House Leaders Adjourn To Save Revenue Bill Six Men File As Candidates For City Commission

Well, our school teachers whose salaries already are too low, have decided that, circumstances considered, they will be better off by donating ten per cent of this year's salary than if they sought the full amount and as a result had to receive scrip, which their creditors likely would have to discount.

There are many of our people who are unalterably opposed to lowering of wages. So are we expect when strike necessarily forces such action. Taken nationally, as a whole, there may be no logical reason why wages should be cut in any trade or profession. But thousands of small, individual companies and institutions have found that they either had to take that action or stop operations.

The season when all home owners wish to grow lawns, home gardens and flowers is coming upon us again. It is our sincere hope that the city commission will be successful in the efforts it has been putting forth for months to make possible allowance of more water each month on the minimum rate now charged—$2.00 per month.

Water users here get 3,000 gallons for the minimum of $2. If the commission can allow four thousand or more gallons for the same minimum charge the people who need it worst—the small consumers—would be the ones benefited most.

While our schools are having rough sledding financially right now due largely to conditions outside the control of the trustees themselves, our city and county governments are in good shape financially and this condition has been held without raising the tax rate. In fact the county rate was reduced this year.

The at eleven unemployed men through the city manager's office has been the greatest effort toward relief that we have had. This aid has been extended without cutting regular employes, without cutting salaries, and without going into debt.

When our city manager cut $25,000 from operating expenses for the last half of the fiscal year which will end March 31 he took the first step of several in the right direction. When he revised the year's budget, so as to base it on expected tax collections of only 60 per cent of all assessments he took an even more wise step.

The result is that the City of Big Spring has operated on less money, helped the unemployed, and still has kept out of the red. Many towns are in the red because budgets were based on normal tax collections which did not pan out.

The water rate undeniably is the one outstanding problem facing the people of this community. Our city commissioners realize that as fully as any citizen, we are sure. Our city manager's statement after only two or three weeks on the job here was that the greatest problem and his chief aim would be to make possible more water for the same money or more water for less money as quickly as possible.

The physical nature of our water system makes it a costly one to maintain.

Election Set For April 5; Three Places

Incumbents Among Aspirants; Petitions Now Necessary

Six men have filed for places on the ballot in the municipal election to be held April 5 for selection of three members of the board of city commissioners.

Today was the last on which candidates might gain places on the ballot except by petitions of citizens.

Those who filed and in the order of filing are: C. E. Talbot, J. B. Pickle, Joseph Edwards, S. B. Stone, R. V. Jones and L. M. Gary.

The first three now are members of the board.

Governor In San Angelo

Chief Executive Comments On Efforts To Stabilize Oil

Governor Ross Sterling, who with his party passed through Big Spring late Thursday en route from the cattleman's convention in El Paso to Austin, stopped in San Angelo Thursday night and spoke to a crowd at the Tom Green county court house, where a crowd gathered to greet him at 9 o'clock Friday morning.

Efforts to stabilize the oil industry and revenues were related by the governor to a party of friends there Thursday night.

This was one of the governor's few trips about the state since he took office, he advised, declaring his interest in taking care of the state's business effectively and conserving the people's money.

A Texas sheriff, who filed an expense account all in round figures was the case of investigations launched by the governor bringing an audit of such accounts. Mr. Sterling said he couldn't conceive of all expenses being in terms of $4 or $5 to the exclusion of odd cents and he started questions that since have led to several indictments, discoveries of forgeries and two suicides. It will mean a saving of something like a million dollars a year, he said.

Efforts to bring oil back to normalcy have been partially effective in martial law in East Texas he said, making reference to his trial before three federal judges with the declaration that federal encroachment on state rights has been a little too rapid. He said the situation in East Texas is being adjusted as rapidly as feasible. He said the state would be on a cash basis temporarily the end of this month and should be on the black side in June when more tax money comes in.

He declared progress of the state prison in producing food enough for the prisoners, adding that this year should see enough grown to feed the state's 22,000 wards in various institutions. He expressed the thought that the gas tax should carry the road construction program.

She's 'Miss Business'

Not to be outdone by other college "queens," students at Texas Christian university picked Floy Edmondson, a senior, as "Miss Business," representing the type of young woman most likely to succeed in business.

Dies For Science

Dr. Eugene Chellis Glover, 29, who was regarded by associates as having made promising advances in the study of cancer, met sudden and mysterious death while experimenting at the Boston city hospital. It is believed he was overcome by poisonous gas used in his experiments.

Aids Sister In Hawaii

Robert Bell of New York is shown as he sailed from San Pedro Cal., to aid his sister, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, held in Honolulu for the slaying of Joseph Kaha Hawaii.

70 Per Cent Of City Taxes Collected Here; Many Use Extensions

$78,848 Receipts To March 15, Records Show

Taxes collected by the city of Big Spring from January 31 to March 15—end of the special extension period made by the city commission—totalled $5,109.76, bringing the total collected for the year to $78,848.92 of the $111,784.00 assessed on the current rolls. This represented collections totaling 70.5 per cent.

These figures were released Saturday by Merle J. Stewart, city secretary.

1st Christian Open Revival

Rev. Lindley Preaching In Series Of Pre-Easter Services

The First Christian Church will open a series of pre-Easter revival services this morning with the pastor, Rev. D. R. Lindley, doing the preaching.

The entire series of services, according to an announcement by Rev. Lindley, will deal with themes connected with the Passion week. The subject of the sermon this morning will be "Jesus Crucified By Twentieth Century Indifference." The subject this evening will be "Thrust With The Sword Of Indifference." The morning service will begin at 10:45 o'clock and all evening services at 7:45 o'clock.

The revival services will continue until next Sunday night, and will close with an Easter cantata by the choir, followed by an Easter message by the pastor. The cantata to be given by the choir will be "Life Eternal," written by Fred B. Holton.

This will be the third series of evangelistic services which the First Christian Church has conducted with Rev. Lindley doing the preaching since he came here as pastor two years ago. During that time, the church has received into its membership more than 150 new members.

Rev. Lindley said that although he believes the church should be intensely evangelistic in all of its activities at all times, he considers that the richest season of the year for evangelism is the pre-Easter season, and he has made it a practice for a number of years to conduct a series of pre-Easter services.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to participate in these services.

Dennis Leads Steers To Win In Field Meet

Big Spring Scores 61 Points—Tack Takes Four First Places

MIDLAND—Big Spring high school track and field stars, mostly those of the field—ran off with an invitational meet here today, scoring 61 points.

Tack Dennis, Big Spring's great grinder, showed equal class as a tracker by taking individual high-scoring honors with 22 1/2 points. Dennis won the shot put with a 45-foot heave, hurled the javelin.

County Given 300 Barrels Gov't Flour

Red Cross Headquarters Approves Application Of Charter

The Howard county Red Cross chapter's application for a quota of wheat from farm board flour made available by congress for distribution among the needy has been approved. Ben Cole, county Red Cross chairman, was informed Saturday.

William M. Baxter, Jr., manager of the midwestern branch of the Red Cross, informed Mr. Cole that 300 barrels of flour would be forwarded here.

It will be distributed throughout Howard county through the Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

Requisite for the Howard county quota has been forwarded from Saint Louis to the Red Cross central wheat distribution office in Chicago, Mr. Baxter wrote.

The amount of flour approved, he declared, was based on one barrel per family for 90 days.

"Should the needs increase beyond your present anticipations," Baxter wrote, "you may file an additional application later which will be considered in the light of existing needs and supplies at the time your application is received."

Congress recently passed a measure which made possible the use of 40,000,000 bushels of wheat held by the Grain Stabilization Corporation of the farm board, for milling and distribution through the Red Cross to needy families.

John Garner Again Leads But Murray Supporters Continue Active In His Behalf

Although Governor William H. Murray's supporters continued to send in many votes—a third batch was received from the Murray camp—those of John N. Garner of Texas apparently came to the rescue of their man during the latter half of last week with the result that Garner led Murray by a measly five votes last night.

Since the last tabulation Murray has received 28 votes and Garner 44. The total vote now is Murray 123, Garner 128.

The Herald's straw vote for president will be continued through this week only. The final tabulation will be made next Saturday night.

The vote now is: Garner ..... 128 Murray ..... 123 Al Smith ..... 13 Eddie Cantor ..... 13 Hoover ..... 9 Daves ..... 2 Joe Robinson ..... 1 Owen D. Young ..... 1 Melvin Traylor ..... 1 Gov. Ritchie ..... 1 Coolidge ..... 1 Roosevelt ..... 1

Accompanying the last batch of Murray votes was the following letter, written by "a Murray Man who has led in hiking the Oklahoma's vote for several weeks that the straw poll has been under way:

"Dear Sir: Enclosed eight votes for Bill Murray. I read a write-up about Garner in today's Herald.

Eggs Ready, Movie Camera Arrives; Thousands Of Children Expected At Herald-Ritz Easter Egg Hunt Sunday

Partial List Of Prizes Announced Saturday By Mr. Robb

Just one week more, folks, one more week to wait for that biggest and most joyful gathering of boys and girls the old town has ever seen.

The Herald-Ritz Easter egg hunt will be held next Sunday—"Egg's Easter"—on the north side.

Every child up to and including those ten years of age is invited.

There'll even be separate spaces where Mexican and negro children may hunt eggs.

And, about those prizes. Yeah! There'll be a bunch of prizes for kids who find certain eggs with various numbers on 'em.

Mr. Yuell Robb of the Ritz hadn't finished the list of prizes last night but here are some of them: Ritz confectionery, $1 'in trade' (that'll buy 20 ice cream cones); J & W Fisher, Inc., a pair of pants if a boy finds the egg, and some nice garment for a little girl, if she happens to be the lucky one; Harry Lester, a dollar's worth of tickets to the Ritz; Bradshaw Studio, a 5x7 photograph valued at $3; Cunningham & Phillips drug store, a doll for a girl or a watch for a boy; Home Bakery, six prizes including two cakes and four one-pound cakes of candy; Allen Red and White Grocery, a ham. Other prizes will be announced later.

And about those eggs—there'll be more than 6,000 of them.

They're already painted and in cold storage. Boy, those rabbits sure have been busy lately.

There will be a public address system installed up there on the grounds by the Anderson Music company so that directions about where kids of various sizes and ages will hunt can be given without trouble.

Mr. Robb also announced yesterday that the movie camera with which motion pictures of the hunt will be made has arrived and besides the fun of hunting the eggs, perhaps winning a prize, all those taking part will be "shot" for the movie screen.

Yesterday at the regular Saturday morning matinee meeting of the Herald-Ritz Mickey House club several hundred kids enjoyed the maine and program. They all were growing anxious for Easter Sunday to arrive.

Watch the Herald every day this week for important announcements concerning the big hunt.

And, remember, every child is invited. The Herald and the Ritz will be sorry if you don't come and join in the fun.

Teachers Would Give 10 Per Cent Of Year's Pay For Cash Payment Of Salaries Remainder Of Session

Teachers of the Big Spring public school at a meeting Friday afternoon offered voluntarily to donate ten per cent of this school year's salary if by so doing they could be paid in cash on schedule for the remaining months of the session.

In taking this action the teachers said they did so for the purpose of making possible regular payment of salaries and to prevent necessity of receiving pay in script, which very likely would have to be discounted by their creditors.

The amount that will be cut from the obligations of the school district if the 10 per cent reduction is adopted will be $9,500 to $10,000. The action affected all employes, from superintendent thru the ranks and including those who are not teachers.

The amount that would thus be cut from the expense of operating the schools would be equal to the total of school taxes collected on $1,000,000 worth of property.

Checks for half of February have been issued the teachers. These, however, can not be cashed until $3.50 per capita of the state appropriation is received. These funds are expected Monday or Tuesday.

Mrs. W. D. Belt, sister of Ray Simmons of Big Spring, was one of the winners of a city-wide contract bridge tournament which ended last week in Dallas.

Satterwhite Seen As Next Speaker

ODESSA—Lee Satterwhite of Odessa, who has announced that he will run again for the legislature, may be a compromise speaker of the house if the contest between A. P. Johnson of Carrizo Springs of Coke Stevenson of Junction lands in a deadlock. When Satterwhite was serving for the Panhandle he was speaker of the house.

$103,000 Damages Sought In Suit Brought In Sweetwater By Three Children Of Mr. And Mrs. Dubberly

SWEETWATER—As result of an automobile accident on the highway east of Sweetwater last November in which Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Dubberly of Big Spring were killed, a suit for damages totaling approximately $103,000 was filed in special district court here last week.

The suit is brought by the children of the wreck victims, and names the A. G. Winn Produce Co., city, and Ben E. Keith Co., Abilene, as defendants.

The district clerk's office reported it to be one of the biggest suits of its kind ever filed in this part of the state.

The plaintiffs are Hugh Dubberly, Big Spring, for himself, and as next friend for Mary Gene Dubberly and Janie Bess Dubberly, all children of the deceased. Big Spring couple, and Mrs. M. H. Robinson, mother of Mrs. Dubberly. Dubberly, who was district clerk of Howard county, and his wife.

Wild Scenes Are Enacted By Minority

New Victories By Sales Tax Opponents Alarm Both Sides' Chiefs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Resorting to the only means that could save the billion-dollar tax bill, the democratic leaders adjourned their house amid the wildest scenes of recent years. It was a move in an effort to save the bill from complete destruction after the opponents of the sales tax had triumphed in new propositions proposed by leaders of both parties.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speaker Garner in a formal statement endorsed the new revenue bill pending in the house and the manufacturers sales tax provision it contains, saying the ways and means committee had found it the most effective and most effective way of balancing the budget after exhaustive deliberations.

Opponents to the sales tax Friday succeeded in increasing the income tax in the upper brackets and plan a substitute luxury tax for the sales tax.

Garner said there had never been a perfect tax bill or one that pleased everybody and it was essential to balance the budget so as to expedite the return of normal conditions and that the present bill was the best way of doing so.

$65 Given For Scenic Drive Repair Work

Men To Go To Work Monday; Oil Company Employs 100 Per Cent

Sufficient cash—$65 in all—had been donated last night to finance 3 1/2 days of work by a crew of six men on repairing of the Scenic Drive roadway.

B. F. Robbins, local oil man who volunteered to lead a campaign to help relieve unemployment and also improve the drive, worked most of Saturday soliciting donations and other contributions were brought to the Chamber of Commerce and Herald offices.

Those active in this effort were especially aided when B. F. LeFever, southwestern manager for the American Maracibo company, brought in $15—a dollar contributed by each employe of the company in the oil field and the division offices here.

Mr. Robbins said work would be started Monday afternoon. Two dump trucks with a crew of six men will be used. Funds now on hand will finance 3 1/2 days of work. Donations are urged at once so that the work can be completed without interruption. Men will be hired through the LeFever's unemployment relief bureau.

Donations were reported Saturday from the following: G. H. Hayward, Loy Acuff, E. G. Towler, R. L. Wolf, Cecil Collins, Pauline Campbell, B. H. W. M. Currie, James Little, H. R. Debenport, J. I. Prebberly, J. O. Tamsit, E. A. Loss, Merle Stewart, Thurman Steed, Cunningham & Phillips, D. J. Stephens, Hovan Service Station, J. Slaughter, R. V. Middleton, R. C. Coffee, L. A. Eubank, Wilburn Barcus, R. B. Bliss, C. F. Duvall, W. A. Brainman, N. W. Caragher, American Maracibo employes.

Eiland Brothers Of Stanton Acquire Ford Business At Snyder

STANTON—Eiland Brothers of the Eiland Motor Company here have acquired the authorized Ford automobile agency at Snyder.

Hornace Eiland and family have moved to that city where Mr. Eiland will take over the management of the new business. Guy Eiland remains here to handle the Stanton concern.

During his eight years' residence here, Mr. Eiland figured in municipal and church activities. He served as city alderman from the time Stanton was incorporated several years ago until he left to make his home in Snyder.

Showboat Minstrels At Ritz This Week

Thursday And Friday Stand Is Announced

Greatest Organization Of Type On Tour Is Public Attraction

The black-face minstrels, with the rag-time band, the best 'end men' in the business and an interlocutor that keeps the show going at top speed and loaded with laughs—yep, the minstrels are coming to town.

"The Showboat Minstrels," greatest organization of the type on tour today, will play the R & R Ritz theatre here Thursday and Friday of this week.

A public circuit attraction, the show has been signed by Robb & Rowley for a two-day engagement westward from a great stand at the Worth theatre in Fort Worth.

A number of top-deck acts are included in the Showboat's bill. They include Billy Doss, Lasses White's great star; Jimmy Ellard; Mack & Long; the Stratford comedy four; Jack & Tiny Reynolds, and Bob Maupin.

Sylvia Sydney and William Collier, Jr., who is a screen veteran but young in years and still called 'Buster' by close friends, are shown above in a scene from "Street Scene" scheduled at the Ritz Thursday and Friday.

Thursday and Friday at the Ritz will be "Street Scene," with William Collier, Jr., Sylvia Sydney and Estelle Taylor.

1,395 East Texas Acres Bring Three Millions

HOUSTON, (UP)—Sale of 1,395 acres of East Texas oil land for $3,000,000 by the Cranfill-Reynolds company to the Atlantic Oil Production Company, Dallas and Philadelphia, was confirmed by vice-president J. H. Reynolds.

The land lies in Gregg, Rusk, and Upshur counties, Reynolds said.

Miss Oliver Queen's Star Three Days

'Ladies Of The Jury' Is Brimful Of Laughter For All

New talkie characters in sparkling modern characterization is Lowell Sherman's recipe for an hour of hilarious screen entertainment. Sherman avoids the over-familiarity of screen faces by changing the characters of the actors themselves, through makeup, costume, and type of role. And he avoids giving them characterizations of the sort in which they frequently appear.

In "Ladies of the Jury," RKO Radio Pictures' mirth-packed starring film for Edna May Oliver, at the Queen Theatre, the justification for Sherman's theory is seen. The picture which he directed, contains twenty principal characterizations.

Every one is done by a noted stage and screen actor or actress. Every one is a radically different slice of humanity. And most important of all, according to the director, every player in the picture appears in a type of role new to "the public."

For example, Sherman says the Edna May Oliver one reappears from "Cimarron" must not appear again as that Edna May Oliver in one of his pictures. That characterization, wonderful as it was, has been done, and she must do it again. She is quite a different actress, thanks to makeup, costume, and principally to characterization and her own art, in "Ladies of the Jury."

"In the same way, Roscoe Ates, Ken Murray, Jill Edmond and other favorites appear as new, fresh players, because they are seen in new fresh characterizations.

The Showboat Minstrels, direct from a successful engagement at the Worth theatre in Fort Worth will be a feature on the R & R Ritz theatre stage here Thursday and Friday this week. Billy Doss, Mack & Long and Jimmy Ellard are the headliners of the cast. The show is declared to be the best minstrel organization on tour today.

Six Surviving Members Of First Squadron Of Death Appear With Richard Dix In "Lost Squadron"

A new "squadron of death" takes to the air in Hollywood with Richard Dix as the sole honorary member.

The six survivors of two hundred score cracked ribs, broken collar bones and more serious injuries have made another installment on "borrowed" time.

Under the leadership of Dick Grace, who helped form the original squadron of death, of which he is the only survivor and who formed the thirteen "Flying Black Cats," only six of whom are now living, a new squadron has come into being.

And as before, it is limited to thirteen members, six of whom are all that is left of the Black Cats. They are Dick Grace, who has cracked up more planes than any living man; Art Goebel, who made the first non-stop flights from San Francisco to Hawaii and from Los Angeles to New York; Babe Green, World War ace and film star since 1917; Frank Clark, who put most of the thrills in "Hell's Angels"; Garland Lincoln, Charlie Rand, Ira Reed and Harry Reynolds.

The new "suicide squadron" was formed in connection with the filming of RKO Radio Pictures' "The Lost Squadron," starting today at the Ritz which stars Richard Dix in a thrilling story of a film director who deliberately sends stunt aviators to their deaths. Dix's inclusion as an honorary member is a tribute to his daring and personal popularity.

The Squadron of Death, however, is to be a permanent organization as long as its personnel lives. After the picture was finished these pilots continued flaunting their charmed lives in the face of death and laughing as Garland Lincoln did the other day when he drove into a roof and tore off his rudder and tail skids.

If one goes another will take his place. There may be a few minutes of mourning, a bouquet flung from a speedy plane will land near a newly dug grave and a new member will go up and strain the struts of his fragile ship in a gesture of defiance.

Shortly after his first hit with "Clearing the Range," which started the recent succession of Hoot Gibson bell-ringers, Otto Brower has come through with "The Hard Hombre" on the screen of the Queen Theatre Friday and Saturday, which is regarded as one of the neatest directorial tricks in some time.

Brower's film career began as an actor. A ranchman in Montana, his literary and theatrical inclinations led him to the legitimate stage and thence to the screen. After playing many parts, Brower became assistant director to Richard Rosson and finished the picture "Shooting Irons" when Rosson fell ill.

'Panama Flo' On Ritz Bill

Helen Twelvetrees' latest RKO-Pathé starring vehicle, "Panama Flo," which has won the acclaim of audiences and critics alike wherever so far it has been shown, will be feature attraction at the Ritz theatre next Saturday.

A melodrama filled with suspense and thrilling situations, "Panama Flo" tells the story of the fortunes and misfortunes of a beautiful New York showgirl who is stranded in a Panama honky-tonk.

Critics are unanimous in their praise of Miss Twelvetrees and her portrayal of the dance hall "pony" caught in the mesh of two wild tropical loves, stating that the young star has even surpassed her outstanding performances in "Her Man" and "Millie."

In support of the star, RKO-Pathé has provided a sterling supporting cast which consists of Robert Armstrong, Charles Bickford, Paul Hurst, Maude Eburne, Marjorie Peterson and Reina Velez.

'Compson' Is Back Again In Queen Feature

'Three Who Loved' To Play Here Wednesday, Thursday

Whether or not Betty Compson's portrayal in "Three Who Loved" is the greatest in her long and triumphant career is up to the judgment of theatre-goers who see Radio Pictures' drama by that name at the Queen theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

However, that she put more of her heart and soul into the part than any previous production is obvious.

Powerful Story Reports are that the story by Martin Flavin, the famous playwright who last season had three of his productions showing on Broadway at the same time, is among the most intensely powerful and dramatic of the season.

Miss Compson abandoned herself to the role, gave up all social duties and plunged into a characterization study that kept her burning midnight oil night after night.

Trying Role Though she has enacted many exacting roles, such as in "The Miracle Man," and "The Case of Sergeant Grisha," none of them affected her like "Three Who Loved," or inspired her to such an intensity of purpose.

George Archainbaud, who directed the production, believes her performance will thrill the Compson fans. She is supported by Conrad Nagel and Robert Ames.

The story is built around the tragedy in a woman's life who married, then discovered her husband was the man who framed and railroaded to prison the man she really loved.

Snow was a foot deep on the gridiron when Whitman college defeated Willamette university, 7 to 0 to win the Northwest conference football championship this season. The players wore mittens.

Recent Novel By English Master Of Mystery Comes To R & R Ritz

Edgar Wallace calls himself a "deliberate loafer." The famous English author of many mystery tales was recently asked to explain his method of writing his famous books. One of the most recent, "The Feathered Serpent," has been transferred to the screen by Columbia, under the title "The Menace," and is coming to the Ritz Theatre Wednesday only.

"I don't believe in working by schedule," said Wallace. "I write quickly because I don't think there is any other successful method. I wouldn't dream of sitting down to work every day at an appointed time, turning out so many neat pages of manuscript and stopping as I began, at the stroke of a clock. That, to me, is a pretty prosaic way of working. I work fast and continuously, or not at all."

The famous author also revealed that he never prepared a synopsis of any book he intended writing. "I've tried that," said Wallace, "but invariably, the finished story bears no relation to the synopsis. A story must tell itself. Many times, the biggest situation or the most important characterization is a casual development of some phase of the plot."

Wallace admitted that he does not write for any one type of public. He always tried to write clean, adventurous tales, leaving out the sex interest as much as possible.

"The Menace" is an adaptation of one of Wallace's cleverest novels. An all-star cast, headed by Walter Byron, B. B. Warner, Natalie Moorhead, Bette Davis, Murray Kinnell, Halliwell Hobbes and William Davidson, enacts the new Wallace novel.

Lincoln high school of Tacoma, Wash., won the Washington state prep football championship by defeating Clarkston, 19 to 0, in Seattle.

For this Elmer Rice prize drama which ran two years in New York, is the first screen play to be filmed in a single set. It is also the first play to be brought intact from stage to screen and the first to be filmed without interiors. Needless to say it is entirely in dialogue.

Compering "Street Scene" with "The Lion and the Mouse," says Collier, is like comparing Fulton's first steamboat with the Leviathan. As a pioneer, he remembers his first talking drama as, in reality, a silent drama. The play was first filmed as a silent. Then some of the sets were moved to a sound-proof stage and a few scenes retaken with spoken dialogue, which was then inserted into the play in the cutting room.

William Collier, Jr., is one of the youngest stars in "Street Scene," the Samuel Goldwyn picture at the Ritz theatre Thursday and Friday. Hollywood still calls him "Buster" Collier.

The way Buster feels, however, he should be wearing a pair of false whiskers, for he is one of the pioneers of the talking films. He played one of the leading roles in "The Lion and the Mouse," the first screen play with audible dialogue.

In appearing with Sylvia Sydney and Estelle Taylor in "Street Scene" young Collier once more assumes the status of a pioneer, the cutting room.

Detachable Eyelashes; Jean Harlow Wigs; Short Tresses Still Popular, Says Hairdresser

Some women have long eyelashes; some women acquire them; some women have long eyelashes thrust upon them.

The last class is the most fashionable today.

Detachable eyelashes, said E. A. Boch, hairdresser of the Crawford Beauty Shoppe, who has recently returned from the Southwestern Beauty Show in Dallas, where he was one of the demonstrators, are the newest fad in beauty culture. Their name is eyelashes.

These eyelashes may be pasted on eyes with ease. They are guaranteed to stick on so long as the wearer refrains from tears.

Another fad that has already swept Europe and that is now sweeping America, perpetrated by the exclusive Condás, is lacquered wigs.

With a lacquered wig, say in platinum, any little girl in West Texas (who has the hundred bucks to spend on the wig) can become a glorified Jean Harlow.

The wig is made from long hair and is shaped on the head to suit the individual. After the hair is set the wig is heavily lacquered and thus its strands remain in place during the most tempestuous evening — for these wigs are strictly evening affairs.

If one doesn't hanker to be a platinum blonde, one may have a gold wig, or a wig in any color of the rainbow.

Short Bobs Popular

The great news affecting the majority of women, said Mr. Boch, was that short hair is again the most popular. Out of 1,103 girls who were selected as models at the Southwest Beauty Show, only one had long hair.

There were no long bobs. There were short bobs and medium bobs and all kinds of bobs, except the long bob. The hair was arranged to show as much of the forehead as it has been in the past. The arrangement of the side of the hair depends entirely on the contour of the face and head. The ears are not being shown.

Contour work is being specially stressed, said Mr. Boch. This is a hair-cutting term for an old, old characteristic—the efficient characteristic of knowing your business. Knowing your business in hair dressing includes knowing what is most becoming to the individual; what good points to bring out; what poor points to hide. A woman with a scrawny neck will come in and want a shingle when, perhaps a medium bob would be most becoming; or a woman with a short face neck will insist on trying to drape what there is of it in curls.

The hairdresser for that reason does the best work when he is both haircutter and finger-waver; for the two are closely related, and knows how to cut hair to suit the individual head.

Permanent Waves

Permanent waving is becoming more established custom than ever. The popularity of short hair makes it imperative. The Croquinole method of waving large, loose curls that will give an effect of naturalness is the most popular method. Max permanent waving machines feature this. The Weichsel company in Dallas, which featured the Southwest Beauty Show, also featured the Realistic permanent waving machines. Mr. Boch, who has traveled for the Realistic company, prefers to do his permanent waving on Realistic machines.

American styles are European styles adapted to the head of the American woman who is not a slavish admirer of style for its own sake but of style for the enhancement of her personal charms. Condás has gained his reputation for his ability to adapt the styles of Europe to America; that was why Weichsel's brought him to Dallas.

At the show Mr. Boch demonstrated methods of dressing the hair, also participated in the classes both public and private and in the business sessions.

Informal Bridge Club Meets With Mrs. Inkman

Mrs. W. W. Inkman was hostess to the members of the Informal Bridge Club and their friends with an exceptionally lovely Easter party Friday afternoon in her home on South Runnels.

Pastel-colored tallies featuring Easter bunnies were charmingly passed by little Miss Camille Inkman.

Mrs. Ford made club high score and Mrs. Middleton, guest high.

During the refreshment hour when dainty linen was spread on the tables refreshment plates were passed containing a salad course and chocolate roll topped with whipped cream and coffee.

The guests who enjoyed this hostess's hospitality were Meses, J. Y. Robb, Albert M. Fisher, J. D. Biles, Steve Ford, M. K. House, M. H. Bennett, John Hodges, R. Homer McNew, Robt. V. Middleton, Ira Thurman, C. S. Blomsheld and Seth H. Parsons.

"ARROW UNSPENT"
By Patrick D. Moreland (Clyde C. Cockrell Co.)
Mr. Moreland is one of our favorite Kaleidoscope authors.

He has the true poetical touch the singing thought, the simplicity that marks a good poet wherever you see him. You can read his stanzas and enjoy them for their words, irrespective of their meaning.

Our only regret is that he did not wait a while longer to publish a book. It takes many years for a poet to express himself along such a widely varying line that the reading of them in a book doesn't become tiresome.

Here is one of the shorter poems which we liked. It is called "I Thought I Gave My Heart to You."

"I thought I gave my heart to you
But it came back to me,
And leaped into its usual place
And beat contentedly.

I'm sure you did my heart no wrong,
It seems as good as new.
It just came home to be with me
And would not stay with you."

"CRIMSON DAWNING"
By Mrs. Leola Christie Barnes (Clyde C. Cockrell)
Mrs. Barnes belongs to West Texas; her family still make their home in Garden City. This is a collection of poems which have appeared in poetry magazines and newspapers all over the country and several of them abroad.

The book reveals the author's versatility. She has cleverly grouped them under four heads; the joy of living; love; affection for Texas and a group of miscellaneous poems.

We liked so many we found it hard to select just one to quote.

Our choice, however, is usually governed by a poem that our readers might like to clip and here is such a one. Its title is "Unlaureled."

As the wife of a toiler no plaudit she won
But through travail she gave to the world a son,
Her name is unknown and her dwelling obscure,
Her knowledge of life is simple and pure.

She has blazed no trails through hazardous heights
Nor astounded the world with speed-breaking flights.

No mad cheering crowds have shouted her name,
Her sadder grey years have been much the same.

She has won the laurels for the million years to scan,
But she gave to the world a manly man.

Kappa Phi Omega Members, Pledges At Bridge-Dance

Joe Clare and his mother, Mrs. W. B. Clare, entertained the members and pledges of the Kappa Phi Omega fraternity and their friends at the Clare home in Edwards Heights Friday evening with a lovely bridge-dance.

The pledges, Ben Anthony, Ward Hall and Enos Ashcroft, were required to come dressed as hoboes and could not accompany their girl friends into the house. They were not allowed to enter until the latter part of the evening.

At the refreshment hour, Mrs. Ralph Lynch assisted Mrs. Clare in serving the lovely salad course.

The guests of the evening were Meses Theresa Brooks, Louise Shive, Ruth Taylor, Charlene Moseley, Mildred Peterson, Lucile Leatherwood, Nell Davis, Lucile Six, Mable Eddy, Elizabeth Northington; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Turpin; Messrs. Jack Hodges, Harold Harvey, Kenneth Gully, Coulter Richardson, Henry James Covert, John Ross Williamson, J. C. Pickle, Ben Anthony, Ward Hall and Enos Ashcroft.

Jimmie Lee Mason Celebrates Birthday

Little Jimmy Lee Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Mason, celebrated his second birthday, with a lovely party at his home on 1901 Main Thursday, Saint Patrick's Day.

Balloons were given to each child for favors. An Easter egg hunt was the chief amusement for the afternoon. Pictures were taken of the little guests on the lawn.

At the refreshment hour, the youngsters were invited into the dining room, which was attractively decorated in green and white. The birthday cake, with two lighted candles, surrounded with grass and Easter eggs, on which were rabbit and chickens, centered the table. Lime jello, limesade, and cakes iced in green, were served to the guest.

The honoree received many lovely gifts.

The little guests were: Jame Duke Harris, Dorothy Ann Meador, Maymie Jeanne Meador, Betty Ray, Nell Laird and Mary Lou Remel, Billie Jonelle Neal, Janice Knick erbrocker, Raymond, Jr., W. B. and Joanne Winn, James Robert Chaney and Tommy Coffie.

The following mothers were present: Meses Miller Harris, A. E. Meador, Harold Meador, Raymond, Nell, Ward Remel, Byron Neal, Raymond Winn, Joe E. Neal, A. T. Sefton, Emma F. Davis; also Meses Nell Davis and Mary Duncan.

Those who sent gifts but were unable to attend were: Emma Jeanne Slaughter, James Dunagan Hayes, Franklin Stripling, C. W. Davis and James Wade.

Takes Long Hop To Visit Dad

Pilot shows twelve-year-old John McDowell strip maps of the 1700-mile route he followed in making his first airplane flight to visit his father during Easter vacation. Trip was made over American Airways from Los Angeles, California to San Antonio, Texas.

When twelve year old John McDowell boarded American Airways transcontinental plane at Los Angeles the morning of March 17th he set out to be an Eric-Easter present to his father, W. T. McDowell of San Antonio. He passed through this city en route. Planning to spend the spring vacation with his dad, whom he has not seen since the school semester started last fall, John is making the thirty-four hundred mile round trip all alone, while his mother remains in Los Angeles with other members of the family. The rapid plane trip will afford John sufficient time to fully enjoy his visit with his father and return to his studies.

operate. Where some towns are blessed with systems in which the water flows by gravity from reservoirs, without the expense of pumping it from wells and into the city distribution system it is necessary for us to pump it from wells, from which it flows into "sumps" and then to pump the supply over the "sumps" south of town into the reservoir before it can flow into the mains within the city.

The best that can be done under such circumstances is going to keep our water rate at a figure that will practically prevent bankruptcy of the city and cause more than average expense to the household.

As we have often said in this column Big Spring is going to have to improve a large quantity of water so that the city will have not only an inexhaustible supply but also a system that can be operated at less cost and thus allow for lower rates to the consumer.

Jack L. Wilson, of the Pecos Enterprise wound up his typewriter the other day and had this to say:

"When you hear a man finding fault with the local newspaper, open it up and you will find odds of 10 to 1 he hasn't an advertisement in it and therefore how good or bad is none of his business. Odds of 3 to 1 that if he is a subscriber he is in arrears and in common sense should pay up before he criticizes."

"Odds even that he never does anything whatever to help the editor run a good paper, if it is a public institution."

"Odds 40 to 1 that he reads the paper every issue, either by that 'eliquent' process or by borrowing it from somebody, with or without their permission."

"Odds 60 to 1 that he hasn't sense enough to recognize a good newspaper when he sees one, and long time. Will some one tell me Garner has been in Washington what he has done for the working class or the small independent merchant since he has been up there? He has followed the leaders of the political grafters or I might say he has voted the way for the big power interests ever since he has been up there.

"Odds 90 to 1 that every knock he gives the paper is really a boost, for the town people know him, too."

"There are two white men that would make real leaders for the poor—Governor Murray and Senator Norris of Nebraska.

Some misinformed citizens are inclined to think Murray is radical. If being on the square and fighting for the common people is radical then he is radical.

"Senator Norris was such an honest man that his own party, the Republicans, tried to defeat him by running a chain store clerk by the same name against him in the last election."

"Of course, I realize Senator Norris or Bill Murray haven't a chance. They are too honest. The Standard Oil, big steel companies the Wall Street grafters are afraid of them. They will back up the man that answers their beck and call the same as our dear Mr. Hoover with the Republican power in office. We are controlled by the house of Morgan, Mellon Standard Oil, etc."

"With the Democratic party in office it will be the Du Pont-Rockefeller outfit. I know Bill Murray hasn't a chance for the simple reason that the money powers are afraid of him."

"We are riding for a fall. Rome was a mighty power but it fell for the same reason. There is so much truth in this letter it will be called radical."

Government

Although neither the President nor his many conferees of the day would discuss the details of their effort, the White House tonight issued a formal statement saying the president was working toward "coordination of reconstruction activities."

However, after the conferences closed for the day, it was learned from authoritative sources that the best means of operating the reconstruction finance act as it affects the railroads are being considered.

The President first called in the heads of the Reconstruction Finance corporation; Balthasar H. Meyer, chairman of the finance division of the Interstate commerce commission, and Secretary Lamont of the commerce department. After Meyer left, the President summoned the railroad chiefs who were in session here as the executive committee of the Association of Railway Executives. The last group was accompanied by E. C. Buckland, president of the Railroad Credit corporation.

The conferences started last night when Eugene Meyer, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and Secretary Mills, a member of the corporation, conferred with the President.

The White House statement said the conferences were continuing.

of the state, that counties in some manner should be refunded the amount they have expended on state highways, declaring it should not be necessary for them to vote bonds for other than road purposes. Taxes are too high in most instances now, he said.

In the governor's party here were W. W. Sterling, adjutant general, Gibb Giechrist, Adrian Poole, Claude Teer, J. D. Hall and Paul Wakefield.

They arrived in San Angelo from Pecos about 8 o'clock Thursday evening. All stores were closed at Pecos and a crowd had gathered at the school house there compelling the executive to address them.

Ministers Re-Issue Plea For Meditation During Easter Week

Six ministers of the city yesterday called attention to their statement issued earlier in the week in which they urged the citizenship to forego social affairs and other activities during this week.

The statement follows: The week beginning March 20 must be to every Christian a time of serious meditation, as it commemorates the last week in the life of our Lord.

The ministers are asking that the week before Easter, and ending Easter Sunday, be observed with religious devotion; and by attending religious services which will be held in the different churches and that all clubs, parties and social affairs of any nature be postponed until after Easter.

New Kidnaping Is Tried Near Estate Of Col. Lindbergh

HOPEWELL, N. J. (AP)—An attempting kidnaping, similar in many ways to that of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., and renewed questioning of a man once a suspect in the case, injected new interest today in the 18 day old famous baby case.

State police insisted there was no significance to the re-examination of Henry Johnson, suitor of the baby's nurse, and no connection between the attempted kidnaping and the Lindbergh case.

The attempted kidnaping was on the estate of J. Seward Johnson, manufacturer, twenty miles from here, where a man attempted to crawl in a window of a nursery from a ladder, but was frightened away by a watchman.

A short while afterward, George Malden was arrested at South Plains and identified as the man the watchman saw. The investigators sought a possible link between the activities of an automobile theft ring at Hopewell and the kidnaping.

McAdoo Dwells Upon Agricultural Problem On Houston Address

HOUSTON (AP)—A prediction that the plight of agriculture must be remedied before the country regains prosperity and a plan to relieve the farmers was voiced here Saturday night by William Gibbs McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, in an address.

Using the flexible tariff as a basis, McAdoo proposed to fortify the domestic market for cotton and wheat by setting up a minimum price for the purchasing of each.

He estimated the farmers would be enriched by more than $750,000,000 annually.

SATURDAY FIRE

Fire early Saturday damaged the home of Dr. T. M. Taylor in the 900-block on South Curry street. Damage of near $5000 was done. Two automobiles parked in the driveway near the home were not damaged.

Wrench Mouth Healed

Your friends dare not say so but your sore gums and foul breath don't make folks like you any better. Let's try a new remedy. It's not a mouth wash or paste, and it's not on a money back guarantee. Cunningham & Phillips—adv.

PROOF of RIVERSIDE QUALITY

"Riversides Conquer Death Valley"

EXAMINATION AND REPORTS CONSTRUCTION

FRANK J. BUCK
Mechanical Engineer
TULINGA, CALIFORNIA

PRIVATE LABORATORY

Montgomery Ward & Co., Chicago, Illinois

Gentlemen:

Having ordered from you for many years, from auto jacks to a machine shop, it is no more than right that a few words of praise be sent along with the order enclosed. Not one outfit in the world gives auto tires such rough treatment as the Death Valley Exploration Co. My work takes me from one end of valley to the other. At times the thermometer in my car is 128 degrees, from the mines to 10 days I drive the road trip from the mines to 26 miles takes 2 hours to drive. No road for 7 miles up grade over sharp lava rocks. Next 5 miles of boulders and sand wash - here many cars have come to grief. Have made many miles where my car was the first. Another well-known make of tire stood only two trips into the desert. Seventy-five percent of the time my car is in the blistering sun, yet my full set of Riversides in use more than 2 years is not even weather-checked like some of the high priced tires I formerly used. Besides this car, we are using three 2-ton trucks Riverside equipped. Also all my son are using Riverside as they have seen the results for themselves.

Yours sincerely,
Frank J. Buck

THIS STATEMENT WAS NOT PAID FOR

Further more, Mr. Buck did not give us the name of the tire for advertising. Mr. Buck is not interested in publicity. He has made his praise for Riverside tires a matter of course in the newspaper.
