During the time we've been in the hazardous occupation of column writing—among other things—it has not been uncommon for a friend, enemy, and/or acquaintance to eyeball us reasonably hard and declare, "You oughta let me write that column some time!"

Standard answer has been to extend an invitation for them to do just that and then forget it. But, at last we've run across a man who was serious when he made such a declaration.

Ernie Johnston, who was in charge of putting Parmer County's records on film, spent the past couple of weeks in Farwell. In addition to the work he was doing, he developed an interest in the newspaper, the community, and in fact, the entire Plains area. Incidentally, he now lives in Houston and was reared near Waco so the Plains country was something different as far as he was concerned.

Johnston confronted us with the aforementioned question, we extended the usual invite, and the next day he submitted his copy. With hopes that readers will enjoy—and feeling sure they will—views and impressions from a fellow from down off the "Cap" here is Johnston's epistle:

The sun, going west across Texas seems to wag Highway 84 like a tail as I follow its meanderings to arrive in the state line area for the first time. My, it's hot! But the people are so friendly I feel I'm in a perpetual Wednesday night prayer meeting. White granaries rise like pyramids from the Plains floor.

Solitary homes with their oasis of trees spot the landscape around the towns. Towering TV antennas feel the pulse of the electrically charged air to get a line on the shenanigans of the outside world. Folks on the Plains DO realize West Texas endeavor does NOT exist apart from happenings in other parts of the world.

As long as a man's home is on a natural gas or electric line, or as long as he raises crops to be sold, he must be vitally interested. Maybe it's because a man would rather see a storm coming than be caught unaware.

Of course, the problem of a Plainsman is he can only fight the nearest battle. If an angry bee is making vicious razooos at him, the storm can go hang. So, the Plains family fights the local battle; pushes the kids through school and tries to whittle away at the mortgage. When a breathing spell comes, the lowering sky can be checked again. Maybe it will turn out to be one of those triple-headers with different colored soil swirling in each thunderhead and will play out before it arrives.

My family lived five miles out of Waco on a farm. I will remember our leaky, tin roof during rains, particularly at night when we were trying to sleep. I can still hear the bleep-bloop of the drops hitting in the various pans Mom had set about the floor. Many a boyhood night's sleep was ruined when I'd hear Dad shout, "Come on, boys, git 'em!" I would thrust on my shoes and jerk up my pants and rush to the nearest door. I knew the rain had sooted the dirt around the fence posts in the lot and the cattle were out again. If not found quickly in the darkness, they would be miles away come morning.

That is what comes to mind when I scoop up a handful of moist Plains soil and mold it by squeezing it in my fist. Did you ever "weigh" some of it in your hand? The thought comes... there's a lot of God in that soil. I sometimes wonder... is there more than God and Water and Sun and Soil?

I help a man swing some aluminum irrigation pipe into place and watch him pay off six Mexican workers while waiting for the cold water to answer the call of the pulsing motor and pump. Seems only a man who gets a real kick out of cultivating the soil and growing things would voluntarily work so hard... never stop, never stop.

One man said, half joke, half serious, "That's all I know... farming." This from a man who can probably repair machinery, manage, knows seed, markets, spraying, cattle and all the rest of the necessary things to make a farming operation click. Some other reason must exist to explain why such a man does not get a job in the city. Maybe he understands the true providers of the nation are farmers. Maybe that is his way of saying "thanks" for the pattern running down the furrows reflecting the red and purple of the evening sky. Maybe, also, he considers living so close to all that is so vital a rare privilege.

Frankly, I don't think I have the guts to undergo these Trials of Hercules: investment, planning, sowing, weeding, hoping, and harvesting. Takes more courage than I have even if it does pay off in the stuff modern man needs so much. But, I'm stuck on "high center." I love the Plains.

YOUTH DIRECTOR—J. D. Atwell, Farwell High coach, is one of two directors of Texico-Farwell's youth program for this summer. Activities began this week and will end July 31. Ken Hanks, science instructor at Texico High, is scheduled to assist with the program beginning next week.

Summer Youth Program Activities Get Underway

Texico-Farwell's annual Lions Club-sponsored summer youth program got underway this week.

J. D. Atwell, Farwell High coach, who is directing the activities, reports some 100 youngsters have signed up to participate and "there will probably be a few more." Atwell expects the total figure to swell over the 100 mark when vacation Bible schools and other activities draw to a close.

First meeting of the youths was Monday morning. It was at Farwell's football field. About 30 attended. Purpose of the meeting was to determine what a majority of those who will participate wanted to do, Atwell says.

This year's activities will be similar to those of last year. Baseball, movies and swimming again are the most popular with the children.

Boys who want to play baseball will be divided into three groups—Pee Wees, Little Leaguers, and Pony Leaguers. Practice sessions begin each afternoon at 2 at the Farwell School diamond. Different times for each group to work out will be established soon, Atwell says. As yet, local teams are not members of a league. Last season, each of the three groups played in Parmer County League. This group hasn't been organized for this season yet. However, there's a possibility it will be, the coach says.

Five afternoons a week, there will be either a baseball game or a practice session.

Tuesday and Friday mornings will be devoted to swimming. The group will go to a pool at Muleshoe. A school bus will leave from Farwell School gym at 9:15. Swimming sessions will be from 10 until 12. Charge for each session will be 25 cents each.

Swimming sessions will begin tomorrow (Friday). Wednesday will be movie day. This portion of the summer program began yesterday. Children were, and will be, taken to a Clovis theatre by school bus. The bus will leave the gym at 10 each Wednesday morning. Cost of the movie portion of the program is $1.25 each for the summer.

Monday and Thursday mornings, Farwell's gym will be open so students may play basketball, volleyball, and tennis.

At the first baseball session Monday afternoon, 44 boys were on hand—21 Little Leaguers, five Pony Leaguers and 18 Pee-Wees.

Money for the summer program is raised by the Lions Club members. Ken Hanks, Texico High science instructor, is also slated to help direct the activities. He has been on vacation, but is scheduled to return next week.

July 31 is the closing date of the program.

SUSAN LEVINS

Two local girls will be among candidates for the Curry County entry in the annual New Mexico Dairy Princess Contest who will be judged tonight (Thursday) at a banquet in Hotel Clovis ballroom. They are Susan Levins and Lynell Lovett.

Miss Levins is sponsored by the Texico Farm Bureau and Miss Lovett by the Pleasant Hill Farm Bureau. Early this week six other candidates had been entered with Mrs. B. L. Harding, county Dairy Month Chairman of the sponsoring organization, Curry County Farm and Livestock Bureau.

Candidates will be judged on poise, personality, beauty, talent, activities, and hobbies. County winners will receive local prizes plus an expense-paid trip to the state contest in Las Cruces. The state Dairy Princess will receive a $500 scholarship and her attendants, the runners-up, will receive trophies and cash awards.

Contestants must be unmarried high school graduates, not over 20 years old and must have lived in the state at least one year.

Miss Levins, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira S. Levins, is a 1957 graduate of Texico High School and has just completed her freshman year at the University of New Mexico where she has been active in the Wesleyan Foundation, a member of the yearbook staff, on a precision swimming team, and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, national social sorority. She was also named to membership in the Spurs, national sophomore women's honorary.

A 1958 graduate of Texico High School, Miss Lovett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Lovett. She was named winner of the Betty Crocker Homemaking of Tomorrow award and also received the annual DAR Good Citizenship Award. She participated in all school activities and is a 4-H club member.

Funeral Services Conducted For Wreck Victims

Funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. Jack Richard Lucero were Tuesday afternoon at the Spanish Baptist Church in Clovis. The couple died early Sunday morning in a one-car accident about 8 miles northeast of Clovis on the Pleasant Hill road.

Investigating officers said that the couple was thrown from their 1951 sedan when it missed a curve, hit the barrow ditch, hurtled into the air, and overturned twice. They were pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

Lucero, 29, was born in Clovis. A veteran of World War II he was working at Pleasant Hill at the time of his death. Survivors include his father, Mag Lucero of Tucumcari; a sister, Mrs. Olympia Myers of Clovis; a brother, Martin, of Clovis; and two half-brothers and two half-sisters.

His wife, Lillian, 24, is survived by her mother, Mrs. R. Gonzales of Bovina; five brothers, Rulmando, Paul, Victor, Amelio, and Bob, whose addresses are not known; and three sisters, Mrs. Juanita Woods, Mrs. Ruth Ross, and Mrs. Lena Barquez, whose addresses are not known.

INFANT DISMISSED

Bruce John Kaltwasser, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Kaltwasser, was dismissed from the hospital Saturday after undergoing surgery Thursday. He is recuperating satisfactorily.

HAS SURGERY

Mrs. Harry Whitley underwent major surgery at Clovis Memorial Hospital Wednesday. Friends report that she is doing well.

Teenagers are people who get hungry again before the dishes are even washed.

Grain Exchange Set To Operate in Farwell

Farwell has a grain inspection station and seed testing laboratory.

Location of the new service which will test germination percentage of grain and certify grades of grain is in the basement of Farwell American Legion Building on First Street.

Bill Prince, who has several years experience in the grain inspecting and seed testing business, will own and operate the service. Prince's work will be supervised by the federal government and he is licensed by it.

The seed testing laboratory is independent from government control, Prince points out, and fee will be charged individuals who want to know the germination percentages of seed.

Advantages of having the service here include allowing farmers to have germination tests run on the grain which they plan to sell for feed "at home." Also, grain warehousemen may get official certification of grain grades faster and more conveniently—the grade of grain must be certified before it may be shipped.

Until now, it has been necessary for area farmers and warehousemen to have these services performed in Amarillo and Lubbock. These places have the closest grain exchanges. The service here will be recognized by the state and Prince's work will be accepted by the state.

Prince started his career in the grain exchange business with the Amarillo exchange. Name of the service will be Farwell Grain Exchange, Necessary laboratory equipment has been set up in American Legion Building basement and Prince says he'll be ready to do business by Monday.

He then worked 11 years with Lubbock exchange as assistant grain inspector. For the past two years, he has been at Mexia as chief inspector. He is married and has two school-age children. He plans to move his family here this weekend.

Prince's decision to move here and establish a service is proof of his belief that this is a "coming country" from a seed grain production standpoint. "As a matter of fact, this is already one of the largest seed producing areas," he says.

As the grain is received at the Pleasant Hill location it will be trucked to Worley elevators at Farwell and Clovis, Ford says. "It will be a convenience to farmers in that area and will save them grain hauling mileage," he points out.

Security State Bank Gets Building Permit

City of Farwell has issued a building permit to Security State Bank, Wilfred Quickel, city secretary, reports. The permit calls for raising the sidewalk in front of the brick building. This, Quickel explains, will make the sidewalk the same level as the curb.

C of C Plans July 4 Watermelon Feast

Initial groundwork for a community-wide July 4 watermelon feast has been made. Plans for the project were discussed and the decision made at a regular meeting of Farwell Chamber of Commerce last Wednesday night.

Two committees—recreation and public relations—were appointed in charge of the watermelon feast by Chamber President Joe Blair.

Members of the public relations committee are D. W. Bagley, chairman; G. T. Watkins, and Jack Kirkland. John R.

Armstrong heads the recreation committee. He is assisted by Dolph Moten and Jess Landrum.

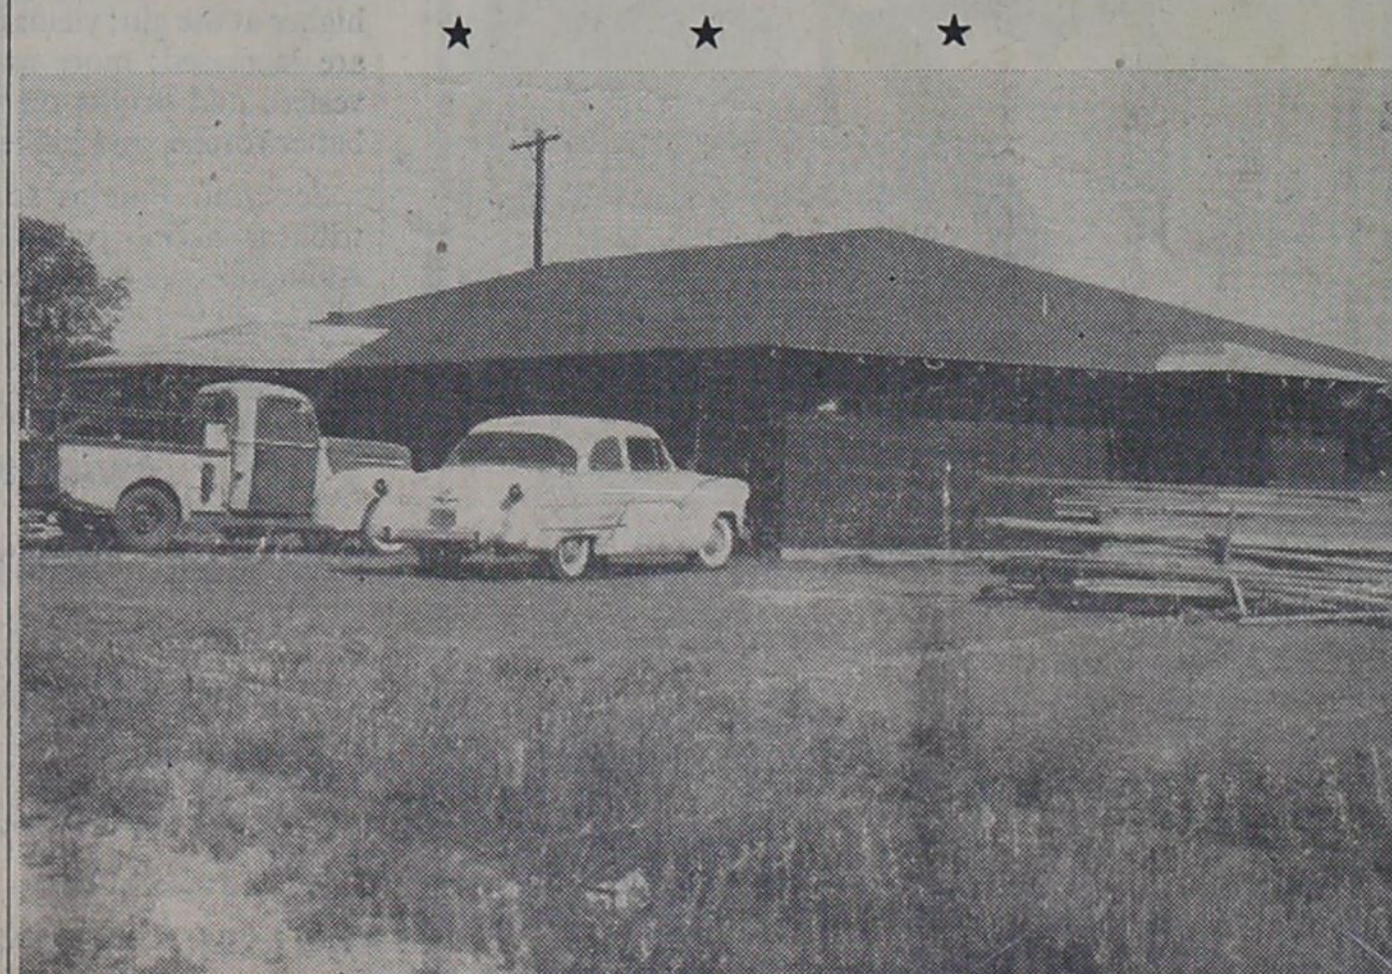

Idea for the Fourth of July event was offered by Wilfred Quickel, chamber secretary-manager. It will be patterned after a similar community party which was held a few years ago. Site of the event will probably be the football field though no arrangements have been made yet. Also, it's possible there will be activities other than watermelon eating.

Costs of the party will be paid by the chamber. There will be no charge to visitors. In discussing his idea, Quickel said the watermelon feast of a few years ago "drew the second largest crowd I ever saw in Farwell."

All chamber members will be expected to help with the project—not just those who are on the two committees in charge—it was agreed at last week's meeting.

Present at the meeting were Blair, Quickel, Moten, Cary Joe Magness, C. M. Henderson, and Bob Anderson.

Construction Begins On New Cafeteria Building

HOMEMAKING BUILDING—About one-half completed is the home economics building under construction for Farwell Schools. It is across the street from the high school and is a part of an expansion and modernization program approved by voters last winter.

Work began on another step in Farwell Schools' building program this week. Jones Construction Co., Big Spring, which was recently awarded a $211,825 contract, started laying foundation for the cafeteria addition Tuesday. The contract also called for the construction company to build a 13-classroom elementary building. Work has not yet started on this building but is scheduled to start as soon as steel for the foundation arrives, Jack Williams, school superintendent, reports.

Construction of a homemaking building, still another part of the school's building program which is being built under another contract, is 50 percent complete, Williams estimates. Scheduled completion date for it is August 9 and Williams feels sure work will be finished by then.

The cafeteria addition, which will be 48 by 48 feet, is slated to be finished by August 15. This will, of course, allow the improvement to be put to use when the '58-'59 term begins in September. The addition will contain the kitchen of the cafeteria as well as more eating (Continued on Last Page)

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

A Lack of What?

Organizations in Texico-Farwell, with possibly churches excluded, are suffering from a lack of interest and a lack of member participation.

Writing about such a lack, we feel sure, won't help the situation. However, there is a possibility it will bring the fact to the attention of citizens of the community and make them conscious of the fact.

As yet, we feel the situation hasn't reached the alarming state. But, at the same time, it has reached a state where there is cause for concern.

Sad part about it is, organizations for, and made up of, young people are not exempted from the lack of interest. The community disinterest disease, which possibly originated with the older, watch-TV-in-sock-feet group, was evidently contagious and has now spread down to the youngsters.

Certainly a lack of leadership in the various organizations was not the cause for such a development. This is seldom the case, especially for organizations which have leaders on a more or less permanent basis.

Ordinarily, too, the leaders have enthusiasm. They WANT the organization to click. There's a possibility there are "too many other things" to take up the time of the citizenry. This would, in most cases, be the excuse offered for not taking part in community activities if a poll were taken. We doubt the authenticity of this. It just happens to be the best sounding excuse available.

Whatever the reason, something is needed to revive interest in community organizations. When this is done, interest in the community is increased.

"A $5.60 Investment Netted Me $54.85 in Cotton."

Jack Shelley, Hale Center, Tex., says: "I put down Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia on my irrigated cotton and got an average of 847 pounds of lint per acre. This compared to a yield of 633 pounds on a check plot. My increase netted me $54.85 an acre. I got more well matured, five-lock cotton bolls, too."

Other Southwestern farmers have discovered that the 82% nitrogen in top quality Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia helps them to get more profit per acre, through higher yields and lower production costs.

They have found that, by using Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia, they get more cotton that grades out higher at the gin; yields of sorghum grain and ensilage are increased; more marketable vegetables are harvested, and profits on wheat are increased through better forage, and higher yields of grain.

Bill says he wishes his wife could make bread like his mother used to and she says she wishes Bill could make dough like her father.

From what we read, we get the idea that Littlefield has one of the most active Chambers of Commerce to be found anywhere.

Their latest idea is to promote business. Most everyone around town has been wearing a purple, football-shaped lapel pin declaring to the world that "Business is Good in Littlefield."

Marye and Bobby Poteet are now in Merced, California. We had a brief note from Marye this week, with a cheerful sound in a way, they miss their home town paper.

Marye says that California is a beautiful state, with very interesting sights. Ever since Ronny had the three-day measles a couple of weeks ago, Hal, the nearly three-year-old, asks us periodically to check his tummy to see if he's "broke up" yet.

Mrs. J. T. Hulsey had a unique experience recently, while in Clovis. A lady walked up to her and inquired "Are you the former Cora King?" When the local woman answered in the affirmative, she learned that the lady was one of her former neighbors.

She accompanied her friend and visited with the woman and her husband for quite some time, recalling old times and catching up on the whereabouts of other old-timers.

Mrs. Hulsey had visited with the woman, Mrs. John Bailey, about eight years ago, but she hadn't seen Mr. Bailey for 50 years. "We had a wonderful time visiting," she relates.

We had a nice visit with Emmie Tharp at the Joe Crume housewarming, and received her promise that she would bring us her recipe for pepper soufflé. True to her word, she brought the recipe to us, so that some of you other cooks who like one-dish meals can have a new one to add to your collection.

This recipe has an interesting history, too. Emmie received her copy from a little Japanese friend of her sister.

PEPPER SOUFFLE
Into a medium baking dish, put one 15c package of Fritos. Into a mixing bowl, mix the following: 1 can of cream of chicken soup, 1 medium minced onion, 1 can (4 ozs.) of Mexican chile peppers (Ortega), 1 small can (6 ozs.) Carnation milk. Pour this mixture over the Fritos. Then over this, grate 1 cup of Velveeta cheese. Bake 20 minutes at 350 degrees. Serve with a tossed green salad.

NOTE: Emmie says she uses only one-half a can of chili peppers, because the recommended amount makes the dish "pretty hot." The other half of the peppers can be frozen and used later.

A SUMMER RECIPE
1 large yard
2 dogs
1 dog
A place to dig (plenty of dirt)
Boundless energy
A blue sky and bright sun
Mix the boys with the dog and empty into the yard, check at intervals to see if brown. Sprinkle with the sky, a few lbs. of dirt, and add the energy. Bake in the sun.
When the kids are well-browned, they should be removed from the yard, and are ready for cooling in the bathtub, before placing in bed.

CARD OF THANKS
Our sincerest thanks for the numerous ways our friends helped us during our recent loss. The kindness, genuine neighborliness, and cards and flowers meant so much to us. A special thanks goes to those who sent food, the preachers, the pallbearers, and the singers. May the Lord bless each one of them.
Mrs. R. A. Burris and children

Weather conditions over most of Texas this spring have been favorable for the development of many fungus diseases which normally are not too common, reports Harlan Smith, extension plant pathologist. Peach leaf curl, plum pockets and oak leaf blister are shown by reports to be common in the state this year. Local county agents can supply information on control measures for these diseases.

"With the automatic timer and perfect heat control, I can always count on taking eighteen perfect cakes from my double oven every time."

"I have baked over 4,000 pounds of cake in my electric range and not a single failure."

"Even after baking over 1000 pounds of cake, I still get a thrill when I take eighteen "just right" cakes from my ELECTRIC double oven!" says Mrs. John Ward, 1907 W. 6th St., Plainview, Texas

"My double oven electric range turned my hobby into a business — thanks to the controlled heat in the ovens. The ovens are a big help in my baking business, but I use them for family meals, too. I can bake one dish at a low temperature while I'm baking bread at a higher temperature in the other oven. Incidentally, I used the first profits from my cakes to pay for my new electric range. Now they're put aside for a college educational fund for our children."

"For years I had the false impression that cooking electrically was a slower process, but my electric range proved to me just how wrong I was. One wonderful feature of cooking electrically is that it cooks clean. Pots and pans don't get that "burned-on" look and the range itself is so very easily cleaned. I like my electric range because it is fast, clean, thrifty and dependable. In fact, I like everything about it. The deep well has so many uses from baking potatoes to making pots of soup."

Have you had your free demonstration of the electric range of your choice? If not, see your Reddy Kilowatt dealer and get your certificate for two free bug lamps. Yellow bug lamp, which fits ordinary sockets, eliminates most of the light that insects see, yet provides a soft, comfortable light for outdoor living.

Hoppers Threaten Crops In Area

Grasshoppers, which have not been thought of as a real crop threat in recent years, but which have been known to seriously damage if not destroy crops on the High Plains ever since land here has been broken out, may be on their way back.

Many Parmer County area farmers are expressing concern at the great increase in grasshopper infestation. "They are considerably worse than in recent years," says County Agent Joe Jones.

He adds that the 'hoppers do not seem confined to any one wheat?"

Chances are they will make straight for the cotton and grain sorghum—or about any crop on the farm since 'hopper appetites are pretty broad.

Jones says, "In most instances these 'hoppers are the flying ones and not the old jumbo. Farmers should keep in mind that the best control for any grasshopper can be obtained while they are still small.

"They usually hatch in rangeland, along undisturbed fence area, but are popping up all over the county in large numbers. They are in the wheat fields in most instances, and Agent Jones says the big question is:

"Where will the grasshoppers go when we harvest our rows, and other such places, moving from there to cropland as they get larger."

Jones points out that there are a number of good insecticides that can be used for grasshopper control. Dieldrin, aldrin, heptachlor and toxaphene are four of the more popular.

"These chemicals are all good, so farmers should use the cheapest material available," believes the agent.

Jones reminds farmers that caution should be exercised when using the insecticides, especially on wheat or perhaps on garden vegetables around the house. A period of waiting before harvest is necessary in most cases.

Regulations on use of the chemicals should be checked before application is made.

Members Direct Games at 4-H Party

Members of various county 4-H clubs directed recreation at a county-wide 4-H party for members over 12 at the Hub Community Center Thursday night.

Approximately 30 persons were present. They were served sandwiches and pops. Adults attending played dominoes.

Directing games were Cooper Young, Richard and Pat Chitwood, Judy Billingsley, and James Stevens.

OTHERS SAY

There are several things that point to the fact that this "so called" depression or recession is a phony. This week it was announced that farm income had gone up again. A couple of weeks ago it was announced by the Federal Reserve Bank that savings deposits were at an all time high. Some businessmen I know were astonished when they took stock of business they did during April and found it was one of the best months they have had in a long time, and as good or better than a normal April business.

Of course, if we're bound and determined to have a depression, perhaps we can talk ourselves into it, we can refuse to do business, or drive it away with our sour complaining. The thing I notice about the fellows who say business is better is the fact that they are hustlers, and the tougher things get the harder they hustle. (Farwell, Mich., News)

Five Steps Left For High Quality

The Texas cotton farmer's opportunity this year will be in a high quality crop—not necessarily in quantity.

While there is a present surplus of cotton, the supply is mostly in the lower grades that sell for less. This cotton results in heavy mill waste and added cleaning costs. But the best demand—and biggest opportunity for profits—is for the higher grades.

Seven important steps are recommended to help the grower improve the quality of his cotton. As to the first two points, they are already in effect, but the other suggestions can still be used. These seven steps recommended by the Texas Department of Agriculture:

1. Plant cotton on the best suited land. The ideal field is inherently fertile, free of soil borne disease, warms up early, is well drained and yet not drouthy.

2. Use best seed available of a recommended variety. Good seed may be somewhat short this year, but all of it should be treated with a good fungicide.

3. Use fertilizer to fit needs. Use your fertilizer at the rates, time, and manner recommended by Texas Experiment stations in your area. Both excessive and under use of some fertilizers can have a bad effect on the grade of harvested cotton.

4. Manage the crop for quality. Control weeds, insects and diseases. Discontinue irrigation early enough for the crop to mature before frost. Late irrigation can delay maturity and seriously reduce grade.

5. Pick promptly and carefully whether by hand or machine; avoid mixing good cotton and bad, wet and dry lots.

6. Deliver cotton to the gin as dry and clean as possible. The ginner, too, has a responsibility to keep his equipment in order, to use proper drying and take time to do a good job.

7. Sell on merit. Have cotton classed before selling; then sell on the basis of its grade and staple. This is the grower's means of assuring himself of the benefit of producing better cotton.

SOYBEANS INCREASING

Soybeans are showing a significant increase in Parmer County this year, reports County Agent Joe Jones. In checking with farmers who are busy with planting operations, he estimates that the acreage devoted to the beans will be double or more this year.

Soybeans can be fitted into the Parmer County agricultural picture in several ways, but the most accepted is as a crop rotation element. As producers of soil nitrogen, they have their land building characteristics. They are also credited with improving soil tilth.

However, in cases where soybeans are used strictly as a cash crop, their ability to improve the soil after the beans have been harvested from the plants diminishes considerably.

Also, soybeans have seldom been big yielders on the High Plains, and this has held cash crop possibilities down, adding another reason why they are at present best suited for rotation purposes.

Yields generally range from 20 to 30 bushels (irrigated), and in most years, cash profits from the beans is no better—if as good as—grain sorghums.

The real value of soybeans is shown in years following, when soil improvements make possible larger yields of true cash crops.

In the nation, soybeans are a billion dollar crop. They are grown on 22 million acres, and have become established as the fifth most important crop to the nation. The national average soybean yield is 21.8 bushels per acre.

When soybeans are planted following grain sorghum, they eliminate the volunteer feed problem if cotton is figured to follow the beans. A cropping system of sorghum-soybeans-cotton is recommended.

Soybeans are eligible for price support operations. In Parmer County, price supports have not resulted in large amounts of the total crop going into government storage, although last year, "a couple" of loans were made at Black, reports Prentice Mills, ASC office manager.

The 1958 loan rate has not been announced, and probably won't be until harvest time is near at hand this fall, but it will likely be in the vicinity of $2 per bushel, which is where it has been for several years.

No soybeans have been stored on the farm in Parmer County. Mills says it's very difficult to store the beans and maintain quality unless they are given the best of care.

In most cases, the market demand has proved sufficient to move the beans into normal channels of trade, and the beans sell at or slightly above the price support.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUNE FLOYD

Now that flowers are blooming in just about every yard, what better way could any homemaker find to freshen and beautify her home than with bouquets of flowers. They can add a lot to any room in the house if they are properly arranged.

Whether you have a beautiful display or just a bunch of flowers depends upon the arrangement. The place where you plan to display the flowers has a lot to do with the type vase you need. Nothing is more appropriate for a dining table than a low vase and short stemmed flowers.

One thing that should be remembered when planning bouquets is to cut the flowers late in the evening or early in the morning. If you place them in a deep container filled with cool water and out of drafts for several hours before arranging them, they will keep longer.

Some things that are useful when making bouquets are pieces of crushed chicken wire, thin wire, a stapler, scotch tape, green floral tape such as used in making corsages, and flower clippers.

When you want a different type vase, try using a sea shell, tea pot, or other object in the house that could be used for a different effect. Some study and practice with flower arrangements can have a beautifying effect on your home.

Eight County Men At Bureau Meet

Eight Parmer County Farm Bureau leaders attended a Farm Bureau conference in Dimmitt last week. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the Farm Bureau legislative proposal for a long-term program for cotton and grain sorghum.

Hub King, state director, Brownfield, presented features of the program, along with a report on reception of the program in the congressional subcommittee. King is also a member of the AFB cotton committee.

King pointed up the importance of passing new legislation by presenting the picture that will prevail if the agricultural act of 1949 is allowed to continue through 1959. Due to the surplus of cotton in government warehouses, it will become mandatory that allotments be cut 30 percent. This means, he said, that the farmer with a present allotment of 100 acres would be cut to 70 acres in 1959. The support price would be 90 percent of parity. The minimum acreage provision of four acres per farm would end; there would be no four-acre cotton farmers.

Under the present law, since CCC will have 8,250,000 bales of cotton on hand the first of August acreage for 1959 would be cut 30 percent with a support price of 90 percent of parity. Under the Farm Bureau proposal, the farmer would have a choice of accepting the above cut with 90 percent supports, or increasing his cut acreage by 40 percent and receiving a support price of at least 75 percent of parity. (75 percent of parity would, in 1961, yield the same dollars and cents price per bale as the 1958 prices, due to rising parity factors.) The government would be allowed to sell cotton stocks at 82 percent parity plus handling and storage costs, thus making government stocks non-competitive with the market.

On August 1, 1959, under the Farm Bureau proposal, it is estimated that the government will have stocks of 6,250,000 bales. The government would be restricted to selling these stocks at no less than 82½ percent of parity plus carrying charges. The producer would still have the same choice of acreage and support ratio as in 1959 for 1960.

On August 1, 1960, it is estimated that there would still be approximately 6,250,000 bales of cotton in government warehouses. This cotton would be frozen (could not be sold, but could be used to subsidize shipment of exported cotton).

This would take government out of storage and merchandising, King says, giving the producer the advantage of a reduction of cost of storage and government handling. The purchaser would come to the producer for the cotton for his mills. The government support price for 1961 and future years would be not 90 percent of parity, but 90 percent of the previous three-year average weighted market price.

According to millers' reports, it is expected that cotton prices will not be so much dependent on the fiber length, or spotted grading, but on more important qualities, such as micronaire (resiliency), and fiber strength, which would be a favorable trend for producers of upland cotton. King pointed out that one of the most important factors of the Farm Bureau proposal is that it takes determination of cotton prices and acreages from the discretion of the secretary of agriculture.

An elevator's elevator is this country unit of Worley Grain Company, now being constructed at the intersection of the east-west and north-south paved farm roads at the Pleasant Hill corner.

reau proposal is that it takes determination of cotton prices and acreages from the discretion of the secretary of agriculture.

If the present law is left in force, said King, there will be an additional 3,000,000 acres of grain sorghum in Texas in 1959, replacing that acreage of cotton reduction. It therefore becomes increasingly important that farmers write their congressmen urging their support of the Farm Bureau proposal. The Farm Bureau proposal also includes tying of grain sorghums to corn, parity-wise, after removing acreage allotments from corn. If this provision had been in effect in 1957, the price of sorghums would have been approximately $2.18 per hundred in 1957-58 and 59. Parmer County Farm Bureau President Gilbert Kaltwasser points out that some have confused this price with the price per bushel of corn, which would have been approximately $1.35.

Representatives from Lamb, Castro, Bailey and Parmer Counties were present. Attending from Parmer County were Kaltwasser, Jack Patterson, Vernon Symcox, Franklin Bauer, Florian Jarecki, John Henderson, J. D. White, and Raymond Euler.

PLEASE—NO CHEMISE

For the past few years the beavies of attractive, uniformed guides who shepherd visitors through corridors and committee rooms at United Nations headquarters have included a proportion of Indian girls, wearing their brilliantly-hued native saris instead of the trim blue uniform designed for the staff. Now they have rivals for the admiring glances of the tourists. A few petite Japanese misses have joined the ranks, wrapped in their traditional flowered kimonos and brocade obis.

Men as well as women sight-seers comment approvingly on the softness and grace of these Oriental styles, which the foreign girls find more comfortable than western garb—particularly the current modes.

OTHERS SAY

It was once possible to differentiate between foreign and domestic relations, but since foreign relations have gotten on the federal payroll, the taxpayer has difficulty in distinguishing between the two. (Somerset Pa., American)

ONE-STEP CANNING

The latest method for canning vegetables is a one-step cold-pack method, according to extension foods and nutrition specialists.

Directions are simple. As an example, take snap beans. Begin by washing all pint or quart jars in hot soapy water and rinse well. It is not necessary to sterilize jars since the pressure canner must be used in canning all non-acid vegetables. Use only fresh, young, tender beans. The bean should be just beginning to form in the pod. Wash thoroughly, trim ends and cut into 1-inch pieces.

Thus far there is nothing different from the old method of canning snap beans. Now you will note the fill is different. Pack raw beans tightly into clean jars to ½ inch of top. Cover with boiling water, again leaving ½ inch space at the top of the jar. Add ½ teaspoon salt to pints and 1 teaspoon to quarts.

Close jar with two-piece lid and place it in the pressure canner. Exhaust canner for 10 minutes, close petcock and process at 10 pounds pressure—pint jars 20 minutes, quart jars 25 minutes. Remove canner from heat, let pressure return to zero and remove the jars.

This new one-step method can also be used for canning fresh lima beans, carrots, cream style corn, whole kernel corn, black-eye peas and summer squash.

For further information check with your local home demonstration agent. You may also wish to ask for a copy of B-194, "Home Canning—Fruits and Vegetables."

DRINKING ENOUGH MILK?

It is difficult to have a balanced diet without including a good deal of milk every day, according to foods and nutrition specialists.

Recent studies show that women especially are not drinking the milk they need each day—neither are their teenage daughters. This may be partly due to the fact that many people think milk is fattening. It isn't. A glass of whole milk has fewer calories than a serving of many other foods. There are only about 165 calories in a glass (eight ounces) of whole milk, and each ounce is packed with food value. Rich in calcium, milk also provides high quality protein, other minerals and vitamins.

Drink skim milk, if you're trying to lose a few pounds. It has approximately half the calories of whole milk, but you will still be getting the important minerals, vitamins and protein.

When energy lags—in morning or afternoon—try a cold glass of milk for a "lift that lasts." Make sure all family members get enough milk every day.

THE PRICE IS RIGHT

One large glass of milk per day, supplied by the United Nations Children's Fund to millions of needy youngsters of the world, provides a nutritious basis for their otherwise scanty diets. The cost is only one-fifth of a cent for each, due to the purchase in bulk of vast quantities of dried skim milk from United States agricultural surpluses.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Native ranges or native pastures are no longer Parmer County Soil Conservation District's most important agricultural product; however, the native pastures that still exist will bear some attention.

For the most part there are two significant range sites in the district. One is the hard-land range site and the other is the mixed land range site. The hardland site consists of those lands containing tighter, less permeable soils. In good condition it will contain unlimited amounts of blue grama, side oats grama, and buffalo grass. In poor conditions these grasses will be less abundant and less vigorous. Invading plants such as loco and broom snake weed and other harmful or less palatable plants will be present.

Mixed land ranges in the district are more sandy and absorb water more readily. In an excellent or good condition they may contain blue grama, side oats grama, hairy grama, little blue stem and Indian grass in unlimited amounts of buffalo grass, three awns, sand dropseed and Tabosa grass.

In fair or poor condition these grasses will be in less abundance and show less vigor and an invasion of annual weeds and less desirable grasses will take their places along with a great infestation of yucca and sage brush.

To improve the condition of a range or pasture, the land owner should pick out his most desirable grasses, find out their growth habits, and manage grazing so that they are allowed to make seed every third year. It is never a good practice to graze more than half of the current year's growth of the most desirable grasses.

A good method of determining the carrying capacity of pasture is to select a spot where conditions are average, measure off a plot 3.1 feet square, clip all the vegetation on the spot and weigh it in grams. The weight in grams multiplied by ten gives the pounds of forage an acre has produced. This figure divided by the number of pounds of forage (20 to 30 pounds) a cow will eat per day will give the number of days that an acre will last for a cow.

If a range is in poor condition quite often the wise thing to do is to chisel or pit the range to help conserve moisture until it is re-established. Until a good amount of grass is present, grazing should be very limited in these areas and it should not be grazed when wet.

I fear explanations explanatory of things explained.—Lincoln

6 Boys Receive Gilts

Six Parmer County boys received registered Chester White gilts through Sears-Roebuck Foundation last week, County Agent Joe Jones announces.

This is another step in the Sears-sponsored year-to-year program.

To be eligible to receive the animals, the boys wrote essays. They will return a gilt from the first litter. It will be given to another deserving 4-H boy and thus broaden the program.

Boys receiving gilts this year were Edwin Taylor, Friona; Randy Price, Friona; Maynard Greeson, Friona; Roy Donaldson, Farwell; Ronald Ashford, Lazbuddie; and David Koeltzer, Lazbuddie.

MAURER MAC HINERY CO.

FRIONA, TEXAS

O. E. Boatwright, Pleasant Hill farmer, is swallowed up by this field of Tetraploid rye, which grows to an amazing size. His six foot, one-inch frame is hidden in the field, but his hat which he hoists over the crop can be seen.

Gene Boatwright has stepped into the field and gathered a couple of armfuls of Tetraploid to show how big and healthy are the plants. Gene is five feet, 11 inches tall.

Tetraploid Rye Looks Promising

Every once in awhile an area farmer will plant a few acres of a crop in pure experimentation and come forth with some exciting results. That is happening this year on the farm of O. E. Boatwright of Pleasant Hill, near the Curry-Parmer County line.

Boatwright has a small patch of rye (six acres) that is raising eyebrows of everybody who stops to look at it. Its size is astounding and its growth has been phenomenal.

The rye, which is a lush green color and still far from maturity, stands from 6 1/2 to 7 feet high and promises to yield from 70 to 100 bushels per acre, believes the owner.

This particular variety of rye was obtained through a Texico-Farwell seed dealer and came from a stock in Oklahoma. However, the "home" of Tetraploid is Germany.

"I sure believe that this is the crop that I have been looking for all the years I've been farming," declares Boatwright. His enthusiasm for the crop is shown by his flat statement that if he had it all to do over again he would plant his entire farm to the crop this year.

Boatwright and his son, Gene, are, like many other High Plains farmers, looking for new crops to raise. "There's no profit in milo," they say, and the planting of the rye is only a part of their plans for diversification. They have 30 acres of vegetables, too—watermelons and onions.

Besides its apparent heavy yield, Tetraploid has a thick, strong stalk that carries the heavy head well in the winds of the High Plains. It matures slowly and will furnish pasture much longer than wheat.

The Boatwrights planted the rye in late September, with no pre-irrigation. It was watered three times but was not fertilized. The land on the Boatwright place is fairly tight and has been irrigated four years. Seeding rate was two-thirds bushel per acre.

It will be from three weeks to a month before the rye will be ready to harvest, and around the edges of the field, where a flock of chickens have been helping themselves to the green forage, plants that have been grazed down to only six to 10 inches by the fowls is heading and apparently readying to make grain.

The rye heads are long and fat, and the seed is more than double the size of normal wheat seed. Boatwright paid 10 cents a pound for his seed to get started and he thinks that it may sell for $4 or $5 a bushel. If the rye makes 70 bushels and sells for only $2 per bushel, though, his profits would be way ahead of grain sorghum, he points out.

The Boatwrights pastured seven head of cattle on the patch—clear up into the spring when they would have long been taken off of wheat. The rye doesn't show it. The men believe that the unusual rye is very palatable to cattle and does not taste bitter as do some domestic varieties.

THE PARMER FARMER

by W. H. Graham Jr.

It's amazing how fast crops can grow with just a little bit of warm weather. We seem to forget this each year, then all of a sudden the crops spring from the ground as though pulled by some mystic power.

It won't be very many weeks until this part of the High Plains will take on its lush irrigated agriculture look that is famous the world over. There is no decoration more attractive than neat rows of well cared for crops as far as the eye can see, and this is the High Plains' No. 1 summer attraction.

In spite of a general belt tightening, most farmers we talk with are cheerful about their operations. Very few have become "sour" on farming and are ready to toss in the towel, although they object to high production costs and small profits just as do their business contemporaries.

If we can believe what we read, this is not true the country over, where many long-time farmers are calling it quits and selling out if they have any place to go. Apparently, the average High Plains farmer is weathering the current economic storm better than many others in the nation.

With more than five million acres under irrigation from more than 40,000 irrigation wells on the High Plains, our area as a production unit should be—if it is not already—the second most important agricultural region in the United States today.

From the standpoint of dollar volume, California is still the kingpin, and even though we hate to admit it, we should realize that we can never hope to do what California has done with farm products because they have such a tremendous climatic advantage.

But the irrigated High Plains ought to rank right up alongside—if not ahead of—these terms of long standing and high repute: The Cotton Belt, The Corn Belt, and The Wheat Belt.

Our highly concentrated economy, which produces all three of the above commodities in quantity (if you'll excuse grain sorghum as a substitute for corn), can hold a par with ANY area of like size in the United States for dollar-per-acre crop volume, excepting fabulous California.

And as for California, the only things which cannot even be attainable for us are crops which must be grown with a year-round season (no freezes) such as citrus fruits, dates, olives, and the like.

Take a look at the American dinner table. Over 90 percent of the total items available for it can be grown under conditions which prevail on the High Plains.

It certainly is too ambitious to think that we can ever equal California in the diversity of crops produced, but the High Plains has a quantity capacity still unrealized by most people who till its soil.

If we tend to appear to dream in this column, we hope you won't be too critical. But in talking with folks from other areas, we are always pushed to the conclusion that we take our possibilities too lightly, and that a little more imagination in our planning and in our action would not be out of order.

We recall a man who came up from the Texas Rio Grande Valley last year, and, surveying a good sized carrot patch (35 acres) that was only a tiny corner out of an irrigated half-section—the rest of which was in grain sorghum—whistled quietly and said wondrously: "Man, you fellows don't know WHAT you could do with all of this land and water if you'd just put it to work."

Now, talk like that sets a fellow to thinking, and even though money and markets are the two big problems between daydreaming and putting plans to work, we have seen it illustrated many times that big things are done only by those persons who think big, act big, and ARE big because they know what can be done if somebody will just try it—and try it they do.

Ever since big-scale irrigation brought on our tremendous grain crops, big elevators, located on railroad sidings and at the junction of well-traveled highways, have characterized the High Plains.

These elevators, known technically as "country elevators" (a distinction made from "terminal elevators") because they were in the area where the grain was produced, have taken the form of multi-million bushel concrete and steel storage units.

Now, though, "country" units of the country elevators are turning up. We understand that Woody Fleming of Friona and three other men have purchased eight acres south of Fleming & Sons Gin at the Hub for the purpose of erecting an elevator of from 500,000 to 1,000,000 bushel capacity.

Worley Grain of Fawell has a new country unit going in at Pleasant Hill to the north. Carl Schlenker of Rhea has had a 70,000-bushel elevator there for the past year. There is talk that there may even be another small elevator put in at Hub.

All of these warehouses are nine or 10 miles away from railroad facilities, which shows the lessening dependence storage men place on railroads today. Twenty years ago a big elevator not on a railroad would have been unthinkable.

With all the talk about vegetables, sesame, and other "new" crops, we tend to sometimes forget that grain production is still a gigantic business on the irrigated High Plains.

Parents spend the first part of a child's life getting him to walk and talk, and the rest of childhood getting him to sit down and shut up.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

We hope you will have an opportunity to read the Farm Bureau's cotton, feed grain and rice proposals to the Senate Agricultural Committee. A brief explanation will be presented to the papers this week. This proposal has been mentioned parenthetically in several news items in comparison with other proposals.

In these articles, it has been stated that milo would be priced at $1.35 per hundred. This statement is in error. It is known that the price under the FB proposed program would have been approximately $2.18 per hundred in 1957-58, and will be about that figure in 1959 if the program is adopted by this session of congress.

You will be sure to note that, unless a program similar to Farm Bureau's is adopted, regarding cotton and feed grains, under the Agricultural Act of 1949, cotton farmers will be drastically cut in acreage for 1959, and in Texas alone it is likely that three million acres more will go into grain sorghums. Anyone can guess what would happen to the grain sorghum market if that should happen.

The agriculture committee has already stated that it will not give serious consideration to any single commodity program. That is because they can see that circumstances regarding one, will inevitably effect some others. This has always been the case since acreage allotments have been in effect on "basic commodities."

A tying together of the programs is necessary to maintain a balance. Your weed committee would like to remind you to see someone at the ASC office if you find bindweed on your farm, and see your county agent if there is bindweed in barrow pits on roads adjoining your farm.

Any member of the weed committee would like to know of these locations, too, so that they can mark them on maps for future reference. You could tell one of the FFA boys of your school district, as he is interested in completing a map of location, too.

Seniors Return From Colorado

Returning Friday afternoon from a week in Colorado were 21 members of the 1958 graduating class of Farwell High School.

Colorado Springs was headquarters for the group and they made side trips to various points of interest.

Last Monday they crossed the Royal Gorge on the world's highest bridge near Canon City. They went to Denver on Wednesday and stopped at other scenic and historic spots.

Sponsors on the trip were Calvin Murray and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Jamison.

Boy Scout Leader Speaks To Lions

John Sharum, recently-appointed assistant Boy Scoutmaster for Farwell's troop, spoke at a regular Monday night meeting of Texico-Farwell Lions in City Cafe.

He explained plans for the newly-organized Boy Scout program and pointed out it would be necessary for the boys, who are members, to qualify as Tenderfeet before camp-outs and other activities would be entered into by the troop.

Lion Boss Robert Morton, who presided, announced that new officers of the club would be installed at the next meeting—June 9.

In other business, Herb Potts was elected to serve a one-year term as a director. He will replace previously-elected Dick Hapke who will enter the service next month.

Also, the club voted to contribute $400 "and more if needed" to Texico-Farwell's summer youth program.

space. Present cafeteria space will be converted to eating space—in the past it has contained the kitchen as well.

Actual starting date for construction on the elementary building is not known, but it will be "soon," Williams believes. It will be located across the street north from the present campus.

Square feet in the building will total 19,067. In addition to the 13 classrooms, the building will contain a library, nurse's room, book room, two storage rooms, principal's office and a teacher's workshop.

Also, repairs and additions are being made to present buildings this summer, Williams says. A more detailed report on this work is scheduled to be announced at a later date.

Farwell Sprays To Control Insects

Insects in Farwell got a dose of DDT last week.

Wilfred Quickel, city secretary, reports the town was sprayed for the control of mosquitoes, flies, and millers. Also, he says the spray mixture which was used won't kill or harm plants. "The mixture we used is not a herbicide and there has never been any herbicide in the sprayer," Quickel says. He has received a report that the spray had killed a rose bush.

It will be impossible, he points out, to rid the town of mosquitoes because of nearby irrigation ditches. However, he feels the sprayings will tend to hold the mosquito population down in the city limits.

No date has been set for the next spraying.

Local Family Has News From Greece Via Massachusetts

"Almost as good as a call from Joann and Charlie," is the way Mrs. Alfred Hapke describes a telephone call from Mrs. Cecelia Crosby of Springfield, Mass.

Joann and Charlie are her daughter and son-in-law, Radioman and Mrs. Charles Crosby, who live in Athens, Greece. Mrs. Crosby had just returned from a visit with her son and family Sunday and called to tell the Hapkes about the family in general and the newest member, 6-month old Diane, in particular.

The family has been in Athens for over a year and Crosby has several months left in his tour of duty there with the Navy.

OTHERS SAY

Are conditions as bad as some people paint them?

We ask this question because we have heard people "poor mouth" so much that we are afraid they actually are making conditions worse than they are. (Bishopville, S. C., Lee Co. Messenger)
