill during the rush hour when the frightened pup scooted along a trestle trying to find safety.

The first car stopped to let him pass on. The dog started to the other track, stopping traffic there. Finally he edged under car No. 739 and stayed there while more cars arrived and stopped.

An operator at last retrieved the dog and delivered him safe and sound to authorities at city hall.

PLUMES TO BRIGHTEN 1938 EVENINGS

The ostrich feathers loved by Edwardian belles appear again in fall fashions of 1938. This cyclamen coat is designed of uncurled ostrich with a yoke of flattened feather fronds. It is worn over a frock of shell pink satin which blends with its color. Notice the hair ornament, the earrings and bracelet—all typical of the season's jeweled accessory trends and all set with sapphires and diamonds.

Plaids Used Everywhere

In Evening Scarfs And In Sashes, Paris Notes

PARIS, (UP)—It's more than a bit of a plaid we'll be wearing this fall, and there's certainly nothing warmer in color or fabric than a tartan to ward off winter chills. But the plaids far from limit themselves to orthodox woollens; they burst forth on velvets and silks as well.

Perhaps Erik the hatmaker should be given credit for promoting the plaids, because almost his entire hat collection boasts a Scotch twang. However, all the dressmakers—undoubtedly helped along by Scottish—Queen Elizabeth's visit to Paris—have the same idea.

"Wear your plaid for evening" is Molyneux's daring suggestion, which coldblooded people should find most acceptable. He makes his plaid evening scarf of a very loose-woven wool plaid in black, red, green and white and wears it with a bright blue silk crepe evening dress sprinkled all over with sparkling blue sequins. A sash of the same wool plaid is wound around the waist of the evening dress to complete the Scotch effect.

Plaid lame, with black, red and white squares on a gold background, makes the top to a black wool crepe skirt. Skirt and top are stitched together at a low waistline to make a dressy but useful one-piece afternoon dress.

Another combination of plaid with plain materials makes a neat and youthful wool daytime dress. Short puff sleeves of gay plaid wool are set in a simple black wool dress; there is no other plaid used on the dress, but a plaid jacket—matching the dress sleeves—goes over.

Plaid jackets and coats, in fact, are made to go over almost any color dress you might want to wear underneath. Creeds makes a striking and almost "collegiate" swaggar coat of huge blue and yellow plaid, cut on the bias and with raglan sleeves and high neck. It's worn over a straight amonra-finished material in slate blue.

Equally smart is the red, navy and white plaid wool fitted jacket which Vera Borel combines with a slate blue wool skirt. Another house goes so far as to make a plaid blouse for a checked skirt! The skirt is green and rust check; the blouse is green, black and yellow plaid; the jacket is of the skirt material, but lined with the blouse plaid.

Fur Trimming A Style Note

Coats, Capes And Dresses Luxuriously Accented

PARIS, (UP)—Better start getting the fur out of storage because frosty days are just ahead! At least, Parisian stylists are under that impression. They have designed this year's winter clothes with luxurious fur trimmings. Capes, coats, suits and even dresses boast of furs.

Fur-trimmed capes, incidentally, are enjoying great popularity in current winter selections. They are shown in three lengths—short, long and three-quarter, and usually complement either a sports or dress suit. The 1938 fur coat will be lined in material matching the skirt or dress worn beneath it. This idea is especially good for town and informal country wear. The matching lining also is shown in cloth coats, sometimes carrying out the color scheme of the bag and gloves.

Fur hats and muffs are making their debut once more and are worn with furless coats. Fur coats, on the other hand, call for the case of a fur-trimmed cloth coat, a tailored hat is appropriate, fur muff is not carried if the cuffs have fur adornment.

Fox fur is used by the majority of French designers on dress suits. Despite the platinum and freakish type of fox fur on the market, Paris favors the silver fox. One of the couturiers here introduced a silver fox border for both the jacket and skirt of his models. A striking dress in black satin, topped with a jacket in black velvet, carried out the double-hem fur motif to new heights in evening wear.

Even Shoes Go Up In Keeping With 'Rising' Trend

PARIS, (UP)—The sky's the limit, fashionably speaking. The hair line is up. The hem line is up. And now feminine shoegear is up. Elsa Schiaparelli contributes another of her modish eccentricities in a display of high-topped, eight-button shoes, the type that were worn almost 50 years ago. They come in all the colors of the rainbow, ranging from saffron yellow to emerald green. All are fashioned of kid and have matching pearl buttons. These high-toppers are appropriate for afternoon as well as evening occasions.

Colors, by the way, are in great dispute this year. While the majority of Parisian designers favor rich browns and violets, Madame Schiaparelli advocates a more extreme color scheme. Currently, she is showing an exotic combination of "carnese" pink and "seawater" green.

Other hues which find favor this season include the inevitable black, a spicy brown, wine and gray. Conservative shades rule the feminine tastes for most occasions. It is only in evening wear that gaudy, exciting colors blossom forth. King George Blue, Elizabeth mauve, Louis XIV blue and Lichen green are among the new color names introduced this year.

VELVET FOR AFTERNOON FROCK

Rich blue mat velvet and a suave design combine to make this a practical afternoon frock which fits the 1938 picture. Notice its high neckline, raised shoulders and small waist. A gold and "onyx" Victorian cameo locket and small gold bowknot earrings, etched in black add the jeweled accents which are smart this fall.

'Elegance' Is The Word For Many Wardrobes Created This Season

PARIS, (UP)—"Elegance," in the true sense of the word, is the only way to describe the elaborate wardrobes created by Maggy Rouff for the coming season.

Furs are used either lavishly or with discretion; lame makes evening gowns molded with pencil-line slimmness or with bouffant flounced hoops; crepe, satin and velvet makes afternoon models ranging from those designed for the woman who still feels young!

Maggy Rouff's coat styles tend somewhat away from the full length in favor of velvet or moire silk reefer types and to a very elongated highlength which measures, from the belt downward, exactly half the length of the skirt. One outstanding model of this type is made of crimson cloth and tightly fitted at the waist.

Among the handsome black tailored suits is one which boasts Persian lamb trimming under the arms and applied to the side-backs in jagged leaf design. Shoulders are wide, but not heightened at Rouff's. A few coats take the shape of the belted tunic, some of them lavishly fur trimmed.

Heavy gold or brilliant jewelry adorns many of the models; one remarkable chateaine in gold provides the wearer with watch, purse and all other small accessories, while an evening bag slung on the wrist is an oval mirror on both sides and framed like a picture in burnished gilt.

What was once called a "basque" forms the bodice for a series of Maggy Rouff's youthful circular-skirted party frocks ankle long. These basque bodices button simply down the front—a practical note as well as a style note.

Evening dresses go glamorous. A white satin gown is engraved with a copy of the "Winged Victory" placed diagonally across the front of corsage and hips in a terracotta red; while portrait dresses show the head of the "Venus de Milo" or other classic heads.

Silver lame, embroidered with diamante in all-over design, makes a rarely beautiful evening dress of the pencil silhouette. Its train is scanned onto the tight sheath at the kneeling line a deep founce across the back.

If anyone ever doubted that the winter of 1939 would bring back an elegance unseen for decades, one look at Maggy Rouff's creations should convince to the contrary!

Every Type Of Design, Fabric, Size And Color In Season's New Bags

PARIS, (UP)—New bags show such multiplicity of design, fabric and color that it's truly a temptation to change your handbag with every dress.

Among the newest ideas is the "book-bag" introduced by Captain Molyneux for both daytime and evening. It is unusual, but not eccentric; roomy, but not bulky. One it's a book bound in black velvet and its a book bound in black velvet and black leather, gilt-edged.

Flat jewel-studded pouches, which look as though they had been lifted from the glamorous land of Arabian Nights, are much in keeping with the oriental atmosphere now pervading fashion salons. Oftener than not these precious pouches become an intricate part of an evening or dinner gown. Leong hangs a gold one on a heavy gold rope-like cord which is slung low around the hips of a snaky black, long-sleeved dinner dress.

Another jeweled pouch purse hangs like a pendant from a wide necklace made of brilliant green silk material, the same material being used for the Schiaparelli dress with which the pouch purse is worn. A floor-length evening coat of light mauve wool completes the exotic ensemble.

At Marjorie Dunton's, hand bags take on the qualities of grandma's reticule—but a reticule far too beautiful to be used for handiwork or holey-socks. Many of the bags are a foot square and made double so that they simply fold over the arm. One such bag in black antelope has a wide strap handle of emerald green antelope in nu-

Buttons Still Are Important They Compete With Zippers For Purposes Of Novelty

PARIS, (UP)—Buttons still have the power to make or mar a costume, despite the advent of the zipper, glorified snap and other ultra-modern trick dress fastenings. Flatness is the prime requisite for most smart buttons these days; but their placement is even more important, for often they are the only trim on dress or coat. Five old gold coins, the size of a twenty-five cent piece, provide the main point of interest on Molyneux's simple brown wool dress which uses the coins for buttons from neck to waist.

Gold or brass, in fact, makes buttons for more than one Paris creation. Creed uses small gold ones to fasten the front of a straight short black velvet dress; Chanel has gold discs fastening the jacket of a violet velvet evening suit; Heim works the gold in the shape of five-petaled flower buttons and runs them from neck to hem on a rust-colored wool dress with rust velvet collar and cuffs; Schiaparelli uses nine burnished Persian coins to fasten a light blue felt coat.

Golden metal makes a lace edging for black enamel buttons trimming a scalloped black wool crepe dress. There's a gold edge to the red glass buttons for a deep red velvet suit.

Big round pearl beads are used for buttons on one of Chanel's tailored black velvet suits—and the same pearls are used for cuff-links. Blue crystal beads are employed in a like fashion on a bright blue wool dress. Three large white satin-covered buttons fasten one shoulder only on a plain black street dress.

There is a tendency toward bigger buttons. Schiaparelli introduces round cornelian discs a good two inches in diameter. Three of the giant buttons fasten a peach-colored coat of suede cloth, loosely made, for wear with a black dress. Vera Borea puts huge square buttons of tortoise shell on a gray knit ensemble with a porcelain blue lace blouse.

ainty yellow china buttons make a delightful contrast for a deep pink wool dress; clay buttons—sometimes gilded—are seen everywhere, along with elaborate baroque buttons, heavily jeweled or filigreed.

Mole makes soft pom-pom buttons for a brown velvet suit edged in mole tubing. Zebra forms flat dollar-size buttons to match deep zebra cuffs on a black coat.

But don't think that the common black bone button, men's suit type, is passe. It is still so good that one house uses about thirty of the flat black buttons to run all the way down the front of a black winter coat.

Paris Elaborates New Accessories

Because the heart of Paris is still moved by the colorful season of extravagant entertainments celebrating royal visitors and royal centennials, fall accessories are styled with an eye to glamorous and decorative effects which dress up the costume and give a note of brilliance and color.

HANDBAGS concentrate attention on handles or frames. Thick silken cords gather some of the new bags, in the manner of the purses carried in past eras. Handles are soft and wide, often caught with metal or jeweled loops to the purse. Bright bold contrasts of color are shown in bags or in jeweled frames. And many large pocket styles, richly embroidered with gleaming colored stones are hung from silken cords. Soft leathers, and especially lustrous suede are preferred.

GLOVES fit more beautifully, and are more elaborately stitched and trimmed than in many seasons. Suede and velvet are both shown, softly draped on the arm, often embroidered in metal threads. For daytime, simple slip-ons are still the favorite, with beautiful quality leathers giving them the note of elegance preferred this fall.

Romance In Veils Noted

Dashing Colors Also A Mark Of Hats Being Shown

When Marjorie Dunton shows hats with crowns 12 inches high, and Schiaparelli goes mad about miniature hats with doll-size plumes and masses of bright bows, it may be said that Paris is crazy about hats!

Sensational high crowns! Adorable masses of feathers and bows! Giddy little veils and rainbow veils! These are the beauty and the style of fall millinery. Borrowing from the extravagance of the Louis XIV court days, Paris wore high ostrich or paradise feather head-dresses recently at the dazzling style pageant presented during the night racing at Longchamp. And high dramatic feathers and plumes will adorn many new fall hats!

Simona Cange dips back into the 1900 period of American fashions to get inspiration for a glamorous collection of forward tilted hats that turn up at the back and flaunt masses of trimmings. Gay tiny toques, top heavy turbans, bright colored veils, smart wide-brimmed canottiers made entirely of ostrich feathers, and many simple tailored and wearable felts are included in this collection. Claude St. Cyr shows forward perched hats behind which are massed high curls in the new up- swept coiffures that have taken Paris by storm! Color is strongly emphasized by this designer, with some of the most beautiful and daring combinations ever seen in hats. Stretched or corded velvets in brilliant dark hues, little velvet turbans, bright feather gullies pointing high on more tailored felts—and silly little hats which are a mass of color!

Rose Valois shows the loveliest profile hats! Flattering and so cleverly styled that they suit almost any woman's profile, these hats are destined to be a great American success. Crowns are high but fitted firmly. Brims roll up at the side or back to flatten the new high hairlines. Toques are made of elaborately draped velvets in luscious colors. Hatpins and many bright ornaments give sparkling colors to these hats. Rebox shows lovely hats with upweeping brims piled high with plumes. All flatter the profile.

HOSPITAL GROWS AS AN ASSET. Visit here this week of state board of control officials and resultant discussion concerning future plans for the Big Spring state hospital...

But we are getting and will get far more than we have paid. The hospital as it stands today represents a total outlay of something around $900,000...

As far as future expansion is concerned, there will be continuous efforts during the next few years to add to the institution. Chairman Claude Teer of the board of control pointed out while here that it took 17 years to bring the Wichita Falls hospital up to the desired size...

This means that there must be sizeable appropriations each biennium to provide for new construction. And it means that state money will be spent regularly here, over and above the operation and maintenance appropriations.

West Texas needs serving with such a hospital, and it stands for reason that West Texas needs will be met. As the needs are met, Big Spring shares handsomely in the process.

If they really believe, as Mr. Chamberlain on his return exclaimed with pardonable excitement, that they have already won peace in their own time, they will have done the one thing which makes it most unlikely that they will enjoy peace in their own time.

The alternative interpretation is to recognize frankly, humbly and bravely that they have yielded to the threat of force and they must now live in a Europe in which no treaty, no law and no engagement is better than the force which is ready to support it.

Only by remaining undecieved can the British and the French eventually judge realistically the new situation in which they find themselves and the measures which they must take to protect themselves in the days to come.

What is to come of it no man living can today foresee. For no man can truly estimate now the impponderable and incalculable forces that have been unleashed within the ancient social structure of the European continent.

HOLLYWOOD—One smart girl grows up: On the evening of December 4 there'll be a birthday party at Andre de Seguro's house.

Deanna Durbin will wear her hair "up" for the occasion—but she will not be escorted by a "boy friend." So all the mamas of growing girls can breathe easily again.

What Shirley Temple is to the nine-year-olds, Deanna is to the adolescent girls. What Deanna does on the screen—and in her private life too—is extremely important.

Right now, on the threshold of the sweetest possible life, Deanna is a young lady of quiet poise and assurance which masks a natural shyness; she is given to deliberate, serious answers to some of your casual questions—and again, with a laugh that is half smile, half giggle, she'll chatter away for all of ten minutes at a stretch.

"Oh, I can't," she said. "There are so many people who object—and then there are SOME newspaper critics," she added with just the ghost of a pout, "who always look for a chance to write up Cooper to the 'Tom Sawyer' preview."

"But were you?" the prosecution demanded sternly. "Oh, NO-O-O-O-O!" Deanna's blue eyes widened. "I've never been in a night club, except to sing when the studio used to send me. And oh, yes—I saw some in New York but that was because Mr. Pasternak told me to. So I'd know what they were like, because in the picture I had to go to one."

"No, really I can't do anything—but I MANAGE," she brightened. "Manage?"

"I mean I have a good time—at home, with friends, or just by myself. I have a good time."

DON'T MARRY THE MAN

By Jeanne Bowman

Chapter Eight HATE AT FIRST SIGHT: Blindly Kathleen hurried from the hotel and blindly crossed the street. She would suffice if she drew another cubic inch of MacDonald air.

The insolence of the man! He was spoiled... Probably by the women Mayne had mentioned. But what made him think he could talk to her in that fashion?

She walked on. The pavement on the Gregory side of Neutrality stopped at the end of the business section. The MacDonald pavement continued on.

Kathleen took the dirt trail which ran parallel with the road. She rounded a curve and found her side edged by cottages which hid their tattered shame from the neat stone bungalows on the opposite side.

Kathleen's hands clasped tightly behind her. The Gregory's shamed by the MacDonalds, she thought. With militant step she strode on, unaware of quickening eyes behind the windows of the Gregory "cots."

She had noticed the windows. They were incongruous, gallant panes of shining glass edged by frilled white curtains and brave potted plants.

The road wound on up the hill and now the Gregory cots became abandoned hulks. Roofs were caved in. Stone chimneys sprawled from base to roadside; windows stared on the ruins with vacant, panceless eyes.

Another turn in the road and she stood still. There was a grotesque building ahead on the highest ledge of the hillside. It straddled the termination of the dirt and macadam road. In the middle it was low and built of logs. To the left the logs gave way to stone foundations with horizontal clapboard walls.

The House of Hate, she said with sudden understanding. There was the log cabin which had housed her grandfather and the grandfather of MacDonald before their feud had started. And because neither would give in to the other they had built their homes beyond the divided halves of that cabin.

ADDITIONAL FEDERAL JUDGESHIP SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Congress will be asked next year to create 13 additional federal judgeships. The judicial conference decided yesterday that docket conditions made it advisable to create nine new district judgeships, add two members to the eighth circuit court of appeals and one each to the sixth and seventh circuits. Its recommendations will be sent to congress.

PARIS COATS ARE ELEGANTLY SLIM AND LAVISHLY FURRED

Fitted with suave figure moulding lines and softly bloused above tiny waistlines, new Paris coats have a dramatic sophistication in silhouette. Slightly raised sleeves and very erect looking shoulders add to the smart ladylike lines, while lavish use of furs add elegance. Mainbocher's bloused back with flattering slim lines... Schiaparelli's dramatic new gay ninety shoulders and furred sleeves... Maggy Rouff's lavish furs on elegantly fitted coats with slight wing... Vionnet's flattering bias lines and new Blahop sleeves... Molynoux's charmingly wearable coats... Lelong's intricate use of fur trimmings and full sleeves... Paquin's colorful tweeds in new Autumnal rainbow... Vionnet's devastatingly flattering collar of fluffy rippling fox... these create the ladylike elegance of the new Coat Mode!

Bloused Coats Flattering New softened coats with bloused backs have a new flattery and emphasize slim draped hiplines. Deep armholes which give graceful drape to coat fronts, and dolman sleeves with their rich fold add to the softer look of many new coats. Vionnet shows sleeves that are also slightly bloused, and this, too, emphasizes the slimmest of fitted waists and hiplines. Lelong, too, includes the new bloused sleeve, and others full at the elbow from a slightly raised shoulder line emphasize by contrast the lovely fitted lines of the body.

Time Flies, And How!

New Coachman Coats From the coachman coats of Martial et Armand, richly encrusted with fur panels and appliques, smartly wide fur lapels, to the new Schiaparelli sleeves with their up-standing curve above narrowed shoulders, the gay ninety silhouette is smartly new looking in Paris coat collections. Leg-o-mutton sleeves with mid-Victorian effect are another trend in this new silhouette treatment and give definitely feminine lines. The new elegance in coats is especially noted in Maggy Rouff's collection, where lavish furs and a distinctly feminine silhouette are emphasized. Smoother woollens increase the beauty of smoothly fitting coats, and exravagant furs give emphasis to the new quality look of coat fashions. Much Persian lamb is used and mink in rich browns on black coats.

Ladylike Coat Collars Bruyere likes ladylike coat collars that hug the throat in stand-up flat furs or high placed fox collars. Sophistication and colorful beauty are noted in the use of rich embroideries. Beautiful rosy mauve tones, rich grays, glorious browns and rusts and new deep greens are shown in a colorful group. Silhouettes vary from the wide circular fullness of dressier coats to the slim hourglass waistlines and trim look of more fitted coats. Every emphasis is given to tiny fitted waistlines in this coat collection, with fur bands and seams radiating into skirts or coat tops to further emphasize the narrow waists.

Schiaparelli's use of gay Scotch tweeds in coats and suits is stimulating with so much black shown in most collections. Monotone tweeds in rich russet browns and glowing copper tones are beautiful. Thickly nubbed or striped tweeds

Bright Colors Add Gay Note For Autumn

No Dreary Winter As Far As Clothes Are Concerned

PARIS, (UP)—Spring-like colors will lend a gay spirit to autumn styles if the world follows the trail blazed by Paris dressmakers. "Candy" colors—peppermint greens, taffy pinks and more somber horehound shades mix with each other and with black so freely that none need fear a dreary winter as far as clothes are concerned.

The Oriental influence is probably largely responsible for eastern embroideries and fabrics whether they be Persian, Chinese or Javanese, are usually rich and brilliant in color. Look at Schiaparelli's lavender velvet jacket designed for winter wear. It has salmon and bright green silk embroidery mingling with metallic threads. It's worn with straight, masculine-cut black wool trousers. Topping a wood green rough skirt is a bright peony pink wool jacket striped dark red. And the same jacket can be worn quite legitimately with a purple wool skirt.

Faquin suggests combining a raspberry red with dark green. He makes a box-pleated wool skirt of the green shade and a loose blouse of red—but the sleeves and the belt of the latter are green. Heim achieves the same effect by putting violet sleeves in a green blouse. The ensemble skirt is green.

while the three-quarter coat is violet. Even more astounding is Chanel's combination of a red and black checked blouse to a soft olive green suit. Or Marjorie Dunton's brilliant green glazed kid jacket worn with a purple jersey blouse and a wool skirt striped gray, green and purple. Less astonishing, but with the same spring-like gaiety, are Molyneux's autumn ensembles of light mustard yellow or beige shades. One good-looking mustard suit has a small Peter Pan collar and cuffs of soft brown nutria. The blouse of crepe matches the suit and the jacket is slightly longer in back than in front.

MEXICAN HELD ON SMUGGLING COUNT

LAREDO, Oct. 4 (UP)—Enrique Mazullo Cordova, 23-year-old Mexican, faced charges of smuggling here today in connection with the theft of the Empress Carlota jewels from the Mexican national museum Sept. 4. The Mexican admitted he took the jewels, which once belonged to Emperor Maximilian's wife. He pleaded guilty to the charge of smuggling and was held under $3,000 bail. Forty-four pieces of the jewelry were recovered from Cordova and Laredo jewelers who had bought them.

WAREHOUSE BURNS

MARSHALL, Oct. 5 (UP)—A warehouse in which the Marshall Manufacturing company had stored 96,000 bushel baskets for shipment burned here last night. Fire Chief Sam Lindsay said he could not give an opinion as to origin of the blaze until debris was cleared sufficiently to permit an investigation.

Costume Suit Is The Tops In Popularity

Coats Of Varying Length, Usually Go In For Trimmings Of Fur

There is a saying that if a woman has a dress and a coat, she is dressed up for the season and this year the designers had the happy thought of combining the two into what is known as the costume suit—a combination that is more popular with the women than all of the frocks and coats to be found in any one store.

The coats are made in any length from the bolero type to the hip-length, finger-tip and full-length. Many of them have complete dresses while others feature satin tops of the same color. And furs, and more furs from caracul, dyed skunk, lamb, pony, kid to red and blue fox trim the coats.

Fur Sleeves Full-length fur sleeves are among the smartest creations and heavily padded shoulders come in for their part of squaring off. Furs are featured in the shawl collars, short bulldog collars, suave bandings and some even have wide luxuriant strips running from the collar, down the front, and completely around the bottom of a fitted skirt.

The English tweed shot coat, (it is from two to three inches longer than last year) with matching or contrasting skirts is among the fall fashions. The punched-backs are gone but many have belts. One suit noted in a local department store had a full-length coat with beaver trimmed sleeves and the dress was outstanding because of an embroidered chiffon top. The coat had a gathered back and a loop belt. Another striking num-

Jewel Trims Sparkle On Fall Frocks

Louis XIV Modes Are Noted On Glittering Dress Accents

Glittery and colorful is the spirit of Fashion in Paris this Fall, reflecting the showy spectacle of court fashions in the time of Louis XIV. Regal colors in deep royal reds and purples bloom for afternoon and evening, as sponsored by Maggy Rouff, Mainbocher, Vionnet, Schiaparelli and others in their Fall collections.

Elegant embroideries, rich braiding and beading give sparkling glamour to new afternoon and cocktail dresses. You may choose between stately slim models with jeweled accents or swishing full dresses perfect for informal dances.

Contrasting with this mode of brilliance, are the new street frocks. Nothing is too dramatic and simple for daytime. Nothing is too rich and magnificent for afternoon and evening this Fall.

Simple day dresses have soft clinging lines that reveal the figure in new emphatic curves. Rich fabrics in regal colors are shown in sheath-like dresses with softly bloused tops and elegant high necklines. Lanvin, who loves the "form divine," shows costumes that display it beautifully, softly moulded above to emphasize youthful bustline and the high young look of the new shoulders, slimly sheathed in waistlines and hips with fluid beauty of line.

Pre-War Elegance

America's own period of elegance in Pre-War days reflects in new Paris styles, a trend that has grown since it was launched at the extravagant gala after the opening of Les Ambassadeurs. High-raised sleeveless, in the Schiaparelli manner, and Gay Ninety necklines and full bustline drapery follow this trend. In every collection the amusing Gay Ninety hats are shown, to enhance the stunning simplicity of dress silhouettes, and many dramatic sweeping Merry Widow effects with brilliant plumes and sweeping parade feathers are posed high above the new upswep collars.

Schiaparelli creates daringly youthful and colorful frocks, with vivid jewels and accessories. Patou builds his gowns to give extra height and regal beauty to the women who wear them. Glinting rhinestones and bright trims accent their slim, almost Grecian lines.

PWA APPROVES MORE LOANS AND GRANTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (UP)—The Public Works administration approved today loans of $21,000 and grants of $971,256 for 12 non-federal projects having an estimated construction cost of $2,106,014.

Of the grants, $794,182 went to Missouri for $1,773,693 bridge buildings in 28 counties. The other allotments, grants unless otherwise specified, included: San Augustine, Tex., electric system, $18,000; Warden, Tex., power project, $150,000 loan and $12,733 grant.

RICH MATERIALS STRESSED IN MANY DESIGNS FOR WINTER

PARIS, (UP)—Never has a season stressed so much the importance of rich new materials or the revival of old-fashioned fabrics. Chief among the latter is moire, that delightful medium between grosgrain and watered taffeta. Yards and yards of it are used in pastel colors to form romantic evening dresses or floor-length coats. But at the same time a narrow moire ribbon may play perhaps just as important a part in a dress's perfection of detail.

Black moire ribbon makes the belt for Moynaux's short black georgette dress that is all-over knife pleated with two-thirds length sleeves, wide and loose at their bottoms. Black moire lines a softly flaring fitted black wool coat whose small band collar of black broad-tail ties in a bow. And the moire note is struck again when it is used for a wide sash on the black wool crepe dress worn under the coat.

"Sooty blue" moire makes Schiaparelli's goodlooking tailored suit, ideal for almost any time of day and any occasion. A bright pink scarf is held down by a clip that is a twisted mass of burnished gold, and a bright pink felt hat, high crowned and mannish, has a hat band of rhinestones.

Even knitwear does not escape the moire influence. To a straight afternoon dress, knit in rich violet colored wool and rayon mixed yarn, Anny Blatt adds a neck garniture of violet moire ribbon and an inch-wide belt of the same violet moire. A wide sash of crushed and fold-

JUDGES GATHERING AT NEW BRAUNFELS

NEW BRAUNFELS, Oct. 5 (UP)—The vanguard of an estimated 800 delegates expected to attend the annual state convention of the county judges and commissioners was arriving here today. Registration begins tonight with a pre-convention dance also scheduled.

Many state officials are on the program which opens tomorrow and continues through Saturday with Governor-nominate W. Lee Daniel scheduled as guest speaker Friday morning. United States Senator Tom Connally will speak at a banquet Friday night.

Jackets Good To Bring Out New Touch

Fix-Over Ideas Are Cleared From Paris Collections

PARIS, (UP)—If one is fortunate enough to have a plain black dress that "just won't wear out," there are hundreds of fix-over ideas to be gleaned from the Paris winter collections.

A jacket is, of course, the simplest and one of the most effective fix-over notions. Try a short-sleeved jacket of violet wool over a perfectly plain black wool crepe dress, or a gay striped jacket with a tiny Peter Pan collar of black astrakhan. A smart leather belt on your black dress will make the necessary connection between jacket and dress.

Two outstanding fall models combine black wool material with a contrasting material. One black dress with shiny flaring skirt has short puff sleeves of bright plaid wool and round brass buttons down its back. To carry out the idea to perfection these should be a little jacket of plaid to match the sleeves.

Another dress is all black half way to the knees; from that level the skirt is of deep red wool material. The sleeves are black to the elbows and are then changed to a belted-up bottom of the red wool.

To give a black suit a touch of 1939 chic make the buttonhole band of violet colored cloth and perch a bunch of Parma violets on the jacket lapel. A crepe blouse of the same violet shade completes the rejuvenation. Easter still is to tie a sash of lavender moire ribbon around a black wool dress, and add lavender crystal buttons down the center of the bodice.

Dressier treatments include an afternoon dress that combines a black duvetyne skirt with a gathered black chiffon blouse, joining the two by a crushed girde of coral moire. Quite different, but equally dressy, is a simple black silk crepe that has its long sleeves and narrow belt piped with gold kid, while gold kid makes a visible lining for the high round neck that is slit a couple of inches in the center front.

Ensemble Is Always Good And A Velvet Suit Is Important Addition To Wardrobe

PARIS, (UP)—Most of us are disappointed when we start checking over our fall wardrobe. We find that a favorite outfit is out-moded and suits have lost that chic touch. As a matter of fact, after discovering that we really haven't a thing to wear, another problem arises. What to get? What are some new ideas in fall wear? Well, here are a few numbers which should help.

A dressy coat and frock ensemble is always good. There was an exceptionally effective model displayed. The coat was of brilliant green wool, trimmed lavishly in red fox. Square shoulders, high neck and long sleeves accented the dress.

Another addition to the 1939 fall wardrobe should be what is fashionably known as a "daguerrtype" frock. This model was shown in velvet and taffeta and emphasized the shirred waist, off-the-shoulder neckline, a straight, full skirt and short, puffed sleeves. The neckline, incidentally, was held in place by a pair of brilliant clips.

For sports occasions, fashion has elected a solid-colored skirt of smooth material, with a contrasting wool jacket. A smart combination is a brown skirt, with a brown and beige striped coat. A brown silk tailored blouse completes the outfit.

And to make the fall wardrobe really complete, a velvet suit is virtually a "must." They are not generously furled and femininely cut as in other years. Instead, they are as tailored as the woolen suits. Parisian stylists have designed them in deep purple and soft, taupe brown, as well as the more conservative, dressy black.

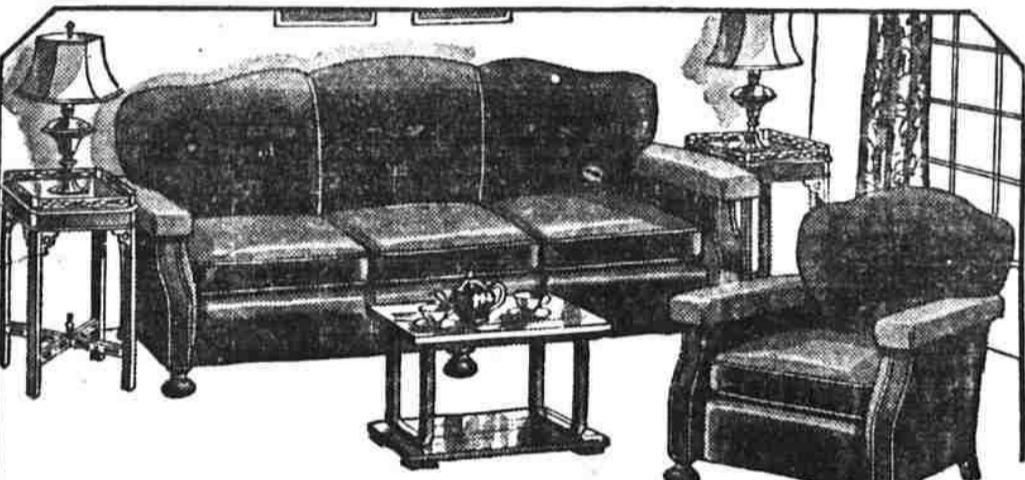

An Indian legend holds that fire was discovered when buffaloes hoofs struck sparks from rock and set some dry brush afire.

Use of fingerprints for identification is ancient but the modern scientific system was not suggested until 1852.
