Tax Board Continues Search For Building

County-wide controversy over the Parmer County Tax Appraisal Board and where it will conduct business continued last week when a meeting was held in a Clovis restaurant to discuss and review plans for the Bovina building.

In a previous meeting, the board had approved by a vote of 3-2, and only after many hours of discussion, to refuse the anonymous offer of a free building to be located in Farwell adjacent to the Parmer County Courthouse and search for a building in Bovina. The reason given for this decision was that Bovina was centrally located for all county residents.

The building in Bovina will have to be rented or purchased, with the taxpayers' money. The Tax Appraisal Board will have to approve the location and plans for the Bovina building.

Gilbert Kaltwasser, the only Farwell member of the board, said, "Tony (E.A. Parham, board member from Lazbuddie) and I blocked the vote in the plans for the building because the meeting wasn't a legally advertised meeting." The decision was postponed until the regular June 2 meeting of the board.

According to Kaltwasser, the city of Bovina wants to construct a building to house the board and lease it to the board. But this board does not have the authority to sign a lease for longer than their term of office. The term of this board expires January 1982. "Unless the law is changed in Austin, the board cannot legally sign a five-year lease," said Kaltwasser.

Commenting on a statement by Bovina board member Lawrence Jamerson, printed in the Bovina Blade pointing out that the central location would save the taxpayers enough money to overshadow the cost of the proposed office, Kaltwasser said that he felt the board is spending the taxpayers' money in two ways. First, they are refusing a building that could be an asset to the county and second, they are also going to pay rent on another building. "That is a waste of the taxpayer's money," said Kaltwasser.

Jamerson also stated that the courthouse records will be just as accessible to the office in Bovina because any needed information can be obtained over the telephone. "My idea is that the records should be just as close as a telephone," Jamerson was quoted in the Blade as saying.

In rebuttal, Kaltwasser said, "We are not going to get the County Clerk's office to do the work of the Tax Appraisal Board by giving information over the telephone."

Kaltwasser said, "Unless there is an unforeseen circumstance, the decision has been made." If the board cannot make a decision concerning the building in Bovina, the discussion concerning the Farwell building could be thrown open again. But that's not very likely, according to Kaltwasser.

Next meeting of the Tax Appraisal Board will be Monday night, June 2, at 8 p.m. in the Bovina Bank building. This meeting is legally open to the public and interested persons may attend.

Sheriff's Dept. Makes Battery Theft Arrests

Parmer County Sheriff Charles Lovelace reports that three arrests have been made in relation to the recent outbreak of battery thefts in the county.

As reported last week, the county had several businesses and individuals report batteries stolen from cars, trucks and equipment. The thefts were centered around Friona. Monday night saw another outbreak of battery thefts from tractors, combines, spraying rigs and irrigation motors all over Parmer County but still centered around Friona.

Ralph Garner, 31, Jeffrey Carter, 18, and Michael Colley, 23, all of Friona, were arrested and charged with felony theft. The arrests were made after the trio allegedly delivered a pickup load of batteries to a salvage company in Clovis.

The three have been arraigned, bond was set by Justice of the Peace Albert Smith at $3000, and are presently in custody.

On May 27, D.C. Herring of Friona reported the theft of two guns from a pickup parked in front of Herring Implement. The robbery had occurred on May 22.

Albert Segura, 26, and Willie Garcia, 19, both of Dimmitt, have been arrested and charged with car theft regarding the car stolen from Steward Motor Company that was reported by the Sheriff last week. Bond has been set for $3000 each and the men were bound over for grand jury action. They are both in custody.

Lenney Petree of northeast of Friona reported a cutting torch and two flex planters, valued at $400, taken from his barn between May 19 and 25. Lawlis Gin office in Bovina reported a television, office equipment and a calculator stolen during lunch hour when the office staff was out. The office was not locked.

Kim Rundell reported a Honda motorcycle stolen from his farm about 5 miles northwest of Bovina.

According to Lovelace, the sheriff's department is still investigating the attempted burglary of the Bovina post office.

There was some damage done to the grass at the Farwell school by a car driving on the lawn, Lovelace said.

The sheriff's department recovered a child's bicycle abandoned just east of the Farwell school. The sheriff said that no stolen report has been filed and they don't know to whom it belongs.

by John

The time to observe Memorial Day seems to be in a state of confusion. We have the federally decreed day and we have the traditional day. Some will observe one and others will keep the other.

Unfortunately, no matter which day is observed in your locality it seems that there is precious little thought given to the basic reasons for the holiday. It originated as a day to "Decorate" the graves of those who died in the Civil War. It has been expanded to a day to "Remember" all those who have died in this country's wars, declared or otherwise.

Whichever or whenever the day, the observance of it, or any day, is only possible because brave people have made the ultimate sacrifice so that freedom would continue to be the American way of life.

Today the uneasy question arises as to our national will to survive another test to our freedoms. The answer might come back to us, yes, a thousand times yes. Yet, there is always a faint and qualifying echo that is disturbing.

For example, we recently read a letter to the editor in a national weekly news magazine that had that echo. The writer professed his pride in America and his willingness to defend our way of life, but he concluded by asking, why should he possibly sacrifice his life to defend the Middle East. The posing of the latter question throws doubt on the sincerity of the former statement.

If defending the national interests of the United States is left to a matter of individual choice or subject to a national referendum the next test will be our last test.

Since WWII the world has acquired knowledge at an exponential rate. Several countries have developed the capacity and technology to control the world in a way never before dreamed of, even in the wildest flights of imagination of any of the past world despots.

We as mortals knoweth not when our day of judgement will dawn, and so must be prepared for the final judgement each day. Our country will knoweth not when its day of judgement will be upon it. That is why this country must be fully prepared to defend itself each and every day, or truly "they will have died in vain."

At the conclusion of this week, schools in both Texico and Farwell will have recessed for the summer. This will loose hordes of tads on the streets. They will be walking, running, riding, skating or otherwise lollygagging along. It will be up to the motorist to keep a sharp eye out to prevent a tragedy. Look sharply and drive slowly and help prevent needless pain and suffering.

It's always a toss-up with us as to whether we enjoy the latter part of May or the first part of October the most. We are always impressed with this the "green scene" of the year. Our wheat fields are still a verdent green, our grasses and lawns are sparkling with color, the newly planted crops are shining green up the rows and yes, even the weeds are green. Shortly as the wheat ripens and as drouth takes its toll our "green scene" will fade into our far more usual mottled browns and greens. June will then be upon us, we hope the brides enjoy it.

Overheard: "We live by the Golden Rule, the guy that's got the gold makes the rule."

W.W. Vinyard Services Conducted Wednesday

A resident of Texico-Farwell since 1914, W.W. Vinyard, 99, died Sunday night, May 25, at the Farwell Convalescent Center where he had made his home for the past few years.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at Hamlin Memorial United Methodist Church in Farwell with the church pastor, Duane Knowlton, officiating. Burial was in Sunset Terrace Memorial Gardens in Farwell with Steed-Todd Funeral Home in charge.

Mr. Vinyard was born January 27, 1881, in Duncanville, Tex. His wife, Florence Milwee Vinyard, preceded him in death in 1968.

Pallbearers at final rites were W.N. Foster, R.W. Anderson, Tony Mendoza, Jesse Coburn, M.A. Snider, Jr., Jess Richardson, Hamlin Overstreet and Dr. V. Scott Johnson.

Survivors include many nieces and nephews, including Martha Lee Bogard of Amarillo, Leon Brandenburg of Duncanville, Wren Vinyard of Abilene, Bernice Moody, Verna Plummer and Zeldia Johnston, all of Duncanville, George Vinyard of Refugio, Tex., and Claiborn Vinyard of Arlington, and others.

Mr. Vinyard, probably Farwell's oldest citizen, had been a railway agent for the Santa Fe Railroad for 49 years prior to his retirement in 1958. Through the years since his retirement he had been called upon time and time again by history students of the local schools to tell stories and relate events of early day Texico and Farwell.

Mr. Vinyard arrived in Texico to become the railway agent in January 1914 and said he only came out here because at that time the railroad could send its employees anywhere they wished. Prior to this time he was an agent in Lockney, Tex.

He and Florence were married in November of that year and made their first home in the rooms on the second floor of the depot. At the time they first lived in Texico, the town was "wet" and had many saloons; so liquor was a major item being shipped on the rail cars in those days.

In 1921 he and his wife moved into their home on Third Street in Farwell where he continued to live until a few years back when ill health forced him to move into the Convalescent Center. For many months afterwards it was not unusual to see Mr. Vinyard making two or three daily treks by foot to his home where he enjoyed sitting on his front porch to visit with passers-by.

The pistachio stalls the car

A Texas woman was baffled when her car wouldn't start every time she bought pistachio ice cream. It started all right when she bought vanilla, chocolate or strawberry. Most mysterious. The car dealer thought she was crazy, I suppose. But in fact, she wasn't. Lengthy investigation showed the ice cream shop prepared vanilla, chocolate and strawberry in advance, so take-out orders moved quickly. Pistachio, however, was dished up slowly. It gave time under the hot sun for the car's engine to vapor lock.

An Open Letter To The Residents And Taxpayers Of Precinct 3

Your County Commissioner will handle around $400,000.00 of your tax funds each year. This is well over a MILLION AND A HALF of your TAX DOLLARS in a four-year term of office. This large sum of money must be spent and invested in a wise and prudent manner to insure the taxpayers the very best return on their tax monies.

Since I have been your Commissioner I have purchased over $84,000 IN NEW ROAD MAINTENANCE EQUIPMENT while increasing your reserve funds over $55,000.00. Our present road maintenance equipment now can do about 20% more work with the same cost to the taxpayer as previously. I am now preparing bid specifications for ADDITIONAL ROAD MAINTENANCE EQUIPMENT. The acquisition of this additional equipment has been made possible by prudent purchasing, ahead of need and at low prices, of ALL YOUR PRECINCT REQUIREMENTS.

Our roads are in the best condition that we can keep them considering the people who let water and sprinklers damage the roads. EVERYBODY MUST COOPERATE IF EVERYBODY IS TO ALWAYS HAVE GOOD ROADS. Before accepting the reports of a few individuals, please talk to the persons who use all the precinct roads on a daily basis. They have a high opinion of the condition of the roads in Precinct 3 based on a much wider knowledge of all the roads in the Precinct.

In the final analysis, road maintenance is only a portion of the many responsibilities of a County Commissioner. Support for programs directed toward the maintenance and improvement of the County Courthouse is vital. Participation in and a knowledge of the legislative process is necessary to guard the future welfare not only of the Precinct but the County as a whole.

A strong voice for this precinct is necessary, along with the ability to effectively cooperate with all members of the County Court in the promotion of the interests of the entire County.

I have the proven knowledge and experience to do the job of your Commissioner for the benefit of ALL OUR TAXPAYERS.

I ask your support in being returned to office at the Democratic Primary Runoff Election, Saturday, June 7, 1980.

Bookmobile - -

Summer Reading Begins

"Sport Splash" is the theme of the Summer Reading Program sponsored by the Bookmobile for the children in Texas this year.

Children reading two sport books will receive a star on a small tennis racquet with the child's name on it. If a child reads 10 books of his choice he will receive a reading certificate. Bookmobile sponsors say, "The more books you read, the more ribbons and stars will be on the certificate."

The Reading Club begins June 1 and continues until August 31, and all children are urged to join.

best buys!

COLLEGE STATION -- Every week your "best buys" depend on three things, says Dr. Carol Akkerman Sain, consumer information specialist on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Ask yourself these three questions:

- Do I need the item?
- Did I compare shop?
- Do I know how I'm going to use it?

If you can say "yes" to all three, then you have a "best buy," she says.

In general, throughout the next two weeks, expect heavy supplies of broiler-fryers, dairy products, eggs, pork and turkey. That could mean attractive prices, too, except for dairy products unless they're on special.

Also, compare prices carefully on fruits and vegetables -- fresh will continue to be a better buy than the canned or frozen product.

And keep your eyes open for promotional foods with special prices.

MEAT -- It looks like poultry and pork will remain our best buys.

In selecting fresh pork, look for firm, fine-grained flesh of a grayish-pink color. It should be marbled with flecks of fat through the muscle -- and have a uniform covering of firm white fat on the exterior surface. Bones should be porous and pinkish in color.

In both fresh and processed pork products, look for the USDA mark of inspection. It's your assurance that the product has been processed under sanitary conditions and is safe to eat. It also means the product is not adulterated and is truthfully labeled.

Look for pork roasts, chops, spareribs, sausage and ham -- and cook pork slowly for the most tender, juicy results, whether you bake, broil, pan-broil, fry, braise or simmer it.

In selecting fresh poultry, check the label. The round inspection mark tells you the bird is safe and wholesome to eat.

It does not tell you anything about the tenderness or meatiness of the bird, however. You'll have to look for the USDA grade shield and class of bird to find out about these things.

For example, U.S. Grade A chickens, turkeys, ducks and capons are the meatiest and have the fewest tears in the skin.

Age tells you about tenderness -- most tender are the young birds, usually labeled as broilers, fryers and roasters. Older birds, often labeled as stewing hens, are good for stewing, baking and soups. In selecting eggs, also know your labels. Three grades -- AA, A and B -- describe the interior quality of the egg, appearance and shell condition.

AA and A are ideal for frying and poaching when appearance is important, and they're the best choice for hard-cooked eggs. B-grade eggs are fine for general cooking and baking and other uses in which appearance is not important. They're just as nutritious as the higher grade eggs.

DAIRY -- products will be plentiful for the next few weeks, too, but don't expect lower prices. For bargains, shop the promotional sales on yogurt, cheese, sour cream and butter.

FRUITS -- Strawberries have their highest quality and lowest prices -- now.

California Navel oranges are plentiful and very sweet, as are the Florida Valencia (usually sold in bags). Smaller grapefruit is the best buy, and prices on California cantaloupe are lower while quality is better. Lemon prices are leveling off, but limes are still expensive.

Apples are a best buy, but wait a few weeks on peaches, grapes, avocados and melons.

VEGETABLES -- Artichokes are as low-priced as they'll get until fall, and corn has lower prices, but ears are still small. Look for low prices on vine-ripe tomatoes, but not on hothouse tomatoes yet. Green beans prices haven't begun to drop yet, either.

Around The House with Laura Jacobs

Assistant Parmer County Extension Agent for Home Economics

Mobile homes continue to be popular with new home buyers. If you will be shopping for a mobile home remember these tips:

Generally, the most economical size is the single unit -- 12x65 feet.

For stronger walls, consider a mobile home with four-inch studs on 16-inch centers.

For energy savings, look for insulated walls and ceilings.

Is the exterior made of steel, aluminum or composition material? Aluminum is favored since it is a lightweight and reflects heat.

Look for skew and rivet fasteners, tight seams.

The roof-cap should be rolled over the sides for a weather-tight seal. Also be sure there are plenty of fastenings, not just at the edges.

Look under the coach along the two main channels of the chassis. These channels should be of thick, wide, heavy gauge steel and straight.

Wheels should have flat-bed, truck-type rims. Check for six or eight plys in the tires. Inquire as to the mechanics of the brake system. Test the brakes by operating them.

Look for all the quality points you would use in shopping for a house. Ask questions and take time to satisfy yourself on the important points.

Visit In Del Rio

Mrs. Aileen Teel of Texico accompanied her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Usrey, Stephen and Mark, of Portales on a trip to Del Rio during the Memorial Day weekend.

The group left Saturday and spent the weekend visiting at the home of another of Mrs. Teel's daughters and families, the Bill Glens.

Monday the group all went to Amistad Lake where the children enjoyed water skiing. After a picnic lunch at noon the Usreys and Mrs. Teel returned home.

The local traveler reports that things were beautiful in Del Rio, but that the temperature was also very hot, reaching 102 degrees on Sunday. She also reported that the Glens are tentatively planning to move to Hobbs, N.M., in June.

Mark Haseloffs Parents Of Girl

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Haseloff of Oklahoma Lane are the parents of a new baby girl. Brittney Dawn was born Friday, May 23, at 8:19 a.m. in Clovis High Plains Hospital weighing eight pounds and four ounces. She was 20 1/2 inches long.

Grandparents of the new baby are Henry Haseloff of Oklahoma Lane and Mr. and Mrs. E.J. Gaspard of Port Arthur. Great-grandparents are Hope Shuman of Farwell, Mr. and Mrs. Whitney Gaspard of Kaplan, La., and Mr. and Mrs. Eudon Gaspard of Abbeville, La.

Father's Day Facts & Fancies

Father's Day was originated by Mrs. John Dodd in Spokane, Washington, in 1910. She wanted to express her gratitude to her own father, a Civil War veteran who had single-handedly raised six children.

Father's Day, though not an official holiday, was celebrated individually in ancient China where great age implied great prestige. A popular gift was a longevity robe: costly silk embroidered with the characters for "long-life" by a young person likely to live long.

'De-Fibber McGee' Your Closets!

Today's homes can actually have more storage than you realize -- if you use the "De-Fibber McGee" attack on closets.

Sue Young, a housing and home furnishings specialist, says efficient closet space is the key.

Mrs. Young is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Reach-in clothes closets are a more efficient use of space than walk-in closets.

An ideal measurement is 28 inches deep -- although the Federal Home Administration (FHA) has a 24-inch minimum standard depth.

For rod length, each person needs a minimum of three linear feet -- but five or six feet would be better.

Install closet rods at different heights for the best use of space -- decide the best heights for each rod according to use.

To determine height, measure the longest garments and then add six inches.

Remember to make rod heights for children adjustable, so they will serve from present on to adulthood.

Shelves also take some planning. Shelves above the rods increase storage possibilities -- and a tier of shelves in the closet's center adds even more storage.

Mount shelves two or three inches above the rod so hangers will clear them.

Also, you can include more shelves above children's clothes while the children are small -- if you mounted the rods low enough.

Even the closet door makes a difference in storage efficiency.

Ideally the closet front should open completely -- no more than six inches of rod on either side should be concealed when the door is open.

Doors may be hinged, folding or sliding -- but sliding doors allow you to reach only half of the closet at one time, while a full-width swing door requires much floor space for clearance.

Bi-fold doors suspended from tracks are good choices for most closets.

Mrs. Taylor, Son Shower Honorees

Mrs. Greg Taylor of Farwell and her newborn son, Matthew Eugene, were honorees at a baby shower Monday, May 26, in the home of Gaye Roberts. Co-hosting the shower with Mrs. Roberts was Mrs. Cary Kittrell of Texico.

Mrs. Taylor, her mother, Mrs. Carliss Woods, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Jack Taylor of Lubbock, were each presented with corsages featuring baby rattlers, pacifiers and feeding spoons.

Other special guests included the baby's great-grandmother, Mrs. Willie Hardage, and his great-great-aunt, Mrs. Myrtle Withrow.

The serving table was covered with lace, and refreshments of slush punch, cake and nuts were served. Blue and yellow plates, cups and napkins were used. The cake was decorated in blue and yellow and bore the message: "Welcome to the World, Matthew."

Guests were registered in a baby book which was a gift from Mrs. Taylor's sister-in-law.

Attending besides the honorees and hostesses were Mrs. Carliss Woods, Mrs. Jack Taylor, Mrs. Willie Hardage, Myrtle Withrow, Gail Birchfield, Kristi Spearman, Leigh Ann Woods, Delia Mitchell, Gay Goetsch, and the baby's brother, two-year-old Brock Woods.

Cynthia Watts Is Honored At Shower

The honoree's colors of light blue and light plum were featured in the decorations with a floral arrangement in these tones centering the table. A white cloth covered the refreshment table and crystal and silver appointments were used to serve punch and cake. Silver and white napkins completed the table decor.

Assisting the honoree in opening and registering gifts was Shelley Eldridge, sister of the prospective bridegroom.

*INFLATION-FIGHTING FOOD IDEAS*

Serve A Surprising One-Dish Meal

You can savor the flavor of canned salmon and save money at the same time when you mix it with other favorites -- cut asparagus and economical cooked rice. Then top with grated cheese and bake until bubbly hot. Sauced with sour cream, a can of cream of chicken soup and seasoned with dill and onion, a can of salmon goes a long way.

SALMON SUPREME

- 1 can (15-1/2 or 16 ounces) pink salmon
- 1 can (10-3/4 ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 1/3 cup minced onion
- 1/2 teaspoon dried dill weed
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 3 cups cooked rice
- 1 can (14-1/2 ounces) all-green asparagus cut spears and tips (drained)
- 1 cup grated Cheddar cheese

Drain, bone and flake salmon; reserve liquid. Heat soup, salmon liquid, sour cream, onion, seasonings, and rice. Fold in salmon. Turn into a greased, shallow 2-quart baking dish. Arrange asparagus over salmon mixture. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Your Dairy Quiz

Question: What is the name of this product?

Answer: Butter.

Q. From what is it made?

A. Butter is churned from cream. One pound of butter represents the amount of cream in approximately ten quarts of whole milk. Color may be added to keep the butter a uniform color throughout the year as well as to satisfy consumer preferences.

Q. How is butter used?

A. It's used primarily as a spread for bread, rolls and other baked goods because of its flavor and palatability. However, it is also used for sauteing such delicately flavored foods as mushrooms, seafood and poultry. Frostings, candy, cakes, yeast doughs and quick breads made with butter retain their natural flavor and keep well. Butter is also unsurpassed for seasoning vegetables, as is, or in special sauces. It's used exclusively in most types of gourmet cooking.

Q. What's the nutritive value of butter?

A. Butter is one of the excellent sources of food energy and it's rich in vitamin A and contains some vitamin D.

PHYSICAL FITNESS

Old Masters Of Swimming

Most people learn to swim when they are children. Nellie Brown of Alexandria, Va., didn't learn until she was 68. Now in her 80s, and enjoying the best of health, Nellie attributes her fitness to Masters Swimming. She is one of over 100,000 Americans involved with Masters Swimming, a program of physical fitness and competition for men and women over 25. Masters swimmers come from every walk of life and many of them never swam competitively before.

Studies have shown that swimming seems to slow down the aging process. Dr. Herbert DeVries of the University of Southern California's Andrus Gerontology Center found that people, aged 50 to 87, who were given hour-long workouts three times a week for six weeks, had profound physical improvement. Many of the men and women in their 70s regained the strength and vitality they had in their 50s.

Some masters competitors have found that they are better swimmers in their 40s and 50s than they were in their teens and 20s. It's not surprising that masters swimmers think of their swim programs as their own private fountain of youth.

THE TRIUMPHAL ENTRY; PAST OR FUTURE?

Did our Lord actually ride in triumph into Jerusalem to become King of the Church? Or is His true triumph still to come?

True, the townspeople cried: "Hosanna! Blessed in the King of Israel that cometh in the name of the Lord" (John 12:13). But Jesus responded by entering the city, riding "an ass's colt" (Vers. 14,15). Surely this was not a very regal sight! Once before, when He knew that they "would come and take Him by force to make Him a King, He departed... into a mountain Himself alone" (John 6:15).

He knew that it was not yet time for Him to reign. First must come the cross, then the throne. Zechariah had prophesied of this entry into Jerusalem, saying: "Behold thy King!" Look at Him! and then he describes His entrance: "lowly, and riding upon an ass, and upon a colt, the foal of an ass" (Zech. 9:9).

At this entry, "When He was come near, He beheld the city, and wept over it" (Luke 19:41). At this entry He entered into the temple, looked about and went out again (Mark 11:11). It was His father's house, but He could not worship there. It had become a den of thieves. No, this was not triumphal entry. Look at Him, meek, lowly, riding on an ass's colt, and then see Him coming again as Revelation 19:11-16 describes it. How different the symbolism!

Once meek, lowly, and "having salvation." Now, "in righteousness doth He judge and make war." "Once, riding "an ass's colt." Now, "Behold! a white horse!" And those eyes, once filled with tears are now "as a flame of fire."

Our Lord's true triumphal entry is still future. According to prophecy He will come again, put down all rebellion against Himself and reign in glory and power. Thank God He has not yet done so! In love He still points to Calvary, where He died for our sins and offers us the riches of His grace. "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved" (Acts 16:31).

Washington Woman Writes Of Volcanic Aftermath

May 19, 1980

Greetings from "ashy" Yakima. In my last letter I said I sometimes wait until I have something to write about. Well -- I have plenty to write about this time.

You have probably heard all about Mt. Saint Helen's eruption. We are about 100 or a little more miles away from it.

We are, unfortunately, right in the middle of a jet air stream and Yakima is considered a disaster area.

We have a major clean-up problem since none of us have ever had to deal with such a thing as this before. It's unbelievable, and seems unreal, but it IS real. We have as much as four inches in some areas in the valley; right here we measured 1 1/2 inches of volcanic ash or dust. It is very strong -- of sulphur smell and irritating to the throat, eyes and skin. For the first several hours it was a gray color and later it became almost white and then gray again.

Our flowers are all bent over and are touching the ground. Some of the petals are brittle. I don't know yet how much it will affect the garden plants or how much damage there will be to the hops and fruit. It is being studied and tested to the fullest extent.

Everything seems so strange. We thought it might be through erupting when today it started again. Everyone is supposed to stay inside -- off the streets unless in an emergency. The speed limit in the city limits is 15 m.p.h. and on county roads 20 m.p.h. It is a fine dust-blinding behind cars. There are lots of people with respiratory problems, also rash. I had pain in my chest that lasted approximately one hour yesterday and had to breathe with a wet cloth over my nose and mouth.

People with heart problems and asthma etc. are supposed to stay out of it. The volcanic ash has some acid in it.

Our town of 50,000 or more population is like a ghost city. All schools, businesses are closed -- all animals (if possible) are inside. Birds are running around on the ground mostly, acting very nervous. There are fresh worm holes through the ash. I saw a big fly that was almost dead -- three big bees tried for quite a while to get in through a window, but finally dropped and came to a slow crawl then finally died. What a strange situation!

We will have to take extra precautions with the cars etc. The ash is very devastating to the paint on the cars and also the air filters will clog up fast. The people in Yakima are pulling together. The Senior Citizens and disabled people are getting free help for clean-up. We have a water shortage threat as it takes a lot of water to wash off plants and everything else. Also, we are expecting rain tomorrow which may cause a power outage because the fuses are contaminated on the transformers. There is no mail delivery -- everything is at a standstill except for a few things for emergency.

Everyone is advised to wear masks. Everytime things become so still and quiet outside we worry. Yesterday was a day of loud rumbling -- like thunder and lightning. It is sad -- but could be worse.

We have a constant radio broadcast over KIT with all the information we need. I have taken some pictures and also have put some ash in some containers; so if Todd would be interested in some of it I will send him some. It is very heavy. A one-pound margarine cup holds two pounds of volcanic ash. They say it will be super fertilizer.

We were in total darkness for 18 hours. It was pitch dark all day. I'm not going to finish this letter right now as there's no mail movement anyway; so I might want to tell you something more about things anyway.

This is Tuesday the 20th -- the sun has actually shown through somewhat. The sky is still full of ash. People are starting to clean up. Vacuum cleaners work some -- but get full fast and the motors get hot. Everyone is running water (irrigation and city) so there's not much force -- plus -- everyone is urged to curtail water. They say this will be worse on horses than cattle as horses do have pneumonia and emphysema and cattle don't.

There is a slight chance of rain, but when this stuff gets wet it's almost like cement. Oh what a mess! The mail will be delivered today -- so I thought I'd finish this letter today. Now the wind is blowing and causing more visibility problems and also breathing and skin problems. They opened the highway between here and Ellensburg and when the wind started blowing they closed it again. Officials are starting a major clean-up, with help from Seattle and others. Orchardists are trying to blow the ash off the fruit trees with big blowing machines, but all of it doesn't blow off. If the sun comes out hot, a lot of trees and plants will be burned.

Whatever will be, will be.

Cooking For Two Is A Challenge

By Jeanne Gleason
Associate Agricultural Editor
New Mexico State University

Before you are married, two sounds like the world's most ideal number. Your favorite songs, books and magazines all focus on ideal twosomes.

And whole two is grand for most things, the three-times-a-day occasion of eating can prove to be a little less glamorous than popular media might hint.

But according to Mae Martha Johnson, Extension food specialist at New Mexico State University, cooking for two has many advantages along with the drawbacks. "For example, since you are cooking small, you can afford an occasional splurge on out-of-season fruit that a family of six could never dare," Mrs. Johnson said.

Togetherness can be another real advantage to cooking for two. Why not make cooking a joint activity for you and your spouse?

This is especially good if you both work and arrive home tired and hungry. "After all, it only seems fair that if you both work to 'bring home the bacon,' you can share in preparing it for the table," the specialist said.

A simple old-fashioned idea like a menu can help solve a lot of the problems associated with cooking for two. This will give you time to find or modify recipes, buy the ingredients and plan for leftovers.

Since breakfast and lunch are often small meals for newlyweds, the nutritional make-up of the evening meal is especially important. Check your day's menu against the Basic Four food guide. This tells you how much of the four food groups -- meats, milks, breads and fruits and vegetables -- you need to include them each day in your diet.

"You need two or more servings of meats, fish, eggs, dried beans or peanut butter. If you don't like milk, you can substitute some cheese or ice cream for the two cups of milk you need," Mrs. Johnson said.

Try to eat four or more servings of vegetables and fruits. Plan on one dark green or yellow vegetable every other day and one citrus fruit each day. Finally you'll need four or more servings of breads and cereals.

"But just blindly following the Basic Four won't do much good if the food is so unattractive that it's not eaten," the specialist said. "To make the meal a real success -- think contrast. Contrast colors, textures, flavors, temperatures and food sizes."

Imagine trying to eat a meal of white fish with tartar sauce, mashed potatoes, cauliflower, white bread and milk -- all served on your new white wedding china! Who cares that all groups of the basic four are included in this monochlor meal?

Instead, contrast the colors by substituting a bright vegetable, a tossed vegetable salad with tomatoes, whole wheat bread and chocolate pudding.

Accent hot foods with a cold side dish. Put something soft on the plate if the main dish is crunchy. Also vary the shape of the goods. If you're serving round hamburger patties on round buns with round tomatoes and pickles, add carrot sticks or maybe french fries instead of little potato balls.

Remember that desserts can be nutritious, too. Try a simple dish of fresh fruit or use milk as the basis for puddings, custards or malts," Mrs. Johnson said.

When it comes to actually cooking the food, some of your specialized wedding gifts can really come in handy. If you think your new toaster oven will only toast bread or heat TV dinners, you're wrong. Mrs. Johnson said. It can cook everything, from the main course to the dessert and use only one-half of the electricity of a standard oven. It will also keep your kitchen cooler during the hot months ahead.

Use a double boiler to keep from scorching small amounts of soup, stew or vegetables. You can also quickly cook small amounts of vegetables by stir-frying them in a skillet.

Divide cake batter into small loaf pans or make cupcakes. Freeze the extras. And remember that you can keep a batch of rich butter cookies for weeks in a tightly closed container in the refrigerator.

A large freezer section can really help small families. Use it to store meal-sized portions of meats, ready-to-cook foods and heat-and-eat leftovers.

You can use your leftovers to make custom TV dinners. Cover the tray tightly with foil and freeze. The leftovers will seem like new if you haven't had the dish for awhile. It's probably best to use these dinners within a month.

Eggs and cheese are great for small-sized entrees. Make a cheese omelet filled with leftover vegetables or bits of cooked meat.

Now, dress up the plate of food. Although parley is the universal trim, don't think it's the only way to add color. Use some celery leaves, pickle slices or green onions.

Finally, serve your meals with a flare. Cover the table with a colorful tablecloth or use place mats. Change the centerpieces from a bowl of fruit to a green plant to candles.

Always be on the look-out for new ways to give special touches to your twosome meals. Developing the creativity and nutritional understanding of small meal planning will always stay with you, even if the number of dinner plates expands to three or four or more.

Gardening News

Annuals For Shady Areas

You may have some dark, shady spots in your garden, but you don't have to be in the dark about what to plant there.

Coleus, impatiens and fibrous-rooted begonias offer a wide selection of textures, forms and colors from which gardeners can choose to brighten those dark, shady areas, says Dr. William Welch, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. For special effects or special occasions, beam a spotlight on them for night-time enjoyment.

If you like coleus, choose varieties having long, saber-like leaves or broad, almost heart-shaped leaves. There also are varieties with fringed leaf edges or deeply-lobed oaklike leaves.

The newest in coleus types, a cascading coleus, is bred especially for hanging baskets. "Scarlet Poncho" is the first of this series. It has large, heart-shaped leaves of deep scarlet with a narrow serrated edge of chartreuse, explains Welch.

All coleus types come in an array of colors that include rose, pink, scarlet, bronze, yellow and gold. They can be grown in shady corners, on your patio in tubs or hanging baskets, or on your kitchen window sill.

Dwarf impatiens are now available with larger flowers, up to two inches across. Some are compact (8-10 inches), with basal branching. Their larger flower size and wide color range make them desirable for pots, tubs, hanging baskets or mass plantings in shady areas, says the horticulturist.

Fibrous begonias give you another choice for shady areas. They have the added advantage of thriving in both partial sun and shade. Three new varieties introduced this year include "Pink Avalanche," "Gladiator" and "Frilly Red."

"Pink Avalanche" was bred for hanging baskets. It boasts one-inch, soft pink flowers on plants with a spectacular, pendulous habit, making great hanging baskets. "Pink Avalanche" does not produce seed but keeps trying anyway, blooming profusely in an effort to reproduce itself.

"Gladiator" is another hybrid that produces brilliant red blooms two to three inches across on 8- to 10-inch plants. Plants have a compact, base-branching habit. "Gladiator" has been recognized as a novelty by Fleuroselect, Europe's equivalent to our All-America Selections.

"Frilly Red" has huge, bright red blooms, three-fourths to one inch wide and about two inches deep, enhanced by ruffled edges and offset by deep green foliage. This hybrid begonia is especially nice in pots but also does well in mass plantings.

Begonias, impatiens and coleus -- mix them or match them for exciting colors, forms and textures for your problem shady areas, suggests Welch.

Medallion Room Closes

Due to expansion and growth of Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative, and the need for additional space, the Cooperative will no longer offer the Medallion room as a meeting room for the community. The closing date was May 20, 1980.

The decision by the Board of Directors is in lieu of constructing new facilities in an effort to continue electric service to our consumers at the lowest possible cost.

In the interest of prudent management, the space will be utilized productively for offices and computer billing equipment.
