

Border Banter

By Mike Pomper

Now is the time

The Tribune is in the midst of running a series of timely articles on the cloud-seeding project that the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 is proposing.

With the lack of moisture in our region and the current status of our crops, we feel that this project is something that Parmer County officials need to look into and encourage.

And when we say "Parmer County officials," we are not only referring to the county commissioners but also the city officials of Farwell, Bovina and Friona.

Whether it be financial support or helping to educate area farmers about the program, or possibly both, our government officials need to contact Wayne Wyatt, manager of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, about the project and how to further conserve our water resources during the times there are no clouds available for seeding.

The water that is currently available to our region must be conserved, and now is the time to check into whether further conservation practices should be implemented.

The past two years have been tough on Parmer County's water levels. Last year's drop of 3.41 feet followed a drop the preceding year of 3.46 feet. That shows drought conditions.

We have no idea how long the current drought will last. But we have to take a long-range view -- it could be around awhile.

That being the case, it behooves us to roll up our shirtsleeves and get to work on the problem now -- not wait until the panic button is pushed.

What our government leaders need to do is to ensure that the necessary water supply will be available to our needs for the foreseeable future.

And when we say "our needs," we refer to all our citizens -- our farmers and ranchers, and the citizens of our cities.

This is a project that our governmental leaders need to work closely on. Cooperation is a key to success.

Farwell School Board incumbents win

Two local elections were held Saturday:

Farwell School Board -- Three candidates sought two posts. Both incumbents were re-elected.

Vote totals were: Charles Christian, 73; David Norton, 71; and Paul Fulcher, 22.

Farwell Hospital District Board -- Five persons had signed up for the five posts, plus there was a write-in candidate.

Incumbents re-elected were Peggy Sudderth, 80; Bert Williams, 79; Tom Nichols, 76, and, on a write-in, Troy Christian, 57. Also elected was Beth Herington, 73.

Also running was Becky Street Landrum, 34.

National Day of Prayer draws large crowd

A very large crowd attended the National Day of Prayer conducted at Farwell City Park on May 2.

Gary Patterson gave the welcome.

Bro. Brent Rashall, of the Texico United Pentecostal Church, gave the opening prayer.

Mike Ratke led the pledge to the flag.

Chad Griswold did a mime performance to a patriotic theme.

The call to prayer was led by:

-- Bro. Jesse Cantu Jr., on individual repentance and commitment.

-- Stan Austin, on community protection and the need for rain.

-- Dr. Glenn Keim, on the nation's need for spiritual awakening.

-- Rev. Richard Lavery, First Baptist Church of Farwell, an invitation to pray and the closing prayer.

Among those also attending the Twin City service were Bro. Bob Burris, of the Texico Assembly of God Church; Rev. Bob Brown, of the First Baptist Church of Texico, and Rev. Beth Herington, of Hamlin Memorial United Methodist Church.

The annual event is sponsored by the community's churches.

Veronica Almanza was awarded the National Honor Society Scholarship Award.

Speaker Neal Jeffrey

Almanza wins scholarship at Farwell honors banquet

The Farwell High School Honors banquet was held on Tuesday at Central Baptist Church in Clovis. A dynamic and challenging speech was made by featured speaker Neal Jeffrey. He challenged the students and parents to make the most of every day and to live their lives "doing the right thing whatever the cost."

Jeffrey is the married couples minister at Prestonwood Baptist Church in Dallas and a former NFL quarterback for the San Diego Chargers. Prior to his NFL career, he was a nationally recognized quarterback and student at Baylor University.

Jeffrey brought a special touch to the topic of making the most of the life you have to live. He stutters and made the point that it was his handicap for most of his young life. But, as he matured, he realized that it didn't have to stand in the way of going after his dreams of playing football and becoming a minister.

Veronica Almanza was awarded the National Honor Society Scholarship Award. She was selected by her peers in the NHS to receive the award. In addition, she received $100 toward college costs. She will be attending West Texas A&M University in Canyon in the fall.

Lonsdale named BTD parade marshal

Ridley "Red" Lonsdale was named Honorary Parade Marshal for the 1996 Border Town Days by the BTD Committee Monday night.

"Red," as he is affectionately called by all who know him, served as the Twin Cities' barber from 1977 to 1995. He was forced to retire due to an arthritic condition in his hands.

A whole generation of Texico and Farwell boys and men were always met with a smile and joke when they went for their haircuts at Red's place.

He currently is attending college and well on the way to getting a bachelor's degree in education. He plans to teach at the elementary school level.

In other business, the committee:

-- Charlie Phillips will give his annual fund-raising concert for the Farwell Convalescent Center on Friday, July 26, the night before BTD, at the Clovis Holiday Inn.

-- The queen's committee will have its first meeting soon. Lupe Coates agreed to serve on the committee but a chairwoman for this group is needed. If interested, contact BTD chairman Mike Pomper at the Tribune, 481-3681.

Rain enhancement program costs given

by Teresa Mesman

Part two of a series:

In order for a cloud seeding project to be completely successful, many weather factors must be carefully watched, mapped and tracked.

One time tested and proven way to check air temperatures and wind velocities is through the use of weather balloons. The instrumentation that each balloon is equipped with reads the data back to computers at a ground station weather center.

Meteorologists also rely on the information received through Doppler or Norad radar systems. They can calculate the distance of cloud patterns, wind speeds and temperatures that will directly affect a cloud seeding project.

For a successful seeding, meteorologists are looking for cloud layers and systems with temperatures with a gradient of less than 5 degrees.

Storm fronts that occur in the fall and spring generally produce small droplets and small amounts of rain due to lower temperatures. Wayne Wyatt has proven and promotes the idea that by intersecting this type of storm front with the silver iodide seeding, the system then increases the amount of rain dropped and the size of the raindrops.

The spring and fall tend to be the choice times of the year for cloud seeding projects because of the number of frontal systems that occur during the seasons. The seeding projects that take place during these seasons must be carefully timed and tracked due to the lower temperatures. If the timing is wrong, there is a potential for snow and ice hazard. However, with the weather tracking technology that is currently in use, this hazard is minimal.

During the summertime, storm fronts are readily available. Lightning and hail suppression projects have proven that the storm fronts that occur during these months have plenty of rain. (However, rain enhancement is far different than hail suppression and the two should never be conducted together.) The High Plains region tends to get rain during these months due to the increased humidity levels that are brought on by the rain storms that occur in East and North Texas. The East and Southeast winds bring the cloud systems over this region. Cloud seeding projects that take place during the summer months must contend with wind patterns that tend to blow from several different directions.

The varied wind directions are caused by the "El Nino" winds, the warm "Santa Anna" winds, the temperatures of the oceans and jet streams that build up over the continent. The barometric highs and lows also directly affect the wind patterns and velocities. Because of the varied wind patterns and speeds, a cloud seeding project must accurately determine its target area and plan on seeding a system approximately 20 to 30 minutes before the clouds settle over the target area.

As Mr. Wyatt explained all about the technology and timing of the rain enhancement program, I began to wonder at what cost this science would come to the taxpayers. I was pleasantly surprised by the answer I received to the question.

The weather modification program being proposed by Wayne Wyatt will not cause an increase in taxes, nor will it cost "an arm and a leg." It is a very simple, low cost, program.

A ground generator can be purchased and installed for approximately $100 to $200. In fact, according to Mr. Wyatt, the most expensive part on the generator is the cellular telephone that is the communicator to the system.

The program that Mr. Wyatt is proposing will cost .2¢ to .3¢ per acre and he is contacting area bankers and agricultural industry groups to help fund the program through financial grants.

"An individual farmer can purchase and install his own system," said Wyatt. "But if we're going to make this a wide spread rain enhancement program, I feel that it would be beneficial to everyone if the entire region could be targeted through the help of major corporate or bank grant money."

Texico 3rd grader undergoes kidney transplant

Over the past several months, many fund-raisers have been held for Texico 3rd grader Bianca Vega, who has needed a kidney transplant.

The operation took place on May 1 at University of New Mexico Hospital in Albuquerque.

Teacher Janice Jenkins reports that Bianca is still in ICU but is doing well. She likely will stay for checkups in Albuquerque about a month.

Peabody wins state Bible Drill

Tim Peabody, a Texico 8th grader, won the New Mexico State Bible Drill at Albuquerque on May 4.

Students, grades 4-9, participate in the drill. The children's division (grades 4-6) is allowed 10 seconds to locate scriptures while the youth division (grades 7-9) is allowed 8 seconds.

Peabody finished with 16 first place finishes out of 25 calls.

He receives an all-expense paid trip to Glorieta for a week to spend with other state winners. He also gets a $12,700 scholarship.

He was coached by Bryce and Iva Moyer, of Ft. Sumner, from 1991 to 1995, and by his mother, Libby, and brother, Phil, this year. His father is Jim Peabody, minister at Pleasant Hill Baptist Church.

Seniors that were named to the Fourth Year Honor Roll were: Brock Taylor, Chase Hardage, Jerry Landrum, Veronica Almanza, Cortney Herington and Brea Travis.

Third year honor roll -- Leane Stout, Corby White. Second year honor roll -- Valerie Mace, Veonica Mace, Andi Kirkland, Adrian Gonzales, Rachel Embry, Candace Travis, Magdalena Almanza, Charlie Gustin.

First year honor roll -- Britney Hunt, Karen Curtis, Tiffany Edwards, Ramsey Bennett, Blanca Saenz, Matt Taylor, Megan Meeks, Brenda Nydam, Roslyn Bennett, Ginger Sides, Jarrod Franse.

These students had been on the honor roll for four out of five consecutive six-week grading periods each year of their high school career.

Wyatt

Mr. Wyatt met with officials from Plains National Bank in Lubbock recently to discuss the issue of grant money and their response was favorable. They suggested contacting the Bankers Association and individual banks throughout the region to go along with them in establishing grant money for the project. Plains National Bank realizes all too well the critical condition that area agriculture is in and will be in without rain in the next several months. The handwriting is also on the wall for cities, towns and their residents without rain.

Rain is a valuable commodity. Based on a study that Wayne Wyatt and Ken Carver conducted and presented on March 25 of this year, the estimated increase in agricultural production resulting from one inch of rain on a timely basis on the four major crops grown in the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District service area has a market value of approximately $91,000,000 with a regional economic impact of approximately $318,000,000.

One inch of rainfall equals 27,154 gallons of water one inch deep over one acre of land, or one acre-inch of water.

For Parmer County's 94,300 acres of corn, one inch of rain would increase yields 350 pounds per acre, increase total yields to 33,005,000 pounds and calculate to $2,475,375 based on $7.50 per cwt. The numbers for grain sorghum, wheat and cotton are also astonishing.

In next weeks' issue: A wake up call concerning area water levels and irrigation practices: the myths, facts and status of our water source: The Ogallala Aquifer.

Graduation set

Brad Scott Johnson, son of Errol and Joyce Johnson, of Lazbuddie, will receive his master's degree in marriage/family counseling and a master's degree in religious education from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary during spring commencement exercises on May 18.

Johnson is counselor at Fielder Road Baptist Church in Arlington, Texas.

Combest answers questions about new Farm Bill

These Farm Bill questions and answers came from Cong. Larr Combest:

Q. Will I be able to hay and graze on my farm and still remain eligible for farm program payments?

A. Yes. There are no planting restrictions on alfalfa and other forage crops. They are treated similar to "contract commodities" such as wheat, cotton, corn, etc.

Q. How was conservation compliance changed?

A. Significant changes in the conservation compliance rules were included in the farm bill to relieve much of the regulatory burden that producers have been forced to deal with. The new Republican Congress is delivering promised regulatory relief. Now, conservation plans must be economically and technically feasible, cost-effective, and not cause undue economic hardship. Farm Service Agency (FSA) county committees may overrule a National Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) technical decision if it causes undue economic hardship. The farmer may certify that he is complying with his conservation plan so status reviews are not automatically required. Farmers may revise their conservation plan in any manner, as long as the level of treatment is maintained. A plan may not be revised without the producer's concurrence. A farmer who is found to not be in compliance, but has acted in good faith, is given one year to correct the plan. Innovative techniques, such as soil roughing, are encouraged to be practiced as a field trial basis.

Q. The emergency feed program was eliminated in the farm bill. Is there any type of grandfather clause for those producers who are currently receiving this assistance, or who are in the process of applying for this year?

A. Yes. If producers in the county have already been approved by FSA, then producers will be given 30 days following enactment of the farm bill (the date signed into law) to apply for this assistance. Check with your county USDA office for further details on this assistance.

Q. How was the peanut program changed?

A. The price support level for quota peanuts was reduced from $678 per ton to $610 per ton. The national quota level will no longer have a minimum and will be set according to supply and demand conditions. The most significant change for producers in our area is that quota will not be allowed to be sold or leased across county lines within the same state. The final bill restricts this sale or lease authority to a total of 40% from each county with yearly restrictions building up in increments from 15% transfer by sale or lease in 1996, a total of 25% in 1997, 30% in 1998, 35% in 1999, and up to 40% in the year 2000 and beyond.

Q. How was the sugar program changed?

A. Traditional opponents of the sugar program fought hard for total elimination of the program. In an effort to counteract their attacks, the program was significantly reformed. Reforms include the following:

Support Price - remains frozen at 18 cents per pound for raw sugar.

Elimination of Marketing Allotments - there will not be no limit on domestic production or marketing of sugar.

Marketing Loan Reforms - only recourse marketing loans will be available to sugar producers until sugar imports reach a level of 1.5 million tons; only when imports reach this level will non-recourse loans be available.

Forfeiture Penalty - a one cent penalty will be applied to forfeited sugar which represents an effective one cent reduction in the support price.

Increased Marketing Assessment - the assessment is increased by 25% to raise approximately $288 million toward deficit reduction over the seven year period.

Q. If I have a CRP contract which is expiring, will I be able to renew it; or if I have a piece of land which is not now in CRP, will I be able to enter it into CRP?

A. The bill gives the authority to continue the CRP up to the current level of 36.4 million acres. However, what existing CRP land or new land will be in the program in the future depends a lot on decision which will be made by USDA. The criteria used to choose the land renewed into CRP, or the new land that will be entered, will determine this. There is no guarantee that acreage currently enrolled in the CRP will be re-enrolled.

Q. Will the same criteria used from 1985 through 1990, when most of our land went into CRP, be applied to land that is accepted into the CRP?

A. No, and this is a critical point. Land that was entered into CRP from 1985 through 1990 was chosen based exclusively on wind and soil erosion. The 1990 farm bill added water quality as another criteria for choosing CRP land; wildlife habitat was also added later through a USDA decision. With extensions and new enrollments based on this expanded criteria, there will be more land competing for inclusion under this capped level of 36.4 million acres. This should not mean that land in our part of the country will be ignored, but it could mean that we will not have quite as many acres in the program in our area as we currently do. Again, USDA will be making these decisions as the program is implemented, so you should continue to rely on them for the final determination. I will be monitoring the implementation of this and working closely with USDA to protect our interests.

Q. What will the rental rate be if I am able to extend my contract when it expires, or if I have new land accepted into the CRP?

A. Rental rates are not determined by the farm bill, but by USDA, with involvement of the local county committee. At my insistence, a provision was included in the Statement of Managers (which describes congressional intent) to ensure that USDA does not figure the payment inaccurately. My provision instructs USDA that the county committees should use the case equivalent value of comparable land in the area (whether that comparable land is cash-rented or share-rented) as a standard to base the rates on. Whether land that is currently in CRP will be renewed at the same rate or how much the rate will be changed, is the county committees' decision working under these instructions. The amount of change in the rate will be dependent on the original rate that your land was entered into the CRP and how that compares to the case equivalent value of comparable land in the area.

Q. Will the contracts be for another 10 years?

A. Again, that is up to USDA. The bill gives USDA the authority to enter into new contracts or to extend expired contracts for up to 10 years. It does not require them to make the contracts 10 years. Contracts could be for fewer years, but we expect that they will probably be for 10 years.

Q. If I recently received a one-year extension on my contract, can I renew it for another 10 years or will the extension be reduced to 9 years?

A. USDA has indicated that the contract extension will be reduced to 9 years.

Q. If my landlord has CRP land which I have been maintaining for him, will I be able to maintain that same relationship?

A. The new farm bill does not maintain the same tenant protections that were in the 1985 law. However, USDA is still discussing the issue and may afford some protection.

Q. Can I take my land out of CRP early?

A. Yes, if it meets certain criteria. The land must have an erodibility index of less than 15 and in the program for at least 5 years. There are also other specific types of land that will not be eligible for this early-out. These include filterstrips, waterways, strips adjacent to riparian areas, windbreaks, and shelterbelts. The landowner must also give USDA 60 days notice of an intention to withdraw the land.

Q. Why were those of us with land that has an erodibility index of higher than 15 not allowed the same opportunity to take the early-out?

A. Taxpayers receive considerable benefit from the CRP through improved environmental conditions in the region. In our area, the benefit has been evident through measurable decreases in airborne dust levels reported at the Lubbock International Airport by scientists at Texas Tech University. I would have favored farmers having as much flexibility as possible, but the votes of too many other Members of Congress are swayed by the influence of environmental organizations who opposed early-out provisions without these erodibility index restrictions.

Q. If I take my land out of CRP early or just decide not to renew my contract when it expires, can I farm it and qualify for the new farm program?

A. Yes, if it had base assigned to it when the land was entered into the CRP, then it can have the same number of contract acres assigned to it under the new program. This land must also comply with conservation compliance regulations. At my insistence however, USDA is instructed to apply the same conservation compliance provisions to land being taken out of the CRP as it applies to similar cropland in the area.

Q. Will I be able to hay and graze on my CRP land?

A. Only under emergency conditions as determined by USDA. This is the same as current procedure.

Grads: good news about jobs

New Mexico State University's College of Agriculture and Home Economics sends some good news about jobs.

They say that a national report shows nearly a 5 percent shortfall of qualified applicants for jobs in food and agricultural sciences, a trend expected to continue at least through the year 2000. The study was conducted by Purdue University.

Lynn Robbins, associate dean with NMSU's College of Agriculture and Home Economics, said most of these jobs are in areas like dietetics and food processing, supermarket, hotel or restaurant management, merchandising and sales, and environmental science and research and product development.

Robbins said that after engineering, agricultural jobs had the second-highest monthly salaries among the top five areas. The other "top 5" areas are economics, math/statistics and business/management.

In spite of that news, the job market is expected to be among the toughest in 20 years. For ag graduates, the hardest fields to break into will be production, communications and education. The edge will go to applicants with strong communication skills, foreign language proficiency, internships and international experience, the Purdue report said.

Mary Mesman pets a native Australian Kangaroo in a zoo in Sydney.

Mesmans tour Australia, New Zealand

A view of the New Zealand countryside from atop a ski resort outside of Auckland. It is now summertime in New Zealand and all of the snow at the lower levels of the mountains has melted. However, at the higher levels, snow still covers the mountain tops.

Ben and Mary Mesman of Farwell spent February touring Australia and New Zealand. They went as part of a farm tour organized by the University of Minnesota.

A highlight of the tour was meeting and staying with Australian and New Zealand farm families. They learned all about farm life in these countries and saw the differences and similarities to farming and dairying in the U.S.

They also got a chance to experience the native cultures to these countries and to tour the countryside.

Downtown Sydney, Australia as viewed from the bay. Sydney is the largest city in Australia and is a major metropolitan center of industry and business.

"The Three Sisters" is a legendary rock formation in Australia that dates back several centuries. The formation was named by the Aboriginal tribe that was protected by the rocks from invaders into their village.

Maori dancers greeted the tour group at the Maori Village and sang and performed traditional dances. The tour group was also treated to a large Maori-style dinner and program.

Attention, Texico parents:

The Texico School District community is invited to a meeting to discuss the planned HIV (AIDS) curriculum to be introduced into the Texico Schools in September.

The HIV topic has been mandated by the state into local schools.

Three speakers from the HIV speakers' bureau will attend.

How HIV will be incorporated into the health curriculum will be discussed. It hasn't been decided yet which grades this will be done at.

The meeting is for educational purposes. Questions will be accepted from the floor.

The entire Texico School District community is invited to this meeting.

Byrd Realty, 308 Third St., Farwell, is this month's Business of the Month, sponsored by the Farwell Chamber of Commerce.

Realtor Ronald Byrd, after being with J.B. Sudderth Realty for six years, opened Byrd Realty in 1984 with an office at Farwell Spraying. The next year, he remodeled the old Halo Drive-In at 8th Street and Avenue A into an office. And in 1991 he moved to his current location.

Over the years, Byrd has specialized in farm sales, plus limited house sales. In 1994, Crista Bass joined the firm as a secretary. She became a licensed Realtor earlier this year, and now specializes in housing sales.

They handle properties throughout Texas.

Byrd, a West Camp native, has been a Farwell resident since 1973. He and his wife LeAndra, the business manager at Farwell Schools, have two children -- Chad, a senior at West Texas A&M University, and Quinn, a junior at Farwell High.

Mrs. Bass lives in West Camp with her husband, Chris, and two children -- Kyle, 6, and Chelsea, 8 months.

"We sincerely appreciate all our customers over the years and thank the community," said Byrd.

Since 1949, nursing homes throughout our country have observed National Nursing Home Week as a means of honoring those who live and work in nursing homes - the residents as well as the staff members, volunteers, board members, and families who assist in providing care.

This year, an estimated 19,000 nursing homes with over 1.5 million residents will join the celebration. It underscores the importance of revering these special persons.

Your local Good Samaritan center invites you to join this special celebration - by offering your prayers and words of encouragement, taking time to visit our facility and talk with residents and staff members, and sharing in the special activities that will take place throughout the week.

By sharing an hour or an afternoon, a smile, a prayer or a warm word, you'll help brighten the day for our residents and help us make real our motto "In Christ's Love, Everyone Is Someone."

Of course, visitors are welcome and encouraged year-round at our facility, but during National Nursing Home Week, your visit will be of special importance. We invite you to join with us as we show love and respect for members of our nursing home "family."

Although the New Mexico lottery started with two scratch-off games, more will be offered soon (about one new one each six weeks).

This fall, New Mexico will join 21 other states in offering "Powerball" lottery jackpots, which will make the state competitive with Texas lottery jackpot totals.

Those attending Texico's FFA banquet Tuesday thought the decorations made by Nancy Barnes were really beautiful.

Here are some important Texico Schools dates:

May 9, junior high athletic awards program; May 10, high school athletic awards program; May 11, high school prom; May 13, band awards concert and awards program; May 18, FHA banquet; May 20, high school graduation; May 23, last day of school -- dis-

A neat thing happened last weekend:

A whole lot of the Dannheim kids and relatives showed up to shingle the home of Willie and Lorine Dannheim in Farwell.

Charlie Aycock stopped by the Tribune to drop off a composition book he had found that contained moisture totals here from 1918 to 1940.

He doesn't know who the recorder was but you know the writer goes back a long way when he (or she) listed "lunch at Bovina -- 50¢" and "batteries and connections -- $1.95."

As folks know, the current drought isn't the only one suffered around here over the years.

No moisture was recorded between Nov. 9, 1929, and April 12, 1930, for example.

Members of the Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL) branch 3637 of Lariat, have been awarded the Gold Star rating by the fraternal benefit

Texico HIV meeting upcoming

Texico Schools will have a meeting May 15 at 7 p.m. in the Educational Complex to discuss the planned HIV (AIDS) curriculum.

The HIV topic has been mandated by the state into local schools. It will be introduced into the local curriculum starting in September.

School nurse Shantel Ward has already presented two discussions to the community on this.

The May 15 meeting is directed toward the entire community. Area churches, which normally have

Wednesday night meetings, have agreed to release their congregations so they can attend the meeting at the Educational Complex.

Ms. Ward will have 3 speakers from the HIV speakers bureau coming.

Also, Ms. Ward will talk about how HIV will be incorporated into the health curriculum. It hasn't been decided yet which grades this will be done at.

The meeting is purely for educational purposes, not debating. Questions will be accepted.

A new advertisement will be carried each week in the Tribune starting now:

The daily lunch specials at Olde Tyme Pastries.

That way, you will know ahead of time each week what specials the new restaurant will be offering.

Texico's Chamber of Commerce meeting has been moved up from May 20 to May 13 due to a conflict with high school graduation.

Dara Jenkins, daughter of Sam and Janice Jenkins of Texico, has been accepted into Texas Tech's Medical School.

The Tech sophomore plans to be a nurse practitioner.

Texico 3rd graders and their high school "pen pals" will have a party today.

Texico's kindergarten graduation will be at 1:30 p.m. on May 15.

The Chief's Corner

Texas statutes contain a section on "Rights of Crime Victims" and Farwell Police Chief Roy McGaa wants folks to know about it. The following is a summation. Complete details are available at the police office in City Hall.

A "victim" refers to someone who is the victim of a sexual assault, kidnapping or aggravated robbery or who has suffered bodily injury or death as a result of the criminal conduct of another.

Victim's rights include:

To get from police adequate protection from harm and threats of harm arising from cooperation with prosecution efforts; to have the judge take the safety of the victim or his family into consideration when fixing bail for the accused; to be informed of relevant court proceedings; to be told about procedures in guilty plea negotiations and arrangements;

To provide information to the probation department about the offense prior to sentencing; to get information about compensation to victims (as McGaa reported recently in another column); to be told, on request, about parole procedures and be involved in knowing about them;

To get your property back promptly when it's no longer needed as evidence; to have the state notify the employer of the victim of the necessity of the victim's cooperation and testimony; to have counseling, on request, about AIDS if the offense is a sexual assault, and to be present at all public court proceedings related to the offense (if okay with the judge).

Thank You

The family of Dorothy Eason wishes to say 'thank you' to the many people who gave from your hearts to comfort us due to our loss. The prayers, food, cards, and flowers helped immensely. May God look down on you in love and richly bless you.

'Mousewives' participate in MS Walk

ESA Sorority met April 22 at the home of Lillie Christian with Denise Christian as co-hostess. Leslie Lunsford presented the program -- ideas on home organization, along with helpful hints she has found to help on this project. She discussed an organized system for her home that has helped her make better use of her time.

Correspondence included a "thank you" from member Angelia Mace and reports from the state convention.

Hayley Christian reported for the social committee on choices for the end-of-year dinner. She also passed out invitations for a diaper shower for Bailey Williams, daughter of Susan and Eric Williams, set for April 30.

Twyla Lusk, MS committee, reported on the MS walk in Amarillo April 13. Walking on ESA's "mousewives" team were Twyla Lusk, Robin Howard, Pam Carpenter and Jana Barrett.

Roberta Howard, chamber banquet committee, gave her final report on the banquet decorations and members voted to donate the cost of decorations to the Chamber this year.

Robin Howard presented her President's scrapbook for all to see. Her theme was "An Apple A Day." The cover was made by Margaret aycock with a tapestry print of apples and cottages. It featured quilting one by Robin's mother, Alice Foshier. The theme was carried out in many special ways. She thanked the scrapbook committee for the beautiful book. This year's committee was headed by Sheryl Christian with Twyla Lusk, Sherry Christian, Pam Carpenter, Margaret aycock, Tracy Devault and Roberta Howard.

Robin, Pam Monk and Margaret reported on the state convention in Las Cruces. The trio presented a puppet show and magic tricks at it. They reported that Theta Rho won 3rd in the state scrapbook contest, and 3rd for most philanthropic monies spent per member. Margaret won 2 table decoration giveaways, a clown and a carousel horse. Pam was installed as state recording secretary and was presented her 4th degree Pallas Athene. Pam also was awarded the "Miss Congeniality" trophy, presented to her by last year's winner, Margaret aycock.

Incoming President Sheryl Christian passed around the committee sign-up sheet for the coming year's committees. Members attending were Lillie Christian, Denise Christian, Robin Howard, Margaret Aycock, Sheryl Christian, Pam Monk, Terri Nichols, Dot Christian, Twyla Lusk, Karen Stevenson, Sabina Schilling, Hayley Christian, Nell Walling, Rosa Roberts, Roberta Howard, Pam Carpenter, LaMoin Williams, Jana Barrett and Sherry Christian.

'Planting rain' awaited

From Plains Cotton Growers:

The majority of the area's dryland cotton acreage appears to have good sub-soil moisture. The situation of most concern right now is the moisture contained in the top 6-12 inches of the soil profile.

Producers are waiting for a "planting rain" to help them get the crop established. The majority of the cotton on the High Plains is typically planted during May. It's expected that the majority of the area's irrigated acreage will be planted during the optimum planting period.

The majority of the area has received only about one-half inch of moisture during the first four months of 1996.

Planted cotton acreage for the area is estimated to be close to last year's 3.2 million acres. About 50 percent of the area's cotton acres are now considered irrigated. This shift from dryland to irrigated is the result of an upswing in the use of higher efficiency pivot irrigation systems.

So far, it appears less than 15 percent of the area's crop has been planted to date, mostly in the southern part of the area.

Sheriff's Report

Here is the weekly report from Parmer County Sheriff Rex Williams:

On May 5, Julian Colunga Jr., 45, Friona, was arrested by Friona police on a charge of DWI. The case is pending in county court.

On May 5, Carlos Pena, 30, Clovis, was arrested by Friona police on a charge of DWI. The case is pending in county court.
