

Baptist Preacher Resigns May 30

Rev. E. J. Keith, who has served as pastor of First Baptist Church in Farwell for the past three years and 10 months, has resigned. June 1 he will begin duties as pastor of First Baptist Church in White Deer. His resignation here is effective May 30.

Pastor Keith asked to be relieved of his duties here at a regular meeting of church officials May 7.

He moved here from Hart in August of 1954. Since that time, some $30,000, which was owed on present church buildings, has been paid off. Also, a building fund for a new auditorium was started February 1 of this year.

During Rev. Keith's tenure a total of 198 have been received into the membership of the church. Of this number, 61 came by baptism and 137 were by letter.

"In leaving, we wish to say we surely enjoyed our stay in Farwell and we hope the best for the community and for the church," Rev. Keith said.

A meeting of youngsters interested in participating in the program will be conducted at 9:30 the morning of June 2. Site of the meeting will be Farwell's grade school gym. Purpose of it will be to work out details concerning the program and find out what the majority of the children want to do, Atwell says.

Last year, swimming, movies, and baseball were the most popular activities and Atwell figures they will be again. However, he has given students, (Continued on last page)

Steers Hit Petersburg; Bi-District Champions

—BULLETIN—

Farwell's Steers will meet Merkel in the regional playoff game Friday at 1 p. m. at Hodges Park in Lubbock.

Coach Calvin Murray and Merkel officials agreed on the site, time and other details yesterday (Wednesday). Merkel earned the right to represent its bi-district by downing Sanderson in the first two games of a best two of three series. They won the first game Saturday, 4-3, and the second Tuesday, 4-2.

The Steers are expected to field the same starting lineup that went against Petersburg in the bi-district game with the exception of Johnny Lovelace, who will be in an outfield position. He sat out the bi-district game following an arm operation.

Admission charges in Lubbock will be 75 cents for adults and 25 cents for children, Coach Murray says.

Farwell's Steers are bi-district baseball champions.

After winning the first district championship in the history of the school this spring, the Steers plastered Petersburg, 2-0, Friday afternoon at Bell Park in Clovis in the bi-district melee.

The strong right arm of Owen Huffaker, Farwell's ace moundsman, proved to be the difference Friday as he allowed the visiting South Plains nine only three hits in the seven-inning game.

Pacing the Steers at the plate was Leftfielder Billy Smith, who had three hits—a triple and two singles—in three at bats, and Third Baseman Jimmy Martin, who had two singles in three trips.

Both Farwell runs were of the unearned variety and Huffaker aided his own cause by scoring the first one himself. It came in the first inning. With one out, Smith singled. Huffaker forced Smith at second, but was safe at first and was on his way toward committing larceny at third when the catcher threw wild in an effort to nail him there. The wild throw allowed Huffaker to score easily and that proved to be the margin of victory.

In the sixth inning, the Steers added their insurance run. Catcher Benjy Dial was safe on an error and scored one out later when Martin singled to center.

The win made Huffaker's season record 5-1. He was in trouble Friday in only two innings—the second and the fourth.

In the second frame, two walks and a single loaded the bases with no outs. However, he got the fourth batter of the inning to fly out and got the next two on strikes to keep the visitors' score intact.

In the fourth, Martin threw a runner out at the plate to again leave Petersburg runless

Work Scheduled To Begin Soon

Construction on Farwell School's over-$200,000 building project is scheduled to get underway soon.

Members of the school board let the contract for expansion of facilities in a special session last Thursday afternoon. Successful bidder, from a field of five, was Jones Construction Co. of Big Spring.

The bid was $211,825. It will cover the costs of building a 48 by 48 foot addition to the cafeteria and an elementary school building which will feature 13 classrooms.

Supt. Jack Williams announced Bennett Construction Co., Lubbock was second low bidder with a mark of $213,319.

"We were pleased with the bids," Williams reports, and it is his feeling that the number of bidders was sufficient to assure the school district of a good price.

Though the day work will begin is not known, Williams says it will be "right away."

According to the contract, the firm has 280 days to finish the elementary building. A total of 90 days was allowed for the cafeteria.

These times began Thursday, May 15. If the work goes according to schedule, the cafeteria expansion will be finished by August 15 and, therefore, ready to use next school year. Williams figures the elementary building will be ready to move into at the beginning of the 1959-60 school term though he says it is possible that it may be in use before that time.

If it is completed on schedule, it will be ready by the middle of February of next year. "If we can move into it at mid-term, we will," he says. However, it's doubtful that construction can progress that rapidly due to possibilities of bad weather and other conditions.

Present at the Thursday afternoon session, which was in the homemaking department, were school board members, contractors who submitted bids, and the architects, Butler and Kimmel, of Lubbock.

Cost of the construction per square foot is $9.34, Williams figures. This price does not include the cost of the walk-in refrigerator, which will be installed in the cafeteria, nor does it count the cost of the inter-communications system which will be in the elementary building.

Subtracting those two items from the bid leave the actual building cost at $208,150.

In addition to the 13 classrooms, the elementary building, which will contain 19,067 square feet, will have a library, nurse's room, book room, two storage rooms, principal's office and teacher's workroom.

The building will be semi-fireproof and walls will be constructed of brick backed by concrete tile. It will be located across the street north from the present buildings.

The cafeteria addition will contain the kitchen and additional eating space. Kitchen of the present cafeteria will be converted into eating space. A total of 2,304 square feet will be added to the cafeteria.

Construction of the cafeteria expansion and the elementary school building is only a part of Farwell School's overall plans for improving the school plant.

Graders Finish Tonight

Thirty-nine students will be awarded diplomas at the Farwell eighth grade commencement program tonight (Thursday) in the auditorium.

The program will feature John Getz, guest speaker. Music will be by Mrs. R. W. Anderson and the girls of the class. A reception for graduates and parents will be in the cafeteria.

Class honor students include Martha Moser, valedictorian, and Jolene Donaldson and D'Ann Garrett, salutatorians.

Graduates include Zell Billingsley, Pattie Black, Lavona Carthel, Misses Donaldson, Garrett, and Moser, Iris Goldsmith, Jane Gulley, Gloria Hillock, Vicki Lovett, Joan Potts, Carolyn Rounton, Karen Schell, and Carolyn Watts.

Also Mike Billington, Jimmie Cain, Jimmy Clements, Van Crume, Don Dale, William Dannheim, Max Field, Dickie Gerries, Mike Getz, Roy Hammonds, Errol Johnson, James Keith, and Marshall Lee.

Also David Lindop, Jerry Lovelace, Michael Nelson, Pete Rolland, Maurice Smith, Johnny Sprows, Freddy Taylor, Ronnie Thomas, Scotty Turner, Jimmy Walker, David Watkins, and Jackie Williams.

Mrs. J. D. Atwell is class sponsor.

Awards Assembly Rescheduled

Time for the annual awards assembly at Farwell School has been changed from 11 a. m. to 10 a. m. Friday. Other activities for the last day of school are to begin at 9:30 a. m., not at 8 as originally announced. Buses will run at the conclusion of the assembly.

Among the awards to be made are those for perfect attendance, the honor students, band jackets, and the DAR Good Citizenship award.

SIREN SIGNALS CHANGED

Farwell's fire siren is now operating under a new set of rules.

In the future, residents will be notified there is a fire by five shrill blasts from the siren, Fire Chief Otis Huggins announces. Prior to the recent change, the signal for a fire was eight or nine blasts.

Warning that a tornado is in the area will be a continuous ringing of the siren, the chief says.

"There are two switches on the siren," he explains, "when one is turned on, the siren will blow five times and stop. That will be for a fire. In case there is a tornado, the second switch will be used. It will cause the siren to blow until someone turns it off."

Films of County's Records Being Made

It's only a matter of days until Parmer County Clerk Hugh Moseley will have one less worry.

Films are being made of Parmer County's records. Should the records be destroyed by fire, flood, or what-have-you, the records, or at least films of them, will be safe.

Ernie Johnston, of Southern Microfilm Corporation, Houston, began making pictures of the volumes of county records Monday. At the time he started, Johnston estimated the job would take "about 10 days."

Johnston's equipment includes a camera, mounted some six feet above a table, and proper lighting. The camera takes a picture of two pages of a volume at a time.

When the film is developed, negatives will be stored in a fireproof bank vault where they will be safe at a time of disaster.

The idea, which is similar to the way banks make films of the checks they handle, was approved by county commissioners court in a recent session.

In explaining the value of having films of the records, Moseley explained, "It's like insurance. We hope we never have any use for them but in case something happens to the records, these films will be invaluable."

Cost of the operation will be between $1300 and $1400. Moseley doesn't plan to have ALL the records filmed this year—just the most important ones. Later, the remainder may be film-recorded, he said. It will be necessary for new records, which are constantly being added at the clerk's office in the courthouse, to be filmed about "every 12 or 18 months," Moseley pointed out. At one of these future "sittings" he may have those records filmed which won't be this time.

Parmer County's records, none of which have been destroyed in almost 60 years, are contained in some 200 volumes which have an average of 640 pages each.

In regard to his operation, Johnston explained that a similar plan is used by the Library of Congress and that, in addition to serving as protection in case of disaster, the records—on film—will weigh about three pounds as compared with the original volumes weigh.

Kinds of records which are being filmed include deeds, deeds of trust, mechanic's liens, wills, and indexes to the records.

If the originals are destroyed, a new, full-size set may be prepared from the films. "And the law requires that a new set be made if the originals are destroyed," Moseley said.

Though the county wasn't established until several years later, the first records involving Parmer County people dates back to 1901.

SHOOTING THE RECORDS—As a precautionary measure against disaster, films are being made this week of Parmer County's records. The work is being done in the county clerk's office. The camera is stationed some six feet above the volume which is being photographed. Ernie Johnston, right, of Houston, is doing the work. Looking on are Dixie Turner, clerk's office employee, and County Clerk Hugh Moseley.

Whether the much-publicized recession has hit the state line is a pay-your-money-take-your-choice type of question.

Some observers in the twin cities of Texico-Farwell feel the recession is upon us. Others feel there isn't really a recession, but the fact that citizens think there might be one soon is making the area suffer the effects of the real thing, or nearly so. Still others say there is certainly no recession here. Though it's uncommon, it's not impossible to hear that "business is the best ever."

This statement is born out by total deposits at Security State Bank. Bob Anderson, bank vice-president, reported this week that deposits there were "$800,000 over this time a year ago." The figure is better than could be expected, even if there wasn't any recession talk drifting across the High Plains and through Texico-Farwell, because of last year's bad weather-shortened crop.

Bank deposits are ordinarily used as a yardstick for determining the financial condition of a community. In this case, however, the recession is possibly more prominent than the bank report tends to show.

Most merchants who admit business is off over a year ago, quickly point out they don't think the slump is recession-caused. They tend to blame the decrease in dollar volume to last year's below par crop that left the community with less money than it had grown accustomed to having.

Having less money caused some families to confine their buying to necessity-type products and service and encouraged them to pass up buying things which were luxurious or bordered on being of that nature.

Probably the most popular idea on the subject is that there is actually no recession here, but that national publicity has brought "recession" to minds of people and they are, naturally enough, reacting accordingly. In other words, even though they, as individuals, don't notice a shortage of money, they are under the impression the situation might get worse soon.

Therefore, they tend to be more conservative, spend less money, and make an effort to be prepared in case something really goes wrong with financial conditions. This tends to cut down on the amount of money in circulation.

Whether a merchant feels there is a recession seems to depend on the type of business he's in. Suppliers of irrigation equipment and accessories, for instance, didn't do the business this spring that they have in years gone by.

This decrease could be contributed to the so-called recession. Or it could be that last year's poor crop left the farmer with less money to spend. Still another possibility is that rains in recent months have cut down on the need for irrigation supplies. The latter two reasons would cause irrigation-dependent business to be off whether the country was floating with inflation or riddled with recession.

More than one business person in the Twin Cities figures business is better this spring than it has ever been before. This, too, could be brought about by a variety of reasons. Probably it would be safe to say the business which is doing more this year than in years gone by is enjoying better management, an increased stock, or some other improvement. This fact, too, would remain true whether or not economic conditions were changed.

A generally accepted fact here is there is more construction or planned construction going on now than this time 12 months back down the calendar. This, in itself, tends to disprove the idea that a recession is in effect. Too, it seems safe to assume that more money available for loans and lower interest (Continued on last page.)

WINNING MARGIN—Owen Huffaker, right, has just crossed home plate with the Steers' first run in the first inning of Friday afternoon's bi-district playoff game between Farwell and Petersburg in Bell Park at Clovis. That run proved to be the margin of victory as the local team went on to blank the visitors, 2-0.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Last Wednesday at 9 a.m. the Parmer County Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors had its regular business meeting. Those present were A. L. Black, Carl Schlenker, Bruce Parr, George Crain, County Agent Joe Jones and Bob Crozier, Work Unit Conservationist.

Chairman Black opened the meeting by asking Crozier to give a report on the Great Plains Conservation Program. After the report the Board discussed the program as it pertained to this county.

Crozier also reported that the SCS office here in Friona will have two trainees to start work in June.

Checks were made out for the winners of the county essay contest on Soil Conservation. The winners were as follows:

First place, Ramey Joel Brandon of Bovina; second place, Myrna Elyese Downs of Bovina; third place, Earl Ryden of Lazbuddie, and fourth place, Gladys Marie Dean of Friona.

All but one piece of the equipment granted to the District has been received. The equipment will need some repair before being put into operation. John Logan was considered and interviewed by the Board to operate and maintain the equipment.

James D. Mabry of Hub has put from 8 to 10 tons of gin trash and cotton burrs on one part of a field on his farm. He has applied 80 pounds of anhydrous ammonia and plans to put more to be sure that adequate nitrogen will be available to the next crop.

Mabry says they sure make the difference. On one end of a field of wheat where burrs were applied the wheat is taller and has a better color.

One disadvantage of applying cotton burrs is they bring in weed seeds. Mabry says it's a good idea to let the area the burrs were applied lay out the following summer to control the weeds.

Farm and Home Appreciates Your News Tips

Will Matthews, pioneer farmer on the state line south of Farwell, shows off some of his Comanche dryland wheat, which is hoped to yield 25 bushels an acre. Dryland wheat all over the High Plains is looking extra good this year, and if favorable conditions hold, good yields are expected.

Dryland Wheat To Make This Year

There was some dryland wheat cut in the Parmer County area last year, but most of it was pretty skimpy. Any dryland that beat 10 bushels per acre was considered good.

This spring, though, prospects for a dryland wheat harvest appear the best since 1949 and, in many cases, the best since 1947. Parmer County area farmers have shared with those of the entire wheat-growing part of the High Plains in the rainfall that has come since sowing time last fall.

Since planting, rains have come with gratifying regularity, although a slight drouthy spell did set in about 10 days ago and cut back yields in some spots, especially in the northern parts of the Parmer County area.

Wheat used to be a big cash crop in county agriculture, but since big scale irrigation developed in 1953 and 1954, it has been pushed into the background.

Row crops such as cotton and grain sorghum respond very favorably to irrigation, but it's tricky to get really big yields by irrigating wheat. Hence, farmers took to watering their wheat rather slowly.

That's the main reason why only about one-half of the area wheat is irrigated, and why, when the rains do come, the effort of them is very noticeable in the amount of wheat produced in this area.

Wheat produces well on any type land in the Parmer County area and is well suited here climatically. However, the heavier or "tight" lands to the north usually have the natural fertility to produce the highest yields.

In contrast, the sandier soils to the south can be depended on to make better use of the usually meager to inadequate supply of moisture, and so in a marginal year, the sandier land will outproduce the more fertile tight soils. It about averages out.

This year, there will be good dryland wheat produced both on tight land and in the sandier soils. As a rule of the thumb, most of the wheat on the sandier land suffered the least from the temporary drouth that struck about the time of heading out.

Will Matthews, who farms on the state line south of Farwell, says his dryland wheat looks the best since 1947. He believes that it will yield around 25 bushels to the acre. His Comanche looks the best.

Matthews has some of his land in the soil bank, and on one part of this land, he has barley as a cover crop. The barley is now looking so good that he is strongly considering harvesting it and paying a penalty to take produce from land in the soil bank.

A film producer was asked how he could afford 40,000 extras for a Western movie he was making.

"It's only the first day that's expensive," he said, "You see, we use live ammunition."

THE PARMER FARMER

by W. H. Graham Jr.

The Plainview Herald, which has supported (understandably so) the High Plains Station of the Texas Research Foundation at Halfway since it was first placed there, has come up with some interesting figures.

Hale County farmers, with a grain sorghum acreage of 300,000, could increase their returns by about $4 million if they followed the Station's advice with regard to fertilizing, claims the Herald.

The paper estimates that only about half of the Hale County producers now fertilize, and experiments on that land indicate the yield can be upped from a common 3,945 pounds to 5,911 pounds per acre through applications of anhydrous ammonia (nitrogen).

In the station's budget of about $80,000 last year, only about $6,000 was allocated to the particular type of research that reveals these interesting figures. The newspaper points out that this is a big and fast return on the investment, provided the information gleaned will be put to use.

About two-thirds of the Parmer County farmland devoted to grain sorghum production has characteristics comparable to the Pullman clay that the tests were run on in Hale County, so the story might well apply to our own area.

The Texas Employment Commission, which keeps a close check on wheat prospects because they are charged with controlling the labor supply for harvest, says that prospects are at an all-time (per acre yield) high this spring. This news comes as no big surprise to residents of the High Plains, who could not help but notice the great improvement in wheat in our own area.

In a report dated May 12, they say a prospective yield of 19 bushels per acre is indicated, which is one-half bushel above the previous high and eight bushels above average.

With practically no loss of seeded acreage, growers expect to combine the largest acreage since 1949. The 3,576,000 acres now indicated for harvest would be over half again as large as last year. Total production expected is 67.9 million bushels.

Only four times in history has Texas produced larger crops—1931, 1944, 1949, and 1947 when the all-time record of 117 million bushels was combined. Responsible for this bountiful outlook are almost ideal conditions in the Panhandle, the state's main wheat area.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER
BY JUNE FLOYD

We would like to express our appreciation to Mrs. Clytie Dial of Farwell for sending us a copy of the Parent's Magazine which we misplaced several weeks ago. This magazine was left at the State Line Tribune for us about two weeks ago and we surely do appreciate the thoughtfulness of Mrs. Dial.

Now that it is rose blooming time again, each of us should make a rose jar. They were very popular in days gone by and would be enjoyed just as much by us and our children. Things of this sort have taken a direct turn in reverse.

Not too many generations ago store bought items were very much to be desired and the novelty of just seeing some of the things shown in the shops was a rare treat. On the other hand, homemade items were very common place.

At this time if we want something different, we just about have to make it. Everyone has seen and purchased everything that has been shown in the stores or catalogs and homemade items are novelties.

Instructions for making an old-fashioned rose jar were given in a how-to-do-it Rose Growers handbook recently. They are as follows: "Be sure your jar has a tight-fitting lid. (We used a penny-candy jar.) Place a layer of dried rose petals (preferably red because they are more fragrant) in the bottom. Sprinkle lightly with ground cloves, mace, and cinnamon. Add another layer of rose petals and another of spices. Alternate until you reach the top. Add some sweet cedar or sandalwood if possible. These are usually available at large drug houses. On the very top sprinkle a few drops of your favorite perfume.

For something really different during rose blooming season we might try rose tea. Simply steep rose hips for ten minutes in boiling water, strain and serve. Would you add cream and sugar and drink it hot? The Rose Growers didn't say.

Our Mrs. America favorite recipes begin this week with Mrs. Hugh Mactier, who was chosen Mrs. Nebraska. Mrs. Mactier's favorite main dish is Paella Valenciana. With it she serves saffron rice which she makes in large quantities and freezes to have on hand.

SAFFRON RICE

- 1/4 cup olive oil
 - 2 cloves garlic, crushed
 - 2 large onions, minced
 - 2 cups uncooked rice
 - dash red pepper
 - 1/4 teaspoon thyme
 - 1/4 teaspoon rosemary
 - 1/2 teaspoon Spanish saffron
 - 2 cans consommé plus 2 cups water
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Heat oil in deep heavy skillet. All garlic, onion, rice, and pepper. Cook over low flame until rice begins to brown, stirring constantly. Remove and discard garlic. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer 30 minutes or until rice is done, stirring occasionally. Makes 8 servings.

Mrs. Nevada, Mrs. Russell Neece, submitted her husband's favorite main dish.

SPAGHETTI CLAM SAUCE

- 3/4 cup olive oil
 - 1/2 cup butter
 - 4 cloves garlic, finely chopped
 - 1/4 cup minced parsley
 - 1 tablespoon sweet basil
 - 3 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
 - dash red pepper
 - dash freshly ground black pepper
 - 1 dozen cherrystone clams
 - 1 package (8 ozs) spaghetti, cooked
- Heat olive oil and butter in skillet. Add garlic, parsley, sweet basil, cheese, red pepper, ground black pepper, and clams. Simmer 10 to 15 minutes. Pour over spaghetti. Makes 6 servings.

Stir together and put into greased 1 1/2 quart casserole. Top with whipped potato and bake in hot oven until brown and bubbly. Makes 4 servings.

For a crunchy change on the next spice cake you bake, broil this frosting right on the top of the loaf cake: Mix together 1 stick oleo or 1/4 pound butter, which has been melted; 1/2 cup brown sugar; 2 tablespoons milk; 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts. Spread over top and broil until bubbly, about two minutes.

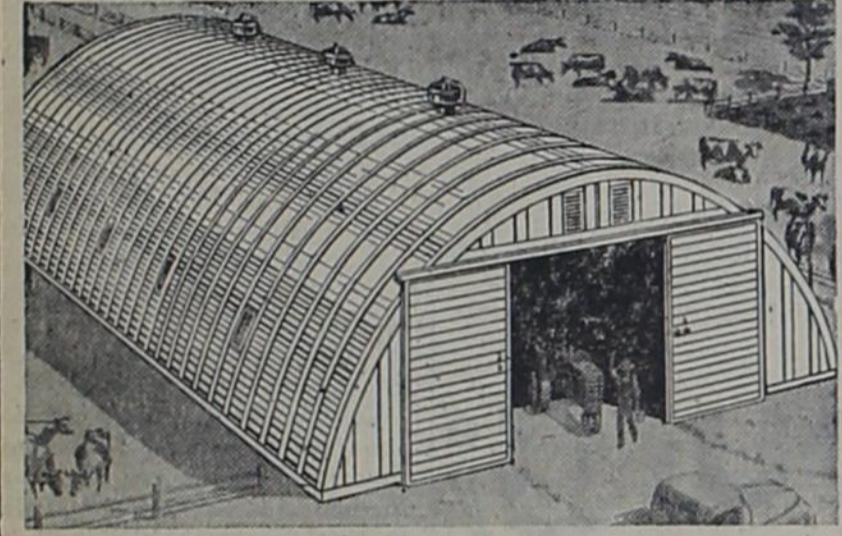

Mohair Supports May Come in 1958

Incentive payments may be made to mohair producers in 1958 for the first time.

No payments were required on mohair sales during 1955 and 1956 and none are indicated for 1957. Recently, however, prices reported in Texas ranging from 46 1/2 to 51 1/2 cents per pound for adult mohair and 76 1/2 to 81 1/2 cents for kid mohair indicate that the national average price for mohair sold in the 1958 marketing year will probably fall below the 70-cent-per-pound support price, thus requiring payments. The 70-cent-per-pound price reflects 75 percent of the current mohair parity.

Farwell Seniors To Colorado Springs

Colorado Springs, Colo., is the destination of this year's trip for Farwell High seniors. Members of the class, with sponsors, will leave for the Colorado resort town Saturday, at 5 a.m. following commencement exercises Friday night.

Calvin Murray, who, with Miss Norma Hurta, is class sponsor, announced this week the group would be gone seven days and six nights. Plans are to return here Friday, May 30. Twenty-two of the class's 23 members are expected to make the trip, which will be by school bus.

While in Colorado Springs, the group plans to make side trips to Denver and to Canon City.

Murray will serve as bus driver. Class parents are Mr. and Mrs. Willie Mack Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Jamison.

Thompson Gives Baccalaureate

"Prepare Yourself" was the theme of the baccalaureate sermon by Loren Thompson for Farwell seniors Sunday night in the school auditorium. Thompson is minister of the Lariat Church of Christ.

He pointed out the importance of education and the role it plays in business and personal success.

DYKES GRANDSON ILL

Mrs. Homer Dykes was called to Amarillo Sunday because of the illness of her grandson, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Truitt Ellis. The youngster has not recovered as he should from a case of measles.

'58 Weather Gives Assist To Crops

It's an impossible chore for anybody's weather, but perhaps the elements in Parmer County this spring came as near to pleasing both cotton and wheat farmers as it would be feasible to do.

Except for spotted hail, the weather hasn't been bad—that's a farmer's way of saying it's been good—for either. Rains last fall, during the winter, and this spring have been wonderful for wheat and it's generally considered wheat crop prospects are the best in many years—maybe since 1949.

Too, dryland wheat is getting an assist from the weather of years previous to this one. Drought in recent years left many dryland fields all but barren and caused little, if any, decrease in the soil's fertility. The fact that there has been no strain on the soil recently, coupled with the ample moisture this growing season, makes the dryland wheat picture look good at this point.

Though wheat farmers could stand more rain now, damp, foggy days could do them more harm than good. Too much dampness would aid that age-old enemy of wheat, rust. However, if the rain could come, followed by sunshine, it would fit favorably into the wheatman's operation.

Warm weather cooperated to the point that it allowed farmers to get their cotton in the ground at an "early enough" date. Also, it was favorable when it came time for the young plants to rise to a stand. Rains did cause soils to crust over after cotton seed was in the ground, but, in most cases, this wasn't so serious that the plants couldn't be "scratched up."

From an overall standpoint, the county hasn't been hurt by hail. It was, as always, damaging where it hit—east of Lariat and southeast of Friona. But even in those areas, it was scattered.

Remembering last fall's moisture and early freeze, Parmer Countians aren't taking this spring's suitable weather for granted.

KARL LOVELADY SPEAKS TO THE FARMERS

I believe in a broader "Farm-to-Market" road program, by trying to get an additional $50,000,000 per year to the amount now spent, for more farm roads.

I believe in a much broader rural electrification and rural telephone program so that every farmer will benefit.

I would like to see a state supported experimental farm, to be located in the heart of the vegetable growing district, for experimentation in the growing of vegetables.

I would support a program to conserve our surface water supply by the state expending money for the construction of dams on all rivers and draws where needed. (In doing this we would also have places for recreation right here in West Texas.)

I would amend the present employment law so that the TEXAS EMPLOYMENT COMMISSION would bring into any given area suitable labor to be used on the farm where said labor is not locally available at the time when this labor is most needed by the farmer.

I would vote for and support a stronger seed regulation law in order to put this state on a par with other states in seed regulation.

In my entire life both as a private citizen and a public official I have worked one hundred per cent with the farmer, and when elected your State Senator I will continue to be one hundred per cent behind the wishes of the farm people.

Sincerely yours, Karl L. Lovelady Candidate for State Senator

Grain Sorghum Planting Begins

Maize, the crop which Parmer County farmers make a practice of growing a lot of, is on the brink of its 1958 planting this week. On some farms, grain sorghum planting is already underway.

Maize planting momentum is expected to snowball from now until the first of June—by that date the bulk of it will be in the ground.

If it is planted by June 1, that is "plenty early" for most varieties, County Agent Joe Jones says. Jones believes that farmers will be better off to postpone their planting date if they plant varieties which mature early. The agent offers two reasons for this belief—1. A farmer has longer to control weeds. 2. A later planting date allows for better conservation of water.

If sorghums are planted early, they reach the in-critical-need-for-water stage in August, which is ordinarily the hottest, driest High Plains month. If the planting date is postponed, the plants will be younger and won't reach the aforementioned water stage until September, a month in which more moisture is more apt to come about naturally than in the one preceding.

Also, Jones points out that a later date for planting will make grain sorghum seeds germinate faster. Therefore, the plant will be out of the ground in a fewer number of days than its earlier-planted brother. This, thinks Jones, is important in that weeds don't have as much time to get out of the ground ahead of the young plant and then compete with it for soil food and water.

Staggered planting dates of grain sorghum have been practiced by area farmers so they might better utilize their water. If the crop is planted at different intervals it will need watering at different intervals, is the theory behind this practice.

However, the agent warns, "Staggered plantings don't always mean staggered headings." This is especially true where late maturing varieties are planted early and vice versa. "Though your varieties are planted at different times, they may get to the heading stage at the same time," he points out. Then, they're both needing water at the same time and the purpose of the different planting dates has been lost.

Jones' primary advice to grain farmers is to "Know your varieties and select the one which will do what you want done."

For the average reader this might present a puzzling picture. But for the cotton farmer, it means something. The arrow points to a two-leaf sprouting of cotton on a Parmer County farm. Most producers are satisfied this week with the results of their attempts to get a good stand as early as possible, although some re-planting doubtless will still be done.

Parmer County Cotton Planted

Planting of Parmer County cotton was complete this week, according to calculations of County Agent Joe Jones.

Fortunately, since seed of good germination were scarce, the amount of cotton which had to be planted over was small. "Farmers had good luck getting good stands the first planting," Agent Jones believes.

There has been some planting over, and there could possibly be some to do yet, of course, but less cotton has been planted over this year than in most years.

In addition to being hard-to-come-by, seed this year had a lower germination percentage than most farmers desire. This was due to last fall's early freeze which didn't allow the seed to mature and left them undesirable for planting.

To compensate for the low germination percent, most farmers planted more seed than usual. Efforts to make up for the lack of germination by putting more seed in the ground have apparently been successful, Jones says. And this practice, Jones thinks, is one reason the majority of farmers have been able to get good stands of cotton up the first planting.

"Generally speaking, we're through planting cotton, barring big, washing rains or hail," Jones believes.

In a county that's gaining a reputation for its ability to produce King Cotton, Parmer farmers are off to a good start on the 1958 crop in spite of the fact they were handicapped by a shortage of good seed.

Accident Involves Parmer Co. Pickups

A pair of Parmer County pickups were involved in a collision last Wednesday. The accident, which occurred on a Farm-to-Market road four miles north of Bovina, caused hundreds of dollars worth of damage, but no serious injuries.

In the accident were Joe Wilson, who was driving north on the FM road in a '56 Ford pickup, and Bill F. Glenn, who was attempting to cross the pavement from west to east in a '55 Ford.

Sheriff Chas. Lovelace, who investigated, estimated the damage to the Wilson vehicle at $300-$400. He figured the cost for repairing Glenn's pickup would be from $400 to $500.

The accident happened near noon Wednesday. The front of Glenn's pickup struck the left side of Wilson's, near the door. The drivers were "shaken up," but neither required medical attention.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

Well, Raymond Schueler, Jack Patterson and Vernon Symcox went to Slaton last week, where they had an appointment with Mr. Bisbee, superintendent of the Slaton Branch of the Santa Fe Railroad. They discussed with him the procedure followed by Mr. Clark, Amarillo superintendent, in mapping out and treating bindweed on RR rights-of-way. Mr. Bisbee was very cooperative, and said he would probably follow the same procedure on his line.

Bindweed will not have much chance in Parmer County so long as you have boys willing to give of their time and expense to carry on the work begun in Farm Bureau four years ago. We urge that you cooperate with them in this program, regardless of your organization affiliation.

FHA Softens Loan Requirements

More farm construction—with better homes for farm families, better shelter for livestock and improved storage facilities for machinery and grain. That's the prospect in coming years, says Billy R. Boling, county supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration.

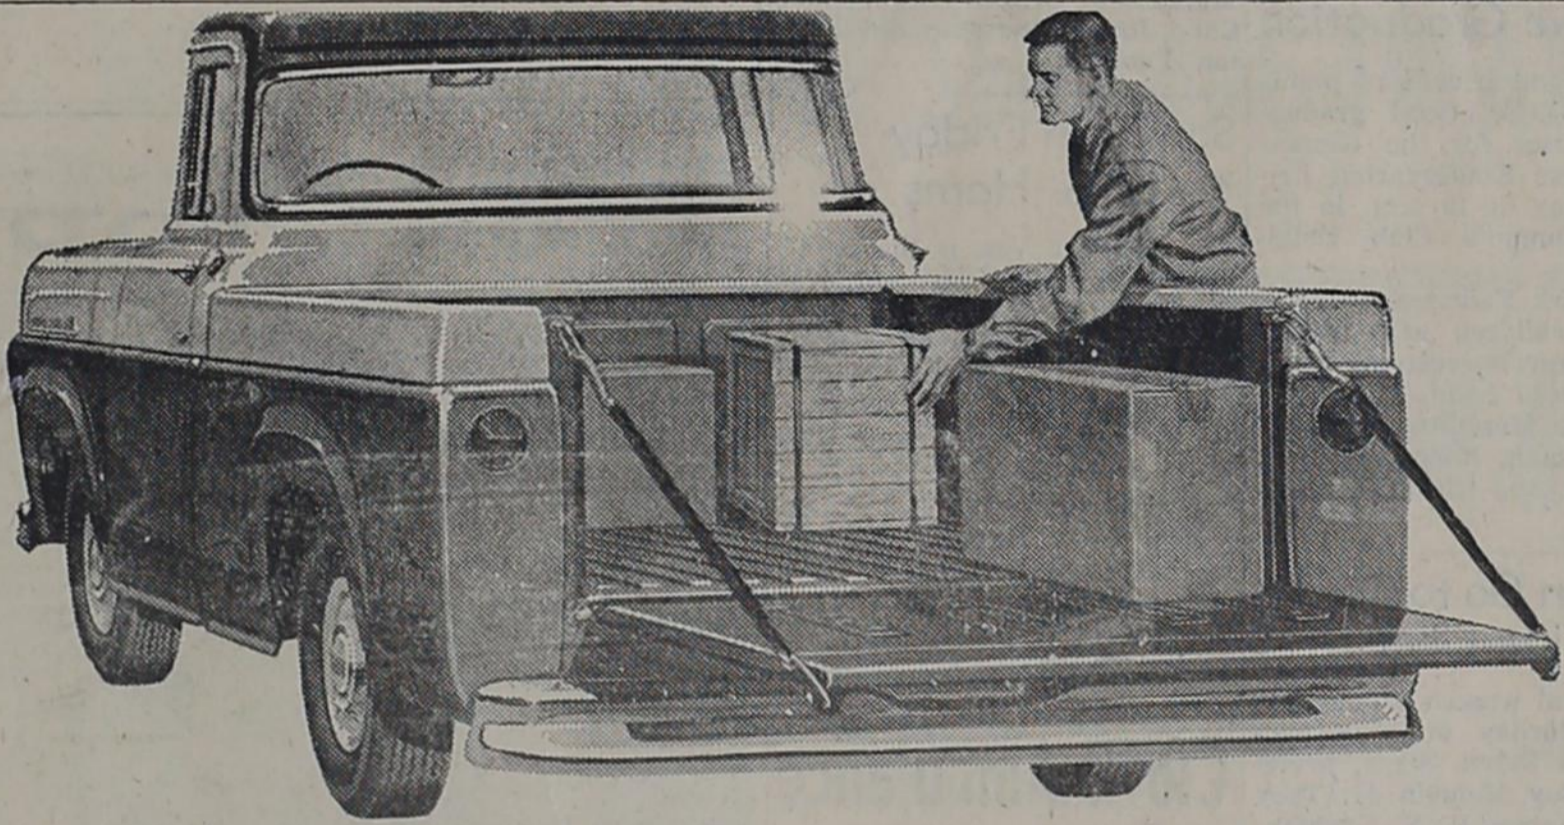

Recently, as an anti-recession measure, his agency expanded its farm housing loan program to the fullest extent under laws set up by congress. And Boling reports that he already has received several inquiries from interested people in the area. To be eligible now, an applicant must own a farm that is in agricultural production and must plan to produce at least $400 worth of commodities for sale and home use, based on 1944 prices. Many part-time farmers who previously were ineligible can qualify for loans under the expanded program.

Wilbur Charles Bovina, chairman of the Parmer County FHA committee, said that one applicant had already been approved by his committee and is being processed for a loan. The construction work can start soon after the loan is closed. The loan bears four percent interest on the unpaid balance and may be repaid over a period up to 33 years.

In addition to financing major construction, the loan funds can help a farm owner repair and up-date buildings. For example, he may wish to add a bathroom, including a waste disposal system, modernize the kitchen, add an extra bedroom, improve the heating, insulation and electric wiring, put a basement under the house, and cement floors in service buildings, or paint the house and service buildings.

Boling reports that the agency has $400 million available nationally which can be used over the next three years for farm housing loans. He said there is no specified limitation on the amount which can be loaned in any one state. Boling said that Walter T. McKay, state director for Texas, estimated that if present farm housing loan activity continues as it has in the past two months, that an appreciable amount will be channeled into this state by the end of the year.

Farm Bureau, which is responsible for Farm to Market legislation to date, will be in Austin full force at the next session to protect the concessions they have gained over the years in this program.

An article in the Houston Chronicle of February 27 this year, makes it clear that there are some forces in cities that intend to change this Farm Road program, putting a stop to such construction so that the money can be used for what they call "more important freeways." They condemn Texas Farm Bureau for wanting even more money for rural road improvement, saying it is unfair.

The Colson-Briscoe Act is the one that has provided what you have, and it is the one the city boys are seeking to change. Your Farm Bureau membership will help in the battle, but you are perfectly welcome to come in for information on the subject, and suggestions as to how you can help, whether you are a member or not.

Justice Douglas has this to say in justification for the U. S. Supreme Court's reversing a California court's refusal to admit a communist to the bar: "Joining the Communist Party does not necessarily indicate approval of all for which that organization stands, just as all who belong to the Presbyterian Church, The American Legion, or the American Bar Association do not necessarily endorse every tenet of those organizations'... Do you think a man with that kind of a mind should be allowed to administer the constitutional provisions for us?"

Announcement Party Fetes Miss Billington

An informal announcement tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Billington Sunday afternoon, May 18, honored their daughter, Lavoyda, who is the bride-elect of Leonard Williams of Lovington, N. M.

The wedding will be Sunday, August 31, at 5 p. m. at the First Baptist Church, Farwell.

The wedding date was revealed by an amateur fortune teller, Mrs. M. A. Snider Sr., who read the palms of the bride-elect's attendants and learned that they were to have a part in some affair which had to do with a church, flowers and music. The climax came as she "told all" when reading the palm of the honoree and announced the date, time and place of the wedding.

Guests were greeted at the door by the honoree's mother and were registered by Miss Katherine Billington, sister of the bride-to-be. A single rose in a bud vase was on the registration table.

The traditional "old, new, borrowed, and blue" theme was carried out in an arrangement featuring articles the bride will use in her wedding ensemble. Blue streamers led from a bride doll to a large silver wedding band which encircled a white Bible opened at the honoree's favorite passage of scripture, a white lace handkerchief, a blue garter, a penny minted the year of her birth, and a baby necklace and ring which she plans to carry as something old.

Covering the serving table was a white crocheted cloth which was made by both of the honoree's grandmothers, Mrs. S. G. Billington and the late Mrs. George W. Magness. Mrs. Gene Hardage presided at the table where frosted fruit punch, cookies, nuts and mints were served.

A crystal punch service was flanked on either side by two white tapers in crystal holders. An arrangement of mixed roses and white and blue napkins inscribed with "Lavoyda and Leonard" completed the table decorations.

Hybrids Outyield Standard Varieties

Hybrid grain sorghums led the yield test at the High Plains Station of Texas Research Foundation at Halfway in 1957. Twenty-seven of the thirty-one hybrids planted yielded more than any of the nineteen standard varieties included in the test, says Johnny Davis, station agronomist.

In this test of 50 different grain sorghums, there were 15 released hybrids; 16 experimented hybrids, and 19 standard varieties. They were planted in two row plots 100 feet long with four replications to eliminate differences in soil, watering and other factors. The test was planted June 19 at the rate of eight pounds of seed per acre. Thirty-six pounds of nitrogen and 45 pounds of P2O5 were applied at planting with 75 pounds of nitrogen sidedressed July 18.

This test was harvested before there was any appreciable lodging, so no differences as to standability are reported. The soil was irrigated prior to planting with three subsequent irrigations applied. A total of 15 inches of water was applied through irrigation with 17.4 inches of natural rainfall during the growing period of April 1 to October 1. This made a total of 32.4 inches of water which could be considered available for growth.

In this test a difference of less than 844 pounds per acre between any two entries could be due to chance. For example, there were only 825 pounds difference between the yield of DeKalb D50A, ranked 13, and R. S. 650, ranked number 1. This difference might be due to chance and in another test with similar conditions, there might be a change in the ranking.

Also, there were two entries of R. S. 650 which ranked 1 and 3 with 163 pounds difference in yield. Obviously there was no significant difference in yield between these two entries.

Raw Vegetables for "Dunking"

Work more vegetables into the family diet. Extension foods and nutrition specialists suggest crisp, colorful raw vegetables for appetizers, between meal snacks, and tasty salads.

For entertaining, add some carrot curls, celery sticks, radish roses, raw cauliflower or broccoli flowerets to the refreshment tray. Serve a zippy sour cream cheese, or avocado dip for "dunking" the vegetables. Guests will enjoy the informal atmosphere of the party and appreciate the extra "vitamins."

Make Food Dollars Go Farther

Good health is priceless. Balanced, attractive, nutritious daily meals that build good health don't just happen. Extension foods and nutrition specialists say it's a matter of knowing what is needed, and managing your time and money in a business-like way. That's where the planning comes in.

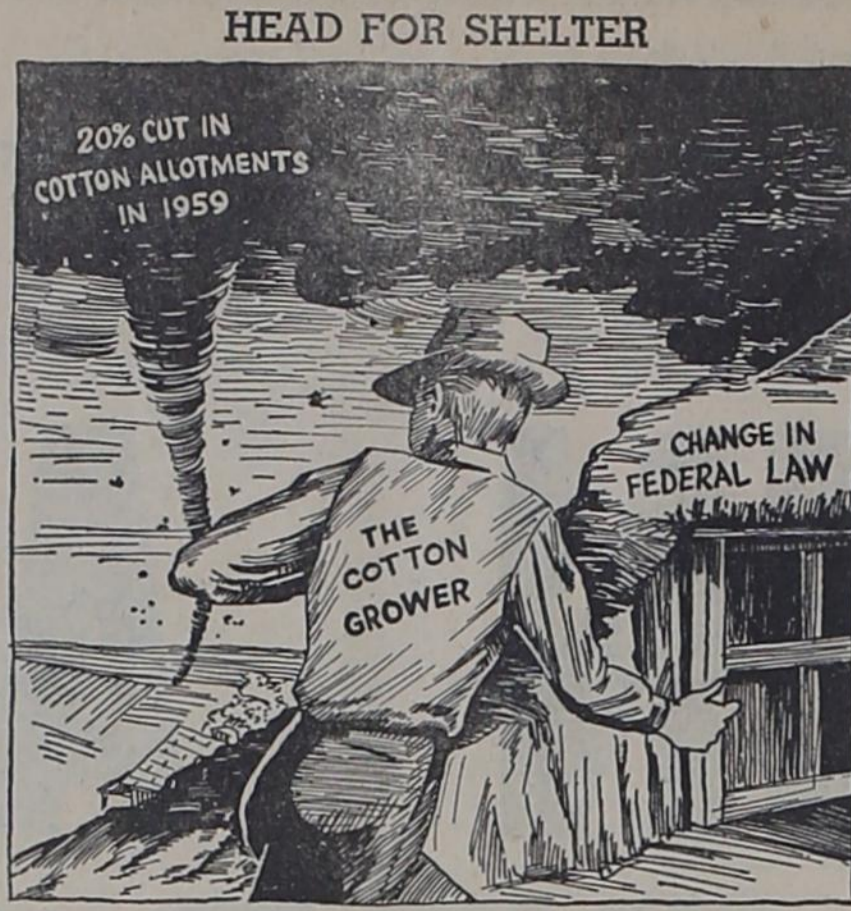

"Our Family's Food—How We Plan To Get It" is a new extension bulletin designed to give homemakers the information needed to plan ahead. Written by extension foods and nutrition specialists, it gives planning guides for daily meals, for weekly and for annual food plans. It also has a section on the care of food in the home.

Tossed Green Salad Bowl

Wash greens, as lettuce, endive, escarole, spinach, mustard—use one, two or, all. Drain, take out tough centers, break leaves into fork-size pieces until there is about 2 quarts. Dry well, place in plastic bag; refrigerate.

Just before salad is to be served, shred garlic into salad bowl. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper and 1/4 teaspoon mustard. Mash all the ingredients together with back of spoon. Stir 1 tablespoon vinegar and 1/4 cup salad oil into mixture and mix well with fork. Heap salad greens on top of dressing. (Refrigerate if meal is not ready.) Toss salad lightly at serving time. Serves 4 to 6.

"Good heavens!" cried Whisler as he saw his mother on her knees scrubbing the floor. "Have you gone off your rocker?"

4-H'sers Learn Methods In Homemaking

Use of mechanical refrigeration by farm families jumped from 63 to 90 per cent in six years, according to the USDA, and undoubtedly this has been a factor in more extensive use of the freezing method to preserve home grown foods.

Among the young homemakers who utilize this process are the Texas 4-H Club members enrolled in the 4-H Frozen Foods project. Under the guidance of local leaders the 4-H'sers learn to plan balanced meals as well as to select and process meats, vegetables, fruits, pastries, breads and the like.

Another project that helps to enhance family living is the 4-H Home Improvement program. Individual enterprises range from modernizing and redecorating an entire house to reupholstering a single chair.

Both 4-H programs provide opportunities for club members to demonstrate and exhibit their skills as well as to develop leadership qualities. The 4-H'sers also are in line for awards based on over-all club activities and excellence in project work.

A savage knocked at the door of Robinson Crusoe's cabin. "Good morning," he said. "Well! well!" marvelled Crusoe. "So the island is not deserted after all. What day is today?"
"Thursday."
"Well, come back tomorrow. That's a good fellow."

Have You Rendered

YOUR PROPERTY for COUNTY and STATE

TAXES?

In the absence of your rendition, the Tax Assessor is required by law to assess all unrendered property for taxes. It is therefore to the interest of each property owner to see that his property is accurately rendered for taxation. Any change in ownership of property should be reported to this office.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTIONS . . .

Under the Texas Constitution each family is entitled to claim one piece of real property as his homestead. This claim must be filed with the county tax assessor each year at this time. When the homestead affidavit is properly filed, the owner becomes entitled to an exemption of State taxes up to the value of $3,000. This is an exemption from payment, not a complete exemption from rendition and assessment.

From new Safety-Twin headlights to new sculptured rear deck, every gleaming line of this Fairlane Club Victoria says "fine car!"

Look what you've been missing if you haven't driven a 58 FORD

You just can't appreciate all the wonderful things that have been done to make driving more fun . . . until you've checked out in a shiny 58 Ford!

The fun begins with the simple act of getting into the car. Only "yesterday" it was stoop down or knock off your hat. Now that has been changed. There's room for you and your hat inside the 58 Ford.

Even before you start the engine, notice how much more you can see. Full-Circle visibility lets you see where you're going . . . see what's coming . . . see to park!

Now touch the starter. Observe how smoothly your engine idles. That's because each Ford engine is built with painstaking care. Each V-8 is electronically balanced while operating under its own power. No other car in Ford's field goes to such lengths to bring you an engine that will operate smoothly . . . dependably . . . efficiently. (If your pick is a thrifty Six, you can't buy a more powerful, more modern 6-cylinder passenger-car engine than Ford's 145-horsepower Mileage Maker Six.)

Ease down now on the throttle and you'll take off with all the dash and verve of a Thunderbird! For after all, the 58 Ford offers you the Thunderbird's own transmission and engine! Team Ford's Cruise-O-Matic Drive with a Thunderbird-powered V-8 engine, and save up to 15% on gasoline. It's like getting back 15¢ on every gas dollar!

Next hunt up the roughest roads you can find. Notice how bumps lose their bounce with Ford's softer-riding suspension system. Notice how Ford's exclusive Automatic Ride Control combines Angle-Poised Ball-Joint front suspension with long, tailored-to-weight rear springs so that you ride level . . . corner level . . . enjoy a "big car feel."

And Ford gives you more—much more in the way of riding comfort. Ford seats are wide—sofa-wide. You sit in a relaxed, natural position with Ford's Automatic Posture Control.

Always a leader in safety, Ford again has pioneered new features to protect you. New Safety-Twin taillights, for example, keep you safer because they give better warning to cars behind you. And only Ford offers you famous Lifeguard Design—the whole family of safety features designed to protect you should an accident occur.

Then there are the hidden values that are yours when you choose Ford. The car is put together with fine-car precision. The finish is durable enamel—baked enamel that helps Fords keep their new-car shine. On the inside, too, Ford cars give you more insulation than any other cars in Ford's field.

Why not discover all you've been missing if you haven't driven a 58 Ford? See your Ford Dealer and find out firsthand all the wonderful things that have happened to Fords. And remember: a comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices shows that Ford is lowest priced of the "low-price three" in 17 out of 19 comparable models!

So why not make tomorrow your day to drive a Ford? The keys are waiting for you at your Ford Dealer's. See him and discover all the fun a Ford can be!

who are eligible to participate, a questionnaire to be filled out which will reveal what is preferred by the participants. Activities offered other than the three already mentioned are tennis, basketball, volleyball and possibly others. Atwell, who was also a director of the program last year, says boys who desire to play baseball will be divided into three groups.

Ages seven through nine will play as Pee-wees. Boys 10 through 12 will be Little Leaguers, and the Pony League team will consist of boys from 12 through 14.

In last year's program, Mondays and Fridays were swimming days with youngsters being transported to Muleshoe by school buses. On Wednesdays, they were taken to movies in Clovis and baseball—either a game or practice—was played every afternoon. On Tuesdays and Thursdays, the gym was open for those who wished to play there. Planning for this year is not complete, and won't be until after June 2, Atwell says.

rates have encouraged construction projects.

One bright spot in the recession-darkened picture—if there is such a thing—is that few, if any, of the people who believe the community is in an economic chaos think that it is permanent. Most even believe that it's just a matter of time—and maybe a short time—until money will again be flowing on a normal keel.

Wheat harvest can be expected each year to make everyone feel better from an economic standpoint. If this year's bumper crop continues to develop, Mr. Recession is apt to be jarred from the state line before he even gets a good hold.

Elliott-Bell Quits Business Here This Week

A Farwell business is closing its doors this week. Jim Elliott, manager of Elliott-Bell Auto Supply announced that the firm is going out of business here. Stock in the Farwell store, which has been a branch of Elliott Auto Parts of Clovis, is being transferred to the New Mexico location.

A lack of business was not among the reasons for moving the business from here, Elliott pointed out in making announcement the business would close. "This is not an overnight decision," Elliott said, "we have been considering it for some time."

The branch was opened here almost three years ago in the building across the street east from Farwell Piggly Wiggly on Third Street. It has remained in that location throughout its operation here.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To any Sheriff or any Constable within the State of Texas—GREETING: You are hereby commanded to cause to be published once each week for four consecutive weeks, the first publication to be at least twenty-eight days before the return day thereof, in a newspaper printed in Parmer County, Texas, the accompanying citation, of which the herein below following is a true copy.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

TO: J. B. Younger, H. C. Mason, Nannie Bowen, and should any of the above-named defendants have been married, the unknown wife or husband of such defendants; Mattie A. Fry and her husband, John Fry; and the unknown heirs of Homer Fletcher, deceased; and should any of the above-named defendants be deceased, their unknown heirs and legal representatives, Defendants, Greeting:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear before the Honorable District Court of Parmer County at the Court-house thereof, in Farwell, Texas, by filing a written answer at or before 10 o'clock A. M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 16th day of June, A.
