'Show me the money'

I was castigated by a friend last week that the Tribune needs to be more uplifting to folks when I write about federal national politicians and bureaucrats.

My friend pointed out, for example, that it doesn't matter that President Clinton may be an adulterer, coward and draft-dodger -- what counts more is that he has done an effective job governing the nation.

And I admit that is exactly the view of the mass majority of Americans -- witness their votes in the past two presidential elections.

But, as is so often the case, I find myself in a very tiny minority of public opinion. I apologize to everyone but have to candidly admit that I put honor and integrity first -- before a person's suggested effectiveness at governing.

Stupid me.

I say "suggested" because I believe certain Republican leaders would question the effectiveness of Mr. Clinton's ability to govern.

I believe that Mr. Clinton won election over George Bush 5 years ago because the economy was not going well.

And I believe Mr. Clinton won re-election because the economy was doing well.

That's the bottom line.

Now the next question is: how did Mr. Clinton and his policies affect the economy?

Each of us needs to answer that question himself or herself.

Sometimes you can be a great person, as Herbert Hoover was, and get done in by the economy -- the Depression, in Mr. Hoover's case.

And sometimes you can be an average president, as Dwight D. Eisenhower was, but be boosted by an economic revival -- as the U.S. underwent in the bustling 1950s.

In other words, sometimes it's the luck of the draw.

Anyway, going back to the premise of this column, the days when character counted in a politician are dead.

What the voters showed, by large margins in the past two presidential elections, is that "what's in it for us" takes precedence.

Or, as the movie "Jerry Maguire" made into a household slogan:

"SHOW ME THE MONEY!"

Is it any wonder that "Jerry Maguire" was a mega-hit?

Grant sought for storage tank

The Farwell City Council Tuesday adopted a resolution to apply for a Texas Community Block Grant of $222,000 for a new storage tank.

They then heard reports from Water Supt. D.E. Hammit and Police Chief Roy McGaa.

A building permit for Mitchell Walls was approved for the construction of a garage and storage building on his property at 206 Second.

The spray bid for pest control services was granted to High Plains Pest Control for services to the city park, fire department grounds and the cemetery.

The Case of the Dancing Cowboy

PART 11: A STRANGER AT THE WINDOW

© 1997 John R. Erickson

Well, you know me. When confronted by monsters, vampires, and shadowy forms that look like men, I don't just sit there. I bark!

Yes sir, I cut loose with a withering barrage of barking. I bared my fangs and by George stood my ground and prepared to defend Miss Viola with every ounce of...

Slim?

Couldn't be. We'd left him back at his shack, and good riddance too, the cad.

I studied the face again and growled a deep growl, just in case...

It WAS Slim, standing out there with a silly grin on his face. Miss Viola seemed just as shocked as I. We both stared at him with wide eyes.

At last he broke the silence. "Somebody stole my dog."

I heard Viola gasp. "Why Slim, how can you say such a terrible...he must have crawled in my car while we..." She stiffened and raised the angle of her nose. "I can assure you that I didn't steal your dog!"

He chuckled and patted her on the arm. "I'm only funning with you, Viola, don't get your hackles up."

"Don't get my hackles up! Well let me tell you something, Mister Slim Chance..."

"Before you tell me something, let me tell you something. Loper and Sally May are having a little dance tonight. I know I ain't much fun and I can't dance worth a flip, but...would you care to go to the dance with me? I mean, would you even consider such a thing?"

There was a throbbing moment of silence. Then she started crying again. "Oh Slim!"

His face fell like a load of rocks. "Good honk, I didn't figger it would make you cry. I'll just gather up my dog and..."

"Oh Slim, I'd LOVE to go to the dance with you!"

His adam's apple did three flips. "You would? You really would?"

"Of course I would! What girl wouldn't be honored?"

"Well, I could name about three thousand that wouldn't, but thanks. I can't dance but maybe I ain't too old to learn. I'll try."

"Don't you worry about dancing, Slim. We'll go and have us a good time." She opened her door and turned to me. "Bye Hank, and thanks for listening to my troubles. You're a good dog."

On the way back to the house, Slim was in a jolly mood. He whistled and sang all the way home, while I thought about greasy stinking rotten fish.

Orp. Ump.

I tried to concentrate on happy thoughts, such as basking in the warm glow of Miss Viola's last words to me: "You're a good dog." But it was a struggle. The fish were winning.

When we pulled up in front of the house, Slim shut off the motor and sat there for a few minutes, smiling to himself and watching a robin down by the creek.

"Ain't it something, the way one little bitty woman can raise a feller's spirits? Heck, I feel like I could go chop three cords of wood with a dull axe...only I probably ought to take a bath and find some decent clothes to wear to this deal."

He opened the door and stepped out. "And you know what, pooch? I never would have worked up the nerve to ask her out if she hadn't had that trouble with the spark plug wire. That's what I'd call bodacious good luck."

I studied his face to see if he was joking. He wasn't. He never figured it out, but that was okay. Maybe he wasn't supposed to.

PART 12: ALL IS WELL

That's about all there is to this yarn. Slim and Viola went to the dance (I went too, in the back of the pickup) and we had ourselves a grand old time. Dancing in the front yard, Slim looked pretty...

How can I say this? He looked a wee bit awkward and uncomfortable, but Viola told him that he danced as well as "Freddy Stair," whoever that might be.

And you know what? I think he believed her, and after that he didn't seem to care that he looked like a dancing

Texico Chamber presents honors

The Texico Chamber of Commerce conducted its annual banquet Tuesday at a new location -- the new Texico Community Center. A very large crowd attended, with extra tables having to be set up. But everyone received a delicious steak dinner and were entertained by teen-age singer Joni Autrey.

Top awards went to:

Man of the Year -- Both Ted Lopez and Glen Neie were honored.

Woman of the Year -- Diane Cooper.

Young Citizen Awards -- Texico High students Kristi Neie and Eric Drager both won $1,000 scholarships.

Workman Awards -- Matt Meeks and Glen Neie.

Special Award -- Bob Spears, on his 50th anniversary in business.

Club Award -- The Texico-Farwell Lions Club received a special award for its service to the community. Members are Hal Helton, John McGimpsey, Beth Harrington, Donna Ratke, Nanch Chasteen, Willie Roberts, Bill Whitesides, Dutch Quicquel and Mike Pomper.

Also, Chamber officers for 1997 were announced: Doyal LaRue, president; Lewis Cooper, vice president; Marcia Leavell, secretary, and Fern Tharp, treasurer.

Winners of the door prizes were Whitney Harrington, Cindy Lopez and Karen Schilling.

The steaks were cooked by Bob Spears, Lewis Cooper and Bryan Kube.

Brother Bob Burris gave the invocation and benediction. Nancy Jobe introduced special guests. Marcia Leavell gave the progress report, noting the new community center, the fire sub-station and equipment, and new businesses -- BJ's Diner, the escort service, TCBY added to the Burger King, Helton Oil's expansion, and Godfather's Pizza and Country Kitchen added to the Town and Country convenience store. The school principals gave their reports, noting outstanding scores on statewide academic tests, excellent years for varsity sports (every varsity team went to state), and the new ag farm.

Group Award

The Texico - Farwell Lions Club was given special recognition during the banquet for their service to the communities over the past 45 years.

Members focus their efforts on raising money to benefit a wide variety of charitable projects and organizations, many of which were started within the Lions Club. The Texico-Farwell Lions have been active contributors to The New Mexico Lions Eye Bank, which provides transplants for vision impaired or damaged patients throughout the state. They also have been contributors to the Leader Dog Program for the Blind.

Two folks were honored with the Man of the Year award -- Glen Neie, left, and Ted Lopez, right. Diane Cooper, center, was honored as Woman of the Year.

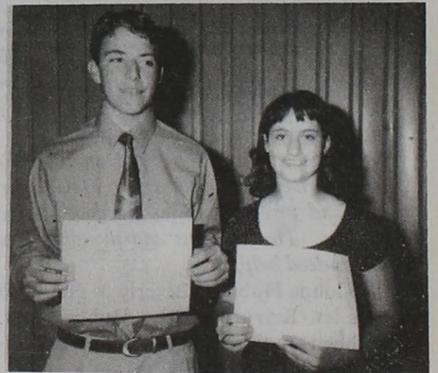

On the local level, the Texico-Farwell Lions Club is very involved in local projects. Members put up large U.S. flags at local businesses and homes during the various holidays. for the past 10 years.

The club also renovated the Lions Park in Texico with volunteer effort and hard work over a 5-year period. They installed sprinkler systems, new grass, trees and shrubs.

Eric Drager and Kristi Neie received the Young Citizen Awards.

Bob Spears was honored for his company's 50th year in business.

Texico Chamber

They work with the Texico and Farwell school nurses to provide eye-glasses to needy students and the club provides the funds for local band students to participate in the New Mexico Lions Band which goes on tour each summer.

One of the most anticipated events on their calendar each year is the arrival of Santa Claus! The club sees to it that Santa arrives each December to provided goodies to the area kids. They have also been very helpful to the local Little League Baseball teams in the past with their contributions.

Men of the Year

Ted Lopez was born June 25, 1942 in Trujillo, N.M., a small ranching community in the Las Vegas area. He is the fifth of seven children.

At age 21, he married Flora Ortega on May 27, 1963. One year later, their first child, a daughter named Joann, was born. The next year, another daughter, Gloria, was born.

In September of 1969, the family moved to Clovis and Ted began working for Fab Steel. The following year, their son Teddy was born. In 1975, Ted began working for Corbin Trailers in Bovina. The company then moved its location to Farwell in 1976.

In 1977, Ted went into business with Alvin Rolan. They started their own trailer manufacturing company under the name T & A Welding in Farwell. In 1978, the pair purchased property in Texico and relocated the business.

Ted purchased Rolan's part of the business in 1982 and changed the name of the company to Tedson, Inc. Son Teddy has been running the business with his father since 1991.

Ted Lopez is a very talented individual. There is not anything that he cannot make if you give him a welder, a box of rods and some iron steel. He is also one of the most generous people you could ever hope to meet. His generosity to and support of youth activities is unsurpassed. He donates the new bicycle to the child that wins the Bicycle Decorating Contest during Border Town Days each year.

This past year, he built a miniature choo-choo train for the kids to take rides in at Border Town Days.

When Ted is not working, he enjoys bass fishing and spending time with his family and grandkids. His daughter Joann and son Teddy live in Clovis. His daughter Gloria currently lives in Phoenix, Arizona.

Glen Neie was born to Oliver and Joy Neie in Durango, Colo., on Oct. 22, 1956. With his brother and two sisters, he was raised in Corrales, N.M., where he was active in the largest 4-H Club in the state. He was also involved in horses, rodeos and his favorite hobby of leathercraft.

He graduated from Albuquerque's West Mesa High School in 1974 and enrolled at Eastern New Mexico University in Portales. It was here that he met his future wife, Freda. They married June 17, 1977.

Glen has been a driving force and organizational leader of the Texico 4-H Club for 13 years. He has been very helpful to its members in welding and leathercraft projects. One example of his help are the picnic tables that the club crafted and donated to the Hart Youth Ranch.

He has served on the Curry County Fair Board for five years and has worked at the Texico Schools for 12 years. This past year he built the Bill Queener Memorial at the Texico Football field and he helped with the building of the Texico Ag Farm.

He is also very civic minded and was instrumental in helping the Texico Chamber build their new Christmas decorations for the highway. He also helped with the Highway Cleanup project and planted the shrubs at the new Community Center.

He is the proud father of two very active and involved daughters, Kristi and Karen.

Woman of the Year

She was born July 8, 1956 in Portales. The doctor stated to her parents that they would have a hard time finding a suitable name for such a fine girl. She grew up happy and proved the doctor right. She never met a stranger and always has a big smile for everyone she meets.

She began her education in 1962 by attending Texico Municipal Schools. She graduated in 1974 with a long list of accomplishments: Student Council president, class favorite, Most Athletic award, Football Homecoming Queen and Border Town Queen.

She also competed in New Mexico Junior Rodeo and New Mexico High School Rodeo. She is also a noteworthy pianist.

She married Lynn Cooper on November 4, 1974 in the Texico Baptist Church and the couple settled down in Texico. Her

Thank You

It is with grateful hearts we thank all those who did so much to help us in our time of grief.

Our thanks to the Rev. Jimmy McGuire and Greg Martin, Pam Carpenter, Laurie Vandiver and Margie Watkins for the music, to Hamlin Memorial United Methodist Church and the church ladies for the preparing and serving of the meal.

To Steed Todd Funeral Home, the Parmer County Sheriff's Department and Roy McGaa for the police escort and to everyone for the food, flowers, cards and prayers. The kindness and thoughtfulness shown to us was indeed helpful.

Golma Hubbell, Beverly & Harlin Obenshain and families, Kerry & Kathy Hubbell and family, Rick Hubbell and families, Debbie & Doug Dillon and families.

mother-in-law was so proud of her new daughter-in-law that she sent out announcements about her new "daughter".

From 1974 to 1977, she worked as a teller and secretary at Citizens Bank. Her first daughter, Kelley, was born Nov. 8, 1977. When Kelley started to school in Floyd, Diane decided to not be outdone, so she began college in the Spring of 1984 at ENMU in Portales. She graduated in December 1987, Summa Cum Laude, with a 4.0 grade point average and a Bachelors in Elementary Education.

In 1988 she taught 2nd grade at Farwell Elementary and then was hired by the Texico Schools to teach English and Language Arts at Texico Jr. High in 1989. As if teaching alone were not enough, she also helped run the concession stand at games, was a class sponsor and cheerleading sponsor. She also added to her list of activities night and summer school to get her Masters in Administration Education.

She eventually became Principal of Texico Elementary. She has set up many successful programs for her elementary staff and students. She goes to the extreme to reinforce the value of learning to her students. One example of this was caught in a photograph that was published recently in the Tribune. Diane spent the day sitting in a lawn chair atop the roof of the elementary school. She had dared the elementary students in the Accelerated Readers program to read her to the roof. The students responded by reading more books than ever before and Diane fulfilled her end of the challenge by spending the day on the roof.

Diane Cooper is also mother to a set of active twin girls Jaylyn and Jordyn.

50th Anniversary

Ray Spears went to Seymour, Texas, with a '47 Rio truck to work harvest there in 1947. He came back to Texico, hired out his wheat cut, then bought 2 combines and headed north to Oklahoma and Colorado. This was the start of his career as a custom harvester.

Bob Spears joined him in 1948; Joe, Bud, Lee and Marie in 1950, and Teddy in 1964.

From 1947 to 1950, they slept under the stars. If it rained, they slept under the truck. Bathing was done in the creek or stock tanks. When Marie started going with them, they used vacant farm houses.

They progressed to an old bus for the crew and a small trailer for Ray and Marie in 1957. Meals were always cooked hot and delivered to the field.

Biggest changes they have seen is their equipment and living conditions. Now they have cable, air conditioning, radios and larger headers. Equipment takes less time to repair and it's all computerized. They can cut 180 acres a day per combine.

Prices have changed, too. In 1947, it was $2.50 an acre plus 5 cents a bushel over 20 bushels. In 1997, it's $12 an acre plus 12 cents a bushel over 20 bushels.

They harvest wheat, corn, milo, rye, oats, native grass, sesame, and pinto beans.

And they have cut for one family for 36 years!

Oh, you're probably wondering what became of the sardines. No problem. I took care of that while Slim was taking his bath. I, uh, downloaded the material, so to speak, in a very private, secluded, unexplored region of his...uh...house.

Under his bed, you might say. And it worked out fine for everyone. That happened a month ago and Slim hasn't found it yet.

Although I've heard him say that he's had a lot of dreams about fishing.

Happy ending. Case closed.

And anyway, it served him right for making Miss Viola cry.

Meet Texico's Class of 2009

Members of Alpha Rho Lambda chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rick Ketcherside April 10.

Life cycles were discussed in two aspects: a baby shower was held honoring Christie Phillips Renner, daughter of member Debbie Phillips, and a program was given on "consoling those who mourn."

Guest Sue Kee presented the program during which members discussed ways to help those who have lost a loved one.

They were counseled to be present for those who mourn, listen to them and give support.

Members held a short business meeting to plan upcoming events, then enjoyed some delicious refreshments.

Kyle Kimbrough, John David Agee and Terry Steinbock, all of Lazbuddie, captured second place in the Kickoff Classic Three Man Scramble Golf Tournament held recently at the Muleshoe Country Club.

NASI KEBULI
(Chicken Rice With Pineapple)

Ingredients:
 2 tablespoons butter or oil
 500 g (1 lb) boneless chicken, cut in 1 cm (1/2 in) cubes
 3 cups chicken stock
 1 teaspoon salt
 2 cups long-grain rice washed and drained
 1/2 small pineapple, peeled and sliced and cut in small pieces

Seasoning:
 13 shallots, peeled and finely chopped
 7 cloves garlic, peeled and finely chopped
 2.5 cm (1 in) ginger, peeled and chopped
 1 teaspoon coriander
 1/2 teaspoon white peppercorns
 1/2 teaspoon cumin
 a little freshly grated

nutmeg
 8 cm (3 in) cinnamon stick
 4 cardamom pods, bruised 2 cloves
 1 lemon grass, bruised
 Heat butter or oil in wok or heavy saucepan, add all seasoning ingredients and sauté for 2-3 minutes. Add the chicken and continue sautéing for 3 minutes over high heat. Add chicken stock and salt, and simmer until chicken is tender. Strain the stock and keep aside the chicken pieces. Place rice in a rice cooker or heavy stock pot, add 2 and 1/2 cups of the reserved chicken stock and bring to the boil. Cover the pan and simmer until the rice is almost cooked and the liquid absorbed. Add the diced chicken and cook over low heat until the rice is thoroughly cooked. Serve on a platter garnished with fried shallots and pineapple pieces.

Pest Management Update

****
Parmer County
Entomologist
Mark Logan

I am sure most of you are wondering what the cold temperatures last weekend did to the wheat crop. The extent of freeze injury to wheat cannot be determined until temperatures warm up and remain warm for a few days (4-7 days). As long as temperatures remain cold, tissue will not deteriorate, and injury cannot be accurately evaluated. There are three types of injury: (1) leaf injury, (2) damage to the stem, and (3) death of spike and growing point.

Damage to the leaves will have the least effect on wheat yield. Damage can vary from dead leaf tips to complete loss of the leaf. Severely damaged fields will have a strong odor similar to silage once temperatures warm. Generally wheat will recover with little effect on yield from this type of injury.

Stem damage can be one of the most deceiving types of injury. Damage to the stem will appear as discoloration, splitting, collapse of internodes, and enlarged dark colored nodes. These stems will often break over resulting in death of the tiller or in some cases, cause the stem at one internode to grow parallel to the ground. A severely damaged tiller (stem) with a collapsed internode will often die as temperatures warm up and transpiration demand increases in the plant. The first symptom of a severely damaged internode is often little resistance of the tissue when the internode is pinched between the fingers.

The most serious injury occurs when the immature spike (head) is frozen. Generally, if the spike is damaged the growing point just below it is also killed. These tillers may remain green for a period of time, but they will no longer grow. The spike will appear white or brown and water-soaked. This tiller will not produce grain. This type of damage can be evaluated by splitting the stem longitudinally with a sharp knife (razor blade works best) and inspecting the spike. The spike will be located above the last visible node and the hollow portion of the stem. A healthy spike will be yellow-green and turgid. Expect yield potential to be reduced by 1/2 of the percent of lost tillers, 50 percent killed tillers in a field would translate into a loss in potential yield of 25 percent.

Meeks receives ENMR scholarship

James S. Meeks, a Farwell High senior, has been named the 1997 recipient of the Evelyn Patterson Memorial Scholarship.

The scholarship was established last year by the ENMR Telephone Cooperative Education Foundation in honor of Evelyn Patterson. She was one of the first ENMR employees and served the cooperative over 45 years in various posts.

Meeks is the son of Jimmy and LaWanda Meeks. He has participated in the high school sports program, FFA, Curry County 4-H and the UIL One-Act Play.

He has worked in the community with the highway cleanup program, the trash bash, the angel tree gift for the needy, Border Town Days, the ethic parade committee and the Pioneer Days Parade.

He plays to study agriculture - agronomy/entomology in college.

Kristen Kasel elected to head Beta Sigma Phi

Members of Alpha Rho Lambda chapter of Beta Sigma Phi enjoyed an evening of dinner and "The Boys Next Door" at the ESA dinner theater on March 13.

After the play, Rhonda Kirkland hosted the business meeting. Social hour for the Farwell Chamber of Commerce was planned.

Plans were made for the Clovis Beta Sigma Phi Founders Day in April. Lynne Mahaney will present the highlights. Woman of the Year nominees' resumes were presented. Social exchange with Laurete Tau and Sigma was discussed.

Officers were elected: Kristen Kasel, president; Nedda Travis, vice president; Rhonda Kirkland, secretary; Michele Kirkland, treasurer; Debbie Phillips, extension officer; Cynthia Thigpen, city council, and Joyce Ketcherside, city council alternate.

Maundy Thursday was the subject of the program presented by Peggy Goettsch at the March 27 meeting of Alpha Rho Lambda. Anne Norton hosted the meeting, with Peggy Goettsch as co-hostess.

Kitchen cabinets were painted by members at a workday at the Farwell Community Center. Plans were finalized for the Chamber banquet social hour. Refreshments and fellowship were enjoyed following the short business meeting.

Texico Community Center receives outside decorations

The Texico Chamber of Commerce has received a grant of $200 from the Keep New Mexico Beautiful -- Arbor Day Grant Committee to plant trees or shrubs in front of the new community center.

On April 7, Chamber members plus city officials planted yews along the center's front.

The planting was to be in conjunction with the open house at the center, but the grand opening will be held after the parking lot is completed. And the due date on the grant didn't allow for the planting to be done later.

Present were mayor Nathan Tharp, city councilman Rick Queener and Oran Jay Autrey, and Chamber members Doyal LaRue, Marcia Leavell, Fern Tharp, Freda Neie, Ann and Lewis Cooper, and Nancy and Johnny Jobe.

In Memory of Candace Renee Travis

On April 5th, 1997 you left us with no plan of coming back. Now all we have are painful memories of you, the friend we now lack.

I wonder if you hear the talk and if you see what's going on. Do you, like we, wish you were back or are you satisfied with being gone.

You had mentioned to me before that college basketball would be nice to try but never did it cross my mind that I'd think of that and cry.

You seemed to have big dreams but none that you couldn't pursue, I guess we'll never know that though, because gone with the hopes and dreams is you.
