Area Businesses Burglarized Again

Farmer County Sheriff Charles Lovelace reports that another burglary occurred in the city of Farwell during the last week, another of many similar incidents which have been plaguing the sheriff's office for several weeks.

Twin Cities Machine Works was again broken into on Saturday, only a little more than a week after it was broken into the first time. Brass valves and sprinkler heads were taken in the robbery with an approximate value of $1172 worth of goods being stolen.

Sheriff Lovelace stated that entry was made into the building in the same way that it was made the last time, that being by slipping a pipe or similar object through the door and facing and knocking a board out of slots allowing entry.

The sheriff stated last week following the first burglary at the business that evidence showed the same person or persons were involved in the Farwell burglary as were involved in the three Gregory Produce burglaries that had taken place recently in Lariat. Following the burglary in Farwell Saturday night, an attempted burglary was reported by the owner of Gregory Produce. Investigation into the incident indicated that someone had entered the building but nothing had been taken.

Lovelace states that he still believes that the same people are involved in both burglaries and that it is perhaps someone from around close who knows the territory.

Mrs. Donald Jones reported to the sheriff's office that a

BB gun had been taken from their residence at 706 Fourth street in Farwell, and Don Bandy of Bovina reported the loss of a Winchester rifle from his pickup. Bandy stated to the sheriff that he believed the gun was taken sometime while his pickup was parked outside his home.

Wayne Clark of Lazbuddie reported the theft of several batteries from irrigation motors on his farm. Investigation into the theft is currently being done by the sheriff's department.

Farwell Mayor Sets April 1 Census Day

Among the items of business attended to by Farwell City councilmen at Monday's regular council meeting included the signing of a proclamation by city mayor Walter Kaltwasser naming April 1 as Census Day in the City of Farwell.

In other action a resolution was adopted by the city fathers pertaining to the assurance that the city does not now or have future intentions of withholding sewerage service to anyone because of race, creed or national origin.

Councilmen also acted on a request by Ronald Byrd for a zone variance allowing a mobile home to be moved into a portion of Farwell not now zoned for such a structure. Block 23, lots 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16. It was explained to Byrd the procedures which must be followed in order to get such a variance.

These procedures include notifying owners of property within 200 feet of the property involved in the variance by letter that such action is being taken under consideration and the posting of a public hearing in the matter so that all persons concerned may attend and state their opinions on the matter if they so desire.

The council voted unanimously to make notification of the public hearing and to notify the involved property owners by letter.

The renewal of matured certificates of deposit were discussed by the council and they decided to renew the CDs for the present time.

Following an executive session with Earl Roberts on personnel matters, the councilmen reviewed and approved the bills for payment and discussed the matter of paving accounts which are in arrears.

Next meeting of the city council will be March 31 at 5:15 p.m. (CST) in the City Hall.

The proclamation signed by Kaltwasser reads as follows:

WHEREAS, the Twentieth Decennial Census of the United States will be conducted beginning April 1, 1980; and

WHEREAS, all the inhabitants of the City of Farwell are to be enumerated in this census; and

WHEREAS, the information collected in the census serves many useful purposes, among which are apportionment of representation in Congress and other legislative bodies, measurement of the economic well-being of communities and their inhabitants, allotment of certain Federal and State tax revenues and other financial aid to States, determination of future needs for public services, and numerous other useful purposes; and

WHEREAS, the accuracy and completeness of the census for the City of Farwell will determine its population rank among other communities of the Country;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Walter Kaltwasser, Mayor of the City of Farwell, do hereby proclaim April 1, 1980, as Census Day in the City of Farwell.

DPS Officer Involved In High Speed Chase

Jim Bishop of Farwell, Texas Highway Patrolman, was involved in the pursuit and apprehension of a Cannon Air Force Base resident who led officers on a high-speed chase through Bailey, Farmer and Curry counties Monday night.

Kenneth Dwayne Saunders was booked on charges of reckless driving, assault with a deadly weapon on a police officer, eluding a police officer, failure to yield to emergency vehicles, traveling 100 miles per hour in a 55 mph zone, and resisting arrest.

Three passengers in Saunders' car arrested for being party to a crime were Tracy Moorehead, Ronald Eugene Saathoff and Lester Raymond Gallagher, all of Cannon.

The chase began in Muleshoe when the Saunders vehicle was spotted traveling 90 miles per hour within the city limits of Muleshoe. Muleshoe Police Officer Wayne Holmes started after the Saunders car and radioed to Bishop of the chase and asked for assistance in stopping him at Farwell. Bishop said he picked up the chase near the Oklahoma Lane underpass and that the vehicles traveled at 100 miles per hour through the Farwell city limits.

Bishop continued the chase toward Clovis and reported that three attempts were made to run his patrol car off the highway before they finally reached the roadblock set up by New Mexico law enforcement officials at the Mabry Drive and Norris Street intersection.

Saunders apparently attempted to evade the roadblock, but Bishop stopped the attempt by wrecking both cars. His patrol car sustained some $1000 in damage in the collision; however, Saunders' car only received minor damage.

While officers were still at the scene, another car occupied by two Clovis residents struck the southeast traffic signal pole at the intersection. Driver of the vehicle was transferred to a Lubbock hospital with a fractured spine while the other passenger was treated for lacerations and released. The driver was issued a citation for driving while intoxicated.

Inspects Damage

Texas DPS Trooper Jim Bishop of Farwell inspects damage his patrol car received when it collided with another vehicle in a high-speed chase through Bailey, Farmer and Curry counties Monday night. The speeding vehicle was finally forced to stop by Bishop as they ran into a roadblock set up by New Mexico law enforcement officials at the intersection of Mabry Drive and Norris Streets at the east edge of Clovis. The patrol car received some $1000 in damage.

Texico Chamber Officers

Directors of the Texico Chamber of Commerce met in special session for the purpose of electing 1980 officers last week. Elected by the directors were, from left, Joe Caywood, secretary-treasurer; Louise Engram, president; and Ann Cooper, vice-president. The new officers will take over duties of their offices at the first meeting of the Chamber in May. This will be the first time a woman has served as president of the Texico chamber.

Have you considered building a home out of adobe? It has great thermal efficiency, is long lasting and durable and as we heretofore considered, quite cheap to manufacture. Read this from the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

For centuries, beginning with the Assyrians and the Egyptians, adobe bricks have served civilization as a durable building block in arid regions of the world.

But after all these centuries the adobe's days may be numbered. The cost of mixing clay, a little grass, water and sunshine may become prohibitive for today's builders.

Government regulation is responsible. According to a recent article in the Wall Street Journal, federal officials concede that the cost of conforming to federal regulations can add up to $20,000 to the cost of an adobe home. Such homes are still being built in the Southwest with stucco exteriors.

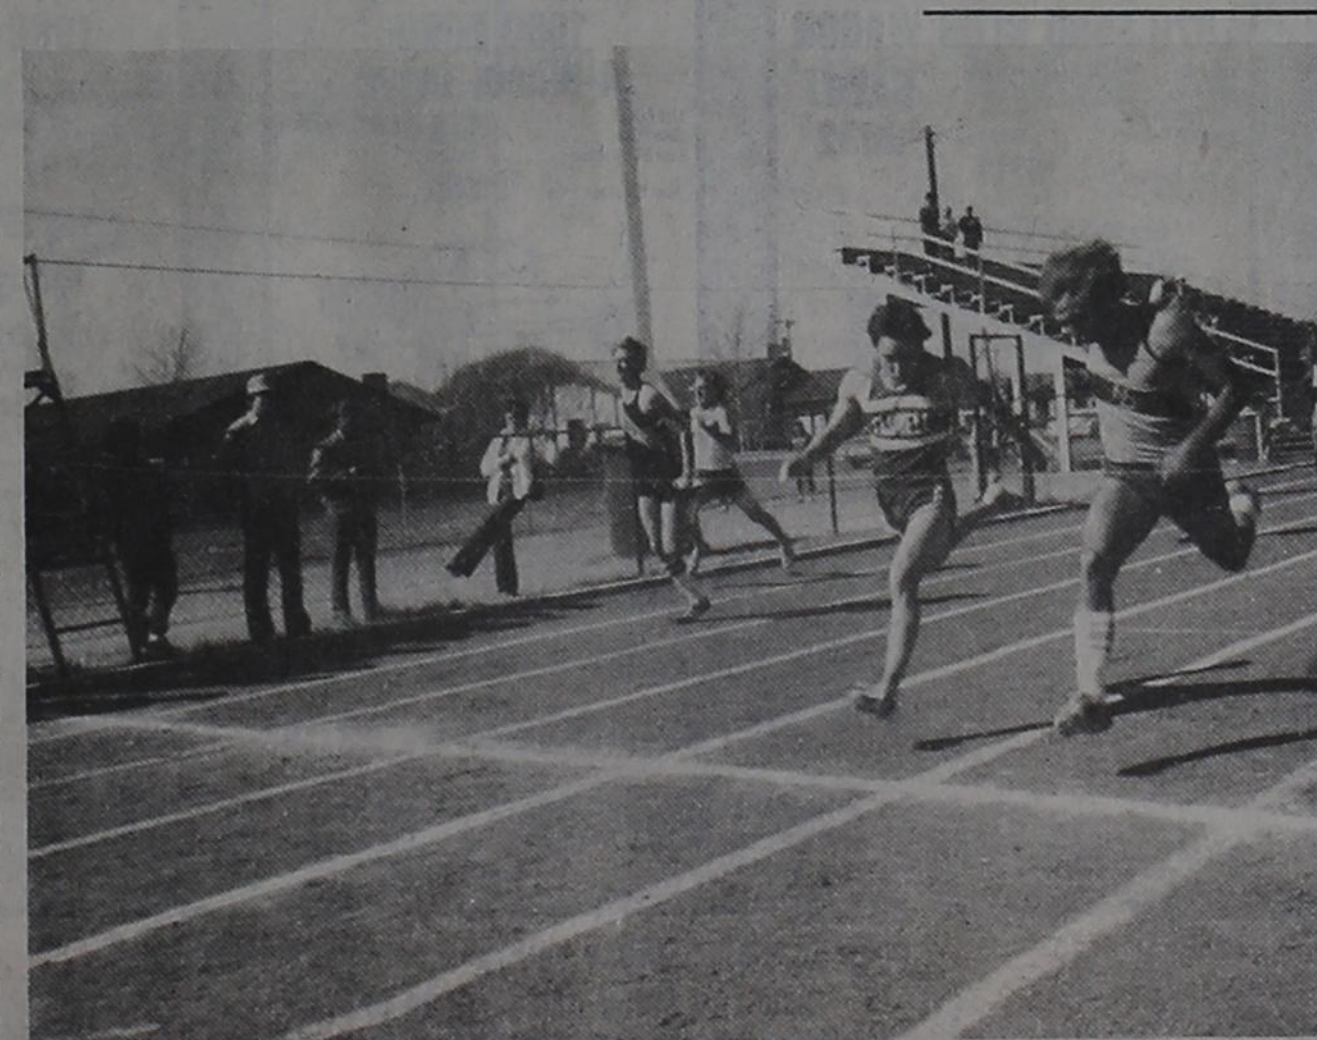

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has questioned the energy efficiency of adobe and, among other things, requires expensive insulation and waterproofing of adobe bricks used in government-financed low cost housing in the Southwest.

Builders fear that if other regulators take the same attitude, adobe bricks will be too expensive to use in private construction as well.

Not surprisingly, another costly regulation stems from the ubiquitous Davis-Bacon Act, a depression-born law for whose repeal the U.S. Chamber of Commerce has been working for years. The law regulates wages private contractors must pay on federal construction jobs.

According to Washington Watch, regulatory newsletter published by the U.S. Chamber, the Labor Department insists that laborers who mix adobe blocks should be classified as bricklayers and paid

Freight Train-Pickup - - Couple Not Seriously Injured In Collision

Russell and Sandy Tunnell of Earth narrowly escaped with their lives when the pickup in which they were traveling was hit by a Santa Fe freight train one mile west of Lariat last Thursday evening. Mrs. Tunnell, 18, was taken to West Plains Medical Center in Muleshoe for treatment of contusions following the collision with the freight train; however, her injuries were not believed to be very serious. According to a report from Texas DPS Officer Jim Bishop, the Tunnells were traveling south on a lateral road and did not see the train in time to stop for it. Tunnell, who was driving the pickup, was reported as saying that he then decided to try to beat it. The train hit the right rear of the 1973 Chevrolet and the force of the impact tore the bed of the pickup loose and tossed it in front of the pickup as it scattered in several pieces. A mix-up in communication delayed the arrival of an ambulance for more than 40 minutes, according to Bishop. Eventually three ambulances responded to the scene, one from Farwell and two from Clovis. Other emergency vehicles and fire trucks responded from Clovis, Farwell and Texico as well. Bishop had called Muleshoe requesting an ambulance but the dispatcher advised that the Farwell unit could arrive sooner and suggested that Bishop call for them. Apparently a member of the Santa Fe crew called for the Clovis emergency vehicles and that was the reason they arrived upon the scene. The truck was towed into Muleshoe by a wrecker after the investigation was completed, according to Bishop. Tunnell was issued a citation for failure to yield to a train at a marked railroad crossing.

Letters To The Editor

To Mr. John Getz, Editor:
Concerning letters to the editor, March 7th, I have been spoken for and against and would like to speak for myself. To those who question my ability and worth to this school, I would like to answer their accusations.
First of all their statement about not winning a game last season was absolutely false. Also the statement that these girls were playing against the same girls as they were in junior varsity is also false. One of many examples is, that our districts Most Valuable Player this year was a four year varsity player. Three players, that were starters with our junior varsity team when they won district, did not participate with this year's team.

Next, I was not invited to their meeting until Coach Adrian advised the group that if they met I would have to be present. The parents were not interested in hearing any of the statistics from any of the games, or in hearing any explanation from me. Opinions were already formed, some from the beginning of the season.

As to the "bunch of mom-mas" paragraph. The previous coaches also had some problems. I had stated to the girls last year, we needed to work out our problems within the dressing rooms and not go home complaining about our teammates. This was taken out of context and greatly exaggerated. I have never refused to talk about any problems with parents in my years as a teacher or coach.

Were you, as parents, concerned enough to ask each day after practice if your daughter worked as hard as possible, had a good attitude, concentrated and stayed after practice to work on her shooting, or did you just ask after the game, "Why didn't we win?" There is more to supporting your teams than just showing up for the games.

Instead of backing the coaches in their decisions, fans and parents second guess them and try to prove them wrong. This makes the coaches jobs very difficult and sometimes impossible. Like other teachers, coaches are human and can make mistakes. But the mistakes of other teachers are immediately forgiven and soon forgotten, while the coaches' mistakes are long remembered and greatly enlarged upon.

Yes, young women are very impressionable at this age; and what they hear at home might have an effect on the confidence they feel in the coach and in themselves.
As to the material for our varsity program, I, as a parent know that parents tend to have a very biased opinion when it comes to our own children. As one letter stated, (Again we can't bring ourselves to believe such.)

As to one letter in your paper I would like to reply that if winning a ball game was not placed above all other ideals, then coaches could placate all parents, play every child and everyone would be satisfied.

Is there any other field of endeavor such as the jobs our concerned parents hold that depends on how sixteen to eighteen year old young women might react on any given day or night. Can anyone outside the teaching or coaching field say the same?

I would also like for the group of parents to ask any qualified coach of any sport if two years is enough to develop a winning program, after many previous losing seasons. The girl's basketball program has been under four head coaches in the last nine years and our last real winning season came after a girl's coach had spent seven years coaching here previously. This coach did not see the results of long hours and days: A District Championship.

To the concerned parents: when I tendered my resignation in February I was, and am sincere in that I would not coach again under the conditions which our concerned parents placed the girl's basketball program of the Farwell Schools.

Will coaches and teachers at Farwell Schools have to work under such conditions? I have worked with five Athletic Directors and eighteen coaches since I have been employed in the Farwell Schools and would like to add that this is the best staff I have ever worked with.

I have lived in this community for twenty-eight years, gone to school from the first to twelfth grade, raised my family here and have enjoyed it. To the people who have supported me in my profession as a teacher and coach my heartfelt thanks.
Larry McDorman.

Mr. John Getz, editor:
This is in reference to your columns (newspaper) on March 7, 1980.

As a coaches wife I'm greatly upset and concerned that parents of a community have so much control over forcing a coach to resign. Are these parents going to be after every coach just because he has a losing season? A coach tries to teach his team, whether it be football, basketball, track, tennis, golf, or volleyball that failing isn't bad if you have learned something from it, played your best, and kept your pride. A coach likes to win too, but some years you just don't have the material. The kids may be young and inexperienced and maybe after they mature they'll be better.

A coach needs the support of the team, their families, and the town. If any one of these loses their faith in a coach, then it causes a bad year for everyone. Being faithful requires more than going to the games. It also means no to second guess a coach or criticize a coach in front of the students and players.

If a coach has a winning season then it's because he has good athletes. If he loses this seems to mean he isn't a good coach. Parents never consider that the players a coach works with may not have the talent. The kids have it figured out that if they go home and complain their parents will take care of it. They've already caused one coach to resign why not another one. After all it has to be the coaches fault, not the athletes.

I dread the day when my husband doesn't play a child or doesn't win (to suit some parents) because then these parents will be after his job.

Election of officers was held, with Mary Ann Lingnau elected as president; Anita Ralston, vice-president; Cynthia Thigpen, recording and corresponding secretary; Charlotte Donaldson, treasurer; Gloria Hutchins, extension officer; and Pam Smith, city council representative. Sheree Montgomery was elected as international coordinator to serve during Beta Sigma Phi's Golden Anniversary.

Members voted on the Girl of the Year and two programs for the year. Winners will be announced at the Founder's Day Banquet in late April.

The state convention to be held in Amarillo June 20, 21 and 22 was discussed but tabled until more information is received. Plans were finalized for the sorority Easter egg hunt to be held on March 29.

Pledge ritual was held to induct five new pledges into Alpha Rho Lambda. The ritual was read and conducted by president Gloria Hutchins. New Pledges are Linda Foster, Robyn Palady, Gaye Goettsch, Gaye Roberts and Nedda Travis.

A program entitled "The Home" was given by Pauletta Curtis. She presented several questions about what a home is and member discussion followed.

Next meeting of the sorority will be April 1 in the home of Kendale Burch.

Installation of officers will be held April 5 in the home of Sheree Montgomery.

Refreshments were served to Terri Baker, Kendale Burch, Pauletta Curtis, Gloria Hutchins, Laura Jacobs, Mary Ann Lingnau, Sheree Montgomery, Anita Ralston, Pam Smith, Cynthia Thigpen and Joan Johnson by the hostess, Charlotte Donaldson.

Farwell Math Students Take Field Trip

On March 5-8, Anne Corn, Farwell High School math teacher, took four of her students on a field trip to Houston and Texas A&M University at College Station. Students taking the trip were Clay Williams, Mike Boling, Mac Langford and Boyd White. At Houston the group toured NASA and met with a space engineer there. Larry Grissom, the engineer, is a native of Farwell and Bovina and a personal friend and former student of Mrs. Corn. Grissom showed the group the space shuttle simulator in which the astronauts train.

The simulator was similar to the shuttle cockpit and was connected to computers which simulated real flight conditions. Each of the students took the unique opportunity to fly the space shuttle and try to land it.

Mrs. Corn and the students drove to Texas A&M that night and stayed in guest dormitory rooms. The next day they saw several exhibits concerning petroleum engineering, electronic engineering, electrical engineering, surveying and other engineering fields.

The students had a special opportunity to see a nuclear reactor plant located on the Texas A&M campus. According to the students, they gained a lot of insight into the engineering world, and the way mathematics provides the basis for problem solving.

A tour was taken of A&M's other engineering facilities also, following which the students attended a conference of the Junior Engineering Technical Society (JETS). An astronaut spoke at the conference.

Mrs. Corn and the students reported they thought the trip was very educational and opened new opportunities and avenues of learning not available in the Farwell area.

Lutheran Social Service Office Open To Serve Area Residents

The Lutheran Social Service of Texas has recently opened an office in Lubbock to serve the whole of the Panhandle-South Plains including this area. The agency has over 50 years of experience in providing social services to individuals, families and communities. It is not a social service for Lutherans alone, but a service of love by Lutherans for all who would be in need of assistance.

The new Panhandle-South Plains office of LSST is currently offering two needed services to residents in this area, 1) assistance to individuals and families around unplanned pregnancies and 2) adoption services. Other services will be developed in the future in response to local needs and interests.

As a Christian agency, Lutheran Social Service of Texas believes that all individuals have the right to be treated with dignity and respect. A vital aspect of this right is to be provided the opportunity, when facing an unplanned pregnancy, to consider all alternatives and to make decisions based upon personal needs. Sometimes these needs include concerned, confidential, professional counseling, assistance in making alternative living arrangements, help in securing good medical care, financial assistance and help in following through on decisions concerning the child's future. Lutheran Social Service is ready to help in all these areas.

As a licensed adoption agency in the state of Texas, with eight offices serving all regions of the state, Lutheran Social Services takes joy in the part it plays in helping fulfill the dreams of so many families. In 1979, 207 children were placed in adoptive homes. These children ranged from healthy newborn infants to handicapped older children. All were helped to find love and hope in the homes of 207 very special families.

Individuals and families interested in utilizing the services of Lutheran Social Service can do so by contacting Rev. James Jensen, Panhandle-South Plains Office, 2412 13th Street, Lubbock, Texas 79401. Telephone 806/763-7051.

Extension Food Specialist

Dear Food Focus:
How can I keep the batter from falling off the onion rings until I get them cooked?
Frying "O's"

Dear Frying:
Batter for onion rings is very much like pancake batter. And like pancake batter, the amount of flour can be adjusted to get the proper consistency.

The batter should be just a little too thick to run smoothly from a spoon. It should be beaten until smooth and will be best if allowed to sit in the refrigerator from two to 24 hours. This is especially true of a beer batter which is frequently used to coat vegetables for deep frying.

It is also important to have the onion rings dry before coating them with batter. Some recipes specify soaking the slices or rings in milk before dipping in the batter. If you do this, be sure to dry them well before coating them.

The temperature of the fat is also important. It should be about 375 degrees Fahrenheit. This is the temperature used for the new automatic deep fryers which have a fixed temperature.

If you are frying in a saucepan on top of the stove without the benefit of a thermometer, this is the temperature at which a one-inch cube of bread will brown in one minute.

Dear Food Focus:
I always have peanut butter on hand for the children. I know it is an inexpensive source of protein and I might use more for the whole family if you can give me some new ideas for using it.

Prefer Crunchy
Dear Crunchy:
You're right, peanut butter is a very nutritious, high energy food. It can be used in many ways other than in cookies and sandwiches with grape jelly. For sandwiches, it can be mixed with chopped cucumber, apple, green pepper or green olives. Shredded carrots, thinly sliced radishes, chopped green onions, cheese or crumbled crisp bacon all add different flavors and textures.

Make a great face sandwich by spreading a mixture of peanut butter, chile sauce, pickle relish and crumbled bacon or cheese on a slice of toasted bread and broiling until it is bubbling.

On the sweet side, the first choice is usually jelly. However, raisins, sliced bananas or crushed pineapple all go well with peanut butter. For a real taste treat, mix peanut butter with chopped dates. Spread on whole wheat toast and tuck in a lettuce leaf.

Use peanut butter in a sauce to accompany vegetables, chicken or fish. Mix one-half cup peanut butter with one-half cup milk or cream and season with a little salt, sugar and lemon juice. Vary the seasoning to suit the food you are serving it with.

Thinned peanut butter with or without added seasoning can be used as a dip for raw fruit and vegetables.

Peanut butter can be used as a filling for stuffed celery. Finally, try chunky peanut butter as a filling for halved, seeded jalapeno peppers for an interesting and tasty appetizer.

Kay Ray, librarian at the junior high, was in charge of the Book Fair and reports that there was an order from every class, kindergarten through 8th grade, and that other books were ordered by high school students and other individuals.

needed at the junior high building which is not included in the school budget.

Proceeds from last year's Book Fair purchased carpet for the library and this year's money will also be spent for something especially needed by the junior high.

All persons who ordered books will be notified when they arrive and it is hoped that all will be here within a month. The Junior High librarian and others involved with the project expressed thanks to all who participated and supported the Book Fair.

BAND COPS DIV. II
"Your community has much to be proud of; keep up the good work," was the comment by Judge Fred Stockdale as the 43-member Lazbuddie High Longhorn Band received a Second Division in the UIL concert contest, Wednesday at Plainview.

It was the first time the band had ever competed in UIL and it is the fifth year of the band's existence.

Director Carl Wilke was pleased with the results, commenting that several older bands had gotten lower ratings. Sudan made a Division I in class B, and Smyer, also a class B band, made a III.

Of the three judges' comments, almost all of the criticism was good and very helpful. Most of the playing problems were attributed to the youngness of the band.

In UIL, a band may be rated from One to Five, one being superior, two being excellent, three being good or average, four being fair, and five being poor.

For their efforts, the Longhorn Band received a very nice plaque.

ECA INSTRUCTORS TEST TO BE GIVEN

Any interested persons who completed and passed the Emergency Care Attendant course which was offered in Lazbuddie in January, may be eligible to take the ECA Instructor's course in Canyon on March 29.

All interested ECAs should write to Canyon at least a week in advance to make arrangements with the Region I office of the Texas Dept. of Health to take the tests. That address is: Texas Dept. of Health, Public Health Region 1, 300 Victory Drive, P.O. Box 968, West Texas State Univ., Canyon, Tx., 79016.

WILKE MAKES INSTRUCTOR

Janet Wilke, who recently became a certified ECA, has satisfactorily completed an instructor's course in CPR (cardio-pulmonary resuscitation) which was recently administered in Bovina in conjunction with retesting prospective ECAs and EMT's.

This qualifies Mrs. Wilke to teach CPR to any person who might be interested in learning the procedure. She is also qualified to re-test those who are already skilled in CPR techniques who need to be re-certified.

SPRING BREAK IS NEAR

Lazbuddie schools will observe Easter vacation starting March 28, and classes will resume again Monday, April 7, at 8:30 a.m.

The school board trustee election will be on April 5, while classes are out for Easter vacation.

Several Lazbuddians might want to vote absentee if they are planning to be out of town when the actual election takes place.

SUMMAR RITES HELD THURS.

Funeral services for W.G. Summar were conducted Thursday, March 13, with burial in the Lazbuddie cemetery following a service in the Singleton-Ellis Funeral Home chapel.

Mr. Summar died at his home on Tuesday morning of an apparent heart attack. He is survived by his wife and children.
