

Pension Rolls Increased As Bill Signed

Liberalization Plan Puts Issue Up To Federal Board

AUSTIN, June 2 (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, who campaigned last summer on a platform of more and bigger pensions, today signed a bill expected to add fifty or sixty thousand old folks to Texas pension rolls.

In Effect At Once

The new law received sufficient majorities in both branches of the legislature to go into immediate effect. This was the last day for the governor to act on it.

The measure greatly liberalized the old age pension statute. It provided that a person past 65 could qualify for assistance regardless of whether his children were able to support him. He likewise would be eligible even though he owned a home and had a $1,000 life insurance policy, cash up to $300 and personal property up to $1,000 if single or $1,500 if married.

The governor's action put squarely up to the federal social security board the question of whether it would match state money under a more liberal plan. Texas already is near the top of the list of states in the number of persons on the pension rolls in proportion to population.

"It is without doubt sound public policy," O'Daniel said, "to promise pension liberalization as specified in this bill and then not provide the necessary money to meet the promises but inasmuch as this bill received 130 votes in the house and 21 votes in the senate, which is sufficient to also pass any kind of a tax bill or constitutional amendment, the lack of my signature would indicate that I questioned the sincerity and good intentions of those 151 legislators who voted for this bill."

"Therefore, in signing the bill today I am showing my faith in those 151 legislators carrying through and raising the necessary money to meet these promises during the present session."

Meanwhile, the house hung up "do not disturb" over the weekend signs as members adjourned until Monday, ostensibly to give conference committees more time on appropriation bills.

The senate, gasping for breath after the customary Wednesday and Thursday filibuster against the fair trade act, was in session.

It was the second successive Thursday the house had voted to quit until Monday.

The perplexing pension picture, meanwhile, remained unchanged. The omnibus tax bill passed by the house and mortally wounded by the senate state affairs committee, joined the gross receipts bill in death when one of the three senators who had voted for it in committee refused to sign a minority report to bring it to the floor.

One other means of financing social security remained before the legislature—the sales-natural resource tax constitutional amendment adopted by the senate, blessed by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel but four times rejected in the house. Supporters said it eventually would be approved by the lower legislative branch but opponents insisted it definitely had been buried.

BANKER DIES

SHERMAN, June 2 (AP)—R. A. Nesbitt, 50, assistant cashier of the Leonard National bank, died yesterday. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at Leonard.

Statement On Jews Rejected

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP)—The Dies committee has rejected a anti-semitic prepared statement with which Major General George Van Horn Moseley, retired, climaxed two days of denunciation of communism and "international Jewry."

The statement, Rep. Dempsey (D-NM) asserted late yesterday, contained "not a single sentence dealing with un-American activities." He moved that it be stricken from the record, and after a short conference, the committee agreed.

Moseley, called for questioning about a campaign against a purported plot to overthrow the government, had insisted repeatedly he be permitted to read his own statement of the dangers confronting the nation. Finally the committee agreed to hear a limited version.

Reading in a snarling, oratorical manner, Moseley declared Jews maintain "a state within a state." His statement asserted that they cannot pay allegiance to both "international Jewry and the United States," and that they are fomenting international war and domestic revolution.

"The handwriting on the wall is as clear as a bell," he said.

Moseley's testimony ended, for the time being, the committee's hearings. Chairman Dies (D-Tex) is now at his home in Texas, and prior to his departure he indicated as more sessions would be held until August.

Fiat Rate Corporation Tax Proposed To Replace Undistributed Profits Levy

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP)—A spokesman for the United States Chamber of Commerce suggested to congress today imposition of a flat rate normal corporation tax of 15 per cent and outright repeal of the undistributed profits tax.

The proposal was presented to the committee by Ellsworth C. Alford, vice chairman of the business organization's committee on federal finance. It included a recommendation for a specific credit of $2,000 to reduce the corporation tax on small incomes.

Both treasury and congressional tax experts have been studying the question of revising the present system in the interest of removing levies considered obstacles to business improvement.

The chamber of commerce spokesman appeared before the committee at a time when a meeting between President Roosevelt and a group of top flight business leaders had given vigorous new impetus to discussion of business improvement.

The president met eight industrialists at the White House last night. Means of breaking the log-jam of investment capital, it was understood, provided a major topic of conversation.

Alford's program included in addition to the undistributed profits and 15 per cent recommendations these points:

- (1) Provision for a carry-over of net business losses for three years.
- (2) Simplification of the individual capital gains provision, eliminating distinction between assets held 18 and 24 months and substituting a shorter holding period.
- (3) Treatment of long term capital gains and losses of corporations as ordinary gains and losses.
- (4) Annual declaration of capital stock value, beginning with the current year.
- (5) Permission for affiliated groups to file consolidated returns.
- (6) Elimination of double taxation by exempting all corporate dividends from tax, and excluding corporate dividends from individual normal tax.
- (7) Remedying a few of the existing defects in the so-called technical or administrative provisions of the present law.

As a "long range program of tax revision," Alford outlined:

"(1) A reasonably permanent revenue system, based upon the principles above advocated—that is, a system the basic principles of which are to remain in force, for example, for a period of ten years.

"(2) Simplification of the present law, which can be effected in large part by the elimination of unnecessarily complicated policies and refinements.

Air Supply For 90 Men Fast Dwindling

British Craft Still Trapped In Shallow Water; 4 Rescued

BIRKENHEAD, England, June 2 (AP)—Attempts to rescue 90 men imprisoned in the sunken submarine Thetis with their air supply dwindling were impeded today by a strong tide which swept her jutting stern under water.

With the air in the submarine being used up, rescue of the men apparently depended on the success of efforts to cut a hole in the stern through which fresh air might be pumped first and the men possibly brought to the surface later.

They had been trapped since 1:40 p. m. (6:40 a. m., CST) yesterday when the Thetis submerged in Liverpool bay in a test dive before being delivered to the British navy.

Four of the 94 men who were aboard the craft reached the surface strapped in oxygen rescue masks but the others still were trapped.

ARRIVES HERE

Fred Stump (above) has arrived in Big Spring to assume duties as educational director of the First Baptist church. Graduate of Oklahoma Baptist university and student in Southern Seminary, Fort Worth, he comes here from Durant, Okla. He will serve as superintendent of the Sunday school and director of the B.T.U. With his family, he has established residence at 408 East Fourth street.

Ship Returns With Jewish Refugees

HAVANA, June 2 (AP)—The German liner St. Louis sailed today for Hamburg carrying 907 German Jewish refugees who were denied permission to land in Cuba despite their urgent pleas in five days of negotiations.

Luis Clausing, agent of the Hamburg-America line, said the St. Louis was bound for Hamburg but there was a possibility she might return to disembark her load of refugees if some agreement could be reached with the Cuban government.

Cuban authorities said they understood the refugees had been given permission to land in New York, though there was no confirmation of their statement.

Of the 937 refugees who arrived aboard the St. Louis five days ago, 29 were permitted to enter Cuba since they had necessary papers.

The St. Louis sailed at 11:39 a. m. six and a half hours before expiration of a deadline set by President Frederico Laredo Bru with the threat gunboats would tow the St. Louis outside the Cuban territorial waters if she had not departed by then.

Efforts were made to keep the passengers unaware of the actual sailing orders for the master of the ship, Captain Gustave Schreiber, had expressed fear of a "collective suicide pact."

Cuban marines were held in readiness for any emergency that might arise in carrying out President Frederico Laredo Bru's order that the St. Louis leave Havana.

The refugees were forbidden to land because they lacked Cuban consular visas, passports and labor department permits.

President Laredo Bru yesterday ordered the vessel to leave "within the day" but this order was extended to 5 p. m. CST, today to permit the ship to take on stores.

POPE HAS RECEIVED ASSURANCES OF PEACEFUL AIMS

VATICAN CITY, June 2 (AP)—Pope Pius XII told his cardinals today he had received "assurances of goodwill and of the resolve to maintain peace" from Europe's principal statesmen as a result of his recent overtures through papal nuncios.

The pope said he also had "other information" which had given "greater hope that the considerations of noble humanity, the consciousness of inevitable responsibility before God and before history, and the right judgment of the true interests of their people who have strength and weight to induce the governments, in their efforts to reach a stable peace which would safeguard the liberty and honor of nations, to think and to act in a manner calculated to reduce and conquer all obstacles x x x to understanding."

The cardinals had come to pay homage to the pontiff on his Saint's day.

FRAME SCHOOL BUILDING WRECKED BY BLAST

Floors buckled in a gas explosion which wrecked a frame school building in Barborton, Ohio, and some of the pupils slid to safety as if on a shoot-the-chutes. One of the "sliding" floors is shown above. Fifty-seven were injured in the explosion, several of them seriously. (Associated Press Photo.)

Seek Identity Of Young Man

Officers today awaited word from Brookline, Mass. to see if the clean-cut young man, apparently suffering from amnesia, is Francis Berry of that city.

Identification papers found on his person when city police picked him up Wednesday evening indicated that he is Berry and that his home might be either Brookline or Boston. Deputy Sheriff A. J. Merrick was attempting to contact relatives at Brookline.

The young man, about six feet in height, fair complexioned, curly hair, and well dressed, examined contents of his bilfold and luggage in an attempt to recall who he is and how he came to be in Big Spring.

Friday he said he felt well but could remember nothing of his previous history, not even about two applications to wed that were found in his personal effects.

Police were keeping an eye on him at the station, but allowed him to take his meals out. He would not eat unless he bought his own food.

LIFE SAVING EXAMS ARE BEING HELD

Life saving examinations, given as a climax to the annual Red Cross water safety courses, will be started this afternoon at the municipal swimming pool.

W. S. Morrison, chairman of the activity, said that approximately a dozen would take the practical examinations to demonstrate the effectiveness of their work during this week.

In addition to the life savers, several youngsters have been receiving swimming instruction.

HUGH JOHNSON TO SPEAK IN AUSTIN

AUSTIN, June 2 (AP)—General Hugh S. Johnson, columnist and former NRA director, will address a state-wide rally of the construction industry in Austin June 20, officials of the Texas highway branch of the Associated General Contractors of America announced here today.

Motocade Here Friday

A week from today the Broadway of America westbound motocade will roll into Big Spring on its return trip to San Diego, Calif. where the annual Broadway highway association convention will be held.

But Big Spring, depending upon tourist traffic as its third largest source of revenue, had no delegates in sight to join the motocade.

Members of the local Broadway club were anxious to have at least one and as many more cars in the caravan as possible. There were indications that responsible persons wishing to represent Big Spring in the motocade and at the convention would find some financial aid.

In addition to the gathering in San Diego, there will be an added feature in a trip to the fair at San Francisco as well as a visit to Los Angeles and sights along the route.

JOHN ROOSEVELT'S CHILD BORN DEAD

BOSTON, June 2 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt made known today that a child was born dead to her daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Roosevelt, wife of the youngest son of the president.

The child arrived "prematurely" at the lying-in hospital of the Richardson House, Mrs. Roosevelt said. She said that the mother was in "fine condition."

Wheat Yield Placed Lower

CHICAGO, June 2 (AP)—Private crop experts today forecast a probable United States wheat harvest this year of 700,000,000 bushels and said marked shrinkage had occurred during the past six weeks in the winter wheat belt.

While the prospective market, based on conditions at the end of May, is 231,000,000 bushels under production last year, the figure was somewhat better than had been anticipated recently by the trade.

The average of six estimates indicated a winter wheat production of 516,000,000 bushels, a reduction of 22,000,000 bushels compared with the same experts' May 1 estimates. The government forecast May 1 was for a winter wheat crop of 544,000,000 bushels and production last year was 687,000,000 bushels. Estimates of winter wheat production ranged from 492,000,000 bushels to 538,000,000.

The average of the estimates indicated a spring wheat crop of 184,000,000 bushels compared with harvest last year of 244,000,000 bushels.

An oats crop of 955,000,000 bushels was forecast compared with harvest last year of 1,054,000,000.

Says Governor Has Broken All Pledges

AUSTIN, June 2 (AP)—Charging W. Lee O'Daniel's program is "to save the poor man's soul and the rich man's money," Senator Joe Hill of Henderson told a radio audience today the state chief executive had broken every promise he made to the people to get their votes.

Rep. G. C. Morris of Greenville and Hill spoke over the Texas State Network on the pension tax question confronting the legislature.

Defeat of the omnibus tax bill in senate committee was laid on the doorstep of the governor by Morris.

Hill asserted Texas had not had a fair presentation of the pension tax facts. He charged O'Daniel's radio talks repudiated his early pledges not to try to influence the legislature.

Declaring O'Daniel had condemned legislators who did not follow him, Hill said "let's review his record and determine if he is in a position to question the honor of any man."

Hill charged that O'Daniel promised pensions to all over 65, then repudiated the pledge. Promised to rid the government of professional politicians, then surrounded himself with them.

Promised to pay pensions without new taxes, but didn't keep his word.

Condemned a sales tax, then advocated a transaction tax, then did an about face and advocated the fogger and condemned the latter.

Deplored the general fund deficit, yet had signed every tax remission bill sent him.

"Since the beginning of this legislature the biggest and most arrogant lobby in the history of the state has been in Austin," Hill said.

"This crowd is working with the governor to put over a tax plan that would further impoverish the people of Texas while the oil magnates of the East who are plundering our rich deposits of minerals of all kinds go virtually untaxed."

MAN AND WIFE SWIM SANTA HELENA GORGE

FORT DAVIS, June 2 (AP)—Riding the crest of a seven-foot rise on the Rio Grande, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Evans of Bartlett, Tex., Wednesday successfully swam a seven-mile canyon through the deepest part of Santa Helena gorge, they said here today.

The young school teachers reported they were tumbled head over heels through 60 feet of rapids at one point but recovered by clinging to slippery rocks.

Mrs. Evans was believed to be the first woman to swim the canyon. She and her husband started in at the upper end of the canyon with two inflated inner tubes, but hers was punctured by barbed wire.

Visitors May Inspect New Hospital

West Texans will have an opportunity Saturday and Sunday afternoons to witness the fruits of a campaign started more than six years ago for an eleemosynary institution in this section.

Doors of the Big Spring State Hospital for the mentally ill will be open from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. on both afternoons so that the public may view the eight-building, million-dollar institution.

Staff members will be on hand to direct visitors through the modern hospital buildings and to explain the purposes of the various equipment.

Since the first patients are to be received Monday, the inspection this weekend is likely the only general one ever to be held at the hospital.

The hospital, erected and equipped at a cost of little less than a million dollars, is located on highway No. 9 one mile north of Big Spring.

13 ARE KILLED IN PALESTINE STRIFE

JERUSALEM, June 2 (AP)—Thirteen persons were killed and scores injured today in Palestine disorders. Casualties included Britons, Jews and Arabs.

A railroad patrol of four British policemen and three Jews was wiped out by an Arab band near Kalkileh, 35 miles northwest of Jerusalem. The outlaws seized a machine gun and other arms.

Six Arabs, including a policeman, were killed and a score injured when time bombs buried in the market place near Jerusalem's Jaffa Gate exploded as thousands of Arabs were making their daily food purchases.

Arabs stoned Jewish traffic in the Arab-Jewish quarter, causing authorities to halt all traffic temporarily.

IS UNDER BOND IN HORSE THEFT CASE

Bond was set Thursday at $1,000 by Justice of Peace J. H. Hefley when Joseph Airesman, 23-year-old Illinois youth, waived examining trial on a charge of horse theft.

Airesman made the mistake of "shorrfing" a horse belonging to Sheriff Jess Slaughter. In lieu of bond, Airesman remained in the Howard county jail.

AUTOPSY PERFORMED AS BODY OF YOUNG GIRL IS EXHUMED

SAN ANTONIO, June 2 (AP)—Investigation into the death of Mrs. Martha Wilms Anderson by San Diego, Calif., officers centered here temporarily this morning.

The four San Diego officers returning William Bouldin, La Jolla, Tex., youth, to California to face murder charges arrived here early today. Traveling with the party was J. W. Rhodes of Lamesa, Calif., father of the 16-year-old girl. Bouldin had waived extradition proceedings last night after the California officers, accompanied by Assistant Attorney General Ben Woodall of Texas had grilled him about his knowledge of the young woman's death.

The most dramatic moment in the investigation, launched on May 25, when California authorities learned that Mrs. Anderson, said to have been estranged from her husband, had been buried in Waco, Tex., as Mrs. Bouldin, occurred late yesterday. With Bouldin's parents looking on impassively, the authorities, headed by Deputy District Attorney William Makely of San Diego, exhumed the body of the girl in an attempt to determine if she had died as the result of an alleged operation.

An autopsy was performed at Luling by Dr. E. E. Toomey of San Diego.

Questioned by officers up until an early hour this morning, Bouldin reiterated his defense that he had known nothing of the girl's illness until he found her at a doctor's office May 6, officials said.

The young woman's body was to be reinterred today in Waco, the father announced, after he had "positively identified" it as that of his daughter. The young woman had previously been buried at the Luling cemetery on May 8 as Mrs. Martha Bouldin, it was reported.

Senate To Vote On Townsend Measure

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP)—The senate, it appeared today, will follow the example of the house in going on record on the Townsend old age pension plan or some similar proposal.

The bill to pay pensions up to $200 a month to elderly erons was defeated yesterday in the house, 302 to 97.

But its congressional supporters were undaunted. Senator Downey (D-Calif) said he would offer an amendment to the social security program either the Townsend plan or some other pension system.

Downey will get his chance when the senate takes up a long list of proposed social security changes which the house is expected to vote on next week.

More Rain For Some Sections

Light showers falling over a portion of this area Friday night gave additional relief to many farmers and ranchers but left fully a third of the county much too dry to plant.

Like other thunderstorms which have visited the county since January, those of Friday evening were spotted. The U.S. Experiment Farm reported .44 of an inch and the U.S. department of commerce bureau at the airport had .29 of an inch.

Heaviest precipitation was reported in the Luther area, northwards to the county line. Fields were left level with water in the territory above Gay Hill school house.

Around Center Point the moisture barely lifted the dust, but it grew heavier just north of town. It extended westward a short distance beyond Fairview but missed the dry spot in the so-called rain belt which splits the north half of the county.

Beneficial showers were reported south of Big Spring and in some places to the southwest.

While around 65 per cent of the farmers in the county have planted or have young crops up in a stand, those in the "rain belt" dry spots, those around Knott, Achary, and Valmeyer, many around the Coahoma area, and several at Lamesa found moisture insufficient to risk a planting.

In all parts of the county the need for a slow, general rain was felt.

REBUILDING OUR ROADS

If there is one thing which the United States likes to pride itself, it is our magnificent system of hard roads.

It is perfectly proper that we should do so. There is no question that the United States has more and better roads than any other country in the world.

But it is one thing to congratulate oneself on past achievements, and another to turn amug, relax, and fall behind. And that is what we sit in danger of doing in the matter of roads.

It has been estimated, for instance, that 97 per cent of the surfaced highway now laid down is of the two-lane, 20-foot variety which is after all, nothing but a horse-and-buggy road surfaced. It is not a motor road at all.

The American Association of State Highway Officials studied the matter in 1937 and concluded that there should be about 4,707 miles of three-lane, 3,080 miles of four-lane, and 221 miles of six-lane pavement. In other words, in 1937 there were only about 8,000 miles of multiple-lane highways in the country.

Only such highways can really be considered motor roads in the modern sense. And of the 3,303 miles of four- and six-lane width highways, only 604 miles were divided so that traffic passing in opposite directions was divided by a raised parkway or center strip.

How much we have progressed beyond that since 1937 is not definitely known, but not much. And yet no one can consider a surfaced road really a motor road or modern highway unless it is at least four lanes, and divided in the center by such a parkway as to make interference almost impossible between traffic passing in opposite directions.

Germany has made progress in this field which might well be studied. Everyone who has driven its new motor roads, with two-level crossings, banked grades, divided lanes, lack of intersections, and general design for a motor age rather than a mere surfaced horse-and-buggy road, comments enthusiastically on the progress that has been made.

Germany, coming into the motor age 20 years after the United States, knows better than we did what needs must be met in modern highways. Starting now, practically from scratch, and with military needs constantly in mind, as far as it goes, is perhaps the most modern in the world.

Our job is there, it is one more answer to those who say, "America is all built—there is nothing left to do."

THE MONROE ROOM, a corner of which is shown here, will be the lounging room of the King and Queen. Each will have a bedroom and bath adjoining this room. The many pictures are marine prints belonging to the President, and those ivory tusks on the table are another of his collections. The small chair with the heart-shaped back was bought during the Monroe administration. There's a push-button gadget on the drop-leaf table to the right. With it the King or Queen can call a maid, butler, or usher.

How will the king and queen be treated at the White House, where they are going to be guests June 8 and 9? Sigrid Arne answers that question in this story, second of two on preparations for royalty.

By SIGRID ARNE
 AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON—When the King and Queen of England finally step into the White House elevator to go up to bed after their first day in Washington, they will discover some of the ways Mrs. Roosevelt has for turning the executive mansion into a home.

It will be around midnight. Dinner will have been at 7:30. The royal visitors will have talked to hundreds of persons, will have stood quite a bit, will have listened to a great deal of talk, and will have heard some chamber music.

From Eggs To Kippers
 They will be escorted down the upstairs hall by Mrs. Roosevelt, who will ask them when they like breakfast. They can have breakfast in bed; they can join Mrs. Roosevelt in the big, sunny upstairs lounge that's full of books, flowers and family pictures, or they can go down to the walnut-paneled family dining room. They can have whatever they want; whether it's poached eggs or kippered herring.

After good nights, the king and queen will step into quiet, home-like rooms. The lamp on the bedside stand will be lighted. Another lamp will be aglow beside the chair-lounge that is flanked by a stand holding the latest books and magazines. There will be White House stationery in the desk. The beds will be turned down and on the night stand there will be a vacuum jug of water and a bowl of fruit.

Downtrodden a maid and a valet will be waiting near the house telephone just in case there's something else the visitors want—a glass of warm milk, perhaps, or something more substantial than fruit. The White House icebox (remember those big Roosevelt sons) is proof against any midnight demands.

All those preparations are amenities Mrs. Roosevelt has observed wherever she has lived. They're made for all her guests, for some young unknown she is befriending as well as for a visiting king and queen.

Such matters as buttons, rips, and pressing of clothing are tended to by the White House staff. But for shaves, shins, haircuts and even the guests must either go out or call an operator to the White House. That probably won't happen with the British royalty, since they have a lady's maid and valet in their company.

At breakfast, Mrs. Roosevelt will tell her guests the hours for luncheon and dinner. The time varies, according to the day's program.

By discreet questioning, Mrs. Roosevelt usually learns if one of her guests is on a diet or has a special dislike for particular foods. (When Secretary Harry Hopkins was recuperating from an operation and lunched with the president he got a special diet tray.)

The White House food should please the visitors. The menus are American, and usually only food in season is served. But the housekeeper, Mrs. Henrietta Nesbitt, has made a long study of food fads—sauces with foreign flavoring, flaky pastries and light desserts.

The final rule about the food is that simple one which so often is violated: If it's hot food, it must be hot; if it's cold food, it must be chilled.

Washington used to be full of stories about "hukewarm" White House chicken and melted White House ice cream. But Mrs. Roosevelt changed that by installing steam cabinets and ice cabinets to bring the food the longest trek from the kitchen downstairs to the dining room.

Today And Tomorrow

SENATOR TAFT OBJECTS

Senator Taft objects to comment that has appeared in this column on his part in the senate's proceedings which added nearly $400,000,000 to the agricultural department appropriation bill. He says that I have been "exceedingly unfair" and that I have made statements which are "simply untrue."

If I have been unfair to Mr. Taft I shall be glad to apologize. If I have made an untrue statement I should like to correct it. So it is necessary to examine the record.

The first comment to which Mr. Taft objects was published three days after the senate had on May 8, without a rollcall, adopted nearly one hundred amendments which added about 45 per cent to the agricultural appropriation bill. Senator Taft was present in the senate on that occasion. But he took no part in the discussion. He did not question a single item. He did not protest against the whole proceeding. My comment on this was that in one day's work, without a rollcall, the senate, with the assistance and consent of all the orators who have denounced spending, have denounced deficits, namely, Mr. Taft and Mr. Vandenberg and Mr. Byrd, added another 10 per cent to next year's anticipated deficit.

Mr. Taft calls this "exceedingly unfair" to him. I am unable to agree. I think that I may have been unfair to Mr. Vandenberg since he did at least take part in the discussion, seconding Senator King, who made a long speech against spending. But it does not seem to me an unfairness to Senator Taft to say that by his silence on that critical day he gave consent and assistance to the bipartisan raid on the treasury and the budget.

Mr. Taft points out in a letter that he voted against the increases in the appropriations committee, and that in "a nation-wide broadcast" on Tuesday, that is to say, the day after the battle for economy had been lost, he called attention to his vote in the committee. That I call attention to his silence when the question was being decided on the floor of the senate.

The second comment to which he objects was published on May 27, that is to say, two weeks after the final vote in the senate. Forgetting out that there were only 14 senators "recorded as opposing," among them Senator Vandenberg, I went on to say that "Senator Taft, the outstanding republican presidential candidate in the senate," was "not among those who went on record as opposed to a spending measure which has increased by 45 per cent the appropriation asked for by the New Deal."

Mr. Taft says that this is untrue. Although he was not present when the vote was taken, he was paired with Senator Mead of New York, and when the pair was announced, Senator Wagner of New York, stated that "if the junior senator from Ohio were present, he would vote 'nay.' I acknowledge that Senator Taft did here go on record as opposed to the measure, and I regret my error. I based my statement on the official rollcall printed on page 7726 of the Congressional Record for May 12, where Senator Vandenberg is recorded as voting "nay" whereas Senator Taft is recorded as "not voting." I did not notice the announcement of his pair with Senator Mead which appears on page 7726.

By way of extenuation for this oversight I may perhaps say that no one else seems to have noticed Senator Taft's pair or to have reported him as being opposed to the measure. The Associated Press account did not record Mr. Taft as opposed to the measure. The United Press did not. The New York Herald Tribune and "The New York Times" did not. The Cleveland Plain Dealer" in Mr. Taft's own state gave a list of the senators opposing which does not include Mr. Taft's name, and said "Senator Taft was out of town." The Des Moines Register" in the heart of the farm belt mentioned Senators King, Adams, Glass, and Edwin C. Johnson who made efforts to reduce the appropriation, listed the senators opposed to the increase, and failed to mention Mr. Taft's name. "The Chicago Tribune" also overlooked his opposition. So did "The Washington Post." And so did "Time."

It would appear, therefore, that neither the two great news agencies nor these representative newspapers regarded it as necessary to report Mr. Taft's pair. So I am disposed to say that while Mr. Taft in record as opposing the bill, his opposition was of a kind which caused him to be classified as "not voting" in the formal rollcall of the senate, and caused him to be unreported in the newspaper press.

What does this all show? It shows, it seems to me, that Mr. Taft gave up the fight for economy in this field after his unsuccessful efforts in the appropriations committee. When the bill reached the senate, he sat in silence while the increases were being adopted, and he went out of town when the bill as a whole came up for a vote. I think it would have been more impressive if he had stood up and fought the thing on the floor of the

Chapter II
ANOTHER GUEST

"Here, slip my coat over your shoulders so you won't get cold," Tally commanded. "That fog is really as thick as pea soup!"

As they walked around the outside of the house she longed to tell him she was sorry, yet the words would not come. For all his kindness she felt his aloofness, his resentment. She wanted him to take her in his arms and kiss her and break down, wordlessly and emotionally, the barrier between them; but he kept the conversation casual and made no move to touch her.

Coming from her side of the house into Tally's was like stepping from one world into another. The family was gathered about the kitchen table while Mrs. Mack buttered bread and stacked sandwiches on the shelf below the cupboard.

Nola, without looking up from her cards, reached for Tally's hand and held it lovingly. "I thought you must be lost in the fog, darling," she laughed. "Where have you been, anyhow?"

"After company, I brought Jocelyn over to the feast."

Nola looked up. "Oh—hello, Lyn."

She is not pleased to have me here, Jocelyn thought. She must love Tally terribly....

Bob threw down his last card and added the score.

"Gramp and Nola licked the tar out of us!" he grinned ruefully. "How about private lessons, Gramp?"

"No sree," the old man cackled. "Think I want to get beat?"

Nola stood up. "I'm going to bed," she announced, yawning. "I'm tired. No, don't coax me into staying. I don't want any more weight on this streamlined figure of mine! Lyn can have my share of sandwiches. Walk around the house with me, Bob, will you?"

Gramp caught Jocelyn's eye, as the two went out the door. He winked at her as if to say, "You got her on the run, Joe! Now's your chance!"

Tally frowned, obviously disconcerted by Nola's change of mind. However, he brought in a comfortable chair from another room for Jocelyn and teased Gramp to tell them stories.

Jocelyn found herself laughing with the others at the old man's fanciful tales. Illustrated with violent gestures. Time raced on swift wheels to the moment when Mrs. Mack declared they should all be in bed. They called "Good night" in unison as Bob started taking her home, stating that Thorn had arrived as he left Nola.

Jocelyn crawled into bed, feeling more lonely than ever; more helpless. Tally had been so sweet to come to her tonight, but she would not consider his concern as personal. It was just...just a sort of decent solicitude for a member of the so-called weaker sex. It was Nola he wanted...Nola he loved.

Synonyms For Living
 Very early the next morning Jocelyn was awakened by the gay sound of Nola's voice calling from the window in the room next to hers. Curious, she reached for her hannel robe on the foot of the bed, drew it around her and peeked out from behind the curtains. Tally stood on the terrace below clad in boots and riding breeches, his wool shirt open at the neck. His head was thrown back as he looked up at Nola and his strong white teeth gleamed against his tanned skin.

"Hurry up, sleepy—head!" he urged. "The horses are waiting, the sun is shining, and it's a glorious morning!"

"Can't to five," she returned. "And not too fast!"

Then Jocelyn still watching, saw Nola, slim and poised and smart in a gray riding habit, run out to him. They went off together, hand in hand, smiling eagerly into each other's faces, their laughing voices drifting back to the unhappy girl at the window.

Creeping back into bed, robe and slippers still on, she huddled into a miserable bundle. It would be very satisfactory, she reflected, if she could just blame someone else for her misfortune. It would also be nice if she permitted herself the solace of self-pity. However, if the loss of both love and money had done nothing else, it had disclosed to her at least, an inner courage and fortitude she had not dreamed she possessed. Perhaps, after all, she was not so different from Grandmother Jocelyn. It must require a great deal of courage and fortitude to live one's life to the end with a man one did not love to carry on with head high and spirit undaunted. But...she didn't want to live her life that way. She wanted Tally now and forever!

Was it not inconsistent, she considered, how one's sense of values could become completely reversed in less than a year's time? For now the words: Family, Tradition, Background, Social Standing, were merely hollow, empty words, not a bit comforting, while Love, Laughter, Giving, Sharing, were not merely words...they were synonyms for Living! Strange that Nola, with a background even more traditional, more rigid, more fabulous than her own, should have intuitively known enough to select these synonyms for living and discarded all others.

"Collusion"

The raucous blast of an automobile horn from the driveway disrupted her introspective mood. Dissatisfied, she turned to see the senate from start to finish, and that if he had, the economy bloc might not now be in a state of moral collapse.

The Sports Parade

By HANK HART

Olie Cordill, the Big Spring boy, and Mexia's Ernie Lain, who have recently completed their junior year of work at Rice Institute, Houston, are good bets for All-America football berths next season.

Jimmy Kitts will carry his Owls to the Polo Grounds in October to do battle with the Fordham Rams and the touchdown twins will be groomed to show the big writers of the east how the game of football is really played in this sector.

Francis Wallace, the SatEvePost sports expert, who gave Cordill such a plug last September, has been querying about the local boy and from all indications will do a bit of nepotism for him again. It was Wallace, you know, who called Cordill next to Bob LaLeod of Dartmouth, the best back in football last year.

The Institute boys are facing one of the toughest schedules in the country the coming season, meeting such teams as Vanderbilt and Tulane besides Fordham and all the conference foes, could hardly be expected to win them all but the attitude of the players in general is one of anything but pessimism.

The Owls enjoyed a great spring drill. Cordill intends to work for Lutecher Stark at Orange during the summer months and may not be able to visit with his parents here.

Benny Franklin, who made the Big Spring Barons look silly in Abilene's 6-0 WT-NM league conquest Thursday evening, was only this week disciplined by Manager Fincher Withers for breaking training rules. Withers' finger pointing certainly paid dividends.

Tat's two new outfielders, Francis Churchill, an SMU boy, and Jim Jennings, who hails from Abilene, are going to erase plenty of the Apache skipper's worries.

Fincher has been having to alternate his pitchers in the gardens, the pickups having been none too successful.

Tony Rego, still not satisfied with his lineup, has ordered two new pitchers and an infielder from Joe Abilene. The new players should drop in about the time the Barons return from Abilene.

Sam Flowers, another Big Spring boy who has returned home after completing final examinations, becomes eligible in the fall and will share with Kenneth Whitlow, the Wichita Falls ace, the principal chores at the center post. Sam is as gigantic as ever, will come in at around 215.

Lain's weight troubles are apparently a thing of the past. The big

Guldahl Says He Can Feel Open Victory

Champ Competing In Goodall Round-Robin Tourney

By BILL BONI
NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—Big Ralph Guldahl, who may make modern golf history by winning his third straight U. S. Open championship next week, is a confident cuss. You have to admire him for it.

The bookmakers have made the Madison (N. J.) professional a 6-1 favorite to repeat at the Philadelphia Country club his 1937 and 1938 Open victories. "I have a definite feeling about the Open—that I'll win it or at least be in the running all the way," he said today before teeing off on the second round of the 126-hole, $5,000 Goodall Round-Robin tournament.

"That Philadelphia course will be tough, and it will play long. I've around it three times this week—in 68, one under par, 70 and 73—and I have a hunch 284 will be good enough to win. That's eight strokes over par, but it's still not too much."

"They tell me lots of fellows tighten up in the Open. I don't. Maybe I'm lucky, but I play even better than. And if I have to come from behind, that's even more of a help."

Guldahl, matched with Olin Dutra and Ben Hogan for his second round in the Goodall Round-Robin, was in an advantageous position. With a plus-5 showing for yesterday's first round, he was only six points behind Sam Snead, the leader and last year's winner.

Boston's Red Sox walloped the Detroit Tigers 14-5 with Eldon Auker keeping his former teammates under control on eight hits—one of them Hank Greenberg's tenth homer of the year.

The Washington Senators beat the Chicago White Sox and the Philadelphia Athletics stopped the St. Louis Browns by identical scores, 10-7. Both were hitting battles with six pitchers being used in each game.

REDS AND BROOK WIN EXTRA INNING FRAYS; CARDS COP

Associated Press Sports Writer
The won and lost columns in all the same, but there are two ways to break up an extra inning baseball game—power or science.

Both methods were demonstrated spectacularly yesterday. The Cincinnati Reds, who have virtually surpassed the New York Yankees as exponents of the power play, exploded five runs in the faces of the Boston Bees to win 9-4 in the 13th inning. The Brooklyn Dodgers downed the Chicago Cubs 3-2 in their night game when Gene Moore tripled and stole home in the 14th.

There is no fault to be found with either system but the Reds' way causes less fretting. They simply loaded the bases in the fourth overtime period and followed this up with a single by Will Hershberger and a home run, his fifth of the season, by Harry Craft.

The Dodgers went in for more drama. A near-capacity crowd of 22,574 was on hand to see the rivals who had played a 9-9 tie in 19 innings before darkness fell at Chicago May 17. They tossed in a triple play at midnight—which must be something new in the annals of baseball—and presented the victory to Vito Tamulis, the hard luck pitcher who had worked the last 11 innings of their previous stalemate with the Cubs as well as an 11-inning tie with Philadelphia in the third game of the season.

Is Effective
Tamulis, fourth Brooklyn hurler, took over with the bases loaded in the ninth and worked effectively thereafter, passing his crisis in the 10th when the first two men singled and were erased by the triple killing. Attempting to bunt, Jimmy Gleason popped to Harry Lavagetto, who trapped the ball and threw to Dolph Camill at first. One runner was tagged, the base touched and the other runner nabbed between second and third.

The loss dropped Chicago into fourth place in the National League as the Pittsburgh Pirates pounced on the Phillies 5-2 in another night game and climbed into third place. A home run by Bill Brubaker broke a tie in the eighth inning and gave the Pirates their winning impetus.

In another thriller typical of the senior circuit the St. Louis Cardinals nosed out the New York Giants 1-0 on a disputed double by Johnny Mize and a hit and an error in the ninth inning. The Giants argued so violently Mize was out at second that two of them were ordered out of the game. It was the fourth victory without defect for Fiddler Bill McGee, who gave only five hits.

The Yankees pounded out their customary big inning—a four run rumput in the eighth—to beat the Cleveland Indians 8-3 and maintain their margin at the top of the American League. Lefty Gomez had one of his better days and gave up only one hit for seven innings.

Boston's Red Sox walloped the Detroit Tigers 14-5 with Eldon Auker keeping his former teammates under control on eight hits—one of them Hank Greenberg's tenth homer of the year.

The Washington Senators beat the Chicago White Sox and the Philadelphia Athletics stopped the St. Louis Browns by identical scores, 10-7. Both were hitting battles with six pitchers being used in each game.

Tillinghast And Jordan Net Victors

George Tillinghast and Harry Jordan advanced into the final round of the men's division of play in the Big Spring Tennis association's city tournament, defeating Jimmy Myers and Marvin House, Jr., respectively, Thursday afternoon on the city park courts.

Tillinghast defeated Myers, 6-4, 6-1, while Jordan won his match from House, last year's Big Spring high school No. 1 player, 6-1, 6-1. The two will meet Sunday afternoon for the championship.

BETTER STICK TO HIS TRADE

BOSTON, June 2 (AP)—Johnny Vander Meer, the only man ever to pitch two consecutive no-hit games in big league baseball, is pursuing a new ambition—art.

Having heard that no left-hander ever became a famous painter, and secure in the knowledge he is a descendant of the great 17th century Dutch painter Vermeer, Johnny took a painting lesson last night.

His tutor was Aldro K. Hibbard, Boston and Rockport artist and baseball fan. His first course was copying Hibbard's Medici print of Vermeer's "The Music Lesson."

The results? Not too good.

FIRE TRUCK DRAINED OF ITS GASOLINE

CHATHAM, Va., June 2 (AP)—Firemen, on foot, arrived too late at a downtown blaze. Thieves had siphoned the gasoline from the fire truck. Damage to a haberdashery, a dentist's office and a newspaper shop was estimated at $20,000.

BAHR SLATED TO TWIRL TONIGHT

Barons Blanked By Franklin Thurs., 6-0

ABILENE, June 2—Edson Bahr, who blanked the Apaches in his last start, was slated to go to the mound for the Big Spring Barons as Tony Rego's club prepared to line up against the Abileneans in Withers' park tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

Bahr's opponent was to be Howard "Lefty" Parks who was the victim of Bahr's sensational pitching earlier in the week.

Two hits represented the sum collection of the Barons as Benny Franklin tamed them, 6-0, Thursday evening in the Abilene ballpark. Billy Capps broke the ice with a line single in the seventh frame while Curdell Loyd accounted for the second, a double, as the leadoff man in the ninth.

Franklin looked exceptionally well in the pinches and waded through "hot water" several times on sensational fielding by his mates.

The Apaches went to work on Clarence Trantham in the initial frame, scoring three runs. Duke Loken gained a life when Bobby Decker juggled his hopper at second base and was advanced when Barney Barnhill gained advantage of a free pass. The front runner scored on Bob Hillin's single. Jim Jennings was hit with one of "Levi's" fast ones to cram the sacks. Jim Morris bounded into a double killing but Bob Evans accounted for two more runs with a single.

The Withramen added their other three tallies in the fourth, starting the rally when a pop fly by Franklin fell safely. Kerr dropped a base blow back of third and Barnhill contributed a single to score Franklin. Kerr counted on a single by Jennings. Barnhill followed by pilfering home during a battery consultation in the box.

Approximately 250 fans witnessed the fracas. The Barons return home Sunday to oppose Clovis in a twin bill, first game of which is slated to begin at 2:30 p. m. The two teams will also meet in two games Monday, playing one in a 4:30 go, the other at night.

BAER THINKS NOVA IS STILL LONG WAY FROM TITLE DUEL

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—Victor Joe Louis. Nova's manager, Ray Carlin, said he wanted a few days to think it over before deciding whether to tackle the poisonous, big negro this year.

From the start, last night's fight was a rip-tearing, brutal exhibition. There was no feeling-out. They went at it right now, slugging and grunting and scowling, hitting on the breaks and after the bell. The referee took two rounds from Nova for hitting low and one from Maxie when he clouted Lou an awful smash after the bell. At the end of ten rounds the Associated Press scores sheet gave Nova six chapters and Max four. Fulman wanted to stop it earlier in the 11th, but Maxie refused the reprieve and took a dozen more blows before he consented to retire.

K.O. Was Possible
Nova, his left ear blooming like an eggplant from Baer's rights, said in the dressing room he would have stopped his rival clean as a whistle if he had not hurt his right hand in the third round. Maxie, looking and feeling terrible, said he didn't know whether he ever would fight again. At the same time he mumbled a warning to Nova: "He's a good, strong boy, but he's a long way off. He gets hit too much."

His listeners nodded agreement, most of them feeling in their bones that Lou, though he made a game, damaging fight against Baer, is

The Amazing Facts About the . . .

TIRES THAT WIN!

Wards "RIVERSIDES" win more Races than any other Tires . . . yet they're "STOCK" TIRES!

- 1 Cars using Riversides won the big races last year at Oakland, Chicago, Milwaukee, Mineola, Atlanta, St. Paul, to name but a few.
- 2 All of these races were won on the very same Riversides that are sold every day, in every Ward store. The drivers bought them from Wards regular stocks. They are not specially built tires.
- 3 5,000,000 auto race fans saw regular Riversides . . . bought from regular stock in Wards stores . . . win race after race . . . establishing positive proof-in-action of Riverside superiority!
- 4 Only a top-quality tire . . . regular Riversides . . . can take the terrific mile-after-mile punishment of the race tracks. That's why . . .
- 5 . . . safety-minded motorists—like yourself—have switched by millions to Riversides—safer, of course, on the highway!

MARKETS Wall Street

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—The stock market experienced difficulty in keeping an early rally going today and extreme gains, running to a point or more in the forenoon, were substantially reduced or erased at the close.

The ticker tape never got heated, frequently coming to a standstill. Transfers were around 400,000 shares, or about two-thirds of yesterday's aggregate.

While traders apparently leaned toward the buying side, brokers said, there was hardly enough change in the political or business pictures to spur the acquiescent urge unduly.

A little nibbling here and there was believed to have been based on the theory Thursday's selling may have provided sufficient "correction" for the list after the lengthy recovery.

Rebels, Cats Keep Winning

By the Associated Press

Now that the Dallas Rebels can rest easier over the Houston menace, it's time to cast a wary glance in the direction of the Fort Worth Cats who are in the midst of a brilliant drive toward the Texas league top.

The Rebels gained a two and one-half game lead over the Buffs last night when Houston dropped a couple to the San Antonio Missions but nobody did anything to the growing Cats.

In less than two weeks the Panthers have climbed from seventh to fourth place, winning eight games and dropping two. Last night they knocked over the Oklahoma City Redskins for the second time in a row.

Dallas beat the hapless Oilers, 5-1, and San Antonio took care of Houston, 7-2 and 4-2. The balloons have come from the cellar to fifth place in two weeks and are but a few percentage points out of the first division.

Shreveport was closing in on second place by smacking Beaumont in a double bill, 3-1 and 4-1.

A Stayer-At-Home Has Only Envy For The Lucky Vacationist

By MARY WHALEY

Those who are just about to take their vacations should be segregated from the rest of their friends who won't be able to leave until fall or maybe aren't in line for a two weeks respite at all. Little do the prospective vacationists know what they do to the rest of the office force as they stare off into space and murmur, "A week from today I'll be head for Lake Fish-A-Plenty" or "this time tomorrow I'll have 400 miles between me and this burg."

It is a slow torture system that might have been designed by some Machiavellian mind and is guaranteed to bring curt replies, yearning in the heart, and brooding thoughts in the mind.

The other method guaranteed to make your fellowman wish you flat tires and poison ivy on your trip is to send back postcards picturing in graphic words and picturesque scenes the kind of fun you are having.

The funny thing about this is that the lucky one who is spending his two weeks setting the alarm and then turning it off for a couple of more hours sleep in some distant spot, never thinks to send the card to your home where you might peruse it at your leisure but invariably sends it to the office. Here you read about how he slept under six or 12 blankets last night and you mop your dripping forehead, turn the fan up to a higher speed, and settle down to doing your work and some of his too.

There is only one way to avenge yourself and that is to wait until he has returned with a case of sunburn or an infected insect bite and then refuse to give him any sympathy. It is pretty cold comfort but it helps a little.
