

BY HOP JR.

Life isn't as hectic as it once was for the M. C. Roberts who now live in Clovis amid the spacious luxury of a new home on Gidding. The pace of semi-retirement is comfortable for them, but then they do have some anxious moments.

One of their joys is having grandson "Little Bill" (whose folks live in Dallas) with them this summer. But M. C.'s grandfatherly joy turned to shock the other evening when we were looking on.

Little Bill, who is about five years old, was busy helping his granddaddy spray the bugs that were bothering guests on the terrace just off the dining room.

He was knocking them down right regular with his aerosol bug bomb and gramps Roberts was pleased as punch with the boy's aim. About that time, signified by some mysterious boyish impulse that parents and grandparents have never been able to comprehend, he opened his mouth, held the can up to it and commenced spraying the back of his throat.

M. C. slipped for a minute and let go an ungranddaddy-like expletive as he snatched the bomb from the boys hand. "Don't DO that son!" he shouted. "That stuff's poison!" The anxious adult then rushed off to Rosa to report on the incident and ask her advice.

As you might have guessed, the self-inflicted spray job was harder on M. C. than on Bill Jr.

What is there, we want to know, about sugar spoons that makes kids think they have to be heaping full with grains just hanging over the edge, before a run can be made from the sugar bowl to the glass of tea or Kool Aid?

If our kids want two level spoonfuls of sugar, that's okay with us, and we've told them so. What we want most is for them to stop dribbling crunchy grains across the table and onto the floor in transit. But somehow, nothing seems quite so right as that pyramid of glimmering white, just waiting for somebody to bump an elbow so that it can be scattered to kingdom come.

By the way, this malady isn't limited to our own offspring, either. We've noticed the strange fascination for the ultimate spoonful in other families. Some psychologist ought to figure this out. They have an answer for about everything else.

"I hope you already have your paper printed," Willie Roberts choked out to us as we drove up to his house Tuesday evening. We were interested in finding out what the superintendent was up to.

He was down on his knees sticking his head under his house, and was reaching inside with a long rake. Apparently, he didn't want his activities reported on.

About the time we got within 15 or 20 feet of the scene, we realized what the trouble was. A stench so thick you could cut it with a knife hit us a sickening blow.

About that time Willie drug out the source of the ghastly odor. It was a big black cat, swelled to about three times normal size. It probably had been there several days.

Mrs. Roberts says that now maybe they can stand to go inside their house. Things had been getting pretty bad and they couldn't figure out what was wrong.

Fred Cornelius's Hotel Cafe has been remodeled and re-equipped and is now open for business.

School Taxes Increase As State Cuts Support

BY W. H. GRAHAM JR.
Taxes are going up for Farwell School District Property owners.

The Farwell school board, meeting Monday night, increased the tax rate 10 cents per $100 valuation, moving it from $1.91 to $2.01. They took this action as the only alternative they could muster to offset a decline of an estimated $6,000 in state support for the coming year.

For three years state monies for education available to local school districts of this part of Texas have been diminishing. That is a result of the improvement of the so-called "economic index," a complicated yardstick state economists use to measure what the ability of local districts to support their own education should be.

Simply stated, it means that districts which are richer (those having heavy oil production, for example) get less in state funds and that poorer districts (in sparsely settled ranching areas, for instance) get more. Actually, the paperwork gets pretty involved, but that is the basic issue. And the fellows with the slide rules have been figuring that folks on the irrigated Plains have been improving their standards of living pretty steadily in recent years, so they have been making adjustments accordingly.

As already stated, the decrease in state funds available to the Farwell district will amount to roughly $6,000. And so the 10-cent increase in the tax rate is calculated to yield approximately that amount on the $6 million-plus valuation of the district. Over-all, the hike in taxes will be approximately five percent.

At the present time, the $2.01 rate is broken down to allow $1.40 for local maintenance and $.61 for interest and sinking (debt retirement).

The school board adopted a $231,847 budget for 1959-1960. This is approximately $5,000 more than the previous year.

Some vital statistics:
ADMINISTRATION--Salaries $11,364, contracted services $450, other expenses $2,950.
INSTRUCTION -- Salaries $119,353, books $100, library and visual supplies $1,200, teaching supplies $1,400, other expenses $4,750.

HEALTH--Salaries $1,466, other $50.

TRANSPORTATION--Salaries $7,188, replacement of vehicles $3,125, insurance $425, other expenses $5,600.

PLANT OPERATION--Salaries $8,334, heat $2,400, utilities $5,000, supplies $3,200, other $900.

MAINTENANCE -- Salaries $2,000, other $20,000.

INSURANCE--$4,000.

FURNITURE AND EQUIPMENT--$2,000.

DEBT SERVICE--Principal $22,221, interest $19,671, other $700.

Broom Sale Sept. 11

Texico-Farwell Lions will have their annual broom sale September 11-12. The date was set Monday night at the regular meeting of the club.

The Texas Caravan for the Blind, which manufactures and distributes brooms through Lions Clubs, will be here on those dates. Advance orders are being sought from larger users such as elevators, gins, and schools.

W. H. Graham Jr. is in charge of these early sales. Helping him are Woodrow Lovelace, Buck Bradshaw, and Otis Huggins.

The sale of brooms is held by the local club each year and is their primary fund-raising activity for sight conservation, which is a main project of the club.

Cecil Dykes reported on the summer recreation program, saying that the club project had been successful. An average of 30 boys participated in the program this year, he said.

Dykes was in charge of the project, and was assisted by Paul Frederick. The total cost of the project to the club was $308, Dykes reported.

Hotel Cafe Will Open Saturday

Texico Hotel Cafe, located in the hotel building will have its grand opening Saturday. Free coffee and doughnuts will be given to customers throughout the day.

The cafe is completely remodeled and has all new furniture and equipment.

Fred Cornelius, owner and manager of the cafe, says their specialty will be, "the best chicken ever fried in New Mexico." They will also serve steaks, short orders and plate lunches.

An ad in this week's Tribune further announces the grand opening.

Farwell's new Dixie service station is celebrating its opening continuing through this week. Special prizes will be offered over the weekend. The station is located on Highways 70-84 in downtown Farwell.

Grand Opening This Weekend

Farwell Dixie Service will observe the second weekend of its grand opening Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Feature of the opening will be a free 300-foot beam flashlight with each "fill-up" during the three special days, Fred Johnston, co-owner of the business announces.

The service station, which is located on Highway 70-84 in downtown Farwell, has been in operation since August 1.

Jack Hobbs is manager of the business which is owned by Colvin - Johnston Oil Co., El Paso-Dixie distributor in this area. Also, the firm, which is headquartered in Clovis, serves be at the regular time, says Ebb Randol, minister.

A quartet from Eastern New Mexico University, Portales, will sing Sunday, August 23. On that day, dinner will be held on the grounds. Residents of the Texico-Farwell area are invited to attend.

Farwell Post Office Schedules New Hours

New hours have been announced for the Farwell Post Office by John Zahn, postmaster. They will become effective Monday, August 17.

On that date, office employees will report to work the mail at 8 o'clock rather than 7:30 as they have done in the past. They will begin their final dispatching at 4:30 in the afternoons rather than at 5 o'clock which is the current final dispatch schedule.

The windows will be open to postal patrons from 8:30 until 4:30 on weekdays and from 8:30 until 12 on Saturdays. The main effect of the new hours will be getting the mail put up a half an hour later in the mornings, and it being necessary for businesses and individuals to get their mail to the post office by 4:30 in the afternoons in order to get it dispatched.

Zahn gave as the reason for the change in schedule that the hours of post office employees will be reduced.

Blue Haven Has Successful Year

Ebb Randol, director of the Blue Haven Youth Camp at Las Vegas, N. M., reports that this is the most successful year for the camp during its three year history.

Children from 6 states and 78 different cities took advantage of Bible classes, outings, fishing and various recreation facilities offered by the camp.

David Meeks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Meeks, was among 321 in attendance this year.

W. W. Vinyard Completes 45 Years On The Santa Fe

BY ANITA MOSS

W. W. Vinyard, station master for the Santa Fe Railroad in Texico-Farwell for 45 years, was presented a retirement gift by several railroad employees and former co-workers at his home Saturday.

The group gathered in the Vinyard home and presented him a lounge chair. They included Jess Richardson, C. E. Crume, A. D. Mendoza, D. R. Thurman, Loyd Cain, and Jim Bob Smart. Participating but unable to attend the gathering were W. B. Phillips, T. A. Cox, Aubrey Sprawls, D. D. Hastings, E. C. Mendoza, Bob Roberts, P. W. Stewart, and E. H. Robinson.

Vinyard was reared on a farm near Dallas. When he was a young man, he left the farm and bought a telegraph scholarship to the Dallas Telegraph College. After a year of study he went to Grand Prairie and worked for a year on the railroad. He recalled that he got no pay for the job, only experience. The only means he had of making money at this time was the 2¢ a bale he got for loading cotton.

He next accepted a position on the Rock Island Line at Ringgold for $25 a month. He said that out of this amount he paid for his room, board and laundry and saved a small amount each month.

In 1910, Vinyard received an offer for a job at Lockney with the railroad company. He accepted the offer and began work at Lockney on November 25, 1910. After four successful years, Vinyard was informed one morning that a stationmaster was needed at Texico and they were sending him there. Vinyard arrived in Texico-

Farwell on January 29, 1914, and was station master here until his retirement.

"One of the first things I can recall about Texico-Farwell was my immediate dislike of the place," stated Vinyard. He said that when he was checked into the station, he told the man who checked him in, that he could come back in 30 days and check him out again. When the 30 days was up, Vinyard had completely forgotten the statement. He stated, "I have enjoyed all of my 45 years in Texico-Farwell, chief-

Musical interludes were furnished by three youngsters: Gwendolyn Rundell and Ted Glenn of Farwell and Nancy Likins of Clovis, who were presented in tap numbers: "Little Dutch Clog" and "In A Persian Market."

One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of the contestants for the title of "Miss Farwell." They modeled skirts and sweaters from the collection at Fern's, and wore banners inscribed with a sponsor's name.

Both Mrs. Hardage and Mrs. Williams express appreciation to everyone who aided in the undertaking in any way.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Graham Jr. were there to receive the award for the newspaper. Two other less significant awards went to The Tribune also. They were third place in editorials and fourth place in advertising composition.

This is the second time The Tribune has received the "No. 1" award in its class from the WTPA. Graham congratulated Moten and thanked the advertisers and news sources of the paper for enabling The Tribune to maintain high standards of excellence.

Anita Moss, society editor of The Tribune, shows off the pretty silver cup that designates the award.

According to "Changing Times", air conditioning for the whole house is getting cheaper. If we have many more hot days like the past two or three, more people will be interested in such a report.

When it comes to news coverage, the Tribune staff spreads itself pretty thin. Our spouse has the responsibility of gathering the news, covering the meetings, making the pictures with the assistance of the society editor, doing the farm news, and a few more time consuming duties not worthy of mention. Anita Moss handles the society news, more pictures, receptionist duties and what-have-you. We couldn't tell you exactly what we are supposed to do, but we stay pretty busy getting it all done.

When a special night comes up with three or four meetings at the same time, you can see we can't attend all of them although we try. One night recently, the husband ate with the Lions, rushed to a church board meeting and made it to a late portion of another Monday night session. Some weeks, there are meetings dealing with some community project as many as five of the six nights in the work week.

We try to cover all the meetings we possibly can and work in some time some where for the three little Graham fellows. But that is a normal week.

It is always stimulating to us to attend press conventions--we like to talk to other newspaper people and exchange ideas. We don't know of any other profession that has as many enthusiastic people, people who get a terrific amount of pleasure out of their jobs, their friends, and the possibilities of their towns.

We can't think of any of our publisher friends in the weekly field who haven't spent some all-night hours getting their papers out on schedule, most of them are hard workers and they complain louder than anyone, but they wouldn't trade jobs with anyone either.

We don't know of a wealthy one in the lot as far as we can tell but they have good senses of humor, and are the story tellers, jolliest people we know.

Party Honors Travis Taylor

Miss Kathy Bell was hostess for a birthday party honoring Travis Taylor on his 18th birthday Wednesday. The party was in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Sterling of Farwell.

After playing games, the group was served a supper of grilled hot dogs, potato chips, pop and birthday cake.

Those present were Judy Billingsley, Eilan Cain, Teddy Roth, Ursel Doran, Glendon Moss, Christine Paine, Ronnie Thomas, Sharon Hendrix, Butch Sharp, Fern Smith, Kenneth Murdock, Connie Sharp, Billy Smith, David Lockhart and Tommy Wurster.

Mrs. Billy Watts from Farwell visited in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Finis Jennings recently. Her daughter, Cindy, stayed Sunday night with her grandparents.

Board Shapes Final Plans For Opening

Farwell's school board, shaping up for school activities which will begin August 26, had a busy session Monday evening. The first faculty meetings will be Wednesday, the 26th at 10 a.m. Teacher orientation will be the 26th, 27th, and 28th.

Seniors and juniors are to enroll Thursday afternoon, August 27, beginning at 1 o'clock. Sophomores and freshmen enroll Friday afternoon, August 28, starting at 1 also. All elementary school students will enroll on Monday, August 31.

That is the official "first day" of school for all students.

The board hired Gladys Hromas as supervisor of the school lunch room. Workers for 1959-60 will include Annabell Hillock, Dorothy Hubbell, Freddie Harriman, Thelma Black, Clytie Seale, and Lillie Hughes. Bus driver foreman for the year is H. R. "Mutt" Crook. Drivers include Don Dendy, Larry Smith, Joe Hughes, Loyd Cain, and James Burleson. The school awarded Price's

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Crooks and Mrs. Milton Henson were in Seymour recently to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Henson and Jay.

Dairy the contract for the lunch-room milk requirements.

Holidays agreed upon for the coming year:

THANKSGIVING--November 26-27.

CHRISTMAS -- Starting December 23 at 2 p.m. School will resume January 4.

TEACHERS' MEETING--One day in March (to be selected).

EASTER--April 15-18.

SCHOOL'S OUT -- Tentative date for closing of school May 20.

Supt. W. M. Roberts reported that the school is still short one member of its faculty and that prospects for getting this vacancy filled soon are slim. No home economics teacher has been hired.

Added to the faculty Monday night was Mrs. Mary Dena McWilliams of Clovis, who will be high school English instructor. She is a graduate of Texsmoothest ride!

One of the 7 big bests Chevrolet gives you over any other car in its field

Anyone who's ever taken a Chevy over a choppy country road can tell you how lightly Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension handles rough going--and coil springs never squeak, never need grease! Try this velvet way of going for yourself. Once you do, you'll find your own way of saying what MOTOR TREND magazine puts this way: "...the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." But the happiest part of it all is that this Full Coil ride is just one of seven big bests--all documented by published opinions of experts and on-the-record facts and figures.

BEST ENGINE--Chevrolet engines have long won expert praise from virtually every automobile magazine, and, just recently, Chevrolet received the NASCAR+ Outstanding Achievement award for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines."

BEST ECONOMY--A pair of Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide won their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, topping every other full-sized car. And the winning mileage was a whopping 22.38 m.p.g.

BEST BRAKES--Chevy's bonded-lining brakes are the biggest in their field, built for up to 66% longer life. In a direct competition conducted by NASCAR, Chevy out-stopped both of the other leading low-priced cars in a test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

BEST STYLE--It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

BEST TRADE-IN--Any N.A.D.A.† Guide Book can give you the figures on Chevy's extra value. You'll find that Chevrolet used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." Your Chevrolet dealer will be happy to tell you about a whole host of other advantages besides these seven. Why not drop by his showroom?

Four-branched candelabra with pink candles and baskets of white and pink gladioli and pink daisies flanked the center decoration Woodwardia fern completed the setting. Pink pew candles were tied with pink bows.

Mrs. W. T. Watson played traditional marches and pre-nuptial music. She accompanied Miss Connie Tharp who sang "Always," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Misses Carmelita Doshier and Judy Tharp lighted the candles. They were attired in tangerine and pink formal and wore white carnation corsages.

Serving as maid-of-honor was Koleta Doshier, a classmate of the bride. She was attired in a street length dress of rose colored, embossed nylon designed with a fitted bodice, full gathered skirt and tiny cap sleeves. She carried a fan of matching fabric accented by a white carnation corsage, and wore white accessories.

The bridesmaids wore matching dresses of rainbow colors. Serving as bridesmaids were Patricia Patterson, Jerry Thigpen, Janice Adams, sister of the bride, and Margo Roubison, sister of the bridegroom.

Serving as ushers and groomsmen were Dicky Adams, brother of the bride, B. B. Taylor, Kenneth Doolittle and Weldon Bell. Jerry Trower from Bellview was best man.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length dress of chantilly lace featuring a three-tiered skirt accented with a large bow at the back. The tiny Peter Pan collar was sprinkled with iridescent sequins and pearls and the long sleeves tapered to petal points.

Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of rhinestones and pearls and she wore pearl and rhinestone earrings, a gift from her aunt, Mrs. Ester Wells.

Streamers of white satin ribbon fell from her bouquet of pink sweetheart rosebuds which she carried atop a white Bible.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Adams chose a mauve sheath dress with black accessories. Mrs. Northcutt chose a rose-colored sheath with black accessories. Both women wore white carnation corsages.

A reception was in the undercroft of the church. The serving table was laid with a lace cloth over pink and was centered with a three-tiered white and pink wedding cake. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Ray Tharp.

Two-branched crystal candelabra. Koleta Doshier served cake and Connie Tharp presided at the punch bowl. Midd Christy Bowers registered guests.

For a short wedding trip to Ruidoso, the bride changed into a brown dacron dress with a fitted lace bodice and matching jacket. She wore a pink rose corsage and pink accessories.

The couple is at home in Clovis where the bridegroom is employed as bookkeeper at the Silver Grill. He is a 1958 graduate of Texico High School and was active in all sports. During his senior year, he was elected class favorite.

Mrs. Roubison will be a junior at Texico High School. She has been active in pep club work and was a cheerleader for the past two years. She was also a majorette in the school band.

Miss Billington Gets 1st Place On Hair Style

Katherine Billington, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Billington of Farwell, won first place in the senior hair styling division at a contest at Hedrick's College of Beauty in Clovis Tuesday.

The hair style which won Miss Billington first place honors over 14 other contestants was called a "sweet-heart" hair style. Modeling for her daughter was Mrs. Billington. This is the second summer for Katherine to study at Hedrick's. She is hoping to complete the course in time to take the October state board examination.

Five Clovis beauty operators judged hair styles on workmanship, originality and adaptability.

Winning second place in the senior division was Jolene Cook and third place went to Lee Wright. Gail Spitz and Dora Adams were their models.

In the junior division, operators who have been on the floor less than three weeks, Joa Carthel of Farwell won third place. Her daughter, Linda, was her model. Winning first and second places in the junior division were Sherry White and Jean Tooke. Their hair styles were modeled by Hazel White and Jean Long respectively.

After the contest refreshments of coffee and individual cake squares were served. The serving table was laid with a white cloth and centered with a silver tray from which the cake was served. Tall yellow and blue tapers flanked the arrangement.

Sticky Fingers Get Saleslady Into Trouble

Sticky fingers got a young saleslady deep into trouble with the Parmer County law last week.

Helen McGarrah, 18, is awaiting the September sitting of the grand jury in the county jail. She is charged with theft.

Miss McGarrah allegedly pocketed $80 in cash when she was a visitor in the home of R. T. Jenkins at Lariat last Wednesday. She was traveling in company with a group of magazine subscription solicitors.

The young woman, who gives her home address as Fayetteville, Ark., has signed a confession admitting she took the money. She entered the Jenkins home selling subscriptions and when inside asked permission to go to the bathroom.

In the bathroom she found a small chest containing the

Cheerleaders Attending Yell School

Farwell cheerleaders for the coming year left Sunday to attend a five-day cheerleading school on the campus of Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

Purpose of the school is to promote an exchange of ideas between the schools represented and to teach new yells, jumps, and yell techniques.

Girls attending from Farwell are Martha Blair and Ruby Hillock, seniors; Carolyn Routon and Joan Potts, sophomores; Jo Potts, junior and Bonnie Cochran, freshman. Misses Blair and Hillock will serve as head cheerleaders for the coming school year.

New suits are being made by the cheerleaders and will be ready for use in time for the first football game. They are of royal blue corduroy. The dresses will be made on princess lines and will feature three-quarter length sleeves and a semi-turtle neckline. The sleeves and neckline will be outlined in white fur.

cash and she helped herself to it. The family did not miss the money until the next day.

Sheriff Chas. Lovelace was notified of the stolen money, and he started out on a cold trail. An alarm detailing the theft was broadcast over the surrounding area, and officers began a methodical check of places where the troupe might be.

Thursday evening they located the group at a Clovis motel. Upon questioning, the woman admitted taking the money, but she claimed to have spent it and it has not been returned.

She was arraigned and taken before County Judge Loyde Brewer where her bond was set at $1000. She is not expected to make bail before the grand jury meets.

The sticky-fingered miss apparently was making some other money on the side too. She increased a $4 check given to her by V. O. Venable of Bovina to $37. The check, given in return for a magazine subscription, was properly documented to the writer with a receipt for $4.

The sheriff recovered the check and says he does not expect that charges will be filed on this offense, which occurred Thursday.

 Ralph O'Neal Ryan, 40, of O'Sage, Kansas, was picked up by the sheriff at a Bovina service station Saturday evening. The hitch hiker had been put off there after a ride with a stranger.

Ryan was charged with drunkenness in Judge Roy Thornton's JP court. He pled guilty and was fined $23.10. He is sitting it out.

FARWELL HARDWARE
 The Hensons

Vinyard

 ly because of the association with my assistants.

In November of 1914, Vinyard was married to a former Lockney girl and brought her to Texico-Farwell. During the first seven years of their marriage they lived above the passenger depot in Texico. He recalled that he would get up early and go to work and as soon as she had prepared breakfast, she would bang on the pipes which ran up and down the wall to let him know the meal was ready.

Seems that at the time Vinyard came to Texico-Farwell, the New Mexico side of the town was composed almost altogether of saloons, and the chief shipping business was whiskey and beer. Vinyard said he supposed they sent him to Texico-Farwell because he didn't drink and therefore there wouldn't be so much loss on the express. He did say, however, that he had a terrible time trying to keep an operator sober long enough to do his work.

The starting pay in Farwell was $72 a month, but that was soon reduced to $15 a month because the express commission was so large, he was making more money than his superiors.

An amusing story concerning his desk was told by Vinyard. He said that one day a couple of boys who worked at the railroad station began scuffling and one boy fell into his desk and knocked a chunk out of it. They fixed the desk as best they could and didn't say anything about it to him. He didn't notice the broken place until a few days later when he started to rest his arm and the broken place gave way.

He called the boys into his office and told them if they were the ones who broke the desk, he would appreciate their repairing it. The next morning the desk was fixed and still remains just as they left it. Paul Crume, newspaper columnist for the Dallas Morning News, was one of the culprits and Holly Vaughn was the other.

Vinyard named several things that had changed on the railroad since he had been here. He said trains were bigger and faster and that the working day was just about 1/2 as long now as when he first began. Another thing was that during the first several years he worked here, each time a passenger train came in, he had to put on a little cap and go down and meet the passengers. He said it was almost unfor-givable to not wear the cap when he met the passengers.

Vinyard is an enthusiastic croquet fan and plays almost every day at the court house croquet course. He said that Thad Watkins, Bill Foster, Johnny McDonald and Percy Tipton are the others in the group he plays with. "I've worked 45 years on the railroad; now I just want to retire and play croquet," he says.

Daniel, senior representatives; junior representatives, Glendon Moss, Patricia Patterson and Gary Singleterry. Three sophomores are also attending the workshop; they are Kit Doran, Jean Hadley and Dwight Turner. Turner is a past member of the council. Freshmen attending are Hal Ed Helton and Vic Herrington.

Taxes

 Balanced against these proposed expenditures are estimated incomes from the following sources:

LOCAL TAXES AND RENT--$134,848.
 COUNTY SCHOOL LAND--$2,272.
 REVENUE FROM STATE--$94,965.

So, the budget about balances. The school hopes to take in $231,965.

"The board regrets very much having to increase the tax rate," Supt. Roberts says. "But we just about have to do something like this just to keep up with what we have been having."

Roberts said the mimeographed copies of the budget are available from him "for anybody who might want to see them."

The four-day affair is in the Majestic Theater and in the Texas, Hilton and Worth Hotels.

First general session on opening day included an address by R. E. Naugher, Program Specialist in Agriculture for the U. S. Office of Education. In addition, Mayor Tom A. McCann of Fort Worth welcomed the teachers. State Board of Education member Cecil A. Morgan brought the greeting and State Commissioner of Education J. W. Edger also spoke.

Other events included a barbecue on Tuesday evening, an awards breakfast on Wednesday and a general session at 10:00 a.m. Wednesday.

Three '59 Graduates Win Scholarships

Two boys from Farmer County are among the eight South Plains students to be awarded $1,600 in freshman scholarships at Texas Tech by the Kuykendall foundation of Lubbock.

The $200 grants are awarded on a basis of scholarship, citizenship and character, according to James G. Allen, dean of student life, who announced the grants on behalf of the Tech committee on scholarships and awards.

The 1959-60 winners and their backgrounds from Farmer County are Richard Dee (Dicky) Williams, valedictorian of the graduating class of 1959, and president of the National Honor Society. He received the Chamber of Commerce award for outstanding senior football player, outstanding basketball player for two years and the football scholastic award. He held offices in the senior class and band.

THE HIGH PLAINS FARM AND HOME

Phosphorous Pays In Sandy Soil

COTTON BLOOMS and a lovely girl are a welcome sight anytime but the blooms are about two weeks late this year in most fields because of the early summer rains. Susie Estes, seventeen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Estes of Bovina, tends to make worrying over an early frost remain in the background.

Fertilizer trials conducted on irrigated wheat for 1957-58-59 shows that phosphorous with nitrogen pays significant dividends in sandy soil.

Tests were conducted in the Lariat area. Fertilizer in each trial was applied in bands prior to seeding wheat. Dr. Al Pope of Southern Great Plains Research Station at Bushland conducted the trials.

In 1957 the first of four tests was run on the Walter Kaltwasser farm near Lariat. Best yield was produced with 120 pounds of nitrogen and 80 pounds phosphorous. Yield was 58.5 bushels per acre. Without fertilizer, a yield of 27.5 bushels per acre was produced. Eighty pounds of nitrogen with no phosphorous produced 41.2 bushels per acre, while 80 pounds of phosphorous produced only a 28.4 yield.

A test on the Burl Nix farm in 1958 showed 80 pounds of nitrogen and 40 of phosphorus produced the best yield. Top yield was 60.30. A higher yield, 62.52 bushels per acre, was produced with 80 pounds of both nitrogen and phosphorous but the extra 40 pounds of phosphorus wasn't compensated for in the increase.

The land produced 18.40 bushels per acre without fertilizer and 40.72 with 120 pounds of nitrogen and no phosphorous. Eighty pounds of phosphorous and no nitrogen produced 19.40 bushels per acre.

A treatment of 80 pounds each of phosphorous and nitrogen applied in a '59 test on the Kaltwasser farm produced 82.0 bushels per acre. Without fertilizer a yield of 41.6 was produced and 120 pounds of nitrogen without phosphorus produced 50.8 bushels.

A higher yield, 83.9, was produced on a plot treated with eighty pounds each of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium but the slight increase wasn't enough to justify the potash.

Fertilizers Have Carryover

Fertilizer applied in one year can result in additional profits at the end of the following year's crop. In fact, increased yields from carry-over fertilizer can often pay for the original cost of the fertilizer, said W. F. Bennett, extension soil chemist.

Two demonstrations conducted by County Agent Bill Taylor in Hockley County in 1958 demonstrated these points, stated Bennett. In both cases, the fertilizer was applied prior to planting in 1957 and yields were taken in both 1957 and 1958.

On the Wayland Fred farm near Pettit, only two out of the six treatments applied failed to return enough of an increase to pay for the fertilizer costs, said the chemist. One rate, a 70-70-0, returned a profit of $21.80 in 1958 over and above the 1957 fertilizer costs. There were no yield increases from these fertilizer applications in 1957 due to a poor season.

In the demonstration conducted on the Morgan Rust farm near Levelland, all fertilizer treatments in the demonstration gave a highly profitable increase in yield in 1957. Looking at 1958 yields, all treatments gave sufficient yield increases to more than pay for the cost of the fertilizer the chemist said.

One treatment in the demonstration, a 30-60-30, gave a profit above 1957 fertilizer costs of $29.35. Considering the increased profits for both 1957 and 1958, the 30-60-30 treatment returned $121.75 for an investment of $12.30.

BY RAYMOND EULER

"A young man or woman cannot be a Communist unless he or she is free of religious convictions." Consider this statement from Lenin if you are ever inclined to be soft in your regard for Communists or fellow-travelers.

John Agee, FB director of Lazbuddie Community, met with members of the nominating Committee, of which he was temporary chairman, Monday night. They were to make preparations for nominations of four directors whose terms expire this year, and a president. The directors, who may either be replaced or re-elected in the October Convention, are Jack Patterson, Rhea; Harry Hamilton, South of Friona area; J. T. Jones, Bovina; L. F. Bruns, Lazbuddie area. Your present president is Roy V. Miller, northwest of Friona. We are sure that if you have suggestions of names for any of these areas, the committee would like to have you tell them. Members of the committee, besides Agee, are M. T. Glasscock, I. W. Quicquel, D. H. Nelson, Frank Hinkson, Walter Schueler and Raymond Schlabs. Talk to them. Membership in Texas Farm Bureau, as of July 31, was 1,708 ahead of the same time in 1958. That is a total of over 76,000. The goal for 1959 is 80,000, and the goal is expected to be reached by the first of November. Parmer County is presently about 45 below the figure of a year ago, and that is expected to change, too. It is about 55 above the March membership figure.

Directors, at the request of some members who drive on the highway improvement areas, discussed means of getting a change in the methods of graveling these roads to cut down on the damage to automobiles, windshields, etc. We are sure a resolution will be introduced to this end at convention time.

Timely Showers Help Sorghum

Showers that fell in a general pattern over the High Plains Friday night were very helpful to farmers who have large acreages of grain sorghum in the Parmer County area.

The early summer rains of June left off suddenly three weeks ago and a mid-growing-season drought set in, meaning all the water the crop needed had to come from irrigation wells.

Farmers were wasting no time getting this water pumped, but in many cases there was just too much drying out crop-land to get to without damage to the crop. Sorghum was definitely beginning to "hurt" under the oppressive sun.

Rainfall amounts, as always, vary. However, from three-quarters of an inch up to two inches has been the range of reports, and about an inch and a quarter is the most common report.

This has not meant a shutting down of irrigation wells, but merely a chance for farmers to catch up a little in one of the most important jobs in raising a crop on the High Plains.

On the whole, the grain sorghum crop is in very good shape, and early-planted portions started heading out two or even three weeks ago. Some of these ultra-early plantings are already turning. As is the usual case, cotton was benefitting from the dry weather.

Farmers Learning Value Of Conserving Water

PUMPS MORE THAN THREE WELLS--Hardy May poses with the pump on the lake that catches "tail water" on the Elmer Euler farm southeast of Friona. Water from the lake is pumped into underground tile. It can be used to irrigate some 600 acres.

be pumped from such a lake." Dale Carmichael, whose farm is east of Friona, started pumping from a surface lake recently. The lake isn't large and neighbors estimated it would be pumped dry in one day but a pump that produces 1200 gallons per minute watered 60 acres twice and the lake still has "lots of water in it." Carmichael's pump is powered by a six cylinder Plymouth engine that runs at half throttle while producing as much or more water than a larger, more expensive engine on a well. Aluminum pipe transports water from the pump to the ditch. It costs about one dollar per foot but Carmichael's entire system cost only about $800 dollars leaving quite a margin between its cost and that of a large engine required for lifting water from a well.

The Elmer Euler farm southeast of Friona has a large scale system for catching "tail water" and pumping it back on crop land.

A lake catches water off a section of land from six wells. The six-inch pump, powered by a small engine that idles while pumping, can pump more water than three wells according to Harley May who farms on the Euler place.

"We haven't seen a ditch yet that can hold all the water it pumps," May says. "We can put water on 600 acres from the lake."

Proof that a significant amount of topsoil is carried away by "tail water" can be seen in the lake on the side where the water runs in and the lake has had to be cleaned out twice in the two years the system has been used. It will soon have to be dug out again.

Silt from the lake will be used on a nearby farm to fill in a low place that drowns out in wet years. "There is no way to distribute the topsoil back on the land it came from," Zetzsche says. "But catching it in a lake and making some use of it is better than letting it run down a ditch to gradually fill up a depression somewhere. We don't have enough topsoil here to wash it away like that."

Zetzsche urges farmers to investigate possibilities of pumping water from a lake to crops. "Usually they have no idea how much inexpensive water is available in the lakes," he says.

Farmers in Parmer County and the High Plains are becoming more conscious of water conservation as they realize that the water supply, once thought inexhaustible is not only exhaustible but is nearing the danger point rapidly.

Proof of this realization is evidenced in the increasing amount of "tail water" systems that put run off water to use instead of letting it run to a lake. Also, more and more wet-weather lakes are providing irrigation water.

U. S. Geological Survey and Board of Water Engineers have equipment for measuring rise and fall of the water table and both organizations have done considerable work to determine how long the underground water supply will last. They have found that in most cases, the water level in plains irrigation well drops about three and one-half feet per year. "If this drop continues, pumps will be sucking air instead of water in a very few years," says Robert Zetzsche, Parmer County soil conservationist.

Zetzsche says he believes that more and more farmers will adopt water conservation practices on their farms as they learn how near water shortage is for this country.

"A good cheap source of water that farmers often overlook is surface lakes that are usually full in the spring when pre-watering is being done," Zetzsche says. "Farmers do not realize how much water can

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council urges rural residents to include water safety in their family and community programs. Drownings, point out the Council, are increasing in number and only those who participate in water sports can cut the toll. Are you doing your part?

The present price outlook for hogs does not warrant the dispersal of commercial breeding herds as has been done in the past by many Texas producers when similar price situations have been faced. But, it does mean, say extension specialists at Texas A & M College, that every practice which will increase efficiency of production must be put to use.

COLOR TRENDS FOR FALL

Vivid color effects give way to subtleties this fall, according to Reba Merle Boyles, extension clothing specialist of Texas A&M College.

"Muted" is the word often used in writing and talking of colors. Quiet, gentle, grayed, subtle, rich, deep and beautiful are other adjectives used to picture colors we'll be seeing in fabrics and ready-to-wear.

Yellow and brown are doing much influencing. A goldenamber added to beige, for example, gives a warm vicuna. A faint touch of it in blue gives us the flattering Teal. In greens, it makes soft moss and lichen green, in reds it creates paprika. Muted gold, represented by Mustard Gold, camel, vicuna, and the nut tones (pecan shell, for one) are strong with yellow brown influence. Sun Gold, or sparkling gold, will be important for accents and for evening wear.

Graying makes the new colors smoky--taupe brown, heather green, mist gray. The grays are important in their own right and are seen in everything from medium or men's wear gray to oxford--and on to almost black charcoal.

Reds are influenced by yellow or blue: in the first category, we have paprika and brick; in the second, burgundy, plum, cranberry, mountain berry and candy apple. Some bright reds will be used in young clothes, bearing such vivid names as Red Hot, Scarlet and Fire Engine.

Greens are more muted than they were last year. There are new subtle versions of olive and forest green and loden; such greens are much used in the Ancient Tartans and in other plaids and prints. Deep blue greens are destined for dress wear, especially at holiday celebrations. One small note of brilliance in this category, parrot and emerald will make sharp accents in trimmings and accessories.

Blue with a green cast, as in Teal, is very much in the picture. Sapphire blues, clear, sharp electric blues and inky blues will have a favored place in junior appeal. Purplish versions are high fashion, especially for dress wear.

It's going to be a great time for black, particularly combined with the burnished browns and golds. These will be important for formal wear.

B VITAMINS NEEDED FOR NERVE STABILITY

For most of us the tempo of living is pretty fast these days and sometimes pressures bring on an "edgy" feeling.

B vitamins are important for nerve stability, reminds Frances Reasonover, extension foods and nutrition specialist of Texas A&M College. Enriched corn meal and grits are important dietary sources of these vitamins. Other whole grain and enriched products provide variety and flavor change.

The Texas Food Standard states that for a good diet each day, a person should have a serving of whole grain and other enriched cereal or bread. . . . Surveys show that many Texans do not get this needed food daily.

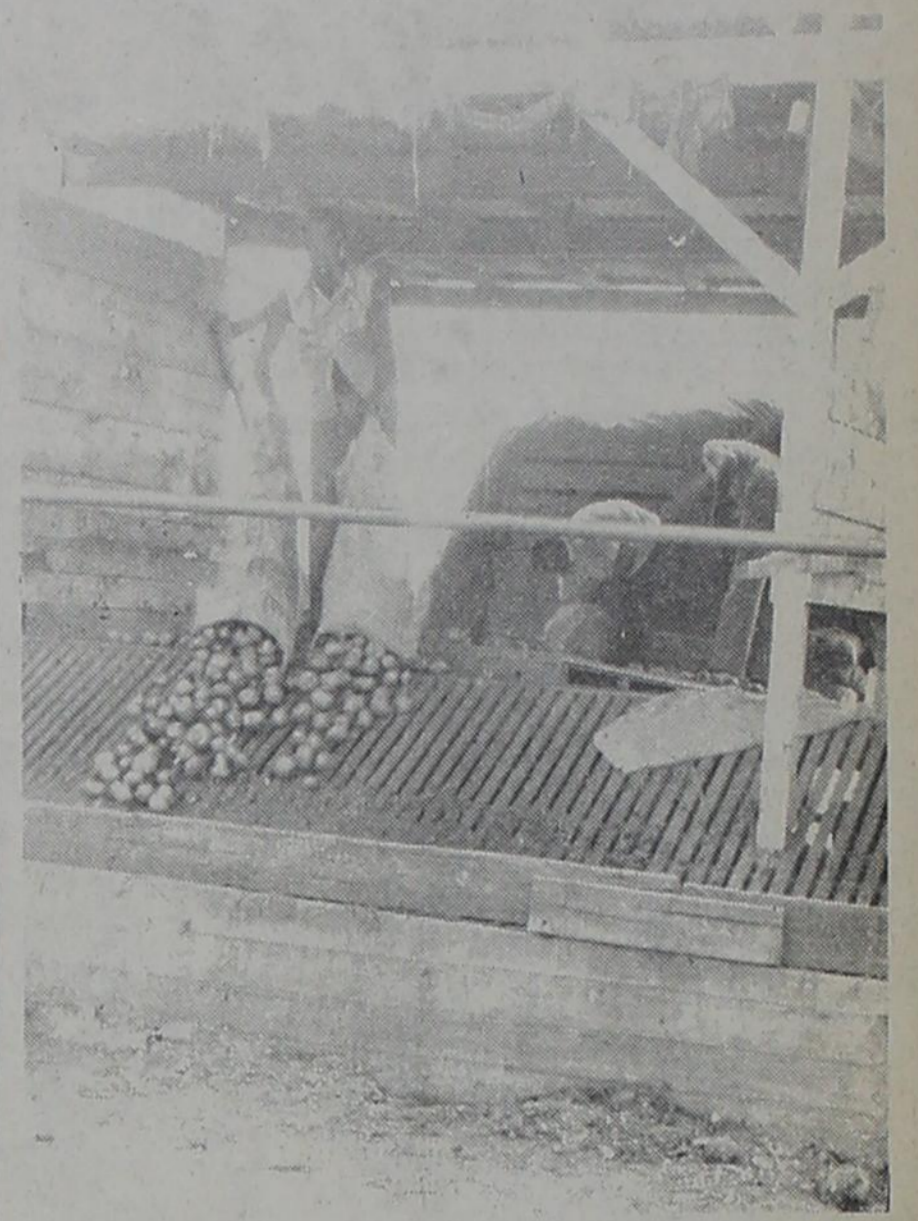

Thiamine helps prevent nervousness, depression, tendency to tire easily, poor appetite, poor digestion and slow heart beat.

Riboflavin helps to prevent red and granulated eyes, dim vision, sensitivity to light, skin disorders, sores at the corners of the mouth, the tendency to age early and improper growth in children.

Niacin helps prevent pains in the abdomen, skin sores, sleeplessness, depression, loss of appetite, nausea and vomiting and poor memory. It helps prevent pellagra.

For information on buying and using enriched corn meal and grits get a copy of "Corn meal and grits--Selection and use," from your county home demonstration agent.

dishwashing done in half the time - ELECTRICALLY!

Yes, it has been proven -- by tests at Ohio State University -- that an electric dishwasher does the job in half the time. And they didn't just do the dishes once -- but for 30 days.

That's just one reason electric dishwashing makes sense. Some others are the fact that the dishes are out of sight -- in the dishwasher -- between loads -- your hands stay lovelier -- and so do your dishes -- and the kids want to help with the dishes because the dishwasher makes it all so easy.

So, don't be a dishwasher -- buy one.

ATTENTION, HUSBANDS

Your wife can spend half the time in the kitchen and be twice as happy with you for just 1 1/2¢ a day. That's Reddy's daily wage for electric dishwashing.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUNE FLOYD

One of the newest items that will make home sewing easier we've read about recently is a washable cotton stiffener for skirt and dress belts that irons on and will not wash off. This belting comes in various widths and only needs cutting for length. We're wondering what a person is to do about buttonholes or fasteners, but since the manufacturer has probably already figured this out, perhaps there's nothing for homemakers to worry about.

Within the next three months there will be several regional fairs that we'd certainly like to see some Parmer County homemakers enter products in. The Tri-State Fair at Amarillo and the Panhandle-South Plains Fair at Lubbock are the two largest ones.

Some of the divisions in the Women's Department of the Panhandle-South Plains Fair in which Parmer County homemakers could enter are: textile; embroidery; cut work; applique; hemstitching; quilts; comforts and rugs; sewing; leatherwork; china painting; crochet, knitting and tatting; culinary; and flowers.

The culinary division has a large number of sub-divisions ranging from yeast breads to canned fruits and vegetables. There are also sub-divisions for the other divisions. Think it would probably be safe to say, "Any kind of handwork you do could be entered in the fair."

Most of us attend these two fairs and enjoy the exhibits at both of them. It surely would be good to see some Parmer County entries this time.

Since it is utterly impossible for those for whom you prepare a meal to always make it on time, it is good to know a few short cuts to keeping food hot and fresh.

When making cornbread, you can add 1 tablespoon syrup to your batter without changing the taste very much. Then if it is necessary for you to wait to serve it, it will not dry out if left in a warm oven a few minutes.

A collander over hot water keeps creamed potatoes, macaroni or other likedishes warm up to an hour without changing the taste or appearance.

The top of a double boiler can be used for keeping just about any boiled vegetable warm any length of time.

Since the advent of wrought iron lawn furniture, we have observed quite a number of wash pots, tea kettles and other old household items made of cast iron that are being used for flower pots and other decorative purposes on a lawn.

Within a few years the old-fashioned iron wash pot will be a forgotten item, yet it makes a very attractive addition to any lawn if it is hung by the handle and filled with petunias, verbenas or other small flowering plant.

If you are fortunate enough to have an old cook-book around, be sure to make use of it. Many of the practices of our great-grandmothers that didn't make sense to our grandmothers and mothers were given up. Later scientists discovered that the practice was sound.

One such practice that we happen to think of right now was that of putting grape leaves in the brine when cucumber pickles were being made. A recent release from the kitchen of one of our largest pickle making organizations contained the following:

"Old recipe books used by grandmother called for putting grape leaves in the brine when she made cucumber pickles.

This seemed troublesome to later women who gave the practice up. Now scientists with the department of agriculture have proved grandmother was right. Manufacturers, after losing as much as a million dollars some seasons on spoiled cucumbers, asked the scientists to study the problem.

They found that an enzyme in the cucumbers caused them to soften. Sent to the grape leaves by the old recipe, they found the leaves have an extract that stops the enzyme action.

Now large scale tests are underway to find methods of producing enough of the extract to use it commercially."
