Chamber Banquet Saturday Night

ATTORNEY GENERAL WILL WILSON

A-G Will Wilson Featured Speaker

Farwell plays host to a leading state political figure Saturday night. Will Wilson, the Texas attorney general, will deliver the principal address at the annual Farwell Chamber of Commerce banquet.

The state official, who rode into public office on a wave of popularity after a crime-busting career as the Dallas district attorney, will fly in by private plane Saturday a few hours before the banquet.

Farwell's school cafeteria will be the scene of the banquet, which will begin at 8 o'clock.

A delegation from the local chamber is expected to meet Wilson when he arrives. Accompanying him on the trip here is Joe Osborn of Friona, who is on Wilson's staff. It is expected that the state's chief attorney will spend the night there before flying back to Austin the next day.

A committee composed of Sam Aldridge, Hurshel Harding, and W. H. Graham has been appointed by President

Clay Henson to meet the dignitary and arrange his itinerary.

Farwell band mothers will serve the meal. President Henson will serve as toastmaster, and Wilfred Quickel, chamber secretary, will introduce out-of-town guests.

New directors who will be introduced at the banquet will be C. G. Davis, R. W. Anderson, Elmer Hargrove, Cary Joe Magness, Smokey Gast, Mem Sprowls, H. Y. Overstreet, and Lee Jones.

Wilson was first elected the Dallas DA in 1946. He was re-elected in 1948. His drive against organized crime put many racketeers in prison and won national attention. Wilson's election and administration as the Dallas DA has been called by Dallas newspapers "a major turning point in the history and development of Dallas County." Under his leadership the county rejected the "open-town" philosophy and suppressed rackets.

In 1950, Wilson was elected to the state supreme court. He was elected state AG in 1956 and was re-elected in 1958 (without an opponent).

As attorney general, Wilson put emphasis on law enforcement against gambling rackets, quack doctors, and loan sharks. For the first time in state's history, the wide-open Galveston gambling houses were suppressed.

Wilson was mentioned prominently as a candidate for the governor's race. He decided in January, however, to seek reelection as attorney general. His opponent in the race this year is Waggoner Carr of Lubbock.

Bradshaw To Open City Cafe

Buck Bradshaw, Farwell groceryman, is making plans to open a cafe business here.

City Cafe building has been leased by Bradshaw from Thad Watkins. Bradshaw says the new business will open "as soon as possible--sometime after the 15th."

Bradshaw's son, Jerry, will replace his father in the grocery business, Buck's Superette in east Farwell.

Bradshaw says steaks and other meats served in the cafe will come through the grocery meat market. "We'll specialize in fine meats," the new cafe man promises.

The cafe building, which until recently housed Floyd and Alton Milstead's cafe business, is presently being remodeled.

Name of the business will remain the same under Bradshaw's operation.

Exact opening date will be announced later.

Band To Present Halftime Show At Texico Friday

Texico School Band will present some precision marching and individual twirling Friday night at the half-time of the Texico-Floyd B team basketball game. This will be about 10 minutes to 8 p. m. (cst) says Fred Danforth, band director.

For two of the majorettes, D'Rene Danforth and Connie Tharp, it will be the last performance as a majorette in high school. The two girls have served as majorettes for a total of 12 years with one year each as drum major. They play the alto saxophone and clarinet respectively and have been faithful members in the band and chorus.

Basketball King and Queen will be crowned in coronation ceremonies presented by members of the Pep Club sometime during the evening. This is under the direction of Mrs. Joe Gill, pep club sponsor. Royalty is Connie Tharp and Wesley Engram, who were selected by members of the two basketball teams.

A Valentine theme with the traditional colors of red and white will be used in the coronation ceremony, Mrs. Gill announces. Members of the ball teams will form the heart on the gym floor and the royal couple will be crowned in the center. Cheerleaders for the A and B teams will form an arrow through the heart. Cheerleaders are Patsy Wall, D'Rene Danforth, Sharon Thompkins, Beth Peyton, Donna Osborn, Sharon Hendrix, Christy Bowers, Gayle Potts and Carol Bell.

Although it's quite a while before I will be talking about my grandchildren, you might say that aging is a process I have been rather enjoying since settling down to married life and things like that.

No one has called the grey in my hair a mark of distinction, but they have made allusions to it with the recognizable implication that it tended to increase the maturity of my appearance. I have naturally assumed that my opinions probably carry a lot more weight on account of this little personality "extra."

However, my self-assurance was jolted to the core this week when catcalls from two members of the Monday evening Lions Club assembly called attention (so that all could hear) to the reshuffling of my physique lately. If this is the price for maturity, then I want none of it.

Now, the Lions are not known for their tactful choice of words, and they have been known to stretch a point past the boundary of common sense, just for the sake of being onery. However, they have touched a sensitive spot, and I am vowing here and now to get to work letting some air out of that spare tire that has been inflating itself near my beltline.

I'm not ready to take this problem to professional help--at least I don't think I am. Frankly, my self analysis is that need is more exercise. No sense in all those complicated contortions. Exercise of the arms should do it.

My plan is to put the palms of my hands flat against the edge of the kitchen table and extend my arms until the elbows lock. This should scoot my chair far enough back from my plate so that I can get up and walk off with relatively little difficulty.

I'll keep you posted on the results of this noble experiment in self-control.

And besides all these troubles, I'm in the doghouse with Fern Hardage. In giving me copy for her ad last week she instructed me to carry a notation about the new hours of the store, which will soon be in effect.

The numbers 7 and 9 stuck in my head, so that's what I put down on the ad. It got set just exactly as I turned it in, so The Tribune has the store opening at 7 and closing at 9.

You probably can guess that the hours are just the reverse, but so the public won't get confused, Fern has already informed me that I am expected to come down and open up from 7 to 9 every morning and then drop around about 7 in the evening for a couple of hours duty in case someone should come in to make a purchase.

Local Couple Uninjured In Dusty Collision

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Magness of Farwell were home and safe late Tuesday, after having been involved in an accident Tuesday near Plainview in dust-filled conditions described as the worst on the South Plains since the mid 1930s.

According to a newspaper account from Plainview, the accident involved the Magness car and a pickup driven by Harold Rhodes of Petersburg. Clyde Magness, son of the couple, says that the vehicles side-swiped, Magness lost control of his car and went across the barrow ditch into a field.

The couple was forced to sit in the car for a short time while searchers looked for the auto. Visibility was cut to only a few feet at times.

Mike Vestal On Serious List After Accident

Mike Vestal, 7 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Vestal of Clovis, who was injured in an accident near his home in Clovis last week, is listed as serious at North West Texas Hospital in Amarillo this week.

The lad was injured when he fell into the path of a truck after trying to catch onto the back of it. He has been taken off the immediate critical list at the hospital, but is still in serious condition.

No X-rays have been made since the boy was not well enough to be moved, but X-rays will be made some time this week.

Friends may write or send cards to him in care of Mike Vestal, 5th floor, North West Texas Hospital, Amarillo.

The Magnesses were en route home from Vernon. The couple was taken to the Plainview Hospital and Clinic, and they were released after checkups. They returned home with their son Clyde that afternoon.

Several other accidents were reported in the Plainview vicinity Tuesday, with newspaper accounts reporting 60-miles an hour wind in gusts.

Steers Edge Elida

Friday night the Farwell Steers A and B teams played Elida at Elida and divided a twin bill with the New Mexico team. The A team edged by their opponents by a 53-50 margin and the B team lost by 48-33 score.

Elida led briefly in the third quarter after a 26-26 halftime score before the Steers pulled away in the latter part of the game to hold on for the victory.

Benjy Dial had 20 points for the winners and Jerry Lovelace scored 13. Leading the Tigers was Roland Barnard with 14 and Sam Howell with 10.

After one quarter the Steers led 20-18, and at the end of three periods held a slight 38-36 lead.

In the B team game Elida led all the way as the Tiger B squad led by Jim Morris with 17 points sailed by Farwell 48-33. Bill Owen had 14 for Farwell.

A STEEL FRAME is all that has been erected on the new Austin 12-lane bowling alley in East Farwell, but workmen are hard at work on the building each day that weather permits, and hope to have the building completed in the near future.

Steers Beat Springlake, Enter District Tournament Tuesday

Farwell's boys and girls basketball teams won a twin bill Tuesday night from Springlake in their next-to-the-last home game of the season.

Three Building Permits Issued

Three building permits were issued during January, according to Dorothy Eason, city secretary. The permits were for construction of a garage, a business building and a house.

L. H. Means received permission to construct a garage at his home on Seventh Street, and Billy J. Whitecotton plans to build a frame house of asbestos siding on Fifth Street. J. C. Robertson Jr. made plans for his steel building to house a business on Ninth Street.

In the girls game, Farwell led all the way in the low-scoring bout, having a 10-2 lead at the end of the first quarter, and a 12-7 lead at the half. Final score of the game was 19-18 with June Ritchie leading the Farwell scoring with 9 points.

In the boys game, the Steers took an early lead and widened the margin throughout the game, although all players saw action. The score stood at 17-4 at the end of one quarter and the Steers kept the lead throughout the game. Jerry Lovelace with 14 points and Tommy Williams with 13 led Farwell scoring.

One new member was added to the team this week, as Floyd Tranthan, sophomore, became eligible to play. He formerly played ball in Waco as an eighth grader.

The Steers now hold the second slot in the district with Sudan in first place. Tuesday night Sudan was defeated by Anton, who will be Farwell's opponent in Friday night's games.

Several senior players will play their last basketball game before a home crowd Friday. They are June Ritchie, Carol Hukill, Judy Herrington, Mickey Rundell and Larry McDorman.

In the Steer's last meeting with Anton, the boys won by a one-point margin and the girls won 39-28.

Tuesday, the Steers enter the district tournament at Sudan. Pairing for the tourney have not been completed since round-robin play is not over. If any team other than Sudan wins the tourney, a playoff will be held.

Friday Fire Damage Slight

Damage was slight in a fire at Three-D Drive-In Friday, says Cecil Dykes, owner, who estimates that damage amounted at about $30. Grease in a deep fryer caught fire, and damage was centered around the grill area in the business. Someone grabbed a fire extinguisher and the blaze was under control in a short time.

Dykes this week expressed appreciation to the fire department for its prompt arrival. It could have been more serious, he says, and the fire department would have been on hand to take care of the situation.

He also thanked anyone else who helped to avoid a serious fire.

Wolverines Lose To Bovina, Win From Tatum, B Team Wins Two

Texico's Wolverines divided their weekend basketball bouts by dropping a close 50-46 game to Bovina Friday night at Bovina and then winning from Tatum 54-49 Saturday night at Texico. The unbeaten Wolverine B team took wins No. 14 and 15 by beating Bovina 52 - 37 Friday and taking a 56-44 win over Tatum Saturday.

In Friday night's games the Wolverines took an early 18-13 lead at the end of one quarter, but fell behind 29-33 at halftime. In the third quarter the Wolverines rallied and were behind only 36-34 after that period.

With 20 seconds remaining in the ballgame the score stood 46-46, but Jon Lin Riddle and Don Caldwell teamed up to lift the Bovina team to their win. Riddle hit a field goal and Caldwell two free throws to snap the tie and lead the Ponies to victory.

Scoring honors went to Riddle with 20 points, while Caldwell had 19. Roger Ezell, 6-4 Mustang player, helped the Ponies dominate the backboards.

Charles Stockton led the Wolverines with 17 points, but got little help. Don Johnson had 8, and flu-weakened Wesley Engram had 7.

In the B team game the "little Wolverines" raced to win No. 14, with Charlie Morris and James Halsell leading the scoring with 15 and 16 points respectively. Scoring honors for the game went to Turner of Bovina who had 18.

Saturday night the Wolverines led all the way in downing Tatum 54-49. Charles Stockton with 20 points and Dwight Turner with 14 paced the winners, while Ray Hilburn led the losers and took game scoring honors with 22.

In the B team game Charlie Morris with 15 points and James Halsell with 13 paced the Texico team to a 56-44 win over the Tatum B squad.

The Wolverines will meet Floyd at Texico Friday night and will go to Elida Saturday.

COUNTY TAX OFFICE TO BE CLOSED

Lee Thompson, Parmer County Tax Assessor Collector, announces that his office in the courthouse will be closed all day Friday and Saturday so that plumbing repairs can be made in the floor of the office.

THE WIND REALLY BLEW--as evidenced by this picture taken at Kemp Lumber Wednesday. A 14-foot wall section on the east end of the large building was twisted away from the main structure Tuesday morning about 11. At noon, while personnel were out to lunch, the huge sliding door on the east end of the building blew down. Mrs. Joe Crume says, "It was the way the wind hit; it just twisted the wall away."

MR. AND MRS. J. DON POOL

Miss Wright Becomes Bride of Don Pool

In a lovely formal wedding on January 28, in the First Baptist Church in Clovis, Miss Vivian Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Wright of Clovis, became the bride of J. Don Pool, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lenton Pool of Farwell.

Multitudes of seven-branched candelabras centered with a tree candelabra holding white tapers stood against a background of woodwardia fern trees and emerald palms to form a setting before which Rev. Walter A. Michell performed the double-ring vows.

Placed on either side of the white wrought iron prie dieu were large baskets of white gladioli and white chrysanthemums. Rising above each bouquet were seven branched candelabra. The bridal aisle was set with a white cloth and pairs of isle candelabra caught with clusters of greenery and white satin bows.

Mrs. E. J. Rickert, organist, accompanied Odis Echols Sr., as he sang "The Lord's Prayer," while the couple knelt on the prie dieu. Andy Cottle sang "Wedding Prayer," and "Walk Hand In Hand."

Soft candlelight filled the sanctuary after the candles had been lit by Kenny Wright, brother of the bride, and Lynn Leslie.

Preceding the bride altarward were her sister, Miss Charlotte Wright, maid of honor; Mrs. Betty Hughes of Melrose, bridesmatron; and Miss Betty Lou Halderman of Encino, bridesmaid.

Their identical dresses of electric blue embossed taffeta were styled with square necklines, puffed bell sleeves, fitted bodices and bouffant skirts. Completing their attire were white brocade shoes and flat bowed headpieces. The honor attendant carried a faille muff with an arrangement of white carnations and cascading blue faille leaves. The other two attendants carried white faille muffs with similarly styled flowers.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a formal bridal gown of chantilly lace over tulle and satin taffeta. A tulle yolk and lace collar embroidered in seed pearls and iridescent sequins enhanced the bodice, which featured a pearl and sequined banding and a back closing of numerous satin covered buttons. Long sleeves terminated in petal points over the hands. The bouffant skirt, which swept into a chapel train, was fashioned with multi-tiered bands of gathered chantilly lace and was worn over wide hoops.

The beautifully detailed dress was the traditional something new for the bride who wore a gold bracelet belonging to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. R. W. Magarrell of Porterville, Calif., as both old and borrowed. Other sentimental tokens were a blue satin garter and a coin in her shoe.

The bride, whose fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of seed pearls carried a Bible covered in chantilly lace and arranged with a pair of white orchids and cascades of stephanotis.

Attending Pool were his three brothers, Jerry Pool of Albuquerque was best man, and Rex Pool, Borger; and Sam Pool, Lubbock; were groomsmen. Jerry Owens of Farwell, Jerry Goldson of Hobbs, and Ben White and Sonny Need of Portales acted as Ushers.

Mrs. Wright attended her daughter's wedding in a beige and gold shirtwaist dress with gold accessories. Mrs. Pool's ensemble was a two piece green wool dress worn with black shoes and bag and winter white hat and gloves. Both women complemented their ensembles with corsages of pink sweetheart roses.

Wedding guests were invited to the home of the bride's parents for a reception where Miss Sheri Lynn Mae played several selections on the piano.

After the couple had cut the first piece of wedding cake, it was served by the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Johnnie Wright, Mrs. Odis Echols Sr., and Mrs. Dee Owens, presided at the coffee service and punch bowl. Mrs. John Leslie and Mrs. C. N. Barnes were floating hostesses.

Satin wedding bells appliqued on the white satin and tulle cloth covered the reception table. On either side of the three-tiered wedding cake centerpiece were sterling silver epergnettes holding white twist candles and an arrangement of white snapdragons and miniature white roses.

Fan arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums added to the decor of the living room. A tall white frosted "memory candle" was arranged with fern and white candy-tuft on the table where Mrs. Bob Jameson registered the guests.

Mrs. Pool chose a blue and brown tweed suit for her going-away ensemble, and complemented it with alligator shoes and bag and winter white hat and gloves. She wore an orchid corsage from her wedding bouquet.

Following a wedding trip to Albuquerque the couple is now residing at University Apartment 97 in Portales.

The bride is a 1959 graduate of Clovis High School and a former employee of KCLV. She is a freshman at Eastern New Mexico University. Her husband, a 1955 graduate of Farwell High School and student at West Texas State College in Canyon for one year, is a senior mathematics and physics major at ENMU.

Street Repair Main Topic At Farwell City Meeting

Main item on the agenda Friday afternoon when the Farwell city commission met was the repair of Farwell' streets. The streets which have received immeasurable damage this winter by constant freezing and thawing and heavy traffic have become full of holes and cracks. Dale Berggren, city employee, was out early in the week sweeping and cleaning gutters so the extent of the repairs necessary could be estimated.

All members of the city council, Clarence Christian, Bill Dollar and the mayor, Sam Aldridge, were present for the meeting. Also present were Dorothy Eason, city secretary, Otis Huggins, Vic Venable and Dale Berggren.

All bills for the month of January were approved and checks were made out.

Milton Davidson Speaks To Texico Business Club

Speaking to members of the Texico Business Education Club Monday at their regular monthly meeting was Milton Davidson, manager of the New Mexico State Employment Service, Clovis. Mary McDaniel, club president, introduced the speaker.

Davidson listed qualifications the employer requires in his office help. He explained that the employer is looking for someone who can help him in his particular business and he wants someone who can do the best job for the position. He mentioned that the employer wants his employee to like working for him but he expects his help to produce efficient work for him.

In giving advice to the potential applicant the speaker stressed to the members to "sell yourselves." By this he said to list your assets, but not oversell... and then not be able to live up to the requirements.

"Try to make your application sometime when the employer is not busy," Davidson advised and added, "First appearances are lasting appearances," as he described how to dress when applying for a position. Most of these details were particularly for the girls.

Honor List Released At Texico

Water Table Declines 4.69 Feet in 1959

By W. H. Graham Jr.

Measurements completed last week by the U. S. Geological Survey indicate that Parmer County's water table--like that of all of the irrigated Plains--is declining with continued pumping. The drop in the 1959 pumping season averages 4.69 feet.

A drop was anticipated, inasmuch as it has been conclusively established that for all practical purposes irrigation farmers are pumping water from storage in the saturated sands beneath their farms, and although the water resources of this area are enormous, they are not inexhaustible.

However, the size of the drop is looked upon with some surprise. That much of a decline wasn't anticipated. In the Parmer County area, use of their irrigation well to supplement natural moisture was thought to have been less in 1959 than in previous years since development of widespread irrigation. However, such may not have been the case.

If meters were installed on all Parmer County wells and records were kept, the truth would be known, but since that isn't the case, the only thing left to do is speculate. Here's the way the authorities figure the decline of 4.69 feet may be explained:

1. There are more irrigation wells than ever before. More water is pumped on land that is under irrigation because distribution pattern is more uniform.
2. There is more land under irrigation than ever before.
3. Probably the most important reason for continued heavy use in 1959; The moisture of last year did not occur before nearly all of the pre-watering had been done. The pre-planting irrigation is the biggest water user of all.

In general, both cotton and grain sorghum were saved from one irrigation in the 1959 growing season by the rainfall. Also, late-in-the-year irrigation of the 1960 wheat crop was avoided, or the most of it, anyway, with the snow and rain that has been a frequent guest in recent months.

PAUL RETTMAN of the U. S. Geological Survey takes a measurement to the water table of a Parmer County irrigation well. He runs in enough steel tape down the side of the casing to reach to the level of the water. The way he determines the level is to subtract the amount of tape found to be wet when the tape is reeled back up, from the amount of tape that was rolled down into the well.

It is interesting to note the average depth-to-water measurements since extensive records have been kept. Using 46 observation wells, the average depth to the table in 1956 was 181.30 feet. The next year it dropped to 185.04 feet, or a decline of 3.74 feet.

In 1958, the water was 188.33 feet below the surface, which was 3.29 feet lower than in 1957, and in 1959 the measurement was 190.22 feet, or a decline of only 1.89 feet from the previous year. Frankly, authorities are at a loss to explain why the decline was less than two feet during the 1958 pumping season. Irrigation well use in Parmer County was considered about the same as in the other years measurements were taken.

The present average depth to water in those 46 observation wells is 194.91 feet. The average yearly decline since record keeping has been 3.40 feet, or a total of 13.61 feet in four years.

Paul Rettman of the USGS office in Plainview made the measurements again this January. He comments that this is the best year he has ever seen for getting accurate statistics. One of the problems in measuring water levels is finding a time when irrigation wells are not in general use. In Parmer County that's sometimes hard to do, but this year Rettman lucked out. "Not a one of the wells I checked was pumping," he said. Usually, he is forced to omit measurements in from three to six wells because of irrigation schedules.

Measurements taken shortly after a well has been shut off are seldom indicative of the normal water table. The reason is that the pump pulls down a cone of depression around the bottom of the well, where water percolates through the sand. Until this cone levels out (and it usually takes several days for full recovery), an accurate measurement cannot be made.

Long-time readers of Farm and Home who may have clipped stories from previous yearly reports on well measurements may note some discrepancies in the figures given in this article. The reason is that the statistics have been revised for accuracy. Formerly, articles have been based on printed reports published by the State Board of Water Engineers. Usually, a few wells are omitted. The figures used this week are more comprehensive.

Farm and Home will soon publish a map of observation well locations in Parmer County, and the complete water table readings that have been compiled during the last five years. This will be some of the most significant information ever assembled on the Parmer County farm economy.

Vegetable Prospects Poor

With potato planting time here, High Plains farmers are wondering what is in store for them during the coming year. Prospects are slim, but many unforeseen events can change the market overnight.

The potato raising areas of California and Arizona, after a successful year, will be increasing acreage of the crop. Shipping will reach its peak in those places before it begins in the Parmer County area.

If the shipping from those markets overlaps very much into the shipping season here, it could hurt the home market. This is the opinion of two Parmer County potato producers, Kenneth Neill of Friona Shippers and Growers and Buck Gregory of Lariat.

Neill says there is not much interest in potato planting because of bad weather.

"A lot of farmers have seed ordered, but they don't know whether they are going to get it planted.

"We really don't know what the potato acreage will be. I suppose we will have a 10 per cent cut in acreage from last year."

Neill says he does not expect a big change in the market from last year. He says most farmers are discouraged about the outlook.

"From all the reports we get, we should be in a good position, but too many things are involved because you can't ever know what other areas have.

"There are more hazards in growing." He says losses from hail and other weather increase the potato farmer's risk.

"All have grown potatoes before at least one year," Neill says of the 12 spud growers in the Friona area.

"From $2.00 to $2.25 a hundred is the average for potato crops over the years. A farmer should figure his crop on the average. About 100 to 150 sacks to the acre is the average yield."

The association manager says last year the market and yield were a good deal below average on everything but cabbage.

"It is seldom that we have an average, but prices are usually at extremes." Neill compares the weather extremes of the High Plains with potato prices.

"If you can get the average, you can stay in the business. We are not starting out under good conditions.

"It has been four years since we have had a decent deal on potatoes and two years for carrots.

"You can't gamble too much on vegetables because the law of averages does not apply to vegetables."

Area farmers will be raising carrots, cabbage and onions, Neill says.

"I imagine there will be about 300 acres of carrots, probably 75 acres of cabbage and probably 75 acres of onions.

"The biggest thing in this country is the sugar beet deal." Neill is optimistic about the possibility of a beet processing in this area in the near future.

Although only four farmers in the county are raising sugar beets, Neill thinks increased acreage this year will bring the industry here.

"It will promote cattle feeding like nothing else has ever done." Neill says feeding the pulp left from processing will replace ensilage, if there were a beet factory here.

LABORERS SORT AND sack potatoes in a shed on the Buck Gregory farm two miles south of Lariat. The spuds will be used for planting after further processing in the Gregory potato shed in Lariat. The area farmer plans to raise about 200 acres of summer potatoes.

"It looks to me like the greatest thing that could happen to this country. I predict that if they get one factory, in five years there will be another one." He says increased stock feeding would also help the price of milo.

"It's a little too early to tell," says Buck Gregory of Lariat about the summer potato prospects, but he does not think the outlook is very good.

"I imagine we will have 200 acres of potatoes this summer."

Gregory says he has done no planting, but some tilling. He says he just can't tell about the market yet.

"Price will probably be lower if California and Arizona do well.

"I am planting my own seed." The three varieties Gregory raises on his farm two miles south of Lariat are Red Pontiac, Red LaSoda and Early Gem, a white potato. He has a shed in Lariat that he uses in processing potatoes for shipping or planting.

"As far as I was concerned, it was a poor year," Gregory says of 1959.

"Hail did some damage, but price was pretty poor." He is planting about the same number of acres that he did last year. He mentioned that many other areas are raising about the same number of acres, although acreage is increased in California and Arizona.

"Our seed looks good that we carried over from the fall crop. The potatoes keep good," Gregory stored potatoes for seed during the winter.

BUCK GREGORY LEANS on a loader used in digging potatoes. He carries on one of the largest potato operations in the southern part of Parmer County, two miles south of Lariat. Gregory plans to begin planting the summer crop as soon as he finishes processing the potatoes used in planting and the weather improves.

Feeding Operation Largest In Area

Frank Hinkson, whose farm is near Lazbuddie, operates what is probably the largest and most unusual private cattle feeding setup in this area.

Hinkson has just recently completed construction on feed lots capable of handling 100 head of cattle on full feed. He also runs cattle on wheat and permanent bermuda grass pasture.

The High Plains farmer says he runs the feed lots in conjunction with a ranch his brother operates in Arizona. Cattle are shipped from the ranch, where a mother herd system is in operation, to the lots where they are fattened for market.

"We don't run a year-round feed lot," Hinkson and his brother are partners in both the ranch and feed lot setup.

"Sometimes it is more profitable to sell stocker cattle off the ranch than to fatten them up.

"I think I have a pretty efficient setup here," Hinkson and one other man do most of the work. He uses such special equipment as ensilamixer truck feeder, and tractors with various attachments.

Hinkson feeds ensilage for roughage and ground maize and cottonseed meal.

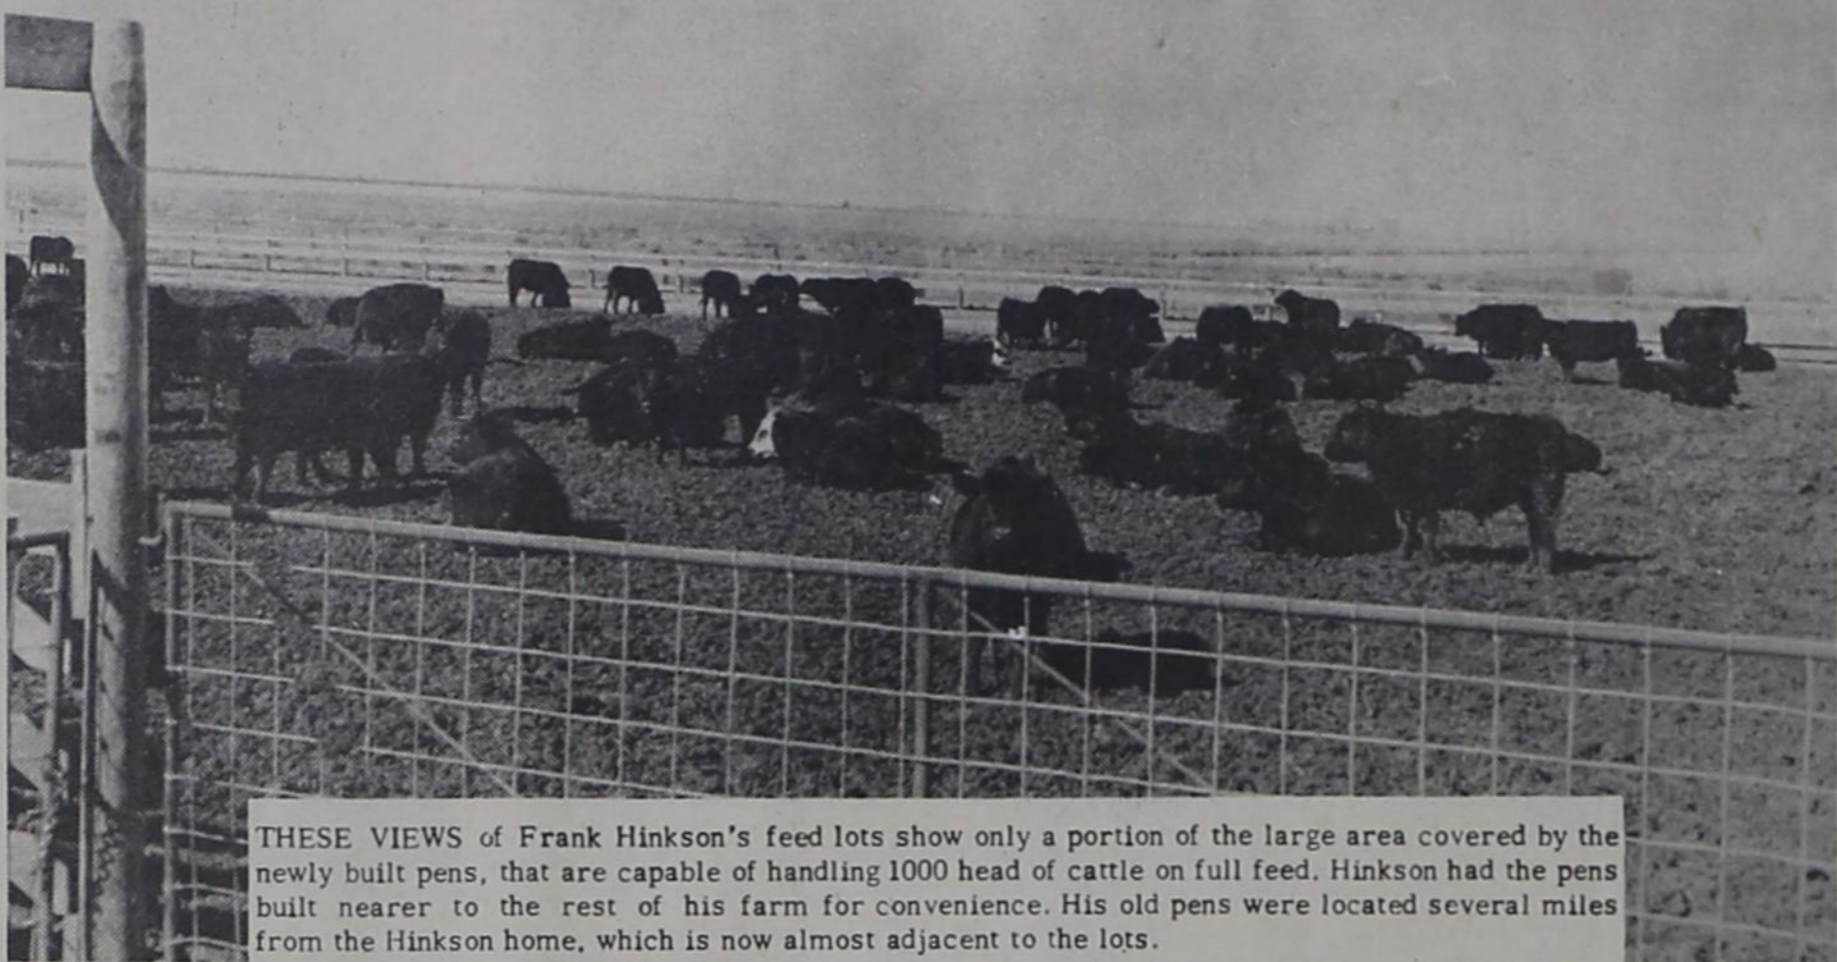

"I have my silos dug in the side of a hill so they will drain out." The huge silos on the Hinkson farm are probably the most unusual in this area.

"I am going to try to get all sloping land in bermuda grass. It's the best thing I have found to keep land from washing."

In addition to his feeding operations, Hinkson raises maize and wheat.

FRANK HINKSON, on horseback after working some cattle in his feed lots on his farm near Lazbuddie, has what is probably the largest and most unusual individual feed lot setup in this area. The new pens, just recently completed, are capable of handling 1000 head of cattle on full feed. Hinkson runs the feeding setup in conjunction with a ranch his brother operates in Arizona.

THESE VIEWS of Frank Hinkson's feed lots show only a portion of the large area covered by the newly built pens, that are capable of handling 1000 head of cattle on full feed. Hinkson had the pens built nearer to the rest of his farm for convenience. His old pens were located several miles from the Hinkson home, which is now almost adjacent to the lots.

Record Workshop Monday

The first meeting of farm and home record workshops for couples will be Monday, Feb. 15, at the courthouse, starting at 2 p. m. This is the first in a series of meetings to help farm families with record keeping.

"You are to bring your January bank statement and receipts," says County Agent Joe Jones. "This meeting will be devoted to record keeping systems and to helping each family set up the method most suited to their needs."

"Record books will be available or you can bring the one you have been using."

Feed Lots Growing

The day may not be far off when nearly all of the heavy beef eaten in Texas will have been fattened, finished and processed in Texas--which is a complete reversal of a condition that has prevailed generally in the past.

Until recent years practically all of the heavy beef consumed in Texas, the nation's No. 1 cattle producing state, has come from feed lots in the Mid-Western corn belt. Texas cattle were sold as feeders to be shipped to the corn belt for fattening and processing, then shipped back at fancy prices in the form of U. S. good,

U. S. choice and U. S. prime beef.

But the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research now reports a tremendous growth in Texas feeding operations during the past four years. On Jan. 1, 1955, there were only 61 listed commercial operations in Texas with a feeding capacity of 1,000 head or more each, carrying an aggregate capacity of 160,000 head. On Jan. 1, 1959, there were 94 such feed lots on record, with an aggregate capacity of 240,000 head, developing an increase of 50 per cent in capacity in the four years.

This growth is still going on. An example is the Luck T. Cattle Co. which operates just west of San Antonio on the Edwards Plateau, now expanding its capacity from around 8,000 head to 13,000 head, including a completely automatic feed mill capable of turning out from 250 to 300 tons of feed a day.

Another is provided by Lewter, Inc. of Lubbock, which has expanded its feed lots to take care of 25,000 cattle at a time, along with a million-dollar beef slaughtering and processing plant. Construction is scheduled in 1960 in Houston of a $2 million livestock feeding plant to supply the new Armour and Co. beef processing plant there with from 400 to 1,000 cattle weekly.

In addition to the larger feeding operations, there are now hundreds of smaller pens which handle between 100 to 999 head each, and many more such feed lots with capacities of less than 100 each.

This means, the Bureau of Business Research finds, that increased interest in feeding among farmers and ranchers plus the rapidly growing investment in feed lot facilities is evidence that Texas is becoming a major cattle feeding state.

Choosing Spring Accessories

Have you ever brought home a bargain hat or bag--or shoes of a delightfully "different" color only to find that they didn't go with a thing you had? In that case, they may have been expensive accessories after all.

To get the most for your money, plan carefully before you buy--remembering the color and design of your basic dresses or suits. Accessories should accent or complement a costume, according to extension clothing specialists of Texas A&M. They can add spice to simple solid color dress or suit, or supply the unifying note with a striking print dress or plaid suit.

Avoid using too many different colors in one costume. The eye jumps from one spot to another, and you lost the effect of unity. A general rule for the use of contrasting color, texture or pattern in accessories is never to repeat more than three times--generally two is smarter; for example, shoes, bags and gloves, or shoes, bag and hat, or bag and hat.

Intensity of the color is important. Don't overdo it. The more brilliant or intense the color, the smaller the area it should cover. Unusual colors draw the eye just because they are complex in makeup. Use them with care.

Basic colors in accessories, namely black, brown or navy, are always in good taste and easy to use.

Color in shoes is a fashion to be used with caution. It calls attention to the feet and ankles. Be certain yours can stand the spotlight.

A final suggestion: Look smart but not extreme. Don't overdress. The best dressed women are often the most simply dressed.

Accessories Around The Clock, a bulletin written by extension clothing specialists, gives lots of ideas and suggestions.

You can get a copy from my office. I am planning to give this demonstration, "Accessories Around The Clock," to the Home Demonstration Clubs this month. . . .

SET OR MOVE SHRUBS NOW This is a good time to organize shrubs into screen or foundation plantings around the home, according to Miss Sadie

Hatfield, extension homestead improvement specialist of Texas A&M. Any shrubs that dot the lawn and complicate mowing may be reset at this time.

Consider potential size of the tree or shrub, when choosing a location for setting or resetting. Large growing plants are not suited for planting around the walls or foundation of the average home. They do make excellent screen plantings to give privacy to the work or recreation area of the landscape. Some large plants that require little water are the althea, ligustrums, Arizona cypress, cherry laurel, crape myrtle, evergreen sumac and others. Nearly all of the hollies should be used in screen planting rather than placed around the house.

Shrubs for foundation plantings should be in proportion to the size of the house. For the low, ranch type house, which is popular now, true shrubs, that is, shrubs that will not grow over 8 to 10 feet, are best suited. There are many true shrubs that are drought, and pest resistant. Among these are rosemary, lavender, the dwarf junipers, spirea, dwarf pyracantha, nandina, abelia, native agarita and others.

Proper location of shrubs will save work in pruning and care, and add to the attractiveness and comfort of home grounds. . . .

HOME ECONOMIC BRIEFS. . .

MILK IS ALWAYS A GOOD BUY--Are you serving your family enough milk? A pint a day for most adults, a quart a day for children is what the nutrition experts say we should have. If you're using less than that, you may be shortchanging yourself and your family in health. And there is no food that can be used more times a day in more different ways than milk. . . .

WHOLE MEAL SANDWICHES ARE QUICKIES FOR LUNCH--Cheese is a sandwich favorite that combines with so many foods for interesting combinations. Try this triple decker open-face. Toast one side of bread. Spread untoasted side with butter. Add a spoonful of baked beans, cover with a slice of Cheddar cheese and top with Bermuda or sweet onion sliced

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUNE FLOYD

Most homemakers in the area are constantly on the look-out for recipes that are simple and quick. One such recipe that we can personally recommend was handed to us early this week by Mrs. Bill Schwab. It is for Mocha Topped Chocolate Cake

- 2 cups sugar
  - 1/2 cup shortening
  - 2 eggs
  - 1/2 cup buttermilk
  - 3 tablespoons cocoa
  - 2 cups flour
  - 1/2 teaspoon soda
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
  - 1 teaspoon vanilla
  - 1 cup hot coffee
- Cream sugar and shortening thoroughly. Add other ingredients and mix well. Bake in a long loaf pan 30 to 35 minutes at 350 degrees.
- For topping mix 1 cup brown sugar, 8 tablespoons canned thin. Place the sandwich under the broiler until the cheese melts. . . .

START THESE BUSY DAYS WITH A GOOD BREAKFAST--You'll feel better, and work better. . . . A good basic breakfast pattern goes something like this: Fruit, cereal, eggs, toast and beverage. Breakfast should supply one-fourth to one-third of the amount of food needed for a day. . . . Studies show that if breakfast is neglected, the nutrients are not supplied in the other meals of the day. . . .

PLANNING MEALS A WEEK IN ADVANCE HELPS--in buying, using leftovers, and in adding variety to meals, according to extension foods and nutrition specialists. Balance each day's meal by including foods from each division of the Texas Food Standard. Get a copy from your local home demonstration agent or write the Agricultural Information Office.

milk, 6 tablespoons melted butter together and add 1/2 cup chopped nuts. Spread on baked cake. Put in broiler a few minutes. Watch closely. . . .

Next time the small fry in your home have an urge to do some finger painting, try the following recipe:

- Finger Paint
  - 1 1/2 pounds laundry starch
  - 1 1/2 cups soap flakes
  - 1 quart boiling water
  - Food coloring
- Mix starch and soap flakes well. Add boiling water and desired coloring. With this recipe you don't need to fret about the spills on tables or clothing as they will wash out easily. . . .

Several times in recent years suggestions for more harmony in the home have been made. In one of the newer publications the following was printed under the heading, "Ten Commandments For Husbands."

1. Work out your budget with your wife, of course. But include for her a fair portion which she does not have to account.
2. Do not throw overcoat, hat, etc., down when you come home, hang them up properly. Help your hard working wife keep the place tidy and set a good example for the children.
3. Keep as well groomed for home as for office. Your family will appreciate it.
4. Do not talk constantly about your attractive secretary; or praise your neighbor's wife too much.
5. Back your wife on all problems of discipline. A united front is better for the children.
6. Cut your mother's apron strings when you marry, if you haven't already done so.
7. Do not constantly quote Bill's or Joe's, Amy's or Maud's ideas of how to manage a home.
8. Do not criticize your wife before the children or guests.
9. Tell your wife that you love her. Of course, she knows it, but she likes to hear you say it.

10. The "head of the house," sure, but you do not have to be domineering or pig headed about it. . . .

Those of you who like crisp crunchy cookies will want to try this recipe:

- Ranger Cookies
  - 1 cup shortening
  - 2 eggs
  - 1 teaspoon vanilla
  - 2 cups quick oats
  - 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
  - 1 cup white sugar
  - 1 cup brown sugar
  - 1 cup Rice Krispies
  - 2 cups flour
  - 1 teaspoon soda
  - 1 cup nuts
- Stir dry ingredients together. Mix the shortening and sugar well then add beaten eggs and blend thoroughly. Then add dry ingredients and vanilla. Stir in oats, Rice Krispies and nuts. Drop and flatten. Bake in hot oven.

Mrs. Gene Hardage of the Town and Country Club of Farwell submitted the following recipe.

- SKILLET SUPPER
  - 1 pound hamburger
  - 1 1/2 cups chopped onions
  - 1 1/2 cups chopped celery (optional)
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - pepper
  - 1 small can pork and beans
  - 1 10 1/2 or 11 oz. can condensed tomato soup or 1/4 cup catsup
  - 1 1/2 cup barbecue sauce
- Brown meat in small amount of fat. Add onions and celery. Cook until tender. Add other ingredients. Cover and simmer for 30 minutes. Serves 6 to 8.

BRUCE BILLINGSLEY examines one of the 189 trees he and his father, Leon, are planning to use in a windbreak on the west side of their farmhouse, one mile west of Oklahoma Lane. Bruce is working with the trees as a part of his farm beautification 4-H Club project. The Billingsleys ordered the plants from the Texas Forest Service.

AFTER A FEW years growth, the trees in this three row windbreak are reaching a size large enough that they can begin to serve the purpose for which they were planted. The cedar trees shown are on the Donald Watkins farm one mile west of Oklahoma Lane. This type of farm improvement and beautification seems to indicate a trend among High Plains farmers.

Billingsley Plans Farm Beautifying

Like many other Farmer County area farmers, Leon Billingsley of Oklahoma Lane is beginning work this year to improve and beautify his farm. He is one of the fifteen farmers in this area who has ordered trees from the Texas Forest Service this year. Billingsley and his son, Bruce, plan to set the trees out to form a windbreak on the west side of their farmhouse and barns. Out of 200 trees they ordered, 189 are still living. They are keeping the small trees in buckets, buried beside their house until more favorable planting time next May. The Oklahoma Lane farmer says the plants are easier to water and that late planting will give them a chance to grow some and avoid the wind and sand of the earlier spring months. For the time being, Bruce and his father plan to plant only a straight windbreak on the west side of their house, but may later plant one on the north side. Bruce is helping Billingsley because he has chosen farmstead beautification as his 4-H Club project this year. He cares for the small trees and will help set them out in the summer. "I think it is a nice one, and it requires less work than other projects," Bruce says. The Billingsley Farm is one mile west of Oklahoma Lane. The Billingsleys obtained their 100 ponderosa pine and 100 red cedar trees by sending in a Windbreak Planting Stock Application to the Texas Forest Service at College Station, Texas. The applications are available to all farmers or persons planning to use the trees on public property, at the county agent's office.

Joe Jones, Farmer County agricultural agent, says the trees may be ordered for any farm, church, school, but not for city residences. "The trees are mainly for farmstead windbreak purposes, but it does amount to a landscaping project." The program was started in 1951. Trees cost $1.50 per hundred, prepaid, and no order for less than a total of 100 trees of one species will be accepted. "I would say orders run from 1000 a year in the county to as high as 10,000," Jones says. The county agent suggests that farmers ordering the plants, plan a windbreak around their farms to protect their houses from wind and sand and provide a place for children to play. Also, adult recreational facilities such as a patio or barbecue pit would be possible.

"They should have the windbreak back from the house to protect not only the house. Leave an area inside the windbreak to be used by the family. "Some farmers park machinery, trucks and trailers inside and have barns inside their windbreak, and then screens are sometimes used to hide the view of the barns and trailers." Jones explains that screens are merely short, single rows of trees to obscure something from view, while windbreaks are usually planted two or three rows and sometimes surrounded the farmhouse.

Jones says tree applications may be picked up at his office on the second floor of the courthouse in Farwell.

MY GET UP AND GO HAS GOT UP AND WENT

How do I know
My youth is all spent?
Well, my get up and go
Has got up and went.
But in spite of it all,
I am able to grin
When I think of where
My get-up has been.
Old age is golden,
So I've heard it said,
But sometimes I wonder
As I get into bed.
With by ears in a drawer,
My teeth in a cup,
My eyes on the table
Until I wake up.
Ere sleep dims my eyes,
I say to myself,
Is there anything else
I should have laid on the shelf?
I am happy to say
As I close my door,
That my friends are the same,
Only perhaps more.
When I was young
My slippers were red,
I could kick up my heels
Right over my head.
When I grew older
My slippers were blue,
But still I could dance
The whole night through.
Now that I am old
My slippers are black,
I walk to the store
And puff my way back.
The reason I know
My youth is all spent,
My get-up and go
Has got up and went.
But I really don't mind
When I think with a grin,
Of all the grand places
My get-up has been.
Since I've retired
From life's competition
I busy myself
With complete repetition.
I get up each morning
And dust off my wits,
Pick up the paper
And read the obits.
If my name is missing
I know I'm not dead,
So I get a good breakfast
And go back to bed.

THE PARMER FARMER

By W. H. Graham Jr.

About a month ago we published an article in Farm and Home showing how the gross farming income of the Parmer County area is continuing to rise, and, in spite of the fact that (if dealing in percentages of gross) profit margins for farmers have become very thin, the local economy continues to expand.

There is no better way to illustrate just how this seemingly contradictory action takes place than at just this moment. Let's review the facts. The area has received an extraordinary amount of moisture during the winter months. The amount received may well be a record for this time of year. At least, we do know that it exceeds anything that has occurred since the start of the 1940's.

This should be cause for great rejoicing for the area as a whole. Wheat prospects are vastly improved. At least one winter irrigation has been avoided. Pre-watering, or a big part of it anyway, is going to be eliminated on the coming big grain sorghum and cotton crop. Land breaking plans have been curtailed or dropped entirely. Farms are in a fine shape.

But is everybody happy? Not on your life. The muddy fields and bitter cold days have interrupted all sorts of normal activities. The well service business has been bogged down. Pipe laying schedules have been dealt a hard blow. Fertilizer sales were brought to a standstill. New tractors weren't moving.

What was the matter? Nothing, really. Just some good old-fashioned rain and snow. Only, people haven't been used to it in recent years. We almost panic at what has happened for a few weeks, and yet before the year is out we all will benefit greatly from the generosity of Mother Nature at such an opportune time.

This spell of bad weather chased more farmers off to Mexico and other more temperate climes than we can ever recall. It's been wholesale evacuation, but it's about over. The weather is straightening out, the fishermen are returning home, full of the usual cock and bull, and in the meanwhile, farm work has been stacking up considerably. Farmers will soon "get after it" and we'll forget our temporary blues.

So, odd as it may seem, we don't appreciate the moisture at all. That used to be the easy way to farm, but we don't want the good old days back. We welcome the return of the treadmill. Such is human nature.

Treiders Make FU Trip to Washington

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Treider and Melvin Treider Jr. of Lazbuddie are among Farmers Union members making an annual Farmers Union sponsored bus trip to Washington, D. C. The travelers are in the nation's capitol this week.

The Union says it will call on members of the senate, house, and USDA in an effort to pass what it calls "a realistic bargaining power farm bill for family farmers."

Alex Dickie, Texas FU president, says this would be "Realistic production controls to enable farmers to demand and get a fair price for what they produce."

Another proposal would be for a nation-wide, low interest "REA-type" loan for farmer owned cooperative marketing and processing plants which would enable the farmer to supervise his product further along the line.

Still another approach advocated by Farmers Union is direct payment on farm commodities.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

A number of farmers have asked the question lately as to whether it would pay them to break their land this year. The main fact that has prompted them to ask this question as most of us know is the high moisture content of the soil, and being late in being able to start the plowing operation.

Nature has a better way of breaking down hardpans and poor soil structure than has yet been devised by man. This year we have an opportunity to see this in operation. Nature's way of filling the upper soil profile with water and then freezing and thawing will mellow and aerate the soil much better than mechanically.

This will then increase the intake rate of the soil and give a better penetration of moisture. On the other hand should we decide to plow the land with it as wet as it now is, we would not only lose the effects of nature but would place a hard pan at the plowed depth that would act as a seal. This would decrease the water intake rate.

Some have expressed fear that sorghum or corn residue will give trouble next spring at planting time and cultivating. This should not give too much trouble because a large portion of the residue is pulled back to the surface when listing anyway. It appears that the best
