

Muleshoe man sought in shooting death caught

A Muleshoe man who is a suspect in a shooting death that occurred in Parmer County Aug. 3 has been apprehended, Parmer County Sheriff Bill Morgan announced. Apprehended was Rene Garcia 22. He was arrested by city police in Immokalee, Fla., northeast of Naples, Fla., Nov. 13.

He faces Parmer County charges of capital murder, aggravated assault, aggravated kidnapping and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle; Texas charge of violation of parole, and a federal charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. Found with Garcia in Florida was Ida Sotelo, 17, of Muleshoe, who Garcia allegedly took with him at gunpoint. She is in good health, said Morgan. Ida apparently wrote a note that led to police capturing Garcia. The August incident occurred on FM Road 2290, six miles west of Bovina at 1:10 a.m. Pronounced dead at the scene was Christy Sotelo, 25, of Muleshoe. Wounded was Tonya Parkinson, 23, of Muleshoe. The shootings apparently were keyed by a domestic squabble. Ida, who worked at Allsup's in Farwell, had gotten off work at midnight. There to meet here were Christy Sotelo, Tonya Parkinson and two other Muleshoe residents, all in one car. When Ida left in her pickup, she apparently was met by Garcia, said Morgan. He got in her pickup and they rode around the county until the pickup got stuck on FM 2290. Then all six got into the car, a 1985 Buick Regal. The shooting occurred later. After the shooting, Garcia allegedly forced Ida to go with him in the car. The car later was found in Louisiana. Morgan said Garcia has waived extradition and arrangements are being made to return him to Parmer County.

Taking stands

It's time to take some stands today, folks. For example: I think it's the consensus of most folks here that they would like to see the Farwell Sesquicentennial mural stay where it is, on the side of City Hall. But the fear is that weather conditions will cause it to deteriorate. My feeling is that if a protective coating can be put on periodically to resist weather problems, let's leave it where it is. But if it will deteriorate due to being outside, let's put it on the wall of the Farwell Community Center as had been planned. It would get good viewing inside the center, which is getting heavy usage. Would you believe that 30 groups have booked the center in the past month? The community center has shown that it was needed here.

It's a difficult pill to swallow to see us dealing with Iran behind the scenes after the humiliations we suffered during the hostage crisis in the Carter administration.

But that's one of the givens of diplomacy: nation-states often take actions that their people don't agree with.

The fact is that we're sworn friends with Germany and Japan today. Would you have believed that in 1944?

Or that our folks take tours now in Red China, another good buddy. Would you have believed that in 1955.

Or how we're negotiating with Communist Vietnam? Would you have believed that in 1970?

There's an old saying in the Middle East: If you and I have the same enemy, that makes us friends. Iran is a bulwark, due to its geographical location, against Russian expansion to the Persian Gulf, with its oil states, Iran, especially in its current nationalistic fervor, has no love for the Communists.

That makes Iran our friend, whether we want it to be or not. So even though we're the "G" at Satan" to the Ayatollah right now, down the road I look for our relations as nation-states to improve. We no longer are a threat to Iran. But Russia, with its long border with Iran, is. Thus, due to geo-politics and the natural pragmatism of nation-states, the U.S. and Iran will someday be buddies again.

It's too bad Reagan's secret dealings on this path have been twisted around the hostage issue. They go far deeper than that. We're talking of rapprochement with another former enemy -- in the context of Japan, Red China, etc.

One of the major spending times for us approaches: the Christmas season. Please spend your money locally. We have many fine businesses in our area for you to use.

Just remember: who is willing to help you in a time of need? who knows you personally and cares for your situation? who employs your relatives and neighbors? who pays the taxes for your schools and streets?

Lubbock doesn't. Albuquerque doesn't. Amarillo doesn't. And the foreign-owned chain stores don't.

It's too bad to hear about the Muleshoe Hospital situation. As I've written, I feel a hospital in that community is very important. But it's difficult for a small community hospital to survive without a tax base.

In Farwell, the creation of a hospital district has caused many good things to happen: a doctor, dentist, pharmacist and appropriate facilities.

This is what is needed in Muleshoe: a tax-supported hospital district.

Treider benefit

There was a large turnout of participants at the benefit Sunday for Mrs. Raymond Treider Jr., who has been ill. A barbeque luncheon was served at Lazbuddie School. Shown is Troy Steinbock in the service line while Terry Thomas is among the servers. The benefit was to defer the cost of Mrs. Treider's medical expenses.

Susie Medley was born in a log cabin

Susie Medley was born Oct. 17, 1896, in the backwoods of Howard County, Mo., to Thomas Smith Bailey and Maheada Bell Bailey. After the death of his first wife, Susie's father married Maheada. Susie was born in a log cabin built by her grandfather, Minter Henderson Bailey, during the Civil War. The home consisted of one large single room.

Susie's mother died in 1898 at the age of 27. Susie was told that her mother choked on something in her food.

Her grandfather used to tell her stories of some of the family members who served in the Civil War.

Susie's uncle Sam was hiding out in the woods from the "bushwackers" (northern soldiers). The family traveled by sled when they were trying to hide Sam, so that when they would come to a road they would lift up the sled so as not to make tracks for the bushwackers to trail them with.

Susie's father was about five years old at the time and his two sisters were delivering food to their Aunt Mead's home. The bushwackers saw them and caught up with the girls, but the girls escaped. The bushwackers then caught Susie's grandfather and questioned him about Sam.

When he wouldn't talk, they piled up sticks on which tobacco was hung to dry and stood Susie's grandfather on them. A noose was put around his neck and the tobacco kicked aside so that he would hang. Her grandfather didn't die though, but was choked rather badly.

After Susie's mother died, her grandmother came to live with them. Susie said that when the sap would come in the spring, her grandmother used to hang a can on the grapevines and catch the drippings for hair tonic. Butter without salt was used for hair oil.

When Susie was about eight years old, her father married for the third time, to Susan Letha Avery. They moved to her farm which was about two miles away from their home place. Thomas and Susan Bailey had two children.

Susie said that she didn't get to go to school much because she was often sick with allergies. She said her father tried all kinds of remedies and would rub her down with poultices consisting of quinine, turpentine and coal oil. None of the remedies did any good because he would prop her little arms up on feather pillows and she slept on feather and straw mattresses -- which later they found out she was allergic to.

One year she didn't go to school for one whole term. Susie finished her schooling through the ninth grade.

One of the first toys that Susie and her sister had was a "dollar" doll. Susie said that they were the only doll that they ever had. The doll had a straw body and fashioned heads and arms.

The girls received the dolls for

SUSIE MEDLEY

Christmas. Their brother received an airgun that year. Most of the other toys were hand-made and fashioned out of wood. Some of the toys they made were sling shots and bow and arrows.

Susie told a funny story about when she and her sisters lived with her grandma. It seems as though the girls and Susie, who was not really big enough to go, decided to go pick mulberries. The older girls climbed the tree and threw limbs off to Susie. The girls ate and ate until they couldn't eat any more. They they rubbed mulberries between their hands and rubbed them on their faces. They said they were "Indians on the war path."

Susie married George Leonard Medley in 1917. He was from Gotebo, Okla. When they were first married he worked in a garage, but later he worked as a farmer on his father's land. Susie worked in the fields beside them.

Susie and George moved to Idalou, Texas, for a short while and lived with some friends. They thought that this move would be good for her asthma, but the move didn't help so they returned to Oklahoma.

The Medley's five children were born in Oklahoma. Susie gave birth to triplets, daughter Sue and son Jack. The triplets were named Minnie, Bill and Winnie. The Medleys moved to Farwell in 1947 when the triplets were in the eighth grade.

Minnie works at the Farwell ASCS office, Winnie is a homemaker and lives in Clovis, Bill works for Pantex in Amarillo, Sue is a homemaker in Odessa and Jack is retired and lives in Oklahoma City. Susie has 17 grandchildren and 25 great-grandchildren.

Susie has been a member of the Church of Christ since 1947.

Susie crochets, knits, weaves carpets and used to do some sewing.

The first article of clothing that Susie ever made was a pair of long underwear for her dad. Susie made it out of cotton flannel and sewed them on the machine.

Her grandmother, made their clothes by stitching them on her fingers. Susie said her grandmother use to unravel the edge of the fabric and use the threads to sew with, because they didn't always have matching thread.

Susie was 90 years old Oct. 17 and she now resides at the Farwell Convalescent Center.

Exchange student wins 11th contest

Minna Malinen, an exchange student from Finland attending Texico High School, won last week's Area Merchants Football Contest.

Minna and Ray Stanley, of Lazbuddie, were the only two entrants last week to get 10 right. Minna was first by virtue of being closest to the tiebreaker -- she was 16 points off the Sudan 14, Farwell 12 score. Stanley was 19 points off.

So Minna won $10 for her first place cash prize. And Stanley won $5 for second place.

It was another hard week for entrants as upsets continued to rule the contest. Illinois surprised Indiana, SMU upset Texas Tech, Arkansas shocked Texas A&M and Georgia upset Auburn to keep scores low.

Other results were: Clovis over Hobbs, Tatum over Melrose, Hereford over Borger, Penn State over Notre Dame, Detroit over Philadelphia, NY Giants over Minnesota, Cincinnati over Seattle and Pittsburgh over Houston.

Those with 9 right were: J.D. Carson, Lucretia Foster, Carl Gonzales, David Lynn, Borde Williams and Spicer Lewis.

Those with 8 right were: Jenoyce Ford, Al Gonzales, Dwight Green, Paulette Green, Mamie Howard, Joyce Ketcherside, Teresa King, Juanita Lara, Red Lonsdale, Vernon Thigpen, Ronnie Warmuth, Calvin Warren, Donovan Marney,

This week's contest is the last for the 1986 year and it's going right down the wire for the championship.

The overall winner will get two free tickets to the Dallas Cowboys - Chicago Bears game Dec. 21 at Texas Stadium. The winner also will get free hotel accommodations for two, transportation to and from the game, and $50 cash.

Here's a look at the leaders: 89 points -- Vicky Lynn (averaging just over 8 points a week).

- 88 -- Cheryl Scott.
- 87 -- David Lynn.
- 86 -- Steve Kittrell.
- 85 -- Rick Castaneda, Joannah Gartin and T.J. Kittrell.
- 84 -- Ralph Franse, Don Gartin and Donnie McDonald.

Cantrells plead guilty

Fred Cantrell and his wife Pearl, of Farwell pleaded guilty in District Court Friday to charges of murder after plea bargaining.

Fred Cantrell, 68, was sentenced to 10 years in prison. He will be sent to Huntsville, then classified. Prosecutor Johnny Atkinson said most are eligible for parole after one-third of their sentences are completed but Cantrell's is longer due to use of a deadly weapon. "He may not get paroled," said Atkinson.

Pearl Cantrell was sentenced to 10 years on probation. Atkinson said she has moved to Potter County (Amarillo) to live with relatives and is not allowed in Parmer County until 1996.

The charges against the Cantrells were filed after the shooting death July 27 of Carl William Moore II, 26, an Ohio native living at 902 Ave. D, Farwell.

The incident began after Moore and a son of Cantrell had an argument. Fred and Pearl Cantrell drove to Moore's residence later that day.

Witnesses told the sheriff that Moore was in the front yard and Cantrell shot him at least twice, in the chest and back, with a .22 caliber rifle. Thirty minutes later, the Cantrells voluntarily appeared at the sheriff's office.

Anderson, prominent civic leader, dies

Gabe David Anderson, a prominent Parmer County businessman and civic leader, died Sunday morning in Clovis after a brief illness. He was 94.

Anderson, who had been with Security State Bank in Farwell since 1927, got his start in the banking industry in 1919 in Arkansas when he paid a local banker to let him work and learn the business. A succession of moves over the years took Anderson to Deming, N.M., Friona, and eventually Farwell, where he assumed a major role in the city's growth. In 1927, he became president of the Farwell Bank and served as chairman of the board in succeeding years.

When the building closed in 1964, he oversaw the construction of Security State Bank and donated the old building to the city. As a pivotal force, Anderson served his community in the planning and construction of a number of municipal services for Farwell.

During the early Depression years, he and a small group of businessmen oversaw the construction of the city's water works. He later served as president and ran the city's water company for 25 years.

Along with other businessmen, he also planned for the construction of Farwell's current city hall, the Farwell Convalescent Center and the Farwell Clinic.

Anderson's civic involvements included key roles in establishing the Farwell Chamber of Commerce and the Development Association. He also served as president of the chamber, was a board member of the Southwestern Medical Foundation and was involved with his local school board. In the 1950s Anderson took a major role in establishing KZOL radio station.

He was named "Man of the Year through the Years" in 1972 by the Farwell Chamber of Commerce. At one time, he also was listed in "Who's Who in the South and Southwest."

Services were Tuesday in First Baptist Church with the Rev. J.L. Bass, former pastor, officiating. Also assisting was Rev. Pat Riley, current pastor. Burial was in Sunset Terrace

Kaltwassers contribute to Wayland Baptist

Endowed scholarship contributions totaling $125,000 were dedicated and their donors added to the Hall of Honour Nov. 13 at Wayland Baptist University.

The ceremony in McClung University Center honored the Walter and Gladys Kaltwasser family of Farwell as well as the family of the late Thomas Darrell Wiggins of Canadian.

Four bronze plaques - each representing scholarship donations of $25,000 - were unveiled by the Kaltwasser family, and a fifth plaque, also representing $25,000, was unveiled by Wiggins' daughter, Mrs. Bobby Dillman of Canadian.

"We cannot begin to thank these fine people enough for what they have done for Wayland," said WBU Development Vice President Ron Mooney. "They are longtime friends and supporters, and it is our privilege to recognize them in this way."

The Kaltwasser scholarships honored not only the donors themselves but also Kaltwasser's brother, Rev. Aurelius Kaltwasser of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Dr. Strauss Atkinson of Plainview.

The contributions bring to eight the total of endowed scholarships recognized in the Hall of Honour, located on the main floor of the University Center.

Funds from the donations have been invested, with the interest earned on that investment providing scholarship money to present and future Wayland students.

Students receiving the Kaltwasser scholarship this year are Lynnea Chapman of Del Norte, Colo.; Twila Donaldson of Farwell; Kelly Lynn of Texico, and Angie Charlson of Farwell.

Each of the student recipients were recognized during the ceremonies. Miss Lynn, who is Kaltwasser's granddaughter, also read the citation honoring her great-uncle, Aurelius Kaltwasser.

Kaltwasser is a native of Vernon but is a longtime resident of Farwell, which he served as mayor. He was honored by that city earlier this year with "Walter Kaltwasser Day." He is also presently serving as a member of Wayland's Board of Trustees.

His wife, Gladys, is a native of London, England, and met her husband while he was serving in the U.S. Air Force during World War II. She was the 1961 Texas Lutheran Woman of the Year, 1973 Farwell Woman of the Year, and also was "Mayor for a Day" in both Corpus Christi and San Antonio.

Convention attended

Brett Taylor and Justin Barnes, two of Texico's FFA officers, represented Texico and the State of New Mexico at the National FFA convention in Kansas City, Mo. Nov. 12-15.

Speakers were Dan Quisenberry, a baseball player for the Kansas City Royals, and Olympic athlete Bruce Jenner.

Entertainment was the "American Royal Rodeo." During the Rodeo there was nightly entertainment by country western singers Reba McEntire, Sawyer Brown and John Snider.

Tours were put on by many of the major businesses and factories.

One of the main things that the boys learned was about how the FFA ran its main offices.

School's out

The Farwell School will let school out for the Thanksgiving Holidays, Nov. 26 at 2:30 p.m. There will be no school Thursday or Friday.

Texico School will let out school on Nov. 26 for Teachers' inservice and Nov. 27-28 for the Thanksgiving Holidays.

Texico bond election set

Texico School Supt. James Pierce announced Wednesday that a bond issue is scheduled Feb. 3 for school improvements.

The School Board met Tuesday night with architect Eldon Smith of Clovis. He showed a tentative plan, costing about $410,000, for the improvements.

Planned are a building housing four classrooms, a nurse's office and counselor's office. It would be added between the old elementary and intermediate buildings. Also, the hallway on the old elementary building would be inclosed. Feb. 3 is also the date for the School Board election.

Lights ready

The Texico Chamber of Commerce is preparing to put up Christmas lights so that they can be turned on after Thanksgiving.

John Hadley has tentatively lined up a speaker for the Chamber Banquet next spring.

Farwell Junior High wins district grid title

The Farwell Junior High seventh and eighth grade football team beat Sudan 34-0 ending their season and making them the District 2 champions.

In the first quarter Greg Actkinson scored on a 30-yard run, with Shawn Stewart running the ball in for the two point conversion. Stewart scored on a 40-yard run. Stewart ran in another touchdown on a 20 yard run.

There was no scoring in the second quarter, so at the halftime the score was 20-0.

In the third quarter, Stewart scored on a 45-yard run.

In the fourth quarter, Actkinson scored on a 10-yard run and Kirk Lingnau ran in the extra two points.

Coach Gary Cates said, "The boys played well, especially with the weather so cold. I think the boys should be commended for playing in such cold weather."

"We ran in a couple of scores right away," said Cates. "The defense performed well and held Sudan to four plays which usually forced Sudan to punt."

"We scored 21 points in the first half, but we had the opportunity to score two or three more times. There were a lot of turn-overs in the game, but that was due mostly to the bad weather."

"The boys were really excited after the game. I don't think they really realized what a big accomplishment they had successfully made. Not many times does it happen that a team can go undefeated or like our eighth grade boys, unscored on."

Cates complimented the first string defense for being unscored on the whole season. "A coach can't ask for any more out of his kids than that. I feel fortunate to have had the opportunity to work and be around kids of that caliber."

Cates recognized the seventh grade boys for the improvement they made from the first of the season, to the end. "I think we'll have a great team for next year," said Cates.

Cates recognized some of the boys for the fine jobs they did in the Sudan game. He recognized Shawn Stewart for gaining 264 yards in 14 carries; Monty Delgado and Greg Actkinson for the good jobs at quarterback and fullback, respectively.

Cates recognized the offensive line for the considerable improvement they made this year.

"I would like to thank the junior high, pep club, cheerleaders and all of the others who have contributed their time and effort to supporting our team," said Cates.

Farwell Junior High ended their season with a 7-0 record.

Farwell rises to the occasion

Although the Farwell Steers lost to Sudan, 14-12, Friday at Roberts Stadium, it was probably Farwell's finest game of the year -- and maybe of the past several years.

The Steers played the Hornets, a 10-0 team bound for the playoffs, even throughout the game.

And Farwell, down by 8 points, put on a drive in the last seven minutes of play which included three successful fourth-and-long situations.

Coach Rex Cumpton pulled all his tricks out of the bag, including a fake point-after kick, using big tackle Carey Stancell as a running back (like the Chicago Bears using William "the Refrigerator" Perry), pass off a reverse (good for a touch-down) and a direct hike from center to halfback with the quarterback going in motion and heading downfield to become a pass receiver.

Sudan has two speedy backs and the Steer defense keyed on them throughout the game, stopping them successfully. But a couple of long passes did them in.

In the first quarter, Farwell's first drive was stopped by a lost fumble on the Sudan 33. Sudan drove downfield until Steer Roy Perales intercepted on a tipped pass at the Farwell 11.

The Steers got better field position when Jason Schilling broke loose on a 24-yard scamper to the Farwell 37. Runs by Damon George and Jeff Actkinson got the ball to the Sudan 32 before Farwell was forced to punt.

Sudan got the ball on its own 13 and was stopped. A bad center to the punter resulted in the punter being tackled on the Sudan 3.

On the first play, Actkinson bowled over for a TD at 7:12 of the second quarter. A run (off a fake kick) for the conversion failed.

Sudan and Farwell traded possessions until the Hornets got the ball at the Farwell 45. They drove downfield and scored on a 20-yard pass at 2:22. The kick was good and Sudan led, 7-6.

The third quarter was highlighted by long runs by George (including a pitch to Danny Rubio for extra yardage on one) but neither team could score.

During one series, Sudan returned a punt to the Farwell 10. A tacked-on penalty put the ball at the Farwell 5. Sudan then tried 4 rushing plays but were stopped at the 1.

Farwell was stopped and Sudan got the ball, scoring on a 28-yard pass at 1:30 left in the third quarter. The kick was good and Sudan led, 14-6.

With seven minutes left in the game, Farwell took possession on its own 18 yard line after a Sudan field goal try failed.

A pass from George to David Woods gained 14 yards. Farwell was on its 40 for a fourth and six play when Stancell got the ball and carried for a first down at the Farwell 49.

Schilling had an 18-yard run to move the ball to the Sudan 31. With 2:05 left, Farwell had a fourth and 8 play on the Sudan 28. George kept the ball and rolled to the Sudan 14.

It was fourth and 7 on the Sudan 12, when the ball was pitched to Perales (on a reverse) who then heaved a scoring pass to Rubio in the end zone with 37 seconds left in the game.

The two point extra try failed when Stancell was stopped at the 1.

Farwell ended its season with a 5-5 overall record and 3-4 in district.

Coach Rex Cumpton said, "This was the best total game effort that we have had in a long time. Our offense and defense both had a super effort. We gained more yardage than Sudan did and held them to 120 yards less offense than their season average.

"We were able to keep them from having the big play and were able to contain their speed. Our offensive line did a good job of blocking for the run and that enabled us to move the ball. We were able to use a couple of gimmick plays with some success. Even though we did not win the game, the team felt good about the effort that they gave."

"In addition, I would like to thank the community for their support this past season. It sure made my first head coaching season go much smoother. We are already getting ready for next year, and hope to be better."

Letter To The Editor

Magazine sales decried

Dear Editor:
The following comments are shared with a people and community that our family has grown to love and enjoy the past four years. Our desire is to stand and contend for what is most expedient to the well being of our nation, state, cities, and communities. We have rejoiced in the facelift many retail firms have brought to our country with their beautiful buildings and landscaping.

However, we must declare that we are grieved that many of them choose to stock their store(s) with trash! Yes, a glance through their merchandise reveals they have pornography on the shelf for sale to the public consumer. Reference is made specifically to literature such as "Penthouse" and "Playboy" magazines.

During the past several months we have reviewed much evidence from the research of several credible sources such as: The Meese Commission on Pornography and The National Coalition for the Justice of Children, which reveal the indisputable menace pornography is on our society.

The fact is that everyone is a victim to this so-called victimless crime which is like a cancer that can spread and destroy moral values, families, communities, and lives.

Alan Sears, who headed the Attorney General's Commission on Pornography, made the following statement regarding his work on the commission, "I had some understanding of the harm pornography caused, but to be honest, I had no idea when I set out on this task what I would find or where the commission would head up. I was amazed and really shocked to find out just exactly how much harm does occur, both in production and as a result of the dissemination of a lot of the kinds of pornography in America today."

Our plea is that you would join in opposing the marketing of literature such as "Penthouse" and "Playboy" magazines through the stores and businesses of our country. We suggest that you join us in standing against the merchandising of pornography such as the literature mentioned above by acquiring the address(es) of their firm's general, regional, district, and/or local offices and express your opposition to their merchandising of pornographic materials such as "Penthouse" and "Playboy."

Thank you for caring enough to read this and standing with us for the moral health of our nation, state, and community!

Scholarship to be given

The Farwell Study Club met on Nov. 17 in the home of Bernice Pennington.

President Eunice Crume called the meeting to order. The opening prayer was led by Carrie Christian. Mary Lou Hillock, club secretary called the roll and each woman responded with the name of a Texas woman whom they admired.

The business meeting was opened with the reading of the minutes. Reports were made by various committees. Gladys Hardage reported that the spring convention of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs would be held in Lubbock, Texas, March 21. All the ladies were urged to attend.

The club voted to offer a $500 scholarship to a graduating student of Farwell High School. The scholarship will be awarded in the name of the late Sal Vincent, a faithful member of the club for many years. The scholarship will be awarded graduation night. The student who receives the award will be able to use it to attend any vocational school, technical school, college or university.

The Study Club will make the choice from applications received. Applications will be made available soon and may be picked up at the school. The award money will be distributed over two semesters. $250 for the first semester and $250 for the second semester.

The club also voted to donate clothes to the Welfare Board to be distributed as the need arises and to give $100.

A vote was also taken to provide clothing to a needy family in the area who has several children.

There was considerable discussion on the recent breaks in neighboring towns and it was felt that Farwell's neighborhood watch discouraged this in Farwell. Therefore, the club voted to purchase four of the larger Neighborhood Watch signs to be installed in certain areas of the City.

The meeting adjourned and light refreshments were served. Those attending were: Eunice Crume, Mary Lou Hillock, Carrie Christian, Gertie Foster, Julia Symcox, Frances Kube, Gladys Hardage and Bernice Pennington.

The next meeting will be the annual Christmas party in the home of Mildred Haseloff.

Farwell girls win scrimmage

The Farwell Varsity girls basketball team defeated House 49-25, Nov. 11 at Farwell, in a scrimmage.

"We were just stronger and faster," said Coach George Langan. "We had a well balanced attack from Ursula Dollar, Dana White, Shonda Foster, Linda Duran and Laura Wolfe."

"The second team coming off the bench gave no ground. They only scored five points in the first half and they were on free throws. We went deep off our bench without losing any momentum."

Coach Langan complimented the girls by saying, "This is the best I've seen the Farwell girls play in about two years."

It's a Boy

Welborn and Stephanie Brooks of Pleasant Hill announce the birth of a son born Nov. 16 at Clovis High Plains Hospital.

The new arrival has been named Kurt Landon and he weighed 7 pounds and 5 1/2 ounces and was 20 inches long.

Kurt was welcomed by his sister, LaShawna, 4 1/2.

Maternal grandparents are Bernadene Kube and the late Clarence Kube, West Camp.

Paternal grandparents are Jim and Doris Brooks of Clovis.

Maternal great-grandmother is Jane Snelgrove, Lubbock.

Dawnda Magby, Lance Goen, Mary Frances Cass and Reace Bennett.

Food show winners announced

Thirty three 4-H members throughout Parmer County convened in Lazbuddie on Nov. 15 for the Parmer County 4-H Food Show.

Youths were judged to determine their knowledge of selecting foods for proper nutrition and food preparation.

The peewee participants (younger than third grade) from our area were Roslyn Bennett, Ramsey Bennett and Ginger Sides from Oklahoma Lane.

In the Junior I Division (third grade - 10 years):

Reace Bennett of Oklahoma Lane received first place in the main dish division.

Jacque Sides, Oklahoma lane, third place in the fruit and vegetable division.

Dawnda Magby, Lazbuddie, first place in the nutritious snacks and desserts division.

Jim Bob Sides, Oklahoma Lane, participant in the nutritious snacks and desserts division.

Junior 2 Division (11-13 years old):

Lori Bradshaw, Lazbuddie, third place in the bread and cereal division.

The first place winners in the junior and senior categories will compete in the South Plains 4-H competition Dec. 6 in Lubbock.

2 Texico students make All-Region Band

Two Texico band students were selected as a result of the S.E.N.M. M.E.A. All-Region band tryouts in Clovis, Nov. 15. The students competed against students from Clovis, Portales, Roswell, Hobbs, Artesia, Lovington, and Carlsbad.

David Loera and Calixto Nieto will travel to Hobbs Dec. 12 to perform with the All-Region Band. Loera competed in a field of 19 trombones and was selected 10th chair. Twelve players were selected for membership in the high school band.

David is a senior at Texico High School, and has been in band since the fifth grade. He was also selected for the All-Region Band when he was in the 8th grade, but did not try out again until this year. David is senior class president, a member of student council, varsity football team, basketball team, pep club, and has been on the honor roll at Texico his sophomore and junior years.

Nieto competed against 59 coronet players and was selected third chair. Twenty coronets were selected for the All-Region Band.

Calixto is in the 8th grade at Texico, and has been in band since the fifth grade. Although this is his first year to try out, he has already played numerous solos at contests in Portales, Clovis, and Amarillo, receiving First Division Medals at all three places. Calixto is a member of the junior high basketball team, pep club, and track. He is also a member of San Jose Catholic Church.

"Making the Southeastern New Mexico All-Region Band is truly an honor for these students," said Jerry Sadberry, Texico Band Director. "Although Texico is a Class A school, the band students have to try out against students from larger schools who usually are not in any other activity except band."

Comedy slated

Texico Juniors will present a three-act comedy "No Boys Allowed" at 7 p.m. MST Nov. 21 at the school auditorium.

Farwell students visit big-city newspaper

Above, testing their skills at identifying tools with their sons standing by to see if they can pass the test at the Texico FFA parents night Nov. 25 are, from far left, Greg and

Singleterry is sweepstakes winner

The Texico FFA had its annual parents night Nov. 18 at the Agriculture Building. Events consisted of the students judging parents in various events. The parents participated in identifying cuts of meats; identifying tools; wildlife identification, a test done with slides; judging horses from photographs; a test of entomology or the study of insects; parliamentary procedure test; and a welding test. Students graded the parents on how well they did and the parents with the most points tabulated were awarded a plaque in each event. The parent with the most points overall was designated the winner of the contest and awarded a special plaque. The winners in each event were: Ted Horner, welding; J.B. Taylor, tool identification; Alice Pierce, meats; Kay Singleterry, entomology; Sydney Martin, livestock judging; Gary Singleterry, parliamentary procedure; Jim Patrick, horse judging and Gary Singleterry, wildlife. The all-around sweepstakes winner was Gary Singleterry.

Farwell scrimmages

Farwell Junior High eighth grade girls basketball team played in a three-way scrimmage with Bovina, Nov. 11 at Farwell. The scrimmage showed Farwell on top all the way," said Coach George Langan. "We outplayed House, even though they had two freshmen playing on their team," said Langan. "We also outplayed Bovina eighth grade. The scrimmages went decisively our way."

The Farwell seventh grade girls scrimmaged Bovina. Langan said, "We overpowered them with our man-to-man full court press and didn't give them a chance to get back in the game." Longo picked Twila Longo of Texico was selected to be a member of the first team hitters in the District 6A Girls Volleyball All District Team.

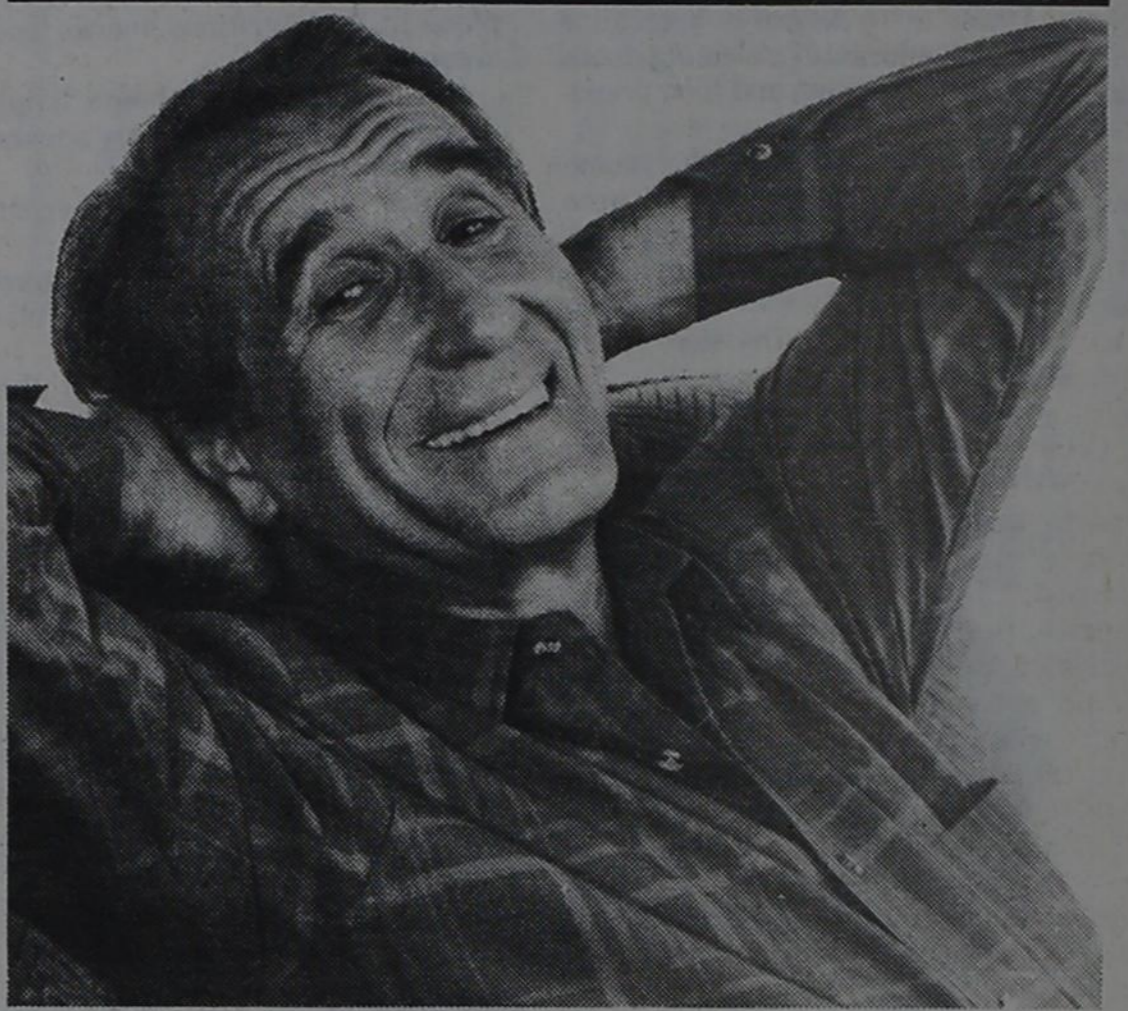

The Farwell Junior High seventh and eighth grade students took a field trip to the Amarillo Globe News Building, Oct. 30 to see the full operation of a big city newspaper. These students will be composing their own classroom newspaper in the spring, and being able to experience the actual process helps make those classroom endeavors more meaningful. The following are students' accounts of that trip:

BY CHAD BYRD
This last Thursday, our class went to the Globe News in Amarillo. Our tour guide was named Sandra Roth. First we went to the news room. There were 30 to 40 reporters in the room. They all used computers. They wrote their story, then sent it to the supervisor. He read it and if he didn't like the report the reporter rewrote it. If he did like it he sent it to the desk and someone read it there. If he liked it, it got sent to the press. We then met a cartoonist that drew the editorials. He drew Cody Monk as a cartoon. Next, we went to see the press while it was running. It was too loud to hear so we came back later. Sandy explained how it worked. The press had a 5,000-gallon tank of ink. And finally we all went to the storage area where all the paper was. There were miles and miles of paper. Each roll of paper was over six miles long and they used about six rolls a day. Then we went to the lobby, got on the bus and went to eat.

BY CODY MONK
We went to the Amarillo Globe Newspaper Thursday and had fun. We saw the presses roll. They were publishing the Amarillo Globe Times, which is an area newspaper. The presses were neat. The Globe News uses 39 miles of paper every day. Our guide was Sandy Roth and she knows a lot about the newspaper. She was very informative about the paper. The Globe News has about 250 IBM computers. They are used to store memory for ads that a company has called in. The Globe News workers have to work 24 hours a day to get their paper delivered all over the Texas Panhandle, Oklahoma Panhandle and to Liberal, Kan. We met the editorial cartoonist for the Globe News. His name is Jerome Stewart. He draws cartoons for the important editorial page. He gets his ideas from the happenings of the world. The Globe News has 12 sports writers who cover major events of sports in the Texas Panhandle, such as high school football, golf in high school and etc. I enjoyed the Globe newspaper. It was very informative. BY NORMA ORTEGA

Yesterday we 7th and 8th graders went to the Amarillo Globe Times. At first, I thought it was going to be boring, but when we got there I found it quite interesting. First, they told us that we were going to be divided into at least two or three groups. Then we got inside and Sandy told us that we were going to have to stick with her. Then she started showing us around. We went to the office desk; there she told us what Janie's job was. Her job was to read the copies that some other people wrote. If Janie or the other man didn't like it, they would tell them to go rewrite it. Now, here's the good part. Sandy told Jerome Stewart to come out and Jerome came out and drew a picture of himself. Then he asked Cody his name and Cody told Jerome his name, and he drew a cartoon character out of Cody. Then Sandy took us into some other room where they have a camera that used big sheets of film. We saw some other lady make copies of some signs for their newspaper. Then we went down some more stairs to the press room. There Darrell told us how many copies they made. He said that on weekdays, they made at least 35,000 copies, on Saturdays they made at least 45,000 copies and on Sundays they made 85,000 copies.

'At-risk child' discussed

Farwell School Supt. John Grigsby had these thoughts on the "at-risk child": "As part of my job as superintendent, I try to detect and track trends in education - both good and bad - which will, at some point in time, filter down to the Farwell ISD. "A new term keeps re-appearing in all the latest literature - the at-risk child. The at risk student is one who is not achieving at his or her ability level, placing the child in the precarious position of experiencing repeated failure and finally dropping out of school. "There is little agreement about what should be done for these students. But four separate items, when put together, seem to indicate a strong trend that all public schools will be dealing with, if not already doing so. 1. Early Childhood Education - the 4 year old program for disadvantaged youth. 2. Drop-out Reduction - HB 72 requires districts to track and make significant efforts to reduce the drop-out problem in Texas, via new programs or increased emphasis on assistance to students "at risk." 3. Special Education - Because the criteria for placement in special education is being raised, fewer students will be served by special education. Therefore, those students who were "marginal" and being served by special ed, will become the "at risk child" in the regular classroom. This will greatly increase the pressure and burden on the regular classroom teacher. 4. Massive Reform in Vocational Education - The result will be lower funding for "general" vocational programs and increased emphasis on programs considered to be "job specific." This will place a much greater burden on small districts that, because of lower student enrollments and personnel restrictions, cannot offer a wide variety of specific job training programs.

Make it a heat pump winter

It's what heating & cooling experts recommend. A heat pump winter is cozy, consistent warmth and sparkling cleanliness that only electricity can give. And, with a heat pump you get low operating costs. The only thing better than a heat pump winter is a heat pump summer. A heat pump both heats and cools. Call your heat pump dealer.

LARRY COMBEST
10TH DISTRICT
TEXAS

Dear Fellow West Texans:

I am deeply honored to once again be chosen to represent you in Congress. Thank you so much for your confidence and support.

We all know west Texas is facing tough times. I dedicate to you my constant efforts to solving them. I will stay in close touch.

Santa Anna to be sent to Washington

1836: SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 20. President Sam Houston today ordered Colonel George W. Hockley, Inspector General of the Texas Army, to arrange transportation and to personally conduct former Mexican President Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna and his aide, Colonel Juan N. Almonte, to Washington, D.C. Also appointed as co-commissioners with Hockley were Colonel Barnard W. Bee and Major William H. Patton.

Santa Anna has been a Texas prisoner since April 22, the day after the Battle of San Jacinto. He is being released now despite a resolution by the Texas Congress in favor of his further detention.

Santa Anna's visit to Washington was first suggested by Secretary of State Stephen F. Austin, who encouraged him to write directly to U.S. President Andrew Jackson. He did so on July 4, and Austin arranged to have his letter transmitted through General E.P. Gaines, commander of U.S. forces on the Texas border. Austin himself also wrote to Jackson on this subject.

Earlier this month, Santa Anna addressed a letter to President Houston urging immediate action. "I have manifested to you the importance of my visit to Washington City to adopt the most effectual mode of terminating the Texian question," he wrote, saying that "time is passing." He specifically requested that Hockley, Bee and Patton accompany him, and concluded with the comment, "to you I owe my existence," stating that "gratitude is my characteristic."

President Houston has provided the commissioners Santa Anna requested. They are carrying a brief letter to Jackson introducing Santa Anna, stating: "I feel confident that with you he can at all times realize a just estimation of his worth, as a soldier and a gentleman."

At the same time, Houston today addressed a personal letter to Jackson on this subject. It begins: "General Santa Anna has been released, and when liberated it is his wish to go to Washington and there to consummate his pledges given to this Government. He is free and will enjoy the desired escort of Colonel Hockley, Major William H. Patton (my former aide-de-camp) and Colonel B.E. Bee."

In addition, the letter says: "My great desire is that our country Texas shall be annexed to the United States." He says that although it is Texas policy to claim that "we are very able to sustain ourselves against any power," he does not agree. "I am free to say to you that we cannot do it." Therefore, he says, "I look to you as the friend and patron of my youth and the benefactor of mankind, to interpose in our behalf and save us."

Jackson had previously written to Houston to commend him for preventing the execution of Santa Anna, and Houston's letter takes notice of this: "Did I not believe my liberating Santa Anna I was acting in accordance with your wishes, I might distrust the measure. As it is, I feel no distrust in its propriety and policy!"

Houston and Austin share the opinion that the former Mexican president can do more good for Texas in Mexico than he can as a prisoner in Texas, regardless of whether his present attitude is sincere. The political situation in Mexico at present is such that Santa Anna's return may well create conflict between his supporters and his opponents. President Jackson concurs; he previously wrote that releasing Santa Anna would be "the best thing the government of Texas could do, as it would give the Mexicans employment at home instead of making war on their neighbors."

1838: MONDAY, NOVEMBER 19. In a resolution dealing with Indian relations, Congress has rejected a proposal by President Sam Houston to create a line of demarcation between white settlements and Indian territory, beyond which no surveying would be permitted and no claims recognized.

Last September President Houston appointed Z.F. Worley to survey and mark an Indian boundary line based on the treaty concluded by Houston with the Bowl, Chief of the Cherokees, on February 23, 1836, during the time of the Provisional Government. Although this treaty was never ratified, the President considers it valid. He ordered Major General Thomas J. Rusk, commander of the Texas militia, to see that the line was marked, stating that "it will do more to conciliate the Indians and give protection to the eastern section of Texas than 10,000 men in the field would produce." Otherwise, he fears another "Runaway Scrape" that would leave East Texas deserted. The Cherokees are considered "civilized" Indians, and have resided in Texas since 1822, before there were white settlements. Their first Texas village was north of Nacogdoches. On November 8 of that year, the Texas provincial government agreed to let them send a delegation direct to Mexico City to petition Emperor Austin de Iturbe. They obtained a guarantee of free and peaceful right to the land they were occupying, and the privileges of Mexican citizenship. This was confirmed by the governor of the State of Coahuila and Texas on August 15, 1831, and by the political chief of San Antonio de Bexar on September 1 of the same year.

The Texas Consultation of 1835 recognized the Cherokee claim with the statement: "We solemnly declare that we will guaranty to them the peaceable enjoyment of their rights to their lands as we do our own," and this was signed by every delegate, including Houston, Henry Smith, J.W. Robinson and Lorenzo de Zavala.

Despite this guaranty, surveying parties have swarmed into the Cherokee land, since it is rich and fertile, and many Texians desire to claim it for their headrights. The Despite this guaranty, surveying parties have swarmed into the Cherokee land, since it is rich and fertile, and many Texians desire to claim it for their headrights. The Cherokees have become increasingly restive, and it is known that there are Mexican agents among them, trying to stir up trouble. President Houston has been attempting to avoid this with his line of demarcation, but he is unable to obtain it without the support of Congress.

1839: FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 22. A new law against duelling is being submitted to the Fourth Congress of the Republic of Texas, and there is little doubt that it will be passed. Despite objections to duelling in many quarters, it has increased during the past two years as a means for settling quarrels and demonstrating courage.

Duels have involved a number of the Republic's most important citizens, and on one occasion at least, may have changed history of the Republic. On January 31, 1837, the present Secretary of War, Albert Sidney Johnston, was appointed commander-in-chief, outranking General Felix Huston, who had been elected commander-in-chief by the army itself. Huston challenged Johnston to a duel, and on February 5 wounded him in the thigh so severely that Johnston was unable to take command. Johnston felt it was a "public duty" to accept the challenge; otherwise, he would be branded as a coward.

In November, 1836, then Vice President Mirabeau B. Lamar was able to avert a duel between Attorney General James Collinsworth and Lieutenant-Colonel Henry Millard. He wrote to each of them: "You are in hot blood—each feeling himself aggrieved and both surrounded by excited friends." He offered himself as a mediator, assuring them that "your reputation for courage is fixed; you need not fight to secure that—the whole army will testify to it."

On October 6, 1836, a session of the First Congress, meeting in Columbia, was interrupted when its sergeant-at-arms participated in a brief duel. No one was injured, although several members dived for the floor. The duelists were arrested

Sarpalius: Lottery still a bad idea

MR. AND MRS. L.A. 'BUD' PEARCE JR.

Pearce named 'Man of the Year'

L.A. "Bud" Pearce Jr., has been named "Man of the Year" by New Mexico Baptist Men. The selection of Pearce came in the Nov. 10 opening session of the WMU/Brotherhood Convention at Glorieta Baptist Conference Center.

Nominated by Texico First Church Pastor Joel H. Horne, Pearce is a member of the Texico church where he serves as chairman of the deacons. He teaches a children's Sunday School Class, is Church Training director and serves on the church maintenance committee.

"I feel that every church should have at least 10 Bud Peaces," said Horne in recommending Pearce for the honor. "He is one of, if not the most faithful man I have ever known."

Pearce and his wife Aileen are parents of four children: Roddy Pearce, 35, is a deacon and Sunday School teacher at First Church, Clovis; Danny, 33, is pastor of a church in Lubbock; Mrs. Jo Igo, 31, is a teacher in a Christian school and a Sunday School teacher at First Church, Plainview; and Kim Peterson, 31, lives in Austin, where she is also active in her church.

"A man is known by his children and Bro. Bud Pearce's children reveal him as a man sold out to God," Horne said.

Pearce and his wife were presented to the convention by San Jon layman, C.L. Bowe.

One of our colleagues, Sen. Hector Uribe, came through Amarillo last week to drum up support for a Texas state lottery, one of his favorite causes.

Uribe is a good senator who is very sincere in his desire to create a lottery here. During the 1985 regular session and each of this summer's special sessions, he carried legislation to do just that. He even enjoyed a little success during the first summer session as his lottery bill passed the Senate before dying in the House.

His reasons for promotion a lottery are simple enough. Urbe believes a lottery would raise millions for the state without creating any new taxes or raising existing ones. In these tough economic times, what could be wrong with that?

Plenty. Despite Uribe's sincerity and often-persuasive arguments, a Texas lottery remains as bad an idea today as it was when he first introduced lottery legislation almost two years ago.

When a lottery is created and people start buying lottery tickets, two things can happen. People either buy tickets from within their predetermined entertainment budget or they buy their tickets with money from outside the entertainment budget, money they may not be able to afford to spend.

People who buy from within an entertainment budget are taking dollars out of the private sector and giving them to state government. Rather than spend on entertainment items that might stimulate the Texas economy, they are spending money strictly on a government enterprise, and that will do nothing but keep our economy stagnant.

Turkey shoot slated

The Texico-Farwell Lions Club will host a trap shoot Sunday at 1:30 p.m.

The grand prize to be given away will be a turkey.

The shoot will be located a half a mile north of Farwell on State Line Road.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports enterprise, and that will do nothing but keep our economy stagnant.

Those who buy tickets from outside the entertainment budget, money they may not be able to afford to spend.

People who buy from within an entertainment budget are taking dollars out of the private sector and giving them to state government. Rather than spend on entertainment items that might stimulate the Texas economy, they are spending money strictly on a government enterprise, and that will do nothing but keep our economy stagnant.

Those who buy tickets from outside the entertainment budget could be damaging their already depressed personal economic situation. Since a disproportionately high percentage of low-income households participate in state lotteries, this extraneous spending for lottery tickets could force Texas to spend even more money on social services.

Obviously, neither of these scenarios are particularly good, certainly not good enough to justify the creation of a state lottery.

Think about it for a moment. We're talking about creating a lottery to give the state extra money with which to meet its budget obligations, but where are we talking about spending the money?

We're talking about spending the money on social services that will be making payments to people who will have lost their money on lottery tickets in the first place. We're talking about spending money to stimulate an economy that will have been hurt in part by a flow of entertainment dollars away from the private sector and into the government's coffers.

Wouldn't it make more sense not to create the lottery at all and save Texas the budget expense?

Think, too, for a moment about the enticement a lottery holds out to the people. It holds the promise of getting rich quickly. We've all read the stories about the people who have won astronomical sums of money in the state lottery. But, remember this - a person has a better chance of being hit by lightning than winning a lottery prize.

That means for every story we read about someone making millions on the lottery, there are hundreds of unreported stories about people who spend desperately needed money and receive nothing. That means Texas, by creating a lottery, would be operating and promoting a something-for-nothing shell game that goes directly against the American tradition of making money by earning it.

Yes, the Texas lottery could do a lot of good for the State Treasury, but it could do a lot more bad for the state's people.

A Reminder to everyone! On Tuesday, the 25th, at 7 p.m. we have our Thanksgiving Family Dinner. We, the nursing Home will supply the Turkey, Rolls and drinks. Each family brings a covered dish.

We have such an exciting variety. There will be something to please everyone. Vegetables, casseroles, desserts, salads. We ALL have a tendency to overeat.

So bring your covered dish and share a lot of good company. A lot of us don't see each other except at these events. Our visiting times never match. I know I meet a lot of new friends and renew old friendships.

The Bordertown Four are going to be here to entertain us so wear your toe tapping shoes. Our Birthday people for this month are Kelly Chapman, 6; Lydia Dunsworth, 22; Gussie Mitchell, 22; Harvey Jordan, 23; Fern Castor, 26; Howard Carlyle, 29. To each a very Happy Birthday.

We have our monthly Birthday Party the 28th at 3 p.m. The Bordertown Four play for us at every Birthday Party each month.

Chris Roach brought her Blue Birds the 11th. They have a project called "Adopt-a-grandparent." Such joy these kids brought with them! They made a bunch of granddads and grannies happy. They gave a picture and a little information about themselves. Our residents still treasure them and carry them around showing each other.

We have 3 residents still in the hospital. They are Fern Castor, Dick Ballew, and Alice Head. Please remember them in your prayers.

Our thoughts and prayers are with the Gabe Anderson family. We share their loss.

and tried by the House Judiciary Committee, and were released. Shortly afterward, Congress voted to make the survivor of a fatal duel guilty of murder, and to make all participants subject to fine and imprisonment. However, this law has never been enforced.

Another duel involving a Congressman occurred in Houston when Congress convened there in May, 1837. Several legislators were drinking and loudly arguing in the unfinished capitol building after hours, when the builder asked them to leave. Insulted, one of them slapped his face, resulting in a challenge to a duel at dawn the next morning. Fortunately, no one was hurt. So many duels take place in Houston that that town has a special place designated for such encounters.

The following month a duel occurred which has received wide attention in Texas. Dr. Chauncey Goodrich, a surgeon in the Texas Army, accused a young man named Levi Laurens, a recorder for the House of Representatives, of stealing a $1,000 bill from him. Actually, Laurens was innocent, it was later learned. Laurens challenged his accuser to a duel with rifles at 20 paces. They met at 6 a.m. on June 25. Laurens was wounded and died two days later. In August, 1837, Dr.

Goodrich himself was killed in San Antonio by a gambler with whom he had quarrelled. While Goodrich lay in bed, the gambler plunged a Bowie knife through him and pinned him to the mattress.

Ex-President Sam Houston has been frequently challenged to duels, but has consistently refused. However, his courage has never been

LOOK UP AND LIVE!

Cotton harvest is here and the Coop urges extreme caution when operating farm equipment near electric lines.

In recent years, many incidents have involved cotton module builders. The extended portion of the cotton module builder can easily come into contact with overhead electric lines if the operator is not careful. The same problem exists with overhead baskets on cotton strippers.

We urge farmers and their employees to be alert to these potential hazards and take every possible precaution to avoid serious injury or death. When moving a module builder, be sure the packer arm is lowered as far as it will go. When using a stripper with an overhead basket, be sure to check for overhead lines before dumping.

Lower packer arm as far as it will go before moving module builder.

If some piece of equipment does contact these 7200 volt overhead lines, it is important that you or the operator not try to simply back away. The line could break, or if it is already broken it could tangle in the equipment and break again, compounding the problem and increasing the danger.

Jump clear of the machine, being sure not to touch the ground and the machine at the same time. Move quickly away at a right angle to the power line. Then call Bailey County Electric Cooperative at (Area Code 806) 272-4504 whether the line is broken or not.

Texico boys' basketball team viewed

The Texico Wolverines varsity basketball boys teams have been announced.

"Returning this year as starters," said Coach Borde Williams, "are David Loera a 5'11" senior. He started most of the time last year.

"Rod Smith a 6'1" senior transfer from Texas.

"Dale Burkhammer a 5'7" senior starter.

"Brett Taylor a 5'11" junior. He saw a lot of playing time on the junior varsity last year, but does not have a whole lot of experience.

"Kevin Spears a 5'6" junior is a possible player for the varsity.

"Michael Day a 5'7" sophomore saw some varsity experience last year and we will be looking for him to see some playing time.

"Keith Harrison a 5'7" sophomore is a probable starter as point guard.

"Ken Murphy a 6' sophomore is a transfer from San Angelo. We're looking for him on the inside starting possibilities.

"There are two freshmen, Larry Powell and Brian Rogers. Both love to play and saw all junior varsity ball last year. They are possibilities for the varsity team.

"We probably have about five kids that really stand out. The remaining boys, have a chance of seeing a lot of playing time on the junior varsity.

With an inexperienced ball club like we have, the best thing to do is just play. We might have some lumps and bumps, but you can't measure the ball club by their wins.

"I'm anxious to see the progress of our team throughout the season. I'm pleased with the practices. We have been showing vast improvement from day one. It's tough to come right out of football and play basketball.

"Floyd is probably a clear-cut favorite in our district. They have the possibilities of repeating a state championship this year."

Thanksgiving services held

Joint services for Hamlin Memorial Methodist Church and the First Baptist Church of Farwell were held at the Baptist Church Nov. 19.

The Rev. Steve Stephens delivered the message.

A free-will offering was taken and the money received was placed in the Transient Fund.

Refreshments were served at the Baptist Church following the services.

EMPLOYEE OF THE MONTH FOR OCTOBER

Elizabeth graduated in 1974 and has been a life long resident of Clovis. She began her career as a teller in February, 1980. She worked her way up as a money desk counselor in the Home Office on Pile Street. Elizabeth opens new savings and checking accounts, and services customers with Certificates of Deposits, I.R.A.'s, and Discount Brokerage Service. She is responsible for traveler's checks and trains new accounts personnel.

She was selected by her co-workers and the management because of her job knowledge and professional contribution to First Savings Bank.

Next time you are in our home office, say hello and congratulate Elizabeth Meador for a job well done!

A Land Bank loan... for more than just buying land

Many people think of the Federal Land Bank only when buying land. Truth is, there are many other ways to use long-term Land Bank loans.

You can:

- ✓ Refinance debts
- ✓ Improve land
- ✓ Build or remodel

Long-term Land Bank loans keep payments manageable so that these and other farm needs can be handled more easily. So stop by and see how the Land Bank can help.

The Fitzgerald family

Missionary to speak

The Rev. William Fitzgerald, a United Methodist missionary, will be the guest speaker at the annual Harvest Festival at the Hamlin Memorial United Methodist Church in Farwell Nov. 23-25.

Fitzgerald, now back in Abilene, Texas, served in Nigeria for the past few years as director of an agricultural program.

His responsibilities, which centered on overseeing agricultural development in the Zing area of Gongola state, northeastern Nigeria, included training Nigerian evangelists and their wives in the scriptures, nutrition, rural health and agriculture.

Fitzgerald will speak at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday, and 7 p.m. Monday and at 7 p.m. Tuesday. Also, the church will have a potluck supper at 5:45 p.m. Sunday, a pancake and sausage breakfast at 7 a.m. Monday and a noon salad luncheon Tuesday.

The public is invited to all the activities.

Texico scrimmages

The Texico girls A team scrimmaged Muleshoe at Muleshoe.

Texico played seven girls, the upper classmen. Coach Roy King said, "We played about a quarter and a half, but didn't really keep score."

"The girls looked better than I thought. Muleshoe has big girls, with about 12-14 girls playing. I saw things that we really need to work on and some good things. Overall the girls played well, especially since they have only been practicing for about six days."

The Texico eighth grade girls basketball team scrimmaged Dora Nov. 13.

Coach Roy King said, "The girls did a good job and they all got a chance to play. We found out what we really needed to work on."

The junior varsity team played Dora Nov. 13, with Texico winning by about 8 or nine points.

"Dora had mostly young kids, freshman and three sophomores. This game allowed our junior varsity girls to get to play a lot," said Coach King.

Historic Recipe of the Week

CUCUMBER CATSUP

Select large cucumbers, peel and grate, squeeze all the juice out, season with salt, pepper and grated onions to taste. Then pour over this vinegar until the mixture is as thin as the cucumbers were before juice was squeezed out. Bottle and seal. This does not have to be air-tight.
