

WOUNDED HOSTAGE TREATED

Mrs. Ruth Joiner, 29, a Crawfordville, Ind., welfare worker, is shown in a Michigan City, Ind., hospital where her gunshot wound in the shoulder was treated after she was rescued from four convicts in Indiana State prison. The convicts, armed with butcher knives, held Mrs. Joiner as hostage while they made a desperate attempt to escape. All of the convicts were wounded and none escaped.

Fugitive Killer Is Shot Down As He Runs From Posse

Slayer Of Two Deputies Had Been Hunted For Nearly Two Weeks

CABLE, Wis., June 29 (AP)—Ray Olson, fugitive sought since June 17, was shot and killed by a posse on Lake Namakagon about ten miles east of here today.

Olson was slain while attempting to flee from four possmen led by Constable Ernest Moore of Cable.

The shooting took place near the Wheatley Anderson farm 14 miles from Cable. Struck by four bullets, the killer of two special deputies who had been hunted since June 17, toppled into the water from a boat tried to launch to continue his flight across the lake.

Olson lived about 10 minutes. Before death, he admitted shooting the deputies, Carl Johnson and Fred Scott of Hayward, and told the officers his wife was in no way connected with his law breaking.

Olson, who had led 200 possmen a spectacular chase through the wild brush country of Sawyer and Bayfield counties for two weeks, finally was trapped because of his dire need of food and rest.

Worn and hungry, the 30-year-old fugitive broke into Anderson's home sometime Wednesday afternoon. He cooked a meal, changed his clothing and apparently laid down to rest.

The Anderson family discovered something was amiss upon returning home last night. Anderson notified the authorities, who surrounded the place.

Shortly after dawn, today, Moore and his men closed in on the farm. Olson, hiding in an outhouse, broke for the woods. The possmen fired and gave chase.

They pursued their quarry through a clump of bushes and on to the lake shore, where Olson leaped into a boat and frantically tried to shove a boat into the lake.

A bullet from a .22 calibre rifle was the first to strike Olson. It hit him in the back. Three others ripped into his body.

Mortally wounded, Olson fell into the lake. Moore, Frank Flowers and two other members of his party pulled the fugitive from the water.

Federal Aid In LSU Probe Suggested

BATON ROUGE, La., June 29 (AP)—The State Times said today the arrest "was expected this afternoon" of a key witness summoned before the grand jury probing Louisiana State University affairs.

BATON ROUGE, La., June 29 (AP)—As official estimates of the sum involved in market maneuvering of Dr. James Monroe Smith, fugitive former president of Louisiana State University, rose to more than a million dollars, the United States department of justice was urged today to start an investigation of the muddled situation.

Successful culmination of department of justice activities in Kansas City were recalled by the Shreveport Times in a front page editorial urging the federal agency institute a probe of WPA in Louisiana, and Dr. Smith's financial exploits.

State officials accused the bald, middle-aged Smith of having had undisturbed access to $1,300,000 in university bonds for market plunging and that he redeemed half of them with $500,000 in cash obtained by issuing invalid notes.

State Supervisor of Public Funds Frank S. Shattuck said all the bonds have been located, some of them in Smith's desk.

Shattuck said of the located bonds, Smith, once a poor country boy, had used $501,000—security improperly authorized for the most.

Unemployment Compensation Taxes In Texas Total Over Seven Million

ABILENE, June 17—State unemployment compensation tax collections, from employers of eight or more, have to date for 1939 reached $7,376,086, Orville S. Carpenter, chairman-director for the Texas commission, said today.

Future tax savings to Texas employers of $10,000,000 or more yearly will result from the recently instituted merit rating, Carpenter estimated.

H. H. Rumph, supervising examiner for the Abilene district, said yearly savings to employers in the 44 counties of this region would probably be from $500,000 to $1,500,000. He pointed out that tax reductions will be the reward to employers having low labor turnovers.

Effective Jan. 1, 1941, an individual tax rate will be determined for each employer. Two things will decide rates: First, total amount of benefits paid all claimants in the prior year; second, the individual employer's three-year labor turnover reflected by his former workers' having filed claims on which payments were made. Each rate will be governed by an employer's past employment record and by the total amount of funds needed for the state to pay benefits for another year.

"Employers in this district, in conjunction with the Texas state employment service, are making determined efforts to stabilize labor turnover," Rumph affirmed. "Illustrating the trend toward employment stabilization is the fact that the service filed 2,137 jobs in this district in May."

"Tax-paying employers now realize that if their workers have had constant employment in 1938, 1939, and 1940, individual tax rates for 1941 and thereafter may drop to as low as .5 of one per cent. from the 2.7 per cent now paid. The state," the district supervisor added.

Oil Equipment Prices Higher

DALLAS, June 20—Deeper drilling, advancing wage rates and a constantly heavier tax load on Texas oil have been accompanied by a steady increase in the cost of oil field equipment and supplies, according to a report recently completed by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association.

Practically all items of equipment purchased by the Texas oil industry have shown substantial advances in price, with the result that today's oil field supply bill is 23 per cent above 1932 and 51 per cent above price levels which prevailed back in 1922.

Compared with 1932, principal items of equipment used by the Texas oil industry have advanced in cost as much as 86 per cent. Valves are 84 per cent higher in price today than they were in 1932. Guy wire has advanced 66 per cent; working barrels cost 66 per cent more; tool joints have advanced 44 per cent; engines 37 per cent; pumps 18 per cent. Compared with 1922 price levels, items of this nature have shown advances of as much as 97 per cent.

All of these factors, coupled with restricted production of oil under state proration laws, have contributed to high unit costs of labor, equipment and taxes were materially lower than they are today, and when the average market price of crude oil was $1.23, against one dollar and less prevailing in Texas today, it was possible to pay out the investment in an oil well within a comparatively short time.

Today, under restricted production, the necessity for drilling much deeper for oil and extremely high operating and overhead costs, it takes many years to pay out the original investment in Texas oil producing properties.

Pension

(Continued from Page 1) states in percentage of persons over 65 years old on the rolls and in number of pensioners. On the other hand, the state was one of 23 in the Union which did not require counties to furnish part of the pension monies and stood well down the list in average amounts of monthly payments and costs per person by population. Texas grants pensions to 46 per cent of its residents over 65 years old and only Oklahoma, Utah, Colorado, Arizona and Montana top the Lone Star state in that respect. California and Illinois with 135,000 plus are the only states with more pensioners than Texas' 118,000. Texas gives its pensioners an average of $14.15 each per month as compared to California's $2.47 (without complete federal matching). Pension costs per person in total population of states last year showed Texas $3 (ranking 23rd among states). Last spring, pensioners in Texas were receiving $1,500,000 a month federal and state money. In California they were getting $4,174,000 a month, New York $2,723,900, Ohio $3,534,000, Illinois $2,411,600. Texas' sources of pension revenues are mainly liquor and beer.

Fugitive

(Continued from Page 1) and took him to shore. Olson was armed with a pistol. The possemen fired about 20 shots in ending the career of Olson, described as a petty thief who turned killer to escape arrest on automobile theft charges. Olson, former Wisconsin state prisoner, was placed under arrest near Hayward June 15. A Sawyer county traffic officer ordered Olson's attractive, 20-year-old wife to ride with him into Hayward and instructed Olson to drive his own car ahead of him. A short distance down the road, Olson accelerated his motor and made a dash for liberty. The officer gave chase and Olson abandoned his machine and fled into the woods. Olson swam the Namakagon river, stole another automobile and fled into the dense timber surrounding Moose lake, about 25 miles east of Hayward. Two days later, Sheriff George Seehutter of Sawyer county and a squad of special deputies went to the woods shack of Indian John Blue Sky on a tip Olson was hiding there. Special Deputy Carl Johnson, Hayward tavern keeper, and the others rushed the door of a shack near Blue Sky's cabin. Olson killed him with a charge from a .12 gauge shot gun. Scott also fell mortally wounded before Olson's blazing weapon.

Storm

(Continued from Page 1) minor damage was reported in scattered sections from the brief deluge and churning winds. Suddenly exhausting its supply of moisture, the cloud moved out to the dry Moore community and deposited enough moisture on some farms for replanting and planting. As much as half an inch fell to a distance of about five miles south. Heavy rain, however, appeared to have been in the north part of town and around the Big Spring Hospital area, for until tonight steady streams of water continued to course toward the draw which divides the city. However, Fairview, eight miles to the north, got little more than a sprinkle. The shower played out about two miles this side of the community.

Farm Bill

(Continued from Page 1) $237,000,000 larger than last year's measure, Russell said this was because of inclusion in a single bill of many items heretofore provided in separate measures. The bill carried $725,000,000 for payments to farmers who cooperate with the control programs for cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco and rice. This included an unbudgeted $225,000,000 which the senate added for parity payments designed to raise farm purchasing power to that of the 1909-1914 period. Another senate addition to the bill was $113,000,000 for surplus farm operations, in addition to the $90,000,000 made available from customs receipts for this purpose. The funds will be used to supply surplus farm products to families on relief and to finance export subsidies. Russell said a boost in funds for the farm tenancy program to $46,000,000 "will counteract the rising tide of tenancy in this country."

Meanwhile, the hunt for Smith, spreading across the nation and into Canada, had police running down rumors he had been seen in Seneca, S. C., Eagle Pass, Texas, Memphis and Chicago. Gov. Earl K. Long offered $2,500 for his arrest in addition to the $250 already posted by peace officers. MORE SCANDAL? BATON ROUGE, La., June 29 (AP) Possibility more startling facts about Louisiana State university's financial enigma might be revealed at the university board meeting this afternoon was voiced by authorities here today as the grand jury probe into the muddle continued in routine manner behind closed doors. Dr. Paul M. Hebert, acting president of the university, said purpose of the board meeting called by Gov. Earl K. Long was to disclose to the board information gathered since the group's meeting May 24. He also will recommend an audit by certified public accountants of the university and will recommend that two signatures be required on all checks expending university funds. The acting president said the board meeting will be closed to reporters but that a statement would be issued afterward.

CAMP GROUP WITHOUT WATER FOR A TIME

The problem of water apparently solved, 196 young West Texans of the Christian denomination settled back into the routine of their annual area encampment Thursday at the community center in the city park. For a time Thursday morning the group was completely without water. The city hauled out a small quantity as an emergency measure pending the time when a supply could be brought to the center's storage tank. A faulty pressure valve was being repaired so that enough pressure could be built up on the main line from the wells to the reservoir to push water back to the campsite.

MARKETS

Wall Street NEW YORK, June 29 (AP)—Apprehension over renewed European war talk and the monetary battle in congress apparently served as a selling excuse in the stock market today and leaders, at the worst, dropped 1 to more than 3 points. While the Washington row was secondary to fears a German Denzig coup at the week-end might touch off the long-dreaded explosion abroad, sentiment was depressed to some degree by thoughts of necessitous legislation being threatened by the present currency wrangle. The bid leaned backward at the start and sporadic attempts at a rally generally were unsuccessful. Feeble buying at the last, however, lifted prices in some cases a shade above the day's bottoms. A moderately good brand of business news, on the whole, was virtually ignored.

House Vote Near On Arms Embargo

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—After threshing out the neutrality issue in two days of spirited debate, the house rapidly approached a vote today on repeal of the arms embargo against warring nations. The first test of strength apparently was to come in mid-afternoon on a proposal by Rep. Tinkham (R-Mass.) to retain the embargo, contrary to the administration's wishes. The administration bill, proposing several changes in the neutrality law, would grant the president and the state department greater discretion in dealing with treaty international situations.

Others Have A Worse Time

Amid an atmosphere of scandal and impending cataclysm, Louisiana strips off one governor, dons another. Where the state is headed no one knows.

We Texans imagine we have an awful time with our politicians. We criticize our lawmakers and executives and administrators. They do mess things up occasionally.

An attitude of self-righteousness and smugness is bad, but it is hard to refrain from thanking the gods that we are not as other people.

Texas does have its political machines, but for the most part they are confined to cities or counties and they don't live long. Occasionally it has happened that one set of rascals throws out another set of rascals.

This, we believe, is not due to extra vigilance on our part; as a matter of fact we are careless and indifferent. It is due rather to the huge size of the state and its diverse interests and composition.

And it may be that, sorry as some of our indigent specimens are, our domestic brand or politicians grades just a shade higher than in some other localities.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—With its high moorish domes and red brick walls, Ellis Island might well be some medieval fastness rather than a government immigration post. It is a tiny island of barely twenty-seven and a half acres sitting in New York harbor.

It may surprise you to know that Commissioner Reimer and his immigration experts are never interested in crime. No alien is ever tried for a crime at Ellis Island.

But the island hasn't always been an immigration post. Before the Dutch came with their tulips and thrifty ways the Indians called it Gull Island. Then it became an oyster fishery.

Then in 1892 the government took it over and it became an immigration post. Today there are hundreds of foreigners, refugees from Central Europe, visitors from almost every point of the globe, waiting for clearance at Ellis Island.

Ellis Island isn't concerned with this man's misdeeds. But they are very much concerned with the fact that a man is trying unlawfully to enter the U. S. Ellis Island is a buffer between you and outsiders who are not on the level with the United States.

Though Ellis Island actually is a detention post, there is none of the prison aura about it. It even smells good. It is light and clean and always invigorating because of the sea breeze that whips across it every hour of the day.

Memo: when you visit the island, as you assuredly will some day, be certain that you have a pass. If you haven't one, they may take you for some modern Raffles and refuse to let you return.

Helpful hint to those of you who can't pass a telephone booth without looking in the return cup for a possible nickel. There are return cups in the subway turnstiles, too—if you know where to look for 'em.

"Dear, multiply and overrun the earth," is the motto of a Japanese organization campaigning for fanatics.

How To Torture Your Husband

FOUR BLIND DATES,

By Edwin Rutt

Chapter 21 DIETETIC DILEMMA At this point the cab stopped for a traffic light. During the interval Tacks became possessed of a thought. Right then the attitude of the ravishing Miss North was frozen in the extreme.

He waited until the cab neared the apartment house in which his Aunt Vera had her abode. Then he addressed the driver. "Hey!" he called suddenly. "Stop here a minute."

"Nothing to get steamed up about. The doorman in that house is a friend of mine. I'm going to leave this dog with him, that's all."

For the doorman appeared not to be listening. The doorman was gazing streetward, past the shoulder of Mr. Adams. The doorman spoke.

The taxi cab, with Packy inside, was tearing down Fifth Avenue in a manner to indicate that all the fiends of the Pit were breathing at its rear bumper.

art of loitering. But geniuses are never satisfied. By degrees and by rigid application he had schooled himself to loaf, trifle and dillydally as well. In the course of time he had also become no mean dawdler.

Wherefore the sight of Mr. Cutler marching briskly along the byways of New York was a noteworthy phenomenon. But it was not one that need have baffled scientists.

Little Geraldine will now want to know what food had to do with it. The answer is, everything. For to say that Jumbo was hungry would be gross understatement.

Coming to a dead stop Jumbo stared at the animal, speechless. This was the final irony. When it transpired that the beasts of the gutter might dine regally on fish heads while the scion of one of New York's better families went about with an empty stomach.

He could foresee exactly what was going to happen. On the morrow he and Luella would proceed to a certain drugstore and there, on the scales, would end his roseate dreams of a wife and fire-side.

ly, growing ever broader and more bloated. And gradually he would become a pathetic, tragic figure of woe. This was temptation of a terrible kind. But the bound did little good. He was walking in a perfect maze of eating houses.

While reviewing his doom, Jumbo became conscious of a delectable aroma. He glanced up and perceived that he was passing a one-arm joint from whose interior this enchanting odor issued.

Sick at heart, Jumbo turned away. Was any woman worth such agony? Assuredly he was mad with hunger was hideous enough without having the entire city of New York ganging him with food.

When Van Harkness had discovered him trilling merrily on the electric horse, Jumbo had been living on love. To that athletic lady of his dreams, Miss Louella West, he had sworn an oath to eliminate ten pounds of solid flesh from his marching equipment.

When Bette came up to greet her (they'd never met before) the dialogue was thus: Bette: "So glad to see you! Are you happy? Nice script?"

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—When you can't get anybody to listen while you tell about your trip to Europe, write a letter about it to the department of commerce.

Primarily the department is after information to help determine international balance of payments. Last year American tourists spent a half billion dollars traveling abroad.

One sardonic soul, after journeying through Switzerland and England, bluntly stated: "It is better to stay half as long and pay twice as much for accommodations."

It seems we will have to go to Finland some day. Besides being the only nation paying its war debts to the United States, it is a nice place. One tourist reported: "In Finland, the honesty of the people is beyond reproach."

One romantic troubadour told the department: "I sailed to Italy for the purpose of getting married. After I married I sailed back home."

The bulk of the travel to Mexico and Canada is, of course, by automobile and the tourists are inclined to be matter of fact. To an automobile tourist a spade is a spade.

"The inadequate toilet facilities at practically all gasoline stations stood out." "Our greatest handicap," observed a Texan traveler in Canada, "was in the native's inability to understand us in small towns."

Demons of complaints came in about the quality of Mexican gasoline, which should soothe the feelings of Yankee oil companies recently dispossessed.

One pleaded that Mexicans should mark the roads in English while another perhaps adventure bent, complained: "We went from Tampico to Villa Suarez and didn't see a sign of a revolution."

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—I've just seen all of Hollywood—or its spirit—on a sound stage. It was a scene for a movie, "On Your Toes," which so far as I know has nothing to do with Hollywood but I may be wrong.

Albert and Kinsey, side by side, advanced toward the retreating camera. Two male adagio dancers, in tight, strutted before them, bearing aloft a rigid feminine figure, also in tight, her arms flung wide.

The lady responsible for all this, because she's the star, is Vera Zorina, late of "I Married an Angel" on Broadway, before that of Sam's "Goldwyn Follies" in Hollywood, in which she was miscast as an exotic siren.

Galento's Game Show Gives Mob Major Thrill

Challenger Had Louis Down In Second Round

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, June 29 (AP)—The

But before it happened the bold

Louis started the fourth round

NEW YORK, June 29 (AP)—Of-official figures on last night's Joe

Louis-Tony Galento heavyweight

championship bout:

Attendance 94,832.

Gross receipts $333,502.66.

Radio and motion picture rights

Total gross $333,502.66.

Federal tax $28,922.44.

State tax $1,848.23.

Net receipts $282,731.99.

ordained result. But Tony gave an account of himself that will en-

the remainder of the chapter Joe handed his dozed opponent a bad beating, but couldn't put him down again.

Such was Tony's knockdown of his tormenter in the third such an electrifying thrill for the crowd of nearly 95,000. Louis had been whipping them into the Orange man's gory face again, staggering him with brutal rights, when Tony from in close brought up a quick right, then a left squarely to the champion's

paw. Joe went down like he had been clubbed, but quickly braced himself with his hand on the floor and was up again as the timekeeper tolled two. Tony had been going the rest of the round.

Louis started the fourth round

around and keeping out of Tony's reach, watching for the big chance.

Suddenly it came. Two left hooks crackled on Galento's jaw like summer lightning, and he swayed

but didn't go down. In a breath

Louis was on him, pounding sledgehammer blows into Tony's face. Within 10 seconds he made Galento a horrible sight. It was all over. Mrs. Galento cried bitterly when she saw Tony's face as they led him reeling into the dressing room.

Today Louis was headed for Atlantic City for a vacation before returning to Detroit.

Beer Barrel Wants

Another Title Shot

ORANGE, N. J., June 29 (AP)—

The first thing Tony Galento did in his home town early today after being belted by Joe Louis and visiting a doctor, was stop at his beer-place to collect the day's receipts.

Then he went home, and when a few friends dropped in some minutes later they found Tony, his face striped with bandages, kneeling in front of a low table counting the "take." There was $325—a good day's business," the prudgy pounder explained, "and it's all because my pals turned out while I was fighting that Louis."

He did it all after absorbing a beating such as has sent some of

Louis' previous challengers to hospitals.

"It's amazing," said Dr. Max E.

Ster, Newark physician at whose office Tony stopped on his way back from his date with the champion. "He was cut very badly."

"Yeah," Tony shouted, "and I still want another shot at that Louis. I gave the fans a show tonight, didn't I? And the next time

I won't lose away my chances. I'll flatten him."

Lone Star Is

Beaten, 3-2

CH. M. Rowe took his Lone Star

Heavyweight softball crew to Stanton

Wednesday evening to absorb a 3-2

licking at the hands of a Stanton

all-star outfit.

The Mechanics tallied in the fourth frame when E. P. Ketter homered with one aboard.

Leonard Morgan homered in the fifth with one on base but the blow was nullified when the umpire ruled the runner out for playing off the bag.

L. D. Cunningham, twirling for the Big Springers, limited the Stantonites to one hit but wildness prevented costly.

Danzig Soon To Come Into German Fold?

DANZIG, June 29 (AP)—Foreign reports of the organization of a so-called "free corps" and an influx of Germans into Danzig were described in rebuttal by official Danzig sources today as an "alarming of the public which is by no means warranted."

The newspaper in a statement today vigorously denied reports abroad of extensive military preparations in Danzig territory. It admitted at the same time measure which it called legitimate had been taken to strengthen the Danzig police force "to such a degree that the population may go about its daily work with a sense of security."

Dispatches in Polish, English and French newspapers stating that German military units had entered Danzig were described as "impertinent lies." One way for Danzig to "return to the Reich," which has been discussed time and again, is by a spontaneous Danzig declaration of union with Germany, thus presenting Poland with an accomplished fact, then leaving it to Warsaw to decide on a Polish course of action regarding this German-populated area at the mouth of Poland's outlet to the sea.

UNIFIED RAILROAD OPERATIONS ASKED

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—The Colorado & Southern Railway company today asked the interstate commerce commission for authority to unify its operations with those of the Fort Worth & Denver City and the Wichita Valley railroads, which it controls.

The Colorado & Southern would lease the Fort Worth & Denver City and the Wichita Valley railroads, now operated separately. The Colorado & Southern estimated unification of operations would result in an annual saving of $250,000. It would take over liability for $3,176,000 of notes of the Fort Worth & Denver City now held by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The Fort Worth & Denver City operates in Texas and the Wichita Valley in Texas and Oklahoma.

Deaths in U. S. railroad accidents in 1938 totaled 4,879, the lowest annual mark on record.

Americans Won't Have Reactionary, Borah Says In Birthday Interview

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—Senator Borah (D-Idaho) took time out on his seventy-fourth birthday anniversary today to express the opinion the American people would not accept a reactionary candidate for the presidency in 1940.

"Some of the party leaders," said the senator's dean, "have failed to realize there was a political revolution when the country first elected President Roosevelt in 1932. That revolution came from the heart of the people."

"They were tired of the country's being run by those who held to the theory a few men should control the machinery of government. In my judgment, the people haven't changed their minds about that."

Senator Borah made it plain he was taking no part in the maneuvering of various potential candidates for the republican presidential nomination.

His disregard for party labels and the ordinary tenets of partisanship have made him a fairly frequent caller at the White House, despite his opposition to such Roosevelt legislation as the 1937 court bill and the original government reorganization bill. While maintaining cordial relations with the White House, Borah also is friendly with Vice President Garner. He has described Garner in conversations with friends as a "true American" whose views are fundamentally similar to his own.

At 74 Borah is outwardly as active as ever. While some other veteran senators already have made plans to get away from the Washington heat next month for a rest, Borah has made it clear he will be here until congress adjourns—if it takes all summer.

Asserts Railroads Cut Rates To Help Texas Industry

AUSTIN, June 29 (AP)—Testimony that railroads, where necessary, voluntarily slashed freight rates to stimulate industrial development was heard today by railroad commission officials conducting a hearing on the reasonableness of shipping costs in Texas.

J. A. Lynch, Dallas representative of the T. & P. railroad, told of instances where carriers "reduced charges and pointed to specific rates set by his company on salt cake and sodium sulphate.

The testimony was part of a defense by rail lines and truckers against requests to abolish differential territory rates in West Texas, sought by agriculturists and industrialists of that area.

Lynch, submitting figures on traffic density at various points, argued the carriers, suffering from decreased revenues, could not afford rate decreases.

Commission officials last week heard freight experts, fruit and vegetable growers and representatives of industry, charge the current rate structure was discriminatory, unfair and discouraging to business development. The hearing probably will be concluded this week.

Accused Farmer's Wife Is Charged With Bigamy

LUFKIN, June 29 (AP)—Mrs. Betty Linderman Perkins today faced charges of a bigamous marriage to W. Hayden Perkins, 33-year-old poultry farmer charged with murder on the state's accusation he drowned his stepson, Phillip Linderman, for $840 insurance money.

District Attorney R. S. Musiewhite said the woman admitted in a signed statement she had not been divorced from her first husband before coming here from Michigan to wed Perkins as a climax to brief matrimonial agency correspondence.

Phillip, Mrs. Linderman's child, was found dead in a boxed-in spring last Thursday.

State chemists at Austin continued their examination of the viscera of William Laverne Linderman, a second stepson and brother of Phillip, who died recently. His body was exhumed Tuesday.

mingled envy and disapproval upon the cat that the feline snatched up the fish head hastily and departed.

Jumbo breathed easier. He was glad that fish head had gone. The fish head had tormented and maddened him. But, with terrible clarity, he recognized that he was not out of the woods yet. He had dispersed the fish head magnificently, but he was anatomist enough to realize that he could not disperse his own stomach. And if something were not introduced to that stomach in short order, he would go stark staring mad. Thinking carefully, Jumbo made up his mind. Food, of course, was out of the question. But he remembered that Luella West, in her discourses on dietetics, had ascribed certain sustaining properties to alcohol. Very well. He would test this theory.

A combination bar and lunchroom loomed in the offing. Jumbo's eyes dilated. And then he acted. Emitting a woofing sound, he charged the door. The door gave. The place was deserted save for a lugubrious individual with a depressed mustache who stood behind the bar polishing glasses.

"Scotch!" said Jumbo peremptorily, marching up to the bar. "Soda!"

The bartender looked at him with sad, watery eyes. At the same moment Jumbo noted a bowl of cheese popcorn which reclined on the bar. He shied as a mustang shies at sight of the prairie rattle.

"What's the matter?" inquired the bartender, starting. He was a sensitive soul, given to nerves.

"N-nothing," said Jumbo. "Hurry up with that drink!"

The bartender set the drink before him. Jumbo quaffed it at a gulp. Then, made affable by the burning sensation in his throat, he took cognizance of the bartender in a social way.

"Nice day," he said conversationally.

The bartender looked as if he were about to burst into tears. "Oh, I don't know," he intoned monotonously. "It may rain."

Jumbo surprised his left hand in the act of sliding toward the cheese popcorn. He withdrew it hastily.

"Nonsense," he said to the bartender. "Why, there isn't a cloud in the sky."

The bartender smiled superiorly. "Don't let that fool you," he said, in measured accents. "Things happen when you least expect them."

"Yes?" said Jumbo, in the tone of one who would hear more.

"Like last winter," the bartender said, "my sister Minnie goes out in the morning. Fine, clear day, it was. Almost like spring. Well"—he paused and stared hard at Jumbo preparatory to coming through with the pay-off—"the sleet come before night and they brought her in on a stretcher. Slipped on the sidewalk, she did, and broke her ankle." The bartender sighed profoundly. "You never know."

"I-I guess," said Jumbo, shivering unaccountably despite the heat of the day, "I guess I'll have another drink."

Dorothy Lamour Listed Among The Many Girl Friends Of Alderman

LOS ANGELES, June 29 (AP)—Dorothy Lamour, she of the sarong, was listed today among the women in Myrl Alderman's life.

And of equal interest to spectators at the $150,000 love theft trial of his former wife, Alma Alderman, against his present mate, Ruth Etting, was the identification at long last of the mysterious "Annabelle," of whom one witness said: "Ah, she is very beautiful."

Miss Lamour, screen actress now in New York on a personal appearance tour, was mentioned by George L. Roberts, bartender at a Hollywood grog.

Bernard Cohen, Miss Etting's attorney, for several days has been engaged in compiling a list for the jury of Alderman's feminine companions about the time he and Alma tiffed two years ago.

In this connection, he asked Roberts:

"Did you ever see Alderman with Dorothy Lamour?"

"Yes," replied the bartender. "Several times."

It was, he went on, in the place where he worked, next door to broadcasting studios where in 1937 Miss Lamour was singing frequently.

"Did you ever see him kiss her?" Cohen queried.

"Yes, sir."

"Did he kiss her on the lips?"

"Yes, sir."

"What did she say?"

"I don't know," but she sure seemed to like it,"

Roberts added that there were others whom Alderman brought into the grog.

"Did he kiss them?" asked Cohen. "Sure."

Identification of "Annabelle," mentioned earlier as the girl Alderman had said he would marry when he divorced Alma, came from Martin Seliger, a music copyist. He said Annabelle's last name was Valde and she is an actress. He added he met her one night in Alderman's apartment.

Germany Not Ready For A Naval Pact

BERLIN, June 29 (AP)—A scornful chorus greeted today Great Britain's answer to Adolf Hitler's denunciation of the 1935 British-German naval limitation agreement and indicated the Nazi leader intended to follow his "road of destiny" without any chains on his growing navy.

The controlled German press and authoritative news service Deutscher Dienst pointed to the British document as an "arrogant note" and made it clear there would be little to negotiate between the two countries in naval matters as long as what Nazism called Britain's "encirclement policy" continues.

It was pointed out, however, that the German government would answer "at the proper time" the "objective" part of the British note which, announced in Berlin yesterday, told Germany Britain was willing to negotiate a new naval limitation agreement, flatly denied the "encirclement" charge and pointedly asked what assurances the Reich could give that any new naval pact would not be scrapped.

Hitler's Volkischer Beobachter raised the suspicion the British memorandum was held up for two months so it could be presented on the 20th anniversary of the Versailles treaty. Hitler announced abrogation of the 1935 treaty, in which Germany agreed to limit her total naval tonnage to 35 per cent of Great Britain's, in his Reichstag speech of April 28.

In the note, Great Britain reminded Germany of the words of Joachim Von Ribbentrop, now foreign minister, who negotiated the agreement as ambassador-at-large, describing the pact as "permanent" and pointed out that the treaty did not provide for one-sided denunciation.

The greatest number of accidental deaths for persons over 25 in 1938 occurred in December.
